May it pleaſe Your Majeſty,

I Have taken the Boldneſs to Implore Your Majesties Gracious Protection to theſe my Labours, which I have laid out upon a Book, that, next to the Inſpired Volumes of the Holy Scriptures, of all the Compoſitions in the World, I am fully aſſured, You have the Greateſt Value for.

For the Book, which I have written theſe Obſervations upon, was at firſt Drawn up, and afterwards Improved, by the Special Command and Direction of ſeveral of Your Majesties Royal Predeceſſors: Whereby a Form of Worſhip was Eſtabliſhed, in Theſe Kingdoms, more Perfect, and more Agreeable to God's Word, and to Primitive Practice, than any that is to be found, throughout the Whole Diffuſive Body of Chriſt's Catholick Church.

This

The DEDICATION.

This is that Book, which the First Compilers thereof sealed with Their Blood; That Book, which YOUR Royal Grandfather, King Charles I. chose rather to Dye a Martyr for, than to Purchase His Own Security; by Agreeing to the Subversion of This, and to the Establishment of another Method of Publick Worship, with which His Conscience could not Comply.

This is that Book, which YOUR MAJESTY is pleas'd to Confer an Immortal Honour upon, by Paying YOUR Daily Devotions to GOD, accordiug to the Rules therein Prescribed: For, tho' Those Momentous Affairs (which are Extending their Happy Influences to Futurity, and Working a Firm Establishment of Our Common Protestant Religion, and the Liberties of Europe) are a Continual Weight upon YOUR Sacred Breast, and take up so great a Part of YOUR Time; Yet the Publick Devotion of the Church has a Constant and very Considerable Share of it.

And it cannot but be observed, that YOUR MAJESTIES Affection to This Admirable Book, has wrought even the Tempers of those, who do not Joyn in it, to a more Favourable Disposition towards it: For those Lowd Impeachments, which have been formerly made against it, are now no longer heard; YOUR MAJESTIES Tender Regards to Those, who are so Unhappy as to Separate from the Publick Worship, having done more to the Quieting Mens Spirits, than the Best Vindications of Our Constitution have been ever Able to do. For tho' the Prejudices of some Persons may be so great, that they cannot be Gained over to the Church, by the Strongest Arguments in Behalf of it, yet Pure Good-Nature and Gratitude has not suffered Them of late, to Oppose, with their Former Violence and Fierceness, That Form of Worship, which so Good and Gracious a Queen does Her Self make use of. And 'tis to be hop'd, that the Wisdom and Goodness of YOUR MAJESTIES Reign, will, in Time, Compose all our Unhappy Differences, and bring, into the Bosom of the Church, our Protestant Brethren, who are Estranged from it.

I need not recount to YOUR MAJESTY the High Esteem, which All the Sincere Members of our own Communion have all along born, and do still continue to bear, to this Book. For this Admirable Form of Worship has been Their greatest Comfort under their Severest Afflictions, which they have undergone for the Sake of it; when they were forced

PREFACE.

ABOUT Two Years ago I publiſhed a little Book, containing a Paraphraſe upon Part of our Common-Prayer-Book, with ſome few Notes on the Sundays and Holidays. It had the good Fortune to give ſome Satisfaction to ſeveral Pious, and to ſome very Learned Perſons, who have encouraged me to Enlarge the Work, and to ſend it abroad in the Form wherein it now appears. I have complied with their Deſires, and have taken Pains on the Subject; tho' not as much as it deſerves, yet as much as my Condition of Health would afford me to lay out upon it. To compare what I here offer to the World, with what has been done before of the like kind, as it would be an invidious, ſo it is an unneceſſary Task: For every one, who has a mind to be a Reader of this Performance, will be the beſt Judge of that himſelf.

But however, I cannot but think, that, among ſeveral Perſons, the Book will have its Uſe. I do not pretend to give Information and Light to thoſe Learned Perſons, whoſe Deep Reſearches into Ancient Books have made theſe Obſervations, which are the Subject of this Work, common and familiar to them: All that I would deſire from ſuch Perſons, is, That they would not extend their Critique ſo far, as contemptuouſly to depreciate a well-meant Deſign, and to hinder it from doing Good among Perſons of Inferior Knowledge; at leaſt, till ſuch time as they themſelves ſhall be pleaſed to lay out their Labours, to befriend the Church with a better Explication and Vindication of her Liturgy. But however this may be reliſhed by the greateſt Genius's, there are many others whoſe Knowledge of this kind is not ſo Conſummate; and as they are nearer to my Size of Underſtanding, and have not bent their Thoughts and Reading, it may be, ſo much this way, they may receive ſome ſmall Benefit by this Book.

Of the Notes.

We have a great many very Excellent Perſons of our Function, that are qualified with Admirable Endowments of Mind, and have a noble Thirſt after Knowledge, and particularly Eccleſiaſtical Antiquity; but the Narrowneſs of their Circumſtances will not ſupply them with a Collection of ſuch Books, as are neceſſary to that End, and anſwerable to their Deſires. There are very few of Small Preferment, that can be content to forego the ordinary Conveniences of Human Life, to furniſh their Studies with Greek and Latin Fathers, and Writers of Eccleſiaſtical Criticks: And yet a competent Knowledge of theſe Matters, is a neceſſary Qualification to our Calling, and without which we cannot be provided to Defend our Conſtitution, againſt the Oppoſers of it; or to ſatisfie the Enquiries of thoſe who may be deſirous of being informed concerning it. Moſt of theſe Things being in the preſent Book drawn into a narrow Compaſs, and ſorted under the ſeveral Heads, as they occur in the Common-Prayer, may ſupply the Want of many very ſcarce and dear Books.

Beſides, there are Numbers of the Laity who have not the Advantage of underſtanding the Learned Languages, who are yet well-diſpoſed to Learning of this kind, and are pleaſed to have obſerved to them the Conformity of the Conſtitution of their own Church with that of the Primitive. And I doubt not, but a Book of this kind may be both inſtructive, and acceptable to them.

Paraphraſe on the Prayers.

And 'tis upon their Account, that I have written the Paraphraſe upon the Prayers of the Morning, Evening, and Communion-Service; not barely for an Explanation of the Text, but that it may ſerve for a Form of Devotion in their Cloſets; only by changing We into I, or by making ſome few other light Variations of the ſame kind.

For the Paraphraſe on the Morning and Evening-Prayer, may with ſome Advantage be made uſe of in private Retirement, at thoſe Times; and that on the Litany, may not be an improper Form of Devotion on a Day of Faſting. That on the Communion, before the Receiving the Bleſſed Sacrament. And by making uſe of this, which is a Cloſe Explication of the Church-Devotion, they may be ſure that they do not put up any Petitions to God, but what they are warranted to do by that Church, whereof they are Members: Whereas they are not altogether ſo ſafe, in making uſe of ſome Books of Devotion, that ſome People are mightily fond of; which, tho' they may ſeem to abound with much Rapturous Devotion, and Spiritual Flame; yet, upon Examination, they will be found to be, Offering ſtrange Fire before the Lord.

Paraphraſe on the Epiſtles and Goſpels.

'Tis moſtly for their Uſe, that I have compoſed the Paraphraſes, on the Epiſtles and Goſpels; that they may be apprized of the Admirable Doctrine of our Saviour's Sermons, and the Force of the Apoſtolical Reaſonings; without having Recourſe to Critical Writers and Commentators; who oftentimes mix ſo much Fanciful and Oſtentatious Learning, in their Explication of the Text, that they rather obſcure and undervalue, what they deſign to illuſtrate and recommend. I have therein endeavoured to give the plain Senſe of the Inſpired Authors in familiar Language, delivering the Senſe in our ordinary Expreſſion; only ſtripping it of the Syriaciſms, and adapting it to our modern way of Speaking; juſt in that plain way, as we may ſuppoſe our Saviour, or his Apoſtles, to have ſpoken, had they been pleaſed to have made uſe of our Dialect. In the Explication of the Text, I have governed myſelf more by the Context and Tenor of the Diſcourſe, and by the Uſe of Original Words in other Places of Scripture, than by the Opinions of Commentators: And when I have made uſe of any of their Explications, I have carefully avoided the following them in their particular Opinions and Hypotheſes, which they have been wedded to.

Additional Notes.

As to the Additional Notes, I do not pretend to anſwer for every thing which is therein advanced. There are few Learned Men but have ſome particular Opinions, different from the Current Doctrine of the Church; and yet the Generality of their Writings may, for all that, be very inſtructive and beneficial.

I know, ſome Perſons have already made ſome unkind and unjuſt Cenſures, upon my Putting-out theſe Papers; as if I was a-Publiſhing a Parcel of Po-

piſh Doctrines, which could tend to no good End, but would only ſerve to unſettle People in their Opinions, and to undermine the Eſtabliſhed Tenets of the Church.

But to this I anſwer, That I do not know of any one Popiſh Doctrine in all theſe Papers; and every Opinion, which is ſingular therein, is ſo far from being Popiſh, that 'tis directly contrary to the Canons of the Council of Trent. And if any Divine in Italy, or Spain, ſhould explain thoſe Points as any of theſe Authors have done, they would be burnt for Hereticks. Nay, the Authors themſelves were Perſons, not only of eminent Piety, but ſo averſe to Popery, and of ſuch an extraordinary Zeal and hearty Love to our Proteſtant Eſtabliſhment, that little doubt is to be made (if God Almighty had called them to ſuch a Trial) they would have laid down their Lives in Defence of it. Nay, 'tis plain, that, in theſe very Papers, they lay hold of all Occaſions, to ſhew the Innovations of Popery; and have in their other Writings oppoſed it, with a Strength of Learning and Reaſoning, perhaps not inferior to any of their Predeceſſors or Succeſſors.

But granting, that their Opinions, in ſome Particulars, do not fall in with the Doctrine of our Church; Muſt the Editor be anſwerable for this? Muſt every one that has put out an Edition of Clement of Alexandria, Tertullian, Lactantius, Tatian, Arnobius, &c. be chargeable for the Errors of thoſe Authors?

Now, it were eaſy to demonſtrate, that there are fewer Particularities of Opinion, in the Annotations of theſe Reverend Perſons, than in any of the forementioned Authors.

As to the Text, I have printed it according to the Sealed-Books, and mended the Faults which had crept into the Common Editions. Text. But, becauſe the Rubrick declares, the Pſalter follows the Tranſlation of the Great Engliſh Bible, I have compared it with That, and ſet down the moſt principal Variations from it; neglecting only the different ways of Spelling, and ſome light Difference of a like nature: And, that they may be diſtinguiſhed from the Reading in the Sealed-Book, I have printed them in the Black Letter.

But ſome may be deſirous to be informed of the Riſe of this Excellent Book, which I have Commented upon; and of the ſeveral Improvements it has from time to time received: Wherefore, in Gratification of them, it will be requiſite to ſay ſomething of the firſt Compiling thereof, and the following Reviews, which, under ſeveral Reigns, have been made of it.

Of the Latin Service, before the Reformation.

Before the Reformation, the Liturgy was only in Latin; being a Collection of Prayers, made up partly of ſome Ancient Forms uſed in the Primitive Church, and partly of ſome others of a later Original, accommodated to the Superſtitions which had crept into the Romiſh Church in the Middle Ages; as we may now ſee them in the Roman Breviary and Miſſal. Theſe Latin Services were ſomething different from one another, according to the different Uſages of Churches. The Latin Services which were uſed moſtly here in England, for 300 Years before the Reformation, were the Breviarium, Miſſale, &c. ſecundum ſecundum Uſum Sarum. They were Compoſed by Oſmund, Biſhop of Salisbury, a Man well-verſed in Rituals, about the Year of our Lord, 1080; and were thought to be done with that Exactneſs, according to the Rules of the Church of Rome, that many Churches abroad likewiſe entertained them.

Theſe Latin Prayers being eſtabliſhed by the Laws of the Land, and the Canons of the Church, no other could publickly be made uſe of; ſo that thoſe of the Laity, who had not the Advantage of a Learned Education, could not, with Edification, join in them. And beſides, they being mixed with Addreſſes to the Saints, Adoration of the Hoſt, Images, &c. the Worſhip was in itſelf Idolatrous and Prophane.

Of the ſeveral Parts of the Liturgy, Compiled in the Reign of Henry VIII.

The Reformation being begun in Germany, and having ſpread its happy Effects in England, ſo as to diſpoſe a Conſiderable Part of the Nation towards the ſame here; Archbiſhop Cranmer, who was at the Head of that Great Deſign, endeavoured what he could to have the Liturgical Offices performed in the Engliſh Tongue, being reformed from the Popiſh Abuſes. But Matters were not ripe enough to bring that entirely about in that Reign; however, he proceeded to lay the Foundation thereof, and to do that gradually, which he could not effect at once.

After the Pope's Juriſdiction in this Nation was aboliſhed, and all Appeals to Rome forbidden, by 24 Hen. VIII. A.D. 1532. and afterwards his Pretended Supremacy taken away, and the King declared Supreme Head of the Church, 1534. Archbiſhop Cranmer laid hold of this favourable Opportunity for the engaging the Royal Authority, to do ſeveral Things, in order to a Reformation in Religion.

Lord's-Prayer, Creed, and Commandments in Engl.

For in the Year 1536, the King's Injunctions were ſet forth; wherein ſeveral Popiſh Abuſes were rectified; and the Bible, with the Pater-Noſter, Creed, and Ten Commandments, were ſet forth, and placed in Churches, to be read in Engliſh.

Morning and Evening-Prayer, in the Primer.

In the Year 1545, the King's Primer came forth; wherein are contained, not only the Lord's-Prayer, Creed, and Ten Commandments, but alſo the Morning and Evening-Prayer, in Engliſh, not much different from what it is in our preſent Common-Prayer-Books; with a Preface to it, ſhewing the Neceſſity of Uniformity of Prayer, and of Young Perſons being inſtructed therein.

In this Primer, the Venite, Te Deum, the Lord's-Prayer, Creed, &c. are the very ſame Tranſlation now uſed in our Common-Prayer-Book.

The Litany.

Some time after this, the Litany was publiſhed in Engliſh, ſomething different from what it is now, and permitted to be read in Churches, on Wedneſdays and Fridays.

This was as much as could be brought to bear, in the Reformation of Liturgical Matters, during this King's Reign.

Of

Of the Compiling the Book of Common-Prayer, in the Reign of Edward VI.

Not long after, Edward the Sixth coming to the Crown, Thirteen Perſons were Commiſſioned by the King, to draw up the Communion-Service: Which was done, in Purſuance of an Act which was ſome time before paſſed in Parliament, for Receiving the Communion in Both Kinds. The Perſons employed to draw up this Office, were,

Thomas Cranmer, Archbiſhop of Canterbury.
Thomas Goodrick, Biſhop of Ely.
Henry Holbech, Biſhop of Lincoln.
George Day, Biſhop of Chicheſter.
John Skip, Biſhop of Hereford.
Thirlby, Biſhop of Weſtminſter.
Nicholas Ridley, Biſhop of Rocheſter.
Richard Cox, Dean of Chriſt-Church, and Almoner to the King.
Dr. May, Dean of St. Paul's.
Dr. Taylor, Dean of Lincoln.
Dr. Hayns, Dean of Exeter.
Dr. Robinſon, Archdeacon of Leiceſter, afterwards Dean of Durham.
Dr. Redman, Dean of Weſtminſter, Maſter of Trinity-College, Camb.

When this Office was finiſhed, it came out with a Proclamation, reciting the Statute for Receiving the Communion under Both Kinds; commanding that it be Adminiſtred only, after ſuch Form as is declared by a Direction to the Proclamation annexed.

This being brought into Uſe, the ſame Perſons were Commiſſioned to finiſh the whole Book of Common-Prayer, and to draw up Publick-Services, not only for Sundays and Holidays, but for Baptiſms, Burials, and other ſpecial Occaſions; which accordingly they did.

The whole Book of Common-Prayer being now finiſhed, it was confirmed by Act of Parliament, in the 2d of King Edward, A. D. 1548. And therein this Honourable Encomium is given of it, and the Unanimous Conſent of the Commiſſioners in Drawing it up; Viz. which at this time BY THE AID OF THE HOLIE GHOST with uniform agreement is of them concluded, &c.

This Common-Prayer-Book is called, in the following Notes, the 1ſt Book of Edward VI. or the Book of the 2d Year of Edward VI.

Four Years afterwards, the Book of Common-Prayer underwent another Review; wherein ſome Ceremonies and Uſages were laid aſide, and ſome New Prayers added, at the Inſtance of Mr. Calvin of Geneva, and Bucer, a Foreign Divine, who was invited to be a Profeſſor at Cambridge. The Common-Prayer, as it was now alter'd in this Review, is very near the ſame with what we now uſe.

This Common-Prayer-Book, in the following Notes, is called the 2d Book of Edward VI. or the Book of the 5th Year of Edward VI.

Of the Review of the Book of Common-Prayer, in the Reign of Queen Elizabeth.

Popery having been introduced again into England, in the Reign of Queen Mary, and the Maſs-Book uſed in ſtead of the Engliſh Liturgy; upon the Coming of Q. Elizabeth to the Crown, Conſultations were held, by the Proteſtants about the Court, concerning the bringing-in again the Engliſh-Service. And in order to this, ſeveral Learned Divines were appointed, to make a Review of the Second Book of King Edward VI. The Names of which were, as we learn from Mr. Cambden's Hiſtory of Queen Elizabeth, Dr. Matthew Parker, afterwards A. B. of Canterbury.

Dr. Richard Cox, afterwards Biſhop of Ely.
Dr. { May. / Bill.
Dr. James Pilkington, afterwards Biſhop of Durham.
Sir Thomas Smith.
Mr. David Whitehead.
Mr. Edmund Grindal, afterwards Biſhop of London, and after that, Archbiſhop of Canterbury.

To theſe, Mr. Strype ſays, were added, Dr. Edwyn Sandys, afterward Biſhop of Worceſter; Mr. Edmund Gueſt, a Learned Perſon; who was afterwards Archdeacon of Canterbury, the Queen's Almoner, and Biſhop of Rocheſter.

It was debated, which of the Two Books of Edward VI. ſhould be received: And Secretary Cecil ſent ſeveral Queries to Gueſt, concerning the Reception of ſome Particulars in the Firſt Book; as the Image of the Croſs, Prayer for the Dead, Delivering of the Sacrament into the Mouth of the Communicant, &c. But however, the Second Book of King Edward was pitched upon, as the Book to be propoſed to the Parliament, to be Eſtabliſhed; the Commiſſioners making only ſome few Alterations therein; whereof theſe are the moſt Conſiderable.

Whereas in the Rubrick, at the Beginning of Morning-Prayer, in King Edward the VIth's 2d Book, the Miniſter is enjoined to turn him ſo as the People may beſt hear: In Queen Elizabeth's Book it is enjoined, That Morning and Evening-Prayer ſhall be uſed in the accuſtomed Place of the Church, Chappel, or Chancel; except it ſhall otherwiſe be determined by the Ordinary of the Place.

Whereas K. Edward's 2d Book forbids the Uſing of Alb, Veſtment, Cope: In Q. Elizabeth's Book it is ordered, That the Miniſter, at the time of the Communion, and at all other Times in his Miniſtration, ſhall uſe ſuch Ornaments in the Church, as were in uſe by the Authority of Parliament, in the Second Year of King Edward VI.

There was a Rough Expreſſion in the Litany of K. Edward's Firſt and Second Book, which was left out in that of the Queen; From the Tyranny of the Biſhop of Rome, and all his Deteſtable Enormities.

The Words, The Body of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, which was given for thee; and, The Blood of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, which was ſhed for thee; were reſtored out of K. Edward's 1ſt Book: Only the latter Part of thoſe Forms being in K. Edward the VIth's 2d Book.

The

The Act of Parliament for the Eſtabliſhing this Book, paſſed Apr. 28, 1569 and took effect on St. John Baptiſt's Day, immediately following.

Of the Review of the Common-Prayer-Book, in King James the Iſt.'s Time.

In the Firſt Year of K. James I. upon the Complaint of the Puritan-Miniſters againſt the Ceremonies of the Church, and the Service-Books, there was a Conference held at Hampton-Court, before the King; wherein the Objections of the Puritans were heard and anſwered, moſtly by the King himſelf. At the Concluſion of this Conference, the King gave a Commiſſion (as he ſpeaks in his Proclamation) under the great Seal of England, to the A. B. of Canterbury, and others, according to the Form which the Laws of this Realm in like Caſe preſcribed to be uſed, to make the ſaid Explanation, and to cauſe the whole Book of Common-Prayer with the ſame Explanations to be newly printed. Theſe Explanations, as the Proclamation calls them, were the adding ſome new Thankſgiving-Prayers at the end of the Litany; the Lengthening out the Catechiſm with the Queſtions and Anſwers concerning the Sacraments: Several times Prieſt changed into Miniſter: In the Office of Private Baptiſm, in ſtead of Let them that be preſent call upon God for his Grace---- and then one of them ſhall name the Child, it is added, Let the Lawful Miniſter, and them, &c. As alſo, becauſe ſome things eſſential to this Sacrament may happen to be omitted, through fear or haſte, in ſuch times of extremity, I demand further of you with what matter: Which was not in Queen Elizabeth's Book; but only, whether they called upon God for Grace in that time of neceſſity. Theſe, with ſome other few Matters, were the Alterations (or Explanations, as they were called) in that Review. Theſe were Improvements, for the moſt part, it is true: But it is queſtioned, whether they were done by Competent Authority, after the Queen's Book was eſtabliſhed by Act of Parliament. The Proclamation * indeed, ſuppoſes this to be done, according to the Form which the Laws of this Realm in the like caſe has preſcribed to be uſed: By which, probably, is meant the Statute of the 26th of Hen. VIII. c. 1. wherein the King is declared juſtly and rightfully to be the Supreme Governor of the Church of England; to have full Power and Authority from time to time to viſit, repreſs, redreſs, reform, order, correct, reſtrain, and amend all ſuch Errors, &c. which by any manner of Spiritual Authority or Juriſdiction, ought or may lawfully be reformed, repreſſed, ordered, redreſſed, corrected, reſtrained, or amended. As likewiſe that of the 1ſt of Queen Elizabeth; wherein it is enacted, That the Kings and Queens of this Realm ſhall have full Power and Authority, by Letters-Patents under the great Seal of England, to aſſign, name and authorize, when and as often as their Heirs and Succeſſours ſhall think meet and convenient, ſuch perſon or perſons, as they ſhall think meet, to viſit, reform and redreſs, &c. But ſtill it was a great Query, Whether theſe general Clauſes impower'd that Prince to make ſuch Alterations in a Book eſtabliſhed by Act of Parliament, wherein the Words of the Act were ſo very expreſs. All and ſingular Miniſters in any Cathedral or Parish-Church, or other places within this Realm of England, &c. ſhall after the Feaſt of S. John the Baptiſt next coming, be bounden to ſay and uſe the Mattens, Evenſong, Celebration of the Lord's Supper, and Adminiſtration of each of the Sacraments, and all other other common and open Prayer, in ſuch order and form as is mention'd in the ſaid Book ſo authorized by Parliament in the fifth and firſt Year of K. Edward the firſt, with one Alteration or Addition of certain Leſſons to be uſed, on every Sunday in the Year, and the Form of the Litany alter'd and corrected, and two Sentences only added in the Delivery of the Sacrament to the Communicants; and none other, or otherwiſe. This was the Occaſion of different Speculations in thoſe Times. The Puritans, for whoſe ſakes theſe Alterations were made, did not think them founded upon ſufficient Authority: And Biſhop Coſins, who was no Friend to the Puritans, but had a great Zeal for Parliamentary Right, was of the ſame Opinion. But this being an Old Controverſy, and that Common-Prayer-Book being for many Years laid aſide; enough is ſaid concerning each of them.

Of the Review of the Common-Prayer-Book, in King Charles the Iſt.'s Time.

There was little done in the Engliſh Common-Prayer-Book in King Charles I. his Time; for it was publiſhed with the ſame Alterations as it was put out with in K. James's Time, having his Proclamation printed before it; only the Names of the Royal Family being alter'd, and ſome of the Words Miniſter, in the Rubrick, being brought back again to Prieſt. As to the Scotch Common-Prayer-Book, it cannot but be owned, that there were a Number of very Excellent Improvements made therein: Some of which were taken into the Laſt Review; and more might have been ſo, but only the Nation was not diſpoſed then to receive them; the Diſtempers of the Late Times having prejudiced many againſt it. The moſt Remarkable Alterations in this Book are: The Word Prieſt, in the Rubricks, are changed into Presbyter: The Epiſtles and Goſpels are ſet down according to the New-Tranſlation. Glory be to thee, O Lord, is ordered to be ſaid before the Goſpel; and, Thanks be to thee, O Lord, after it. Several New Sentences are added in the Offertory. The Oblation-Prayer is placed immediately after the Conſecration. The Hymns and Pſalms are according to the New-Tranſlation, &c. This Book was printed at Edinburgh, by Robert Young, Printer to the Kings moſt excellent Majeſty MDCXXXVII. Cum Privilegio.

Of the Review of the Common-Prayer-Book, after the Reſtoration of King Charles II.

The whole Nation growing weary of the Intolerable Oppreſſion, which they lay under, ever ſince the Uſurping Powers had gotten into the Adminiſtration of Affairs, upon the Great Rebellion; ſeveral of the Presbyterian Miniſters, eſpecially thoſe about London, lent a ready Hand to the Removal of the Common Burden; by their late Preaching, ſo ſtirring up the People of the City to a Deſire of the King's Reſtoration, as did not a little facilitate that Happy Event. This Good Office, together with their Sending ſome of their Divines, to wait upon him beyond Sea before his Coming Home; occaſion'd him very gratefully to reſent it, and to order a New Review

L. Clarendon's Hiſt. B. XVII.

Review of the Liturgy, thereby to take away all Reaſonable Ground of Scruple, which might hinder their Subſcribing to it. That the King had this in View, when he publiſhed his Declaration, Octob. 25. 1660. is plain, by the Words thereof: When we were in Holland, we were attended by many Grave and Learned Miniſters from hence, who were looked upon as the moſt Able and Principal Aſſertors of the Presbyterian Opinions; with whom we had much Conference, as the Multitude of Affairs which were then upon us, would permit us to have: And to our great Satisfaction and Comfort, found them Perſons full of Affection to us, of Zeal for the Peace of Church and State; and neither Enemies (as they have been given out to be) of Epiſcopacy or Liturgy; but modeſtly to deſire ſuch Alterations in either, as without ſhaking Foundations, might beſt allay the preſent Diſtempers, &c. In Purſuance of this Declaration, a Commiſſion was iſſued out, dated the 25th of March, 1661. empowering Twelve of the Biſhops, and Twelve of the Preſbyterian Divines, to Treat of Matters proper to be alter'd in the Liturgy; to Conſider of the Objections raiſed againſt the ſame; and to make ſuch Reaſonable and Neceſſary Alterations, as they ſhould agree upon: XI Aſſiſtants on each Side being added, to ſupply the Place of any of the Twelve Principals who ſhould be abſent. The Form of which Commiſſion may be ſeen at the End of the Preface, Numb. II.

Theſe Commiſſioners had ſeveral Meetings at the Savoy, as was appointed; but little was done at them. The Presbyterian Miniſters brought in their Exceptions againſt the Common-Prayer: And Mr. Baxter brought in a New Common-Prayer-Book of his own making; which he called, The Reformation of the Liturgy. Indeed, had Matters been managed with Tolerable Temper, there might have been ſome good Effect of this Commiſſion, and an Expedient have been found out to have given the Presbyterian Miniſters ſome little Satisfaction, ſo that they might have complied with Reputation among their Party; whereby the Separation, which has ſince enſu'd, might have been hinder'd. But the Biſhops being provok'd by their long Sufferings, and not brooking to have Laws preſcribed to them by thoſe who had been the Occaſion thereof; were not very forward to make any Alterations which were propos'd by the Presbyterians, even in ſome Things as might have deſerved Conſideration; refuſing them ſo much as the Change of deadly Sin, in the Litany, into heinous Sin.

The Presbyterians, on the other hand, heaped together all the Old Exceptions, which the Puritans for a Hundred Years had raiſed againſt the Liturgy, with the Addition of ſome New ones: Which look'd as if they had a mind to have the Biſhops tell the World, That all thoſe Lowd Clamours againſt the Church were juſtifiable, by their Altering, at their Deſire, thoſe Particulars which they could not defend. But Mr. Baxter's new-fangled Liturgy, drawn up in a Method which was warranted by no Ancient Forms, either Greek or Latin, was a Preſumption which was look'd on by all with the greateſt Diſdain. And indeed, it is an Occaſion of no little Wonder to think, that ſo many Learned Men of the Presbyterian Side, could ever be perſwaded to give their Conſent to let ſuch an Odd Performance of that kind, to be laid before Biſhop Stern, Coſins, Morley, Nicholſon, Pearſon; Dr. Gunning, Dr. Heylin, Thorndike, &c. Men ſo admirably verſed in Antiquity and Liturgical Learning: And this eſpecially, when they were directed by the Commiſſion to compare the Common-Prayer-Book with the moſt Ancient Liturgies which have been uſed in the Church in the moſt Primitive and Pureſt Times; and to avoid, as much as may be, all unneceſſary Alterations of the Forms and Liturgy wherewith the People are altogether acquainted, and have ſo long received in the Church of England. Upon the whole; there was nothing done by this Conjunct Body; only ſome few General Diſputes were had about the Points of Scandal, and Conceſſions for the ſake of Weak Brethren, Upon which nothing was concluded; and ſoon after the Commiſſion expired. However, ſome particular Alterations were agreed upon by the Epiſcopal Divines; which were conſider'd, and afterwards made, in the following Convocation.

This Convocation met the 8th of May, 1661. They began with the Office for the King's Birth and Return, which was brought in the 16th of May, being their Second Seſſion. On the 18th of May, their Third Seſſion, they proceeded to the Office of Baptiſm of thoſe of riper Years. By the 20th of December following, the Book was compleated, and ſubſcribed to by the Members of Both Houſes.

The Principal Alterations which were made in this Review, were theſe. Several Leſſons in the Calendar were changed, for others more proper for the Days. The Prayers upon particular Occaſions, were disjoined from the Litany. The Prayer for the Parliament, that for all Conditions of Men, and the General Thanksgiving, were added. Several of the Collects were alter'd. The Epiſtles and Goſpels were taken out of the laſt Tranſlation of the Bible; they being read before according to the Old. The Offices for the Baptiſm of thoſe of riper Years: The Forms of Prayer to be uſed at Sea: The Form on the Martyrdom of King Charles; and that for the King's Birth and Return, or as it is now call'd, The Reſtoration of the Royal Family, were added. The whole Book being finiſhed, and paſſed both Houſes of the Convocation, was unanimouſly by them all ſubſcrib'd to, on Friday the 20th of December, 1661.

The

The Book not going to the Preſs till ſome time after, (the Act of Uniformity, for Enacting it into a Law, taking up a conſiderable Time;) on the 8th of March following, Dr. Sandcroft, Mr. Scattergood, and Mr. Dillingham, were appointed by the Biſhops Superviſors of the Preſs, when the Book ſhould be printed; as appears by an Order of the Upper-Houſe of Convocation, bearing Date that Day.

The Book being brought to the Lord's-Houſe; my Lord Clarendon, then Lord High-Chancellor of England, was order'd by that Houſe, to return the Thanks of the Houſe to the Biſhops and Clergy of the Convocations of both Provinces, for their great Care and Induſtry in the Review of it: Which was ſignified to them by Robert Lord Biſhop of Oxon, who then preſided in the Convocation, Mar. 18. 1661.

What is ſaid may be ſufficient to inform the Reader, concerning the Compiling and Reviews of this Book.

I hope it will not ſuffer in any part by the Notes and Obſervations, which I have made upon it: For I have endeavoured, to the utmoſt of my Ability, to diſcover the True Senſe and Meaning of the Compoſers of it. I know, it has been the Practice of ſeveral Perſons, to extend ſome Expreſſions of it to an unuſual Meaning; thereby to countenance ſome particular Opinions and Uſages, which they have engaged themſelves to maintain. I thank God, I have no ſuch Biaſs upon me; having no other View, but to explain our Conſtitution juſt as it is, and not as ſome Perſons may fancy it to be, either one way or other. For, by the way, Party is a thing which is mighty full of Fancy: And, ſince Men have gotten into their Heads a Notion of Two Churches of England, they are ſetting up different Meanings of our Common-Prayer-Book, and different Shibboleths to diſtinguiſh themſelves by in the Performing its Service.

Whatever little Advantages may be compaſſed by theſe Practices, they are certainly very dangerous ones; as tending to divide that Church, whoſe only Strength and Safety conſiſts in its Union. Theſe Projects have been once already tried, with a very lamentable Succeſs. For the Miſeries of the Civil War were not owing to the Separatiſts and Sectaries (for theſe were afterwards brooded in Cromwell's Army) but to the Quarrels and Diſtinctions made between Church-of-England Men themſelves. Theſe Unhappy Differences kindled the firſt Coals of the Civil War, and blow'd up the whole Nation into Flames: Whereby the Life of the moſt Religious of Princes was ſacrific'd, and the Beſt of Churches was ruin'd.

And if this be not Warning ſufficient, againſt Trying the like Experiments for the future, I know not what is.

I will not pretend to ſay who are moſt to be blamed; for there never were Two Parties, but there was a conſiderable Degree of Fault on either ſide. Let every one be as diligent to put Charitable Conſtructions, upon the Opinions and Practices of thoſe who in a few little Matters differ from them, as ſome are to charge them with remote and odious Conſequences, which they diſown and deteſt: Let them neither go above, nor beneath the Rules which the Church has preſcrib'd: Let them be as ready to find out Expedients for Compoſing Differences, as many are ſtudious to find out Ways to diſagree upon, or to fix Marks of Diſtinction to keep up their Parties, which would otherwiſe dwindle into nothing: Let them but do this heartily and ſincerely, and theſe

Two ſorts of Church-of-England Men would ſoon be One again. By this they would lend the moſt effectual Hand to preſerve our Church, which by theſe fooliſh Differences, and diverſe Methods of Securing, they will run a hard Venture of Undoing. But Matters, God be thanked, are not yet grown Deſperate; and 'tis to be hop'd, that all Wiſe and Good Men, ſeeing the fatal Conſequences of ſuch Diſagreements in a National Church, will uſe all proper Means for the Compoſing them.

Moſt certain it is, notwithſtanding theſe unlucky Differences of late, that we have one good Preſage of the future Peace of the Church; which is, That the Generality of thoſe who hold Communion with her (tho' of different Judgments in ſome ſmall Matters, which are no Parts of our Conſtitution) appear very Zealous for her Eſtabliſh'd Form of Worſhip: And of this, (not to mention other Inſtances) the kind Acceptance, which this Commentary upon the Common-Prayer has met with, is no Inconſiderable Proof.

Therefore, in Gratitude to thoſe Worthy Perſons, who have given me Encouragement to the Publiſhing this Book, (particularly thoſe marked *, who have ſent in their Subſcriptions to me, allowing me the liberty of printing their Names for the Countenance of my Deſign;) I have ſet them down under the Title of the ſeveral Dioceſes which they belong to; inſerting the Liſt of them in the Body of the Preface, and making them a Part of the Book, to continue down to as much of Poſterity, as this Work is like to reach to.

The kind Acceptance which this Work has found from Persons of most Qualities, especially from my Brethren of the Clergy, has given me Encouragement to proceed further in the Explication of the Authentick Books of our Church. And I hope in a Twelve-Months Time, if God give me Life and Health, to present the World with a Commentary, composed after the same Method with this, on the Articles and Canons of the Church, as also on all the Occasional Services, with some Valuable MSS. relating thereunto; and to bring it, if possible, into half the Compass of this Book. And as to the present Book, I further give Notice, That I submit it entirely to the Judgment of my Superiors my Lords the Bishops, and to others my Reverend Brethren of the Clergy: Who, if they shall advertise me of any Mistakes or Omissions which I may have been guilty of, I do promise, with all Humility and Readiness (according to the utmost of my Ability) to Rectify them in the next Impression, and to pay my kindest Acknowledgments for such their Information or Instruction.

But before I dismiss the Reader, I must not forget to acquaint him of a Point of Gratitude which I acknowledge to owe to a Particular Friend, who has given me some Assistance in one part of this Work, viz. Roger Williams of Grays-Inn, Esq; He having been so kind to collect for me the Cases out of the several Books of Reports, which are set down among the Notes in the Acts of Uniformity.

May the Good God give his blessing to these my weak Endeavours, and make my Labours tend to his Glory, the Honour of our Church, and the Salvation of Men's Souls. Amen.

A PROCLAMATION
FOR

The Authorizing an Uniformity of the Book of COMMON-PRAYER, to be uſed throughout the Realm.

ALthough it cannot be unknown to our Subjects by the former Declarations we have publiſhed, what our Purpoſes and Proceedings, have been in Matters of Religion ſince our coming to this Crown: Yet the ſame being now by us reduced to a ſetled Form, We have occaſion to repeat ſomewhat of that which hath paſſed: And how at our firſt Entry into the Realm, being entertained and importuned with Informations of ſundry Miniſters, complaining of Errors and Imperfections of the Church here, as well in matter of Doctrine, as of Diſcipline: Although we had no reaſon to preſume, that Things were ſo far amiſs, as was pretended, becauſe we had ſeen this Kingdom under that Form of Religion, which by Law was eſtabliſhed, in the Days of the late Queen of famous Memory, bleſſed with a Peace and Proſperity, both extraordinary, and of many Years Continuance (a ſtrong Evidence that God was therewith well-pleaſed) yet becauſe the Importunity of the Complainers was great, their Affirmations vehement, and the Zeal wherewith the ſame did ſeem to be accompanied, very ſpecious: We were moved thereby to make it our occaſion to diſcharge that Duty which is the chiefeſt of all Kingly Duties, that is, to ſettle the Affairs of Religion, and the Service of God before our own. Which while We were in hand to do, as the Contagion of the Sickneſs reigning in Our City of London, and other Places would permit an Aſſembly of Perſons to meet for that Purpoſe: Some of thoſe who miſliked the State of Religion here eſtabliſhed, preſuming more of Our Intents than ever We gave them cauſe to do, and tranſported with Humour, began ſuch Proceedings, as did rather raiſe a Scandal in the Church, than take Offence away. For both they uſed Forms of publick ſerving of God not here allowed, held Aſſemblies without Authority, and did other Things, carrying a very apparent ſhew of Sedition, more than of Zeal; whom We reſtrained by Our former Proclamation, in the Month of October laſt, and gave Intimation of the Conference We intended to be had, with as much ſpeed as conveniently could be, for the ordering of thoſe Things in the Church, which accordingly followed in the Month of January laſt at Our Honour of Hampton-Court, where before Our ſelf and Our Privy-Council were aſſembled many of the greateſt Biſhops and Prelates of the Realm, and many other learned Men, as well of thoſe that are conformable to the State of the Church eſtabliſhed, as of thoſe that diſſented. Among whom what Our pains were, what Our patience in Learning and Replying, and what the Indifferency and Uprightneſs of Our Judgment in determining, We leave to the Report of thoſe who heard the ſame, contenting Our ſelf with the ſincerity of Our own Heart therein. But we cannot conceal, that the Succeſs of that Conference was ſuch, as happeneth to many other Things, which moving great Expectation before they be entred into, in their Iſſue produce ſmall Effects. For we found mighty and vehement Informations ſupported with ſo weak and ſlender Proofs, as it appeareth unto Us and Our Council, that there was no cauſe why any Change ſhould have been at all in that which was moſt impugned, the Book of Common-Prayer, containing the Form of the Publick Service of God here eſtabliſhed, neither in the Doctrine which appeared to be ſincere, nor in the Forms and Rites, which were juſtified out of the Practice of the Primitive Church. Notwithſtanding, We thought meet, with conſent of the Biſhops, and other learned Men there preſent, That ſome ſmall Things might rather be explained than changed, not that the ſame might not very well been born with by Men, who would have made a reaſonable Conſtruction of them; but for that in a matter concerning the Service of God, We were nice or rather jealous, that the publick Form thereof should be free, not only from Blame, but from Suspition, so as neither the common Adversary, should have occasion to wrest ought therein contained, to other Sense than the Church of England intendeth, nor any troublesome or ignorant Person of this Church be able to take the least occasion of cavil against it: And for that purpose gave forth Our Commission under Our Great Seal of England, to the Archbishop of Canterbury, and others, according to the Form which the Laws of this Realm, in like case prescribed to be used, to make the said Explanation, and to cause the whole Book of Common-Prayer, with the same Explanations, to be newly Printed. Which being now done, and established a-new after so serious a Deliberation, although We doubt not but all Our Subjects, both Ministers and others, will receive the same with such Reverence, as appertaineth, and conform themselves thereto every Man in that which him concerneth: Yet we have thought it necessary, to make known by Proclamation Our authorizing of the same, and to require and enjoyn all Men, as well Ecclesiastical as Temporal, to conform themselves unto it, and to the Practice thereof, as the only publick Form of serving God, established and allowed to be in this Realm. And the rather, for that all the learned Men, who were there present, as well of the Bishops as others, promised their Conformity in the Practice of it, only making suit unto Us, that some few might be born with for a time.

Wherefore We require all Archbishops, Bishops, and all other publick Ministers, as well Ecclesiastical as Civil, to do their Duties in causing the same to be obeyed, and in punishing the Offenders according to the Laws of the Realm heretofore established, for the authorizing of the said Book of Common-Prayer. And We think it also necessary, that the said Archbishops and Bishops, do each of them in his Province and Diocese take Order, that every Parish do procure to themselves within such time as they shall think good to limit, one of the said Books so explained. And last of all, We do admonish all Men, that hereafter they shall not expect nor attempt any farther Alteration in the Common and Publick Form of God's Service, from this which is now established, for that neither will We give way to any to presume, that Our own Judgment having determined in a matter of this Weight, shall be swayed to Alteration by the frivolous Suggestions of any light Spirit: Neither are We ignorant of the Inconveniencies which do arise in Government, by admitting Innovation in things once settled by mature Deliberation: And how necessary it is to use constancy in the upholding of the publick Determination of States, for that such Unquietness and Unstedfastness of some Dispositions, affecting every Year new Forms of Things, as if they should be followed in their Inconstancy, would make all Actions of State ridiculous and contemptible: Whereas the stedfast maintaining of Things by good Advice established, is the weel of all Commonwealths.

Given at our Palace of Westminster the 5th Day of March, in the First Year of our Reign of England, France and Ireland, and of Scotland the Seven and Thirtieth.

God save the K I N G.

A PROCLAMATION, enjoyning Conformity to the Form of the Service of GOD eſtabliſhed.

THE Care which we have had, and Pains which we have taken to ſettle the Affairs of this Church of England in an Uniformitie as well of Doctrine, as of Government, both of them agreeable to the Word of God, the Doctrine of the Primitive Church, and the Laws heretofore eſtabliſhed for thoſe Matters in this Realm, may ſufficiently appear by our former Actions. For no ſooner did the Infection of the Plague, reigning immediately after our Entry into this Kingdom, give us leave to have any Aſſembly, but we held at our Honour of Hampton-Court, for that purpoſe, a Conference between ſome principal Biſhops and Deans of this Church, and ſuch other learned Men as underſtood or favoured the Opinions of thoſe that ſeek Alteration, before our Self and our Council. Of which Conference the Iſſue was, That no well-grounded Matter appeared to Us, or our ſaid Council, why the State of the Church here by Law eſtabliſhed, ſhould in any material Point be altered: Nor did thoſe that before had ſeemed to affect ſuch Alteration, when they heard the contrary Arguments, greatly inſiſt upon it, but ſeemed to be ſatisfied themſelves, and to undertake within reaſonable time to ſatisfie all others that were miſled with Opinion that there was any juſt Cauſe of Alteration. Whereupon we publiſhed by our Proclamation, what had been the Iſſue of that Conference, hoping that when the ſame ſhould be made known, all reaſonable Men would have reſted ſatisfied with that which had been done, and not have moved further Trouble or Speech of Matters, whereof ſo ſolemn and adviſed Determination had been made. Notwithſtanding, at the late Aſſembly of our Parliament, there wanted not many that renewed with no little Earneſtneſs the Queſtions before determined, and many more as well about the Book of Common-Prayer, as other Matters of Church-Government, and importuned us for our Aſſent to many Alterations therein: But yet with ſuch Succeſs, as when they had heard both our own Speeches made unto them at ſundry times, ſhewing the Reaſons of our former Proceedings in thoſe Matters; and likewiſe had had Conference with ſome Biſhops, and other Lords of the Upper-Houſe about the ſame, they deſiſted from further Proſecution thereof; finding, that of all Things that might any way tend to the furtherance of Religion, and eſtabliſhment of a Miniſtry fit for the ſame, we had before, with the Advice of our Council, had ſuch Conſideration, as the preſent State of Things would bear, and taken Order how the ſame ſhould be proſecuted by ſuch Means, as might be uſed without any publick Diſturbance or Innovation: And ſo the end of all their Motions and Overtures falling out to be none other in Subſtance, than was before at the Conference at Hampton-Court, that is, that no apparent or grounded Reaſon was ſhewed, why either the Book of Common-Prayer, or the Church Diſcipline, here by Law eſtabliſhed, ſhould be changed, (which were unreaſonable) conſidering that particular and perſonal Abuſes are remediable otherwiſe, than by making general Alterations: We have thought good once again to give notice thereof to all our Subjects, by publick Declaration, who we doubt not but will receive great Satisfaction, when they ſhall underſtand, that after ſo much impugning, there appeareth no Cauſe why the Form of the Service of God, wherein they have been nouriſhed ſo many Years, ſhould be changed: And, conſequently, to admoniſh them all in general, to conform themſelves thereunto, without liſtning to the troubleſom Spirits of ſome Perſons, who never receive Contentment, either in Civil or Eccleſiaſtical Matters, but in their own Fantaſies, eſpecially of certain Miniſters, who under pretended Zeal of Reformation, are the chief Authors of Diviſions and Sects among our People. Of many of which, we hope that now, when they ſhall ſee that ſuch Things as they have propoſed for Alteration, prove, upon Tryal, ſo weakly grounded, as deſerve not admittance, they will, out of their own Judgment, conform themſelves to better Advice, and not omit the Principal and Subſtantial Parts of their Duties, for Shadows and Semblances blances of Zeal, but rather bend their Strength with our Intent, to join in one End, that is, the Establishing of the Gospel, and recovering of our People seduced out of the Hands of the common Adversaries of our Religion, which shall never be well performed, but by an Uniformity of our Endeavours therein. But if our Hope herein fail us, we must advertise them, that our Duty towards God requireth at our Hands, that what untractable Men do not perform upon Admonition, they must be compelled unto by Authority, whereof the supreme Power resting in our Hands, by God's Ordinance, we are found to use the same in nothing more, than in preservation of the Church's Tranquility, which by God's Grace we are fully purposed to do: And yet by Advice of our Council, and Opinion of the Bishops, although our former Proclamations, both before the Conference and since, ought to be a sufficient Warning and Admonition to all Men, who are within the Danger of them, We have thought good to give time to all Ministers disobedient to the Orders of the Church, and to Ecclesiastical Authority here by Law established, and who for such Disobedience, either in the Days of the Queen our Sister of famous Memory deceased, or since our Reign, have incurred any Censures of the Church, or Penalties of Laws, until the last of November now next ensuing, to bethink themselves of the Course they will hold therein.

In which mean time both they may resolve either to conform themselves to the Church of England, and obey the same, or else to dispose of themselves and their Families some other ways, as to them shall seem meet: And the Bishops, and others, whom it concerneth, provide meet Persons to be Substitutes in the place of those who shall wilfully abandon their Charges upon so slight Causes: Assuring them, that after that Day, we shall not fail to do that which Princely Providence requireth at our Hands, that is, to put in Execution all Ways and Means that may take from among our People, all Grounds and Occasions of Sects, Divisions, and Unquietness: Whereof, as we wish there may never be occasion given us to make proof, but that this our Admonition may have equal Force in all Mens Hearts, to work an universal Conformity, so we do require all Archbishops, Bishops, and other Ecclesiastical Persons, to do their utmost Endeavours, by Conferences, Arguments, Perswasions, and by all other Ways of Love and Gentleness, to reclaim all that be in the Ministry, to the Obedience of our Church-Laws: For which purpose only we have enlarged the Time formerly prefixed for their Remove or Reformation, to the end, that if it be possible, that Uniformity which we desire, may be wrought by Clemency, and by Weight of Reason, and not by Rigour of Law. And the like Advertisement do we give to all Civil Magistrates, Gentlemen, and others of Understanding, as well abroad in the Counties, as in Cities and Towns, requiring them also, not in any sort to Support, Favour, or countenance any such Factious Ministers in their Obstinacy, of whose Endeavours we doubt not, but so good Success may follow, as this our Admonition, with their Endeavours, may prevent the use of any other Means to retain our People in their due Obedience to us, and in Unity of Mind, to the Service of Almighty God.

Given at our Mannour of Otelands, the 16th Day of July, in the Second Year of our Reign, of England, France and Ireland, and of Scotland the Seven and Thirtieth.

A PROCLAMATION concerning such as seditiously seek Reformation in Church-Matters.

As we have ever from our Infancy had manifold Proofs of God's great Goodness towards us in his protecting of us from many Dangers of our Person, very nearly threatning us, and none more notorious then his happy conducting of us in the late case of our Succession to this Crown, which contrary to most Mens Expectation we have received with more quiet and concurrencie of Good-will of our People (otherwise perhaps of different Dispositions) then ever in like accident hath been seen: So do we think that the Memory of his Benefits ought to be a continual Solicitation to us to shew our selves thankful to his Divine Majesty, wherein soever Opportunity shall be offered us to do him Service, but especially in things concerning his Honour and Service, and the furtherance of the Gospel, which is the Duty most beseeming Royal Authority. Wherefore after our Entry into this Kingdom, when we had received Information of the State thereof at the decease of the Queen our Sister of famous Memory, Although we found the whole Body thereof in general by the Wisdom of her self, and Care of those who had the Administration thereof under her, in such good state of Health as did greatly commend their Wisdoms, Wisdoms, as well in the Politick part of it, as also in the Ecclesiastical, whereof since we have understood the Form and Frame, we are persuaded that both the Constitution and Doctrine thereof is agreeable to God's Word, and near to the Condition of the Primitive Church: Yet forasmuch as Experience doth shew daily, that the Church Militant is never so well constituted in any Form of Policy, but that the Imperfections of Men who have the Exercise thereof, do with time, though unsensibly, bring in some Corruptions: As also for that Informations were daily brought unto us by divers, that some things used in this Church were both scandalous to many seeming zealous, and gave advantage to the Adversaries, We conceived that no Subject could be so fit for us to shew our thankfulness to God, as upon serious Examination of the State of this Church, to redeem it from such Scandals, as both by the one side and the other were laid upon it. For our Instruction wherein, we appointed a Meeting to be had before our self and our Counsel, of divers of the Bishops and other learned Men, the first day of the next Month, by whose Information and Advice we might govern our Proceeding therein, if we found cause of Amendment. But by reason of the Sickness reigning in many places of our Kingdom, the unseasonable time of the Year for travil, and the Incommodity of the place of our Abode for such an Assembly, we were constrained to defer it till after Christmas: At which Consultation we shall both more particularly understand the State of the Church, and receive thereby Light to judge whether there be indeed any such Enormities as are pretended, and know how to proceed to the Redress. But this our godly Purpose we find hath been misconstrued by some Mens Spirits, whose heat tendeth rather to Combustion then Reformation, as appeareth by the Courses they have taken, Some using publick Invectives against the State Ecclesiastical here established, some contemning their Authority and the Processes of their Courts, some gathering Subscriptions of multitudes of vulgar Persons to Supplications to be exhibited to us to crave that Reformation, which if there be cause to make, is more in our Heart then in theirs. All which Courses it is apparant to all Men are unlawful, and do savour of Tumult, Sedition, and Violence, and not of such a Christian Modesty as beseemeth those, who for Pieties sake only desire redress of things they think to be amiss, and cannot but be the occasions of dissentious Partialities, and perhaps of greater Inconveniencies among our People.

For preventing whereof, We have thought it necessary to make publick Declaration to all our Subjects, that as we have reason to think the Estate of the Church here established, and the Degrees and Orders of Ministers governing the same, to be agreeable to the Word of God, and the Form of the Primitive Church, having found the same blessed in the Reign of the late Queen, with great increase of the Gospel, and with a most happy and long Peace in the politick State, which two things the true Service of God, and Happiness of the State do commonly concur together, &c.

A PROCLAMATION for the authorizing the Book of COMMON-PRAYER to be used throughout the Realm of Scotland.

CHARLES by the Grace of God, King of Great Britain, France and Ireland, Defender of the Faith. To our Lieutenants, Messengers, our Sheriffs in that part conjunctly and severally specially constitute greeting. Forasmuch as we, ever since our Entry to the imperial Crown of this our ancient Kingdom of Scotland, especially since our late being here in the same; have divers times recommended to the Archbishops and Bishops here the publishing of a publick Form of Service, in the Worship of God, which we would have uniformly observed therein. And the same being now condescended upon, although we doubt not but that all our Subjects, both Clergy and others, will receive the said publick Form of Service with such Reverence as appertaineth: Yet thinking it necessary to make our Pleasure known, touching the authorizing of the Book thereof, Proclamation for the Use of the Scotch Common-Prayer-Book.

Our Will is, and we charge you straitly, and command, that incontinent these our Letters seen, you pass, and in our Name and Authority command and charge all our Subjects, both Ecclesiastical and Civil, by open Proclamation at the Market-Crosses of the head Burroughs of this our Kingdom, and other Places needful, To conform themselves to the said publick Form of Worship, which is the only Form, which we (having taken the Counsel of our Clergy) think fit to be used in God's publick Worship in this our Kingdom: Commanding also all Archbishops and Biſhops, and other Presbyters and Church-men, to take a ſpecial care that the ſame be duely obeyed and obſerved, and the Contraveeners condignly cenſured and puniſhed, and to have ſpecial care that every Pariſh betwixt, and Paſch next, procure unto themſelves two at leaſt of the ſaid Books of Common-Prayer, for the Uſe of the Pariſh. The which to do we commit to you conjunctly and ſeverally our full Power, by theſe our Letters, delivering the ſame by you duly execute and indorſed again to the Bearer.

Given under our Signet at Edinburg, the 20th Day of December, and of our Reign the 12th Year, 1636.

The Preface.

Preface to the Scotch Common-Prayer-Book.

THE Church of Chriſt hath in all Ages had a preſcript Form of Common-Prayer, or Divine Service, as appeareth by the ancient Liturgies of the Greek and Latine Countries. This was done, as for other great Cauſes, ſo likewiſe for retaining an Uniformity in God's Worſhip: A thing moſt beſeeming them that are of one and the ſame Profeſſion. For by the Form that is kept in the outward worſhip of God, Men commonly judge of Religion. If in that there be a diverſity, ſtraight they are apt to conceive the Religion to be diverſe. Wherefore it were to be wiſhed, that the whole Church of Chriſt were one as well in form of publick Worſhip, as in Doctrine: And that as it hath but one Lord, and one Faith, ſo it had but one Heart, and one Mouth. This would prevent many Schiſms and Diviſions, and ſerve much to the preſerving of Amity. But ſince that cannot be hoped for in the whole Catholick Chriſtian Church, yet at leaſt in the Characters, that are under the Protection of one Sovereign Prince the ſame ought to be endeavoured.

It was not the leaſt part of our late Sovereign King JAMES of bleſſed Memory's Care, to work this Uniformity in all his Dominions: But while he was about to do it, it pleaſed God to tranſlate him to a better Kingdom. His MAJESTY that now raigneth (and long may he raign over us in all Happineſs) not ſuffering his Father's good Purpoſe to fall to the Ground, but treading the ſame Path, with the like Zeal and pious Affection, gave order ſoon after his coming to the Crown, for the framing of a Book of Common-Prayer, like unto that which is received in the Church of England and Ireland, for the Uſe of this Church. After many Lets and Hindrances, the ſame cometh now to be publiſhed, to the Good, we truſt, of all God's People, and the increaſe of true Piety, and ſincere Devotion amongſt them.

But as there is nothing, how good and warrantable ſoever in its ſelf, againſt which ſome will not except: So it may be that Exceptions will be taken againſt this good and moſt pious Work, and perhaps none more preſſed than that we have followed the Service-Book of England. But we ſhould deſire them that ſhall take this Exception, to conſider, that being as we are by God's Mercy of one true Profeſſion, and otherwiſe united by many Bonds, it had not been fitting to vary much from theirs, our eſpecially coming forth after theirs, ſeeing the Diſturbers of the Church, both here and there, ſhould by our Differences, if they had been great, taken occaſion to work more trouble. Therefore did we think meet to adhere to their Form, even in the Feſtivals, and ſome other Rites, not as yet received, nor obſerved in our Church, rather than by omitting them, to give the Adverſary to think, that we diſliked any part of their Service.

Our firſt Reformers were of the ſame Mind with us, as appeareth by the Ordinance they made, That in all the Pariſhes of this Realm, the Common-Prayer ſhould be read Weekly on Sundays, and other feſtival Days, with the Leſſons of the Old and New Teſtament, conform to the Order of the Book of Common-Prayer (meaning that of England; for it is known that divers Years after we had no other Order for Common-Prayer.) This is recorded to have been the firſt Head concluded in a frequent Council of the Lords and Barons profeſſing Chriſt Jeſus. We keep the Words of the Hiſtory; Religion was not then placed in Rites and Geſtures, nor Men taken with the Fancy of Extemporary Prayers. Since the publick worſhip of God in his Church, being the moſt ſolemn Action of us his poor Creatures here below, ought to be performed by a Liturgy adviſedly ſet and framed, and not according to the ſudden and various Fancies of Men. This ſhall ſuffice for the preſent to have ſaid. The God of Mercy confirm our Hearts in his Truth, and preſerve us alike from Profaneneſs and Superſtition. Amen.

The King's COMMISSION for the Review of the Common-Prayer.

CHARLES the Second, by the Grace of God, King of England, Scotland, France, and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, &c. To our Truſty and Well-beloved, the moſt Reverend Father in God, Accepted, Archbiſhop of York; the Right Reverend Father in God, Gilbert, Biſhop of London; John, Bp. of Durham; John, Bp. of Rocheſter; Humphrey, Bp. of Sarum; George, Bp. of Worceſter; Robert, Bp. of Lincoln; Benjamin, Bp. of Peterborough; Brian, Bp. of Cheſter; Richard, Bp. of Carliſle; John, Bp. of Exeter; Edward, Bp. of Norwich; and to our Truſty and Well-beloved, the Reverend Anthony Tukney, D.D. John Conans, D.D. William Spurſtow, D.D. John Wallis, D.D. Thomas Manton, D.D. Edmund Calamy, D.D. Richard Baxter, Clerk; Arthur Jackſon, Thomas Caſe, Samuel Clarke, Matthew Newcomen, Clerks; and to our Truſty and Well-beloved Dr. Earles, Dean of Weſtminſter, Peter Heylin, D.D. John Hacket, D.D. John Berwick, D.D. Peter Gunning, D.D. John Pearſon, D.D. Thomas Piere, D.D. Anthony Sparrow, Herbert Thorndike, D.D. Thomas Horton, D.D. Thomas Jacomb, D.D. William Bate, John Rawlinſon, Clerks; William Cooper, Clerk; Dr. John Lightfoot, Dr. John Collins, Dr. Benjamin Woodbridg, and William Drake, Clerk, Greeting.

Whereas by our Declaration of the 25th of October laſt concerning Eccleſiaſtical Affairs, we did (amongſt other Things) expreſs our Eſteem of the Liturgy of the Church of England contained in the Book of Common-Prayer; and yet ſince we find the Exceptions made againſt ſeveral Things therein, we did by our ſaid Declaration declare we would appoint an equal Number of Learned Divines, of both Perſuaſions to review the ſame: We therefore in accompliſhment of our ſaid Will and Intent, and of our conſtant Care and Study for the Peace and Amity of the Churches within our Dominions, and for the removal of all Exceptions and Differences, and the Occaſions of ſuch Differences and Exceptions from among our good Subjects, for or concerning the ſaid Book of Common-Prayer, or any thing therein contained, do by theſe our Letters Patents require, authorize, conſtitute and appoint you the ſaid, &c. to adviſe upon and review the ſaid Book of Common-Prayer, comparing the ſame with the moſt ancient Liturgies, which have been uſed in the Church in the primitive and pureſt Times. And to that end to aſſemble and meet together from time to time, and at ſuch time within the Space of four Calender Months now next enſuing, in the Maſters lodging in the Savoy in the Strand in the County of Middleſex, or in ſuch other Place or Places as to you ſhall be thought fit and convenient, to take into your ſerious and grave Conſideration the Directions and Rules, Forms of Prayer, and things in the ſaid Book of Common-Prayer contained, and to adviſe, conſult upon and about the ſame, and the ſeveral Objections and Exceptions which ſhall now be raiſed againſt the ſame, and (if occaſion be) to make ſuch reaſonable and neceſſary Alterations, Corrections and Amendments therein, as by any, and between you the ſaid Archbiſhops, Biſhops, Doctors, and Perſons hereby required and authorized to meet and adviſe as aforeſaid, ſhall be agreed upon to be needful and expedient, for the giving Satisfaction to tender Conſciences, and the reſtoring and continuance of Peace and Amity in the Churches under our Protection and Government; but avoiding (as much as may be) all neceſſary * Abbreviations of the Forms and Liturgy wherewith the People are altogether acquainted and have ſo long received in the Church of England. And our Will and Pleaſure is, that when you the ſaid Archbiſhops, Biſhops, Doctors, and Perſons authorized and appointed by theſe our Letters Patents to meet, adviſe, conſult upon and about the Premiſſes as aforeſaid, ſhall have drawn your Conſultations, to any Reſolution and Determination which you ſhall agree upon as needful and expedient to be done for the altering, diminiſhing or enlarging the ſaid Book of Common-Prayer, or any part thereof, That then forthwith you certifie and preſent unto Us in writing under your ſeveral Hands, the Matters and Things whereupon you ſhall ſo determine, for our Approbation; and to end the ſame, or ſo much thereof as ſhall be approved by us, may be eſtabliſhed. And foraſmuch as the ſaid Archbiſhop and Biſhops have ſeveral great Charges to attend, which we would not diſpenſe with, or that the ſame ſhould be neglected upon any great Occaſion whatſoever, and ſome of them being of great Age and Infirmities, may not be able conſtantly to attend the Execution of the Service and Authority hereby given and required by us, in the Meeting and Conſultation aforeſaid; We will therefore and hereby require you the ſaid Dr. Earles, &c. to ſupply the Place and Places of ſuch of the Archbiſhop biſhops and Biſhops (other then the ſaid Edward, Biſhop of Norwich) as ſhall by Age, Sickneſs, Infirmity or other Occaſions be hindred from attending the ſaid Meeting or Conſultation (that is to ſay) that one of you the ſaid Dr. Earles, &c. ſhall from time to time ſupply the Place of each one of them the ſaid Archbiſhop and Biſhops (other then the ſaid Edward, Bp. of Norwich) which ſhall happen to be hindred, or to be abſent from the ſaid Meetings or Conſultations; and ſhall or may Advice conſult and determine, and alſo certifie and execute all and ſingular the Powers and Authorities beforementioned, in, and about the Premiſſes, as fully and abſolutely as ſuch Archbiſhop and Biſhops which ſhall ſo happen to be abſent, ſhould or might do by Vertue of theſe our Letters Pattents, or any thing herein contained, in caſe he or they were perſonally preſent. And whereas in regard of the diſtance of ſome, the Infirmity of others, the multitude of conſtant Employment, and other incidental Impediments, ſome of you the ſaid Edward, Bp. of Norwich, &c. may be hindred from the conſtant Attendance in the Execution of the Service aforeſaid; we therefore will and do hereby require and authorize you the ſaid Thomas Horton, &c. to ſupply the Place or Places of ſuch the Commiſſioners laſt above-mentioned, as ſhall by the Means aforeſaid, or any other occaſion be hindred from the ſaid Meeting and Conſultations, that one of you the ſaid Thomas Horton, &c. ſhall from time to time ſupply the Places of each one of the ſaid Commiſſioners laſt mentioned, which ſhall happen to be hindred or abſent from the ſaid Meeting and Conſultations, and ſhall and may adviſe, conſult and determine, and alſo certifie and execute all, and ſingular the Powers and Authorities before-mentioned, in and about the Premiſſes, as fully and abſolutely as ſuch of the ſaid mentioned Commiſſioners, which ſhall ſo happen to be abſent, ſhould, or might do by vertue of theſe our Letters Pattens, or any thing therein contained, in caſe he or they were perſonally preſent. # [a]An ACT for the Uniformity of Common-Prayer, and Service in the Church, and Administration of the Sacraments.

Primo Eliz.

Where at the death of our late Sovereign Lord King Edward the Sixth, there remained one uniform order of Common Service, and Prayer, and of the Administration of Sacraments, Rites and Ceremonies in the Church of England, which was set forth in one Book, intituled, The Book of Common Prayer, and Administration of Sacraments, and other Rites and Ceremonies in the Church of England, Authorized by Act of Parliament holden in the fifth and sixth years of our said late Sovereign Lord King Edward the Sixth, intituled, An Act for the Uniformity of Common Prayer and Administration of the Sacraments; The which was repealed, and taken away by Act of Parliament, in the first year of the Reign of our late Sovereign Lady Queen Mary, to the great decay of the due honour of God, and discomfort to the professors of the truth of Christs Religion:

Sacraments, 14. C. II. c. 4.

5 & 6 Ed. VI. c. 1. 1 M. 2.

Repeal of the 1st M. 2. and the Book of Common-Prayer shall be of effect.

II. Be it therefore enacted by the Authority of this present Parliament, That the said Statute of Repeal, and every thing therein contained, only concerning the said Book, and the Service, Administration of Sacraments, Rites, and Ceremonies contained or appointed in, or by the said Book, shall be void and of none effect, from and after the Feast of the Nativity of Saint John Baptist next coming: and That the said Book, with the order of Service, and of the Administration of Sacraments, Rites and Ceremonies, with the alteration and additions therein added and appointed by this Statute, shall stand, and be from, and after the said Feast of the Nativity of Saint John Baptist, in full force and effect, according to the tenour and effect of this Statute: Any thing in the foresaid Statute of Repeal to the contrary notwithstanding.

The Book of Common-Prayer shall be used, 8 Eliz. 1

III. And further be it Enacted by the Queens Highness, with the assent of the Lords and Commons of this present Parliament assembled, and by the Authority of the same, That [b] all, and singular Ministers in any Cathedral, or Parish-Church, or other place within this Realm of England, Wales, and the Marches of the same, or other the Queens Dominions, shall from and after the Feast of the Nativity of Saint John Baptist next coming, be bounden to say and use the Mattens, Evensong, celebration of the Lords Supper, and administration of each of the Sacraments, and all other Common and open Prayer, in such order and form as is mentioned in the said Book, so Authorized by Parliament in the said fifth and sixth year of the Reign of King Edward the Sixth; with one alteration, or addition of certain Lessons to be used on every Sunday in the year, and the form of the Letany altered, and corrected, and two sentences only added in the delivery of the Sacrament to the Communicants, and none other, or otherwise:

The Alteration of the Book set forth. 5 & 6 Ed. VI. 1.

IV. And, That [c] if any manner of Parson, Vicar, or other whatsoever Minister, that ought or should sing, or say Common Prayer mentioned in the

The Forfeiture of those which use any other Service than the Book of Common-Prayer.

[a] An Act for the Uniformity.] This Act is in the Affirmative, and doth not take away Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction, unless Words in the Negative had been added; as, And not otherwise, or, In no other manner or form, or to the like effect. The Temporal Law inflicts Punishment upon Body, Lands or Goods; Ecclesiastical Law, pro salute animæ. Cawdrey's Case, Coke, L. 5. f. 5, 6. Vid. Dyer, 50. 135. This is a General Statute, and need not be particularly recited, Dyer 203. By the 14 Car. II. this and all other Laws for Uniformity of Common-Prayer, &c. are applicable to the Book of Common-Prayer, authorized by that Act.

[c] Any manner.] This Clause extends to all Ministers, both local and others. Dyer 203. b.

(Coke l. 5. f. 4.)

[f] And profit of all his Spiritual Benefices, &c. ariſing in one whole Year, &c. ] Before Tithes and other Dues, which are now ſettled upon the Parochial Clergy, were eſtabliſhed, the Clergy had their Maintenance from the Offerings which were made by the Faithful at the Communion. Which Cuſtom continued in moſt places, till the ſeventh or eighth Century. For when Auſtin wrote to Pope Gregory, to give him directions concerning a Maintenance for the Clergy in his new converted Church here in England: The Pope returns this Anſwer, according to the tenor of the Eccleſiaſtical Uſage. Quatuor debent fieri Portiones, Una Epiſcopo & Familiæ ſuæ propter Hoſpitalitatem. ALIA Clero. TERTIA Pauperibus. QUARTA Eccleſiis reparandis. The Oblations muſt be divided into 4 parts. The firſt muſt go to the Biſhop and his Family for maintaining Hoſpitality. The ſecond muſt be divided among all the Clergy. The third muſt go to the Poor. Bed. Hiſt. Eccl. lib. 1. cap. 27. Leo Magn. Ep. lib. 12. Epiſt. 31. According to the Devotion of thoſe times, the People could not ſatisfie themſelves in offering leſs than a tenth part of their Income, which the Jews ſet aſide for the maintenance of their Clergy. The Drawer up of King Edward the Confeſſors Laws (Lambert Arch. p. 139. & Spel. Conc. p. 620.) attributes the preaching up the paying Tithes in Specie, to Auſtin our Engliſh Apoſtle, and ſays, that it was ſettled by the King and his Parliament. After his Injunctions for tithing Pigs, and Calves, and Bees, &c. he ſays, Hæc prædicabit B. Auguſtinus, & conceſſa ſunt a Rege, Baronibus & Populo. But Bede, who ſhould know that matter better than any later Writer, ſays nothing of it. But that which led the Drawer up of this Law, as it has done ſome others, into ſuch a Miſtake, was this Expreſſion of Bede; where he ſays, That K. Edilbert gave Auſtin and his Fellows a Manſion-houſe, ipſis doctoribus ſuis locum ſedis; and likewiſe did, neceſſarias in diverſis ſpeciebus poſſeſſiones conferre; which ſome have taken to be Tithes in Specie. But I rather take it to be a Benefaction from the King, conſiſting of ſeveral Particulars. For Bede uſes the ſame Expreſſion in Chap. 27 of the ſame Book; where he ſays, That Pope Gregory ſent King Edilbert an Epiſtle, & dona in diverſis ſpeciebus perpulchra; which to be ſure were not Pigs and Calves, but only ſome Preſents of ſeveral ſorts, which that Pope made to the new Converted King. But 200 Years after, about the Year of our Lord 786, the Payment of Tithes in kind, or at leaſt to the full value of the tenth part of the Income, had become a Cuſtom, not only in Foreign Churches, but alſo in England. For among the Canons of an old Synod, convened by the Authority of Ælfwald K. of Northumberland, Offa K. of the Mercians, and Kenwolph K. of the Weſt-Saxons, there is this; Cum obteſtatione præcipimus, ut omnes ſtudeant, de omnibus quæ poſſident, decimas dare, quia ſpeciale Domini Dei eſt, &c. Tho' the Records of this Council be nowloſt here in England, the Acts thereof are preſerved by the Centuriators, Cent. 8. cap. 9. Afterwards, about the Year 895, Ethelwolph K. of the Weſt-Saxons, made a Law for paying Tithe of all Goods. Ego Ethelwolphus Rex cum Conſilio Epiſcoporum & Principum, &c. decimam partem omnium bonorum in libertatem perpetuam donari ſanctæ Eccleſiæ dijudicabi. Ingulph. About Forty years after that, we find the ſame enjoyned by K. Athelſtan, commanding and conjuring all Men to pay, vivorum animalium & annuorum terræ proventuum decimas. Spel. Conc. p. 402. Lamb. Arch. p. 45. About the Year 967. it was ordained by K. Edgar, Ut ſacerdotes populum inſtruant, de his quæ jure Deo ſunt reddenda; decimæ ſc. & aliæ. Spelm. Con. ad an. 967. p. 454. And the ſame Prince order'd a Mulct to be paid by every one, even the Lords themſelves, who detain'd their Tithes. Si decimas qui Thanus eſt Regis detinuerit, 10 pendito ſemimarcas, Poſſeſſor prædiorum 6, & Cyrliſcus ſive Paganus 12 oras. The Lord who detains his Tithes ſhall pay 10 half Marks, the Land-owner ſix, and the Churl or Husbandman 12 Ores. Spel. Con. p. 501. The like was done in the great Charter of Hen. 3. That the Church of England shall be free, and shall have all her whole Rights and Liberties inviolable. Mag. Cart. cap. 1. By these Authorities of the State, were the Right of Tithes, and the Maintenance of the Clergy settled, during these most early times in our Nation. But when any Controversy arose concerning the payment of them, it was, I suppose, determin'd by any ordinary Justice, whether of the Clergy or Laity, 'till a Charter of King Wil. 1. fix'd it in the Spiritual Court: For by this all Spiritual Causes, quæ ad regimen animarum pertinent, and are grounded upon the Episcopales Leges, or Laws of the Church, are to be tried before the Bishop; and the Delinquent is to come ad locum quem Episcopus elegerit & nominaverit: Whose Judgment, if he declines, he is to be excommunicated; and afterwards, if occasion be, the secular Aid is to be called in, & si opus fuerit ad hoc vindicandum Fortitudo & Justitia Regis vel Vice-comitis adhibeatur. The Ecclesiastical Laws and Jurisdictions being thus established by the secular Law, all the Canons made by the National or Provincial Synods, were esteemed as countenanced by the same Law likewise. Hence the Laws concerning paying of Tithes, made in several following Convocations of the Clergy, as we may see at large in Lindwood's Provincial; and Otho's and Ottobon's Constitutions. Nor has the Statute-Law of the Realm been wanting in the several following Ages, to inforce the payment of the said Dues, for the maintenance of the Clergy. For tho' the Pope, by his Paramount Power, would pretend to dispense with the Ecclesiastical Laws, and alienate the Tithes from the Parochial Ministers, to enrich the Regular Clergy, whom he had a greater fondness for: Yet the Secular Clergy were readily relieved from this oppression by several Statutes; as particularly by the 2 Hen. 4. Forasmuch as our Lord the King, upon grievous Complaint made to him by this Parliament, hath perceiv'd that the religious Men of the Order of Cisteaux in the Realm of England have purchased certain Bulls, to be quit and discharged to pay the Tithes of their Lands, Tenements, &c. In great prejudice and derogation of the Liberty of Holy Church, and of many Liege-People of the Realm: Our Lord the King willing thereunto to ordain Remedy, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the Instance and Request of the Commons, hath Ordain'd and Establish'd, That the Religious Persons of the Order of Cisteaux shall stand in the state that they were before the time of such Bulls purchased. &c. And so in the fifth year of the same King, It is ordained and established, That the Farmers, and all manner of Occupiers of the Mannors, Lands, Tenements and other Possessions of Altens shall pay, and be bound to pay all manner of Dismes thereof due to Parsons and Vicars of Holy Church, in whose Parishes the same Mannors, Lands, Tenements and Possessions be, so assessed and due, as the Law of Holy Church requireth. By which Clause the Ecclesiastical Laws are confirmed 5 Hen. 4. cap. 11. By the Statute of the 27th of Hen 8. It is enacted, That for the substraction of Tithes, the Parson, Vicar, may convent the Person or Persons so offending, before his Ordinary or other competent Judge of this Realm, having Authority to hear and examine the Right of Tithes. 27 Hen. 8. cap. 12. And it is further Enacted by a Statute of the same King, That every of his Subjects of this Realm of England, &c. according to the Ecclesiastical Laws and Ordinances of his Church of England, and after the laudable Usages and Customs of their Parish or other Place, where he dwelleth or occupieth, shall yield and pay his Tithes and Offerings, and other Duties of Holy Church, and that for such substractions the Parson, &c. may by due process of the Ecclesiastical Laws of the Church of England, convent the Person or Persons so offending before his Ordinary, &c. 27 Hen. 8. cap. 20. And by the 32d. of that King, for substraction of Tithes, the Person wronged or grieved, shall or may convent the Person or Persons so offending before the Ordinary, his Commissary, &c. 32 Hen. 8. cap. 7. by the 2d and 3d of Edw. 6. The Owner or Farmer must set forth the Tithe, or agree for the same under the pain of forfeiture of treble value of the Tithes so taken or carried away, 2d and 3d Edw. 6. cap. 13. or if he let or stop the Parson, &c. to view, take, or carry away the Tithes, by reason whereof the said Tithe is lost, impaired or hurt, shall pay double the value of the Tithe so taken, lost, &c.

h Deprived.] Although the Word Void be not here, only ipso facto deprived, yet the Words Patron to present as if the Person were dead, are as extensive; and there is no occasion of Sentence declaratory, otherwise the Statute would be defrauded at the Ordinaries Pleasure, if he would not Deprive, and no Pardon will reach it, it being once void. t inhabiting within this Realm, or any other the Queen's Majesty's Dominions, shall diligently, and faithfully, having no u lawful or reasonable Excuse to be absent, endeavour themselves to resort to their Parish-Church, or Chapel accustomed, or upon reasonable let thereof, to some usual Place, where Common-Prayer, and such Service of God shall be used in such Time of let, upon every Sunday, and other Days ordained and used to be kept as Holidays, and then and there to abide orderly and soberly, during the Time of Common-Prayer, Preaching, x or other Service of God there to be used and ministred upon Pain of Punishment by the Censures of the Church; and also upon Pain, that every Person so offending, shall y forfeit for every such Offence Twelve Pence, to be levied by the Churchwardens of the Parish where such Offence shall be done, to the use of the Poor of the same Parish, of the Goods, Lands, and Tenements of such Offender by way of Distress.

XV. And for due Execution hereof, the Queen's most excellent Majesty, the Lords Temporal, and all the Commons in this present Parliament assembled, do in God's Name earnestly require and charge all the Archbishops, Bishops, and other Ordinaries, that they shall endeavour themselves to the uttermost of their Knowledges, that the due and true Execution hereof may be had throughout their Dioceses, and Charges, as they will answer before God for such Evils and Plagues, wherewith Almighty God may justly punish his People, for neglecting this good and wholsom law.

Bishops exhorted that this Law, to the utmost of their Power, be put in execution.

XVI. And for their Authority in this behalf, Be it further Enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That all and singular the same Archbishops, z Bishops, and all other their Officers, exercising Ecclesiastical jurisdiction, as well in place exempt, as not exempt, within their Diocese, shall have full power and Authority by this Act to reform, correct and punish by censures of the Church, all, and singular Persons, which shall offend within any of their Jurisdictions, or Dioceses, after the said Feast of the Nativity of Saint John Baptist next coming, against this Act and Statute: Any other Law, Statute, Privilege, Liberty or Provision heretofore made, had, or suffered to the contrary notwithstanding.

The Ordinary may punish Offenders by the Censures of the Church. See Sect. XIV. XXIII. Notes.

XVII. And it is Ordained and Enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That all and every Justice of Oyer and Determiner, or a Justices of Assize shall have full power and Authority in every of their open and general Sessions to enquire, hear and determine all and all manner of offences, that shall be committed, or done contrary to any Article contained in this present Act, within the limits of the Commission to them directed, and to make process for the execution of the same, as they may do against any person, being indicted before them of trespass, or lawfully convicted thereof.

t Inhabiting] It is not necessary to Aver in the Indictment, either the inhabiting or having no lawful or reasonable Excuse, for that should come from the other side, (2 Leonard 6.) The Statute of 5 and 6 of Edw. 6. c. 1. as well as this Statute, prohibits Absence from Church, having no lawful Excuse. The Words having no lawful Excuse are not in 23 Eliz. c. 1.

u Lawful.] A Person sued in the Ecclesiastical Court, pleaded Excuse; a Prohibition was prayed, because they ought not to hold Plea of the Excuse, but denied. Allowed, that if they would not admit of the Excuse, then a prohibition Lay, and said, by Banks Chief-Justice, that the Ecclesiastical Court might before this Statute, punish Absence pro reformatione morum & salute animæ (March Rep. 93.)

w Parish-Church.] The Ecclesiastical Judge cannot punish a Person for not coming to the Church of the Parish, where he resides, if he goes to any other; and it is a good Plea that he used to frequent another Church, and did resort thereunto; and upon refusal of this Plea, the Party shall have a Prohibition, for the Spiritual-Court hath not Power to say, which shall be said to be a Man's Parish-Church; nor can the Spiritual Court try the Bounds of Parishes, but they shall be tried at common Law, (Bulstrode 159. Coke L. 13. f. 17.) A Person is not bound by this Statute to his Parish-Church, but upon reasonable Excuse may go to another; but it is otherwise by the Ecclesiastical Law. (Doderidge Justice. 2 Roll. 438, 455.) And the Person is to endeavour to resort diligently and faithfully, and to abide there orderly and soberly; and for not doing it in this manner, he may be punished as well as if he was Absent; so if he talks or walks there in the the time of Divine Service (1 Rolls 93. Foster's Case.)

y Forfeit.] This Forfeiture still remains, notwithstanding the 20 l. per Month given by 23 Eliz. c. 1. and the 3 J. 1. c. 4. gives a more speedy way for recovering it. One is due for a Month's Absence, and not forfeited or recoverable till a Month is past, and the other forfeited as soon as every Sunday and Holiday is past, the 1 s. to the Poor, the 20 l. to the Queen; nor doth this Statute help in case of Conformity as the 23d of Eliz. and the 1st of J. 1. c. 4. At whose Charges the Books of Common-Prayer shall be gotten.

XIX. Provided also, and be it Enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That the Books concerning the said Service shall at the costs and charges of the Parishioners of every Parish, and Cathedral-Church be attained, and gotten before the said Feast of the Nativity of Saint John Baptist next following, and that all such Parishes and Cathedral-Churches, or other places, where the said Books shall be attained and gotten before the said Feast of the Nativity of Saint John Baptist, shall within three weeks next after the said Books so attained and gotten, use the said Service, and put the same in use according to this Act.

Within what time Offenders shall be impeached.

XX. And be it further Enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That no person or persons shall be at any time hereafter impeached, or otherwise molested of or for any of the offences above-mentioned, hereafter to be committed, or done contrary to this Act, unless he or they so offending be thereof [c] indicted, at the next general Sessions to be holden before any such Justices of Oyer and Determiner, or Justices of Assize, next after any offence committed or done, contrary to the tenour of this Act.

Trial of Peers.

XXI. Provided always, and be it Ordained and Enacted, by the Authority aforesaid, That all and singular Lords of the Parliament, for the third offence above-mention'd, shall be tried by their Peers.

Chief Officers of Cities and Boroughs shall inquire of Offenders, and determine Offences, within 15 Days after Easter and Michaelmas yearly.

XXII. Provided also, and be it Ordained, and Enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That the Mayor of London, and all other Mayors, Bailiffs, and other Head-officers of all, and singular Cities, Boroughs, and Towns-corporate within this Realm, Wales and the Marches of the same, to the which Justices of Assize do not commonly repair, shall have full power and Authority by vertue of this Act, to inquire, hear, and determine the offences abovesaid, and every of them yearly, within fifteen Days after the Feasts of Easter, and Saint Michael the Archangel [d] in like manner and form, as Justices of Assize, and Oyer, and Determiner may do.

[e] All and singular.] If this Act had not inflicted Punishment for depraving or not observing the Book of Common-Prayer; yet being allowed and commanded to be observed, for Uniformity of Common-Prayer, and the unity and peace of the Church, the Ecclesiastical Judge may deprive such Parson, Vicar, &c. as shall deprave or not observe the said Book, as well for the first Offence, as he might have done by the Censures of the Church, if no form of Punishment had been inflicted by this Act (Coke l. 5. f. 6) The Common-Prayer Book being enjoyn'd by Authority, Offences against it are Punishable by the Ecclesiastical Law; and therefore if the Ecclesiastical Judge deprive for the first Offence, it is not to be question'd by the Temporal Judge (ib. f. 7.) Coke L. 4. 29. Bunting's Case.

[f] Archbishops.] The Name of Archbishop is not perhaps so ancient, as the thing itself; there being hardly mention of it among ancient Writers, till about the beginning of the fourth Century. But then it is certain it was used, and perhaps, a considerable time before. Athanasius uses it as a Title belonging to the Bishop of Alexandria. Apol. 2. ad Imp. Const. And not long after him Epiphanius gives it as a just Title of that Bishop. For he, not only calls Peter Ἀλεξανδρείας Ἀρχιεπίσκοπον Archbishop of Alexandria; but he tells us, That, by Prescription, his Jurisdiction extended over very large Countries. Τέτο γὰρ ἔθος ἦν, τὸν ἐν τῇ Ἀλεξανδρείᾳ Ἀρχιεπίσκοπον ἔχειν τῆς τε Αἰγύπτου καὶ Θηβαΐδος Μαρεωτίδος τε, καὶ Λιβύης, Ἀμμωνιακῆς Μαρεωτίδος τε, καὶ πενταπόλεως ἔχειν τὴν Ἐκκλησιαστικὴν διοίκησιν. Eph. Hær. 48. After this the Title grew common enough, it being mentioned in the Councils and Ecclesiastical Histories of the following times. Soz. Hist. Lib. 2. cap. 8. Conc. Eph. Act. 1. But the thing itself, or the Office of an Archbishop was more ancient. For Archiepiscopal or Metropolitical Jurisdiction was acknowledged, as an ancient Custom belonging to several Sees in the great Council of Nice. Τὰ ἀρχαία ἔθη κρατείτω τὰ ἐν Αἰγύπτῳ, καὶ Λιβύῃ, καὶ Πενταπόλει, ὥσπερ τὸν ἐν Ἀλεξανδρείᾳ Ἐπίσκοπον πάντων τούτων ἔχειν ἐξουσίαν· ἐπειδὴ καὶ τῷ ἐν Ῥώμῃ βασιλόπῳ τέτο συνηθές ἐστιν· ὁμοίως δὲ καὶ τὸν Ἀντιόχειαν. καὶ ἐν ταῖς ἄλλαις ἐπαρχίαις τὰ πρεσβεῖα σώζεσθαι ταῖς Ἐκκλησίαις. Let the ancient Customs be observed in Egypt, Libya, and Pentapolis, that the Bishop of Alexandria may have Jurisdiction over all these: And as it is customary for the Bishop of Rome to have, so likewise in Antioch *and other Jurisdictions, let their ancient Priviledges be allowed them. The ſame Euſebius ſpeaks of Polycrates (who managed the controverſy of Eaſter againſt the Weſtern Biſhops) that he did ἐπὶ τῆς Ἀσίας ἐπισκόπων ἡγεῖτο preſide over the Biſhops of Aſia; he being Biſhop of Epheſus. Euſeb. Eccl. Hiſt. Lib. 5. cap. 24. The Council of Carthage was held under S. Cyprian, as Archbiſhop of the Province. Nor was the Metropolitan Dignity in other places only an empty Title of Honour, ariſing from the Dignity of the See: For they had Power to convene the reſt of the Biſhops in their Provinces to the Provincial Synods, and to appoint the place where the Aſſembly was to be held. For the Council of Antioch allows, that only to be a compleat Provincial Synod, wherein the Metropolitan is preſent: Τελείαν δὴ ἐκείνην εἶναι συνόδον ἢ συμπάρεστι καὶ ὁ τῆς μητροπόλεως. Con. Ant. Can. 17. And the Council in Trullo decrees καθ' ἕκαστον ἔτος τὴν ἐν ἑκάστῃ ἐπαρχίᾳ συνόδους γίνεσθαι ἐπισκόπων, ἔνθα ἂν ὁ τῆς μητροπόλεως δοκιμάσῃ ἐπίσκοπος. That every Year in every Province, there ſhould be Synods of Biſhops, where the Metropolitan ſhould think fit. Conc. Trul. Can. 8. And Matters were ſo well attemper'd, that, as the other Biſhops were not to conclude any matter of Moment without their Metropolitan, ſo neither had the Metropolitan an Arbitrary Power to do any matter of the like Concern, without the Advice and Conſent of his Comprovincials. Μηδὲν πράττειν ἐπιχείρειν διχὰ τοῦ τῆς μητροπόλεως ἐπισκόπου, μηδὲ αὐτὸν, ἄνευ τῆς τῶν λοιπῶν γνώμης. The Biſhops not to pretend to do any thing without their Metropolitan, nor he without the Council of the other Biſhops. Conc. Antioch. Can. 9.

8 Biſhops.] That our Saviour founded the Epiſcopal Order, when he gave the Plenitude of Eccleſiaſtical Power to the Apoſtles, before his Aſcenſion, was the Opinion of the Ancients. And therefore the writer of the Queſtions upon the Old and New Teſtament, ſays, that our Saviour priuſquam aſcenderet, imponens manus Apoſtolis, ordinavit eos Epiſcopos. Our Saviour after his Aſcenſion, laying his Hands upon the Diſciples ordained them Biſhops. And St. Cyprian makes the Epiſcopal and Apoſtolical Office to be the ſame: Epiſcopos & Præpoſitos Dominus elegit. Cypr. Ep. 65. The whole Voice of Antiquity allows, that St. James was Biſhop of Jeruſalem. Hegeſip. apud Hier. in Catal. Epiph. Hær. 78. Hier. in Gal. Chryſ. Hom. in 3 Act. Athan. in Synopſ. Euſ. Lib. 2. cap. 1. That Epaphroditus was ordained a Biſhop by the Apoſtles, the Ancients likewiſe affirm. For Theodoret ſays of him, that Τὴν ἐπισκοπικὴν οἰκονομίαν ἐπιτέτριπτο, ἔχων ἐπισκόπου πρεσβηγορίαν. That he had the Biſhops Office committed to him, and had the Title of a Biſhop given him. Theod. in Phil. 2. 25. And thoſe Words of St. Jerom, import the ſame: Paulatim vero tempore procedente, & alii quos Dominus elegerat, ordinati ſunt Apoſtoli, ſicut iſte ad Philippenſes ſermo declarat, dicens, Neceſſarium exiſtimavi Epaphroditum. But by Degrees in proceſs of time, others whom the Lord had choſen were ordained Apoſtles, as the Apoſtles Words to the Philippians declare, I thought it neceſſary to ſend Epaphroditus, &c. Hier. in Gal. 1. 19. That Titus was Biſhop of Crete, Τῶν ἐπὶ κρήτης ἐκκλησιῶν ἐπισκοπὴν εἰληχέναι, Euſebius in his Hiſtory affirms, Eccl. Hiſt. Lib. 3. And the Power of a Biſhop ſeems plainly to be committed to him by the Apoſtle, when he was enjoyn'd to ſet in order the things that were wanting, and to ordain elders in every City. Tit. 1. 5. And the ſame Power ſeems to be veſted in Timothy, when he was ordered to reſtrain the extravagant Apparel of ſome Women, 1 Tim. 2. 9. and the boldneſs of ſome others who preſumed to ſpeak in the Church, 1 Tim. 2. 11, 12. and eſpecially when he was to take care to promote none to the Office of the Prieſthood, but thoſe who had uſed the Office of a Deacon well, 1 Tim. 2. 10 and 13. If we go on further downwards in Eccleſiaſtical Hiſtory, we ſhall find the Church-Memoirs full of the Relations of Affairs concerning Biſhops. Ignatius a Diſciple of the Apoſtles makes expreſs mention, of the three Orders; Biſhops, Prieſts and Deacons, Τῷ Ἐπισκόπῳ προσέχετε, καὶ τῷ πρεσβυτερίῳ, καὶ Διακόνοις. Give ear to the Biſhop, to the Presbytery, and the Deacons, Epiſt. ad Trul. Sect. 2. & ad Phil. Sect. 8. He enjoyns μὴ συγχεῶσι τῇ ἡλικίᾳ τοῦ Ἐπισκόπου, not to uſe contemptuouſly the Authority of a Biſhop who is young, Ign. Ep. ad Magn.

Juſtin Martyr mentions the Bread in the Communion, being offer'd by the Biſhop or Προεστὼς. Ἔπειτα προσφέρεται τῷ Προεστῶτι τῶν ἀδελφῶν ἄρτος. Apol. II. And that by the Προεστὼς is meant the Biſhop, is clear by the Teſtimony of Dionyſius Biſhop of Corinth, who uſes Προεστὼς and Ἐπίσκοπος promiſcuouſly, Euſeb. Hiſt. Eccl. Lib. 4. cap. 23.

We have the Catalogue of Biſhops, in the ſeveral Sees, given us by the ſame Euſebius, from the Teſtimonies of Dionyſius, and Hegeſippus. Euſeb. Hiſt. Lib. 4. cap. 22 and 23.

The three Eccleſiaſtical Orders are mentioned by Clemens of Alexandria. Ἐπεὶ καὶ αἱ ἐκλαῦθα κατὰ τὴν Ἐκκλησίαν προκοπαὶ ἐπισκόπων, πρεσβυτέρων, διακόνων, μιμήματα εἶμαι τῆς ἀγγελικῆς δόξης. For theſe diverſe Promotions in the Church, of Biſhops, Prieſts and Deacons, are imitations, in my Opinion, of the Glory of the Angelick Orders. Clem. Alex. Strom. Lib. 6.

Origen likewiſe plainly aſſerts the Superiority of the Epiſcopal over other Orders, in theſe Words; Πλεῖόν ἐγὼ ἀπαίτημαι παρὰ τὸν διάκονον, πλεῖον δὲ διάκονον παρὰ τὸν λαϊκον, ὁ δὲ πάντων ἡμῶν ἐσκεψεισμένος ἀρχὴν αὐτὸν ἐκκλησιαστικὴν, ἐπὶ πλεῖον ἀπαιτεῖται. More is required of me than of a Deacon; and more from a Deacon, than from a Laick; but from him, to whom the Eccleſiaſtical Government is committed over us all, more is yet required. Orig. in Jer. Hom. 2. And in another Place Σύμβολόν ἐστι καὶ ὁ Ἐπίσκοπος, καὶ ὁ Πρεσβύτερος καὶ ὁ Διάκονος ἀληθινῶν καὶ τὰ ὀνόματα ταῦτα πραγμάτων. The Biſhop, Prieſt and Deacon, are a Symbol of the true things contained under theſe Names, Orig. in Mat. XXI.

Tertullian mentions the three Orders, in his Book of ſingle Marriage, Ab Epiſcopo Monogamo, Presbyteris & Diaconis, &c. And ſays in another Place, edant ergo origines Eccleſiarum ſuarum, evolvant Ordines Epiſcoporum ſuorum. Let them ſhew the Original of their Churches, let them turn over the Catalogues of their Biſhops. Which plainly ſhews that there had been a long Succeſſion of Biſhops, in the ſeveral Churches, before Tertullian's time. St. Cyprian lays it down as an occaſion of the Schiſm and Hereſies of thoſe times, that the Biſhops were undervalued. Inde enim ſchismata & Hæreſes exortæ ſunt & oriuntur, dum Epiſcopus, qui unus eſt, & Eccleſiæ præeſt, ſuperbâ, quorundam præſumptione contemnitur, & homo dignatione Dei honoratus indignus hominibus judicatur. Cypr. Ep. 69. ad Flor. And he elſewhere bewails the Remiſſion of the ancient Diſcipline, and want of due Obedience to the Biſhop. Actum eſt de Epiſcopi vigore, & de Eccleſiæ gubernandæ ſublimi & divina poteſtate. Epiſt. 55. ad Corn. St. Athanaſius relates the manner of the Election of a Biſhop by the Clergy, Athan. Apol. ad Conſt. p. 749. He gives an Account of the Succeſſion of Biſhops, Pop. Alex. Proteſt. and of the Rites of conſecrating a Biſhop, Epiſt. ad Orthod. St. Auſtin gives the Line of Succeſſion in the See of Rome, from St. Peter to his time. Petro enim ſucceſſit Linus. Lino Clemens; tum Anacletus, Evariſtus, Alexander, Sextus, Teleſphorus, Iginus, Anicetus, Pius, Soter, Eleutherius, &c. Aug. Ep 165. So that for near four Centuries, no Orthodox Perſon ever queſtion'd the Right of Epiſcopacy;

None ſhall be puniſh'd above once for one Offence.

XXIV. Provided always, and be it Enacted, That whatſoever Perſon offending in the premiſſes ſhall for the firſt Offence receive puniſhment of the Ordinary, having a teſtimonial thereof under the ſaid Ordinaries ſeal, ſhall not for the ſame Offence eftſoons be convicted before the Juſtices; and likewiſe receiving for the ſaid firſt offence puniſhment by the Juſtices, he pacy, and the Superiority of that Order, over that of a Presbyter.

But at laſt up ſtarts St. Jerom, four hundred Years after Chriſt, a Man not a little proud of the Learning he was indeed Maſter of, and being provoked by the petulancy of ſome Deacons, who pretended to a Superiority over the Presbyters; the better to defend the Dignity of his Order, he maintain'd a Paradox unheard-of from the beginning of Chriſtianity to that very time, viz. That the Epiſcopacy was not a diſtinct Order from that of the Presbyter, and that a Biſhop was but a more conſiderable Presbyter, choſen out from the reſt, and, for the avoiding Diſcord and Diviſion, placed over them. But at laſt when he began to cool he granted, that they were the Succeſſors of the Apoſtles, Hier. Ep. ad Evag. That, as Aaron had juriſdiction over his Sons in the Moſaical Prieſthood, ſo has the Biſhop over the Presbyters, in the Chriſtian Prieſthood, Hier. Ep. ad Nep.

h Chancellors ] The Word Chancellor comes from the Latin Cancelli, which were a ſort of Rails or Lettice-work, which were placed about the Courts of Judicature, in the ancient Roman-Government. The Doors likewiſe of Perſons of Quality that were letticed, or made of an open Wooden or Iron-work, to let the Light through, were called fores Cancellatæ. The Servant whoſe Office it was to wait at ſuch an open Door, to let People in and out, was called the Cancellarius; as the Servant who drew back or let down the Hanging, was call'd Velarius; as Salmaſius has obſerved in his Notes upon Vopiſcus. In like manner, the Secretary belonging to the Judicial Courts was called Cancellarius, becauſe he ſat nigh the Cancelli, or Bar of the Court. For in one of Gruter's Inſcriptions, the Cancellarius & Scribæ are mentioned together. Afterwards, when the Biſhops by the Favour of the Chriſtian Emperors, were allowed to keep their publick Courts, their Secretary or Notary, who tranſacted Matters under them in their Conſiſtory, was likewiſe call'd Cancellarius or Chancellor. Indeed Budæus upon the Pandects, and Turnebus in his Adverſaria, Lib. 11. cap. 25. will have the Name of Chancellor to come a cancellando, from drawing Lines, cancellatim ductis, in form of a Lettice, or croſs-ways over thoſe Petitions, which the Prince would not aſſent to. But, as this was but a Metaphorical Senſe of the Word, and taken up in later Ages, ſo the Name and Office of a Chancellor (as is proved before) is much ancienter.

i Archdeacons.] Though the Office of an Archdeacon be now a Dignity ſuperadded to the Office of a Prieſt, veſting him with a Juriſdiction in ſome reſpects, over the other Clergy, within a certain Circuit in the Dioceſe; yet in the more ancient times, the Archdeacon was not a Prieſt, but only a Deacon; to whom the Biſhop had delegated a Power, under him, to inſpect the Clergy of his Dioceſe. For, as every Prieſt when he officiated had a Deacon attending him, ſo likewiſe had the Biſhop; but the Biſhop's Deacon, or if he had many Deacons (as in great Sees he had) then the favourite-Deacon had ſome particular Dignity and Power conferred upon him. There is no reaſon to think with Baronius and ſome others, that the Office of the Archdeacon was of Apoſtolical Inſtitution; ſince the Name thereof is not to be heard of before the fourth Century, nor any thing belonging to their Power, known much ſooner: Since Jerom is the oldeſt Author who mentions the Name, and makes him to be choſen by the reſt of the Deacons; Quomodo ſi exercitus Imperatorem faciat, aut Diaconi eligant de ſe, quem induſtrium noverint & Archidiaconum vocent, St. Hier. Ep. 85. But ſuch Election made by the Body of the Deacons, I take but to be only the particular Cuſtom in ſome few Churches. For the Biſhops would oftentimes chooſe the Archdeacon, either from a particular Favour, or upon Account of ſome extraordinary Worth, out of the Junior Deacons, whom the whole Body would not be inclined to chooſe. For Theodoret relates it of Athanaſius, that σωλῶν Ἀλεξάνδρῳ τῷ πολυφήμῳ νέῳ μὼν ὢν τὴν ἡλικίαν, τῷ χόρτι δ' ὅμως διακόνων ἠγέμων, by reaſon of his intimate Acquaintance with the famous Alexander, when he was very young, he was made the Governor of the Deacons. Theod. Hiſt. Lib. 1. cap. 26. Sometimes theſe haſty Promotions, occaſion'd by the fondneſs of the Biſhops, and the want of Prudence in the Favourites, occaſion'd, much Envy and ill-Blood to be raiſed againſt both the Biſhop and the Archdeacon. For this in particular Sozomen relates of Serapion, St. Chryſoſtom's Archdeacon, Ἠύξησε δ' αὐτῷ τὴν πρὸς τοὺς κληρικοὺς ἀπέχθειαν Σεραπίων, ὃν ἀρχιδιάκονον αὐτὸς καθέστησεν, ἀνὴρ αἰγύπτιος, ταχὺς εἰς ὀργήν. Serapion whom he had made his Archdeacon, an Ægyptian Man of a very cholerick Temper, encreaſed the Enmity of the Clergy againſt him, Scz. Lib. 6. cap. 30. And indeed their Maſters, the Biſhops, committing a conſiderable part of their Authority, into thoſe ſometimes indiſcreet Hands, occaſioned them to make an ill uſe of it. Upon which Account Iſidore Peluſiot, Lib. 1. Ep. 157. adviſes, Panſophius, an Archdeacon, to exerciſe διακονίαν εἰρηνικὴν καὶ ἀταραχόν, a peaceable and unturbulent Adminiſtration of his Office. And for this reaſon the Council of Chalon enjoyns, Archidiaconi ne Tyrannidem exerceant, That the Archdeacons ſhould not exerciſe a tyrannical Juriſdiction. Conc. Cabilon. III. cap. 14. And indeed it muſt be ſaid, that about the fourth or fifth Century, the Biſhops began too much to rely upon the Conduct and Prudence of theſe their favourite-Deacons; upon which account Iſidore Peluſiot, Lib. 4. Ep. 188. adviſes Lucius an Archdeacon, μὴ σκολίζειν τοῖς φαύλοις ὑπονοήμασι, καὶ μὴ τίμιον ἐκεῖνον διασυρεῖν τὸν χορόν, καὶ τὸν πεποιθόμενον σοι ἀκεραίως ἐπίσκοπον, not by crafty Inſinuations to bring a Reproach upon the venerable Congregation and the Choir, and upon the Biſhop, who had an implicite Truſt in him. But the more early Biſhops did not allow them ſuch large Powers and Juriſdiction, as they were indulged afterwards. At the time of the writing of the Apoſtolick Conſtitutions, the Archdeacons principal Honour was, that he was at the time of the Communion παρεδρὸς τῷ ἀρχιερεῖ, allowed to ſtand next to the Biſhop. Conſt. Ap. Lib. 2. cap. 7. and what implies ſomething more, ἀκοὴ καὶ ὀφθαλμὸς καὶ στόμα, His Hearing, Eye and Mouth. But Prudentius makes his principal Office to be nigher to the Biſhop at the Conſecration, than any other of the ſeven Deacons of the Church.

> Prud. Hymn. in Laurent.

But they were not long contented with this ſmall Degree of Honour and Power; for they obtained an Authority to inſpect the Repairs and Ornaments of Churches, and to audit the Accounts of the Revenues thereof. Iſid. Hiſp. Epiſt. ad Ep. Cordubenſem. They alone diſpenſed the publick Charities, ſometimes not without ſuſpicion of diverting it to their own uſes; which occaſioned that Admonition of Iſidore Peluſiot to the Archdeacon Lucius, μὴ χραίνειν τὸ θεῖον βῆμα πλεονεξίᾳ, not to pollute the ſacred Altar with Covetouſneſs, Lib. 4. Ep. 188. Nay by their Authority in the Biſhop's Family, where they bore the greateſt Sway, and by procuring Admiſſions to his Favours for their Friends, or by repelling and diſcountenancing others, they gain'd ſuch an Intereſt in the Clergy, that they ſeldom fail'd of being elected into the See, when the old Biſhop was dead. Which Practice came to be ſo cuſtomary in Rome, that Eulogius in Photius ſays, τὸν γὰρ ἀρχιδιάκονον ἐνόμιζε διάδοχον τῆς ἀρχιερωσύνης καθίστασθαι, that it was a Law for the Archdeacon to be Succeſſor to the Biſhop. Phot. Bibl.

he shall not for the same offence eftsoons receive punishment of the Ordinary: Any thing contained in this Act to the contrary notwithstanding.

XXV. Provided always, and be it Enacted, That such [k] ornaments of the Church, and of the Ministers thereof shall be retained, and be in use, as were in the Church of England by the Authority of Parliament, in the second year of the reign of King Edward the Sixth, until other order shall be therein taken by the Authority of the Queens Majesty, with the advice of her Commissioners, appointed and Authorized under the great Seal of England for causes Ecclesiastical, or of the Metropolitan of this Realm: And also, that if there shall happen any contempt, or irreverence to be used in the Ceremonies, or Rites of the Church, by the misusing of the Orders appointed in this Book; the Queens Majesty may by the like advice of the said Commissioners, or Metropolitan, ordain and publish such further Ceremonies, or Rites, as may be most for the advancement of Gods glory, the edifying of his Church, and the due reverence of Christs holy Mysteries and Sacraments.

Ornaments of the Church and Ministers.

XXVI. And be it further Enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That all Laws, Statutes, and Ordinances, wherein, or whereby any other Service, Administration of Sacraments, or Common-Prayer is limited, established, or set forth to be used within this Realm, or any other the Queens Dominions, or Countries, shall from henceforth be utterly void, and of none effect.

All Laws and Ordinances made for other Service shall be void.

Bibl. Cod. 182. This Power they obtained whilst they continued only in the Diaconal Order, thinking it a dishonour to be ordained a Presbyter. For so St. Jerom expresly says: A Pontificis latere non recedit, injuriam putat, si Presbyter ordinetur: He keeps close to his Bishop's side, and thinks it an Injury done him, to be ordained a Presbyter, Hier. in Ezech. cap. 48. This occasioned so great a Degree of Envy and Ill-Will to these governing-Deacons, that in several places they were at last forced to enter into Priests Orders, before they could exercise their Jurisdiction peaceably. For Sidonius Apolinaris writes, that John Archdeacon of Chalon, could not be elected Bishop of the Place, before he had taken Priests Orders. Epist. Lib. 4. Ep. ult. And about the ninth Century, many or most of the Archdeacons were Priests; for Hincmarus Archbishop of Rhemes his Capitulars are signed, Guntharius & Odelhardo Archidiaconibus Presbyteris, vid. Haberti. Archier. de Conf. Diac. But there was no Canon to inforce this. For it was left at Liberty for an Archdeacon, whether he would be more than a Deacon or no, even in the 4th Lateran Council, 1215. For, some time before that, in those depraved Ages of the Church, even the inferior Orders were admitted to the Archidiaconal Dignity. But that Council enjoyns, Nullus in Archidiaconatum nisi Diaconus vel Presbyter ordinetur: Archidiaconi vero qui infra ordines prænominatos existunt, si inobedientes ordinari contempserint, honore suscepto priventur. Con. Lat. Can. 10.

But about these, or in succeeding times, the Canon-Law vested the Archdeacons with new Powers. It made them necessary Coadjutors to the Bishops in conferring Orders, Decr. Dist. XXIII. to be Judges in Causes of smaller Moment, Decretal. Lib. 1. Tit. 23. to approve of the Qualifications of those who are to be admitted into holy Orders, Decretal. Lib. 1. Tit. 23. and gave them a Jurisdiction even over the Archpresbyters, or Rural-Deans, ib.

Their Authority was yet increased by our Provincial Constitutions, wherein they are not only impower'd to visit the Parochial Clergy, but to enquire of the State, Books, Vestments, and all Ornaments and Utensils of the Church, Lindw. Prov. Lib. 1. Tit. 10. cap. ut Archi. and to punish Offences against the Ecclesiastical Laws not only in the Clergy but likewise the Laity, ib.

[k] Ornaments.] This Clause as to Ornaments seems to be restrain'd to the Person of Queen Elizabeth, and she making no alteration in them, they remain'd at her Death the same as they were in the 2d of Edw. 6. See the Rubrick immediately preceding the Morning Service in the Common-Prayer Book, confirm'd by 14 C. 2. c. 4. where the Ornaments appointed for that Service, are enjoyn'd as they were in the 2d of Edw. 6. (Quest. If the ancient Ornaments and no other, ought not to be used at this Day?)

An ACT for the Uniformity of Publick Prayers, and Administration of Sacraments, and other Rites and Ceremonies: And for establishing the Form of Making, Ordaining, and Consecrating Bishops, Priests, and Deacons in the Church of England.

XIV. CAROL. II. C. IV.

1 El. c. 2.

Whereas in the first year of the late Queen Elizabeth there was one Uniform Order of Common Service and Prayer, and of the Administration of Sacraments, Rites and Ceremonies in the Church of England (agreeable to the Word of God, and usage of the Primitive Church) compiled by the Reverend Bishops and Clergy, set forth in one Book, Intituled, The Book of Common-Prayer, and Administration of Sacraments, and other Rites and Ceremonies of the Church of England, and enjoyned to be used by Act of a Parliament, holden in the said First year of the said late Queen, Entituled, An Act for the Uniformity of Common-Prayer, and Service in the Church, and Administration of the Sacraments, very comfortable to all good People desirous to live in Christian conversation, and most profitable to the Estate of this Realm, upon the which the Mercy, Favour and Blessing of Almighty God is in no wise so readily and plentifully poured, as by Common Prayers, due using of the Sacraments, and often preaching of the Gospel, with devotion of the hearers: And yet this notwithstanding, a great number of People in divers parts of this Realm, following their own sensuality, and living without knowledge and due fear of God, do wilfully and Schismatically abstain, and refuse to come to their Parish-Churches and other Publick places where Common-Prayer, Administration of the Sacraments, and Preaching of the Word of God is used upon the Sundays and other days ordained and appointed to be kept and ob-

a Parliament.] The word Parliament comes from the French Word Parler to speak, and was received into the Latin Tongue in the declining Ages thereof: Tho' Sir Edward Coke's derivation of the whole Word Parliamentum, from Parler le ment, i. e. from freely speaking their Minds, is too fanciful. For the termination mentum, was given only in imitation of other Words in the Latin Tongue, as Sacramentum, Medicamentum, &c. The Assemblies of the Principal Citizens in great Cities and Towns upon Matters of Importance, were first stiled by this Name; which were anciently called together by the sound of a Trumpet, as du Frene proves out of an old Charter, Parlamento in ipso Palatio, ad sonum Tubæ, seu Tubarum, publice congregato. The French called the Meetings of several wise and learned Persons, which were convened once or twice in a Year, in different Parts of the Country, to hear Appeals from the lower Courts of Justice, by the Name of Parliaments, such as the Parliament of Paris, Tholouse, Bourdeaux, &c. But after the Normans came into England, the general Assembly of the Nobility, Clergy and Commons of England, had that Name given them. But tho' the Name of Parliament here in England, be not more ancient than the Conquest, yet the thing itself is of older Date. For indeed these general Meetings were an essential Part of the Government of all the Northern Nations, up to the most ancient times, that History gives us any Notice of. That there were such general Meetings among the ancient Germans, of whom our Saxon Predecessors were a Part, is plain from Tacitus. De minoribus rebus Principes consultant, de majoribus omnes; ita tamen, ut ea quoque quorum penes plebem arbitrium est, apud principes pertractentur. Concerning things of lesser Moment, the Persons of Honour deliberate, but the whole Body of the People, concerning Matters of greater Concern; but yet so, that those things that the People have Cognizance of, they must be treated in the Presence of the Nobility. Tac. de Mor. Germ. And Xiphiline informs us that among the Britains, the People have a great share in the Government. Xiph. Ep. Dion. Cass. During the Saxon-Government here in England, the grand Affairs of State were transacted in the Common-Council or Assembly of the Nation, which they called the Michel Synoth, the great Assembly, or Wittena Gemot, the Assembly of the wise Men. Coke on Litt. Lib. 2. Sect. 164. Indeed different have been the Opinions concerning the Antiquity of this honourable Body, some setting its Claims too high, and others depressing them too low. But my Lord Coke, who wrote before those unhappy Disputes began, and therefore is most likely to be impartial in the Cause, writes thus: "It appeareth that "diverse Parliaments have been holden long before, "and until the time of the Conqueror, which be "in Print, and many more appearing in ancient "Records and Manuscripts. Le Roy Alfred Assembler les Counties, &c. Et Ordina per usage perpetual, "que deux foitz per an ou pluis sovent pur mister in temps "de peace se assemblerent a Londres a Parliamenter, sur "le guidement del peuple de Dieu, & coment soi garderont "de pecher, viverent en quiet, & receiverent droit per "usages & sanits judgments, per ceste Estate, se fierent "plusors ordinances, per plusors Roys, jesq; a temps le "Roy que ore est, que fuit le Roy. E. 1. The Conclusion "of that great Parliament holden by King Athelstan, "at Grotely is very remarkable, which I have seen in "these Words, All this was enacted in that great Synod, "or Council of Grotely, whereat the Archbishop Wolfe-"helm, with all the Noble Men and Wise Men, which "King Athelstan called together. Coke in Littleton ib.

observed as Holy days: And whereas by the great and scandalous neglect of Ministers in using the said Order, or Liturgy, so set forth and enjoyned as aforesaid, great mischiefs and inconveniences, during the times of the late unhappy troubles, have arisen and grown; and many people have been led into Factions and Schisms, to the great decay and scandal of the Reformed Religion of the Church of England, and to the hazard of many Souls: for prevention whereof in time to come, for setling the Peace of the Church, and for allaying the present distempers, which the indisposition of the time hath contracted, The Kings Majesty (according to his Declaration of the Five and twentieth of October, One thousand six hundred and sixty) granted his Commission under the great Seal of England to several Bishops and other Divines to review the Book of Common-Prayer, and to prepare such alterations and additions, as they thought fit to offer; and afterwards the Convocations of both the Provinces of Canterbury and York, being by his Majesty called and assembled (and now sitting) His Majesty hath been pleased to authorize and require the Presidents of the said Convocations, and other the Bishops and Clergy of the same, to review the said Book of Common Prayer, and the Book of the Form and manner of the Making and Consecrating of Bishops, Priests and Deacons; and that after mature consideration, they should make such additions and alterations in the said Books respectively, as to them should seem meet and convenient; and should exhibit and present the same to his Majesty in writing, for his further allowance or confirmation; since which time, upon full and mature deliberation, they the said Presidents, Bishops, and Clergy of both Provinces have accordingly reviewed the said Books, and have made some alterations which they think fit to be inserted to the same; and some additional Prayers to the said Book of Common-Prayer, to be used upon proper and emergent occasions; and have exhibited and presented the same unto his Majesty in writing, in one Book, Entituled, The Book of Common-Prayer, and Administration of the Sacraments, and other Rites and Ceremonies of the Church, according to the use of the Church of England, together with the Psalter or Psalms of David, pointed as they are to be sung or said in Churches; and the Form and Manner of Making, Ordaining, and Consecrating of Bishops, Priests, and Deacons: All which His Majesty having duely considered hath fully approved and allowed the same, and recommended to this present Parliament, that the said Book of Common-Prayer, and of the Form of Ordination and Consecration of Bishops, Priests, and Deacons, with the Alterations and Additions, which have been so made and presented to His Majesty by the said Convocations, be the Book, which shall be appointed to be used by all that Officiate in all Cathedral and Collegiate Churches and Chappels, and in all Chappels of Colledges and Halls in both the Universities, and the Colledges of Eaton and Winchester, and in all Parish-Churches and Chappels within the Kingdom of England, Dominion of

The King's Declaration and Commission for Reviewing the Book of Common-Prayer, and alterations to be propounded therein.

There was a Parliamentary Assembly under King Ethelbert A. D. 605, which Sir H. Spelman calls, Communne Concilium tam Cleri quam Populi, Conc. Tom. 1 p. 126. And, under King Ina A. D. 712, there was (as the same learned Gentleman writes) a like Assembly; where several wholsom Laws were enacted, per Communne Concilium & Assensum, Episcoporum, Principum, Procerum, Comitum, & omnium sapientum seniorum & Populorum totius Regni. id. Tom. 1. p. 219. Nor can it be doubted, but that great Meeting, mentioned by AB. Parker, to be held under Edward the Elder, A. D. 905. was a Parliament, by his Description of it. Concilium magnum Episcoporum, Abbatum, Fidelium, Procerum & Populorum, &c. Antiq. Brit. p. 75. Neither could Edward the Confessor's Laws have obtained such Fame and Favour, among the People, unless they had been consented to by the Wittena Gemot, or the Saxon-Parliament. And Mr. Lambard says, that the Reformation of the ancient Saxon-Laws, and the new ones which were enacted under him, was done a Rege, Baronibus & Populo. Lamb. de Prisc. Angl. Leg. Cap. 8. And William the Conqueror, for all his Stomach at the beginning of his Reign, and his grounding his Government on his Conquest, by taking away the Estates of many of the English, was oblig'd in a little time to suffer publick Matters to go on in the ancient Method of Parliament; for there was a General-Council or Parliament held in the fourth Year of his Reign, A. D. 1070; wherein it was agreed, that Lanfrank should be admitted to the Archbishoprick of Canterbury, eligentibus eum senioribus ejusdem Ecclesiæ cum Episcopis ac Principibus, Clero & Populo Angliæ, in curia Regis, &c. Gerv. Dorob. In the Year 1701, there was another Parliament held, which made up a Difference between Lanfrank and Odo Bishop of Bayeux. Selden's Titles of Honour, p. 580. And Mr. Petit has proved out of an ancient Charter to the Abby of Westminster, now extant in the Cotton-Library, that a Parliament was held in the 14th Year of his Reign A. D. 1803, wherein the King's Charter to that Abby was confirmed. And that Convention of the English mentioned by Hoveden, Par. 1. p. 264. from which he begg'd Assistance against the Associates in Favour of his Brother Robert, may justly be deem'd a Parliament. King Henry the first grounded his Title to the Crown upon the Authority of the Parliament, who plenario consensu & consilio Baronum totius Communitatis Regni, imposuerunt Roberto illegitimitatem. Knighton. M. Paris. And he promised an Amendment of the Laws, Congregato Londoniis Clero Angliæ & Populo universo.

King Stephen's Title to the Crown was likewise recognized by Parliament, he being assensu cleri & of Wales, and Town of Berwick upon Tweed, and by all that Make, or Conſecrate Biſhops, Prieſts or Deacons in any of the ſaid places, under ſuch Sanations and Penalties as the Houſes of Parliament ſhall think fit.

The Peace and Honour of Religion much advanced by Uniform agreement in the publick worſhip of God.

II. Now in regard that nothing conduceth more to the ſetling of the Peace of this Nation (which is deſired of all good men) nor to the honour of our Religion, and the propagation thereof, than an Univerſal agreement in the Publick Worſhip of Almighty God; and to the intent that every perſon within this Realm, may certainly know the Rule, to which he is to conform in Publick Worſhip, and Adminiſtration of Sacraments, and other Rites and Ceremonies of the Church of England, and the manner how, and by whom Biſhops, Prieſts and Deacons are, and ought to be Made, Ordained and Conſecrated;

Be it Enacted by the Kings moſt Excellent Majeſty, by the advice, and with the conſent of the [b] Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and of the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the Authority of the ſame, That all and ſingular Miniſters, in any Cathedral, Collegiate, or Pariſh-Church or Chappel, or other place of Publick Worſhip within this Realm of England, Dominion of Wales, and Town of Berwick upon Tweed, ſhall be bound to ſay and uſe the [c] Morning Prayer, Evening Prayer, Celebration and Adminiſtration of both the Sacraments, and all other the Publick, and Common Prayer, in ſuch Order and Form as is mentioned in the ſaid Book, annexed and joined to this preſent Act, and Entituled,

The Book of Common-Prayer ſhall be uſed.

The Book of Common Prayer, and Adminiſtration of the Sacraments, and other Rites and Ceremonies of the Church, according to the uſe of the Church of England; together with the Pſalter or Pſalms of David, Pointed as they are to be ſung or ſaid in Churches; and the form or manner of Making, Ordaining, and Conſecrating of Biſhops, Prieſts and Deacons: and That the Morning and Evening Prayers, therein contained, ſhall upon every Lords day, and upon all other days and occaſions, and at the times therein appointed, be openly and ſolemnly read by all and every Miniſter or Curate in every Church, Chappel, or other place of Publick Worſhip within this Realm of England, and places aforeſaid.

All Parſons, Vicars and Miniſters, to read and declare their Aſſent to the uſe of the ſame.

III. And to the end that Uniformity in the Publick Worſhip of God (which is ſo much deſired) may be ſpeedily effected, Be it further Enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, that every [d] Parſon, [e] Vicar, or other Miniſter whatſoever, who now hath, and enjoyeth any Eccleſiaſtical Benefice, & Populi Angliæ in Regem electus. Malmsb. And the Aſſize or Statute of Clarendon, which paſſed in King Stephen's Reign, was enacted, Convocato Clero & Populo Regni, which Mr. Selden calls a full Parliament. Titles of Hon. p. 585. In King John's Reign, the Statute of Kennilworth was paſſed in Parliament, which the ancient Records call by the Name of a Parliament. Parlement euſt Jommons a Kennilworth. Petit's Ancient Right, &c.

As for ſucceeding Reigns, that the Parliament has been a part of our Conſtitution, is ſo evident by the Acts which they have made, moſt of which are publick in our Statute Books, that the Truth thereof is not to be conteſted. My Lord Coke expreſly aſſerts, that there have been (to his time) in the time of and ſince the Conqueſt, in the Reigns of King Hen. 1. King Stephen, Hen. 2. Rich. 1. King John, Hen. 3. &c. 280 Seſſions of Parliament, and at every Seſſion diverſe Acts of Parliament made, no ſmall number whereof are not in Print, Coke. in Litt. Lib. II. Sect. 164.

b Lords Spiritual.] The Lords Spiritual or the Biſhops were always Members of the Upper Houſe in Parliament, and had a right to Sit and Vote there. For in all the ancient Parliaments, wherein the Clerus and Populus are ſaid to be convened, the Biſhops muſt neceſſarily be underſtood, as being a principal Part of the Clergy. King Ina's great Council or Parliament held A. D. 702, was compoſed ex Epiſcopis, Principibus, Proceribus, &c. Spelm. Conc. Vol. 1. p. 403. In the Reign of King Edred A. 948. There were ſummoned to Parliament, Tam Archiepiſcopi & Epiſcopi ac Abbates, quam cæteri totius regni Proceres & Optimates, Londoniis, ad tractandum de negotiis publicis totius regni. Ingulph. Edit. Lond. p. 497. And when King Knute held a Parliament in his time, to this omnes Epiſcopos & Duces cunctosq; optimates gentis Angliæ Londoniæ congregari juſſit. And that ancient Record which is called Modus tenendi Parliamentum, (if it be genuine, as I will not pretend to judge whether it be or no) lays it down that ad Parliamentum ſummoneri & venire debere Archiepiſcopos, Epiſcopos, Abbates, Priores & alios majores Cleri, qui tenent per Comitatum aut Baroniam, ratione hujuſmodi tenuræ. The Statute of Clarendon declares, that Archiepiſcopi, Epiſcopi, &c. ſicut cæteri Barones debent intereſſe judiciis Curiæ Regis cum Baronibus, Mat. Par. in Hen. 2. And in the Great Charter granted in the laſt Year of King John's Reign, that King promiſes, that when he ſummons a Parliament, he will cauſe to be ſummoned thereto Archiepiſcopos, Epiſcopos, Abbates, Comites, & Majores Barones Regni, ſigillatim per literas, &c. ad certum diem, ſc. ad terminum 40 dierum ad minus, & ad certum locum. Mat. Paris in Johanne R. This was ſo inconteſtable a Right of the Biſhops, that Stratford Archbiſhop of Canterbury in Edward the III's time, being in diſfavour with the King, and upon that account by ſome prevailing Favourites at Court, excluded his Right of ſitting in Parliament, reſolutely proteſts againſt that Injury, Rex me ad Parliamentum ſcripto ſuo vocavit, & ego tanquam major par Regni poſt Regem, & primam vocem habere debens in Parliamento, jura Eccleſiæ meæ Cantuarienſis vendico, & ideo ingreſſum in Parliamentum peto, Antiq. Brit. in Stratford.

c Morning-Prayer.] Morning and Evening-Prayer ſhall be uſed, and all other the Common-Prayer, Adminiſtration, &c. in the order and form and on the Days and Times; appointed nor will any Diſpenſation excuſe the Performance of what is here required. The Holidays are ſuch as are in the Table annexed to the Kalendar, and there ſaid to be obſerved.

d Parſon —— Pariſh-Church.] Pariſhes, (wherein the Church is the place where the different Inhabitants meet to pay their publick Worſhip to Almighty God, and the Parſon or chief Miniſter is appointed to nefice, or Promotion, within this Realm of England, or places aforeſaid, ſhall in the Church, Chappel, or place of publick Worſhip belonging to his ſaid Benefice or Promotion, upon ſome Lords day before the Feaſt of Saint Bartholomew, which ſhall be in the year of our Lord God, One thouſand ſix hundred ſixty and two, openly, publickly, and ſolemnly read the Morning and Evening Prayer appointed to be read by, and according to the ſaid Book of Common Prayer at the times thereby appointed, and after ſuch reading thereof ſhall openly and publickly, before the Congregation there aſſembled, declare his unfeigned aſſent, and conſent to the uſe of all things in the ſaid Book contained and preſcribed in theſe Words, and no other:

to offer up their Prayers to God, and to preach to them God's Word) were not ſetled till ſome conſiderable time after Chriſtianity had prevailed in the World. The word Pariſh comes from the Greek Word Παροικία, which ſignifies Sojourning, or living as a Stranger or Inmate. For ſo it is uſed among the Claſſical Writers of the Greek Tongue. Ἀπὸ δὲ Κνίδε μεχρὶ Σινώπης Ἕλληνες τὴν Ἀσίαν παροικῶσι. From Cnidus to Sinopa the Greeks do live as Strangers, or have made a Settlement, in Aſia. Iſocr. But the Helleniſtical Greeks do moſt frequently uſe it in this Senſe, and hardly in any other, οὐ παροικήσεις, ὃν ἀνοίξαι στόμα, where thou art a Stranger thou dareſt not open thy Mouth. Eccluſ. 29. 24. And ſo Eccluſ. 41. 19. The wiſeman exhorts to beware of Theft, ἀπὸ τόπε ὃ παροικεῖς, in the place where thou Sojourneſt. And Chap. 16. 8. Οὐκ ἐφείσατο περὶ τῆς παροικίας Λώτ. God ſpared not the Place where Lot Sojourned. And the Septuagint tranſlate the Hebrew Word Ger, Peregrinus, by Πάροικος. Gen. XV. 13. XXIII. 4. Exod. 11. 22. XVIII. 3. Deut. XIV. 21. XXIII. 7. 2 Kings I. 13. Pſal. XXXVIII. 17. CIV. 12. CXVIII. 19. Jer. XIV. 9. And ſo they do the Word Magor, Peregrinatio, by παροικία Ψαλτά ἦσαν μοι, ἐν τόπῳ παροικίας μυ. They have been my Song in the Days of my Pilgrimage, Pſal. CXVIII. 54. And in that Paſſage of the Pſalms, where David complains that Woe is him that he Sojourns in Meſech, the Septuagint tranſlate the Garthi, peregrinatus fui, παροικία μυ, &c. I have made my Sojourning, Pſal. 120. 5. But you will ſay, what has all this to do with our modern Word Pariſh? I anſwer thus much. It muſt be obſerved that the Primitive Chriſtians receiv'd a great part of their Cuſtoms, and alſo their Phraſeology from the Jews. Now the Jews when they travell'd abroad, and many of that Religion and Nation were ſetled in any Town or City, they either built them a Synagogue, or elſe procured ſome large Room, where they performed their publick Worſhip, and all that were Strangers in that Place, met on the Sabbath-Day, and other times of publick Devotion. This Brotherhood of Jews, which was mixed with the prophane Heathen, the Inhabitants of the Place, they called the παροικία, or the Society of the Sojourners. And at the beginning of Chriſtianity the Chriſtians were in the ſame Condition with the Jews, they being either originally Jews or Jewiſh Proſelites, or elſe living in a retired Condition, ſequeſtred from the World or little mixing themſelves with the Affairs of the City or Country they belonged to. Upon which Accounts S. Peter addreſſes the firſt Chriſtians whom he writes to ὡς παροικοὺς καὶ παρεπιδήμους, as Strangers and Pilgrims, 1 Pet. II. 11. Now this Peregrination, or ſelect number of Strangers in the Heathen Cities, was called the Παροικία; over which there was ſet by Apoſtolical Authority, a Biſhop, a Προεστὼς, a Cazan an Inſpector, or a Rhoſh Cohel a head of the Congregation; all which Names denoted the Epiſcopal Authority, and which in little time, centered in the one, moſt uſual Name of Ἐπισκόπος, or Biſhop, as is plainly ſeen by the Ignatian Epiſtles. So that the Ἐπισκόπος and Παροικία became relative terms; he that had the Superintendency, or principal Inſpection of the Congregation, whether one or more, was called the Biſhop, and the Congregation under his Care were called the Παροικία. Hence, in the moſt early times of the Greek Church, the Word Παροικία was uſed to ſignifie, what we now call a Dioceſe. Thus in the Apoſtolick Canons, a Biſhop is to be reduced to Lay-Communion, ἐκλείπας τὸν ἑαυτοῦ παροικίαν, that leaves his Dioceſe for another, Can. 14. Hence in the 16th Canon of the Council of Nice, thoſe Prieſts who go to another Dioceſe, are obliged ἀναχωρεῖν εἰς τὰς ἑαυτῶν παροικίας, to return to their own Dioceſes, Euſebius. Eccl. Hiſt. Lib. 4. cap. 1. Sag. Τῆς ἐν Ἀλεξανδρείᾳ παροικίας ἐπίσκοπος τὸν βίον μεταλλάξας. The Biſhop of the Dioceſe of Alexandria departed this Life. And ſo again, κλέος τῆς καισαρέων παροικίας, the Glory of the Dioceſe of Cæſarea, Euſeb. Lib. 8.

The Latins from the Greek took up the ſame way of Expreſſion, denoting a Dioceſe by the Word Parochia; ſo in the third Council of Toledo, Cap. 19. thoſe Biſhops are animadverted upon, qui per parochias ſuas acerbè nimiùm ſe gerunt, behave themſelves with too great Severity in their Dioceſes. Which way of expreſſion laſted till after the time of Charles the Great. For in the Council of Sevil quoted by Ivo, which was held about this time, we find this Canon, ſingulis annis quiſq; Epiſcopus Parochiam ſuam circumeat, Par. 5. cap. 189. And in a Council held at Rhemes afterwards, Non liceat Epiſcopo principalem Cathedram ſuæ Parochiæ negligere. Con. Rem. ſub. Eugen. cap. 11.

But it is further to be obſerved, that when the Word Parochia ſignified a Dioceſe, the Word Dioceſis ſignified a Pariſh. So in the Council of Agatha, Presbyter dum Dioceſin tenet, whilſt the Presbyter is in Poſſeſſion of his Living. Conc. Agath. cap. 54. And in the third Council of Orleans, cap. 18. Dioceſis is the ſame with Baſilica a Pariſh-Church. And ſo in the Capitulars, Dioceſes quæ ab aliquibus poſſidentur ſacerdotibus. Capit. Lib. 7. Cap. 175. And ſo again Cap. 3. 6. Epiſcopum per cunctas Dioceſes Parochiasq; per ſingulos annos ire oportet. But in the ſeventh or eight Century, when Pariſh-Churches began frequently to be founded in Villages, the old Names ſhifted, and Dioceſis was uſed to denote the Extent of the Biſhop's Juriſdiction, and Parochia, the Place where the Presbyters care was limited. That many Pariſh-Churches were founded in great Towns and Vills, under the Cathedral-Church of the Biſhop, both in Italy, Spain and France, during the fourth, fifth and ſixth Centuries, may be ſeen, by many Particulars in the ſeveral Provincial Councils;

The Penalty for refuſing.

V. And, That all and every ſuch Perſon, who ſhall (without ſome lawful Impediment, to be allowed and approved of by the Ordinary of the place) neglect or refuſe to do the ſame within the time aforeſaid, or (in caſe of ſuch Impediment) within one Month after ſuch Impediment removed, ſhall ipſo facto be deprived of all his Spiritual Promotions; And that from henceforth it ſhall be lawful to, and for all Patrons, and Donors of all and ſingular the ſaid Spiritual Promotions, or of any of them, according to their reſpective Rights, and Titles, to preſent, or collate to the ſame; as though the Perſon, or Perſons, ſo offending or neglecting were dead.

V. And

cils, which are gathered together with great Induſtry by Fileſac, in his Opera Varia. And though they were later here in England, yet we have ſome Inſtances thereof as early as the Year 700: For about that time Bede relates, that the Biſhop of Hexam conſecrated a Pariſh-Church, in the Mannor of one Pach a Saxon Earl, Hiſt. Eccl. Lib. 5. cap. 4. and not long after that he did the ſame for one Addi, another great Man. Nay before this he relates of Birinus, firſt Biſhop of the Weſt-Saxons, that he built and dedicated ſeveral Churches, in his Dioceſe of Dorcheſter. Bed. Hiſt. Lib. 3. cap. 7. When Egbert Archbiſhop of York made his Conſtitutions, which was about the Year of our Lord 750, they ſeem to be growing up apace, by that Canon, Unuſquiſq; ſacerdos Eccleſiam ſuam, cum omni diligentia ædificet. Spel. Con. Tom. 1. p. 258. And again, he forbids that the Tithes formerly paid to the Mother-Church ſhould be paid to the new-built Oratories, ib. By the time of Edward the Confeſſor theſe Pariſhes were grown ſo numerous, that Complaint was made, that the Clergy was impoveriſhed thereby, in the Additions to King Edward the Confeſſor's Laws. Multis in locis modo ſunt tres vel quatuor Eccleſiæ; ubi tunc temporis una tantum erat, & ſic decimæ, (ſingulorum ſacerdotum) caperant minui. Spel. Conc. Tom 1. p. 621. After which time the Diviſion of the Pariſhes was not much altered; for the Survey of England in Doomſday-Book is not very different from our later ones. Thus much concerning Pariſhes and Pariſh-Churches. And now a word or two of the Parſon. The Word Parſon is the Engliſh of the Latin Word Perſona, which is a Word frequently uſed in the Civil Law to denote not only the individuality, but alſo the State, Capacity or Condition of any one. Nay, ſeveral Perſons conjunctly taken, are eſteemed as but one Perſon. Perſona eadem cenſetur Pater & Filius. Cod. de Impub. Upon which Account, a Corporation or Body Politick, is likewiſe deemed a Perſon. And indeed, for many Years after the Propagation of Chriſtianity, the Clergy continued in this conjunct or political State, living in a Society together with their Biſhop about the Mother-Church, and had not any Revenues in particular, but only ſo much as was diſtributed to them, out of the common Stock by the Biſhop. But when Benefices were founded, Clergy-Men did now no longer conſtitute the publick Perſon or Body of the Cathedral-Church, but each of them became a Perſon himſelf, and had the Revenues of his own particular Benefice, appropriated to his uſe, in as fit and ample a manner, as the Revenues of the Mother-Church belong'd to the whole Body of the Clergy. And thus in the Eye of the Canon-Law, every Dignitary, or Prebend of a Church, was a Perſona. Eſt omni rationi contrarium, ut unus Clericus in una vel diverſis Eccleſiis, plures Dignitates, vel Perſonatus obtineat. Decretal, Lib. III. Tit. 5. Cap. 13. In eadem Eccleſia nullus plures dignitates, aut perſonatus habere præſumat, &c. ib. cap. 28. In both which Places the Perſonatus take in the Prebends of the Church. But here in England the Word Perſona was peculiarly applied to denote the Rector of a Pariſh, who had the principal Charge of the Souls, in contradiſtinction to the Vicar or Curate who was under him. For Dr. Lindwood obſerves: Eſt illud nomen Perſona vulgare Anglicorum. Lindw. Prov. Lib. 3. Tit. 1. And again, Propter perſonatus, prout vulgariter ſumuntur in Anglia, nam tales perſonatus non ſunt dignitates: And then tells us, that in other Places, Parſonages and Dignities were the ſame. Hæc tria Dignitas, Perſonatus, & Canoniæ quandoq; æquiparantur. ib.

e Vicar] A Vicar is a Perſon in holy Orders, who under the Rector, or in his Abſence, or in caſe the great Tithes of a Church are impropriate, has the Care of the Souls of a Pariſh committed to him. When the Living was firſt endowed, all the Revenue thereof belonged to the Perſon who ſerved the Cure. But in proceſs of time it came to paſs, by the Avarice of the Religious Houſes, that good Part of the Parochial Revenue was ſwallowed up to maintain their Luxury and Grandure. For when Mannors and Advowſons were given to, or purchaſed by the Monks, they were wont to ſettle Pariſh-Prieſts in the Livings, reſerving to themſelves conſiderable Penſions out of the Profits thereof, or ſometimes to ſupply the Cure by turns themſelves, taking all the Revenues to their Body. This, upon complaint, was in ſome meaſure redreſſed by the Synod of London 1102, which Orders, Ne Monachi Eccleſias, niſi per Epiſcopos accipiant, neq; ſibi datas ita ſpolient ſuis reditibus, ut Presbyteri ibi ſervientes in aliquo penuriam patiantur. The Popes likewiſe lent their Hand to redreſs this Grievance; for Alexander III. commands the Monks of the Dioceſe of York, to reſtore the full Value of the Livings to the Parochial Clergy, Ideoq; mandamus, quatenus ſi quas portiones vel antiquos reditus Clericorum, ſine conſenſu Archiepiſcopi veſtri, minuere præſumpſiſtis, ad integritatem priſtinam revocetis, Extrav. de Præb. c. avaritiæ. The Council of Lateran likewiſe orders, that the Monaſteries ſhould preſent Clerks, like other Patrons, to their Livings; and thereupon Pope Clement decreed, That in Caſe of ſuch Neglect, the Biſhops ſhould collate them. Mandamus ut niſi prædictæ perſonæ intra tempus a Lateranenſi Concilio ſtatutum, ad vacantes Eccleſias perſonas idoneas præſentaverint, extunc liceat (Epiſcopis Dioceſanis) appellatione remotâ ordinare Rectores, qui iis præeſſe noverint & prodeſſe. Extr. de Suppl. Negl. Prælat. c. ſicut. This put the crafty Monks upon a new Project, which was that of Appropriation, or tacking the Livings to their Monaſtical Revenues; and they being Rich, never fail'd to procure Bulls from the Pope to obtain that Priviledge; either ſerving the Cures themſelves under that Title, or getting it to be done by ſome poor Prieſt at a very mean Salary. But now Matters being in a worſe Condition than before the Appropriation, the Engliſh Biſhops did all that was in their Power for the Relief of the Parochial Clergy, and ſince they could not diſannul the Pope's Indulgence, they made the Monaſtery to preſent a Clerk or Incumbent, (who was to reſide and do the Duty of the Cure) and to ſettle a ſufficient Maintenance upon him. To this purpoſe is that Injunction in the Engliſh Councils, Tom. 2. p. 239. Cum inhoneſtum ſit & Canoni inimicum, ut viri Religioſi, quibus conceſſum eſt in proprios uſus convertere Eccleſias, Eccleſiis Parochialibus perſonaliter deſerviant, ſtatuimus, ut in Eccleſiis ſic ijs conceſſis perpetuos Vicarios per nos conſtituant, & certam & competentem Vicariam, ad Taxationem noſtram in dictis Eccleſiis infra 40 dies eis aſſignent. Neither were the Biſhops left at Liberty to allow what ſtipend to the Vicar they thought fit, for by the Counail at Oxon held A. D. 1222, it was ordered, that leſs than five Marks ſhould not be aſſigned. Statuimus ut Vicario Perpetuo ad minus reditus quinque marcarum aſſignetur. Dr. Lyndwood ſays, that in Archbiſhop Sudbury's time, A. D. 1328, the Rule was eight Marks, and in his time A. D. 1422, in many Places, the value of ten Marks was thought but a moderate Allowance, Lindw. Prov. Lib. 1. Tit. 12. cap. quon. v. quinq; marcarum. This being but a bare Maintenance for a Clergy-Man in thoſe Times, it was thought requiſite, that no ſuch Vicar ſhou'd have a Deputy under him, to whom he might make a ſmaller Allowance for the ſupply of the Cure; and therefore the Council of Oxford decrees, ut Eccleſia, que in reditibus ultra quinq;

VI. And be it further Enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That every person, who shall hereafter be presented, or collated, or put into any Ecclesiastical Benefice, or Promotion within this Realm of England and places aforesaid, shall in the Church, Chappel, or place of Publick Worship, belonging to his said Benefice or Promotion, within [f] two Moneths next after that he shall be in the actual possession of the said Ecclesiastical Benefice or Promotion, upon some Lords day openly, publickly, and solemnly Read the Morning and Evening Prayers, appointed to be Read by, and according to the said Book of Common Prayer, at the times thereby appointed, and after such Reading thereof, shall openly, and publickly before the Congregation there assembled, declare his unfeigned assent, and consent to the use of all things therein contained and prescribed, according to the form before appointed: and That all and every such person, who shall (without some lawful Impediment, to be allowed and approved by the Ordinary of the place) neglect or refuse to do the same within the time aforesaid, or (in case of such Impediment) within one month after such Impediment removed shall ipso facto be deprived of all his said Ecclesiastical Benefices and Promotions; and That from thenceforth, it shall and may be lawful to, and for all Patrons, and Donors of all and singular the said Ecclesiastical Benefices and Promotions, or any of them (according to their respective Rights and Titles) to present, or collate to the same, as though the person or persons so offending, or neglecting, were dead.

Every Person hereafter to be promoted to any Ecclesiastical Benefice shall read the Common-Prayer, and declare his Assent thereto, within 2 Months after Induction. Reading Articles and consent to them. Vid. 13 Eliz. cap. 12. § 3.

The Penalty for not so doing the same.

VII. And be it further Enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That in all places, where the proper Incumbent of any Parsonage, or Vicarage, or Benefice with Cure doth reside on his Living, and keep a Curate, the Incumbent himself in person (not having some lawful Impediment, to be allowed by the Ordinary of the place) shall once (at the least) in every month openly and publickly Read the Common-prayers and Service, in, and by the said Book prescribed, and (if there be occasion) Administer each of the Sacraments and other Rites of the Church, in the Parish Church or Chappel, of, or belonging to the same Parsonage, Vicarage, or Benefice, in such order, manner and form, as in, and by the said Book is appointed, upon pain to forfeit the sum of Five pounds to the use of the poor of the Parish for every offence, upon conviction by confession, or proof of two credible Witnesses upon Oath, before two Justices of the Peace of the County, City, or Town-Corporate where the Offence shall be committed, (which Oath the said Justices are hereby Impowred to Administer) and in default of payment within ten days, to be levied by distress, and sale of the goods and chattels of the Offender, by the Warrant of the said Justices, by the Church-wardens, or Over-seers of the Poor of the said Parish, rendring the surplusage to the party.

Incumbents of Livings keeping Curates shall read the same once every Month.

The Penalty and manner of Conviction for not doing it.

VIII. And be it further Enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That every [g] Dean, [h] Canon, Deans, Canons, Prebendaries, &c. shall subscribe the Declaration. 15 Car. II. c. 6

quinque marcas non habent, nonnisi talibus personis conferantur, qui resideant in eisdem, & in propria persona ministrent in eisdem. Spel. Conc Tom. 2. p. 183. And from hence the Oath of perpetual Residence of Vicars at their Institution took its Rise. But sometimes the Bishops would be kinder than this to the Vicar, and make the Convent allow him a third part of the Living; as Joceline Bishop of Bath and Wells, A. D. 1235. enjoyn'd the Convent of Brecon to allow the Vicar, tertiam partem omnium provenientium & pertinentium ad dictam Ecclesiam: And Bartholomew Bishop of Exon, about the Year 1170. decreed upon the Monastery of Tavistock, that they should pay their Vicar of the Church of Lamberton, one half of the Value of the Living; as Dr. Kennet has prov'd out of two ancient Manuscripts, Case of Impropriations, &c. But when Abbies were dissolv'd in K. Henry VIII's. time, there were likewise granted away all Tithes, Pensions, Churches, Chappels, &c. appertaining to them — and any Person and Persons to enjoy the same in like manner by Letters Patents of the Kings Highness. 27 Hen. 8. cap. 28. Hence the Tithes, formerly appropriated to the Religious Houses, became Lay-Fee, and were held as other ordinary Estates by the Possessors; the Vicars being intituled to no other a Portion of them, or Pension in lieu of them, than their former Endowment, during the standing of the Monasteries, or other Benefactions since, have given them a right to.

[f] Two Months.] This is to be done within two Months after Induction: So likewise the reading the Articles, and consenting to them, by 13 Eliz. cap. 12. § III. But the Certificate of Subscription to the Declaration, contained in this Statute, as also the Declaration itself, is to be read within three Months after such Subscription, as per § XI.

Dean.] The Word Dean comes from the Latin Decanus, which signifies a Governour or Inspector over ten Persons; or rather, the Chief of the Ten, who was to keep the rest in good Order. The Word was first used among the Soldiers, Ten of which made a Contubernium, who lodg'd together in one Tent, or, who were quarter'd together in one place. Modestinus de milit. vocab. quoted by Calvin in his Lexicon Jur. in voce contubernium. After the Institution of Monks, the Name was adopted among them, to signifie a chief Monk in a Fraternity, who was to superintend nine or ten of his Brethren, and keep 'em in good order. Decani in Monasteriis appellati sunt qui denis Monachis præerant. Aug. Lib. 1. de Moribus. And the same Method was observed by the famous Walter de Merton, the Founder of Merton-College in Oxon, who drew the first Plan of an Academical College-Government here in England, by a Warden, Sub-Warden, Bursars and Deans. For this wise and excellent Person, tho' he was so very averse to the Religious Orders, that he denounced Expulsion from his College, to those of his Fellows who should enter into any one of them (si quis eorum Religionem intraverit, cesset omnino in ejus personam Exhibitio supradicta, Statut. Coll. Mert. cap. 14.) yet he took the Method of h Canon, and i Prebendary of every Cathedral, or Collegiate Church, and all Masters, and other Heads, Fellows, Chaplains, and Tutors of, or in any College, Hall, House of Learning, or Hospital, and every Publick Professor, and Reader in either of the Universities, and in every College elsewhere, and every Parson, Vicar, Curate, Lecturer, and every other person in holy Orders, and every School-master keeping any publick, or private School, and every person Instructing, or Teaching any Youth in any House of governing the young Fellows by a Decanus, or Dean, or a Vicenarius, or Governour over Twenty (in case his College should grow larger) from the Monastic Discipline. De Scholaribus autem supradictis aliqui de discretioribus eligantur, qui sub ipso Custode, tanquam ejus Coadjutores, minus provectorum curam, qualiter in studio & morum honestate proficiant, agere teneantur, adeo ut numero cuilibet vicenario vel etiam DENARIO, si necesse fuerit, præsit unus. Stat. Coll. Mert. cap. 7. And he elsewhere enjoyns, That every Quarrel which might arise in the College, should, per supradictos Præpositos Vicenarios & DECANOS sedetur. Stat. Coll. Mert. cap. 15. The Secular Clergy made use of the same sort of Government: For the Archi-Presbyter, who had the Inspection over about Ten Parish-Priests, was called the Decanus Ruralis, or the Rural Dean. And so the Collegiate Churches, or Colleges of Secular Priests generally intituled their Governour by the Name of Dean, because the Body did, for the most part, consist of about ten or twelve. For as Ten was the old Military Decas, so Twelve was the ordinary Ecclesiastical one; chang'd (I suppose) to that Number, upon the account of the number of the twelve Apostles. The way of Installing this Dignitary was formerly very singular in some Churches; which, according to the Dutch-Heraldry in the Popish times, was thus: He was to have a Surplice upon his Back; a Sword girt about his Middle, a Pouch hanging by his Side, a pair of Spurs upon his Heels, and a Hawk upon his Fist; and in this Mountebank Figure he took Possession of his Stall. Vid. Gloss. du Fresne.

h Canon. ] It may not be so very easie to assign the Reason, why the Name of Canons was given to the Members of Cathedral Churches. Some have thought that this Name was given to them, because a great number of them were Regular Priests, and oblig'd to observe the Canons or Rules of their respective Orders; or others, who were not so, received this Compellation, because they were ty'd up to the observation of their respective Founders, or Visitors Canons or Statutes. But the reason of this Name is of an higher Original, and I do not take it to come so directly from the Greek Word Κάνων, Regula, a Statute or Ordinance. as it has been us'd in the more modern Ages; but from the Latin Word Canon, which signifies a Dole, an Allowance, or stated quantity of Provision, either to be receiv'd, or delivered out. And thus it is us'd by Cicero, speaking of the Province of Sicily, under Verres's Government. Quando illa frumentum, quod deberet, ad diem non dedit, ecce Canonem! When the Country does not deliver in the proportion of Corn, which was due, at the appointed day; Behold (says he) how well you have made good your Canon, or quota, allotted you to pay. Cic. in Ver. So likewise the whole Repository or Collection of the respective Quota's of the several Provinces, sent in Corn to Rome for the subsistence of the poorer Citizens, was called the Canon. For it is reported of Severus the Emperor, that he husbanded the Store-houses so well, that septem annorum Canonem relinqueret, That he left a Canon or quantity of Corn, to serve to be distributed among the Poor for seven Years. Spart. in Severus. And it is recorded, as a very scandalous Practice of Heliogabalus, that he gave Canonem populi Romani unius anni, A full Years proportion of the Corn sent in by the Provinces for the use of the People of Rome, to Whores, Bawds, and such like scandalous Persons. Lampr. in Heliog. Afterwards, when Christianity prevail'd, the Word was adapted to an Ecclesiastical use; and those Clergymen that had the Canon, or Sportula, taken from the common Bank of the Church-Offerings, delivered out to them for their Maintenance, came to be call'd Canonici. For, as we have elsewhere shewn, that the Church-Revenues were divided into four parts; one whereof went to the Maintenance of the Bishop, a second to the Maintenance of the Fabrick of the Church, and a third to the Poor; so a fourth part was divided among the other Clergy, who lived in a Collegiate manner about the Bishop. These receiv'd their Allowance Monthly, as appears from St. Cyprian; who speaking of some Persons who had behaved themselves Cowardly in the time of the Persecution, that they should not be deprived, but only suspended from their monthly Allowance, Interim a Divisione tantum mensurna abstineant, Cypr. Ep. 28. And elsewhere speaking of some whom he design'd to ordain Presbyters, he speaks thus: Cæterùm Presbyterii honorem designásse nos illis jam sciatis, ut & sportulis iisdem cum Presbyteris honor ntur, & divisiones mensurnas æquatis quantitatibus partiantur. But I would have you know, that I design them for the Honour of the Presbytery, that they may be provided for out of the Sportulæ, together with the other Presbyters, and that they may have an equal share in the Monthly Divisions, Cypr. Ep 34. These he elsewhere calls the Sportulantes Fratres, Ep. 66. Cathedral, or Mother-Churches, being sufficiently endowed, and likewise Parish Churches being erected and provided of Pastors, those Clergymen who staid with the Bishop in or about the Cathedral-Church, retained the Name of Canonici, from their ancient Canon or Stipend.

i Prebendary. ] A Prebendary is call'd so from the Prebenda, or Incom he has, as being Member of a Cathedral-Church. For in the Ages of the barbarous Latinity, Præbenda, æ. was used to signifie the Revenue of such a Preferment. It was formerly used as a Neuter of the Plural Number, Præbenda, orum; and was so used by Ulpian in Lib. 19. D. de testibus; and before him by Livy, Lib. 2. de Bell. Pun. as also by Plautus in Persa, denoting the Provision which was delivered out to the Soldiers. But this in the illiterate Ages was changed into a Noun Feminine; and was not used at first to signifie only the Incom, or Allowance of a Member of the Cathedral-Church, but denoted originally, any Stipend or Reward, which was given out of the Ecclesiastical Revenues, to a Person who by his Labours or Service had procured Benefit to the Church; and the Gratuity which was given, either to a Proctor or Advocate, or any other Person of the like kind. Vid. Calv. Lexic. in voce Præbenda. In process of time, when the Cathedral-Churches were well-endowed, they left off the receiving the Incom of their Lands into one common Bank, and so dividing the remainder thereof, after the Common Table, and other Publick Charges disburs'd, among the Members of the Body; and in lieu thereof, parcelled out the Lands into several Shares, appropriating them for the Maintenance of each single Clergyman who resided about the Cathedral-Church, calling it, Præbenda, or Corpus Præbendæ, the Corps of the Prebend. Hence arose the difference between a Prebend and a Canonry; That a Canonry was a Right which a Person had in a Church, to be deemed a Brother, or Member thereof, to have the right of a Stall therein, and of giving a Vote in the Chapter: But a Prebend was a Right to receive certain Revenues appropriated to his Place. Præbenda differt a Canonia. Nam Canonia est jus spirituale, quod aliquis assequitur in Ecclesia per receptionem in Fratrem & Assignationem Stalli in choro & loci in capitulo. Præbenda vero est jus recipiendi certos proventus. Lindw. de Conces. Præb. cap. esurient. v. Præbendas. The number of the Prebends in the several Cathedral-Churches, was increased by later Benefactions of respective Founders; oftentimes out of the Revenues of the Rural Clergy, to their great Impoverishment, whilst it was in the Power of the Bishops to apply the Tithes of Parsonages to that use; and oftentimes by exonerating the Lands of Prebends from paying Tithes to the Ministers of the Parishes where they lay.

[And I do declare that I do hold, there lies no Obligation upon me, or any other person from the Oath, commonly called the Solemn League and Covenant, to endeavour any change, or alteration of Government, either in Church or State; and that the same was in itself an unlawful Oath, and imposed upon the Subjects of this Realm against the known Laws and Liberties of this Kingdom.]

This part of the Clause expired March 25. 1682.

X. Which said Declaration and Acknowledgment shall be subscribed by every of the said Masters and other Heads, Fellows, Chaplains, and Tutors of, or in any College, Hall, or House of Learning, and by every publick Professor and Reader in either of the Universities, before the Vice-Chancellor of the respective Universities for the time being, or his Deputy; And the said Declaration or Acknowledgment shall be subscribed before the respective Arch-bishop, Bishop or [l] Ordinary of the Diocese, by every other person hereby injoyned to * subscribe the same, upon pain, that all and every of the persons aforesaid, failing in such subscription, shall lose and forfeit such respective Deanry, Canonry, Prebend, Mastership, Headship, Fellowship, Professors place, Readers place, Parsonage, Vicarage, Ecclesiastical Dignity, or Promotion, Curates place, Lecture, and School, and shall be utterly disabled, [m] and ipso facto deprived of the same; and that every such respective Deanry, Canonry, Prebend, Mastership, Headship, Fellowship, Professors place, Readers place, Parsonage, Vicarage, Ecclesiastical Dignity, or Promotion, Curates place, Lecture and School shall be void, as if such Person so failing were naturally dead.

And after such subscription made, every such Parson, Vicar, Curate, and Lecturer shall procure a [n] certificate under the Hand and Seal of the respective Archbishop, Bishop, or Ordinary of the Diocese, (who are hereby [l] Ordinary of the Diocese, —— Deanry.] It has been a Question by some, whether Cathedral Churches are to subscribe, at or before their having Possession, before the Bishop, or in their Cathedrals before the rest of the Chapter. But the Bishop seems here to be the proper Ordinary before whom he should subscribe. The Prebendaries and the other Dignitaries who are part of the Chapter, (the Residentaries being only a delegated Power, and chosen out of Persons already Members of the Chapter) do subscribe before the Bishop, and the Instalment of a Dean pursuant to the Queen's Mandate doth not make the Chapter ordinary in this Case.

Lecturers in Cathedral or Collegiate Churches.

XXI. And be it further Enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That if any person who is by this Act disabled to Preach any Lecture or Sermon, shall during the time that he shall continue and remain so disabled, Preach any Sermon or Lecture; That then for every such offence the person and persons so offending shall suffer Three months Imprisonment in the Common Goal without Bail or mainprise, and that any two Justices of the Peace of any County of this Kingdom and places aforesaid, and the Mayor or other chief Magistrate of any City, or Town-Corporate, within the same, upon Certificate from the Ordinary of the place made to him or them of the offence committed, shall, and are hereby required to commit the person or persons so offending to the Goal of the same County, City, or Town-Corporate accordingly.

The Penalty upon Persons disabled, that preach. 15 C. 2. c. 5. at the end.

XXII. Provided always, and be it further Enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That at all and every time and times, when any Sermon or Lecture is to be Preached, the Common Prayers and Service in and by the said Book appointed to be Read for that time of the day, shall be openly, publickly, and solemnly Read by some Priest, or Deacon, in the Church, Chappel, or place of Publick worship, where the said Sermon or Lecture is to be Preached, before such Sermon or Lecture be Preached; And that the Lecturer then to Preach shall be present at the Reading thereof.

Common-prayer to be read before every Lecture, and the Lecturer to be present.

XXIII. Provided nevertheless, That this Act shall not extend to the University-Churches in the Universities of this Realm, or either of them, when or at such times as any Sermon or Lecture is Preached or Read in the same Churches, or any of them, for, or as the publick University-Sermon or Lecture; but that the same Sermons and Lectures may be Preached or Read in such sort and manner as the same have been heretofore Preached or Read; This Act, or any thing herein contained to the contrary thereof in any wise notwithstanding.

Provisoes for Lectures and Sermons in the Universities.

XXIV. And be it further Enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That the several good Laws, and Statutes of this Realm, which have been formerly merly made, and are [q] now in force for the Uniformity of Prayer and Administration of the Sacraments, within this Realm of England, and places aforesaid, shall stand in full force and strength to all intents and purposes whatsoever, for the establishing and confirming of the said Book; Entituled, The Book of Common Prayer, and Administration of the Sacraments, and other Rites and Ceremonies of the Church, according to the use of the Church of England; together with the Psalter or Psalms of David, Pointed as they are to be sung or said in Churches; and the form or manner of Making, Ordaining, and Consecrating of Bishops, Priests and Deacons; herein before mentioned to be joyned and annexed to this Act; and shall be applied, practised, and put in ure for the punishing of all offences contrary to the said Laws, with relation to the Book aforesaid, and no other.

Litanies and Collects relating to the King, Queen, &c.

Provided alwaies, and be it further Enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That in all those Prayers, Litanies, and Collects, which do any way relate to the King, Queen, or Royal Progeny, the Names be altered and changed from time to time, and fitted to the present occasion, according to the direction of [r] lawful Authority.

True printed Copies of the Book of Common Prayer to be provided in all Parishes and Churches.

Provided also, and be it Enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That a true Printed Copy of the said Book, Entituled, The Book of Common Prayer and Administration of the Sacraments, and other Rites and Ceremonies of the Church, according to the use of the Church of England; together with the Psalter, or Psalms of David, Pointed as they are to be sung or said in Churches; and the form and manner of Making, Ordaining, and Consecrating of Bishops, Priests, and Deacons, shall at the cost and charges of the Parishioners of every Parish-Church, and Chappelry, Cathedral Church, College, and Hall, be attained and gotten before the Feast-day of Saint Bartholomew, in the year of our Lord, One thousand six hundred sixty and two, upon pain of forfeiture of Three pounds by the months, for so long time as they shall then after be unprovided thereof, by every Parish, or Chappelry, Cathedral Church, Colledge, and Hall, making default therein.

Proviso for the Bishops of Hereford, St. Davids, Bangor, Landaff.

XXVII. Provided alwaies, and be it Enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That the Bishops of Hereford, Saint Davids, Asaph, Bangor, and Landaff, and their Successors shall take such order among themselves, for the souls health of the Flocks committed to their Charge within Wales, That the Book hereunto annexed be truly and exactly Translated into the Brittish or Welsh Tongue, and that the * same so Translated and being by them, or any three of them at the least viewed, perused, and allowed, be Imprinted to such number at least, so that one of the said Books so Translated and Imprinted, may be had for every Cathedral, Collegiate, and Parish-Church, and Chappel of ease in the said respective Dioceses, and places in Wales, where the Welsh is commonly spoken or used, before the First day of May, One thousand six hundred sixty five; and, That from and after the Imprinting and publishing of the said Book so Translated, the whole Divine Service shall be used and said by the Ministers and Curates throughout all Wales within the said Dioceses where the Welsh Tongue is commonly used, in the Brittish, or Welsh Tongue, in such manner and form as is prescribed according to the Book hereunto annexed to be used in the English Tongue, differing nothing in any Order or Form from the said English Book; for which Book, so Translated and Imprinted, the Church-wardens of every of the said Parishes shall pay out of the Parish-money in their hands for the use of the respective Churches, and be allowed the same on their Accompt; and, That the said Bishops and their Successors, or any Three of them, at the least, shall set and appoint the price, for which the said Book shall be sold; And one other Book of Common Prayer in the English Tongue shall be bought and had in every Church throughout Wales, in which which the Book of Common Prayer in Welsh is to be had, by force of this Act, before the First day of May, One thousand six hundred sixty and four, and the same Book to remain in such convenient places, within the said Churches, that such as understand them may resort at all convenient times to read and peruse the same. and also such as do not understand the said Language, may by conferring both Tongues together, the sooner attain to the knowledge of the English Tongue; Any thing in this Act to the contrary notwithstanding: And until Printed Copies of the said Book so to be Translated may be had and provided, the Form of Common Prayer, established by Parliament before the making of this Act, shall be used as formerly in such parts of Wales, where the English Tongue is not commonly understood.

True and perfect Copies of this Act, and the Book of Common-Prayer, by whom, and how to be had and kept.

XXVIII. And to the end that the true and perfect Copies of this Act, and the said Book hereunto annexed may be safely kept, and perpetually preserved, and for the avoiding of all disputes for the time to come; Be it therefore Enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That the respective Deans and Chapters of every Cathedral, or Collegiate Church, within England and Wales shall at their proper costs and charges, before the twenty fifth day of December, One thousand six hundred sixty and two, obtain under the great Seal of England a true and perfect printed Copy of this Act, and of the said Book annexed hereunto, to be by the said Deans and Chapters, and their Successors kept and preserved in safety for ever, and to be also produced, and shewed forth in any Court of Record, as often as they shall be thereunto lawfully required; And also there shall be delivered true and perfect Copies of this Act, and of the same Book into the respective Courts at Westminster, and into the Tower of London, to be kept and preserved for ever among the Records of the said Courts, and the Records of the Tower, to be also produced and shewed forth in any Court as need shall require; which said Books so to be exemplified under the Great Seal of England, shall be examined by such persons as the Kings Majesty shall appoint under the Great Seal of England for that purpose, and shall be compared with the Original Book hereunto annexed, and shall have power to correct, or amend in writing any Error committed by the Printer in the printing of the same Book, or of any thing therein contained, and shall certifie in writing under their hands and Seals or the hands and Seals of of any Three of them at the end of the same Book, that they have examined and compared the same Book, and find it to be a true and perfect Copy; which said Books, and every one of them so exemplified under the Great Seal of England, as aforesaid, shall be deemed, taken, adjudged, and expounded to be good, and available in the Law to all intents and purposes whatsoever, and shall be accounted as good Records as this Book it self hereunto annexed; Any Law or Custom to the contrary in any wise notwithstanding.

Proviso for the King's professor of Law in Oxford.

XXIX. Provided also, That this Act or any thing therein contained shall not be prejudicial or hurtful unto the Kings Professor of the Law within the University of Oxford, for, or concerning the Prebend of Shipton, within the Cathedral Church of Sarum, united and annexed unto the place of the same Kings Professor for the time being, by the late King James of blessed memory.

Proviso concerning the 36th Article agreed in the Convocation, 1562.

XXX. Provided always, That whereas the Six and thirtieth Article of the Nine and thirty Articles agreed upon by the Arch-bishops, and Bishops of both Provinces, and the whole Clergy in the Convocation holden at London, in the year of our Lord, One thousand five hundred sixty two, for the avoiding of diversities of Opinions, and for establishing of consent, touching true Religion is in these words following, viz.

That the Book of Consecration of Archbishops, and Bishops, and Ordaining of Priests and Deacons, lately set forth in the time of King Edward the Sixth, and confirmed at the same time by Authority of Parliament, doth contain all things necessary to such Consecration and Ordaining, neither hath it any thing that of itself is superstitious, and ungodly; And therefore whosoever are Consecrated or Ordered according to the Rites of that Book, since the second year of the aforenamed King Edward unto this time, or hereafter shall be Consecrated or Ordered according to the same Rites; We decree all such to be rightly, orderly, and lawfully Consecrated and Ordered;

XXXI. Be it Enacted, and be it therefore Enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That all Subscriptions hereafter to be had or made unto the per-ſaid Articles, by any Deacon, Prieſt, or Eccleſiaſtical perſon, or other perſon whatſoever, who by this Act or any other Law now in force is required to Subſcribe unto the ſaid Articles, ſhall be conſtrued and taken to extend, and ſhall be applied (for and touching the ſaid Six and thirtieth Article) unto the Book containing the form and manner of Making, Ordaining, and Conſecrating of Biſhops, Prieſts, and Deacons in this Act mentioned, in ſuch ſort and manner as the ſame did heretofore extend unto the Book ſet forth in the time of King Edward the Sixth, mentioned in the ſaid Six and thirtieth Article; Any thing in the ſaid Article, or in any Statute, Act, or Canon heretofore had or made, to the contrary thereof in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

The Common-Prayer uſed by Authority of Parliament, 1 Eliz. to be uſed until Bartholomew-day, 1662.

XXXII. Provided alſo, That the Book of Common-Prayer, and Adminiſtration of the Sacraments and other Rites and Ceremonies of this Church of England, together with the form and manner of Ordaining, and Conſecrating Biſhops, Prieſts, and Deacons heretofore in uſe, and reſpectively eſtabliſhed by Act of Parliament in the Firſt and Eighth years of Queen Elizabeth, ſhall be ſtill uſed and obſerved in the Church of England, until the Feaſt of Saint Bartholomew, which ſhall be in the year of our Lord God, One thouſand ſix hundred ſixty and two.

IT hath been the Wiſdom of the Church of England ever ſince the firſt compiling of her (b) publick Liturgy, to keep the Mean between the two Extreams, of too much ſtiffneſs in refuſing, and of too much eaſineſs in admitting any Variation from it. For as on the one ſide common Experience ſheweth, that where a Change hath been made of things adviſedly eſtabliſhed (no evident Neceſſity ſo requiring) ſundry Inconveniences have thereupon enſued; and thoſe many times more, and greater than the Evils that were intended to be remedied by ſuch Change: So on the other ſide, the particular Forms of Divine Worſhip, and the Rites and Ceremonies appointed to be uſed therein,

NOTES.

(a) The Preface.] It muſt be obſerved, that this Preface was written after the Review of the Common-Prayer, 1661. The Methods of which Review were theſe. King Charles II. by his Letters-Patents, dat. 25 March, 1661. conſtituted 42 Perſons Commiſſioners; Half of the Epiſcopal, Half of the Presbyterian Perſuaſion; to meet at the Savoy: To take into Serious and Grave Conſideration, the ſeveral Directions, Rules, Forms of Prayer, and Things in the Book of Common-Prayer contained; to adviſe about the ſame, and the ſeveral Objections and Exceptions raiſed againſt the ſame; and (if occaſion be) to make ſuch reaſonable and neceſſary Alterations, Corrections and Amendments, as by them ſhould be agreed to be needful and expedient, for giving Satisfaction to tender Conſciences: But to avoid, as much as may be, all unneceſſary Alterations, wherewith the People are altogether unacquainted. Many Objections were made againſt the former Service-Book, by the Commiſſioners of the Presbyterian ſide; the Particulars whereof may be ſeen, in an Account publiſh'd by them, entituled, An Account of all the Proceedings of the Miniſters of both Perſuaſions; London; printed in the Year 1661. To theſe Objections thoſe of the Epiſcopal ſide returned their Anſwer in Writing; juſtifying moſt of the Particulars which were excepted againſt, but however, for Peace ſake, complying with ſome Deſired Alterations. A Convocation likewiſe was after called, to meet on the ſame Affair. They met on Wedneſday, the 8th of May, 1661. and proceeding to Buſineſs, finiſh'd the Review, and all the Additional Offices and Prayers, before the 20th of September following; on which day the Clergy of Both Houſes ſubſcrib'd to the Book ſo alter'd.

The Preface is ſaid to be drawn up by Dr. Saunderſon, then Biſhop of Lincoln; and it ſhould ſeem by the Stile thereof to be his. However, no mention of his being Author of it, is made in the Acts of the Upper-Houſe of Convocation. It is there only ſaid, Die Lun. 2. Decemb. Prefatium ſive Exordium Libri publ. Precum fuit introduct. & publice perlect. On Monday the 2d. of December, The Preface or Introduction to the Common-Prayer-Book, was brought in, and read: But it is not ſaid by whom. It was referr'd to a Committee of the Upper-Houſe the ſame day, to conſider of it; who were Dr. Matthew Wrenn, Biſhop of Ely, Dr. Robert Skinner, Biſhop of Oxon, Dr. Humphry Henchman, Biſhop of Sarum, and Dr. George Griffith, Biſhop of St. Aſaph. On the 13th. of that Month the Acts ſay, ſome Amendments were made to the Preface.

(b) Publick Liturgy.] The Uſes and Benefits of a Publick Liturgy, or Book of Common-Prayer, do appear; not only from the Miſtakes and Confuſions which Extemporary Exerciſes, tho' of Perſons otherways well enough qualify'd, are ſubject to; but alſo from the People's being frequently at a ſtand, whether they may join with their Miniſter in thoſe Petitions: Whereas in a Liturgy, they may well weigh and conſider what they are to offer up in Petition to God, before they come to Church, having then nothing to do, but only with Earneſtneſs to put up their Petitions to God, for what they are ſure they may lawfully ask him. That Liturgies were anciently uſed in the Church, is evident, from the Uſage of them among the Jews themſelves. For ſeveral Liturgical Forms were compoſed, by Eſdras and the Great Synagogue. Vid. Seld. Not. in Eutych. And they in their Ancient Liturgies, were wont to make a Solemn Confeſſion of their Sins; to read ſeveral Chapters out of the Moſaical Law and the Prophets; to pray for God's Bleſſings on their People; and, in the cloſe of their Devotion, the Ruler of the Synagogue uſed to diſmiſs them with a Solemn Benediction. Fag. in Targ. Lev. 16. Lightfoot, Vol. II. p. 158. And, that our Saviour compoſed the Lord's Prayer, to be a Form to be conſtantly uſed by the Chriſtians, and that it was in Fact made uſe of ſo, in the publick Aſſemblies of the firſt Chriſtians, the moſt Ancient Writers of the Church do teſtify. Tertul. adv. Prax. cap. 23. Ib. cap. 4. De Or. cap. 9. They call it the Legitima Oratio, the Prayer Eſtabliſhed by Law. Tertul. de Fug. Perſ. Firm. apud Cyp. Opt. de Schiſm. p. 45. And St. Chryſoſtom, νεμομισμένη; which ſignifies the ſame, Chryſ. Hom. 2. in 2 Cor. Thoſe Propheſyings or Singing of Pſalms, mention'd in the New-Teſtament, Acts IV. 23, 24.; Andthat Solemne Carmen, the Solemn Hymn which Pliny ſpeaks of, which the Chriſtians uſed in his time, Plin. Lib. 10. Ep. 97. are certain Proofs that the Chriſtians, in the moſt early Times, made uſe of Set-Forms of Devotion. Clemens Romanus exhorts the Chriſtians of his time, not to tranſgreſs the ὡρισμένον λειτουργείας κάνονα, the Preſcribed Rule of their Liturgy, Clem. Rom. Ep. ad Cor. 1. Ignatius ſpeaks of a μία προσευχή, a Joint-Prayer, Ign. Ep. ad Mag. Juſtin Martyr ſpeaks of the Chriſtians of his Age, as κοιναὶς εὐχαῖς ποιούμενοι, uſing Common-Prayer, Juſt. Mart. Ap. 2. St. Cyprian calls the Forms they then uſed, Publica & communis Oratio, a Publick or Common-Prayer; Unanimis Oratio, Unanimous Prayer; Inſtantiam ſimul & concordiam declarans, declaring not only Earneſtneſs but Concord, Cyp. de Or. Dom. And in the ſame Book, he ſpeaks of the Surſum corda, Lift up your Hearts, &c. as part of the publick Devotion of his time. Beſides, when the ſame Father exhorts the People againſt a Tumultuoſa Loquacitas & Clamores, a Tumultuous Loudneſs and Clamorouſneſs of their Voices; it can hardly be thought, but that they had a Set-Form of Prayer, which they had learn'd to repeat their Parts in. But, tho' Formal Liturgies, juſt in the Method they have been ſince uſed, ſhould not have been framed for the Uſe of the Faithful, in the moſt early Ages; yet it was by reaſon, that there was not that Neceſſity of them, as there was afterwards. For the Chariſmata, or Miraculous Operations of the Holy Ghoſt, which were continually inherent in the Perſons of the Clergy eſpecially, (Vid. Dodw. Diſſert II. in Iren. §. 21, 23.) were not then ceaſed in the Church, and the Prayers, which the then Paſtors utter'd, in the publick Congregations, were not liable to ſuch Imperfections, as thoſe of the Clergy of latter Ages, who are deſtitute of that Miraculous Aſſiſtance are. The wonderful Power they had in Ejecting Evil Spirits, is notorious from all the Writers of thoſe Times. Vid. Min. Fœlix, Tertul. Apol. cap. 23. Irenæus ſpeaks of Men returning to Life again, by the Prayers of the Chriſtians, in his time; Iren. lib. 2. cap. 56. And ſays expreſly of his own perſonal knowledge, Multos audivimus fratres in Eccleſia Prophetica habentes Chariſmata, & per Spiritum univerſis linguis loquentes: We ourſelves have heard many Brethren in the Church, who have had the Prophetical Gifts, and who have ſpoke with all Tongues. The extraordinary Miracles, which were done by the famous Gregory of Neocæſarea, (from whence he got the Name of Thaumaturgus, or Miracle-Worker) filled many Centuries with Diſcourſe and Admiration. Tho' many of theſe were, perhaps, aggrandized by Gregory Nyſſen, who wrote his Life; yet, that he was endowed with the Chariſmata, which reach'd down to his time, cannot be denied; for ſuch an extraordinary Fame, for working Miracles, could not be raiſed from nothing. Now this very Perſon, was the Compoſer of a Liturgy, for the Uſe of all the Churches, which he had planted in Cappadocia. For St. Baſil, de Spir. Sanct. cap. 29. ſays of him, That 150 Years after his Death, the People of thoſe Places would not recede a tittle from what he had eſtabliſhed;) ὃ πρᾶξιν λίνα, ὃ λόγον, ὃ ὑπὸν λίνα μυστικὸν παρ' ἐν ἐκείνοις καλέλειπε, ἢ ἐκκλησία πεοσδηκεν. They would not depart from what he left them in the Church; either from his Practice, or his Words, or from any Religious Ceremony he uſed. Where the λόγοι and the μυστικοὶ ὑποι, muſt needs ſignify ſome therein, being things (c) in their own nature indifferent and alterable, and ſo acknowledged; it is but reaſonable that upon weighty and important Conſiderations, according to the various Exigency of Times and Occaſions, ſuch Changes and Alterations ſhould be made therein, as to thoſe that are in Place of Authority, ſhould from time to time ſeem either neceſſary or expedient. Accordingly we find, that in the Reigns of ſeveral Princes of Bleſſed Memory ſince the Reformation, the Church upon juſt and weighty conſiderations her thereunto moving, hath yielded to make ſuch Alterations in ſome particulars, as in their reſpective times were thought convenient: Yet ſo, as that the main Body and Eſſentials of it (as well in the chiefeſt materials, as in the frame and order thereof,) have ſtill continued the ſame unto this day, and do yet ſtand firm and unſhaken; notwithſtanding all the vain attempts and impetuous aſſaults made againſt it by ſuch men as are given to change, and have always diſcovered a greater regard to their own private fancies and intereſts, than to that duty they owe to the publick.

By what undue means, and for what miſchievous purpoſes the uſe of the Liturgy (though enjoyned by the Laws of the Land, and thoſe Laws never yet repealed,) came, during the late unhappy confuſions, to be diſcontinued, is too well known to the World, and we are not willing here to remember. But when, upon His Majeſty's happy Reſtauration it ſeemed probable, that, amongſt other things, the uſe of the Liturgy alſo would return of courſe (the ſame having never been legally aboliſhed) unleſs ſome timely means were uſed to prevent it; thoſe men who under the late Uſurped Powers had made it a great part of their buſineſs to render the people diſaffected thereunto, ſaw themſelves in point of reputation and intereſt concerned, (unleſs they would freely acknowledge themſelves to have erred, which ſuch men are very hardly brought to do,) with their utmoſt endeavours to hinder the Reſtitution thereof. In order whereunto (d) divers Pamphlets were publiſhed againſt the Book of Common-Prayer, the old Objections muſtered up, with the addition of ſome new ones more than formerly had been made, to make the number ſwell. In fine great (e) importunities were uſed to His Sacred Majeſty, that the ſaid Book might be Reviſed, and ſuch Alterations therein, and Additions thereunto made, as ſhould be thought requiſite for the eaſe of tender Conſciences: Whereunto His Majeſty out of His pious Inclination to give ſatisfaction (ſo far as could be reaſonably expected) to all His Subjects of what perſuaſion ſoever, did graciouſly condeſcend.

In

Liturgical-Forms, he had compoſed for their Uſe. Nay, Origen, who was Maſter to this Gregory, in his 11th Homily ſeems to allude to the Collects, then uſed in the Church. The Triſagium and Surſum Corda, as Standing-Forms in the Church, are mention'd by Cyril of Jeruſalem, Cat. Myſtagog. 5. Spare thy People, good Lord, ſpare them; is cited as part of an Ancient Liturgical-Form, by Athanaſius, Ath. ad Imp. Conſt. Apol. And ſo is that Verſicle, O Lord ſave (Conſtantine) the King. And the Council of Laodicea, which was held about A. D. 360, upon account of ſome New Prayers being introduc'd into the Evening-Service, decrees; Τὴν αὐτὴν λειτουργίαν τῶν εὐχῶν πάντοτε, καὶ ἐν ταῖς ἑννάταις, καὶ ἐν ταῖς ἑσπέραις, ὀφείλειν γίνεσθαι: That the ſame Liturgical Prayers ought to be uſed, both in the Morning and Evening-Service, Conc. Laod. Can. 18. & Balſ. in loc. That St. Baſil compoſed a Liturgy, is the Unanimous Opinion of the Greek Church. And that Liturgies were generally every where uſed in his Age, the Teſtimonies of St. Baſil, Chryſoſtom, Auſtin, and others, are ſufficient Evidence. And they have continued ever ſince in Uſe, among all Bodies of Chriſtians, both of the Eaſtern and Weſtern Church; nay, even among almoſt every Branch of the Reformation, both Lutherans and Calviniſts, as well as thoſe of the Church of England.

(c) In their own Nature indifferent and alterable.] It is inconceivable, what difficulties the Biſhops at that time had to contend with, about making the Alterations. They were not only to conquer their own former Reſentments, and the quick remembrance of their Sufferings, together with the unreaſonable Demands of the Presbyterian-Party; but they had the Court to deal with likewiſe, who puſhed on to all Acts of Severity, but were willing to let the Odium thereof lye upon the Clergy. And by the management of ſome great Perſons then in Power, the Minds of the Epiſcopal-Clergy and Zealous Conformiſts were ſo wrought up, upon the talk of theſe Alterations, that the Biſhops, who were concerned in them, found it a difficult Matter to manage the temper of their own Friends. This was the occaſion of this Apologetical Expreſſion, in the Preface, for the Alterations they had made. And they declare their mind more fully therein, in the Anſwer to the Presbyterians Exceptions, Sect. 6. On the contrary we judge, that if the Liturgy ſhould be altered as is there required, not only a multitude, but the generality of the ſobereſt, and moſt loyal, Children of the Church of England, would be juſtly offended; ſince ſuch an Alteration would be a virtual conceſſion, that this Liturgy were an intolerable Burden to tender Conſciences, a direct Cauſe of Schiſm, a ſuperſtitious Uſage, (upon which pretence it is here deſired to be altered;) which would at once both juſtify all thoſe, who have ſo obſtinately ſeparated from it, as the only pious tender-conſcienced Men, and condemn all thoſe that have adhered to that in Conſcience of their Duty and Loyalty, with their loſs or hazard of Eſtates, Lives and Fortunes, as men ſuperſtitious, ſchiſmatical, and void of Religion and Conſcience. This was the occaſion of the Apology for the Alterations in the Liturgy: And their Aſſertion, That Ceremonies in their own Nature are indifferent and alterable, is grounded on the Doctrine of the 34th Article of our Church. For Ceremonies, at all times, have been diverſe, and may be changed, according to the diverſity of Countries, Times, and mens Manners, ſo that nothing be ordered againſt God's Word. And again, Every Particular, or National, Church hath Authority to Ordain, Change, or Aboliſh Ceremonies, or Rites of the Church, ordained only by Man's Authority; ſo that all things be done to Edifying.

(d) Divers Pamphlets were publiſhed.] The Pamphlets, here pointed at, ſeem to be, The Exceptions againſt the Common-Prayer, Lond. 1661. And the Reply to the Biſhops Anſwer to the Exceptions.

(e) Great Importunities were uſed to his Sacred Majeſty.] What theſe were, is to be ſeen in the Two Papers of Propoſals, concerning the Diſcipline and Ceremonies of the Church of England, humbly preſented to his Majeſty, by the Reverend Miniſters of the Presbyterian-Perſuaſion. London printed in the Year 1661.

(f) Perverſe

In which Review we have endeavoured to obſerve the like Moderation, as we find to have been uſed in the like caſe in former times. And therefore of the ſundry Alterations propoſed unto us, we have rejected all ſuch as were either of dangerous conſequence (as ſecretly ſtriking at ſome eſtabliſhed Doctrine, or laudable Practice of the Church of England, or indeed of the whole Catholick Church of Chriſt,) or elſe of no conſequence at all, but utterly frivolous and vain. But ſuch Alterations as were tendred to us (by what perſons, under what pretences, or to what purpoſe ſoever ſo tendred) as ſeemed to us in any degree requiſite or expedient, we have willingly, and of our own accord aſſented unto: Not enforced ſo to do by any ſtrength of Argument, convincing us of the neceſſity of making the ſaid Alterations: For we are fully perſwaded in our judgments (and we here profeſs it to the World) that the Book, as it ſtood before eſtabliſhed by Law, doth not contain in it any thing contrary to the Word of God, or to ſound Doctrine, or which a godly man may not with a good Conſcience uſe and ſubmit unto, or which is not fairly defenſible againſt any that ſhall oppoſe the ſame; if it ſhall be allowed ſuch juſt and favourable conſtruction, as in Common Equity ought to be allowed to all Human Writings, eſpecially ſuch as are ſet forth by Authority, and even to the very beſt Tranſlations of the holy Scripture itſelf.

Our general aim therefore in this undertaking was, not to gratify this or that party in any their unreaſonable demands; but to do that, which to our beſt underſtandings we conceived might moſt tend to the preſervation of Peace and Unity in the Church; the procuring of Reverence, and exciting of Piety, and Devotion in the Publick Worſhip of God; and the cutting-off occaſion from them that ſeek occaſion of cavil, or quarrel againſt the Liturgy of the Church. And as to the ſeveral variations from the former Book, whether by Alteration, Addition, or otherwiſe, it ſhall ſuffice to give this general account, That moſt of the Alterations were made, either firſt, for the better direction of them that are to officiate in any part of Divine Service; which is chiefly done in the Kalendars and Rubricks: Or ſecondly, for the more proper expreſſing, of ſome words or phraſes of ancient uſage, in terms more ſuitable to the language of the preſent times, and the clearer explanation of ſome other words and phraſes, that were either of doubtful ſignification, or otherwiſe liable to miſconſtruction: Or thirdly, for a more perfect rendring of ſuch portions of holy Scripture, as are inſerted into the Liturgy; which, in the Epiſtles and Goſpels eſpecially, and in ſundry other places, are now ordered to be read according to the laſt Tranſlation: And that it was thought convenient, that ſome Prayers and Thankſgivings, fitted to ſpecial occaſions, ſhould be added in their due places; particularly for thoſe at Sea, together with an Office for the Baptiſm of ſuch as are of riper Years; which, although not ſo neceſſary when the former Book was compiled, yet by the growth of Anabaptiſm, through the licenciouſneſs of the late times crept in amongſt us, is now become neceſſary, and may be always uſeful for the Baptizing of Natives in our Plantations, and others converted to the Faith. If any man, who ſhall deſire a more particular account of the ſeveral Alterations in any part of the Liturgy, ſhall take the pains to compare the preſent Book with the former; we doubt not but the reaſon of the change may eaſily appear.

And having thus endeavoured to diſcharge our duties in this weighty affair, as in the ſight of God, and to approve our ſincerity therein (ſo far as lay in us) to the conſciences of all men; although we know it impoſſible (in ſuch variety of apprehenſions, humours, and intereſts, as are in the world,) to pleaſe all; nor can expect that men of factious, peeviſh, and (f) perverſe Spirits ſhould be ſatisfied with any thing that can be done in this kind by any other than themſelves: Yet we have good hope, that what is here preſented, and hath been by the Convocations of both Provinces with great diligence examined and approved, will be alſo well accepted and approved by all ſober, peaceable, and truly conſcientious ſons of the Church of England. CON-

(f) Perverſe Spirits ſhould be ſatisfied with any thing, that can be done in this kind, by any other than themſelves.] This Stricture ſeems to be levelled againſt the new Prayers drawn up by Mr. Baxter, by appointment of the Presbyterian Commiſſioners, in the Reformation of the Liturgy. Publiſhed together with the Petition for Peace. Lond. 1661.

(g) Concerning the Service of the Church.

THere was never any thing by the wit of man ſo well deviſed, or ſo ſure eſtabliſhed, which, in continuance of time, hath not been corrupted: As, among other things, it may plainly appear by the Common-Prayers in the Church, commonly called Divine-Service. The firſt original and ground whereof if a man would (h) ſearch out by the Ancient Fathers, he ſhall find, that the ſame was not ordained, but of a good purpoſe, and for a great advancement of godlineſs. For they ſo order'd the matter, that all (i) the whole Bible, (or the greateſt part thereof) ſhould be read over once every year; intending thereby, that the Clergy, and eſpecially ſuch as were Miniſters in the Congregation, ſhould (by often reading, and meditation in God's word) be ſtirred up to godlineſs themſelves, and be more able to exhort others by wholeſom doctrine, and to confute them that were Adverſaries to the Truth; and further, that the people (by daily hearing of holy Scripture read in the Church) might continually profit more and more in the knowledge of God, and be the more inflamed with the love of his true Religion.

But

(g) Concerning the Service of the Church.] This Preface was compoſed by the Original Compilers of the Common-Prayer, only the Two laſt Paragraphs are not in the firſt Book of Edw. VI.

(h) Search out by the Ancient Fathers] Theſe words are to ſhew, That the Latin-Service, which had been of late Years defiled by the mixture of a great many foul and Popiſh Errors, did however retain in it many Ancient Forms, received in the Church in the beſt Times; and that ſome Parts thereof are ſtill to be found in the Writings of the Ancient Fathers, who mention many of theſe Offices, in their Books.

(i) The whole Bible, or the greateſt Part thereof ſhould be read over every Year.] The Primitive Chriſtians derived their moſt excellent Cuſtom, of reading the Scriptures in courſe, from the Jews. For Philo ſays concerning them (as he is quoted, Euſeb. Præp. Evang. L VIII c. 7. Αυτὰς εἰς ταὐτὸν συνάγεσθαι, &c They come into one common Place; and ſitting together in Silence and Modeſty, hear the Law read; that no one of them might plead Ignorance of the Obligation thereof. And this is the conſtant manner of their Aſſembly: The Common People are ſilent, unleſs only when they take their Parts, in declaring their Aſſent, by joyful Acclamations at what is read unto them. But the Reader of the Law is, either one of their Prieſts, or one of their Elders, who alſo expounds it unto them till the Evening: And then they break up their Aſſembly; being thereby conſiderably improved in the Knowledge of the Sacred Laws, and having their Devotion increaſed. The like is declared by Joſephus, Contra Ap. Lib. II. Οὐδὲ ἦν ἀπ' ἀγνοίας, &c. Moſes, that he might not leave them any pretence of Ignorance, brought in a moſt excellent way of Inſtruction among the Jews: Which was, not only to have the Law they were obliged to, read once or twice over to them; but commanded them, to leave their Work every Sabbath-day, and to meet together in publick to hear the Law recited. Which is a thing, that all the Legiſlators in the world have been defective in beſides. Now, for the more convenient Reading of the Moſaical Law, upon the Sabbath-days, the whole Law was divided into Sections, which they call Paraſha's; and which are marked on the ſides of the Bibles ס ס ס; being in all 54. the better to ſuit with the Sabbaths which occur in the Jewiſh Year; which, conſiſting of Lunary Months, is conſequently longer than our Solar Year, which conſiſts only of 52 Weeks.

As they had a Firſt Leſſon read to them in their Synagogues out of the Law, ſo they had a Second Leſſon read to them out of the Prophets; the Sections whereof were called Haphtarah, and the Reader thereof Maphtir: They were called Haphtaroth from the Verb Patar, which ſignifies to diſmiſs; becauſe the Congregation was, after the ending of that Leſſon, diſmiſſed. This Cuſtom, whether eſtabliſh'd ſo anciently as the Jews would have it, or no, it matters not, moſt certainly was in uſe in our Saviour's and the Apoſtles time. As we find Luke 8. 17. Jeſus went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath-day, and ſtood up for to read. And there was delivered unto him the Book of the Prophet Iſaias, &c. So Acts XIII. 15. Paul and his Companions went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath-day, and ſat down. And after reading the Law and the Prophets, the Rulers of the Synagogue ſent unto them, ſaying, Ye men and brethren, if ye have any word of exhortation unto the people, ſay on.

Now, in imitation of this Practice of the Jews, the Chriſtians have all along had their Leſſons out of Holy Scripture read in their Publick Aſſemblies. For Juſtin Martyr, ſpeaking of the Aſſemblies of his time, ſays, Τῇ τοῦ ἡλίου λεγομένῃ ἡμέρᾳ, πάντων κατὰ πόλεις ἢ ἀγρὸς μενόντων ὁμοῦ τὸ αὐτὸ συνέλευσις γίνεται, καὶ τὰ ἀπομνημονεύματα τῶν Ἀποστόλων, ἢ τὰ συγγράμματα τῶν προφητῶν ἀναγινώσκεται μέχρις ἐγχωρεῖ. Upon that Day of the Week, which is called Sunday, all that dwell in the City and the Neighbouring Country meet together in a certain place, where they read the Writings of the Apoſtles, and the Ancient Prophets, in ſuch Portions as the time will permit. And to this does refer the 17th Canon of the Council of Laodicea: Περὶ τοῦ μὴ δεῖν ὁπτασιάζειν ἐν ταῖς συνάξεσι τοὺς ψαλμούς, ἀλλα διὰ μέσου κεῖσθαι ἕκαστον ψαλμὸν, γινέσθαι ἀναγνώσεις. We do not think it convenient, that in the Congregation the Pſalms for the Day ſhould be read on in order all together, but that the Leſſons ſhould be mixed betwixt them. The Writer of the Apoſtolical Conſtitutions, who, tho' a ſuppoſititious Writer, yet certainly underſtood the Cuſtoms of the Church in the Age he wrote; ſays, Ἀνὰ δύο δὲ γινομένων ἀναγνωσμάτων, ἕτερος τὸν τοῦ τοῦ Δαβὶδ ψαλλέτω ὕμνους. Let Two Perſons read the Two Leſſons, and let another ſing the Pſalms of David, Apoſt. Conſt. lib. II. cap. 57. Tertullian, ſpeaking of the Leſſons out of Scripture read in the Church, ſays, Fidem his ſanctis vocibus paſcimus, ſpem erigimus, fiduciam figimus. With theſe holy Words we feed our Faith, we lift up our Hope, and fix our Truſt, Tert. Apol. cap. 39.

But as there is no doubt, but that there were Firſt and Second Leſſons read in the Primitive Church, ſo it is very probable that the Scriptures were read in ſuch a Courſe, as that the greateſt part of the Bible was read over every Year. For the Pſeudo-Dionyſius, giving an Account of the Cuſtoms in the Chriſtian Aſſemblies, ſays, That, after the Singing of the Pſalms, Ἐξῆς δὲ, διὰ τῆς λειτουργῶν ἡ τῶν ἱερογράφων βίβλων ἀνάγνωσις ἀκολούθως γίνεται. There is read in courſe a Leſſon out of the Holy Books. For I take ἀκολούθως here to ſignify in courſe; and not barely following or coming after the Pſalms which were read before, but following the Leſſon which was read the laſt Congregation. From St. Auſtin we have a clearer account of the Leſſons appointed both for ordinary Days, and for thoſe of great Feſtivals. Meminit ſanctitas veſtra Evangelium ſecundùm Johannem ex ordine Lectionum nos ſolere tractare: Sed quia nunc interpoſita eſt ſolennitas ſanctorum dierum, quibus certas ex Evangelio Lectiones oportet in Eccleſiâ recitari, quæ ita ſunt annuæ ut aliæ eſſe non poſſunt, ordo ille quem ſuſceperamus neceſſitate paululum intermiſſus eſt, non omiſſus. You may remember, good People, that I was expounding the Goſpel of St. John to you, as it was read in courſe in the Leſſons; but now a very Solemn Feſtival interpoſes, for which there are particular Leſſons appointed to be uſed every Year as it returns, and upon which the other common Leſſons muſt not be uſed: Therefore, tho' I will not perfectly omit or lay aſide my deſigned Expoſition upon that Goſpel, yet I muſt for ſome time intermit it, Aug. Expoſ. in 1 Ep. S. Johan. And that Paſſage of St. Chryſoſtom is remarkable to this purpoſe; Chryſ. Hom. 6. de Pœn. It has oftentimes been a great occaſion of my wonder, for what reaſon all Chriſtians have had a particular Liking to David, more than to any Writer of the Old or New Teſtament; that they ſhould only have him every day in their Months.—Moſes indeed was a great Legiſlator, &c. but we hardly read over his Writings

But these many Years passed, this godly and (k) decent Order of the ancient Fathers hath been so altered, broken, and neglected, by (l) planting in uncertain Stories, and Legends, with multitude of (m) Responds, (n) Verses, vain Repetitions, (o) Commemorations, and (p) Synodals; that commonly, when any Book of the Bible was begun, after three or four Chapters were read out, all the rest were unread. And in this sort the Book of Isaiah was begun in Advent, and the Book of Genesis in Septuagesima; but they were only begun, and never read through: After like sort were other Books of Holy Scripture used. And moreover, whereas St. Paul would have such Language spoken to the People in the Church, as they might understand, and have profit by hearing the same; The Service in this Church of England these many Years, hath been read in Latin to the People, which they understand not; so that they have heard with their Ears only, and their Heart, Spirit, and Mind have not been edified thereby. And furthermore, notwithstanding that the ancient Fathers have divided the Psalms into seven Portions, whereof every one was called a (q) Nocturn: Now of late time, a few of them have been daily said, and the rest utterly omitted. Moreover, the Number and (r) Hardness once in the whole Year in our Publick Congregations: But we read David in our Publick Services, both by day and by night, &c. From which Passage 'tis plain that the best Part of Moses was read, tho' not all.

(k) Decent Order of the ancient Fathers has been so alter'd and broken. ] The Scriptures are ordered to be read in the Roman Service in so confused a Method, that, though they were not read in an unknown Tongue, the People could not receive any great Benefit therefrom. For there is not more than 3 or 4 Verses to be read at one time, and then follows a Response, or short Anthem to be sung, and then 3 or 4 Verses of the same Chapter again, and then another Response: After this rate breaking the Chapter into 10 or 12 Lessons; sometimes mixing parts of another Chapter, at other times some of St. Austin's, or Saint Ambrose's Homilies, or Passages out of worse Books.

(l) Planting in uncertain Stories and Legends. ] These Legendary Stories are chiefly read upon the Saints Days; but every day in the Year being dedicated to some odd Saint or other, there is hardly a Day free from having some of these idle Tales mixed in the Service thereof. And indeed, there is such an incongruous mixture, of Scripture and Monkish Fiction together, as must make all Wise, and Conscientious Christians, to nauseate and abominate their Service. This is remarkable, not only in the Lessons upon their Modern Saints Days, (concerning whom one could expect nothing else but such Stories,) but even upon the Festivals of the Apostles themselves. As for Instance, upon the first Holiday of the Year St. Andrew. This Apostle is brought in hugging the Cross, he was to suffer upon, and Worshipping it, and Addressing himself to it, just in the Language of a Monkish Poet. When St. Andrew saw the Cross, he with Joy cried out and said,

Quàm amator tui semper fui;
Et desideravi te amplecti, O bona Crux!

And then a Story is told, how St. Andrew preached to the People for Two Days together, as he hung upon the Cross, vid. Brev. Rom. 30. Nov. On the 2d of December there is a Story told of Bibiana, the Martyr; That her Body being thrown to the Dogs, it lay Two Days among them untouched. On the 4th of December, St. Bennet's Corpse, being brought into a Boat, which lay frozen up in a River, immediately it thaws the Ice, makes the Water of the River flow; and, without either Oar or Rower, moves of its own accord Sixteen Miles up Stream, to be buried in a certain Monastrey; and when it came to the Gate of the Convent, though it was in the midst of a very cold Winter, all the Trees of the Country thereabouts put out their Blossoms as thick as in a mild Spring. On the 6th of December, we have a pleasant Story of St. Nicholas, who began his Mortification in his Mother's Arms, and being a Healthy Child, suck'd frequently upon all Days of the Week, but Wednesdays and Fridays; but then he would never suck but once, and that not till the Evening when Vespers was over. With such foolish Stuff, as this is, all the Twelve Months are filled up.

(m) Responds. ] A Respond is a short Anthem brought into the middle of a Chapter, which is interrupted by it; and when the Respond is done, the Chapter proceeds; which is called the short Response. The long Responses are used at the close of a Lesson.

(n) Verses.] By the Verses here, are either understood the Versicle which follows after the Respond, in the Roman Breviary; or else those Hymns which are proper to every Sunday and Holiday; which are many of them a despicable Parcel of Monkish Latin Verses, composed in the most illiterate Ages of Christianity; only some few of them, being taken from Poets of a better size, are pretty tolerable.

(o) Commemorations. ] Commemorations are the mixing the Service of some Holiday of lesser Note, with the Service of a Sunday or Holiday of greater Eminency, which it happens to fall together with: And then it suffices that the Hymn, Verses, &c. and some other part of the Lesser Holiday, as is appointed by the General Rubrick, be read. Brev. Rom. Rubr. gen. 9.

(p) Synodals. ] The Synodals were the Publication, or Recital, of the Provincial Constitutions, in the Parish-Churches. For I take those Passages, in Linwood's Collection of them, to refer to That. Mandantes nostris Coepiscopis ut ipsas Constitutiones in publicam notitiam faciant deduci. Constitut. Stratford. Firmiter injungentes, quatenus præmissa omnia, & singula, in dioceси nostra celeriter publicetis, Const. Islep. So that, after the Conclusion of every Provincial Synod, the Canons thereof were read in the Parish-Church, and the Tenor thereof declared to the People. Whether the Canons of all the Provincial Synods were annually published in the Church, I will not venture to say; but 'tis plain, some of them were. Those of the Council of Oxford, held under Stephen, Archbishop of Canterbury, An. Dom. 1222, were of this Number. Excommunicationes etiam, in hoc concilio promulgatæ, singulis annis in synodis episcopalibus, & quater in anno in Parochialibus Ecclesiis, solenniter iterentur. And so were those of the Council of London, held under Archbishop Chichely, A. D. 1417. by a particular Constitution of Chichely, published after the Conclusion thereof; wherein likewise the Excommunications, incurred by the Council of Reading, under Peccham 1281, are ordered for the future to be recited, which had sometimes been disused, in singulis Ecclesiis Cathedralibus & Parochialibus, 3 times a Year, viz. 1st Sunday in Lent, Trinity-Sunday, and the first of Advent. The Form of the Promulgation of that Synodal is annexed to the Constitution. Pest pei be accurſed, that preſume to take away or pyſe any Chirch of the right, pat longeth pere-to, or els again right to ſtroy, breke, or ſtrobyll pe Liber-ties of the Chirch, &c.

(q) Nocturn. ] The Nocturns, in the Romish Service, are the Nine Psalms, the Nine Lessons, with their Responds appointed for any day, Rup. de div. off. Lib. I. Cap. 10. And Durandus says, they were called Nocturns, because the Primitive Christians used to rise up to their Devotion several times in the Night, to perform their Devotions.

(r) Hardness of the Rules called the Pie. ] The Pie is a Table, or Rule in the Old Roman Offices, shewing, in a Technical way, to find out the Service which is to be read upon each Day; which consisting of such a World of Particulars, by the Intermixing of the several Offices, which sometimes fall in together to be read, makes it difficult to be understood. It has been the Occasion of some Doubt, Why the Name of the Pie should be given to this Table? Now, for Resolution of this Quære, which is not very important, it must be consider'd: That what was called the Pie, by the Clergy before the Reformation, was called by the Greeks Πίναξ, or the Index. For tho' the Word Πίναξ signifies a Plank in its Original Signification, yet in a Metaphorical Sense it signifies σανὶς ἐζωγραφημένη, a Painted Table or Picture: And because the Indexes, or Tables of Books, were formed into Square Figures resembling Pictures, or Painters Tables, hung up in a Frame; these likewise were called Πίνακες, or being mark'd only with the first Letter of the Word, Πί's or Pies. So that 'tis very probable that the Original Com-

neſs of the Rules called the Pie, and the manifold Changings of the Service was the Cauſe, that to turn the Book only was ſo hard and intricate a Matter, that many times there was more Buſineſs to find out what ſhould be read, than to read it when it was found out.

Theſe Inconveniences therefore conſidered, here is ſet forth ſuch an Order, whereby the ſame ſhall be redreſſed. And for a readineſs in this matter, here is drawn out a Kalendar for that purpoſe, which is plain and eaſy to be underſtood; wherein (ſo much as may be) the reading of Holy Scripture is ſo ſet forth, that all things ſhall be done in Order, without breaking one Piece from another. For this Cauſe be cut off Anthems, Reſponds, Invitatories, and ſuch like things as did break the continual courſe of the reading of the Scripture.

Yet, becauſe there is no Remedy, but that of Neceſſity there muſt be ſome Rules; therefore certain Rules are here ſet forth; which, as they are few in Number, ſo they are plain and eaſy to be underſtood. So that here you have an Order for Prayer, and for the Reading of the Holy Scripture, much agreeable to the Mind and Purpoſe of the old Fathers, and a great deal more Profitable and Commodious, than that which of late was uſed. It is more profitable, becauſe here are left out many things, whereof ſome are Untrue, ſome Uncertain, ſome Vain and and Superſtitious; and nothing is ordained to be read, but the very (s) pure Word of God, the Holy Scriptures, or that which is agreeable to the ſame; and that in ſuch a Language and Order, as is moſt eaſy and plain for the underſtanding both of the Readers and Hearers. It is alſo more commodious, both for the ſhortneſs thereof, and for the plainneſs of the Order, and for that the Rules be few and eaſy.

And whereas heretofore there hath been great Diverſity in ſaying and ſinging in Churches within this Realm; ſome following Salisbury Uſe, ſome Hereford Uſe, and ſome the Uſe of Bangor, ſome of York, ſome of Lincoln; now from henceforth all the whole Realm ſhall have but one Uſe.

And for as much, as nothing can be ſo plainly ſet forth, but Doubts may ariſe in the Uſe and Practice of the ſame; to appeaſe all ſuch Diverſity (if any ariſe) and for the Reſolution of all Doubts, concerning the manner how to underſtand, do, and execute the Things contained in this Book; the Parties that ſo doubt, or diverſly take any thing, ſhall alway reſort to the Biſhop of the Dioceſs, who by his Diſcretion ſhall take order for the quieting and appeaſing of the ſame; ſo that the ſame Order be not contrary to any thing contained in this Book. And if the Biſhop of the Dioceſs be in doubt, then he may ſend for the Reſolution thereof to the Archbiſhop.

pellation came from the Greeks. But theſe Tables being generally made with Initial Letters of Red, and likewiſe ſome other remarkable Letters, or Words thereof, being of the ſame Colour, it was thought, That the Table was called Pie from the Party-colour'd Letters, whereof it did conſiſt. And upon this account, when they put it into Latin, they called it Pica. Thus in former Times, ſome of the Fryars, from their Party-colour'd Habits, were called Pies. In quodam veteri Cæmiterio, quod fuit quondam Fratrum, quos Freres Pies veteres appellabant. Walſing. Hiſt. p. 124. Afterwards, when Printing came in Uſe, thoſe Letters, which were of a moderate Size, not ſo big as the Large Text-Hand in the Manuſcripts, but were of the Bigneſs only of thoſe in the Comments and Tables, were called Pica Letters.

(s) But the Pure Word of God, or that which is agreeable to the ſame.] By the latter Words, are underſtood the Apocrypha; which Books our Church does elſewhere declare, That ſhe doth uſe them, for Example of Life and Inſtruction of Manners, but yet doth not apply them to eſtabliſh any Doctrine. Art. VI. And this Practice of the Church of England, is but agreeable to that of the Ancient Church. For the Books of Eccleſiaſticus, Tobit, Judith, Maccabees, are recommended to be uſed in publick by the Council of Carthage, Cap. 27. And Ruffinus teſtifies, that they were all in Uſe, in his Time; tho' not with an Authority equal to that of the Canonical Books. Ruff. in Symb. And, That the ſame Reſpect was paid to them in latter Ages, Iſidorus Hiſpalenſis de Eccl. Off. Lib. I. Cap. 11. and Rabanus Maurus de Inſt. Eccl. L. II. C. 53. do witneſs. And indeed, the Wiſdom and Moderation of the Compilers of our Common-Prayer, as in many other Things, ſo in Appointing the Leſſons in the Kalendar, is very remarkable. For there is no Apocryphal Leſſon appointed to be read, upon any Sunday throughout the Year, when there are the greateſt Congregations both of Learned and Unlearned People: And, then Canonical Scripture being only read, no one can take Offence thereat, nor can any juſt Complaint be made, of want of Edification from the Holy Scriptures. The Apocryphal Leſſons are generally read only upon Holidays of leſs Note, or elſe upon Week-days in Autumn, a Time of all the Year, when Churches are the thinneſt; and, when they are read, there is always one Leſſon read out of Canonical Scripture beſides.

(t) In the Engliſh Tongue.] The Pretence of the Papiſts to lock up the Scriptures, and to have the Common-Prayer of the Church, in an Unknown Tongue, are Two of the moſt impudent Crimes, of all thoſe many which that Religion abounds with. For this is, not only directly contrary to the Divine Command of Searching the Scriptures, Joh. V. 39. and the Doctrine of St. Paul, concerning the Unprofitableneſs of making uſe of a Tongue in the Publick Aſſemblies, which the People do not underſtand, 1 Cor. XIV. but is contrary to the Practice of the Beſt, and Earlieſt Times of the Church. The Scriptures and Liturgies, being in the Greek and Latin Languages, muſt needs be underſtood by all Italy and Greece, and thoſe other Nations where thoſe Tongues were ſpoken; which was the far greateſt Part of the then Known World. The Syrians, Æthiopians, Armenians, Muſcovites, &c. have the Scriptures and Liturgy in their Mother-Tongue, to this day: And that they had ſo formerly, the Euchologies, and Ancient Verſions of the Bible, in the ſeveral Languages, are ſufficient Evidences. St. Jerom, ſpeaking of Paleſtine in his time, ſays, That at the Funeral of Paula, the Chriſtians of the ſeveral Languages in that Country ſang Pſalms in their Mother-Tongue, Hebræo, Græco, Latino, Syroq; Sermone, Pſalmi in ordine perſonabant. Hieron. in Epitaph. Paulæ. And 'tis recorded, of the ſame St. Jerom, That he tranſlated the Bible into the Dalmatick Tongue. Alph. de Hær. Lib I. Cap. 13. Nay, ſo late as the Tenth Century, the Church of Rome had not the Forehead to declare againſt the Uſe of the Vulgar Tongue. For Æneas Sylvius, in his Bohemian Hiſtory, relates, That Cyril Biſhop of Moravia, having converted a great Part of that People to the Chriſtian Faith, deſired of the Pope, that he might perform Divine Offices in the Sclavonian Language. For which Cyril obtained a Diſpenſation.

Therefore, to put a ſtop to this Unreaſonable Tyranny of the Church of Rome, over Men's Souls, Archbiſhop Cranmer ſo dealt with Henry VIII. That firſt the Lord's-Prayer, Creed and Decalogue ſhould be publiſhed in Engliſh, A. D. 1536. After this a Tranſlation of the Bible came out, 1540. The Order of the Communion came out, in the beginning of K. Edward VIth's Reign, March 8. 1548. And the Firſt Common-Prayer-Book, 1549.

(u) Deacons.] The want of Exactneſs in the Expreſſion of this Rubrick, has given Occaſion to a Practice in our Church of Deacons Performing the whole Divine Service; but the Meaning is, not that Deacons may ſay Prayer openly, but that Deacons who are not at Church any Day, to officiate in Aſſiſting the Prieſt, and thereby do not join publickly in the Divine Service, ſhall read the Morning and Evening Service in their own Families. And the Word ſay, as it refers to Deacons, denotes only their Share in the Divine Office, the Reſponſes, Leſſons, &c. and not their Saying the whole Morning and Evening Service. For this Rubrick is to be underſtood, by conſidering what was the Practice in the Church before the Reformation. For then Deacons and Sub-deacons were to be at Canonical Hours in the Church, or muſt repeat the Offices privately at Home; as we ſhall ſee more in the next Note. But then no one could conclude from thence, that a Deacon or Sub-deacon might entirely perform theſe Offices in a Church or Chapel; which the Prieſt only is allowed to do. In ſingulis diurnis horis Sacerdos incipit, Deus Adjutorium meum: In all the Canonical Hours of the Day, the Prieſt begins the Service with, O Lord, make ſpeed to ſave us. With which Words the Breviary begins. Durand. de div. Off. Lib. V. Cap. 2. And tho' the Anthems, Pſalms, &c. are ſung by the Choir, and the Leſſons read by Inferior Orders of the Clergy; yet the Dominus vobiſcum, and all the Prayers and Collects muſt be ſaid by the Prieſt. Vid. Baptiſtam de Rubeis Rat. Div. Off. Lib. III. And the Practice was the ſame in the Greek Church. The Prayers in their Veſpers were ſaid by the Prieſts only. Ἀπέρχεται ὁ ἱερεὺς καὶ λέγει τὰς εὐχὰς τὰς λυχνικάς. Ord. Sacr. Miniſt. in Euchol. Græc. And throughout the whole Order, when the Deacon ſays, Τῷ Κυρίῳ δεηθῶμεν, Let us pray to God; ἱερεὺς λέγει τὴν εὐχὴν πάντων, the Prieſt ſays the Prayer. And ſo it is in the Mattins, or Morning Service of that Church. Ὑπέρχεται ὁ ἱερεύς, καὶ ἱσταται ἔμπροσθεν τῆς ἁγίων θυρῶν ἀσκεπὴς, καὶ λέγει μυστικῶς τὰς ἑωθινὰς εὐχάς. The Prieſt goes, and ſtanding bare-headed before the Holy Doors, ſays with a low voice the Morning Prayer. Ord. Sacr. Miniſterii in Euchol. Græc. Indeed, the Litanies are ſaid both in the Latin, Durand. Rat. Lib. II. C. 9. and the Greek Church, Lucern. Euchol. Græc. p. 39. by the Deacons; but they are only repeated by them κηρυκικῶς, more Præconum: Theſe are only to repeat the Words with a loud Voice, that the People may the better go along with them; and the Κύριε ἐλέησον, which is the Precatory Part, is ſaid by the Miniſter, who goes before the People therein. Indeed, in that Church, the Deacons are to put the Prieſts in mind of the ſeveral Parts of their Office in the Liturgy, but they muſt not invade it. They frequently call out in a moſt humble manner, Εὔξαι δέσποτα, Pray, O my Maſter: εὐλόγησον δέσποτα, Bleſs, O Maſter: But the Deacon muſt not preſume to Pray or Bleſs himſelf.

But it may be ſaid, That the Practice is otherwiſe in the Church of England; where the Deacons have, time out of mind, been permitted to ſay Morning and Evening Prayer. But I anſwer; This Practice took its Riſe from a Caſe of Neceſſity in the Beginning of Q. Elizabeth's Time, when after her Viſitation, A. D. 1559. many Churches were left deſtitute, and ſome, even Laymen, were appointed to read Service in the Church, by Letters of Toleration from the Biſhops. Strype's Hiſtory of the Reformation, p. 138. But ſtill ſuch Licenſes were contrary to the Canon Law, and probably to the Statute Law: For the Rubricks in the Liturgy are confirmed by Statute; and they order Morning and Evening Service to be ſaid by the Prieſt, or Miniſter, which in the Statute-Language is equivalent to Prieſt. All the Countenance which I know given by Law, for Deacons to read Prayers in the Church, is from one Expreſſion in the Act of Uniformity of Charles II. Provided always, and be it further enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That at all and every time and times, when any Sermon or Lecture is to be preached, the Common-Prayers and Service in the ſaid Book, appointed to be read for that time of the Day, ſhall be openly, publickly, and ſolemnly read by ſome Prieſt or Deacon. But this does not veſt a Deacon with any new Power, contrary to any former Eccleſiaſtical Rule; but only ſecures a Lecture from a Penalty otherwiſe incurred by the Law. And the Makers of that Act were led into an Error concerning the Legal Uſage of the Church, from an irregular Practice, which before that Time had begun to obtain.

(x) Either privately or openly.] There was a ridiculous Interpretation of this Paſſage, deviſed by ſome Perſons, who were no good Wiſhers to our Liturgical Forms, but were willing to make it give way, upon all Occaſions, for the Exerciſe of their Own Gifts; viz. That this was to make the ignorant Curates, at the time of the Reformation, to read the better in Publick, having conned over their Leſſon firſt at home. Which Conjecture they ſupport, by 25th Injunct. of Queen Elizabeth, Such as are but mean Readers, ſhall peruſe over, before, once or twice, the Chapters and Homilies; to the intent, that they may read to the better underſtanding of the People, and the more Encouragement to Godlineſs. But this Injunction, as 'tis invidiouſly applied in this Caſe, ſpeaks only of the Homilies and Leſſons: But the Rubrick here ſpeaks of the whole Morning and Evening-Prayer, which our Reformers would not have, in any caſe, neglected by Miniſters of the Church; but that they ſhould be as diligent, in uſing the Engliſh Liturgy, as the Papiſts were the Latin; and if they could not get a Congregation at Church, they ſhould uſe the publick Forms with their own Families at home.

Now it is certain, by the Rules of the Roman Church, even before the Reformation and the Council of Trent, that the Clergy were obliged to recite the Canonical Hours, or the Offices of the ſeveral Hours of Day and Night, which are in the Breviary; either publickly in a Church or Chappel, or privately by themſelves. The Canon-Law is poſitive as to this, with relation to Prieſts. Decret. Diſt. XCI. And it is the common Opinion of the Divines and Canoniſts, That Deacons and Subdeacons were obliged to the ſame. Panor. Cap. I. de Cel. Miſſ. Gabr. Biel ad 4 Sent. Diſt. 15. Thom. quodl. VI. Art. 8. Wherefore, ſince our Reformers thought it convenient, that the Mumbling over the Prayers in private ſhould be laid aſide by the Clergy, they would not perfectly exonerate them from the conſtant Repetition of the Publick Devotions; and therefore they changed the private Recital of the Morning and Evening Service, which was before performed by each Clergyman alone by himſelf, into Family-Prayer, when a Congregation could not be gotten at Church.

(y) Cauſe a Bell to be tolled.] Bells were not in uſe for ſeveral of the firſt Ages of Chriſtianity. For, during the Times of Perſecution, and before the Chriſtians received Countenance from the Civil Power, they were called together by a Sexton or Meſſenger, who went about from Houſe to Houſe, ſome time before the Hour the Congregation met; which Perſon was called Διόδρομος, and λαοσυναχτης. After this Cuſtom grew into Diſuſe, they made uſe of a Sounding Plank hanging by a Chain, upon which one knocking hard with a Mallet or Hammer, did thereby give Notice to the Congregation. Amal. Fort. de Eccl. Off. Cap. 20. Leo All. de Templis. This Sounding Engine was called by the Greeks Σήμαντρον, and continued long in uſe with them, after Bells were generally made uſe of in all the Latin Churches. The preciſe Time, when they came in uſe, is not known. 'Tis certain, they were common in Italy (tho' not uſed by the Greek Church) in the Ninth Century. For in the Year 865, when the Turkiſh Fleet, ſailing into the Adriatick Sea, was beaten and deſtroy'd by the Venetians, John Urſini, who was their Admiral, as a Reward for his Obtaining ſo conſiderable a Victory, was made by Baſilius the Emperor of Conſtantinople his Protoſpathary, or Captain of the Guards. The Venetians, not to be behind-hand with the Emperor in Munificence, Duodenas magni ponderis, artificiiq; non vulgaris, miſit Campanas; Sent him Twelve Bells of a vaſt weight, and curiouſly contrived. Sabel. En. 9. And this is the firſt time Bells were known to the Greek Church. But the Latins uſed them ſome Centuries before. For, by a Decree of Sabianus Biſhop of Rome, who was Succeſſor to Gregory the Great, and lived about the Year 600, they were order'd to be rung at all the Hours of Prayer. Pol. Virg. Lib. VI. Cap. 12. But they were invented many Years before this. For one Paulinus Biſhop of Nola, a Town of Campania, being willing to give Notice to the moſt remote Inhabitants of his little City, when Prayers began, hung up a large Braſs-Veſſel; which when ſtruck upon by a Hammer or Clapper, gave ſuch a ſtrange large Sound, as he deſired for his purpoſe. This was (according to Trithemius) about the Year 420. Hence came the two Latin Names for a great Bell; Nola, from the Town; and Campana, from the Country, where they were firſt uſed.

(z) Of Ceremonies.] The Word Ceremony is of Latin Original, though ſome of the beſt Criticks in Antiquity are divided in their Opinions, in aſſigning from what Word in that Tongue it took its Name. Valerius Maximus, Lib. I. Cap. 1. ſays, that it was ſo called from Cære, a Town in Italy, where the Veſtals had a ſafe Retreat, when the City of Rome was ſacked by the Gauls. Inde enim inſtitutum eſt, ſacra Ceremonias vocari, quia Cæretani ea, in fracto Reipublicæ ſtatu, perinde ac florente, coluerunt. Gellius derives it à carendo, from Wanting, quia Religio Ceremoniis carere nequit, A. Gellius, Lib. IV. Cap. 9. Macrobius inclines to the ſame Opinion as to the Derivation of the Word; and cites Sulpitius Severus, who ſays, that Religio à relinquendo dicitur, ut à carendo Ceremonia, Macrob. Saturn. Lib. III. Cap. 3. Others contend, that the Word takes its riſe from the Goddeſs Ceres, upon which account the old Gloſſary explains Ceremonia by Δημήτρια. But notwithſtanding the Deference which is to be paid to theſe ancient Criticks, Joſeph Scaliger, though a Modern Author, ſeems to have more truly given the Etymology of the Word. For by very good Analogy he proves, that as Sanctimonia comes from Sanctus, ſo does Ceremonia from the old Latin word Cerus, which ſignifies Sacred or Holy; as he has found from ſome of the old Carmina Saliaria, that this was one of the Myſtical Titles of Janus. Vid. Scalig. Not. in Feſtum. Thus much of the Original of the Word.

The Chriſtian Writers have adapted the Word to ſignify external Rites and Cuſtoms in the Worſhip of God; which though they are not of the Eſſence of Religion, yet they contribute much to the Decency thereof, to Convenience, good Order, and Uniformity in the Church. Now, though a multitude of them do clog and choak the vital part of Religion, yet ſome few Decent External Orders, though of Human Inſtitution, do help to keep up the Dignity of Religion, and preſerve it from Contempt in Vulgar Eyes, whoſe Minds are not apt to have always the higheſt Regards to the internal Excellence thereof. For, if there were no Ornaments in the Church, and no preſcript Order of Adminiſtration, the Common People would hardly be perſuaded to ſhew more Reverence in the Sacred Aſſemblies, than in other ordinary Places, where they meet only for Buſineſs or Diverſion. Upon this Account St. Auſtin ſays, Nullam religionem neque veram, neque falſam, ſine Ceremoniis poſſe conſiſtere; No Religion, either true or falſe, can ſubſiſt without ſome Ceremonies. Contr. Fauſt. Cap. 11.

But notwithſtanding this, ſome Perſons have laid it down, as a Fundamental Principle of Religion, that no Ceremony or Human Conſtitution is juſtifiable, but what is expreſly warranted in the Word of God. This Mr. Cartwright has pretended to reduce into a Syllogiſtical Demonſtration. Whereſoever Faith is wanting, there is Sin. In every action not commanded, Faith is wanting; Ergo, In every Action not commanded, there is Sin. But the Falſity of this fallacious Syllogiſm is ſufficiently ſhewn at large, by the excellent Mr. Hooker in his Second Book of Eccleſiaſtical Polity, by Arguments drawn from the Indifference of many Human Actions; from the natural Liberty God has afforded us; from the Examples of Holy Men in Scripture, who have differently uſed this Liberty; and from the Power which the Church by Divine Authority is veſted with. Nay, moſt certainly that Apoſtolical Injunction, Let all things be done with decency and in order, 1 Cor. XIV. 40. is a much better Demonſtration, that the Church has a Power to enjoyn proper Ceremonies, for the good Order, and Comelineſs of Eccleſiaſtical Conventions, than Mr. Cartwright's Syllogiſm is for the People's Contempt of them when enjoyned.

(a Some Retained.] With all juſt Deference paid to our Learned and Pious Predeceſſors, I humbly conceive that this Title and

ning, they grew daily to more and more abuſes, which not only for their unprofitableneſs, but alſo becauſe they have much blinded the People, and obſcured the glory of God, are worthy to be cut away, and clean rejected: Other there be, which although they have been deviſed by man, yet it is thought good to reſerve them ſtill, as well for a decent Order in the Church (for the which they were firſt deviſed) as becauſe they pertain to edification, whereunto all things done in the Church (as the Apoſtle teacheth) ought to be referred.

And although the keeping or omitting of a Ceremony, in it ſelf conſidered, is but a ſmall thing; yet the wilful and contemptuous tranſgreſſion and breaking of a common Order and Diſcipline, is no ſmall Offence before God. Let all things be done among you, ſaith St. Paul, in a ſeemly and due order: The appointment of the which Order pertaineth not to private men; therefore no man ought to take in hand, or preſume to appoint or alter any publick or common Order in Chriſt's Church, except he be lawfully called and authorized thereunto.

And whereas in this our time, the minds of men are ſo divers, that ſome think it a great matter of conſcience to depart from a piece of the leaſt of their Ceremonies, they be ſo addicted to their old cuſtoms. And again, on the other ſide, ſome be ſo new-fangled, that they would innovate all things, and ſo deſpiſe the old, that nothing can like them, but that is new: It was thought expedient not ſo much to have reſpect how to pleaſe and ſatisfy either of theſe parties, as how to pleaſe God, and profit them both. And yet leſt any man ſhould be offended, whom good reaſon might ſatisfy, here be certain cauſes rendred, why ſome of the accuſtomed Ceremonies be put away, and ſome retained and kept ſtill.

Some are put away, becauſe the great exceſs and multitude of them hath ſo increaſed in theſe latter days, that the burthen of them was intolerable; whereof St. Auguſtine in his time complained, that they were grown to ſuch a number, that the eſtate of Chriſtian people was in worſe caſe concerning that matter, than were the Jews. And he counſelled, that ſuch yoke and burthen ſhould be taken away, as time would ſerve quietly to do it. But what would St. Auguſtine have ſaid, if he had ſeen the Ceremonies of late days uſed among us; whereunto the multitude uſed in his time was not to be compared? This our exceſſive multitude of Ceremonies was ſo great, and many of them ſo dark that they did more confound and darken, than declare and ſet forth Chriſt's benefits unto us. And beſides this, Chriſt's Goſpel is not a Ceremonial Law (as much of Moſes Law was) but it is a Religion to ſerve God, not in bondage of the figure or ſhadow, but in the freedom of the ſpirit; being content only with thoſe Ceremonies which do ſerve to a decent Order, and godly Diſcipline, and ſuch as be apt to ſtir up the dull mind of man to the remembrance of his Duty to God, by ſome notable and ſpecial ſignification, whereby he might be edified. Furthermore, the moſt weighty cauſe of the aboliſhment of certain Ceremonies was, That they were ſo far abuſed; partly by the ſuperſtitious blindneſs of the rude and unlearned, and partly by the unſatiable avarice of ſuch as ſought more their own lucre, than the glory of God, that the abuſes could not well be taken away, the thing remaining ſtill.

But

Preface were better adapted, to the Service-Book for which it was firſt written, than for our preſent Common-Prayer. For, to have ſuch an Apology made for Ceremonies, before a Book in which there are hardly any, does not ſeem altogether ſo proper. For the Croſs in Baptiſm, or, it may be, the Marriage-Ring, are perhaps the only Ceremonies enjoined in this Book, which can in a ſtrict and proper ſenſe be called ſo. For the Uſe of the Surplice is rather a Habit than a Ceremony; or if it be ſo, it is a Ceremony of that kind, which thoſe who find fault with us for Ceremonies, do themſelves uſe: For the Ceremony of uſing a White Surplice is no more to be found fault with, than the Ceremony of uſing a Black Cloak. The Baptizing at the Font is no more a Ceremony, than the Preaching by an Hour-Glaſs. The Site of the Communion-Table, as it is accuſtomably placed at the Eaſt-Wall of the Church, is no more a Ceremony, or at leaſt a blameable one, than the placing the Reading-Pew by the Pulpit. And laſtly, If the Enjoining the People to Stand or Kneel at ſeveral Parts of the Service, be the Commanding the Uſe of Ceremonies, as I do not think it is; thoſe Ceremonies are not blameable by our Adverſaries own Limitation; becauſe theſe Poſtures in Divine Worſhip are ſufficiently warranted by God's Word. So that upon the whole, I think that this Preface in Defence of Ceremonies, was not ſo proper to be retained, after the Firſt Book of Edward VI. was laid aſide; it being an Apology chiefly for thoſe Rites and Ceremonies which were therein enjoined. For in that Book there are indeed many Ceremonies preſcribed; but thoſe we have nothing to do with now. For there Water is enjoined to be mix'd with the Wine in the Adminiſtration of the Lord's-Supper, and Croſſing in the Conſecration-Prayer: The Bread was to be unleavened, and round: Exorciſm was uſed in the Office of Baptiſm, and the Infant anointed, after Dipping thrice, and was to have the Chryſom put upon him: The Biſhop was to croſs the Confirmed Perſon in the Forehead: Bracelets and Jewels were to be given in Matrimony, as Tokens of Spouſage: The Sick Perſon, upon Deſire, was to be anointed on the Forehead and the Breaſt: The Prieſt was to caſt Earth upon the Corps, and to recommend his Soul to God: The Churched Woman was to offer up her Chryſom: And Croſſing, Knocking upon the Breaſt, and other Geſtures permitted to be uſed. Now theſe are Ceremonies in the ſtricteſt ſenſe: and it was for theſe that this Preface was made to apologize, more than for the few Ceremonies, if they be ſuch, which are now retained.

But now as concerning thoſe perſons, which peradventure will be offended, for that ſome of the old Ceremonies are retained ſtill: If they conſider, that without ſome Ceremonies it is not poſſible to keep any Order, or quiet Diſcipline in the Church, they ſhall eaſily perceive juſt cauſe to reform their judgments. And if they think much, that any of the old do remain, and would rather have all deviſed anew: Then ſuch men granting ſome Ceremonies convenient to be had, ſurely where the old may be well uſed, there they cannot reaſonably reprove the old only for their age, without bewraying of their own Folly. For in ſuch a caſe they ought rather to have reverence unto them for their antiquity, if they will declare themſelves to be more ſtudious of unity and concord, than of innovations and new-fangleneſs, which (as much as may be with true ſetting forth of Chriſt's Religion) is always to be eſchewed. Furthermore, ſuch ſhall have no juſt cauſe with the Ceremonies reſerved to be offended. For as thoſe are taken away which were moſt abuſed, and did burden men's conſciences without any cauſe; ſo the other that remain, are retained for a Diſcipline and Order, which (upon juſt cauſes) may be altered and changed, and therefore are not to be eſteemed equal with God's Law. And moreover, they be neither dark nor dumb Ceremonies, but are ſo ſet forth, that every man may underſtand what they do mean, and to what uſe they do ſerve. So that it is not like that they in time to come ſhould be abuſed as other have been. And in theſe our doings we condemn no other Nations, nor preſcribe any thing but to our own people only: For we think it convenient, that (b) every Country ſhould uſe ſuch Ceremonies as they ſhall think beſt to the ſetting forth of God's honour and glory, and to

(b) Every Country ſhould uſe Ceremonies as they think beſt.] This Expreſſion of our Church is conſonant to the Avowed Opinion of all Proteſtant Churches; as appears by their ſeveral Confeſſions. For the ſame is declared not only by the Confeſſions of Saxony, Wirtemburg, &c. and all other Lutheran Churches, who retain moſt of the Ancient Rites in their Publick Services; but by other Churches, whoſe Conſtitution our Diſſenting Brethren here in England have the greater Liking to, and were wont to call the Beſt and Pureſt Reformed Churches. The Church of Switzerland declares, Nos hodiè ritus diverſos in Celebratione Cœnæ Domini, & in aliis nonnullis rebus, habentes in noſtris Eccleſiis, in Doctrina tamen & Fide non diſſidemus, neq; Unitas Societaſq; Eccleſiarum noſtrarum eâ re diſcinditur. Semper verò Eccleſiæ in hujuſmodi ritibus, ſicut mediis, uſæ ſunt libertate. Id quod nos hodie quoq; facimus. We at this day, in the Celebration of the Lord's-Supper, and in ſome other Matters, having different Rites in our Churches; yet we do not differ in Doctrine and Faith, neither is the Unity of our Churches divided upon this account. For the Churches have always uſed a Liberty, in theſe Rites, as Indifferent Things: Which we at this day alſo do. Confeſſ. Helv. Cap. 27. The French Church, to the ſame purpoſe, aſſerts; Hoc autem non impedit, quo minùs quædam ſingulis locis peculiaria ſint Inſtituta, prout commodum viſum fuerit. But this does in no ways hinder, but that in particular Places there may be particular Rules of Worſhip, as may ſeem moſt convenient. And for this they quote Acts XIV. 23. XXIII. 15. and VI. 7. XXV. 28. 1 Cor. XIV. 40. 1 Pet. V. And ſo the Dutch Church, tho' they diſclaim the Uſe of ſuch Rites as may enſnare the Conſcience, yet they declare that they do Eos ſuſcipere, qui idonei ſunt, vel ad fovendam alendamq; Concordiam, vel ad ſe in Dei obedientia retinendos: Retain thoſe which tend to maintain and cheriſh Uniformity, and to keep them in Obedience to God's Commands. Conf. Belg. C. 32.

And this was no more than what was declared by Pious Perſons, many Ages before, in the Ancient Church; of which, innumerable Inſtances might be given: But I ſhall content my ſelf with alledging only two famous Paſſages, out of two Ancient Writers; which, tho' of conſiderable Length, yet I will not think much to tranſlate them, becauſe they contain ſo much true Chriſtian Temper and Moderation, that they may be of very good Uſe to quiet our Quarrels, which have been ſo long kept up among us, about theſe Matters. The firſt is out of Socrates's Hiſtory. Διὰ μικρὰ οὖν οὐ χρὴ τὰς ἐκκλησίας ἐθῶν, &c. "Now concerning the different Cuſtoms of the Churches, "it will not be unſeaſonable to add: We may eaſily find that "they were very different in the Obſervation of the Ante-"paſchal Faſt. They that are at Rome faſt Three Continued "Weeks before Eaſter, except only upon Saturdays and Sundays. "They in Illyricum, Greece and Alexandria faſt ſix Weeks "before Eaſter; nevertheleſs calling it the Forty-Days. "Others act after a different manner. Others beginning their "Faſts Seven Weeks before the Feaſt, faſt only Five Days "thereof by Intervals; nevertheleſs they call this Time by the "Name of the Forty-Days. Which occaſions me to wonder, "how they, differing ſo much about the Number of the Days, "yet agree all to call it by the Name of the Forty-Days. Of "which Compellation, ſome aſſign one Reaſon, and ſome ano-"ther, according to their Fancies. Neither do we only find "them differing concerning the Number of the Faſted Days, "but alſo about their Abſtaining from Food. Some abſtain "from all Living Creatures; and ſome feed only upon Fiſh. "Some eat Fowl as well as Fiſh; alledging Moſes his Authority, that theſe likewiſe were made out of the Waters. "Some abſtain from all Fruits of Trees, and alſo from Eggs. "Some feed only upon dry Bread; and others abſtain even from "that. Others having faſted till Three a Clock in the After-"noon, eat then any kind of Food without Difference. In "other Places there are different Cuſtoms, for which various "Reaſons are aſſigned. And foraſmuch as none of theſe have "any written Injunction to plead, it is plain that the Apoſtles "allowed every Country Liberty, to uſe their own Judgment in "theſe Matters: So that no Perſon might be compelled, thro' "Fear or Neceſſity, in Matters of Religion. Such is the Dif-"ference among the Churches concerning Faſts: Nor are they "more Uniform in Matters relating to their Aſſemblies. For "tho' moſt of the World do celebrate the Sacred Myſteries up-"on Saturday, at the Cloſe of the Week; yet they of Alexandria, "and they of Rome, from a certain Ancient Tradition reject "this Practice. The Ægyptians, being Neighbours to the Alex-"andrians, and the Inhabitants of Thebais, hold their Aſſemblies "upon Saturdays; but do not then, as is the Cuſtom among "Chriſtians, partake of the Myſteries. For, after they have "feaſted and filled themſelves with Victuals of every kind, in "the Evening they offer, and partake of the Holy Myſteries. "Again; At Alexandria, upon Wedneſday in the Paſſion-"Week, which is called the Preparation, the Scriptures are "read, and the Doctors expound them; and perform all Parts "of a Communion beſides the Celebration of the Myſteries. "This is an Ancient Cuſtom in Alexandria. Now it is plain, "that Origen taught the Churches in thoſe Times. He being a "very Learned Doctor, and obſerving that it was impoſſible to "explain the Moſaical Law according to the Letter; all that is "ſaid in thoſe Writings concerning the Paſſover, he turned "into an Allegorical Senſe; aſſerting, that there was only One "true Paſſover, which our Saviour celebrated upon the Croſs, "in Oppoſition to the Powers who reſiſted him; in this gain-"ing a Triumph over the Devil. In the ſame City of Alexan-"dria, the Catechumens, without diſtinction, are admitted to "be Readers and Singing-Men; whereas in other Churches, "only thoſe who are Baptized are allowed to exerciſe theſe Of-"fices. I my ſelf knew another Cuſtom in Theſſaly, when I was "a Clergyman there. For if any Clergyman, tho' lawfully "married before he was in Orders, ſhould after that bed with "his Wife, he was turned out of the Miniſtry: Whereas in "the Eaſt, ſeveral Eminent Perſons, even Biſhops, do of their "own accord abſtain; but yet they do this voluntarily. But "yet many of them, in the time of their being Biſhops, have "Children in Lawful Wedlock. The Author of this U-"ſage in Theſſaly, was Heliodorus Biſhop of Triba; to whom is "attri-

to the reducing of the people to a moſt perfect and godly living, without error or ſuperſtition; and that they ſhould put away other things, which from time to time they perceive to be moſt abuſed, as in men's ordinances it often chanceth diverſly in divers Countreys.

The

" attributed the Romance called the Æthiopicks. This Cuſtom " is obſerved in Theſſalonica, Macedonia and Greece. I knew " another Cuſtom in Theſſaly; which was, To Baptize only at " Eaſter: Upon which account, a great many died Unbaptized. " In Antioch of Syria, the Church is ſituated very prepoſterouſly; " for the Altar is not placed towards the Eaſt, but towards the " Weſt. In Greece, and at Jeruſalem, and in Theſſaly, they go to " Prayers when Candles are lighted; like as the Novatians do at " Conſtantinople. So at Cæſarea in Cappadocia, and in Cyprus, " every Saturday and Lord's-Day, at Candle-light in the Even- " ing, the Presbyters and Biſhops expound the Scriptures. " The Novatians in the Helleſpont do not perform their Prayers " in all things agreeable to thoſe of Conſtantinople; but in many " things are conformable to the Orthodox. In a word; You " will hardly find Two Churches, which exactly agree in the " ſame Way of Worſhip. At Alexandria, a Presbyter muſt not " Preach; which Cuſtom began after Arius had diſturbed the " Church. At Rome, they faſt every Saturday. At Cæſarea of " Cappadocia, they drive from their Communion every one " who commits a Sin after Baptiſm; as the Novatians do. " The like is done by the Macedonians in the Helleſpont; and by " the Quartodecimani in Aſia. The Novatians in Phrygia do not " receive Digamiſts. Now the Biſhops who at ſeveral times " have preſided in the Churches, have been the Occaſion of " this Difference. Others receiving them from their Prede- " ceſſors, have deliver'd them down as a Law to thoſe who " came after them. But it is a very difficult matter, nay rather " an impoſſible one, to give an Account of all the different " Uſages in the ſeveral Cities and Countries: I think theſe are " ſufficient, and to the Purpoſe, that the Feaſt of Eaſter was " Celebrated in different manner, according to the Cuſtoms of " different Countries. Therefore thoſe People talk too faſt, " who ſay, The Old Time of Celebrating Eaſter, was alter'd " by thoſe who ſat in the Council of Nice. For thoſe who " were convened in that Council, endeavoured to bring the " People to an Uniformity of Practice, who acted differently " before. But even in the Apoſtolical Times, as the Apoſtles " themſelves were ſenſible, there were ſome Differences on ac- " count of theſe Matters; as the Book of the Acts does teſti- " fy. For, after the Apoſtles underſtood that there was a " Diſturbance raiſed among the Faithful, concerning ſome " Different Uſages; they convened, and made a Decree, " which they notified in a Letter: By which they afforded a " Freedom from the Heavy Slavery of the Legal Ceremonies, " and vain Contention concerning them; and gave them a " good and ſafe Rule of Manners; ſetting down all Things " which are neceſſary for them to obſerve.——Command- " ing them to abſtain from meats offered to Idols, and from blood, " and from things ſtrangled, and from fornication.—— Theſe " Things pleaſed God. For the Letter ſays expreſly, It ſeemed " good to the Holy Ghoſt, to lay upon you no greater Burthen than theſe " Neceſſaries to be obſerved. But notwithſtanding this, there are " ſome Perſons who are regardleſs of theſe Commands; look " upon all Fornication to be an indifferent thing; but as for " Feſtival-Days, they contend for them as for their Life: In- " verting the Commands of God; making Laws to themſelves " which the Apoſtles did not think fit to eſtabliſh; forgetting " that they act contrary to that which ſeemed good unto God. Socr. Hiſt. Eccl. Lib. V. Cap. 21.

The next Paſſage, which I promiſed the Reader upon this Head, is out of St. Auſtin.

Januarius had conſulted St. Auſtin about the Obſervation of certain Ancient Uſages; and the Communicating with other Churches, whoſe Cuſtoms were different therein. Among other very good Rules and Obſervations made upon this Subject, he writes thus: Illa autem quæ non ſcripta ſed tradita cuſtodimus, &c. " As for Things which we obſerve, not from Scripture but " from Tradition, and which are obſerved all over the World; " it muſt be ſuppoſed, that theſe were recommended or eſtabliſh- " ed, either by the Apoſtles themſelves, or by General Coun- " cils, whoſe Authority is very wholſome in the Church: Of " this kind are, Good-Friday, Eaſter-day, Aſcenſion-day, Whit- " ſunday, which are yearly celebrated, or any thing elſe which " is obſerved by the Church all over the World.

" But there are ſome other Things, which different Countries " vary in; as, That ſome faſt upon Saturday, and others do " not; Some take the Sacrament every day, and others upon " certain Days: In ſome Places, there is no Day paſſes, but " there is an Offering made; in other Places, they Offer only " upon Saturday and Sunday. Now, if you take notice of any " thing of this kind, the Obſervation thereof is a thing per- " fectly indifferent: Neither is there any better Rule for a " Grave and a Prudent Chriſtian, than to join in the ſame Cu- " ſtoms which are uſed in every Church which he comes to. " For whatſoever is enjoined, not contrary to Faith and Good " Manners, is to be accounted indifferent, and to be obſerved " by every one in common with that Society he lives among. " I think I have formerly told you, but will now repeat it again: " My Mother accompanying me to Milan, found that that " Church did not faſt upon Saturday; and therefore began to " be under ſome Diſturbance and Hæſitancy what to do. Indeed, " I, for my part, laid no great Streſs upon ſuch Matters: " But however, for her ſake, I was willing to conſult Ambroſe, " of Bleſſed Memory. His Anſwer was, That he could ſay " no more to me, than that it was his Cuſtom ſo to do: If he " knew a better Cuſtom, he would obſerve that. I thinking, " that he giving me no Reaſon, would have me, upon his bare " Authority, to forbear Faſting on Saturday; he followed after " me as I was going away, and ſaid thus to me: When I come to " Rome, I faſt upon Saturday; when I am here, I do not faſt. " And ſo I would have you do, when you chance to come to any Church; " Obſerve its Cuſtoms, if you would avoid both giving and taking " Offence. This when I reported to my Mother, ſhe willingly " followed the Advice. But for my part, I having thought of " this Matter over and over again, have always eſteemed it as a " Reſponſe from an Oracle. For I have oftentimes with great " Grief obſerved, that Diſturbances are occaſion'd to weak " Chriſtians, by a Contentious Obſtinacy, and Superſtitious " Scrupuloſity of ſome Perſons; who, in Things which are " neither grounded upon the Authority of H. Scripture, nor " the Tradition of the Univerſal Church, nor do any ways " conduce to the Amendment of Life; but only upon ac- " count of ſome little Argument they are poſſeſſed with; or " becauſe they have another Uſage in their Country; (as if the " further they were removed from home, the more learned they " muſt grow;) raiſe ſo many Litigious Queſtions, as to think " nothing well done, but what they do themſelves. Auguſt. Epiſt. 118.

† The ORDER

How the Pſalter is appointed to be read.

THE *Pſalter ſhall be read through once every Month, as it is there appointed, both for Morning and Evening Prayer. But in February it ſhall be read only to the Twenty eighth, or Twenty ninth day of the month.

And whereas January, March, May, July, Auguſt, October, and December have One and thirty Days a-piece; It is ordered, that the ſame Pſalms ſhall be read the laſt day of the ſaid months, which were read the Day before: So that the Pſalter may begin again the firſt Day of the next month enſuing.

And whereas the CXIX Pſalm is divided into XXII Portions, and is overlong to be read at one time; It is ſo ordered, that at one time ſhall not be read above four or five of the ſaid Portions.

And at the end of every Pſalm, and of every ſuch part of the CXIX Pſalm ſhall be repeated this Hymn, Glory be to the Father, and to the Son: and to the Holy Ghoſt; As it was in the beginning, is now, and ever ſhall be, world without end. Amen.

The Order how the Pſalter is appointed to be read.

Note, That the Pſalter followeth the Diviſion of the Hebrews, and the Tranſlation of the (d) great Engliſh Bible, ſet forth and uſed in the time of King Henry the Eighth and Edward the Sixth.

The

(d) Great Engliſh Bible.] This was called the Great Bible, becauſe it was printed in a very bulky Volume; and publiſhed by Authority in Henry VIIIth's Time; being afterwards reviſed under Edward VI. The firſt Eſſay of Tranſlating the Bible into Engliſh, was made by William Tyndal, a good Scholar, and one of the firſt Proteſtants of Note in Henry the VIIIth's Reign. He tranſlated the New Teſtament into Engliſh about the Year 1525. And after that the Five Books of Moſes; (writing Prefaces before each Book) wherein the Popiſh Tenets were expoſed with no little Sharpneſs. This ſo enraged the Popiſh Clergy againſt him, that there was no longer ſtaying for him in England; and therefore he was reſolved to finiſh his Work beyond Sea: And being aſſiſted by Miles Coverdale, who compared Tyndal's Tranſlations with the Hebrew, they with Joint-Labours finiſhed the firſt Tranſlation of the whole Bible; printed at Hamburgh, 1535. But before the Book was publiſhed, Tyndal was apprehended in Flanders upon an Accuſation of Hereſy; and therefore was dedicated to the King by Thomas Matthews, Prebendary of St. Paul's. Hence this Edition got the Name of Matthews his Bible. There being ſome Marginal Marks in this Bible, which referred to ſome Notes afterwards to be publiſhed, upon ſuch Places as made againſt Popiſh Errors, made many of the Clergy take great Exceptions againſt this Bible likewiſe.

Therefore, at the Deſire of the Lord Cromwel, Vicar-General of the King, Coverdale reviews Tyndal's Tranſlation again, examining it by the beſt Hebrew Copies. It was firſt printed at Paris in 1540, but many of the Copies being burnt for Heretical Books, it was reprinted at London in 1541, and was called The Bible of the Larger Volume, or, The Great Bible. To this Bible was prefixed an excellent Preface of Archbiſhop Cranmer. It was countenanced by a Proclamation of the King, commanding it to be fixed up ſo, as to be read by the People in all Churches; with a Penalty of Forty Shillings a Month upon every Pariſh which did not procure one.

This Bible was again reviſed, at the Beginning of King Edward's Reign, in 1549, at the Direction of Archbiſhop Cranmer: Another Edition whereof was publiſhed in 1551. Theſe Three Editions of the Engliſh Bible, are thoſe which are called The Great Bible, and by others, Coverdale's Bible.

There was another Tranſlation, or at leaſt a Reviſion of the Bible, in Queen Elizabeth's Time, but this was called The Biſhops Bible; becauſe the Queen, by her Letters-Patents, had empowered ſeveral Biſhops to review it.

The laſt Tranſlation was made in the Fifth Year of King James I. 1607, by Forty ſeven Eminent Divines of that Time, appointed for that purpoſe by the King; there being ſome Faults found in the Biſhops Bible, by the Managers of the Conference in Hampton-Court.

Now the Pſalms annexed to the Common-Prayer-Book, are not taken out of either of theſe Two laſt Tranſlations, but out of the Great Bible tranſlated by Tyndal and Coverdale, and reviſed by Archbiſhop Cranmer: For when the Common-Prayer was compiled in 1548, neither of theſe Two laſt Tranſlations were extant.

The Tranſlation is very plain and eaſy, and fitter for Devotion than any one extant, by reaſon that the Hebraiſms are not ſo much retained as in the others: And notwithſtanding ſome Perſons Objections, it is nigher the Original than thoſe, who have not examined it, may imagine. For as Coverdale was a good Orientaliſt himſelf, ſo he had not much fewer Advantages to aſſiſt him in this Work, than thoſe who followed him. He had the Hebrew Text of the Pſalms, with St. Jerom's Tranſlation thereof, called Hebraica Veritas, publiſhed in Eraſmus's Edition of St. Jerom's Works, which I obſerve this Tranſlation very much to follow. Beſides, Pagnin's Interlineary Verſion was extant before the Great Bible was printed: For Arias Montanus ſpeaks of Three Editions of that Tranſlation before that publiſhed by him: And I find that Pagnin died that very Year the Great Bible was publiſhed, viz. 1541. One Edition whereof, I am certain, was extant before this Tranſlation was made, it being printed at Lyons, 1527. Theſe Tranſlators had likewiſe before them the Verſion of Munſter, which was publiſhed at Baſil 1534, which in many places they follow.

¶ The ORDER

How the reſt of holy Scripture is appointed to be read.

THE Old Teſtament is appointed for the firſt Leſſons at Morning and Evening Prayer; † ſo as the moſt part thereof will be read every Year once, as in the Kalendar is appointed.

The New Teſtament is appointed for the ſecond Leſſons at Morning and Evening Prayer, and ſhall be read over orderly every year thrice, beſides the Epiſtles and Goſpels; Except the Apocalyps, out of which there are only certain proper Leſſons appointed upon divers Feaſts.

* And to know what Leſſons ſhall be read every day, look for the day of the month in the Kalendar following, and there ye ſhall find the Chapters that ſhall be read for the Leſſons both at Morning and Evening Prayer; Except only the Moveable Feaſts which are not in the Kalendar, and the Immoveable, where there is a blank left in the Column of Leſſons; the proper Leſſons for all which days are to be found in the Table of proper Leſſons.

And note, that whenſoever proper Pſalms or Leſſons are appointed; then the Pſalms and Leſſons of ordinary courſe appointed in the Pſalter and Kalendar (if they be different) ſhall be omitted for that time.

Note alſo, that the Collect, Epiſtle, and Goſpel appointed for the Sunday ſhall ſerve all the Week after, where it is not in this Book otherwiſe ordered. Pro-

VARIOUS READINGS.

† And ſhall be read through every Year once, except certain Books and Chapters, which be leſs edifying, and might be beſt ſpared; and therefore be left unread. O. C. P.

* And to know what Leſſons ſhall be read every Day, find the day of the Month in the Kalendar going before, and there ye ſhall perceive the Books and Chapters that ſhall be read for the Leſſons, both at Morning and Evening Prayer.

And here is to be noted, That whenſoever there be any proper Pſalms or Leſſons appointed for the Sundays, or for any Feaſt moveable or unmoveable: Then the Pſalms and Leſſons appointed in the Kalendar, ſhall be omitted for that time.

Ye muſt note alſo that the Collect, Epiſtle, and Goſpel appointed for the Sunday, ſhall ſerve all the Week after, except there fall ſome Feaſt that hath his Proper.

When the Years of our Lord may be divided into Four even Parts, which is every fourth Year, then the Sunday-Letter leapeth, and that Year the Pſalms and Leſſons which ſerve for the 23d day of Febr. ſhall be read again the Day following, except it be Sunday, which hath proper Leſſons of the Old Teſtament appointed in the Table ſerving to that purpoſe.

Alſo, whereſoever the beginning of any Leſſon, Epiſtle, or Goſpel is not expreſſed; there ye muſt begin at the beginning of the Chapter.

And whereſoever is not expreſſed how far ſhall be read; there ye ſhall read to the end of the Chapter.

Item, So often as the firſt Chapter of St. Matthew is read either for Leſſon or Goſpel, ye ſhall begin the ſame at Verſe 18. Now the Birth of Jeſus Chriſt, &c. And the third Chapter of S. Luke's Goſpel ſhall be read into the middle of Verſe xxiii. Being as men ſuppoſed the Son of Joſeph, &c. O. C. P.

Thus is alſo to be noted concerning Leap-Year, that the 25th of Febr. which in Leap-Year, is counted for Two Days, alter neither Pſalm nor Leſſon, but the ſame Pſalms and Leſſons which be ſaid the firſt day, ſhall alſo ſerve for the ſecond. 1 & 2 B. of Edw. VI.

N. B. By comparing theſe Two old Rubricks together, we may learn upon what Day in the Leap-Year St. Matthias his Day is to be kept. Our preſent Common-Prayer-Book is perfectly ſilent of this Matter, only placing S. Matthias upon the 24th Day of Febr. as all the Ancient Calendars did. But according to the old Roman Computation, the Intercalary Day coming in after the 23d, and before the 25th Day of February, thereby making Two 24th Days, or Two Sexto Calendas, (from whence ſuch Year had the Name of Biſſextil; the Query is, which of the Two 24th Days is to be St. Matthias's; whether the firſt 24th, the uſual Day it falls upon in common Years, or the ſecond 24th, which is in reality the 25th. For when there are two 24ths, the ſecond of theſe muſt be the Twenty Fifth. Now we ſhall be led to the Knowledge of this by conſidering the foregoing Rubricks of the Old Common-Prayer-Books. King Edward's Books ſeem to have placed the Intercalary Day wrong; viz. between the 24th and the 25th of February, thereby making two 25th Days of that Month in Leap-Year. The Twenty fifth of February which in Leap-Year is counted for Two Days, 1 & 2 B. of Edward VI. This ſeems to have been diſallowed of by the Compilers of Queen Elizabeth's Book, who order, that when the Year leapeth, the Pſalms and Leſſons which ſerve for the 23d Day of February, ſhall be read again the Day following. O. C. P. So that by this Rule the Intercalary Day was to be, not as by King Edward's Books, between the 24th and the 25th, thereby making two 25ths, but after the 23d and before the Twenty fifth, making Two 24th Days, as the old Romans uſed to do. And ſo again this Rubrick gives us to underſtand, which of theſe two 24ths S. Matthias his Day is to be obſerved upon. For if the Leſſons of the 23d were to be read upon the firſt 24th Day in Leap-Year, then that Day could not be S Matthias's; for the firſt Leſſon appointed for St. Matthias was Wiſdom the xix, but the firſt Leſſon for the 23d of Feb. was Deut. ii. Therefore 'tis plain, that according to the Old Common-Prayer-Book, Saint Matthias muſt not be celebrated upon the Intercalary Day, or the firſt 24th, but upon the Day after the Intercalary, that is, the ſecond 24th, or what we commonly call the 25th. Now ſince neither our preſent Calendar or Rubricks do declare which of the Two 24ths is St. Matthias, the Cuſtom of the Church muſt determine the Point; which has ordered another Service upon that Day, and conſequently that it muſt be kept on the Day following, viz. the 25th of February.

This is certain by the Rules and Practice of our own Church ſince the Reformation. But if we be governed by the Miſſale Romanum, the Matter is yet clearer, and beyond all doubt. In anno Biſſextili Februarius eſt dierum 29. & Feſtum S. Mathiæ celebratur 25 Feb. & bis dicitur ſexto Calendas, i. e. die 24 & die 25; & litera dominicalis, quæ aſſumpta fuit in Menſe Januario, mutatur in præcedentem; Ut ſi in Januario litera dominicalis fuit A. mutatur in præcedentem quæ eſt g. & litera f. bu ſervit 24, 25. Miſſ. Rom. in Rubr. ad Menſ. Febr. The ſame Rule is laid down in the Old Miſſals, ſecundum uſum Sarum, which were uſed here in England before the Reformation: Si Biſſextus fuerit, quartâ die à Cathedrâ S. Petri fiat Feſtum S. Matthiæ, & F Litera bis mutetur. Now the Cathedra S. Petri is always the 22d, the Fourth day after which is the 25th, to be S. Matthias's Day; which agrees with the Rule laid down in the modern Miſſals.

NOTES.

(e) Read at Morning and Evening Prayer.] The Two Times of Worſhipping God in Publick among the Jews, were Morning and Evening, and that by God's own Appointment; the Morning and Evening Sacrifice drawing the People together for that purpoſe. Thou ſhalt offer upon the Altar two Lambs of the firſt Year: The one Lamb thou ſhalt offer in the Morning, and the other in the Evening, Exod. XXIX. 39. Which Precept was conſtantly obſerved, as long as the City and Polity of the Jews ſtood. For Joſephus ſays, Διὸ τὴν ἡμέραν, πρῶτα μὲν καὶ ἐναύσιον ἄγειν, ἱερεύοντων ὅτι τοῦ Σαμῶ. Twice a Day, in the Morning and at the Ninth Hour, they offer Sacrifice. Joſeph. Ant. Lib. XIV. C. 8. And that this was the Hour of Prayer, for Devout People to go to the Temple, to perform their Devotions there, is plain from Acts III. 1. Peter and John went up together into the Temple, being the ninth hour. Which is confirmed by the Talmud. Rabbi Joſi Ben Chaninah ſaith, The Patriarchs appointed the Prayers. R. Joſua Ben-Levi ſaith, They appointed them, according to the Daily Sacrifices. Morning-Prayer is till the fourth hour: The Prayer of the Mincha, or the Evening, is till the Evening. Beraceth, cited by Dr. Lightfoot. Talm. Ex. 649.

Upon this Account, the Primitive Chriſtians, who would not be behind-hand with the Jews in their Devotion, did conſtantly obſerve theſe Two Solemn Times of Prayer; and did very early add a Third. For, as ſome Devout Jews had a Third Hour, which they devoted to Prayer, viz. (our Twelve a Clock) when they retired to ſome Cloſet, or other private Place, to ſay their Prayers; as we ſee in the Example of Peter, who went upon the houſe-top to pray, about the ſixth hour. Acts X. 9. So the Primitive Chriſtians turned this Hour, which was formerly voluntary, into a Settled Hour of Publick Devotion. For ſo it was ſettled before St. Cyprian's Time; for this Father gives a Rationale of the Inſtitution of the Three Solemn Hours of Prayer. The Morning-Prayer (he ſays) was inſtituted in Remembrance of Chriſt's Reſurrection; the Noon-Prayer in Remembrance of his Crucifixion, and the Evening-Prayer in Token of his Death. Vid. Cyp de Or. Dom. Which is confirmed likewiſe by a Paſſage in St. Clement of Alexandria. Εἰ τινες καὶ ὥρας τάπτας ἀποδίδωσιν εὐχῆς, ὡς τρίτην, φάσι, καὶ ἕκτην, καὶ ἐνάτην, &c. Tho' ſome are for ſtated Hours of Prayer, viz. 9, 12, and 3 a Clock; yet the ὁ γνωστικὸς, the moſt perfect Chriſtian, will be always praying. Clem. Alex. Strom. VII. Soon after, the Monks, who would be more devout than Common Chriſtians, were for more Hours of ſtated Prayer: And, in St. Baſil's time, they had mounted them up to Seven. Op. Tom. II. P. 479. At laſt theſe were eſtabliſhed by Decree of Pope Pelagius II. and the Pſalms appointed for each Hour; which was the Riſe of what they call Canonical Hours in the Church of Rome. Pol. Virg. de Rer. Inv. Lib. II. Cap. 2. But our Church, in her Reformation, has brought back the Solemn Times of Prayer, to the moſt Ancient Inſtitution; and enjoined only Morning and Evening Prayer to be uſed.

(f) Sundays] There is little doubt to be made, but the Celebration of Sunday, or the Lord's-Day, is of Apoſtolical Inſtitution. For we read, That the Publick Aſſemblies of the Chriſtians, immediately after our Saviour's Aſcenſion, were held upon this Day. For, Acts XX. 7. we find the Diſciples met together, upon the firſt day of the Week, to break bread, i. e. to receive the Sacrament, and to perform other Acts of Religious Worſhip. And we may diſcover, That the Churches of Corinth and Galatia had a Religious Aſſembly upon that Day, from St. Paul's commanding the Collections for the Poor to be made then. Upon the firſt day of the Week, let every one lay by him in ſtore, that there be no Collections when I come. 1 Cor. XVI. 1. And it had obtained the Name of κυριακὴ ἡμέρα, by which it has all along been called in the Chriſtian Church, before the Time in which St. John wrote his Revelations: As is clear from Rev. I. 10. I was in the Spirit upon the Lord's-Day. St. Ignatius calls this Day, Τὴν κυριακὴν, ἡ ἀναστάσιμον, ἡ βασιλίδα, ἡ ὕπατον πασῶν τῶν ἡμερῶν: The Lord's-Day, the Day ſet aſide in honour of the Reſurrection, the Princeſs of all Days. Ignat. Ep. ad Mag. When Pliny ſays of the Chriſtians in his Time, Soliti ſunt ſtato die ante lucem convenire; They are wont, upon a Settled or Stated Day, to meet together before Day-light. Plin. Ep. Lib. X. it is very probable, that he means here the Lord's-Day. Juſtin Martyr is more expreſs. Τὴν δὲ τοῦ ἡλίου ἡμέραν, κοινῇ πάντες εἰς συνέλευσιν ποιούμεθα, &c. Upon Sunday all of us meet in a Publick Congregation; as being that day, wherein God, dividing the Light from the Darkneſs, created the World; and wherein Jeſus Chriſt, our Saviour, roſe again from the dead. Juſt. Mart. Ap. II. Another Teſtimony of the Obſervation of this Day, about this time, is from Dionyſius, Biſhop of Corinth, who lived A. D. 175. Τὴν σήμερον κυριακὴν ἁγίαν ἡμέραν διηγάγομεν, &c. To-day we kept holy the Lord's-Day, wherein we read the Epiſtle which you wrote unto us. Euſeb. Lib. IV. Cap. 22. Under Conſtantine's Government, the Obſervation of this Day was eſtabliſhed by Imperial Law, and all Perſons obliged to forbear the Exerciſe of their Employs upon it, and upon the Eve likewiſe which did precede it. Τὴν δὲ κυριακὴν καλεμένην ἡμέραν, &c. He ſet forth an Edict, That all Perſons ſhould have a Vacation in the Judicatures, and from their Employs; and that they ſhould pay their Devotions to God, upon that day, which the Hebrews call the Firſt day of the Week, as alſo upon that day which does precede it. Soz. Hiſt. Eccleſ. Lib. I. Cap. 8. The like was eſtabliſhed by Eccleſiaſtical Authority, in the Council of Laodicea: Διὰ χριστιανοὺς ἡ κυριακὴν σχολάζοντα, εἰ τε δύναιντο, τιμᾶν. The Chriſtians ought to lay aſide their Employs, if it may be, on the Lord's-Day. Where it muſt be noted, that the εἰ τε δύναιντο doth not leave it to the Pleaſure of the Chriſtians, whether they will work, or do as they uſe to do on Common-Days (as ſome have imagined) but only makes an Exception for Works of abſolute Neceſſity. For Balſamon commenting upon this Canon, ſays, That the Fathers of this Council did not neceſſarily command not to work; but they qualified it by this Clauſe, εἰ τε δύναιντο. For, if upon account of extreme Poverty, or any great Neceſſity, a man ſhall exerciſe his Calling, the Canon will not lye againſt him. And Zonaras expounds it, as if it had a principal Regard to Husbandmen. The Canon (ſays he) adds εἰ τε δύναιντο: For the Civil Law requires ἀπραξίαν τινὰ ἡμέρας, a Ceſſation from Labour, without any Excuſe, except in the Caſe of Husbandmen; but it permits them to labour on the Lord's-Day, becauſe they may not have the Opportunity of getting another Day ſo convenient for their Buſineſs

(g) Holidays.] That ſeveral Holidays were obſerved in the Church from the very beginning of Chriſtianity, or at leaſt in the very firſt Ages, is a Matter I think beyond Diſpute: As particularly ticularly the Feaſts of the Nativity, Reſurrection, Pentecoſt, &c. which, as they are mentioned by the moſt early Writers in the Church, ſo they have been eſteemed by all Antiquity, to have been of Apoſtolical Obſervation. After theſe came into uſe the Obſervation of the Days, whereon Martyrs ſuffered; one of the firſt Inſtances whereof we have, in the People of Smyrna, who kept the Anniverſary-Day of the Martyrdom of Polycarp. Euſ. Lib. IV. Cap. 14. And this happened A. D. 170. This Practice of the Chriſtians became more common, in Tertullian's Time, who ſays; That it was uſual to have annual Oblations, i. e. ſolemn Prayers upon the Birth-Days (i. e.) the Martyrdoms. Annuas Oblationes fieri ſolere pro Natalitiis. This Inſtitution, St. Baſil ſays, had a double Cauſe of its Original, That we may be incited to imitate the Zeal of thoſe, who have been conſtant in their Faith unto Death; as alſo, That Men, being exerciſed in the Performance of theſe Duties, might not have leiſure to attend to the prophane Feſtivals of the Heathens, Baſ. Aſc. Cap. 4. The following Ages were likewiſe as forward, in the celebrating the Feſtivals of the Martyrs and Holy Men of their Time; ſo that, at laſt, it came to be ſo common, as not only made the Obſervation of them very troubleſome, but occaſioned them to crowd their Calendars with a Set of dead Saints, who, when they were alive, were not worthy to be reckoned among wiſe Men. But, though they were ſo forward in coining Feſtivals for theſe modern Saints, they ſeemed long to have forgotten the Apoſtles themſelves; they being firſt brought into the Calendar by one of our Engliſh Councils, viz. That of Oxford, held under Stephen Archbiſhop of Canterbury, A. D. 1222. But upon the Reformation, our Church caſt off all the Feſtivals of the Modern Martyrs, and retained only thoſe of the Apoſtles, and ſome other few Feſtivals, which related to our Saviour.

RULES to know when the Moveable Feaſts, and Holidays begin.

* (f) Eaſter-day (on which the reſt depend) is always the firſt Sunday after the firſt

VARIOUS READINGS.

* This and the following Rule were added in the Laſt Review.

NOTES.

(f) Eaſter-day on which. ] As the Obſervation of this Great Chriſtian Feſtival was very early in the Church, ſo it was not obſerved exactly at the ſame time. The Chriſtians of the Eaſt, following the Example of St. John, kept it preciſely upon the Fourteenth day after the Equinox, whatſoever day of the Week it happened to be. The Weſtern Churches, following the Practice of St. Peter and St. Paul, Celebrated that Feaſt, upon the Sunday following that Fourteenth Day. This difference in the Obſervance of Eaſter continued a conſiderable time, with great Chriſtian Charity and Forbearance of one another; each allowing Liberty to the other, to follow their Ancient Cuſtoms, delivered down from their reſpective Predeceſſors. But, about the Year of Chriſt 147, Pope Pius, moved thereunto, upon a pretended Revelation made to Hermes, by an Angel in a Paſtoral Habit, who told him that all Perſons ought to celebrate Eaſter upon the following Sunday, made a Decree purſuant to that purpoſe, ſtrictly commanding all Chriſtians whatſoever, to conform their Practice therein to the Roman Rule. His Succeſſor Anicetus perſiſted in the ſame Reſolution; Which drew the famous Polycarp to Rome, to compoſe this unhappy Difference, between the Aſiatick, and the Weſtern Churches. But ſince they could not ſo compromiſe the Matter, as to come to an Uniformity of Practice, Polycarp and Anicetus parted very friendly; agreeing that each of them, with their Adherents, ſhould continue to follow their Ancient Practice, without condemning one another. After the Martyrdom of Polycarp, the Controverſy was renewed, and Eleutherius being then Biſhop of Rome, in Oppoſition to the Aſiaticks, confirmed the Decree of his Predeceſſor Pius. But about the Year 200, under the Empire of Pertinax, Victor being Biſhop of Rome, convened a Synod there, and paſſed a Decree, That it was abſolutely unlawful to celebrate Eaſter, upon the Fourteenth Day of the Moon. Copies of this Decree he diſpatches to moſt Chriſtian Churches, requiring them to declare their Opinion, in Favour of the Roman Practice. Several Synods were congregated upon this account, one at Cæſarea in Paleſtine; one at Lyons in France, under Irenæus; one at Jeruſalem, under Narciſſus, and ſome others in Pontus, Achaia, Corinth, and in Meſopotamia. All theſe did μιᾷ γνωμῃ, unanimouſly confirm the Roman Way of Obſervation. Euſeb. Lib. V. Cap. 26. Several Synods were held by ſome of the Aſiatick Churches, in Oppoſition to theſe; as reſolutely declaring on their ſide, That they would never depart from the Uſages of their Great Predeceſſors, S. John, Philip and Polycarp, to ſubmit to the Will of One Foreign Biſhop:

TABLES and RULES for the Moveable, and Immoveable Feaſts; Together with the days of Faſting and Abſtinence, through the whole year.

RULES to know when the Moveable Feaſts, and Holidays begin.

* (f) Eaſter-day (on which the reſt depend) is always the firſt Sunday after the firſt

VARIOUS READINGS.

* This and the following Rule were added in the Laſt Review.

NOTES.

(f) Eaſter-day on which. ] As the Obſervation of this Great Chriſtian Feſtival was very early in the Church, ſo it was not obſerved exactly at the ſame time. The Chriſtians of the Eaſt, following the Example of St. John, kept it preciſely upon the Fourteenth day after the Equinox, whatſoever day of the Week it happened to be. The Weſtern Churches, following the Practice of St. Peter and St. Paul, Celebrated that Feaſt, upon the Sunday following that Fourteenth Day. This difference in the Obſervance of Eaſter continued a conſiderable time, with great Chriſtian Charity and Forbearance of one another; each allowing Liberty to the other, to follow their Ancient Cuſtoms, delivered down from their reſpective Predeceſſors. But, about the Year of Chriſt 147, Pope Pius, moved thereunto, upon a pretended Revelation made to Hermes, by an Angel in a Paſtoral Habit, who told him that all Perſons ought to celebrate Eaſter upon the following Sunday, made a Decree purſuant to that purpoſe, ſtrictly commanding all Chriſtians whatſoever, to conform their Practice therein to the Roman Rule. His Succeſſor Anicetus perſiſted in the ſame Reſolution; Which drew the famous Polycarp to Rome, to compoſe this unhappy Difference, between the Aſiatick, and the Weſtern Churches. But ſince they could not ſo compromiſe the Matter, as to come to an Uniformity of Practice, Polycarp and Anicetus parted very friendly; agreeing that each of them, with their Adherents, ſhould continue to follow their Ancient Practice, without condemning one another. After the Martyrdom of Polycarp, the Controverſy was renewed, and Eleutherius being then Biſhop of Rome, in Oppoſition to the Aſiaticks, confirmed the Decree of his Predeceſſor Pius. But about the Year 200, under the Empire of Pertinax, Victor being Biſhop of Rome, convened a Synod there, and paſſed a Decree, That it was abſolutely unlawful to celebrate Eaſter, upon the Fourteenth Day of the Moon. Copies of this Decree he diſpatches to moſt Chriſtian Churches, requiring them to declare their Opinion, in Favour of the Roman Practice. Several Synods were congregated upon this account, one at Cæſarea in Paleſtine; one at Lyons in France, under Irenæus; one at Jeruſalem, under Narciſſus, and ſome others in Pontus, Achaia, Corinth, and in Meſopotamia. All theſe did μιᾷ γνωμῃ, unanimouſly confirm the Roman Way of Obſervation. Euſeb. Lib. V. Cap. 26. Several Synods were held by ſome of the Aſiatick Churches, in Oppoſition to theſe; as reſolutely declaring on their ſide, That they would never depart from the Uſages of their Great Predeceſſors, S. John, Philip and Polycarp, to ſubmit to the Will of One Foreign Biſhop:

first (g) full Moon, which happens next after the One and twentieth day of March. And, if the Full Moon happens upon a Sunday, Easter-day is the Sunday after. Advent-

Bishop: As is to be seen in the Letter of Polycrates, one of the Principal Eastern Bishops; a Fragment of which is extant in Eusebius. Victor, nettled by this Opposition, flew into so Unchristian a Degree of Anger and Fury, as to declare all the Asiaticks Excommunicate, who would not comply with his Practice. Which gave great Offence to all Peaceable Men of his own Opinion, particularly to Irenæus Bishop of Lyons; who afterwards took a great deal of Pains in Composing this Difference, and quieting the Minds of each Party: By whose good Endeavours the Quarrel was laid aside, or at least patched up, for some time. But about the Year 318, the Controversy broke out a-fresh, under the Reign of Constantine; which Pious Prince used all his Interest and Authority, to allay it, and bring the Opposite Parties to an Uniformity of Practice: And at last he got a Canon to be passed in the Famous Universal Council of Nice; Τὴν ἁγιωτάτην τῆς Πάσχα ἑορτὴν μιᾷ καὶ τῇ αὐτῇ ἡμέρᾳ συντελεῖσθαι: That every-where, the Feast of Easter should be observed upon the same Day; i. e. The Sunday after the Fourteenth. Theod. Hist. Eccl. Lib. I. Cap. 9. Socr. Lib. I. Cap. 9. This Affair being now settled by the Authority of an Oecumenical Council, the Dispute began by degrees to dwindle, and at last dropped. Now the Feast of Easter being to be observed at this Time, both by Ecclesiastical Law and Ancient Custom; the Church has provided Tables, for the exact Discovery of the Time, when this Festival is to be Celebrated.

(g) First Full Moon] This Rule is excepted against by some as a false Rule, and of such a dangerous Consequence, as to deter Conscientious Ministers from Subscribing to the Book of Common-Prayer; as fearing thereby to commit a great Sin, by Attesting under their Hands an Evident Falsity. Take the Objection in Mr. Baxter's own Words. "By this General Declaration, "we are obliged to assent to, (as true) to approve, and to "use these Words after the Calendar: [Rules to know when "the Moveable Feasts and Holidays begin. Easter-day (on "which the rest depend) is always the First Sunday after the "first Full Moon, which happens next after the One and twen-"tieth Day of March.] This Rule is false; as 1. every Almanack "will shew. 2. The Table following to find out Easter for "ever. 3. The Practice of the Church which keepeth Easter "on another Day. To consent to use this, is to consent to "keep Easter-day contrary to all Christian Churches, and con-"trary to another Rule in the same Book: And to consent to "use both Rules, is to consent to keep Two Easter-days in "One Year." To allow Mr. Baxter's Argument its full Force, I will instance for him in the present Year 1709. The first Full Moon after the 21st of March, is April the 13th, as all our Almanacks tell us; and the next Sunday after such Full Moon, is April the 17th. That ought, according to this Rule (he thinks) to be Easter-day; which nevertheless is but Palm-Sunday. But if we consult the Table to find Easter for Ever, we find we are directed to another Day. For the Angle, wherein the Sunday-Letter B and the Prime 19 meet, (according to the Direction to find out Easter by that Table) shews April the 24th to be Easter-day.

But I answer to this, That this whole Objection is grounded upon a Mistake, which supposes our Church to reckon the Full Moons according to the Rules of the Modern Almanacks; whereas she governs herself therein by the Ancient Synodical Determinations, and Paschal Cycles of the Church. And one would hardly imagine, how it could enter into the Thoughts of this and some other Learned Persons, to fancy that, when the Church had established an Authentick Calendar of her own, confirmed by the Law of the Realm, to find out the Ages of the Moon; People must go to the Common Almanacks, to know when the Ecclesiastical Full-Moon happens.

But to set this Matter in a true Light, it must be considered, That this evidently false Rule (as 'tis called) to find out Easter by, is the same Rule which was established by the Great Council of Nice; and which the Church of God, both in the Eastern and Western Parts of the World, for 13 or 14 Hundred Years together, has gone by. So that if we are in an Error, we mistake in very good Company. I have shew'd before, That the Controversy between the East and the West about the Celebration of Easter, was, Whether it was to be observed (as the Asiaticks and Jews did) precisely upon the very Day of the Full Moon, after the Equinox, or the fourteenth Day of the Age thereof; or (according to the Usage of the Western Church) the Sunday after this Full Moon. This Controversy was determined by the Council of Nice: And they decreed Two Things. First, That Easter should be observed συμφώνως Ρωμαίοις, according to the Romans, and the other Western Christians. Ep. Concil. Nic. Theod. Lib. I Cap 9. Secondly, Μηδὲν πίνειν ἔτι ὑμῖν κοινὸν μετὰ τῶν ἐχθίστων τῶν Ἰουδαίων ὄχλων: That the Christians should have nothing in common with the hateful People of the Jews, i. e. That they should never Celebrate their Easter upon the same Day, on which the Jews Celebrated their Passover; as appears by Constantine's Letter to the Churches, upon the Occasion of the Council's Determination in this Affair. Euseb. de Vit. Const. Lib. III. Cap. 16. These were the Rules the Ancient Church went by; and our Church, in this Rubrick, exactly copies after their Pattern. For we fix Easter, as they did, not upon the first Full Moon which happens after the 21st day of March, (the Old Vernal Equinox) but upon the first Sunday after such first Full Moon. In the next place, we avoid, as they did, Celebrating our Easter at the same time the Jews kept their Passover: For that is the Reason of the latter Clause of the Rule before us; If the Full Moon happens upon a Sunday, Easter-day is the Sunday after. Because if we should keep it upon the very Day of the Full Moon, our Easter and the Jewish Passover would exactly fall out together; which would be contrary to the Determination of the Holy Council.

All the Question therefore is, What we are to account the Full Moon, or the fourteenth Day of its Age? Whether we are to be governed therein by the Church-Calendar, or by the Common Almanacks? Now I say, the Church allows no other Full-Moon, but what the Church-Calendar sets down as such; nor is it reasonable she should. For the Cycle of the Moon, as it is set down in this Calendar, was drawn up by Order of the Nicene Council, if we may take S. Ambrose his Word for it; who was very capable of understanding this Matter, and flourished not above 60 Years after the Council was held. His Words are these. Non mediocris esse sapientiæ diem celebritatis definire Paschalis, & scriptura divina nos instruit, & Traditio majorum: qui convenientes ad Synodum Nicænam, inter illa fidei ut vera ita admiranda decreta, etiam super celebritate memoratâ, congregatis peritissimis calculandi, novemdecem annorum collegere rationem, & quasi quendam constituere circulum, ex quo exemplum in annos reliquos gigneretur. Hunc Circulum Enneadecarida nuncupaverunt, sequentes illud, quod non debeamus vanâ quadam opinione super celebritate hujusmodi fluctuare, sed verâ ratione compertâ ita omnium concurrat affectio, ut unâ nocte ubique sacrificium pro Resurrectione Domini deferatur. That it is no small part of Wisdom to settle the day of the Paschal Solemnity, we are instructed, not only by the Holy Scripture, but by the Tradition of our Forefathers; who meeting in the Synod of Nice, among their admirable Decrees concerning Faith, did moreover settle the Circle of Nineteen Years, by the assistance of Persons well-versed in Numbers, and made a certain Cycle, to be a Rule for all the Years that were to come after. This Cycle they called the Enneadecateris, or Circle of Nineteen Years; laying down this as a Rule, that we ought not to fluctuate in a vain Opinion about the keeping this Festival, but that having a settled Computation, all Christians should so agree, that in the same Night in all Places a Sacrifice should be offered for the Resurrection of our Lord.

Indeed, the Copy of this Cycle which was made use of in the Latin Church, does not seem to have been sufficiently exact; and which having caused some Irregularities to be committed in the Observation of Easter, it was committed by Theodosius the Emperor to the Care of Theophilus, Bishop of Alexandria, to be amended from the Cycles of the Eastern Church. Which accordingly he did about the Year 410; and his Cycle, thus amended, was translated into Latin by S. Jerom. But the Romans still making use of their old faulty Cycle, some new Difficulties arose concerning it, in the Time of Leo the Great, Bishop of Rome, A. D. 452. as may be seen in his Epistles; Ep. Leon. Mag. 63, 64. But Dionysius, a Roman Abbot, about the Year 532, fully settled the Roman Cycle, according to the Amendments of Theophilus; and so it has continued ever since. This Ancient Calendar our Church has been pleased to receive; and tho' there has arisen some considerable Variation from the precise Time of the New Moons in so long a Tract of Time, upon account of some Minutes unregarded in the first Calculation; yet this is our Rule to find out the New and Full Moons by, and the Church allows no other. Let us therefore now examine the Truth of Mr. Baxter's Objection; and see, whether to consent to use both the Rules of our Church, for finding out Easter, be to consent to keep Two Easter-days in One Year.

I have shewed before, that, in the Table to find Easter for ever, April the 24th is Easter-day in this present Year 1709; and upon that Day we kept it. Now, let us see if the Rule before us, which is so terribly excepted against, direct us to any other Day. According to the Directions of this Rule, I look for the 21*st* of March in the Calendar, and then endeavour to find out the first Full Moon which follows it. The Full Moons are not set down in the Calendar, but the New Moons are: Therefore I look for the first New Moon after the 21st of March. And knowing that this Year the Golden Number is 19, and finding the 19, which first occurs after the 21st of March, to be placed over against April 4; I know likewise, That the Fourth of April is the first New Moon after the Twenty first of March; and, That the Fourteenth Day after this is the Full Moon. So that upon the whole, I find by this Calendar, that the first Full Moon after the 21st of March, in this present Year, is April 17. But I find April the 17th to be marked by B, the Sunday-Letter of this Year; and therefore, by the latter Clause of this present Rule, I learn, that Easter-day must not be kept then; and therefore I go on to the next B, or the Sunday after, viz. April the 24th, which is Easter-day by both the Rules.

Advent-Sunday is always the neareſt Sunday to the Feaſt of S. Andrew, whether before or after.

Septuageſima, Sexageſima, Quinquageſima, Quadrageſima } Sunday is [Nine, Eight, Seven, Six] weeks before Eaſter.

¶ WHen ye have found the Sunday (a) Letter in the upper-moſt Line, guide your eye downward from the ſame, till ye come right over againſt the * Prime; and there is ſhewed both what Month, and what day of the Month Eaſter fal-

VARIOUS READINGS.

* The (Prime or) GOLDEN NUMBER is ſo called, becauſe it was written in the Kalender with Letters of Gold, right at that day whereon the Moon changed; and it is the ſpace of 19 Years, in the which the Moon returneth to the ſelf ſame day of the Sun: And therefore it is alſo called the Circle of the Moon, in the which the Solſtices and Equinoctials do return to all one Point in the Zodiack.

To find it every Year, you muſt add one Year of CHRIST (for CHRIST was born one Year of the 19 already paſt) then divide the whole by 19, and that which reſteth, is the GOLDEN NUMBER for that yeere: if there be no ſurpluſage, it is then 19.

¶ Note, that the GOLDEN NUMBER, and Dominical Letter, doeth change every yeere the firſt day of January.

¶ Note alſo, that the yeere of our LORD beginneth the XXV. day of March, the ſame day ſuppoſed to be the firſt day upon which the world was Created, and the ſame day when CHRIST was conceived in the Wombe of the Virgin Mary.

NOTES.

(a) Sunday Letter.] There are two things ſuppoſed to be known, to make uſe of this Table: The firſt is the Sunday Letter, The Second is the Prime or Golden Number; therefore I have added, Table I. which ſhews them together with the Epacts, for an hundred Years forwards: As alſo, Table II. which ſhews how to continue that Table longer. And laſtly Table III. which ſhews how the other Moveable Feaſts vary according as Eaſter happens.

falleth that year. But note, that the name of the Month is ſet at the left Hand, or elſe juſt with the Figure, and followeth not, as in other Tables by deſcent, but collateral.

VARIOUS READINGS.

* The (Prime or) GOLDEN NUMBER is ſo called, becauſe it was written in the Kalender with Letters of Gold, right at that day whereon the Moon changed; and it is the ſpace of 19 Years, in the which the Moon returneth to the ſelf ſame day of the Sun: And therefore it is alſo called the Circle of the Moon, in the which the Solſtices and Equinoctials do return to all one Point in the Zodiack.

To find it every Year, you muſt add one Year of CHRIST (for CHRIST was born one Year of the 19 already paſt) then divide the whole by 19, and that which reſteth, is the GOLDEN NUMBER for that yeere: if there be no ſurpluſage, it is then 19.

¶ Note that the GOLDEN NUMBER, and Dominical Letter, doeth change every yeere the firſt day of January.

¶ Note alſo, that the yeere of our LORD beginneth the XXV. day of March, the ſame day ſuppoſed to be the firſt day upon which the world was Created, and the ſame day when CHRIST was conceived in the Wombe of the Virgin Mary.

NOTES.

(a) Sunday Letter.] There are two things ſuppoſed to be known, to make uſe of this Table: The firſt is the Sunday Letter, The Second is the Prime or Golden Number; therefore I have added, Table I. which ſhews them together with the Epacts, for an hundred Years forwards: As alſo, Table II. which ſhews how to continue that Table longer. And laſtly Table III. which ſhews how the other Moveable Feaſts vary according as Eaſter happens.

Directions for the Uſe of the Foregoing Tables.

NOW by help of the Common-Prayer-Book Table and theſe other Tables here ſet down, any one may with Readineſs, not only find out Eaſter, and all the other Moveable Feaſts which attend it, for any Year aſſigned, but may with eaſe calculate a Table of them all, for many Years.

For let it be required, to know when Eaſter and the Moveable Feaſts fall in the Year of our Lord 1711. I proceed thus. I look in Table I. for the Prime or Golden Number, and the Sunday Letter that Year; and therein I find that 2 is the Prime, and G is the Sunday Letter. Then I go to the Table in the Common-Prayer-Book, and by the Rule there given I find Eaſter-Day to be April 1. After this I caſt my Eye upon Table the III. and find out in the Eaſter-Column, April 1. which Line ſhews not only Eaſter that Year, but all the Moveable Feaſts which attend it, viz. Septuageſima Sunday, Jan. 28. Aſhwedneſday, Febr. 14. Rogation Sunday, May 6. Eaſter, Apr. 1. Aſcenſion, May 10. Whitſunday, May 20. That there are that Year 26 Sundays after Trinity: And that the firſt Sunday of Advent is Dec. 2. If I have a Mind to continue a Table of Forty Years which is nigh expiring, I proceed in the foreſaid Method. For having a mind to know when Eaſter and the other Feaſts fall in the Year 1741. I find by Table I. the Prime that Year to be 13. and the Sunday Letter D; by the Common-Prayer-Book Table, that Eaſter falls then March 29. And in Table III. I find all the other Moveable Feaſts ſet down in the ſame Line with it, viz. Sundays after Epiphany 2. Septuageſ. Jan. 25. Aſhwed. Febr. 11. Eaſter, Mar. 29. Rogation Sunday, May 3. Aſcenſ. May 7. Whitſunday, May 17. That there are 26 Sundays after Trinity; And Advent-Sunday happens Novemb. 29. If it be Leap-Year, the Feaſts before S. Matthias's Day muſt be reckoned one Day later.

Of the KALENDAR, the GOLDEN NUMBER, EPACTS, &c.

THE Word Calendar is derived from the Calendæ, the firſt Day of the Roman Month. The Latin Word Calendarium, which this is the Tranſlation of, ſignifies originally a Pocket-Book, or other Book of Accompts, which Rich Men uſed to enter the Concerns of their Eſtates in; when their Money was to be paid, and when to be received; the Names of every Day in the Year being marked in the Margin thereof, that ſo they might the more readily compute the Intereſt accruing therefrom; which was to be paid at the Calendæ, or firſt Day of the Month; which therefore gave the Name to ſuch Book. Hence Ovid calls theſe Celeres Calendæ, Ov. Rem. Am. Lib. II becauſe they return quicker than the Borrower did deſire. And Seneca ſays, Divitem putas cui magnus Calendarii Liber volvitur. You think him a Rich Man who has a large Book of Accompts to turn over. When the Empire became Chriſtian, the Latin Churches called their Eccleſiaſtical Regiſter, in which the Names of the Martyrs, and other Great Men famous for their Piety, were enter'd, with ſome ſhort Account of their Lives and Sufferings, by this Name: And the Greeks, by a Name equivalent to it, Μηνολόγιον.

Our preſent Calendar, beſides the ſetting down the Holidays of the Year, and the Leſſons to be read upon each Day, does note the Revolutions of the Sun and Moon, with Particularity and Exactneſs, ſufficient for ordinary Buſineſs. Now, it muſt be conſider'd, that the Solar Year does conſiſt of 365 Days, and 6 Hours; the Sun performing his Annual Motion, and returning to the ſame Point again, within that Time. The 6 Hours paſs over unregarded, till they make up a whole Day; and then they are collected together, which is every Fourth Year, and put in after the Twenty Fourth of February. Among the Ancient Romans, the Intercalary Day being put in likewiſe at this time, viz. after the VIth Cal., and thereby making a Double VI Cal., occaſion'd this Fourth Year, when the Intercalation was made, to be called Biſſextile.

The Lunar Year is ſomewhat ſhorter than the Solar. For Twelve Moons will not exactly meaſure out the Twelve Solar Months. The Moon performs her Menſtrual Courſe in 27 Days, 7 Hours, and a little more; which is called the Moon's Periodical Motion: But by that time the Moon is going this Courſe, the Sun is gone a little Progreſs in his Circuit; viz. 27 Degrees in the Heaven; and therefore, before the Moon can get up with him again, ſomething more than Two Days are ſpent. So that, from one Conjunction of the Moon with the Sun, to another Conjunction of the ſame, makes a Month of 29 Days, 12 Hours, and ſome Minutes more; which is the Synodical Motion of the Moon, or the Time ſhe is ſpending, before ſhe can reach the Sun a ſecond time. Now, Twelve of theſe Months make up a Year but of 354 Days: For 29 d. 12 h. multiplied by 12, give 354 Days; leſs than the Solar Year, conſiſting of 365 Days, by 11 Days; which will make a Difference of 11 Days more next Year; and will cauſe the Beginning of the Lunar Year to fall ſhort of the Solar 22 Days; the next, 33; the next, 44, &c. till after a Courſe of Nineteen Years, it will fall in even with the Sun again. This Circle of Nineteen Years, was firſt obſerved by Meto, an Ancient Aſtronomer; and has been ſince of conſiderable Uſe among the Chriſtians, for the ſettling the Time of Eaſter.

Golden Number.

Theſe Nineteen Years marked out by the ſide of the Days of the Solar Month, are what we call the Golden Number; uſeful for finding out the New Moons of the Year. The Golden Number is ſet down in the firſt Column of our Calendar. Suppoſe in any Year the New Moon happen on the 23d of January, where 'tis marked 1, the next Year it will happen 11 Days ſooner, viz. the 12th of that Month, and is marked 2; the next Year on the 31, and is marked 3; and ſo till the whole Circle of the Nineteen Years is out.

The Epact.

From hence ariſes another Number, made uſe of in the Calendars and Paſchal-Tables of the Church, called the Epact; which is only the Number of the Days, by which the Solar Year, of 365 Days, does exceed the Lunar, conſiſting of 354. So that, in the firſt Year of the Circle of Nineteen Years, the Epact is 11; the next Year it is 22; the next after that will be 3; Becauſe 11 added to 22 makes 33; (from which, caſting out a Month of 30 Days) there remains 3 for the Epact. And ſo, through the whole Courſe of the 19 Years; ſtill adding 11, and caſting out 30, when the Sum riſes above that Number. Only, when we come to the laſt Year, xix, we muſt add 12.

The Dominical Letter, and the Cycle of its Order.

The Dominical Letter is a Note in the Calendar of eſpecial Uſe. Now, every Day of the Week, and conſequently the whole Month in the Calendar, being marked by one of the Seven firſt Letters of the Alphabet; That is the Dominical Letter which ſtands over againſt thoſe Days of the Month, which the Sundays of that Year fall upon. Now, that the Dominical Letters happen with ſuch Diverſity as they do, is occaſioned by this: The 365 Days being divided into Weeks, make 52 Weeks, and One Day. Now, that odd Day breeds ſuch an Irregularity, as will not be evened, but only in Seven Years: But when, beſides this odd Day every Year, there is a New Day pricked in, in the Biſſextile; viz. every Fourth Year; this makes the Irregularity ſtill greater, ſo as not to be evened but only in 4 times 7, that is, 28 Years; which is the Circle of the Dominical Letters, commonly called the Cycle of the Sun.

To

To find out the New Moon by the firſt Column in the Calendar.

FInd the Prime or Golden Number by Table I. then look in the firſt Column of the Month for that Number, and on the Day of the Month which ſtands over againſt it, falls the New Moon. As for Example. In the Year 1709. I would know when the New Moon happens in the Month of November. In Table I. I find that the Golden Number is 19. Then I look in the Month November, and find that 19 ſtands over-againſt the 20th Day of that Month; ſo that from thence I conclude that the Moon Changes, or that it is New Moon, that Day.

To find out the New Moon by the Second Column in the Calendar.

FInd the Prime or Golden Number by Table I. then look in the Second Column for that Number, and laſtly tell five Days backwards, and that Fifth Day ſo number'd backward is the Day of the New Moon. As for Example, I would know when the New Moon happens in the Month December, 1709. In Table I. I find the Golden Number 19.; now this in that Column ſtands over-againſt the 25th Day of the Month; therefore counting Five Days backwards, I come to the 20th Day of December, which is the Day of the New Moon.

Note, That this Rule will ſerve to find out the New Moon, by every ordinary Common-Prayer Book, wherein the Golden Numbers are ſet down right.

The Reaſon of the going Five Days backwards is this. Theſe Numbers were ſet down in the Calendar 13 Hundred Years ago, either at the Time, (or not very long after) in which the Council of Nice had ſettled the Obſervation of Eaſter, to be a Rule for the more certain knowing when that Feaſt was to be celebrated. Now, according to the Aſtronomy of that Time, they thought that the Motions of the Sun and the Moon became preciſely even in 19 Years; and that all the Months, which happened within that Time, would exactly meaſure out that Term of 19 Years, without any Fraction or Remainder; which was a Miſtake. For that Number of Months, or the Lunary Cycle, as it is called, is ſomething leſs than 19 Years, viz. about an Hour and an half. So that in the Courſe of leſs than 17 Cycles, or in 312 Years there is a whole Day loſt in this Account. As for Inſtance, In the Year 1710, which is the firſt Year of the Lunar Cycle, the New Moon in January falls upon the 18th Day of that Month; Three hundred and twelve Years before that; viz. 1398, the New Moon of Jan. was the 19th Day: In the Year 1086, it was Jan 20. In the Year 774 it was Jan. 21. In 462 it was Jan. 22. And about the Time of the Council of Nice, the New Moons were upon the 23d of January.

NOTES.

(1) Lucian.] Our Reformers (ſeeing the Inconvenience which was brought into the Church, by ſo great a Number of Holidays as were obſerved in the Time of Popery, to the great prejudice of Labouring and Trading Men; and alſo conſidering, that many of thoſe Saints were Men ſometimes of none of the Beſt Character; the Hiſtory whereof was likewiſe fabulous,) have thought fit, for the moſt part, to retain only thoſe Holidays, which were dedicated to our Saviour and his Apoſtles. But the Church conſidering, that there were ſome Feaſts dedicated to others, who were Perſons of Sanctity; and that thoſe Days were either Quarter-Days, for Payment of Rent, or were Days remarkable in the Courſe of the Law, or adapted to ſome other Secular Account; ſo that ſome Inconvenience would enſue, if they were totally omitted in the Calendar; ſhe has let ſome of them continue therein, tho' not with any regard of being kept Holy by the Church.

Lucian was a Learned Presbyter of Antioch. He was well-verſed in the Hebrew Tongue; and took a great deal of Pains in Comparing and Amending the Copies of the Bible; ſome of which, being extant in St. Jerom's Time, were called Lucianian Copies, from him. Hier. in Script. Eccl. And in another place he ſays, All the World was oblig'd to Three Great Editors of the Bible: Alexandria and Ægypt are beholden to Heſychius, for the Edition of their Septuagint: Conſtantinople, as far as Antioch, approve of the Copies of Lucian: But the Middle Provinces between theſe, read the Paleſtine Books, which Origen having taken ſo much Pains with, were publiſhed by Euſebius and Pamphilus. Hieron. Ep. 107. & Ap. adverſ. Ruff. He, in his Writings againſt the Sabellians, let fall ſome Expreſſions which favoured the Arian Doctrine; but Athanaſius in his Synopſis defends him from this. Of his Martyrdom, this is recorded by Euſebius. Lucian, a Presbyter of the Church of Antioch; a Man, as Excellent in all Chriſtian Graces, ſo particularly for Abſtinence; being long exerciſed in the Sacred Diſcipline, he was brought to the City of the Nicomedians, when the Emperor [Maximinianus Galerius] was there; he having recited an Apology for the Chriſtian Religion, which he had compoſed, before the Governor of the City, was caſt into Priſon, and was killed there. Euſeb. Hiſt. Eccl. Lib. IX. Cap. 5. Metaphraſtes, and other Martyrologiſts, make mention of ſeveral moſt incredible Tortures he underwent; Of his making uſe of his Breaſt for a Communion-Table, to offer the Euchariſt, when he was upon the Rack, &c. for the Particulars of which, the Reader may go to him, and Surius.

(2) Hilary.] Hilary was Biſhop of Poictiers, a great Champion of the Orthodox Doctrine againſt the Arians; for which he was perſecuted by that Party, and baniſhed into Phrygia, about the Year 356. Whilſt he was threatned with Baniſhment, he was not deterr'd from writing his Learned Book of the Trinity. Four Years after, he was ſent for, to be preſent in the Synod of Seleucia; where he bravely defended the Orthodox Faith. The Arians fearing ſo powerful an Adverſary, got him to be ſent back into France. Where he had another Controverſy with Auxentius, a ſecret Arian; who having many Friends to back him, got Hilary to be baniſhed again. After much Pains taken in this Controverſy, and many Troubles underwent, he died A. D. 367.

(3) Priſca.] She was a Roman Lady, early Converted to Chriſtianity under Claudius; but being commanded to abjure her Religion, and to offer Sacrifice; ſhe refuſing it, was horribly tortured, and afterwards beheaded. Pet. Nat. L. II. C. 96.

(4) Fabian.] He was Biſhop of Rome about 14 Years; from the Year of Chriſt 239, to the Year 253; and ſuffer'd Martyrdom under Decius. His Martyrdom is mentioned by the Letter of the Roman Clergy in S. Cyprian; by Epiphanius, de Menſur. & Pond. Hier. de Script. Eccl.

(5) Agnes.] She was a Young Woman, who ſuffered Martyrdom under the Decian Perſecution. She was, as St. Ambroſe and Prudentius relate, by the wicked Cruelty of the Judge, condemned to be debauched in a publick Stews, before her Execution; but was miraculouſly preſerved from the Embraces of thoſe who were ſent on that Lewd Errand, by Lightning and Thunder ſent from Heaven. She underwent her Execution with wonderful Readineſs; and tho' the Executioner hack'd and hew'd her Tender Body moſt unmercifully with his Sword, ſhe bore it with incredible Conſtancy, ſinging Hymns all the time. The Noble Patience of this young Maid, being then but 13 or 14 Years old, gave Occaſion to the Ancient Chriſtians to Exerciſe their Eloquence, both in Verſe and Proſe; and particularly to Prudentius, to write his fine Copy of Verſes, entituled, Paſſio Agnetis Virginis: In which he inſerts this Hiſtory.

Aiunt jugali vix habilem toro,
Primos in annis fortè Puellulam
Chriſto calentem, &c.

For Nuptial Bed yet hardly fit,
She only felt a Pious Heat,
In Love with Chriſt, &c.

She is mentioned by S. Jerom, Ep. 8. ad Demetriadem. S. Auſtin likewiſe ſpeaks of her, Virgo quæ vocabatur erat Agnes, Latinè Agnam ſignificat, Græcè Caſtam. Serm. 101. de Diverſ. She had a Church dedicated to her Honour in Rome; in which Gregory the Great ſpoke his Eleventh and Twelfth Homily.

(6) Vincent.] This Perſon was a Deacon of the Church in Spain: He was born at Oſcard, now Huezza, a Town in the Kingdom of Arragon. He was inſtructed in Divinity by Valerius, Biſhop of Saragoſa; but by reaſon of an Impediment in his Speech, he never took on him the Office of Preaching. He ſuffer'd Martyrdom in the Dioclefian Perſecution, undergoing moſt Terrible Tortures: As, being laid all along upon hot Coals; and, after his Body was broiled there, being thrown upon Heaps of broken Tiles; as the Martyrologies relate. Pet Nat. Lib. II. Caſ. Prudentius mentions him among the Caſar-Auguſtan Martyrs. Hymn. IV. S. Auſtin made Four Tractates upon him; and Leo the Great, a Sermon on his Memory.

NOTES.

(7) Agatha.] She was honourably born in Sicily; and, in the Perſecution under Decius the Emperor, ſuffer'd Martyrdom at Catanea. The Hiſtory, which we have of her in the Acts of the Martyrs, is this. She being famous for her Beauty as well as Vertue, Quintianus, the Governor of the Province, who was ſtiled the Prætor, was enamour'd of her. But not being able to work his Ill Deſign upon her, he deals with one Aphrodiſia, a Lewd Woman, to debauch her Principles: But this Stratagem not ſucceeding, he afterwards attacks her himſelf; telling her, That it was a ſhame, that a Perſon ſo honourably deſcended, ſhould embrace ſuch a Slaviſh Religion. Agatha replies, That the Chriſtian Servitude and Humility were more honourable, than the Wealth and Pride of Kings. At this, the Prætor being enraged, forces her to take her Option, Whether ſhe would worſhip the Heathen Gods, or undergo the Tortures? But ſhe continuing conſtant in the Faith; being firſt ſcourged, is commanded to Priſon; and ſtill perſiſting in her Conſtancy, is put upon the Rack, and alſo burnt with hot Irons; and after that, has her Breaſt cut off. At which Wound being given her, ſhe cries out to Quintianus; Art not thou aſhamed, Cruel Tyrant, to cut off that in a Woman, which thou didſt ſuck in thy Mother? Being remanded back to Priſon, ſhe had ſeveral Divine Comforts afforded her. At that time, Two Walls falling down, beat out the Brains of Silvinus and Falconius, Two of the Prætor's Servants. The Prætor ſending for her again, now half-dead, ſhe thus prayed to God; O Lord, who haſt kept me from my Infancy, and haſt preſerved me alive after the Tortures of the Executioner; Receive my Soul. And with theſe Words ſhe expired, it being the 5th of February. Brev. Rom. Sar. Her Martyrdom happen'd in the Third Conſulſhip of Decius; which, according to Onuphrius his Faſti, was in the Year of Chriſt 252. The Greeks, in their Menologies, place her Martyrdom upon the ſame Day as we do in our Calendar. She is ſeveral times mentioned in the Hymns of Fortunatus. Carm. de Gaudiis Vitæ Æternæ. Carm. de Virginitate. She had a Church in Rome, in the Suburra, dedicated to her Honour. This being poſſeſs'd by the Arians, was reſtored to the Uſe of the Catholicks, by Gregory the Great. Lib. III. Dial. Cap. 30.

(8) Valentine.] Valentinus was an Ancient Presbyter of the Church, and enrolled among the Martyrs, ſuffering Martyrdom under Claudius. But the Legendary Writers tell us, That, being deliver'd into Cuſtody to one Aſterius, he having a Blind Daughter, ſhe was Cured by him; who, with his Family, upon that Miracle, turned Chriſtians, and ſuffer'd for their Religion. Valentine, after a Year's Impriſonment at Rome, was Beheaded in the Flaminian Way. He was Celebrated as a Saint very anciently; his Day being eſtabliſhed before Gregory the Great's Time; by whom he is mentioned in his Sacramentary.

NOTES.

(9) David.] He was a Perſon deſcended from the Royal Family of the Britains, being Uncle to the Great King Arthur. He was Biſhop of Menevia in Wales, called afterwards from him St. Davids. He held a Synod againſt the Pelagians; and removed the Biſhop's Seat from Caerleon, to the Place where it is now. He ſeems to have been a very Conſiderable Man in his time, which was about the Year of Chriſt, 519; but the Monks have filled his Life with ſo much Legendary Stuff, as would make one ſick to read it.

(10) Ced, or Chad.] Ced and Chad were not One, but Two Perſons, both Saxons, and Brothers; who lived about the Year 660. Ced, the Elder Brother, was Biſhop of London, and a very active Promoter of Chriſtianity among the Eaſt-Saxons. Chad, the Younger Brother, who was conſiderably the longer Liver, was Biſhop of Litchfield; remarkable for Converting Wilfhere, King of Mercia. The Story of whoſe Cruelty in Killing his Sons, and the Particulars of his Converſion, were, before the Wars, painted in Peterborough Church-Windows, (which Monaſtery he built) with Old Engliſh Poetry under it; Two Verſes of which are preſerved in Fuller.

Wulfad pnd Chad that Ghoſtly Leach

(11) Perpetua.] She was a Perſon of Quality, who ſuffered Martyrdom in Mauritania, under Severus, about the Year of Chriſt, 205. One Felicitas, a Young Woman of Diſtinction, likewiſe (as alſo Revocatus, Satyrus, Saturinus) ſuffered Martyrdom with her. Tertullian ſpeaks of her, Quemodo Perpetua fortiſſima Martyr, &c. How did Perpetua, that Valiant Martyreſs, ſee only her Fellow-Martyrs, &c. Tertul. de An. C. 55. The Anniverſary of her Martyrdom was ſettled into an Holiday, in St. Auſtin's Time. Ante paucos dies Natalitia celebravimus Martyrum Perpetuæ, Felicitatis, & Comitum: A few days ago, we celebrated the Birth-day (i. e. Martyrdoms) of Perpetua, Fœlicitas, and their Fellow-Martyrs. Aug. de Temp. Barbar. Cap. 5. Where he remarks of theſe Two Female Martyrs, That at the time they ſuffer'd, Perpetua gave Suck to a young Child, and Felicitas Lay in.

(12) Gregory.] This was Gregory ſirnamed the Great, Biſhop of Rome. He was deſcended of Noble Parents. His Grandfather was Pope Felix II. and he was Son of Gordianus and Sylvia. He very early addicted himſelf to Study and Piety; giving all his Eſtate to Building and Maintaining Religious Houſes. In the Year 582, he was Ordained Deacon by Pope Pelagius; who ſent him in nature of a Surrogate to Conſtantinople, where he confuted Eutychius the Patriarch, in a Diſpute concerning the Aerial Nature of the Reſurrection-Body. He was conſecrated Pope about the Year 590. He vigorouſly oppoſed the Title of Univerſal Biſhop, which the Biſhops of Conſtantinople had aſſumed; calling it Blaſphemous, Antichriſtian, and Diabolical; tho' his Succeſſors in that See have been of a different Opinion. He ſent Auſtin the Monk, with 40 other Miſſionaries, into England, to Convert the Saxons; they having teſtified their Deſire to embrace Chriſtianity; whoſe Holy Endeavours were bleſſed with wonderful Effect. He held the Popedom 14 Years, dying about the Year 604: Having been the Author of many Learned Books which are continued to us. His moſt Valuable Piece is his Sacramentary; becauſe it contains many of the Ancient Prayers of the Church.

(13) Edward.] He was deſcended from the Weſt-Saxon Kings, and the Son of King Edgar, who firſt reduced the Heptarchy into One Kingdom. His Mother was Ethelfleda, Edgar's firſt Wife. But Edgar was afterwards married to Elfrida, the Wife of Earl Ethelwold, who betray'd her Husband to be murthered by that King, to enjoy the Honour of the Royal Bed. After Edgar's Death, A. D. 975, this Edward ſucceeding to the Crown at Twelve Years of Age, enjoy'd it not above Two or Three Years; when paying a Viſit to his Mother-in-Law, whilſt he was drinking a Cup of Wine, which was preſented to him at her Houſe, viz. Corfe-Caſtle in Dorſetſhire, he was, by Order of this Wicked Woman, ſtabbed in the Back; to make way for the Succeſſion of her Son Etheldred, his Half-Brother. His Favour to the Monks, made his Barbarous Murther to be eſteemed a Martyrdom, and to be placed in the Calendar as ſuch.

(14) Benedict.] He was born at Norcia, a Town in Italy, of an Honourable Family: Being much given to Devotion and Mortification, he ſet up an Order of Monks, which bears his Name, about the Year 529; firſt at Sallago, in the Confines of Naples, and afterwards at Monte Caſini. After his Death, his Order was ſplit into many other Subordinate ones; the Cluniacenſes, Camaldunenſes, Grandimontenſes, &c. Many Miracles are aſcribed to him by the Monks of his Order, and great Mortifications; as particularly, his Rolling himſelf in a Heap of Briars, to check ſome Carnal Deſires which he found in himſelf. Gregory tells a Notable Miracle wrought upon his Account, which is equal to any thing related by his Followers. Being a Monk in Campania, the Goths, when they invaded Italy under Totila, came to burn his Cell: Which having ſet on fire, it burnt round Benedict in a Circle, but did not in the leaſt hurt the Saint. This ſerved but to enrage the Goths, and provoke them to a greater Cruelty: Who carrying him afterwards to an Oven, which was heated for Baking Bread, threw Benedict into it, and ſtopped it cloſe up: Coming the next day, they found Benedict ſafe and ſound; neither his Fleſh ſcorched, nor his Cloaths ſinged. Greg. Dial. Lib. III.

NOTES.

(15) Richard. ] He was Biſhop of Chicheſter, in the time of Henry III. He roſe from a very Poor Beginning; and was forced to maintain himſelf by Manual Labour, before he went to ſtudy at Oxford. Where having laid his firſt Foundation of Literature, he went and ſtudied the Canon-Law at Bononia. From whence coming back, and being famous for Learning and Piety, the Two Greateſt Prelates of the Kingdom, Edmund A. B. of Canterbury, and Robert Groſthead, Biſhop of Lincoln, were at ſtrife, who ſhould have him for his Chancellor. But our Saint choſe rather to ſerve the Archbiſhop. What determined his Choice, is not ſaid: To be ſure the Archbiſhop was the better Patron, and more in Favour with the Pope, than the Biſhop of Lincoln was. When Edmund, the Archbiſhop, died, he left or loſt his Chancellor's Place, and became a Monk at Orleans in France. In the Vacancy of the See of Chicheſter, he was choſen Biſhop by the Chapter: Which the King oppoſing, he having nominated another to them; He appealed to Rome, and had his Election confirmed by the Pope. He was a violent Oppoſer of the Married Clergy. Strange Miracles are told of him; As that by his Benediction, he increaſed a ſingle Loaf of Bread, to fill 7000 Poor People's Bellies: And that in his Extreme Old Age, Celebrating the Euchariſt in the Church; he fell down with the Chalice in his Hand, the Wine being miraculouſly preſerved from falling on the Ground. He got the Name of a Confeſſor, only for ſtickling for the Pope, and Oppoſing his Prince; which was Ground for the Monkiſh Writers to allow him that Title.

(16) S. Ambroſe. ] This famous Father of the Church was born about the Year 340: His Father was Prætorian Præfect of Gaul, in whoſe Palace St. Ambroſe was educated. 'Tis reported, That in his Infancy a Swarm of Bees ſettled upon his Cradle; which was a Propheſication, as was ſuppoſed, of his future Eloquence. After his Father's Death, he came with his Mother to Rome, where he ſtudied the Laws, practiſed as an Advocate, and was made Governor of Milan and the Neighbouring Cities. Upon the Death of Auxentius, Biſhop of Milan there being a great Conteſt in the Election, the Governor, in an Excellent Speech, exhorted them to Peace and Unanimity. Whereupon the People neglecting the Competitors, which they were ſo zealous for before, unanimouſly declared for Ambroſe their Governor, to be their Biſhop likewiſe. Which he endeavouring by Flight, and many other Artifices to avoid, was at laſt compelled to yield to the People's Importunities, and was Conſecrated Biſhop. He gave all the Money he was Maſter of immediately to Pious Uſes; and ſettled the Reverſion of his Eſtate upon the Church. He governed that Church with great Piety and Vigilance for more than Twenty Years; and died in the Year 396, being then 57 Years of Age.

(17) Alphege. ] He was Biſhop of Canterbury, in time of Ethelred, King of the Saxons. A Maſſacre being made of the Danes, in a Church at Oxford, whither they had fled for Shelter after a Defeat by the Saxons; they were, by Order of Ethelred, burned therein: The Danes, by way of Repriſal, fell upon Canterbury with Fire and Sword, A. D. 1011. wherein they killed Eight Thouſand People; and among theſe, Ealphegus, or Alphege, the Archbiſhop; who was thereupon Canonized for a Saint and Martyr.

(18) S. George. ] He was born in Coppadocia, and was a Colonel in Dioclefian's Army; ſuffering under him for the ſake of Religion. Niceph. Caliſt. Lib. VII. Cap. 15. The Legends relate ſeveral ſtrange Stories of him; which are ſo common, they need not here be related. It is moſt probable, that this Saint being found in the Roman Calendar, many fooliſh and ſuperſtitious Stories were grafted into the Hiſtory of his Life. There was a ſtrange Miracle attributed to him, during the Holy Wars, which made him extraordinarily famous, among the Bigotted Princes of thoſe Times. For, when Robert Duke of Normandy, Son to William the Conqueror, was proſecuting his Victories againſt the Turks, and laying Siege to the famous City of Antioch, which was like to be Relieved by a mighty Army of the Saracens; St. George appeared with an innumerable Army, coming down from the Hills all in white, and a Red Croſs for his Banner, to Reinforce the Chriſtians; Which occaſioned the Infidel Army to fly, and the Chriſtians to poſſeſs themſelves of the Town. Rob. Monach. de Chriſt. Princ. Bell. This Story made George extraordinarily famous in thoſe Times; and to be eſteemed as a Patron, not only of the Engliſh, but of Chriſtianity itſelf. Not but that George was a Conſiderable Saint before this; for Juſtinian the Emperor, in his Time, dedicated a Church to his Memory. Proc. Lib. I. de Ædif. Juſtin. And Gregory, in his Sacramentary, has a Special Preface upon his Day.

NOTES.

(19) Invention of the Croſs. ] This odd ſort of Holiday is of great Eſteem in the Roman Church. I call it an odd one; for it would be eſtabliſhed upon very frivolous Grounds, if the Matter of Fact were really true, as is reported: But there are great Reaſons to ſuſpect the Truth of that Relation. The common Story is this: That Helena, the Mother of Conſtantine, being admoniſhed by a Dream, to ſearch for the Croſs of Chriſt at Jeruſalem; thither ſhe went, and employs Labourers to dig at Golgotha: Who, after opening the Ground very deep, (vaſt Heaps of Rubbiſh being thrown there on purpoſe, by the Spiteful Jews, or Heathen;) they find Three Croſſes; viz. That of our Saviour, and the Two other of the Thieves which were Crucified with him. But Authors are at a Loſs to account for how it came to be known, which was our Saviour's Croſs. Paulinus, Ep. XI. Severus, Hiſt. Lib. II. give this Account: That theſe Croſſes being applied to a Dead Carcaſe, Two of them had no effect, but the Third raiſed it to Life. Socrates tells the ſame Story, of its being applied to a Woman, not Dead, but Dying; and that ſhe recover'd. But Euſebius, who muſt underſtand theſe Matters better than any, as being ſo intimate in the Emperor's Family; in his Life of Conſtantine, Lib. III. Cap. 28. ſpeaking of the Diſcovery of the Sepulchre, mentions not a Word of the Croſs. And, tho' it appears in Euſebius's Chronicon; yet, being put there in a wrong Year, it could not be written by Euſebius himſelf, but by ſome Interpolator: For Euſebius being ſo good a Chronicler for former Ages, could not be miſtaken in the Chronology of his own Time. The Story ſeems to be invented about the Time of S. Ambroſe; who tells it much as before related; but only, inſtead of the Dead Body being raiſed, to know our Saviour's Croſs by, he ſays, the Old Inſcription, JESUS NAZ. &c. was remaining upon it. This Humour ſo mightily took the Chriſtian World at that time, that every one was for getting a piece of the Croſs; inſomuch that, in Paulinus's Time, (who being Scholar to St. Ambroſe, and Biſhop of Nola, flouriſhed about the Year 420) there was much more of Relicts of the Croſs, than ever there was of the Original Wood: Wherefore that Father ſays, It was miraculouſly increaſed. Innumeris quotidiè hominum votis Lignum ſuum commodat, ut detrimenta non ſentiat: It very kindly affords Wood to Mens importunate Deſires, without any Loſs of its Subſtance.

(20) S. John Evang. ante Port. Lat. ] This Holiday was inſtituted, in Memory of St. John's Miraculous Deliverance from the Furnace of Boiling Oil, which he was thrown into at Rome, and eſcaped therefrom ſafe. Which Hiſtory is related by Tertullian, De Præſcr. Cap. 36. and S. Jerom, in Mat. XX. This happening near the Porta Latina, one of the Gates of the City, gave the Name to this Feſtival.

(21) Dunſtan. ] He was well extracted, having Elphegus, Biſhop of Wincheſter, and Athelm, Archbiſhop of Canterbury, his Uncles; and King Athelſtan himſelf his Kinſman. He was well-skilled in Painting, Graving, Muſick, Refining Metals, and Forging them; Qualifications much above the Genius of that Age; which made him firſt be reputed for a Conjurer, and afterwards for a great Saint. He was certainly an Honeſt Man; for he reproved the Vices of Princes in his Time handſomely, as became his Station; being Confeſſor to Edred, Edwin, Edgar, Edward, ſucceſſively, Kings of the W. Saxons; and being many Years Archbiſhop of Canterbury. King Edward leaving him Guardian to his Son Edward, he ſettled him on the Throne, notwithſtanding the Power of a Faction againſt him, which would have him Illegitimate; and would have brought in the Son of his wicked Stepmother Elfrida. The Monks have filled his Life with a parcel of fooliſh Stories: Of his making himſelf a Bell at Glaſenbury, all of Iron, at his own Forge; Of his Harp playing itſelf, without a Hand; Of a She-Devil, who came in Shape of a Fine Lady, to tempt him; whom he, without Ceremony, took by the Noſe with his red-hot Tongs, and made her run Roaring throughout all the Neighbourhood. But theſe ſilly Folks have made the Characters of many very Conſiderable Men ridiculous, by their Nonſenſical Lies.

(22) Auguſtine. ] This was he, who was ſent by Gregory, Biſhop of Rome, to Convert the Saxons; and hence he got the Name of the Apoſtle of the Engliſh. He was made Biſhop of Canterbury, A. D. 596. He had a Conteſt with the Monks of Bangor, about Submiſſion to the See of Rome; who refuſed any Subjection, but to God, and the Biſhop of Caerleon. Soon after this Difference, Ethelfride, a Pagan King of Northumberland, invaded Wales, and ſlaughter'd 150 of theſe Monks, who came in a quiet manner, to Mediate a Peace. Some Hiſtorians have imputed the Maſſacre to the Inſtigation of Auſtin, in Revenge for their Oppoſition to him; but there does not appear to be ſufficient Ground for that Imputation.

(23) Bede. ] He was born at Yarrow in Northumberland, A. D. 673, and afterwards well-educated in Greek and Latin Studies; which he made a Proficiency in, beyond moſt, or any of his Age. He is the Author of ſeveral Learned Philoſophical and Mathematical Tracts, as alſo Comments on Scripture: But his moſt Valuable Piece is his Little Hiſtory of the Saxons. Being a Monk, he ſtudied in his Cell; where ſpending more Hours, and much better, than the Monks are wont to do, a Report was raiſed, that he never went out thereof: However, he would not leave it for Preferment at Rome, which the Pope invited him often to. His Learning and Piety gained him the Sirname of Venerable. Tho' the common Story which goes, concerning this Title being given him, is this. His Scholars having a mind to fix a Rhiming Epitaph upon his Tomb-ſtone, as was the Cuſtom of thoſe Times; The Poet wrote, HAC SUNT IN FOSSA BEDÆ; placing the Word OSSA at the latter end of the Verſe, for the Rhime; but could not, for his Life, find a Title for Bede, that would ſtand in the Verſe: For, trying the Words Sancti, and Presbyteri, and all the Words which he could think of; he could not find any one which would fall in, to make up the Verſe; ſo that the Monk having tired his Thoughts in this Perplexity to no purpoſe, fairly falls aſleep: But when he awaked, he found his Verſe filled up by an Angelick Hand; and ſtood thus, in fair Letters, upon the Tomb.

HAC SUNT IN FOSSA
BEDÆ VENERABILIS OSSA.

(24) Nicomede,] Was Scholar to St. Peter. He appeared to be a Chriſtian, for his honourable Burying one Felicula, a Martyr. He was beat to Death with Leaden Plummets, in Domition's Reign. Pet. de Nat. Lib. VIII. Cap. 82. Mart. Rom. Sept. 15.

(25) Boniface.] He was a Saxon Presbyter, born in England, and at firſt called Winfrid. He was ſent a Miſſionary by Pope Gregory II. into Germany, where he Converted ſeveral Countries: Hence he got the Name of the Apoſtle of Germany. He was made Biſhop of Mentz, in the Year of Chriſt 745. He was one of the moſt Conſiderable Men of his Time; moſt Eccleſiaſtical Matters of that Age going through his Hands, as appears by his Letters; and was alſo a great Friend and Admirer of Bede. He, carrying on his Converſions in Friſia, was killed by the Barbarous People, near Utrecht, A. D. 755.

(26) S. Alban.] He was the firſt Chriſtian Martyr in this Iſland. He was inſtituted in the Chriſtian Religion by one Amphibalus, a Prieſt of Caerleon in Wales; who, flying from Perſecution into England, was hoſpitably entertained by Albanus, a Gentleman who then lived at Verulam, now called from him St. Albans. By this Amphibalus he was Converted to Chriſtianity; being a Pagan before. But ſtrict Search being made for Amphibalus, Albanus could entertain him ſafe no longer; therefore by changing Cloaths with him, he procured him an Opportunity of Eſcaping. This being known, expoſed Albanus to the Fury of the Pagans; who ſummoning him to do Sacrifice to their Gods, and he refuſing; they, after having cruelly tormented him, killed him. The Monks have interlarded his Life and Death with a great many Miracles; which it is not worth while here to relate. Vid. Bede's Hiſt.

NOTES.

(28) Viſitation.] About the Year 1338, there was a Terrible Schiſm which aroſe in the Church of Rome, between Two Antipopes, Urban VI. and Clement VII.; the firſt choſen by the Italian, the latter by the French Faction, among the Cardinals. Upon this, ſeveral great Diſorders happen'd; which to avert for the future, Pope Urban ſets up this New Feſtival, to obtain thereby the Interceſſion of the Bleſſed Virgin, for the Removal of thoſe Evils. The ſame Feſtival was confirmed by Decree of Boniface IX. But notwithſtanding this, it was not univerſally obſerved until the Council of Baſil; by Decree of which Council, Seſſ. XLIII. Jul. 1. 1441, it was ordered, That this Holiday, called the Viſitation, &c. be Celebrated in all Chriſtian Churches; That ſhe being honoured with this Solemnity, might reconcile her Son by her Interceſſion, who is now angry for the Sins of Men; and that ſhe might afford Peace and Unity among the Faithful.

(29) Tranſlation of S. Martin.] This Saint was born in Pannonia; but ſome time living the Life of a Soldier, he at laſt took Orders, and was made Biſhop of Tours in France. He was very diligent in Breaking down the Heathen-Images and Altars, which were ſtanding in his Time. He was 26 Years Biſhop, and died in the Year 400. The French had formerly ſuch an Eſteem for his Memory, that they carried his Helmet with them in their Wars; either as an Enſign, to encourage them to Bravery and Courage, or rather as a ſort of Charm, to procure them Victory when they wanted it. His Feaſt-Day is Celebrated November the 11th in the Romiſh Church. The preſent Day is the Day of his Tranſlation, or the Removing of his Body: For Perpetuus, Biſhop of Tours, removed his Body from its former Burying-Place, which was mean, unto a Noble Tomb, A. D. 482; getting Sidonius Apollinaris to write the Epitaph; as he tells us, Sid. Lib. IV. Ep. 31. It begins thus:

Martini Corpus totis venerabile terris,
In quo poſt vitæ tempora vivit honor.
Texerat hic primum plebeio machina cultu,
Quæ Confeſſori non erat æqua ſuo, &c.

(30) Swithun.] He was firſt a Monk, and afterwards promoted to be Prior of the Convent in Wincheſter. Upon the Death of Helinſtan, Biſhop of that See, by the Favour of King Ethelwolph, he was promoted to ſucceed him in that Biſhoprick, A. D. 852, and continued in it 11 Years, till his Death. He would not be buried within the Church, as the Biſhops then generally were, but in the Cemetery. Many Miracles being reported to be done at his Grave, there was a Chappel built over it: And a Solemn Tranſlation made in Honour of him; which, in the Popiſh Times, was this Day celebrated. Vid. Tho. Rudborn Hiſt. Maj. Wint. in Mr. Wharton's Angl. Sacra.

(31) S. Margaret.] Margaret was born at Antioch, and Daughter of an Heathen-Prieſt. Olybrius, Preſident of the Eaſt under the Romans, had an Inclination to marry her; but finding ſhe was a Chriſtian, he reſpited it, till he could perſwade her to leave her Religion. Which ſhe abſolutely refuſing, this Love turned into Hatred and Cruelty to her; putting her to divers unmerciful Tortures, at laſt he cut off her Head. She has the ſame Office among the Papiſts, as Lucina had among the Heathens; viz. To aſſiſt Women in their Childbirth; and ſhe does not want her Votaries among thoſe of that Religion. Her Holiday ſeems to be pretty Ancient; for her Name is mentioned in the Ordo Romanus, and in the Council of Oxford. Vida and Mantuan have Celebrated her Martyrdom in Verſe. The Grecks, in their Menologies, record her under the Name of Marina.

(32) Mary Magdalen.] The Hiſtory of this Pious Penitent is ſufficiently known from the Goſpels.

(33) S. Anne.] She was the Mother of the Virgin Mary, and the Wife of Joachim her Father. An Ancient Piece of this Sacred Genealogy, ſet down formerly by Hippolytus the Martyr, is preſerved in Nicephorus, Lib II. Cap 3. There were Three Siſters of Bethlehem, Daughters of Matthan the Prieſt, and Mary his Wife; under the Reigns of Cleopatra and Caſopares, K of Perſia, before the Reign of Herod, the Son of Antipater. The Eldeſt was Mary; the Second was Sobe; the Youngeſt's Name was Anne. The Eldeſt being married in Bethlehem, had for her Daughter Salome the Midwife: Sobe, the Second, likewiſe married in Bethlehem, and was the Mother of Elizabeth. Laſt of all, the Third married in Galilee; and brought forth Mary, the Mother of Chriſt.

NOTES.

(34) Lammas-day.] There are various Accounts of the Original of this Holiday in the Roman Church. They call it, The Feaſt of St. Peter in the Fetters; being a Commemoration of St. Peter's Impriſonment, Act. XII. But the moſt common Reaſon they give of its Inſtitution, is this. Eudoxia, Wife to Theodoſius the Emperor, in her Journey to Jeruſalem, whilſt ſhe ſtay'd at Alexandria, ſaw the People Celebrating the Firſt of Auguſt, in Memory of Auguſtus Caſar; which had been kept ever ſince the End of his War with Antony and Cleopatra; he being that Day ſaluted Auguſtus, and the Month having changed its Name from Sextilis to Auguſt. But being come to Jeruſalem, ſhe was preſented with the Great Iron-Fetters, which St. Peter was loaded with in Priſon; which ſhe ſent as a Preſent to the Pope. Theodoſius, her Husband, built a Church in Honour of St. Peter, where theſe Fetters were laid up. And, upon the Motion of the Empreſs, who thought it not reaſonable, that a Holy-Day ſhould be kept in memory of a Heathen Prince, which would better become that of a Godly Martyr; Theodoſius paſſed a Decree, for this Feſtival to be obſerved upon that Day. Durand. de Div. Off. Polydor. Virg.

'Twas called Lammas, from a fond Conceit the Popiſh People had, That Peter was Patron of the Lambs; from our Saviour's Words to him, Feed my Lambs: They thinking likewiſe that the Maſs of this Day was very beneficial, to make their Lambs thrive.

(35) Tranſfiguration.] This Feaſt was introduced about the latter end of the Sixth Century; for Damaſcen and Coſmas wrote Hymns about this time, to be ſung upon it. Tho' it does not ſeem to be univerſally received, till a long while after: For Potho, Biſhop of Prum, who lived about the Year 1150, does not acknowledge this Holiday; and condemns the Introducers of it of Novelty. But in the Year 1455, Pope Calixtus paſſed a Decree, for the Univerſal Obſervation thereof; encouraging it, by Indulgences to the Obſervers of it. Sabell. Ennead. 10. Lib. VI. But probably, this Holiday was older than this; it being mentioned not only in Photius's Nomocanon, but by Wandelbertus in Trithemius, who lived under Lotharius, A D. 850. and there being a Sermon in S. Ephrem upon this Occaſion; it makes it probable, that it was a Holiday in the Eaſt in his Time.

(36) Name of Jeſus.] The Saint who was Celebrated this Day, before the Reformation, was Afra, a Courtezan of Crete; who being Converted to Chriſtianity by Narciſſus, Biſhop of Jeruſalem, ſuffer'd Martyrdom; and the Breviary was recognized by Paul V. Donatus, who ſuffer'd Martyrdom under Julian, for refuſing to Sacrifice, was ſubſtituted in her room. Our Reformers choſe to Dedicate this Day to the Name of our Bleſſed Lord.

(37) S. Laurence.] St Laurence was by Birth a Spaniard, and Treaſurer of the Church of Rome; of whom St. Ambroſe, in his Book of Offices, gives us this Hiſtory. When he ſaw Sextus, his Biſhop, led to Martyrdom, he cried out, Where do you go, Father, without your Son? With that, Sextus bid him diligently look after the Treaſures of the Church. The Emperor then commanded, that Laurence ſhould be taken up. And when the Guards urged him to deliver up the Treaſures in his Poſſeſſion to the Emperor; he deſired Three Days time to gather them up. And then he gathered together all the Poor and Sick People which he could meet with, and ſhewing theſe to the Guards, he ſaid, Theſe are the Treaſures of the Church, upon whom whoſoever lays any thing out, it is not loſt, but is reſtored to him with Uſury. The hungry Creatures ſeeing their Appetites ſo baulked, laid Laurence upon a Gridiron over the Coals; and when he was there, he ſaid, He was rather comforted than tormented: Roaſt the other Side now, for this is enough. At laſt, commending his Soul to God, he expired, Aug 27. A. D 254. His Martyrdom is recorded by Prudentius, in an Hymn upon him; by S. Ambroſe, Off. Lib. I. Cap. 41. Lib II Cap. 28. By S. Auſtin, in Joh. Tract. 27. Serm. 3. de Sanct. The Empreſs Pulcheria built a Temple to his Honour; which was rebuilt, or enlarged by Juſtinian. Procop. Lib I. de Ædif. Juſt. Imp. Here was the Gridiron, on which he ſuffered, placed; which was famous for many Miracles, if we may credit Gregory the Great, in Regiſt. Ep. Lib. II. Epiſt 33. who was too Credulous much to be relied on, in relation of ſuch kind of Stories.

(38) S. Auguſtine.] He was born at Togaſte, a Town of Numidia in Africa, in the Year 354. He was bred up at firſt only to Latin Letters; and read, for ſome time, only Poetry and Plays. Afterwards he ſtudied Rhetorick and Philoſophy; being Profeſſor of the firſt of theſe at Rome, and after that at Milan. Here St. Ambroſe inſtructed him in Divinity; and ſet him right, as to ſome wrong Notions which he had imbib'd. He returned into Africa about the Year 388; and Three Years after was choſen Biſhop of Hippo. He was a Great and Judicious Divine, and the moſt Voluminous Writer of all the Fathers. His Writings againſt the Pelagians have great Strength; tho, in warmly purſuing thoſe Adverſaries, he has mixed too much of the Stoical Fatality with his Doctrines. He died in the Year 430, at 77 Years of Age.

(39) Beheading of John.] Honours were done to the Memory of this Saint very early in the Church, by reaſon of ſome Miraculous Cures, which were ſuppoſed to be done by his Reliques in the Fourth Century: For which Reaſon, Julian the Apoſtate ordered them to be burnt; but however ſome of them were privately reſerved. Durand. Rat. Lib. VII. His Head was found after this, in Valens the Emperor's Time; and being honourably wrapt in Purple, was repoſited, as a great Relique, in a Church at Conſtantinople. Soz. Lib. VII. Cap. 21. Durandus ſays, it was at firſt called Feſtum Collectionis S. Joh. Baptiſtæ, from the Gathering up of his Reliques; and afterwards, by Corruption, Feſtum Decollationis.

NOTES.

(40) Giles, or Ægidius] He was born at Athens, and came into France, A D. 715, having firſt ſold his Patrimony, to beſtow it in Charitable Uſes. He lived Two Years with Cæſarius, Biſhop of Arles; and afterwards took to an Hermetical Life. Charles Martel, as he was Hunting a Stag, found him in his Cell; and, pleaſed with his Sanctity, built an Abbey at Niſmes for his ſake, whereof he made him Abbot. He died, A.D. 795. Vid. Trithem. de Vir. Illuſtr.

(41) Eunrchus.] He is otherwiſe called Evortius, and was Biſhop of Orleans in France; being preſent at the Council of Valentia, which was held A. D. 375. The Monkiſh Writers tell ſtrange Stories of him: That, being ſent by the Church of Rome into France, upon account of the Redemption of Captives, at the time when the People of Orleans were in the Heat of an Election of a Biſhop, to ſucceed Deſiderius; a Dove lighted upon his Head, which he could not without great Difficulty drive away. This they taking for a Sign of his great Sanctity, had Thoughts of Chuſing him Biſhop: But before they would beſtow their Votes on him, they prayed, that the ſame Dove might light upon him again; that ſo it might not be looked on as a thing of Chance, but order'd by the ſpecial Direction of God. After Prayers, the Dove lighted upon him a ſecond time; and he was choſen Biſhop by the Unanimous Suffrages of all the City. He is reported to have quenched a Fire in the City, by his Prayers; To have directed the Digging of the Foundation of a Church, in ſuch a Place, where the Workmen found a Pot of Gold, almoſt ſufficient for the Defraying the Charge thereof; In Three Days time, to have Converted to Chriſtianity 7000 Pagans; To have predicted his own Death; and in a ſort of Prophetical manner, to have nominated Arianus for his Succeſſor. Sur. Tom. V.

(42) Nativity of the B. V. Mary.] There is an odd Story told, of the Original of this Holiday. About the Year 695, this Day was order'd to be Celebrated, by Pope Servius, on this Occaſion. A certain Man, whoſe Name we know not, heard a Conſort of Angels in the Air, ſolemnizing the Nativity of the Bleſſed Virgin, as being born that Night, which was the 8th of September. Durand. Rat. Lib. VII. Iſidorus de Off. Pope Innocent IV. honoured this Feaſt with an Octave, A. D. 1244. and Gregory XI. about the Year 1370, with a Vigil.

(43) Holy Croſs.] This Feſtival had its Beginning about the Year 615, on this Occaſion. Coſroes, King of Perſia, had made great Ravages in the Chriſtian World, by the Succeſs of his Arms; and having plunder'd Jeruſalem, took away a great Piece of the Croſs, which Helena had left there; and, at times of his Mirth, made ſport with that, and with the H. Trinity. Heraclius, the Emperor giving him Battel, defeated the Enemy, and recover'd the Croſs, bringing it back Triumphantly to Jeruſalem; where he found the Gates ſhut againſt him, and heard a Voice from Heaven, which told him, That the King of Kings did not enter into that City in ſo ſtately a manner; but meek and lowly, riding upon an Aſs. With that, the Emperor diſmounted from his Horſe; and went into the City, not only a-foot, but barefooted, carrying in the Wood of the Croſs himſelf. Niceph. Lib. VIII. Cap. 29. Durand. Rat. Lib. VII. This Honour, done to the Croſs, gave Riſe to this Feſtival.

(44) Lambert.] He was Biſhop of Utrecht, in the time of King Pepin I. whoſe Grandſon he reproving for his Lewd Amours, by the Contrivance of one of his Whores, he was murder'd. Being Canonized, he obtained at firſt only a ſimple Commemoration in the Calendar: But Robert, Biſhop of Leeds, in a General Chapter of the Ciſtertian Order, procured a Solemn Feaſt to his Honour, in the Church, A.D. 1240.

(45) S. Cyprian.] He was by Birth an African, of a Good Family and Education: Before his Converſion he taught Rhetorick; but was perſwaded to Chriſtianity by one Cælius, his Intimate Friend. He was elected Biſhop of Carthage, in the Place of Donatus, A.D. 248. He behaved himſelf with great Prudence and Courage, under the Decian Perſecution, perſwading the People to Conſtancy; which ſo enraged the Heathen, that they made Proclamation for his Diſcovery in the Open Theatre. He ſhew'd a great deal of Prudence in Adapting Church-Cenſures, upon the Lapſi, in this Perſecution; as likewiſe, in Deciding the Diſputes, raiſed by the Novatians and the Aquarij. Under Valerianus and Galerius, A. D. 261. he ſuffer'd Martyrdom; having foretold that Storm long before, and diſpoſed his Flock to bear it accordingly. The Cyprian in the Roman Calendar, who is celebrated this Day, is not S. Cyprian Archbiſhop of Carthage; but another Cyprian, of Antioch, who of a Conjurer was made a Chriſtian, and afterwards a Deacon, and a Martyr. He was in Love with one Juſtina, a Beautiful young Chriſtian: Whom trying, without Succeſs, to debauch; he conſulted the Devil upon the Matter; who frankly declared, he had no Power over Good Chriſtians. Cyprian, not pleaſed with this Anſwer of the Devil, was reſolved to quit his Service, and turn Chriſtian. For this Profeſſion, he and Juſtina were accuſed before the Heathen-Governor, called Eumolpius (or what you pleaſe) who condemned them to be fry'd in a Frying-pan, with Pitch and Fat, thereby to force them to renounce their Religion; which they with Conſtancy perſiſted in. After which, they were beheaded, and their Bodies thrown away Unburied. A kind Mariner took them up, and convey'd them to Rome; where they were depoſited in the Church of Conſtantine. This is the Story told of them in the Roman Breviary. In Feſt. Sept.

(46) S. Jerom.] He was born in a Town called Stridon, in the Confines of Pannonia and Dalmatia; which Town was afterwards deſtroyed by the Goths: His Father's Name was Euſebius. Being a Lad of pregnant Parts, he was ſent to Rome, to learn Rhetorick, under Donatus and Victorinus, Two famous Latin Criticks. There he got to be Secretary to Pope Damaſus; and was afterwards baptized. He ſtudied Divinity with the Principal Theologues of that Age; Greg Nazianzen, Epiphanius, and Didymus. And, to perfect his Qualifications this way, he learned the Hebrew Tongue from one Barraban, a Jew. He ſpent moſt of his Time in a Monaſtery at Bethlehem, in great Retirement, and hard Study; tranſlating the Bible here. His Style was elegant and ſmart, tho' mixed with too much Acrimony, when drawn againſt an Adverſary. His Love to a Monaſtick State, made him exalt Cœlibacy too high. He died in the Year 422, being Fourſcore Years old.

NOTES.

(47) Remigius.] He was born at Landen; where he kept himſelf ſo cloſe to his Studies, that he was ſuppoſed to have led a Monaſtick Life. After the Death of Bennadius, he was choſen Biſhop of Rhemes, for his extraordinary Learning and Piety. He Converted to Chriſtianity King Clodoveus, and good Part of his Kingdom; wherefore by ſome he is eſteemed the Apoſtle of France. After he had held his Biſhoprick 74 Years, he died, Aged 96, in the Year of Chriſt 535. The Cruiſe which he made uſe of, is preſerved in France to this day; and their Kings, at their Coronation, are wont to be anointed out of it.

(48) Faith.] She was a Young Woman, born at Pais de Gavre, in France. She ſuffer'd Martyrdom, and very Cruel Torments, under the Preſidentſhip of Dacianus.

(49) Denys, or Dionyſius the Areopagite.] He was Converted to Chriſtianity by St. Paul, as is recorded Acts XVII. He was one of the Judges of the famous Court of the Areopagus: And was afterwards Biſhop of Athens; as Dionyſius of Corinth witneſſeth in Euſebius; Hiſt. Lib. III. C. 4. and ſuffered Martyrdom in that City, as the moſt Ancient Martyrologiſts aſſert. The Books which go under his Name, were never known till the 6th Century, and ſeem plainly to be written about that Time. The Modern Writers of the Lives of the Saints, have filled the Life of this Saint, with a Number of fooliſh and incoherent Lies. One is, That he preached the Goſpel in France; from whence he is reckon'd the Tutelar Saint of that Nation: But 'tis plain, that Chriſtianity was not preached in France, till long after S. Dionyſius's Death. The other is, That he was condemned to ſuffer, by Feſcennius, the Roman Governor of Paris; and, accordingly, underwent grievous Torments, being at laſt beheaded: In which there is this Circumſtance remarkable; That he took up his Head, after 'twas ſever'd from his Body, into his Hands; and walked Two Miles in that Poſture, to a Place called the Martyrs-Hill, and there he lay down to Reſt. Petr. de Nat. Lib. IX. Cap. 41.

(50) Tranſl. of K. Edward Confeſſor.] This Edward was youngeſt Son of K. Ethelred; all whoſe Elder Brethren being dead, or fled away, he came to the Crown of England in the Year 1042. His principal Excellency was, his gathering together a Body of all the moſt uſeful Laws, which had been made by Saxon and Daniſh Princes. It was none of the beſt Parts of his Character, to put his Mother Emma upon a Trial by the Ordeal; upon a Bruit of her Unlawful Familiarity with Edwin, Biſhop of Wincheſter; And not to bed with his Queen Editha, upon an account of Religious Continence. How he came by the Name of Confeſſor, I can't tell, he enjoying a peaceable Reign. But only, it being an Honourable Title, was given him by the Pope; who, to be ſure, was much devoted to his Memory, for Settling Romeſcot, as they then called it, afterwards Peter-Pence. The Monks have interlarded his Life, with the Stories of many Miracles done by him; which have made his very Veſtments, &c. to be reputed Holy. His Crown, Chair, Staff, Spurs, &c. are made uſe of in the Coronation of our Engliſh Kings.

(51) Etheldred.] She was Daughter of Anna, K. of the Eaſt-Angles. She was firſt married to one Tonbert, a Great Lord, of Large Dominions in Lincolnſhire, Norfolk, &c. and, after him, married to K. Egfrid, about the Year 671; with both Husbands ſhe ſtill continuing a Virgin, upon pretence of great Sanctity. And Twelve Years ſtaying at Court, and continuing this Moroſeneſs; ſhe got Licenſe to depart, and to go to Coldingham-Abbey; where ſhe was a Nun, under Ebba, the Daughter of K. Ethelfrida, who was Abbeſs. Afterwards ſhe built an Abbey at Ely, which ſhe was Abbeſs of her ſelf, and where ſhe was buried. Bed. Hiſt. Ang. Lib. IV.

(52) Criſpin.] Criſpinus and Criſpianus were Brethren, and born at Rome: From which City, they travelled to Soiſſons in France, to propagate the Chriſtian Religion there, A. D. 303. And, becauſe they would not be chargeable to others, for their Maintenance, they exerciſed the Trade of Shoemakers. But Rictionarius, Governor of the Town, diſcovering them to be Chriſtians, condemned them to be beheaded. Hence they came to be the Tutelar Saints of the Shoemakers. In that City, there are many Churches, and Religious Places, dedicated to theſe Saints: St. Criſpin the Great, St. Criſpin the Leſs, St. Criſpin en Chay, &c. Pet. de Nat. Lib. IX. Gr. Turon. Hiſt. Lib. V. C. 34.

NOTES.

(53) Leonard.] He was born at Le Nans, a Town in France; bred up in Divinity under Remigius, Biſhop of Rhemes; and afterwards made Biſhop of Limoſin. He obtained of King Clodoveus a Favour, That all Priſoners whom he went to viſit, ſhould be ſet free. Therefore, whenever he heard of any being Priſoners, (it muſt be ſuppoſed for the ſake of Religion, or in a good Cauſe at leaſt) he preſently procured their Liberty this way. Pet. de Nat. Lib. X. C. 29. But the Monks have improved this Story; That if any one in Priſon had called upon his Name, his Fetters would immediately drop off, and the Priſon-Doors fly open; Inſomuch that many came from far Countries, brought their Fetters and Chains, which had fell off by his Interceſſion, and preſented them, in Token of their Gratitude, before him. Hence he is the Priſoners Saint, among the Papiſts. He died in the Year of our Lord, 500.

(54) S. Martin.] See June 4.

(55) Britius.] S. Brice was Succeſſor to S. Martin, in the Biſhoprick of Tours. He had a great Trouble befel him, about the Year 432: For his Laundreſs proving with Child, the Uncharitable People of the Town imputed it to Brice. After the Child was born, the Cenſures upon the Biſhop increaſing, the People being ready to ſtone him; the Biſhop order'd the Infant to be brought to him: When he ſaid, I adjure thee by Jeſus, the Son of the Living God, to tell me whoſe Child thou art. The Child, being then but 30 Days old, replies, You are not my Father. But this was ſo far from mending Matters with Poor Brice, that it made them much worſe: For now the People accuſe him of Sorcery likewiſe. And being by them driven out of the City, he appeals to Rome; and, after a Seven Years Suit, he got his Biſhoprick again. This Story is told by Gregory Turonenſis, Succeſſor to him in his See at Tours.

(56) Machutus,] Otherwiſe called Maclovius; a Biſhop in Bretaign in France, and of that Place which is from him called S. Maloes. He lived in the Time of Juſtinian; and was famous for many Miracles, if the Acts concerning him may be credited.

(57) Hugh.] This Man was Biſhop of Lincoln, in the Reigns of Richard I. and K. John. He was reputed for great Holineſs; and the Monks have aſcribed many Miracles to him. Vid. Wendov. and the Legend of St. Hugh. When he was buried, which was at Lincoln, where there was an Interview of King John, the King of Scotland, and the King of Wales; theſe Three Princes, with ſome other of their Lords which attended them, carried the Body of this Hugh upon their Shoulders, from the City-Gate, to the Door of the Cathedral Church.

(58) Edmund.] About the Year of Chriſt 870, the Heathen Danes making an Irruption into Cambridgeſhire and Suffolk, ſacked Cambridge and Thetford, forced Edmund, King of the Eaſt-Angles, to his Caſtle of Framlingham: Who being unable to reſiſt the Enemies Force, who would give no Quarter to the Gariſon, offer'd his own Perſon, to ſpare his Subjects. But they unmercifully tying him to a Tree, endeavoured to make him renounce his Religion by Torture; for they deliberately ſhot into his Body Arrow after Arrow, till he was dead.

(59) Cæcilia.] She was a Roman Lady; who being required to renounce her Religion, and refuſing it, was thrown into a Furnace of Boiling Water, and ſcalded to Death. Petr. de Nat. In ſome Ancient Accounts of her Life, ſhe is ſaid to be ſtifled, by ſhutting out the Air of a Bath; as Fauſta, Conſtantine's Wife was; which was a Death ſometimes inflicted upon Women of Quality, who were Criminals. Sigebert, in this Chronicle, A. D. 821. ſays, That her Body was found with her Linnen bloody about her, by Pope Paſchalis, who revealed to him where it lay, and by him 'twas repoſited in a Church built by him. But how this bloody Linnen agrees with her being ſcalded to Death, or ſtifled, thoſe who think it worth their while may make out.

(60) S. Clement I.] He was a Roman by Birth, and Biſhop of the ſame Place, after St. Peter, as ſome would have it: But by Irenæus, Euſebius, and others, the beſt Writers of Antiquity, he is eſteem'd the Third after him; Linus and Clitus coming between. He is the Author of Two very Excellent Epiſtles; one whereof is of Undoubted Authority, and was of great Fame even in Ancient Times. Theſe Excellent Pieces, after long lying dormant, were brought to Light and publiſhed about 50 Years ago, here in England. He was, for the ſake of his Religion, condemned by Trajan to hew Stones in the Mines; and afterwards having an Anchor ty'd about his Neck, was drowned in the Sea.

(61) Catherine.] She was born at Alexandria, and bred up to Letters. Afterwards being Converted to Chriſtianity, ſhe profeſſed the ſame with great Courage and Conſtancy. She openly rebuked the Heathen for Offering Sacrifice to their Idols; and upbraided the Cruelty of Maxentius, the Emperor, to his Face. She was condemned to ſuffer Death, in a very unuſual manner; viz. by a Wheel, ſtuck round with Iron-Spikes, or the Points of Swords, and ſo rolled over upon her Body. Petr. de Nat.

NOTES.

(62) Nicolas.] He was born at Patara, a City of Lycia; and was afterwards, in the Time of Conſtantine the Great, Biſhop of Myra. He was remarkable for great Charity: For, underſtanding that Three Young Women, Daughters of a Perſon who had fell to Decay, were tempted to take Lewd Courſes for a Maintenance; he ſecretly convey'd a Bag of Money into their Father's Houſe, by which he was enabled to fortune them out. Vincent. in Spec. Hiſt. Lib. XIV.

(63) Conception of the V. Mary.] This Feaſt is ſaid to be inſtituted by Archbiſhop Anſelm, upon Occaſion of William the Conqueror's Fleet being in a Storm, and afterwards coming ſafe to Shore. Petr. de Nat. Catal. Sanct. Lib. I. However, the Council of Oxon, held 1222, leaves People at liberty, whether they will obſerve it, or no. The Inſtitution of this Holiday, gave Riſe to the Queſtion ventilated ſo warmly in the Roman Church, concerning the Virgin Mary's Immaculate Conception; which was firſt ſtarted by Peter Lombard, who flouriſhed in the Year 1160.

(64) Lucy.] She was a Young Lady of Syracuſe, who was Courted by a Gentleman; but ſhe, preferring a Religious Courſe of Life before Marriage, perſwaded her Mother to give her Liberty to beſtow her Fortune upon the Poor; thinking by that means to put a Stop to his further Applications. The Young Man, enrag'd at this, accuſed her to Paſchaſius, the Heathen Judge, for Profeſſing Chriſtianity: He condemned her to be ſent to the Stews. But ſhe ſtruggling with the Officers who were to carry her, was, after a great deal of Barbarous Uſage, killed by them. Pet. de Nat. Lib. I. C. 24.

(65) O Sapientia.] This Day was ſo entituled, from the Beginning of an Anthem in the Latin Service, which was to be uſed this Day.

(66) Silveſter.] He was Succeſſor in the Papacy of Rome to Meltiades, A. D. 314. and was Ordained a Deacon by him. He is ſaid to be the Author of ſeveral Rites and Ceremonies of the Romiſh Church, as of Aſylums, Unctions, Palls, Corporals, Mitre, &c. He died in the Year 334.

The ORDER

For Morning and Evening Prayer, daily to be said and used throughout the year.

THE Morning and Evening Prayer shall be used in the accustomed place of the(a) Church,

NOTES.

(a) Accustomed Place of the Church. ] The Word Church, or Κυριακὸν, comes from the Greek Κυριακὸν, or the Lord's-House; by which Name the Christians of the Greek Church used to call the Place of their Assembly for Divine Worship. There is little Doubt to be made, but that the Christians set up their Churches, to answer to the Jews Synagogues; that they might not have less frequent Opportunities of worshipping God in publick, and Hearing his Holy Word read and expounded, than the Jews had. The Time, when the Use of Synagogues among the Jews began, is not very easy to determine. Some are of Opinion, they began soon after the Captivity; Sig. de Reb. Heb. Lib. II. but it is plain, I think, they were in Use before: For the LXXIVth Psalm was undoubtedly made, upon the Sacking the City, and Carrying away the Captives; and there it is said, that the Babylonians burnt down all the Synagogues, the Monghethi, or Consecrated Tabernacles: They have burnt all the Synagogues of God in the Land, v. 8. After their Restoration from the Captivity, when they began to increase in Power and Riches, there were many Synagogues built, not only in Jerusalem, but in many other Parts of Judea. If the Talmudists are to be credited, as they are cited by Mr. Selden, de. Succ. ad Leg. Hebræorum, ad bona defunct.; there were 480 Synagogues in the City of Jerusalem only. That there were Synagogues in other Places, out of the City, is evident from Mat. IV. 22. where he speaks of our Saviour's Preaching in the Synagogues of Galilee. So St. Luke relates our Saviour's coming to Nazareth, and going into the Synagogue there, and Expounding the Scriptures; Luke IV. 16. These Synagogues were built, either by publick Cost, or at the Charge of some private Persons, of Considerable Wealth and Piety. And so a Synagogue was erected at Capernaum, by a Roman Captain, or Centurion, whose Company had long quarter'd in that Town: And the Jewish Elders make use of that, as a considerable Argument to incline our Saviour to work a Cure upon his Sick Servant, for the sake of the Munificence of his Master: For he loveth our nation (which was a remarkable thing for the Roman Officers to do) and hath built us a Synagogue; Luk. VII. 5. The Form of the Synagogue within side, was this. Round the Walls, upon an Ascent, were placed, or fixed, several great Chairs, for the Doctors, Elders, and Persons of Distinction to sit; not unlike the Stalls in the Choirs of our Cathedral Churches: Under them were placed upon Benches, Young People, and those of more Inferior Quality: And below them, the youngest of all, together with Persons of the Lowest Condition, upon Matts laid on the Pavement. Some young Lads, who were breeding up to be Doctors in the Law, were disposed in the Upper Bench, at the Feet of their Master; as St. Paul was at Gamaliel's. These are the πρωτοκαθεδρίαι, which our Saviour speaks of, Mat. XXIII. 6. Luk. XX. 47. that the Scribes and Pharisees were so desirous of. Vid. Euseb. Lib. II. Cap. 9. Montac. Or. Eccl. P. 1.

Churches, or Synagogues of the Jews.

Christian Churches first Rooms in Private Houses.

When the First Christians were increased in any Place, to a Number that was fitting to make a Congregation, they religiously met together, in some Determined Place for Religious Worship, on the Lord's-Day, as the Jews did on Saturdays. This was at first only a Room in a Private House: Such was that ὑπερῶον, or Upper-Chamber, mention'd Act XX. 7. Such was the Meeting-Place in the House of Aquila and Priscilla; Rom. XVI. 5. and that in Philemon's, Phil II. Afterwards, during the Rage of the Persecutions, they durst not meet together in the Cities, for fear of being observed by the Informers; and therefore were forced to convene in some Lonely Wood, or Cave, a good way out of Town: Or, sometimes they would make a Congregation out of the Christian Prisoners, who were, for their Religion, sent to one Common Gaol. Hence that Noble Expression of Dionysius of Alexandria: Πᾶς ὁ τόπος ἐφ' ὃν ἡμᾶς ἐξήγαγεν ἡ τῶν διωγμῶν ἐπιδημία, ἐκκλησίαν ἡμῶν ἐποίησε· ἀγρὸς, ἔρημία, πλοῖον, πανδοκεῖον, δεσμωτήριον. Every Place, whither our Misfortunes lead us; becomes our Temple, and we hold our Assemblies there: A Field, or a Desolate Wood; a Ship, an Inn, or a Prison. Oftentimes, Assemblies were held in the Cemeteries, or Burying-Places; Tert. ad Scap. Cap. 3. Const. Ap. Lib. VI. C. 30. And to keep them from the Injuries of the Weather, they had some slight Sheds of Boards set up, which were called Fabricæ, or Scaffolds; Arnob. cont. Gen. But this was only in the Breathing Spaces, between the Heats of the several great Persecutions.

Christian Churches, when first built.

Towards the middle of the Third Century, under the Reigns of Alexander Severus, Gordianus, Philippus, and Gallienus, the Christians enjoy'd some tolerable Ease; and the Exercise of their Religion was connived at, by the Mildness of these Governments: And then they began to build some little Churches, and make up Private Houses into Conveniencies, for performing Publick Service therein. Which were all destroyed, and levelled to the Ground, in the Persecution raised against the Christians by Diocletian; Lact. de Just. Lib. V. Cap. 11. But by an Edict, put out by Maximianus and Constantius Clorus, the Christians were indulged Liberty; Conventicula, in quibus orare consueverunt, rursus extruere, & reædificare; To build up again the Places, where they met to Pray in. But, under the Empire of Constantine, Churches began to be built, according to the usual State of other Publick Structures. The first and most Considerable, was, That upon Mount Calvary, at Jerusalem, the Place where our Saviour suffer'd, built at the Charge of the Emperor; Euseb. de Vit. Const. Lib. III. Cap. 29. Two more Great Churches were built in Palestine, at the Charge of Helena, Mother of Constantine; One in Honour of Christ's Birth in Bethlehem; and another in memory of his Resurrection. Id Lib. III. C. 41. Besides these, in Rome, and other Cities, that Emperor built Churches of a stately Height, far exceeding the Old ones which were pulled down. Euseb. Hist. Eccl. Lib. X. The following Emperors continued in the same Munificence; there being a Publick Fund issuing out of the Fisk, for the Building and Repairing of Churches. Soc. Lib. I. C. 14. How frequently they were built in Theodosius's Reign, may be seen by several of S. Ambrose's Epistles upon these Occasions. But Justinian far exceeded any of his Predecessors in this Liberality, even to such a Degree, that he is said to have taken away the Salaries which were settled upon Professors and Schoolmasters, to defray this Charge. Zon. Tom. III. So that, about the Seventh or Eighth Century, Churches were erected not only in Great Towns, but in Villages likewise As for the Outward Figure of the Ancient Churches, especially the Grecian, they were very various, and far more elegant than those which were built in the Gothick Times, and those following Ages, whose Architecture was founded upon that Model. Leo Allatius, whose Observations are very Curious this way, informs us, That some were of a Round Figure, with a Cupulo on the Top, called by the Greeks κυκλοειδῆ, and θολωτὰ, from the Rafters all meeting in a Centre: Some were long, being cover'd with an Arch, called from the Figure of the Roof Chappel, or (b) Chancel; Except it ſhall be otherwiſe determined by the Ordinary of the place. (c) And the Chancels ſhall remain as they have done in times paſt.

And

Roof κυλινδρωτὰ; Others built in a Croſs, and from that named σταυροειδῆ.

The Churches were diſpoſed within Doors thus. There were Two Principal Parts of the Church: Firſt, The Body thereof; which was called the Navis, or the Ship; where the Laity were, during the Performance of their Acts of Devotion. In the Middle Part of the Body, was the Place for the Men: The Women were in Galleries on each ſide, next to the Wall; having a particular Stairs to go up to them, by themſelves; with Banniſters before them, to keep them from being gazed at, during the Sacred Solemnity. Clem. Conſt. Aug. Lib. III. de Civ. Dei. Greg. Naz. de Somno Aneſt. The next Part was the Chancel: Of which more in the next Note.

(b) Chancel.] The Chancel, or the Choir, was called Βῆμα; or the Aſcent, from the ſeveral Steps which were to go up to it: And, being ſeparated from the reſt of the Church by Banniſters, which the Greeks called κιγκλίδες, and the Latins Cancelli; it obtained the Name of Chancel, in modern Times. No one was to come within the Rails of this, but only Perſons in Sacred Orders; the Laity being oblig'd to keep within the Body of the Church; except only the Emperor, who, by a particular Indulgence, out of Regard to his High Character, was allowed to come within the Rails. Con. Trull. Can. LXIV. Which Cuſtom was long tenaciouſly obſerved by the Greek Church: But the Latin Church, in Complaiſance to the Women, allowed them, whenever they pleaſed, without Breach of Modeſty, to go up to the Altar, tho' the 44th Canon of the Council of Laodicea had forbidden it; as Balſamon, upon this Canon, has noted. Round the Chancel were ſeveral Seats, or Stalls; the Principal of which was the Cathedra, θρόνος, or Biſhop's Throne; next this, the Seats of the Presbyters; with Benches for the Deacons, and Matts for the other Church-Officers. Soz. Lib. V. Cap. 15. Conc. Laod. Can. LVI. Joining to the Chancel was a Cloſet, or Veſtry, where the Biſhops and Clergy uſed to Enrobe themſelves, and make themſelves ready to Officiate: This was called by the Greeks Ἀσπασιὸν, by the Latins Domus Salutatoria. Theod. Lib. IV. Cap. 20. Hier. de Obitu Nepot.

(c) Chancels ſhall remain as they have done in Times paſt.] Several very Unhappy Diſputes have ariſen in our Church, concerning the Diſpoſal, or Situation of the Lord's-Table, in the Chancels. The firſt, being in the Beginning of the Reformation, was, Whether thoſe of the Altar-faſhion, which had been uſed in the Popiſh Times, and on which the Maſſes were Celebrated, ſhould be kept up. This Point was firſt ſtarted by Biſhop Hooper; who, in a Sermon before King Edward VI., in the 3d Year of his Reign, ſaid, That it would do well, if it might pleaſe the Magiſtrate, to have Altars turned into Tables; to take away the falſe Perſuaſion of the People, which they have, of Sacrifices to be done upon Altars. Becauſe, as long (ſays he) as Altars remain, both the Ignorant People and Prieſts, will always dream of Sacrifice. After this, came out the firſt Letters on this Occaſion, directed from the King to the Biſhops, dated November 19, 1549. Copies of which I never ſaw; but that they were ſent, is plain, by the Diary of King Edward, which ſays this: November 19, 1549. There were Letters ſent to every Biſhop, to Pull down the Altars. A Year after, another Letter from the King and Council, dated Nov. 4, 1550. was ſent to Ridley, then Biſhop of London, to be executed in his Dioceſe; a Copy whereof is extant in Fox. And in this, Altars are order'd to be taken down; and inſtead of them, a Table to be ſet up, in ſome convenient Place of the Chancel. But, that a former Progreſs had been made in this Affair, is plain, from the Preface of this Letter; which ſays, Whereas it is come to our Knowledge, that being the Altars within the more Part of the Churches of this Realm, upon good and godly Conſiderations are taken down, there doth yet remain Altars, ſtanding in diverſe other Churches, &c. Which Paſſage I take to refer to the Effect of the Letters, mentioned in the King's Diary, written the Year before: For I cannot think (as ſome do) that this relates to the Tumultuous Pulling down the Altars by the Rabble, before the Royal Orders came out: For certainly the Council would never have vouched this to have been done upon good and godly Conſiderations. Biſhop Ridley enforced this Order of Council, ſent to him, by ſeveral Reaſons; whereby he ſhews, That a Table is more agreeable to the Nature of the Sacrament, than an Altar. After this, came on the Review of the Liturgy, 1551; which was confirmed by Act of Parliament.

Now, whereas in the Firſt Liturgy it is order'd, That the Prieſt Officiating ſhould ſtand before the midſt of the Altar, in the Celebration: In the Rubrick of the Second it is order'd, That the Prieſt ſhall ſtand on the North-ſide of the Table. And thus the firſt Diſpute between Altars and Tables was at an end. But there preſently followed upon it another Controverſy; Whether the Table, placed in the room of the Altar, ought to ſtand Altar-wiſe? i. e. in the ſame Place and Situation as the Altar formerly ſtood. In ſome Churches, the Tables were placed in the middle of the Chancels; in others, at the Eaſt Part thereof, next to the Wall. Biſhop Ridley endeavoured to make a Compromiſe of that Affair, in his Church of St. Paul's, ſuffering the Table to ſtand in the Place of the Old Altar; but, beating down the Wainſcot-Partition behind, laid all the Choir open to the Eaſt, leaving the Table then to ſtand in the middle of the Chancel. Under this Diverſity of Uſage, Superiors not preſſing for an Uniformity of Practice, Matters continued quiet, as to this Controverſy, during this King's Reign.

When Q Elizabeth came to the Crown, and a New Review of the Liturgy was made; this preſent Clauſe was added, to hinder any new Differences upon this Head; And the Chancels ſhall remain as they have done in Times paſt. Whereby an Indulgence is given to thoſe Cathedral or Collegiate Churches, where the Tables ſtood Altar-wiſe, and faſten'd to the Eaſt Part of the Chancel, to retain their Ancient Practice; but lays down the General Rule otherwiſe, eſpecially as to Pariſh-Churches: As is plain by the Rubrick before the Communion, in her Common-Prayer-Book; That the Table, having at the Communion-time a fair white Linnen-Cloth upon it, ſhall ſtand in the Body of the Church, or in the Chancel, where Morning or Evening Prayer ſhall be appointed to be ſaid. And the Injunctions, given out in her firſt Year, enforce the ſame; adding, That, after the Communion done, from time to time, the ſame Holy Table ſhall be placed where it ſtood before. The Canons of 1603, order, That at the time of the Communion, the Table ſhall be placed in ſo good ſort, within the Church, or Chancel, as thereby the Miniſter may be the more conveniently heard of the Communicants, in his Prayer and Adminiſtration; and the Communicants alſo, more conveniently, and more in number, may Communicate with the ſaid Miniſter. Can. LXXXII. So that, by theſe Authorities, 1ſt, Where Tables were fixed, they ought not to be ſtirred, but to remain as they were: 2dly, That at the Time of the Communion, they might either ſtand at the Eaſt-Wall of the Church, or in other Place that is more convenient. But this Latitude being granted, ſeveral Inconveniencies did ariſe: Great Irreverence was uſed towards the Holy Table; not only People's Hats and Gloves thrown upon it, but the Church-Wardens and Overſeers were frequently writing their Accompts thereon, the Proceſſioning-Boys eating their Loaves and Cakes, and Dogs leaping up at the Bread; to the great Scandal of our Reformation, not only among the Papiſts, but alſo among the Proteſtant Churches abroad. Archbiſhop Laud, out of Zeal to reform theſe Horrid Abuſes, and to bring the Church to an Uniformity of Practice, endeavoured to have the Communion-Table ſet Altar-wiſe, at the Eaſt-end of the Chancel, and to be rail'd in; engaging many of the Biſhops to preſs this in their Viſitation-Articles. They grounded their Reaſon for this (beſides the hindring the foreſaid Irreverences) upon the Practice of the Royal Chappel, and moſt of the Cathedral Churches, where the Tables ſtood Altar-wiſe; as alſo on one of the Injunctions of Q. Elizabeth, which ordereth, That the Holy Table in every Church be decently made, and ſet in the Place where the Altar ſtood; and there commonly covered, as thereto belongeth; and ſo ſtand, ſaving when the Communion of the Sacrament is to be diſtributed: At which time, the ſame ſhall be ſo placed in good ſort within the Chancel, &c. And moreover, on the Authority of the Biſhop; to whom, in the Preface of the Common-Prayer-Book, is allowed a Power, upon any Doubt ariſing in the Uſe and Practiſing of the ſame Book, to take ſuch Order for the

The Order for Morning and Evening Prayer.

And here is to be noted, that ſuch (d) Ornaments of the Church and of the Miniſters thereof at all times of their Miniſtration, ſhall be retained and be

Quieting and Appeaſing of the ſame; ſo that the ſame Order be not contrary to any thing contained in that Book. Great Strifes and Contentions were for many Years kept up in the ventilating this Controverſy; till the Civil War came on, and all Things, Civil and Sacred, were overwhelmed with Confuſion. Since the Reſtoration, no Poſitive Determination therein being made, in the Review of the Common-Prayer, the Diſpute has very happily dy'd; and the Tables have generally been ſet Altar-wiſe, and railed in, without any Oppoſition thereto; the Generality of all Pariſhioners eſteeming it a very decent Situation, they coming of themſelves to a good Liking of it, which they could not be brought to, by the too Rigid Methods which were heretofore uſed.

(d) Ornaments of the Church, and the Miniſters thereof.] It being here ſaid, That the Ornaments of the Church, and the Miniſters thereof, at all Times of their Miniſtration, ſhall be retained, and be in uſe, as were in this Church, by the Authority of Parliament, in the Second Year of King Edward VI.; but no Ornaments particularly mention'd; it is neceſſary to enquire, What they are? If we have Recourſe to that Act, we ſhall find it there enacted, That all and ſingular Miniſters, in any Cathedral or Pariſh-Church, &c. ſhall, after the Feaſt of Pentecoſt next coming, be bounded to ſay the Mattens, Evening-Song, &c. and the Adminiſtration of the Sacraments, and all the Common and Open Prayer, in ſuch Order and Form, as is mentioned in the ſaid Book [viz. First Book of Edward VI.] and not other, or otherwiſe. So that by this Act, we are ſent to enquire into the Rubricks of King Edward's firſt Common-Prayer-Book, for the Habits in which Miniſters are to Officiate. And among them we find theſe Rules. That in the Saying or Singing of Mattens and Evening-Song, Baptizing and Burying, the Miniſter, in Pariſh-Churches or Chappels annext to the ſame, ſhall uſe a Surplice. And in all Cathedral Churches and Colleges, the Archdeacons, Deans, Provoſts, Maſters, Prebendaries and Fellows, being Graduates, may uſe in the Choir, beſides their Surplices, ſuch Hoods as pertain to their ſeveral Degrees, which they have taken in any Univerſity within this Realm. But, in all other Places, every Miniſter ſhall be at Liberty to uſe any Surplice, or no.

And whenſoever the Biſhop ſhall Celebrate the H. Communion in the Church, or Execute any other Publick Miniſtration; he ſhall have upon him, beſides his Rochet, a Surplice or Alb, and a Cope or Veſtment; and alſo his Paſtoral Staff in his Hand, or elſe born or holden by his Chaplains. But in the Rubrick of King Edward's Second Common-Prayer-Book, confirmed likewiſe by Act of Parliament, the Cope and Paſtoral Staff are omitted; and therefore were not uſed by the Biſhops, either ſince the Reſtoration, or all along Q. Elizabeth's Time, that I can find: Tho' in Queen Elizabeth's Act of Uniformity, there is likewiſe Reference made to the Act of the 2 of K. Edw. VI. Provided always, and be it enacted, That ſuch Ornaments of the Church, and the Miniſters thereof, ſhall be retained, and be in Uſe, as was in this Church of England by the Authority of Parliament, in the Second Year of Edward VI. To which this Clauſe is further added; Until further Order ſhall be therein taken, by the Authority of the Queen's Majeſty, with the Advice of Her Commiſſioners, appointed and authorized under the Great Seal of England for Cauſes Eccleſiaſtical, or of the Metropolitans of this Realm. Which laſt Clauſe, whether it be a Qualification perſonally Empowering this Queen, and dying with her; or declarative only of the Regal Power, antecedently inherent in her, and derivable upon her Succeſſors; has afforded Matter of much Diſpute.

But becauſe moſt, or all of theſe Eccleſiaſtical Habits, have been excepted againſt, either as Prophane, or Superſtitious; or, as being a faulty Compliance with the Papiſts, who do in common with us uſe them; or, as being not ſufficiently agreeable to the Simplicity uſed by the Clergy of the Primitive Church; it will not be amiſs to ſpeak ſomething, concerning both the Lawfulneſs, and the Ancient Uſe of them.

To begin with the Surplice. Of all the Eccleſiaſtical Habits, this has been the moſt oppoſed, becauſe enjoin'd to be worn by every Miniſter when he Officiates. But when we ſeriouſly conſider Matters, it will appear, that there is very little to be ſaid againſt it; and, that it is a very Decent and Proper Habit for the Purpoſe. For, moſt certainly, it is by no means convenient, that a Miniſter ſhould Officiate in the Common Habit which he wears at other times: And this our Adverſaries are ſo ſenſible of, that moſt of them wear a Handſome long Cloak when they Preach, or Pray in their reſpective Congregations. And why there ſhould be ſuch a material Difference between a Garment of a White Colour, and one of Black; between one made of Linnen, and another of Wool; ſo as to occaſion one to be Lawful to be worn, and the other to be Unlawful, is very unaccountable.

I am ſure, the Surplice has a great deal more of Ancient Eccleſiaſtical Practice on its ſide. There is little doubt to be made, but that it was uſed in S. Cyprian's Time. For Pontius Diaconus, in the Martyrdom of that Father, written by him, ſays, That when he ſuffer'd, Sedile erat fortuitò Linteo tectum, ut ſub ictu Paſſionis Epiſcopatus honore frueretur: There was a Bench by chance cover'd with a white Linnen-Cloth; ſo that at his Paſſion, he ſeem'd to have ſome of the Enſigns of the Epiſcopal Honour. This is a clear Inſtance, that the Alb, or Surplice, was uſed by Biſhops in thoſe Times. By the IVth Council of Carthage, the Alb is enjoined to be uſed even by Deacons, at the Time of their Adminiſtration in the Publick Service. Con. IV. Carth. Can. XLI. S. Jerom defends the Uſe of this; and ſays, It was uſed by Biſhops, Prieſts, and Deacons, and all the other Eccleſiaſtical Orders in his Time. Quæ ſunt, rogo, inimicitiæ contra Deum, ſi Epiſcopus, Presbyter & Diaconus, & reliquus Ordo Eccleſiaſticus, in Adminiſtratione Sacrificiorum, candidâ veſte procefferint? What Offence is it againſt God, I pray, if the Biſhop, Prieſt and Deacon, and the reſt of the Eccleſiaſtical Order, wear a white Garment? Hier. contr. Pelag. Lib. I. And the ἱματια πυρφανᾶ, the White Shining Garments, in Nazianzen, muſt allude to the Surplices then worn in the Church. Greg. Naz. Somn. de Aneſt Templo. And indeed, the Church, when ſhe was to Appoint what Garments were proper to be uſed in the Publick-Service, had Reaſon to pitch upon thoſe of White Linnen, rather than any other; becauſe Angels, and other Bleſſed Perſons, are recorded in Scripture to have appeared in that Habit: Mat. XVII. 2. Mar. XVI. 5. Mat. XXVIII. 3. Act. I. 10. Rev. IV. 4. 7. 9.

Another Eccleſiaſtical Ornament, which is order'd to be worn in the Celebration of Divine Service, is the Hood. But if there be any Fault in wearing this Habit, the Univerſity is to be blamed for it, rather than the Church: For the Hoods, which are generally worn by the Clergy, are the Habits of their Degrees, which they have taken in one of the Univerſities. The Hood is called by the Latins Caputium, or Cucullus. The latter ſeems to be the moſt proper Name for it, and was of great Antiquity: For the Cucullus was an Habit among the Ancient Romans; it being a Coarſe Covering for the Head, ſomething like our Fiſhermens Caps, made of Thrum or Coarſe-Yarn; broad at the lower part, for the Head to go in, and then leſſening gradually, till it ended in a Point. It was from being rolled up in the Shape of this Hood, that the Papers the Grocers uſed to wrap their Wares in, were called Cuculli. Upon this Account it was, that Martial feared leſt a Sheet of his Book ſhould ſerve to be rolled up in this Cap-faſhion, to put Pepper or Frankincenſe in:

Ne Thuris Piperiſve ſis Cucullus. Mart. Lib. III. Ep. 2.

The Gauls, eſpecially their Druids, wore the Cucullus (or Hood) very long, ſo that the Top-part thereof hung down behind: Hence, when it came to be uſed at Rome, it obtained the Name of Bardo-Cucullus, or the Bards-Hood. Nay, ſome wore it ſo big and large, that they could make it lap over their Faces. And this was the Cuſtom of Manteius; who ſeems to have had a ſore Eye, and to have pulled the Flap of his Cucullus, or Hood, over it, to skreen it from the Light, or the Duſt, as he ſat in the Theatre, and to have looked at the Shews with his other Eye.

Illic Cucullo proſpicit caput tectus,
Oculoq; ludos ſpectat indecens uno. Mart. Lib. V. Ep. 14.

In

be in uſe as were in this Church of England by the Authority of Parliament, in the ſecond year of the Reign of King Edward the Sixth.

In time, the Coul or Hood was enlarged, ſo as to cover the Head and Neck, and to muffle up the Perſon that wore it in ſuch manner, as not to be known when he went along.

Tempora Santonico velant adoperta cucullo. Juv. Sat. 7.

The Hood continued in Uſe in the time of the later Emperors of Rome; it being mentioned in the Writings of Capitolinus, and Spartian. When the Monks and Aſceticks began in the Church, they took up the Uſe of it, as being a Melancholy Habit, when drawn over part of their Faces; keeping them both from being ſtared at, and from looking about. And as the ſeveral Orders of the Monks grew up, there was hardly any one of them but had the Hood or Coul, a little differenced in the Cut or Faſhion of it. But generally it was contrived ſo, that in Cold or Wet Weather, it might be a Covering to the Head; or, at other times, when they pleaſed, they might let it fall back behind them. The Hood was alſo uſed by the Canons of Cathedral and Collegiate Churches; tho' they were forbid by the Canons to uſe the ſame Hood with the Monks. Conc. Aquiſgr. The Univerſities took the Hood from the Cathedrals: For, in the latter Ages, the Monks had made their Hood and Gown to be the ſame thing: ſo that, among them, the Cucullus ſignified their whole Habit, and not the Hood only; and ſo it was uſed for the laſt Four or Five hundred Years. Thus the Hood, properly ſo called, was uſed only by Univerſity-Graduates, and Secular Dignified Prieſts; and by them, rather for Ornament than for Uſe.

Rochet. The Rochet was an Ancient Garment uſed by the Biſhop. In the Barbarous Latinity, it was called Rochetum, being derived from the German Word Ruck, which ſignifies the Back, as being a Covering for that. The Writers of the Roman Church will have this to have been the Epiſcopal Habit in the Time of S. Cyprian. Bar. Annal. An. 261. §. 41, 42. But, tho' Birrus Dalmatica, and Linea, by which laſt the Cardinal will have underſtood the Rochet, be mentioned in the Acts of S. Cyprian's Martyrdom; yet 'tis plain, that this is the Interpolation of a ſilly modern Writer: For who can think that St. Cyprian would go to his Execution in his Pontifical Habit; to expoſe it to the Scorn of the Heathen Multitude, and to be the Booty of the Executioner? But it was in common Uſe in the Seventh Century; becauſe Bede not only mentions it, but gives a Rationale of the particular Make of it: And comparing it with Aaron's Ephod, ſays, That the Cloſeneſs of it at the Hand, denotes, Nequid non utile faciant; That he that wears it, ought to do always ſomething that is profitable. Bed. de Tabernac. citat ab Amalario. Bibl. Patr. Lib. X. p. 389. In the following Ages, the Biſhops were obliged by the Canon-Law to wear their Rochet, whenever they appeared in publick: Pontifices autem in publico & in Eccleſia, ſuperindumentis lineis omnes utantur: Decretal. Lib. III. Tit. 1. Cap. 15. This Practice ſeems to have been kept up in England, more than in other Places; Eraſmus mentioning it as ſomething particular in Biſhop Fiſher, That he would leave off his Rochet when he travelled: Decreverat poſito Cultu Epiſcopali, hoc eſt Lineâ Veſte, quâ ſemper utuntur in Anglia, niſi cum venantur trajicere, &c. He had determined to throw off his Epiſcopal Habit, that is, the Linen-Garment, which they always uſe in England; except when they hunt, and to paſs over the Seas, &c. But, ſince the Reformation, the Biſhops have not worn their Rochets, when they appear in any Publick Place out of the Church, beſides Parliament-Houſe. The Chimere, or Garment over the Rochet, in the Popiſh Times, and in Edward the Sixth's Reign, was of Scarlet; which made Biſhop Hooper ſcruple at it, as too light a Robe for the Epiſcopal Gravity: But this, in Q. Elizabeth's Time, was changed into a Chimera of Black Satin. Vid. Hody's Hiſt. of Convoc. p. 143.

Cope. The Cope anſwers to the Colobium, uſed by the Latins, and the σάκκος, uſed by the Greek Church. It was firſt a Common Habit, being a Coat without Sleeves; but afterwards uſed as a Church-Veſtment. The Greeks ſay, it was taken up in Imitation of that Mock-Robe which was put upon our Saviour, which was a Red Bagg, or Sack. Ἐξαιρέτως ᾗ ὃν ἐνεδύσατο ἐμπαιζόμενος ὁ Σωτὴρ ἐξεικονίζει σάκκον· διὸ καὶ σάκκα τύπον ἔχει. ἐδὲ γὰρ ἔχει τοῦτο ἀ καλοῦσι μανίκια. Ἀποδηλότερον ᾗ τοῦτο παείσησι, καὶ ὁ ἐνδύσων ᾗ οἱ ἔγκριτοι τῆς ἀρχιερέων σάκκος καὶ τοῦτο καλέμβιον. Sym. Theſſ.

PARAPHRASE on the SENTENCES.

I. At whatſoever time the Sinner, by his unfeigned Repentance, ſhall turn to God, he will be acceptable unto Him, altho' his former courſe of Life has been very vicious. For (as that whole Chapter of Ezekiel, from whence this Verſe is taken, ſhews) as thoſe who have formerly led an habitual good Life, if they fall into a ſinful Courſe, ſhall forfeit God's Favour, and ruin their Souls, notwithſtanding their former Goodneſs: So ſhall an Evil Man, if he amends his Life and turns to God, be reſtored to his Kindneſs, and ſhall deliver his Soul from thoſe Miſeries which attend a final Impenitence.

II. I do not extenuate my Guilt, or deny it; but do with Grief acknowledge it: letting it make that deep Impreſſion upon me, as to be always preſent to my Mind, and, as it were, continually ſet before my Eyes.

III. O Lord, out of thy proneneſs to pardon Sin, do thou, as it were, overlook my Offence: And upon my true Repentance, which I beſeech thee to grant me, blot out my Iniquities, and expunge them out of thy Book, where they ſtand recorded againſt me.

IV. God is better pleaſed with a Penitent Soul, which is truly ſorry for, and is willing to forſake its former Sins, than with the moſt pompous Sacrifices which could be offered according to the Legal Inſtitutions. For a broken Heart (i. e. a Heart caſt down by extreme Grief, Iſa. 61. 1. and which does always accompany true Repentance) is a Sacrifice which will be always accepted by God, and which he will not deſpiſe, as he does the formal Sacrifices of wicked Men.

V. Rent your heart, and not your garments, and turn unto the Lord your God: for he is gracious, and merciful, ſlow to anger, and of great kindneſs, and repenteth him of the evil. Joel 2. 13.

VI. To the Lord our God belong mercies, and forgiveneſs, though we have rebelled againſt him: neither have we obeyed the voice of the Lord our God, to walk in his laws, which he ſet before us. Dan. 9. 9, 10.

VII. O Lord correct me, but with judgment; not in thine anger, leſt thou bring me to nothing. Jer. 10. 24. Pſal. 6. 1.

VIII. Repent ye; for the kingdom of heaven is at hand. S. Mat. 3. 2.

IX. I will ariſe and go to my Father, and will ſay unto him; Father, I have ſinned againſt Heaven, and before thee, and am no more worthy to be called thy ſon. S. Luke 15. 18, 19.

X. Enter not into judgment with thy ſervant, O Lord; for in thy ſight ſhall no man living be juſtified. Pſal. 143. 2.

XI. If we ſay, that we have no ſin, we deceive our ſelves, and the truth is not in us. But, if we confeſs our ſins, he is faithful and juſt to forgive us our ſins, and to cleanſe us from all unrighteouſneſs. 1 S. John 1. 8, 9.

I DEarly beloved brethren, the Scripture moveth us in ſundry places, to acknowledge, and confeſs our manifold ſins and wickedneſs, and that we ſhould not diſſemble nor cloak them before the face of Almighty God our heavenly Father, but confeſs them with an humble, lowly, penitent, and obedient heart, to the end, that we may obtain Forgiveneſs of the ſame by his infinite Goodneſs and Mercy. II. And although we ought at all times humbly to acknowledge our Sins before God, yet ought we moſt chiefly ſo to do, when we aſſemble and meet together, to render Thanks for the great Bene-

V. Ye muſt take care to be heartily and unfeignedly ſorry for your Sins, rather than to acquieſce in the theatrical Expreſſion of Sorrow, by outward Signs and Geſtures, ſuch as the renting the Garments were, of which Cuſtom we have many Inſtances in Scripture. Gen. xxxvii. 34. Joſ. vii. 6. for the Graciouſneſs, the Mercy, the Longſuffering, and Benignity of God, are the greateſt Encouragement to Sinners, upon their Return to God, to expect his Pardon: And moreover he does, as it were, repent him of the Evil, or Puniſhment, he inflicts on Men; when, upon their Repentance, he is reſolved to withdraw it.

VI. God is a God of that merciful and forgiving Nature, that He is inclined to pardon us, tho' we have never ſo highly offended him; and, tho' we have, as it were, been up in Arms, and in open Rebellion againſt him, by a notorious Violation of his Laws, which we ought to have obeyed; yet he ſtill is ready to forgive us.

VII. O Lord, I beſeech thee, do not chaſtiſe me with the Anger of an Enemy, but with the Moderation of a Merciful Judge; for I ſhould be totally conſumed, if thou ſhould'ſt proceed with me according to Rigour, and as my Sins have deſerved.

VIII. Repent of your Sins, and make your Peace with God before Chriſt's Kingdom of Glory begins, which the univerſal Judgment is to precede; whither, if ye are ſummoned. with your Sins about you, unrepented of, you are undone for ever.

IX. I will (like the Prodigal Son, preſſed down with the Guilt and Miſery which my Sins have brought upon me) return to my heavenly Father, and acknowledge the Grievouſneſs of my Offences, whereby I have deſervedly forfeited that Relation which he bore to me.

X. O Lord, do not call me to an Account for my Actions, with a too rigid Severity, or (as it is in the Original Hebrew) do not go to Law with me, or carry me before the Judgment-ſeat; for if thou vieweſt all things through the rigour of thy Juſtice, the moſt innocent Man's Life cannot ſtand the Tryal; nay, every Man living muſt be beholding to thy Mercy to be acquitted.

XI. This Life being a State of ſo many Imperfections, that we are all liable to great Failures; to ſay we are in a State of Perfection, and that we live without Sin, is a moſt notorious Falſity, and is a thing unbecoming the Truth and Simplicity of our Religion: But if we acknowledge our Sins before God, and truly repent us of them, God, out of his Faithfulneſs and Juſtice, will, upon our performing thoſe Conditions, make good his Promiſe to us on that behalf, in pardoning them: And will keep us clean, for the future, from any groſs Sin, by granting us the Aſſiſtance of his Holy Spirit, which will confirm and eſtabliſh us in every good work, Rom. xvi. 20. 1 Theſſ. iii. 13. 1 Pet. v. 10.

PARAPHRASE on the EXHORTATION.

I. My Dear Fellow-Chriſtians, the Holy Scriptures, (whoſe Authority you and all Faithful People profeſs the greateſt Reverence for) not only in thoſe ſeveral Paſſages which I have now read unto you, but in many other places, do exhort us, to confeſs unto God our innumerable Tranſgreſſions which we have committed againſt his Sacred Laws. Beſides, it is the greateſt Folly for us to hope to diſſemble them, or to extenuate them, ſo as to deceive the All-ſearching Eye of God, who ſees every thing nakedly as it is. Nor muſt we be guilty of ſuch a vile Act of Hypocriſy, as, notwithſtanding our many Sins, publickly in the Church, in the Preſence of God and his Holy Angels. to ſtand upon our Juſtification. But if we would do as ſincere Chriſtians ought, we muſt perform theſe three Parts of true Repentance. Firſt, With an humble and lowly Heart confeſs our Sins to God, with a Dejectedneſs and Confuſion like that of the Publican, who ſtood afar off and would not lift up his Eyes to Heaven. Secondly, We muſt add to this, a true Penitent Sorrow of Mind, for having offended ſo good a God, and for having brought ourſelves into ſo great danger. And Laſtly, We muſt, from theſe Conſiderations, take ſuch a Diſguſt againſt our Sins, as to reſolve to be obedient to God's Laws for the future. Now if we purſue this Method in our Repenting of our Sins, we need not deſpair of God's Forgiveneſs of them. But ſtill we muſt not think that a Repentance ſo circumſtantiated, will be any meritorious Cauſe, whereby we may claim from God an Impunity of our Sins; for that is owing only to the infinite Goodneſs and Mercy of God, reached out to us in the Myſtery of our Redemption, and by the Suffering of our bleſſed Lord for us.

II. And though we ought at all times, or in thoſe more frequent Courſes of private Devotion (which we are by our Religion oblig'd to, Eph. vi. 18. 1 Tim. vi. 8.) to exerciſe this Duty of Confeſſion, which is ſo eminent a part of Prayer: There is certainly a greater reaſon to make uſe thereof in the ſolemn Aſſembly of Chriſtians in the Church, where they meet together to perform the four great parts of Religious Worſhip. 1. Thankſgiving for Mercies received, 2. Praiſe and Adoration of the Excellencies and Goodneſs of God, 3. Hearing God's Word read and preach'd, 4. Petition, or Asking of God Spiritual and Temporal Bleſſings. But without a Confeſſion of our Sins, and the other neceſſary parts of true Repentance, we cannot rightly perform any of theſe publick Duties. We cannot thank God as we ought, when we ſtill continue to abuſe his Mercies: We cannot praiſe and admire his Perfections, which, in an unregenerate State we have little ſenſe of: We cannot be devout Hearers of God's Word, with all our carnal Affections about us;

MORNING PRAYER.

Benefits that we have received at his Hands, to ſet forth his moſt worthy Praiſe, to hear his moſt holy Word, and to ask thoſe which are requiſite and neceſſary, as well for the Body as the Soul. III. Wherefore I pray and beſeech you, as many as are here preſent, to accompany me with a pure Heart and humble Voice unto the Throne of the Heavenly Grace, ſaying after me.

us: Nor can we hope for a Succeſs of our Prayers, which by the Wickedneſs of our Lives are become an Abomination unto God.

III. Wherefore I earneſtly deſire of every one of you (as well Laity as Clergy) to addreſs yourſelves, with me, to God in devout Prayer; which I, as God's Miniſter, for myſelf and you, offer up to the Throne of God's Grace: which I do not ſo ſolitarily, by myſelf, as the Prieſt was to do under the Jewiſh Diſpenſation, (Exod. xxx. 7. Luke i. 10.) and as the Papiſts ſince have imitated, but I deſire you, who have higher Privileges, by virtue of Chriſt's Covenant (Eph. ii. 14. 1 Pet. ii. 5.) to accompany me thither; repeating after me thoſe Words which the Church has preſcribed upon this occaſion: Increating you, that you would manifeſt in your Devotion, thoſe Effects of a pure Heart, Sincerity, Attention, Gravity, and whatever elſe becomes the devout Worſhip of God; taking care that in all your Reſponſes you avoid, as on the one ſide, a loud clamorous Voice, ſo, on the other ſide, an inarticulate Motion of the Lips; and that you make uſe of only a low and humble Voice, as may be ſuitable in this Solemnity.

(a) General Confeſſion.] By the conſtant Tenor of the Holy Scriptures we are inform'd, that, without an Acknowledgment and Confeſſion of our Sins, we cannot obtain a Remiſſion of them. If we confeſs our ſins, (ſays St. John) he is faithful and juſt to forgive us our ſins, and to cleanſe us from all unrighteouſneſs, 1 Joh. I. 9. This was that which rendred the Publican's Devotion ſo acceptable to God, when he cried, God be merciful unto me a ſinner, Luk. xviii. 13. Moreover, this was the practice of devout Penitents in the Jewiſh Church: As of David, Pſal. LI. 3. I acknowledge my tranſgreſſions, and my ſin is ever before me. Againſt thee only have I ſinned, and done this evil in thy ſight, &c. And of Jeremy, and the ſincere Penitents of his Time; We lie down in our ſhame, and our confuſion covereth us: for we have ſinned againſt the Lord our God, we and our Fathers, from our youth unto this very day, and have not obeyed the voice of the Lord our God, Jer. iii. 25. And of Daniel; O Lord, to us belongeth confuſion of face, becauſe we have ſinned againſt thee, &c. Dan. ix. 8, 9, 10. And ſo in the vicarious Sacrifices of the Levitical Law, the Prieſt was to confeſs over them, all the iniquities of the Children of Iſrael, Lev. xvi. 21.

But in ſome Caſes, beſides ſuch general Confeſſion of Sins, there was, by the Jewiſh Law, a particular Confeſſion enjoined; as, for Inſtance, in the Caſe of Injury done, When a Man or Woman ſhall commit any ſin that Men commit, to do a Treſpaſs againſt the Lord, and that Perſon be guilty, then ſhall they confeſs the ſin which they have done, &c. Numb. v. 6, 7. This the Jews call a Confeſſion upon a particular Sin; Vid. Fag. in locum: Which appears to have been the ordinary practice, eſpecially in all Sins of great Enormity. Thus David confeſſed his two great Sins of Adultery and Murther to Nathan, 2 Sam. xii. 13. whereupon Nathan, by Authority from Almighty God, gave him Abſolution: And Nathan ſaid unto David, The Lord alſo hath put away thy ſin. And referring to this, I take that of St. James, Confeſs your faults one to another, &c. Jam. v. 16. where the τοῖς ἀλλήλοις is not to be underſtood of a mutual Confeſſion of one Brother-Chriſtian to another, but chiefly of one made to the Miniſters of the Goſpel; for in a like Paſſage, πάντες ἀλλήλοις ὑποτασσόμενοι, be ye all ſubject to one another, 1 Pet. v. 5. does not ſignify a mutual Subjection, but a Subjection of Inferiors to Superiors.

So that all which can plainly be deduced from Scriptural Doctrine, concerning Confeſſion, is this: That in common or ordinary Sins, we are to acknowledge them before Almighty God, either particularly in our Private, or generally in our Publick Devotion; but as for ſome Sins of a more extraordinary kind, which ordinary Chriſtians may not be ſufficiently apprized of the heinouſneſs thereof, or may be attended with ſuch nice Circumſtances as perplex their Conſciences; here reſort is proper to be made to the Miniſters of the Church, who as Phyſicians of the Soul, are beſt able to adviſe the fitteſt Remedies, upon ſuch uncommon Emergencies.

Now Matters of this kind ſtood within theſe Limits for a conſiderable time after the firſt propagating of the Goſpel; but however, during the Piety of very early Times, another ſort of Confeſſion came in uſe, which was this. It having all along been the practice for Excommunicates, before their Reception into the Church, to make a ſolemn Confeſſion of their Faults before the whole Congregation, ſome Perſons who had fall'n into a great Sin, tho' they had never been cenſured for it, thought it a part of their Duty to take upon themſelves a publick Shame for it, by diſcovering it to the whole Congregation they were Members of, and to deſire their Prayers to God for their Pardon. Thus Irenæus, Lib. 1. cap. 9. ſpeaks of ſome Women who having been ſeduced by the Heretick Marcus, In manifeſto faciebant Homologeſim, plangentes & lamentantes corruptelam, made their Confeſſion in publick, bewailing their Corruption. Thus Tertullian, ſpeaking of thoſe that were under this Exomologeſis or Confeſſion, ſays they did, Jejuniis preces alere, ingemiſcere, lachrymare, mugire dies noctesque ad Dominum Deum ſuum; Presbyterii advolvi, caris Dei adgeniculari, fratribus legationes deprecationis ſuæ injungere: Improved their Devotion by Faſting, they groaned, and wept, and ſighed unto God, Day and Night, throwing themſelves at the Feet of the Presbyters, they kneel'd down before the Saints, and begged of them to deprecate the Divine Puniſhment from them, Tert. de Pœn. And ſo we read of Natalis, being lapſed into Hereſy, that he cloaths himſelf in ſackcloth, ſprinkles his Head with Aſhes, throws himſelf at the Feet of the Clergy and Laity, with many Tears bewailing his Error, Euſ. Eccleſ. Hiſt. Lib. 5. cap. 28.

Some Difficulties and Inconveniences ariſing from this Practice, about the Year 360, the Office of a Publick Penitentiary in the Greek Church began, who was to be (as Sozomen informs us) a Presbyter of good Converſation, prudent and ἐχέμυθος, one who could keep a Secret; to whom thoſe who were lapſed into any great Sin might confeſs it; and he, according to his Diſcretion, was to enjoin a Penance for it. But ſtill there was no Command, for all People to confeſs their Sins to this Presbyter, for then there muſt have been more of them; bnt the Hiſtorian ſays, there was but one Penitentiary in all Conſtantinople, in which there were ſixty Presbyters. But in the Latin Church, the Practice of Publick Confeſſion to the whole Congregation, continued 200 Years longer, viz. till the Time of Pope Leo, which was about the Year 450, who, by an Injunction of his, did abrogate it, Leon. Epiſt. 78. After ſome time, the Greek Church began to grow weary of this private Confeſſion to a Penitentiary, and ſo laid it aſide: For a certain Lady having confeſſed, that ſhe had uſed unlawful Familiarity with a Deacon of the Church of Conſtantinople, (that being the occaſion of a great deal of Talk and Scandal) Nectarius, Biſhop of the Place, depoſed the Deacon, and abrogated the Office of a Penitentiary: Soz. Hiſt. Eccl. Lib. 7. cap. 16. Socr. Lib. 5. cap. 18. It ought further to be obſerv'd, that whilſt private Confeſſion to Miniſters was practiſed, in ſome of the earlier Ages of the Church, recourſe was had to them only as Spiritual Phyſicians and Counſellors, as appears by many Paſſages of Antiquity: Orig. in Pſal. 37. Cypr. Serm. de lapſis. Hier. in 16. Mat. Vid. Note in Viſit. Sick. Hom. on Repentance Par. II.

In the Council at the Lateran, which was held in the Year 1215, every Perſon, of each Sex. was obliged once in a Year to Confeſs to the Miniſter of his Pariſh, the Sins which he had been guilty of, &c. Conc. Lat cap. 21. Auricular Confeſſion to the Prieſt being thus eſtabliſh'd, ſome of the School-Divines of the Romiſh Church, carried it to further lengths, making it to be an Article of Faith; To be receiv'd by the Prieſt, not Miniſterially, but Judicially and Authoritatively; That every ſingle Sin muſt be diſcover'd to them, with all its aggravating Circumſtances, &c. All which horrible Tyranny over Mens Conſciences, and diving into the Secrets of Families and Governments, was confirm'd by the Council of Trent, Seſſ. 14. cap. 6.

The excellent Compilers of our Liturgy, being willing to ſettle things upon the Ancient Bottom, order'd only a General Confeſſion of Sins to be pronounc'd by all Perſons indifferently, not requiring any particular Confeſſions to be made; thereby coming much nearer to the Apoſtolical Practice than the Romiſh Liturgy can pretend to, in all which Service there is no Confeſſion which the People ſhare in; for their Confiteor tibi Domine, &c. in the Maſs, relates to the Prieſt, and the Confiteor Deo omnipotenti, Beatæ Mariæ, &c. in the Breviary, is the Confeſſion only of the Clergy.

MORNING PRAYER.

I. ALmighty, and moſt merciful Father; We have erred, and ſtrayed from thy ways like loſt ſheep. We have followed too much the devices, and deſires of our own hearts. We have offended againſt thy holy Laws. We have left undone thoſe things, which we ought to have done; And we have done thoſe things, which we ought not to have done; And there is no health in us. II. But thou, O Lord, have mercy upon us, miſerable Offenders. Spare thou them, O God, which confeſs their faults. Reſtore thou them that are penitent; According to thy Promiſes declared unto mankind in Chriſt Jeſu our Lord. III. And grant, O moſt merciful Father, for his ſake; That we may hereafter live a godly, righteous, and ſober Life, To the Glory of thy Holy Name. Amen.

PARAPARASE on the General Confeſſion.

I. O Lord, we addreſs our ſelves to thee, in conſideration of thoſe Attributes of thine, which moſt diſpoſe thee to pardon Sinners: Thy Omnipotence, by which thou art endowed with a ſufficient Power to help us; and thy Mercifulneſs, by which thou haſt always a Will to do it: Having likewiſe a comfortable Expectation of Forgiveneſs from that Relation of Fatherhood, which thou art pleaſed to own, that thou doſt bear towards us. We muſt to our ſhame, confeſs, that we have, by our Sins of Surpriſe and Infirmity, erred, and made ſmaller Steps out of the Path of our Duty; and, at other times, ſtrayed, and made larger Excurſions from thoſe Ways which the Holy Religion thou haſt revealed, has chalked out to us, to walk in; and this (to uſe our Saviour's Similitude) not unlike loſt Sheep, that ſtraggle from their Shepherd, and are thereby expoſed to innumerable Dangers. We acknowledge that we have, too often, conſented to thoſe unlawful Deſires, which we have been prompted to by our corrupt Nature, and original Depravation. We have added to theſe, many actual Offences againſt thy Holy Laws, which we are ſo ſtrictly obliged to obſerve. Beſides, we acknowledge ourſelves to have been guilty of many ſeveral kinds of Actual Sins, being anſwerable for many Sins of Omiſſion, by neglecting the ſeveral Duties commanded us: And many Sins of Commiſſion, by a wilful doing what was forbidden us. So that there is no part of our Souls healthy, or free from Sin, but they being, as it were, under an univerſal Sickneſs, Iſai. 1. 6. [Or, we can hope for no Health or Salvation from our ſelves.] II. We fly therefore to thy Goodneſs, O God, for a Deliverance from this Burden of our Sins, and (like the Penitent Publican, Luk. 18. 1.) Beſeech thee to be merciful to us miſerable Sinners. Remit therefore, we pray thee, the Puniſhment which is due to our Sins, upon our Confeſſion of them, and hearty Repentance for them. And upon our being truly Penitent, reſtore us to thy Favour, which we have forfeited by our Diſobedience; and Gal. 6. 1. let us enjoy the Benefits of thine Elect Saints, whoſe Privileges wicked impenitent Sinners are excluded from: XI. As thou haſt promiſed to us in the Charter of the Goſpel delivered to us by Jeſus Chriſt. III. Therefore we beſeech thee, O Gracious God, not for the ſake of any Saint or Angel, but for the ſake of thy dear Son, in whoſe Name, when we ask any thing, thou haſt promiſed to give it, John 16. 23. to afford us ſuch a powerful Aſſiſtance of the Grace of thy Holy Spirit, that, for the future, we may faithfully diſcharge all the parts of our Chriſtian Duty: That we may live Godlily, in paying a devout Worſhip to Almighty God; That we may live Righteouſly, in doing all Acts of Juſtice and Charity to our Neighbour: And Soberly, in performing all the Duties of Temperance, Chaſtity, and other Vertues which relate to ourſelves. Nor do we deſire this, to reflect any Honour upon ourſelves, or to acquire any Merit by ſuch a Religious Life; but only that the greater Glory may be aſcrib'd to thy Goodneſs, by whoſe Grace we expect to have thoſe Diſpoſitions and Habits to be wrought in us.

(b) The Abſolution.] The Abſolution, here enjoin'd to be pronounc'd by the Miniſter, does conſiſt of three Parts: Firſt, the Abſolving-Form contain'd in theſe words, The Almighty God pardoneth and abſolveth all them that truly repent, and unfeignedly believe his Holy Goſpel: Secondly, A Declaration both of the Authority, the Miniſters of Chriſt are veſted with for this purpoſe, and of the Conditions requir'd to make it take effect: And laſtly, A Prayer to God for his Grace, thereby to attain to ſuch of thoſe Qualifications that we may be wanting in. As to the Form, we may take notice, that the Form uſed by the Romiſh Church is avoided, which was, Ego abſolvo te ab omnibus peccatis tuis in nomine Patris, Filii, & Spiritus Sancti, Amen: I abſolve thee from all thy Sins, in the Name of the Father, Son, and Holy Ghoſt, Amen. In Othobon's Injunctions, we find the Form to be, Ego te à peccatis tuis authoritate quâ fungor abſolvo Which Johannes de Athona Gloſſing upon, explains, or rather gives the Form uſed in his Time, i. e. in the Reign of Edward I. A. D. 1290. A peccatis iſtis mihi per te jam confeſſis, & aliis de quibus non recordaris, authoritate Dei Patris Omnipotentis & Apoſtolorum Petri & Pauli, ac Officii mihi commiſſi, te abſolvo. I abſolve thee from the Sins which thou haſt confeſſed to me, and from all other which thou doſt not remember, by the Authority of God the Almighty Father, and the Apoſtles Peter and Paul, and that of the Office entruſted to me. In all which Forms you may obſerve, that the Prieſt pronounces the Abſolution as from himſelf, judicially and authoritatively, in the firſt Perſon, I abſolve: Which our Church has changed into, Almighty God pardoneth. Not that our Church abſolutely condemns Forms of Abſolution, which run in the firſt Perſon, ſhe having enjoin'd one of that kind, in the Office for the Viſitation of the Sick: but, as that is only at the deſire of the Sick Perſons, on a ſpecial Confeſſion of their Sins, and upon a very extraordinary occaſion, ſo ſhe thinks the Declarative Form more proper for daily Uſe; as being leſs liable to the Exceptions of thoſe, who would be apt from thence to accuſe the Clergy, for aggrandizing their own Office, by ſo frequently repeating the Power which they are veſted with. Vid. Not. on the Viſitat. of the Sick. Whereas the Popiſh Forms run in abſolute Terms, without Conditions, our Abſolution is pronounc'd as limited to ſuch as truly Repent, i. e. who are under hearty Sorrow for Sin, and are fully reſolv'd upon Amendment; and not ſuch as are only attrite, in the Romiſh Phraſe, i. e. have ſome faint Wiſhes to be good; which Perſons, in the Romiſh Church, are allowed the Benefit of Abſolution, Con. Trident. Seſſ. 4. cap. 4. The words unfeignedly believe his Holy Goſpel, are added, becauſe Repentance and remiſſion of Sins are preached only in Chriſt's Name, Luk. 24. 47. Beſides, the Wiſdom of our Church is remarkable, in putting both theſe Qualifications together; one of which, being either omitted in the Abſolution-Form uſed by ſome in other Reformed Churches; or Faith in its general Signification, being alone mention'd as a Qualification for it, has given occaſion to the Papiſts to revile them for Solifidians. Calvini forma (ſays Bellarmin. de Pœn. Lib. 3. cap. 2.) eſt, Remittuntur tibi peccata, ſi credis. Beſides the Form of Abſolution, the Church here vouches the Authority and Command by which the Miniſter pronounces the Abſolution, which is, that of God Almighty made known to us in his Holy Word; and the place pointed at is principally that of St. John, Whoſeſoever ſins ye remit, they are remitted unto them; and whoſeſoever ſins ye retain, they are retained, Joh. 20. 23. Whereby a Power of Abſolution was for ever veſted in the Apoſtles, and the Miniſters of the Goſpel, who were to ſucceed after them.

(c) By the Prieſt.] That it might not be doubted by whom this Form of Abſolution may be pronounc'd, the Rubrick does expreſly inform us, that it is the Prieſt who officiates. By Prieſt, in Church-Language, is underſtood, a Perſon who is advanced, in the Eccleſiaſtical Orders, to the Dignity of a Presbyter: And no Perſon in any Age of the Church, who was under this Degree, did ever pretend, as of Right, to pronounce Abſolution. The Penitentiaries, in the ancient and more modern Ages of the Church, were always of this Degree. 'Twas adopted into an Axiom in the Canon-Law, Ejus eſt abſolvere cujus eſt ligare: No one could pronounce Abſolution, but he who had Power to Excommunicate. In the Body of that Law, Abſolution

Upon which the Learned Annotator Gloſſes, Eſt namque regulare, quod quilibet debet confiteri Sacerdoti; nam ſolis Sacerdotibus dedit Dominus ligandi & ſolvendi Poteſtatem, cum dixit, Joh. xx. Quorum remiſeritis, &c. Our Church, in the laſt Review of the Liturgy, has choſen to put in the Word Prieſt, inſtead of Miniſter, (which was in K. Edward VI. ſecond Book, and in Q. Elizabeth's) to the End that no one might pretend to pronounce this, but one in Prieſt's Orders; being ſenſible that ſome bold Innovations had been made herein, by reaſon of ſome Perſons miſunderſtanding, or miſapplying the Word Miniſter. But the firſt Compilers of the Common-Prayer underſtood the ſame by Miniſter, as we do now by Prieſt; that being the general acceptation of the Word at that time. Vid. Note on the Abſolution in the Evening-Service. And we muſt note, That the Compilers of the ſecond Book of Edw. VI. (in which the Confeſſion and Abſolution were firſt inſerted) put into the Rubrick, to be ſaid by the Miniſter (or Prieſt) alone, to avoid the Imputation which the Papiſts had charged ſome of the Reformed with, for permitting Abſolution to be pronounced by Perſons not of this Order: For in the Provincial Council of Sens (which was before that of Trent, and ended twenty Years before the Compiling our Common-Prayer, viz. A. D. 1528.) we find the Proteſtants found fault with for affirming, Laicos & mulierculas aquè ac Presbyteros poſſe abſolvere? That Laicks, and Women, among them might pronounce Abſolution. Which indeed was Luther's Opinion, but only ſo (as Chemnitius explains it) that in caſe of extreme Neceſſity they might uſe it; Which Doctrine he had from the Papiſts themſelves.

But it may be ſaid, That Prieſt here ſignifies, not one who is in Prieſt's Orders, but any Miniſter that officiates, whether Prieſt or Deacon; That a Deacon is a Miniſter in the Common-Prayer-Book ſenſe of the Word, and may read not only the Common-Prayer, but alſo this Abſolution. But I anſwer, 1*ſt*, The word Prieſt, neither here, nor any-where elſe, in the Common-Prayer, ſignifies ſo; and the Compilers of that Book were better Divines and Canoniſts, than to put that ſenſe upon the Word. 2. The Word Miniſter in the Common-Prayer-Book Rubricks, always ſignifies a Prieſt miniſtring or officiating. Vid. Evening Prayer. 3. That 'tis no part of the Deacon's Office to read this or any part of the Common-Prayer, unleſs the Litany, in publick. His Office is to aſſiſt the Prieſt who miniſtreth in Divine Service, to read Scripture and Homily, and to preach when licenſed; but to perform Divine Service is no part of the Office of a Deacon in the Church of God, committed to him in his Ordination; Office of ordering Deacons. Vid. Notes on the Rubrick after the Preface. 4. The Power of Abſolution delegated to Miniſters by Jeſus Chriſt, John xx. 23. is not given to Deacons, but to Prieſts. Now, with what face can a Deacon ſay, That God having given Power and Commandment to his Miniſters, to pronounce Abſolution to his Penitent People, therefore he does accordingly pronounce it; when, at the ſame time he knows he is not one of thoſe Miniſters to whom this Power is granted? Indeed, for Deacons to perform Divine Service, is an Intruſion of too long ſtanding among us eaſily to be rectified; but, for them to pronounce Abſolution, is a more novel Boldneſs, which, if not check'd by Superiors, in time will proceed to greater Extravagance. When this Form of Abſolution was added in the ſecond Book of Edward VI. it ſeems to have been, in ſome meaſure, taken from the Abſolutio Pluralis in the old Ordo Romanus; for in that the Scriptural Authority, upon which Abſolution is grounded, is included in a long Parentheſis, as it is in ours; and the force of the firſt Word, which went before the Parentheſis, is implied again in the Word ipſe, as it is, in ours, by the Word He. Dominus Jeſus Chriſtus (qui dignatus eſt, Diſcipulis ſuis dicere quæcunque ligaveritis ſuper terram, erunt ſoluta & in cœlo, &c.) ipſe vos abſolvere dignetur. Ord. Rom. in Auctuario Bibl. Patrum. Le Bign. p. 59.

Note, That the Word alone here is of very comprehenſive ſignification: For 1. It denotes, That no one muſt pronounce this but a Prieſt. 2. It denotes, That whereas the Confeſſion is ordered to be ſaid by the whole Congregation, ſaying after the Miniſter, here the People muſt leave off ſpeaking, and let the Prieſt pronounce the Abſolution alone by himſelf. 3. It implies, That the Prieſt alone muſt ſtand, and the People kneel.

I. II. Therefore that we may receive the Benefit of this Holy Ordinance, let us pray to God, of whom cometh every good and perfect gift, Jam. i. 17. to afford us the Grace of true Repentance, and withal the Aſſiſtance of his Holy Spirit; for without the Illumination of this bleſſed Spirit, which helps our Infirmities, Rom. viii. 26. our Devotion will not be well-pleaſing to him, Gal. iv. 6. which Holy Spirit is likewiſe neceſſary, that we may not return to our Sins again, but that our Souls, which have formerly been polluted with many Vices, may ſhine with that Purity and Holineſs which the Goſpel requires. So that when we come to die, we may enter into the Joy of the Father, through the Merits of Jeſus Chriſt our bleſſed Redeemer.

NOTES.

(d) The Lord's-Prayer.] This Prayer is called the Lord's-Prayer, becauſe it was dictated by our bleſſed Lord to his Diſciples, as a comprehenſive Form, comprehending all things neceſſary for them to pray for; and alſo to be uſed by them, and all thoſe who ſhould embrace the Chriſtian Faith, in their Devotions. For it was a common practice among the Jewiſh Doctors, to deliver to their Scholars a certain Form of Prayer, to be uſed together with the eſtabliſhed Form of Devotions; to the end that their School might be diſtinguiſhed from thoſe of other Rabbi's, whereof ſeveral Inſtances are to be found in the Babyloniſh Gemara. Gem. Bab. Tract. Berachoth. And to this Cuſtom our Saviour's Diſciples are ſuppoſed to refer, when they deſired of him to teach them to pray, Lu. xi. 1.

(e) audible voice; the People alſo (f) kneeling, and repeating it with him, both here, and whereſoever elſe it is uſed in Divine Service.

I. OUr Father, which art in Heaven, Hallowed be thy Name. Thy Kingdom come. Thy will be done in Earth, As it is in Heaven, II. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our treſpaſſes, As we forgive them, that treſpaſs againſt us. And lead us not into temptation; But deliver us from Evil: III. For thine is the Kingdom, the Power, And the Glory, For ever and ever. Amen.

¶ Then

And according to this Injunction the Primitive Chriſtians conſtantly made uſe of it in their Publick Worſhip; therefore it was called, Publica & communis oratio: The publick and common Prayer, Cypr. de Orat. Dom. So Tertullian calls it the Legitima Oratio: The eſtabliſhed or enjoined Form of Prayer. Sed in legitimâ oratione, cum dicimus ad Patrem, & ne inducas nos in tentationem: But in the Eſtabliſhed Prayer when we ſay, lead us not into temptation, Tertul. lib. de fug. in Perſ. To the ſame purpoſe St. Auſtin: Moneo vos, chariſſimi, ut precem legitimam Patri & Deo offerendam ante diſcatis. I adviſe you, my deareſt Friends, that beforehand you learn the Eſtabliſhed Prayer, to be offered up to God and the Father, Aug. Serm. 126. de Temp. But of the uſe of this in the Publick Prayers of the ancient Church, ſee Note A on the Preface. This Prayer they looked upon as a Compendium of all Matters proper to be asked for. Therefore St. Cyprian ſays, that it is, In virtute ſpiritualiter copioſa, ut nihil omnino prætermiſſum ſit, quod non in precibus & orationibus noſtris cæleſtis doctrinæ compendio comprehendatur: So copious in ſpiritual virtue, that there is nothing omitted in all our Prayers and Petitions, which is not comprehended in this Epitome of heavenly doctrine, Cypr. in Orat. Dom.

Beſides this, the Ancients were of Opinion, That the making uſe of this Prayer was of ſpecial efficacy to incline God to pardon Sins of Infirmity, eſpecially thoſe committed through want of Fervour and ſufficient Attention in our other Prayers: De quotidianis autem levibuſque peccatis, ſine quibus hæc vita non ducitur, quotidiana oratio ſatisfaciet. As for our daily and ſlight Sins, without which no one can live, the daily (i. e. the Lord's-Prayer, becauſe it was ſaid daily in the Devotions of the Church) will be accepted by God for pardon of them, Aug. Ench. ad Laur. cap. 7. For ſo it is explain'd by the Council of Toledo, by which it is enjoined, that Presbyteri & cæteri Clerici Dominicam Orationem, quia quotidiana oratio eſt, quotidie dicere. That Presbyters and other of the Clergy ſhould ſay the Lord's-Prayer daily, becauſe it is the daily Prayer, Con. Tol. IV. can. 9. And gives the forementioned Reaſon for this Injunction. Delet enim hæc quotidiana oratio minima & quotidiana peccata. For this daily Oration blots out the ſmaller and daily ſins, Conc. IV. Tol. ib. But this Doctrine the Papiſts afterwards perverted, by their diſtinction of Sins into Venial and Mortal, and by the pure opus operatum of repeating the Lord's-Prayer; which Abuſes are taken away by the wiſe Reformers of our Church.

(e) Audible Voice.] It was an ancient Cuſtom of the Church for the Lord's-Prayer to be repeated with a loud Voice. Thus Amalarius Fortunatus, an ancient Ritualiſt, ſays, Dominica Oratio in Miſſa ſacro, non tacitè ſed excelſâ voce dicenda eſt, eâ ratione quod hæc oratio publica & communis ſit. In the Communion-Service, when the Lord's-Prayer is ſaid, it muſt be ſaid with a loud Voice, becauſe it is a Prayer which is publick, and of the whole Congregation. Amal. Fort. de Offic. Eccl. cap. 29.

(f) Kneeling.] That Kneeling was a Poſture of Religious Worſhip or Prayer to Almighty God, among the Jews, in the moſt ancient Times, is evident from ſeveral Paſſages in Scripture: For this was the Poſture which Solomon uſed in his Prayer, at the Dedication of the Temple: And it was ſo, that when Solomon had made an end of praying, all this Prayer and Supplication unto the Lord, he aroſe from before the Altar of the Lord, from kneeling on his knees, 2 King. viii. 53. The ſame is recorded in the Book of Chronicles, that he kneeled down upon his knees, before all the congregation of Iſrael, 2 Chr. vi. 13. The ſame Poſture Daniel uſed in his Devotions, His Windows being open in his chamber towards Jeruſalem, he kneeled upon his knees three times a day, and prayed, Dan. vi. 10. So Iſaiah expreſſes the Worſhip which ought to be paid to the one true God, from the Poſture which uſually attended it; I have ſworn by my ſelf, that unto me every knee ſhall bow, Iſai. xlv. 23. The ſame Religious Poſture of Praying was uſed by our bleſſed Lord himſelf, And he was withdrawn from them about a ſtones caſt, and kneeled down and prayed, Luk. xxii. 41. The ſame Poſture was uſed in Prayer by the Apoſtles, and other Holy Perſons among the firſt Chriſtians: St. Paul, after his Sermon, kneeled down and prayed with them all, Acts xx. 26. And St. Stephen, at his Martyrdom, kneeled down, and cried with a loud Voice, Lord, lay not this ſin to their charge, Acts vii. 60. When St. Peter raiſed Tabitha from the dead, he kneeled down and prayed, Act. ix. 40. Thus St. Paul expreſſing Prayer by the uſual Poſture which attended it, ſays, For this cauſe I bow my knees unto the Father of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, Eph. iii. 14. The ſame Practice was continued by the Chriſtians of the firſt Ages. The Chriſtian Soldiers, whilſt they were praying for Rain in Aurelius's Army (and did thereby miraculouſly obtain it) were γονυπετοῦντες ἐπὶ τῆς γῆς κατὰ τὸ ἰδιάζον ἡμῶν τῶν εὐχῶν ἔθος. Kneeling upon the Ground, according to the peculiar Cuſtom of us Chriſtians, ſays Euſebius, Hiſt. Eccl. Lib. V. c. 5. This Tertullian calls, Adoratio de geniculis; Adoring God upon our knees, Tert. adv. Jud. cap. 10. And genibus poſitis, orationem commendare; to commend our Prayers to God kneeling upon our knees, Adv. Marcion. cap. 18. And in another place, referring to the forementioned Story recorded in Euſebius, ſays, Quando non geniculationibus & jejunationibus noſtris, etiam ſiccitates ſunt depulſæ? When doth it come to paſs that Droughts are not driven away by our kneelings, i. e. Prayers, and our Faſtings? Tert. ad Scap. cap. 4. Indeed this Kneeling at Publick prayers was changed into Standing, during the Solemnity of the Paſchal Feſtivity, or the time between Eaſter and Whitſuntide, and alſo upon every Sunday throughout the Year. Wherefore Tertullian ſays, Die dominico jejunium neſas ducimus, vel de geniculis adorare. Eadem immunitate à die Paſchæ in Pentecoſtem uſque gaudemus. We eſteem it a Crime to faſt upon Sundays, or to ſay our Prayers upon our knees. The ſame Privilege we enjoy from Eaſter to Whitſuntide, De Cor. Mil. cap. 3. And when ſome were breaking in upon this ancient Uſage, the Council of Nice inforces the ſame by a Canon, Ἐπειδή τινες εἰσιν ἐν τῇ κνεμαχῇ γονυκλινοῦντες, καὶ ἐν ταῖς τῆς Πεντηκοστῆς ἡμέραις ὑπὲρ τὸ πάντα ἐν πάσῃ παροικίᾳ ὁμοίως φυλάττεσθαι, ἵνα δῶμεν τῷ ἀληθεῖ Συνόδῳ τὰς εὐχὰς ἀπροσκόπως τῷ Θεῷ. Foraſmuch as there are ſome who kneel at Church on Sundays, and within the Fifty Days, that there may be an Uniformity in every Dioceſe, it has pleaſed the Holy Synod to enjoin, that at thoſe times they pray ſtanding, Conc. Nic. Canon. ult. But bating the Exception in Honour of theſe great Feſtivals, in which the Ancients thought Standing was more proper, as being a more joyful Poſture, and fitter for a Feaſt than Kneeling; and having ſomething ſymbolical in it, to denote the Reſurrection, to the Honour of which theſe Feſtivals were dedicated, (ἐμβολὸν ὅτι τῆς ἀναστάσεως, Author. Quæſt. ad Orthod. Qu. CXV.) I ſay, bating this, at all other Times they prayed kneeling, as thinking this the moſt humble Poſture, and moſt likely to obtain of God an anſwer to their Prayers, Conc. Tar. III. Can. 37. The ſame Poſture was uſed by the Primitive Chriſtians in their Private Devotions; upon which account St. James the Juſt is reported, by the frequency of his Devotions, to have made his Knees like thoſe of Camels, Hier. de Jacobo: The like is reported of Aſella, Hier. Ep. 15. ad Marcel.

NOTES.

(g) All ſtanding up.] It was the Practice of the Primitive Church to perform thoſe Parts of the Publick Service, which were not celebrated Kneeling, in the Poſture of Standing; for this was another way of reſpectful Worſhip paid to Almighty God, in the Acts of Prayer and Thankſgiving, uſed anciently in the Jewiſh Church, and from thence derived to the Chriſtian. And when we ſtand praying, forgive if we have ought againſt any, Mark xi. 25. The Phariſee and the Publican in the Parable are repreſented as ſtanding and praying, Luke xviii. 11, 13. The ſame Poſture was uſed by the Primitive Chriſtians in the earlieſt Ages, in thoſe Parts and Times of Devotion, when they did not kneel. Quando ſtamus ad Orationem, ſays St. Cyprian: When we ſtand at our Prayers, Cypr. in Orat. Dom. This occaſioned the meeting of the Primitive Chriſtians, for performance of their Devotions, and other Spiritual Exerciſes, to be called Stationes, Standings. We find theſe frequently mentioned in Tertullian, and thoſe Aſſemblies that were commonly called by this Name, were held upon Wedneſdays and Fridays. Stationes dies ſuos habent quartæ & ſextæ feriæ: They keep their Stations upon Wedneſdays and Fridays. They met early in the Morning and continued in the Aſſembly (praying and hearing the Word, read and Expounded, and laſtly receiving the HolySacrament) till Three of the Clock in the Afternoon; and then the Congregation broke up.

(h) Glory be.] The Gloria Patri was in uſe before Arius's Time, or a Hymn very like it, as appears from Clem. Alex. Pædag. who wrote Anno Chriſti 190. Αινοῦμεν τῶ μόνω παιδὶ καὶ ὑῖῶ καὶ πνεύματι. Afterwards it became a Teſt upon the Arians, who altered it to, Glory be to the Father, by the Son, and in the Holy Ghoſt.

(i) Praiſe ye.] Theſe words are the Engliſh of the Hebrew Hallelujah, which was wont to be ſung in the ancient Churches upon all ſolemn Occaſions, and was never miſſed upon Sundays. Hallelujah diebus dominicis cantatur ubique.

(k) Sung this Pſalm.] This Pſalm is called in the Latin Service, The Invitatory Pſalm. Some have miſtaken, and taken the firſt Verſe of it for the Invitatorium; for the Invitatorium was a ſelect Text of Scripture, generally adapted to the Day, and uſed juſt before the Venite. The Morning-Service beginning with this Service, it was formerly ſung with a very ſtrong and loud Voice, to haſten People into Church, who were near about it, or who were in the Cemitery, waiting for the beginning of Prayers. And Durandus ſpeaks of ſome lazy Chriſtians, in his Time, A. D. 1286, who uſed to lie in their Beds till they heard the Venite ſung in the Church, and then uſed to get up and come thither, Durand. de divinis Off. Lib. V. cap. 3. Certain it is, that the Primitive Chriſtians uſed to ſing Pſalms, all the time the Congregation was gathering together.

MORNING PRAYER.

Venite, exultemus Domino. Pſal. 95.

I. O Come, let us ſing unto the Lord: let us heartily rejoice in the ſtrength of our ſalvation.

II. Let us come before his preſence with thankſgiving: and ſhew our ſelves glad in him with Pſalms.

III. For the Lord is a great God: and a great King above all gods.

IV. In his hand are all the corners of the earth: and the ſtrength of the hills is his alſo.

V. The ſea is his, and he made it: and his hands prepared the dry land.

VI. O come, let us worſhip, and fall down: and kneel before the Lord our Maker.

VII. For he is the Lord our God: and we are the people of his paſture, and the ſheep of his hand.

VIII. To day if ye will hear his voice, harden not your hearts: as in the provocation, and as in the day of temptation in the Wilderneſs.

IX. When your Fathers tempted me: proved me, and ſaw my works.

X. Fourty years long was I grieved with this generation, and ſaid: it is a people that do erre in their hearts, for they have not known my waies.

XI. Unto whom I ſware in my wrath: that they ſhould not enter into my reſt.

Glory be to the Father, and to the Son: and to the Holy Ghoſt.

As it was in the beginning, is now, and ever ſhall be: world without end. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the Venite.

I. Go to, let us ſing Praiſes unto God: let us keep a Jubilee before our Lord Jehovah, our mighty Redeemer.

II. Let us appear before the Ark, the eſpecial place of his preſence, with giving of Thanks: and rejoice before him with Pſalmody.

III. For our God Jehovah is not a vain fictitious Being, but the Real, the only and great God: a God, that is infinitely exceeding all the Heathen Idol gods.

IV. He is a God by whoſe Word were firſt made, and at whoſe diſpoſal now are, all the dark Corners and low Caverns of the Earth: and who has a Right and Sovereignty over the high and ſtrong Mountains, thoſe Mountains of Laſſitude (as the Original calls them) that are ſo high, that they weary the Aſcenders of them.

V. Ours is the ſame God, who by the like Virtue of Creation, has a Right to all the Sea and dry Land, whereſoever widely diſperſed over the Globe of the Earth.

VI. Nay for a further Motive for us to worſhip this only great and true God, let us conſider him as the Maker of us Men; and upon that account, let us bow our Knees in Adoration of our bountiful Creator.

VII. But for us the Seed of Abraham, we have ſtill more particular Obligations to praiſe him; he having choſen us to be his peculiar People, taking care of us as a Shepherd does of his Flock.

VIII. But then we muſt not think, that God will be our God, and that we ſhall be his choſen People, if in this our Day we will not hear his Voice, Numb. xiv. 22. and obey his Laws, but provoke him by our ſtubborn Hearts and Diſobedience, as our Forefathers did in their day at Maſſah and Meribah, Exod. xvii. 2, 7.

IX. When the ancient Jews your Predeceſſors had a Mind (as God Almighty ſpeaks, Exod. xvii. 2.) to tempt me, and prove me how far my Almighty Power reached, and to put me to gratifie their unreaſonable Curioſities upon unneceſſary Miracles; tho' they could not but be abundantly ſatisfied of my omnipotent Arm, by the Works which they ſaw I did for their ſakes in Egypt.

X. Full forty Years together, Numb. xiv. 23. was I vexed with the Croſſneſs of this untoward Generation; which made me declare in theſe words, I the Lord have ſaid, this is an evil Congregation, Numb. 16. 35. that have a Heart perfectly eſtranged from me, and that never conſidered thoſe great Works which I did for them.

XI. Which Treatment of me, provoked me to ſo high a Degree, that I declared upon my Oath, that they ſhould not enter into the Land of Canaan, the place of their reſting, after their wandering. This Oath you read, Numb. xiv. 23. As I live your Carcaſes ſhall fall in this Wilderneſs. Surely they ſhall not ſee the Land which I ſwear to their Forefathers.

NOTES.

(l) Te Deum.] There is no doubt to be made, but that this Hymn was uſed in the Church about the Year 530, at which time St. Bennet inſtituted his Order, and preſcribed the ſinging of this Hymn, as one of his Rules, Reg. cap. 11. About the Year 560, in the Reign of Juſtin the Emperor, lived Dacius, Biſhop of Milain, as St. Gregory writes, Lib. III. Dial. cap. 4., who wrote a Chronicle; in the firſt Book whereof he writes thus; A Beato Ambroſio, &c. By the bleſſed Ambroſe, all the faithful People of the City ſtanding by and beholding, Auſtin was baptized and confirmed in the Name of the holy and individual Trinity, in which Fountain, as the Spirit gave them utterance, they ſinging firſt, gave Birth to the Hymn, Te Deum laudamus, which by the whole Catholick Church is, to this Day, entertained and religiouſly ſung. Others tell the Story with more particularity: That Ambroſe ſaid the firſt Verſe, Te Deum laudamus; Auſtin made anſwer, Te Dominum confitemur; Ambroſe again the next Verſe, Te æternum Patrem; Auſtin, Tibi omnes Angeli; and ſo alternately to the end of the Hymn, Durandus de Off. Lib. V. cap. 3. For the Truth of which Story, tho' I will not pretend to be a Voucher, yet thus much I think is from hence inconteſtably clear, That this Hymn was generally uſed by the Church in her Publick Devotion, before the middle of the Sixth Century. Nay, the Author thereof was probably St. Ambroſe; for St. Ambroſe was a Writer of Hymns: St. Auſtin, in his Confeſſions, commending the Hymn Veni creator omnium, as St. Ambroſe's. St. Ambroſe himſelf makes mention of his own Hymns, in his Oration de Baſil. non tradendis, which his Adverſaries the Arians pretended he had miſguided the People by; one of which, 'tis probable, this preſent Hymn was, he mentioning therein the eternal Generation of the Son, Thou art the everlaſting Son of the Father.

PARAPHRASE on the Te Deum.

I. The Doxology.

I. We the Congregation of thy faithful People, now gathered together, do praiſe thee, O great God, and acknowledge thee to be the Lord and Maker of Heaven and Earth.

II. For ſurely we Chriſtians are bound to praiſe thee, ſince every Nation in the World doth acknowledge thee to be the eternal Father and Maker of all things; and pay thee ſome kind of Worſhip or other, in the midſt of their darkeſt Superſtitions.

III. Nor is this Tribute of Praiſe given thee only by the Sons of Men, but all the Angelick Orders likewiſe pay their Worſhip to thee, in Songs of Admiration and Thankſgiving.

IV. The Cherubs and Seraphs, two of the Brighteſt and moſt Exalted of the Angelical Natures, continually, in their Adorations, do praiſe thee.

V. As 'tis recorded in that Prophetical Hymn, Iſa. vi. 3. And one Seraphim cried to another, and ſaid, Holy, Holy, Holy, is the Lord of Hoſts, VI. The whole Earth is full of his Glory.

VII. Another Addition to thy Praiſe, in the Heavenly Quire, is from the Souls of the bleſſed Apoſtles; the moſt glorious Company of any thing that is Human in Heaven, and next in Dignity after the Angels: Happy Souls! who, after having proſperouſly beſtowed their Labours in Preaching the Goſpel here, are now arrived in thoſe Manſions of Bliſs, to praiſe God for ever there.

VIII. Next after theſe come the Holy Prophets, which make a goodly Society among the Ranks of glorified Beings; they having been the Heralds and Harbingers to foretel, and to prepare the way of Chriſt's coming, are now arrived to a Share in his Glory, and do partake of a very honourable Place in his Kingdom; for ever praiſing thee there.

IX. Beſides theſe, there is the noble Army of Martyrs, who having by their Blood gained the Victory over the World and the Devil, are now admitted to take a Share in the Quire of Heaven, for ever to ſing Hallelujahs to the Honour of God,

X. Nor is thy praiſe confined only to the Celeſtial Regions, but even thy Church on Earth, whereſoever widely diſperſed over the different Countries of the Univerſe, do with an Uniformity of Faith, acknowledge the myſterious Truths of thy Divine Nature which thou haſt revealed to us.

II. Confeſſion of Faith.

XI. Daily making the Confeſſion of our Faith; That the firſt Perſon of thy Divine Nature, is God the Father of infinite Majeſty, Power and Fecundity, by being the Fountain of the Divine Eſſence.

XII. Acknowledging likewiſe that the Second Perſon in this ever-bleſſed Trinity, is God the Son, not only thy Son by Adoption (as thou art pleaſed to make us) but thy true Son, who has the Honour to be produced by thee from all Eternity.

XIII. Alſo the Holy Ghoſt: the Comforter.
XIV. Thou art the King of Glory: O Chriſt.
XV. Thou art the everlaſting Son: of the Father.
XVI. When thou tookeſt upon thee to deliver man: thou didſt not abhor the Virgins womb.
XVII. When thou hadſt overcome the ſharpneſs of death: thou didſt open the kingdom of heaven to all believers.
XVIII. Thou ſitteſt at the right hand of God: in the Glory of the Father.
XIX. We believe, that thou ſhalt come: to be our Judge.

[III. Supplication.]

XX. We therefore pray thee, help thy ſervants: whom thou haſt redeemed with thy precious bloud.
XXI. Make them to be numbred with thy Saints: in glory everlaſting.
XXII. O Lord, ſave thy people: and bleſs thine heritage.
XXIII. Govern them: and lift them up for ever.
XXIV. Day by day: we magnifie thee;
XXV. And we worſhip thy Name: ever world without end.
XXVI. Vouchſafe, O Lord: to keep us this day without ſin.
XXVII. O Lord, have mercy upon us: have mercy upon us.
XXVIII. O Lord, let thy mercy lighten upon us: as our truſt is in thee.
XXIX. O Lord, in thee have I truſted: let me never be confounded.

¶ Or this * Canticle, (m) Benedicite, omnia Opera Domini.

XIII. And laſtly, thy Church declares her Belief in the ever-bleſſed Spirit, who is the Third Perſon of the Trinity, the Paraclete or Comforter, to whoſe kind Aſſiſtances and Inſpiration, we owe all the Chriſtian Graces we can hope for.

XIV. But we cannot but acknowledge of thee, O Chriſt, the Second Perſon of the bleſſed Trinity, whom ſome Perſons, by reaſon of thy Abaſement of thyſelf for our ſakes, do ungratefully depreciate; that nevertheleſs thou art the very God, the Heavenly King, and of equal Glory with the Father.

XV. Thou art the Son of God the Father, from all Eternity begotten of him.

XVI. When thou, at the time of thy Stipulation with the Father in Proſecution of thy Mediatorſhip, didſt undertake to deliver Man from the Wrath of God, which he was ſubject to, thou didſt not abhor to veil thy Omnipotency with our frail Fleſh, and to be born after the ordinary manner of us Men.

XVII. When thou by thy ſuffering for our Sins, hadſt overcome the Sting of Death, and been Conqueror over the Grave, 1 Cor. xv. 56,57. thou didſt open the Gates of Heaven to all Believers on thee, as well Patriarchs and Prophets who expected thy coming, as thoſe who ſaw thee in the Fleſh, and thoſe who believe on thee afterward upon their Teſtimony, John xx. 29.

XVIII. And now after this Victory over Death, thou haſt entered triumphantly into Heaven; and after thy Abaſement here on Earth, art advanced to ſit for ever on the right Hand of God, being raiſed to the greateſt Dignity and Glory that any Being is poſſeſſed of; making there Interceſſion for the Infirmities of thy poor Creatures, Heb. vii. 25.

XIX. And we believe, that at the end of the World, thou ſhalt come attended with innumerable Angels, Mark viii. 38. 2 Theſſ. I. 7. to judge the Quick and the Dead, 1 Tim. iv. 1.

III. The Supplication.

XX. We therefore pray thee, to aſſiſt us thy Servants with the Gift of thy Grace, pleading thy Merits for us, which upon our earneſt Prayers, we truſt thou wilt not fail to do, ſince thou haſt redeemed us by thy precious Blood.

XXI. Make us to be reckoned among the Number of thine eleſt Saints, who are to inherit eternal Glory, Rev. vii. 4.

XXII. O Lord, preſerve thy Servants of the Laity here preſent; and bleſs the Clergy thy peculiar Inheritance.

XXIII. Be thou to us all (both Prieſts and People) a tender Shepherd in governing us, and delivering us from Satan that Wolf who would devour us, 1 Pet. v. 8. and be pleaſed to draw us up after thee, John xii. 32. to that State of Immortality which thou art poſſeſſed of.

XXIV, XXV. Therefore in the words of the Pſalmiſt let us ſay, Every day do we bleſs thee, and praiſe thy Name for ever and ever, Pſal. cxlv. 2.

XXVI. Be pleaſed therefore to anſwer the Petitions of this day's Devotion, and to preſerve us from Sin, till the courſe of our publick Exerciſe returns to morrow.

XXVII. Making uſe of the words of the blind Men and the Lepers, Matt. xv. 22. Luke xvii. 13. we cry, Jeſu have Mercy on us.

XXVIII. Concluding our Hymn with the words of the Pſalmiſt, Let thy merciful Kindneſs, O Lord, be upon us, like as we do put our Truſt in thee, Pſal. xxxiii. 21.

XXIX. In thee have I put my Truſt: Let me never be put to Confuſion, Pſal. xxxi. 1.

(m) Benedicite.] This was an ancient Hymn in the Jewiſh Church, and adapted into the Chriſtian Worſhip in publick Devotion, from the moſt early Times. Indeed our Church doth not accept it for Canonical Scripture, becauſe it is not to be found in the Hebrew, nor was allowed in the Jewiſh Canon, as was obſerved long ago, by St. Jerom, in his Preface before his Comment on the Book of Daniel. Which Criticiſm, his Adverſary Ruffinus bears hard upon him for, ſaying, That inſtead of obſerving the Apoſtle's Advice, to beware of the Conciſion, he writes after their Copy. How (ſays he) ſhall the Church all the World over, as well thoſe that are in the Body, as thoſe who are gone to Chriſt, thoſe Holy Confeſſors, and Holy Martyrs, and whoſoever have ſung the Hymn of the Three Children in the Church of God; have all theſe, falſa cecinerunt, ſung a ſuppoſititious Piece of Scripture? Ruff. invect. in Hier. From which words two things are plain, Firſt, That Ruffinus, and the generality of the Chriſtians of his Time, took this Hymn to be a Portion of Holy Writ: And Secondly, That it was uſed as an Hymn in the Church long before Ruffinus's Time, which was A. D. 390. But before him, St. Cyprian quotes this Hymn of the Three Children, calling the Scripture which contains it, Divine, Cypr. de Or. Dom. The ſame is cited by St. Chryſoſtom, Hom. 4. ad Pop. Theodoret explains it in his Commentary on the Book of Daniel: And ſo does St. Jerom himſelf, for all his Objections againſt it. But tho' it be not Canonical Scripture, nor an inſpired Compoſition; however it is a pious Form of Praiſe, very ancient, and fit to excite Devotion in all good Chriſtians. It ſeems to be a Paraphraſtical Expoſition of the CXLVIII Pſalm.

XXIV. Let God be praiſed upon the account of the Fowls of the Air, which are ſo beneficial for Food, and many of which entertain us with ſuch grateful Melody; Let him be for ever honoured and extolled upon their account.

XXV. Let God be praiſed on account of the Beaſts and Cattel of the Field, which either by their Strength aſſiſt us in our Labours, or nouriſh us by their Fleſh, or cloath us by their Skins; Let God be for ever honoured and extolled on their account.

XXVI. But as for all Mankind, do you yourſelves join in praiſing your great Creator; Do you for ever honour and extol him.

XXVII. And eſpecially do you praiſe God, O ye People of the Jews, whom God has choſen for his peculiar Nation; Do you for ever honour and extol him.

XXVIII. And yet in a more eſpecial manner do you Prieſts praiſe God, who is your Maſter, and you his peculiar Domeſticks; Do you for ever honour and extol him.

XXIX. And do you likewiſe praiſe God, who, tho' the Laity of that choſen Nation, are yet the Servants of the Great God; Do you for ever honour and extol him.

XXX. And let all the ſeparate Souls of good Men, who are gone to reſt in Abraham's Boſom, praiſe God likewiſe; Let them for ever honour and extol him.

XXXI. Let all Holy and good Proſelites, who own the true God, join likewiſe in praiſing him; Let them for ever honour and extol him.

XXXII. And Ananias, Azarias, and Miſael will join with this univerſal Thankſgiving of Nature; and will for ever honour and extol him.

Glory be to the Father, &c.

NOTES.

(n) Benedictus.] This Hymn (called Benedictus from the firſt Word which it begins with in Latin) was the Song which Zacharias ſung, by the Inſpiration of the Holy Ghoſt, at the Circumciſion of his Son John. The uſe of it is excepted againſt, as being compoſed upon a peculiar Occaſion, and ſo not adapted to common uſe; but this would deprive us of the uſe of the Pſalms likewiſe, which were all, or moſt of them, written upon particular Occaſions likewiſe.

PARA-

MORNING PRAYER.

I. BLeſſed be the Lord God of Iſrael: for he hath viſited, and redeemed his people;

II. And hath raiſed up a mighty ſalvation for us: in the houſe of his ſervant David;

III. As he ſpake by the mouth of his holy Prophets: which have been ſince the World began;

IV. That we ſhould be ſaved from our enemies: and from the hands of all that hate us;

V. To perform the mercy promiſed to our forefathers: and to remember his holy Covenant;

VI. To perform the Oath which he ſware to our forefather Abraham: that he would give us;

VII. That we being delivered out of the hand of our enemies: might ſerve him without fear;

VIII. In holineſs, and righteouſneſs before him: all the days of our life.

IV. And thou, Child, ſhalt be called the prophet of the Higheſt: for thou ſhalt go before the face of the Lord to prepare his ways;

V. To give knowledge of ſalvation unto his people: for the remiſſion of their ſins,

VI. Through the tender mercy of our God: whereby the Day-ſpring from on high hath viſited us;

VII. To give light to them that ſit in darkneſs, and in the ſhadow of death: and to guide our feet into the way of peace.

Glory be to the Father, and to the Son: and to the holy Ghoſt;

As it was in the beginning, is now, and ever ſhall be: world without end. Amen.

¶ Or this Pſalm, * Jubilate Deo.

I. O Be joyful in the Lord all ye lands: ſerve the Lord with gladneſs, and come before his preſence with a ſong.

II. Be ye ſure, that the Lord he is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we our ſelves, we are his people, and the ſheep of his paſture.

III. O go your way into his gates with thankſgiving, and into his courts with praiſe: be thankful unto him, and ſpeak good of his Name.

IV. For

* The Jubilate is omitted in the Firſt Book of Edw. VI.

PARAPHRASE on the Benedictus.

I. Bleſſed and praiſed be the great God of all the World, but who is particularly the God of the People of Iſrael, by reaſon of the reſt of the Worlds lapſing into Idolatry, Pſal. lxxii. 18. and cvi. 48. who has viſited (i. e. in the Hebrew or Helleniſtical Phraſe) kindly come to the relief of his People, Exod. iii. 16. and redeemed them from the Slavery of Sin.

II. And has raiſed up ſuch a ſalutiferous Horn (i. e. a Royal Power, Dan. vii. 24. Zach. i. 18.) as will bring Salvation to us; and this out of the Family of holy David, from whence 'tis expected that the Meſſias ſhould come.

III. Which coming of the Meſſias was predicted by a Succeſſion of Propheſies from the beginning of the World: when 'twas foretold, that the Woman's Seed ſhould bruiſe the Serpent's Head, Gen. iii. 15.

IV. The end of whoſe coming is, that we ſhould be ſaved from our moſt grievous Enemies, the World, the Fleſh, and the Devil.

V. That the merciful Promiſes made to our Forefathers, the Patriarchs, might be fulfilled, to whom God declared what Kindneſſes he would do to their Poſterity, Gen. xii. 3. and xxxv. 11. Exod. xx. 6.

VI. And that he might perform the Oath, Gen. xxii. 16. by which he confirmed the Covenant which he made with Abraham, that he would grant us the following Bleſſings.

VII. That under the Diſpenſation of the Meſſias, being delivered from our great Enemy the Devil, we might ſerve God with greater Aſſurance and Satisfaction, and more without fear, than under the Moſaical Ordinances.

VIII. Not ſo much by legal Obſervances, as by Piety and Juſtice, and the like parts of a more Spiritual Worſhip.

IX. And thou, O my little Child, here preſent, ſhalt be that Prophet predicted, Iſa. xl. 3. who is to be Forerunner of the Meſſias, and who is to prepare the way of the Lord.

X. And to give notice to the World, particularly to the Jews, that Salvation was now coming to them, and that they might ſhortly expect a full Remiſſion of their Sins.

XI. Which Remiſſion of Sins, and other Benefits of the Meſſias, were granted by the tender Bowels of Compaſſion in the Divine Nature, which could not ſee us periſh without a Redeemer, and has therefore ſent that Day-ſpring the Meſſias to ſhine upon us.

XII. And like the Sun after a long Winter-night, to give a comfortable Light to thoſe who have ſpent ſo many hours in Darkneſs, and have had nothing elſe to direct them, but the dusky Umbrages of the Moſaical Law, by the clear Light of the Goſpel, guiding their Feet with certainty in the way to everlaſting Happineſs.

PARAPHRASE on the Jubilate Deo.

The Hebrew Title is, A pſalm of Praiſe. And the Jews ſay it was uſed to be ſung at the Euchariſtical Sacrifices, as the Prieſt was entring into the Temple.

I. O give Thanks unto God, all ye Heathen Nations; joyn with us in praiſing and adoring the only true God, and by appearing in his preſence at his holy Temple.

II. Aſſuredly know ye, that the LORD our God Jehovah, is the only true God, for 'twas he that made us when we were not; the undoubted Mark of an omnipotent Power, which makes him to be the God of the whole World by virtue of his Creation of it; but having choſen the Seed of Abraham to be his Flock, and his peculiar People, we are his by Election, and he in a particular manner is our God.

III. Now being bleſſed with theſe wonderful Favours, O ye ſacred Prieſts, whoſe Office entitles you to approach nigher to the Divine Preſence, do you enter into the Temple-gates with Songs

IV. For the Lord is gracious, his mercy is everlasting: and his truth endureth from generation to generation.

Glory be to the Father, and to the Son: and to the holy Ghost;
As it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be: world without end. Amen.

¶ Then shall be sung, or said the (o) Apostles Creed by the Minister, and the people standing. Except only such days as the Creed of St. Athanasius is appointed to be read.

I. I Believe in God the Father Almighty, Maker of heaven and earth:
II. And in Jesus Christ his only Son our Lord, Who was conceived by the holy Ghost, Born of the Virgin Mary, Suffered under Pontius Pilate, Was crucified, dead, and buried, He descended into hell; The third day he rose again from the dead, He ascended into Heaven, And sitteth on the right hand of God the Father Almighty; From thence he shall come to judge the quick and the dead.
III. I believe in the holy Ghost; The holy Catholick Church; The Communion of of Thanksgiving: And do you, O People, to whom 'tis indulged to go no further than the Courts, do you join in your turn in the common Praise.

IV. For what greater Motives are there to praise, than the Goodness, the Mercy, and the Truth of God: His Goodness in Creating us; his Mercy in Sparing us; and his Truth revealed unto us, and for ever to remain among us.

NOTES.

(o) The Apostles Creed.] It has been the receiv'd Opinion of the Church, since the Fourth Century, that this Creed was made by the Apostles, every one contributing an Article; but Ruffinus was the first Author to be met with who declares this Opinion, who says, they Compiled it the same Year Christ died, a little after the descent of the Holy Ghost. Ruff. de Symb.

But tho' this Opinion be not so well grounded, as to all its Particulars, yet there has been a Form of Words not much unlike our vulgar Creed, used in all times of the Church, as appears by the Interrogatories in Baptism, which we find in the first Fathers. Which Faith, Irenæus says, was delivered down from the Apostles, viz. Faith in One God, Father Almighty, &c. Iren. adv. Hær. Lib. I. cap. 2. And Tertullian calls it the Rule of Faith descended from the Apostles, Tert. de Præscript adv. Hær. Lib. I. cap. 13.

Tho' it cannot be proved the Apostles made it, yet the Form seems older than any Christian Writing we have, and does very little vary in different Churches: Damasus is first said to have introduced the use of the Creed into the Publick Offices, about the Year 370, and therefore still in the Roman Offices it is repeated with a low Voice, in remembrance of its Original, when they were afraid the Heathens should overhear it.

St. Ambrose advises the use of it every Morning, Amb. ad Virg. Lib. III. And St. Austin, Morning and Night, Aug. de symb. ad Cat. Lib. I. King Canutus ordered it to be used in our daily Devotions, Spel. Con. Vol. I. p. 549.

PARAPHRASE on the Apostles Creed.

I make this Confession of my Faith, relating to those Truths, which upon the Testimony of God himself are revealed unto me. I. (I believe) that there is one only (God) Deut. iv. 35. 1 Cor. viii. 6. That he is (Father) to all Men by Creation, Mal. ii. 10. Redemption, Deut. xxxii. 6. Adoption, 1 John iii. 1. but in a peculiar manner the Father of our blessed Lord by eternal Generation, Heb. i. 1, 2. John vi. 57. I believe farther, that this one God is (Almighty,) and is vested with an infinite Power of doing all things, Isa. xlv. 12. Rev. xix. 6. and governing all things at his pleasure, 1 Chron. xxix. 11. Jer. xiv. 6. That he was the (Maker of Heaven and Earth,) i. e. the whole World, and every thing contained therein, Exod. xx. 11. John i. 10. Col. i. 16.

II. I believe likewise in Jesus Christ, being verily perswaded, that he is what his Name (Jesus) signifies, the Saviour of the World, Luke i. 31. Mat. i. 21. Acts xiii. 23. That he is (Christ) or the Messias, which was so long before his coming promised under the Old Testament, Gen. xxi. 12. Gen. xlix. 10. Mal. iii. 1. That he is the (only Son) of God, begotten from all Eternity, partly as being said to come down from Heaven, John vi. 38. partly, because he is recorded in Scripture to have made the World, Heb. i. 2. Col. i. 15. partly by reason he is frequently called God, John i. 1. Phil. ii. 6, 7. 1 Tim. iii. 16. Rom. ix. 5. but chiefly because of the Divine Essence being communicated to him, John xvi. 15. John v. 26. 2 Cor. iv. 4. and that in a manner different from all created Beings, Heb. i. 13. Who is likewise (our Lord, by being the true Jehovah or Lord, Hos. i. 7. Matt. iii. 3. by having all things put under his Dominion, Psal. cx. 5. by redeeming us from the Power of the Devil, who before had got the Mastery over us, Heb. ii. 14. Col. ii. 15. by purchasing us by his Blood, Acts xx. 28, Eph. i. 7. by our voluntary becoming his Servants and Scholars by Baptism, Rom. vi. 6, 13. We believe further, That tho' Christ was true Man, Heb. iv. 15. yet he was not produced after the ordinary manner of Human Conception, but by the overshadowing of the (Holy Ghost,) Luke i. 35. Was born of Mary a poor Maid of the Lineage of David, who continued a (Virgin,) notwithstanding that miraculous Birth, Luke i. 27. That he suffered an ignominious Death as was foretold, Isa. liii. 9. Mark ix. 12. and this at the time when (Pontius Pilate) was Governour under the Romans in Judea, Mat. xxvii. 2. was nailed to a Cross, a terrible and scandalous Punishment, which the Romans used to put their wicked Slaves to death by: That under this grievous Torture he became really dead, Luke xxiii. 46. Mark 15. 37. and after that by a kind Disciple was (buried), John xix. 38. And (descended into Hell) or Hades, the Repository or Place of separate Souls, Isa. v. 14. Psal. xvi. 10. On the (third day) after his Crucifixion he rose again, Matt. xvi. 21. Mark ix. 31. as he had before foretold, Matt. xxvii. 63. After that, in the sight of a great many credible Witnesses, he in a most glorious manner ascended up into Heaven, Luke xxiv. 50, 51. Acts i. 9, 10. as the Prophets had long before predicted, Psal. lxviii. 18. Micah ii. 13. And was shortly after advanced to a most especial Honour, which was never vouchsafed to any Person before, Heb. i. 13. to (sit on the right Hand of God,) Luke xxii. 69. 1 Pet. iii. 22. which is a Place of the greatest Dignity in Heaven, 1 Kings ii. 19. Heb. viii. 1. where he has begun his Spiritual Kingdom, and treads upon the Necks of the great Enemies of his Jurisdiction; Sin, Rom. v. 14. Satan, Heb. ii. 14. and Death, 1 Cor. xv. 26. Who, at the end of the World, shall come in a triumphant and glorious Procession, attended with the Angels, 2 Thess. i. 7. Matt. xxv. 31. and shall have all Power committed to him, John v. 22, 27. Acts xvii. 31. to (judge) those who shall then be alive, 1 Thess. iv. 15. 1 Cor. xv. 51. and those who shall be raised up from their Graves, Matt. xxv. 32.

III. I believe the Holy Ghost to be very God, and the third Person of the blessed Trinity; that he is not a Virtue or Grace, as some fondly imagine, but a Person, Eph. iv. 30. Rom. viii. 26. Acts x. 19. who is called frequently the Comforter, John xiv. 26. --- xv. 26. --- xvi. 7. and is expresly named God, Acts v. 4. I further believe, that there is a number of Men, sequestred from the rest of the World by Faith in Christ, and govern'd by his Laws, that have continu'd throughout all Ages from the Apostles time, and shall do so to the

the coming of Chriſt, which I call the (Catholick Church,) which is Holy, 2 Tim. ii. 19. by reaſon of the holy Profeſſion which they are called to; tho' all the particular Members are not ſo, Matt. xiii. 24, It is likewiſe Catholick or Univerſal, becauſe of its Diffuſiveneſs throughout the World, Matt. xxviii. 19. Luke xxiv. 47. I believe that there is a (Communion) of the Saints and Elect People of God, 1 Cor. vi. 11. Eph. i. 13. with God the Father, 1 John iii. with God the Son, John xvii. 20. 1 Cor. i. 9. with the Holy Ghoſt, Phil. ii. 1. Rom. viii. 9. and with all the Saints in all the Churches now upon Earth, 1 John i. 7. as alſo with all the Saints departed, Heb. xii. 22, 23. I believe further, that whereas by our Sins we are become Debters to God's Juſtice, 1 John iii. 4. Matt. v. 22. ſo through the Blood of Chriſt, who has made Satisfaction for them, Matt. xx. 28. 2 Cor. v. 18. Rom. v. 10. Col. i. 10. we may obtain (Forgiveneſs) of them, not only in Baptiſm, Acts ii. 38. Acts xxii. 16. Eph. v. 26. but afterwards, if we truly repent of them, 1 Joh. ii. 1. 1 John 2. 1. I believe likewiſe the (Reſurrection of the Body,) not only as a thing poſſible to be done by an Almighty Agent, Luke i. 37. Acts xxvi. 8. Matt. x. 29. but as a thing generally expected by the Jews, Job xix. 25. Dan. xii. 2. that this is clearly promiſed under the Goſpel, Rom. xiv. 9.---viii. 11. 1 Cor. xv. 21. and moreover that the ſelf-ſame Body ſhall riſe again, 1 Cor. xv. 23. Rom. viii. 11. 2 Cor. v. 10. And laſtly, That the Reſurrection ſhall extend to bad as well as good Men, 1 Cor. xv. 22. John v. 28. Finally, I believe the (everlaſting) Duration of all bad Men in Miſery, Matt. xxv. 41, 46.---x. 28. Luke iii. 17. Rev. xx. 10. and of all good Men in a State of Glory, which does ariſe from a vacancy from all Sorrow, Rev. xxi. 4. from the Viſion of God, 1 Cor. xiii. 12. 1 John iii. 2. as alſo from unſpeakable Pleaſures, which they ſhall then partake of, 1 Cor. ii. 9. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the Verſicles.

I. I now commend you, my good People, to God's Bleſſing, in a Form of Salutation uſual among holy People under the old Law, Ruth xxix. 8. Pſal. cxxix. 8.

II. And we, O ſacred Paſtor, pray in St. Paul's words, That the Lord Jeſus may be with your Spirit, 2 Tim. iv. 22.

III. I now give the Signal to you, that, after having heard the ſeveral Portions out of God's word read to you, and having made Confeſſion of your Faith, you now apply your ſelves devoutly to Prayer.

NOTES.

(p) The Lord be with you.] The uſe of this Verſicle is very ancient in the Church: It was enjoined by the Council of Bracara, which was held A. D. 675, that this Form of Salutation to the People ſhould be uſed by the Prieſt, before the Celebration of the Euchariſt; and gives this reaſon for it, Sicut ab ipſis Apoſtolis traditum, ſic omnis retinet oriens: Becauſe all the Eaſtern Churches uſe it, as an Apoſtolical Tradition. So that it is plain from thence, that it was a Form anciently receiv'd in the Church, long before the time of that Council. And both St. Chryſoſtom, in Coloſ. Hom. 3. and Epiphanius, Hær. 475. derive this Form from our Saviour's Form of Salutation to the Apoſtles, after the Reſurrection, Peace be unto you. And thus they are uſed in the Greek Liturgies, Ὁ ἱερευς· Εἰρηνη πασι· Ὁ χορ· Καὶ τῳ πνευματι σου.

(q) Lord have mercy upon us.] This is a Tranſlation of the ancient Verſicle, Kyrie eleeſon, which, tho' a Greek Expreſſion, was conſtantly uſed untranſlated in the Latin Church. I confeſs, ſome of the Latins and modern Greeks had a ſuperſtitious Notion, of a ſtrange efficacy in theſe Words, and that ſeveral Miracles had been done by the reciting of them; Durand. de Div. Off. Lib. IV. cap. 12. Paul. Diac. Hiſt. Lib. XIV. Therefore our Reformers have acted with great Prudence and Moderation, to retain the ancient Form, but yet to tranſlate the Words into the Vulgar Tongue; ſo that all imputation of a ſuperſtitious Fondneſs to the Original Words might be removed. That this Form was uſed in St. Auſtin's Time, is plain from that Paſſage of his, Ep. 278. Tandem accedente Epiſcopo vel Sacerdote ad dextram altaris partem, chorus concinendo ſubjungit, Κύριε ἐλέησον. When the Biſhop or Prieſt comes to the right ſide of the Altar, all the Choire ſings out, Lord have mercy upon us. And before him the Author of the Conſtitutions, Ἐφ' ἑκάστῳ ἡμῶν ὧν ὁ διάκονος παρεστὼς, ὡς λέγετω ὁ λαός, κύριε ἐλέησον. After every Article of the Deacon's Proclamation, let the People anſwer, Lord have mercy upon us, Clem. Conſt. Lib VIII. cap. 6. It is repeated three times, that thereby an Addreſs may be made to every Perſon of the Trinity. It is further to be obſerved, That this ſhort Form of Petition was thought to be of ſuch Force in the Primitive Times, that the Heathens were willing to have it tranſcribed into their Worſhip. Which Arian, in his Comment upon Epictetus adviſes, Τὸν θεὸν ὑπερλαμβανοντες κράζωμεν αὐτῳ, κύριε ἐλέησον. When we call upon God, let us pray to him thus, Lord have mercy upon us.

(r) Let us pray.] This Expreſſion was anciently uſed by the Miniſter in Divine Service, after Leſſons, or Pſalmody, or any other part of the Litany which was not Petition. St. Auſtin, Epiſt. 106 ad Vitalem, ſpeaks thus; Numquid ubi audieritis ſacerdotem Dei ad ejus altare populum hortantem ad orandum, non reſpondetis, Amen? When you hear the Prieſt of God, at his Altar, exhorting the People to pray, do ye not anſwer, Amen? The like Excitation to Attention in Prayer we find in the Greek Church, Εὔξασθε οἱ κατηχούμενοι: Pray, O Catechumens. Εὔξασθε οἱ ἐνεργούμενοι: Pray, O Poſſeſſed with Evil Spirits, Clem. Conſt. Lib. VIII. cap. 6. And Κλίνωμεν, and Κλίνωμεν ἐπιεικῶς; Let us pray, and let us pray earneſtly, are common Expreſſions in the Greek Liturgies.

(ſ) And with thy Spirit.] St. Chryſoſtom ſpeaks frequently of this mutual praying of the Prieſt and the People, for each other: Ἐν φρικτοῖς γοῦν μυστηρίοις, &c. In theſe venerable Myſteries, well does the Prieſt pray for the People, and the People for the Prieſt, for

* This Prayer being taken out of the Sacramentary of Gregory the Great, is thus worded there:

Deus, auctor pacis & amator, quem noſſe vivere: cui ſervire regnare eſt: protege ab omnibus impugnationibus ſupplices tuos, ut qui in defenſione tua fidimus, nullius hoſtilitatis arma timeamus. Per Jeſum Chriſtum Dominum noſtrum. Amen.

Greg. Lib. Sacr. Miſſa pro pace.

† The latter part of this Prayer does exactly agree with that in the Greek Liturgies: Δωρήσαι ἡμῖν τὸ λοιπὸν τὴν παρρησίας ἡμέρας, εἰρηνικὸν καὶ ἀναμάρτητον, καὶ πάντα τὸν χρόνον τῆς ζωῆς ἡμῶν. Euchol. Gr. Lucern. Orat. 2.

(x) In places where they ſing.] It is not to be doubted, but that the ſinging Praiſes to God is a great improvement of Devotion; ſince few People are of ſo hard a make, and have ſo rough an Ear, but that they feel within themſelves their Affections raiſed, and their Love to God increaſed by Numbers and Muſick. For this reaſon the ancient Church of God among the Jews did, by the Divine Permiſſion, make this a part of the Publick Service in the Temple of Jeruſalem, 2 Sam. vi. 5. 1 Chron. xv. 16. 2 Chron. v. 12. 2 Chr. xxix. 25. And when our Saviour did find fault with ſeveral Human Inventions, which the Jews had intermixed in their Worſhip, he did in no wiſe blame this Inſtitution. Even Holy David himſelf, an inſpired Perſon, compoſed ſeveral Hymns to be uſed in the publick Worſhip of the Temple. Nay, 'tis very probable that the moſt ancient Chriſtians took this Cuſtom from the Jews, and adapted it to their publick Worſhip; for Pliny relates of the Chriſtians in Trajan's Time, that they did, Carmen Chriſto, quaſi Deo, dicere ſecum inviem: Sing an Hymn alternately to Chriſt, as to their God, Plin. Ep. Lib. X. Ep. 97.

(y) The Anthem.] This Word is derived from the Greek Ἀντιφωνὴ, which ſignifies (as Iſidorus, Lib. VI. cap. 18. interprets it) Vox reciproca; duobus ſc. choris alternatim pſallentibus, ordine commutato: One Voice ſucceeding another; that is, two Chorus's ſinging by turns. Socrates Hiſt. Eccl. Lib. VI. cap. 8. relates this to be the Riſe of Anthems, or the way of ſinging Pſalms alternately or Anthemwiſe. Ignatius, the Third from the Apoſtles, and Biſhop of Antioch, and who himſelf lived with the Apoſtles, ſaw a Viſion of Angels praiſing the Holy Trinity, διὰ τῶν ἀντιφώνων ὕμνων, by Hymns ſung Anthemwiſe; and made report of his Viſion to the Church of Antioch, from whom this Tradition was propagated, ἐν πάσαις ταῖς ἐκκλησίαις, to all Churches. So that whether or no there be Credit to be given to this Story, it is certain, that the ſinging Anthemwiſe was univerſally obſerved in Socrates's Time, viz. about the Year 440. Nay, almoſt a Century before him, we find this way of ſinging mentioned by St. Baſil the Great; who, in his Epiſtle to the Clergy of Neocæſarea, writes thus; Epiſt. lxiii. The People, riſing before it is light, go to the Houſe of Prayer, and in great agony of Soul, and inceſſant ſhowers of Tears, make Confeſſion of their Sins to God; and then riſing from their Prayers, εἰς τὸ ψαλμῳδίαν καταστῆσαι, εἶτα νῦν μὲν ἐν ἀλλήλοις διανεμηθέντες, ἀντιψάλλειν ἀλλήλοις, and then proceed to Pſalmody, being divided into two Parts, and ſinging by turns. And I think it can hardly be denied, but that the more Eaſtern Chriſtians had this way of ſinging in uſe among them, from the beginning of Chriſtianity; for that Paſſage of Pliny before-mentioned, does manifeſtly infer an Antiphonick way of ſinging; for dicere Carmen ſecum invicem, can hardly have any other ſenſe put upon it; as I could prove by many Paſſages out of ancient Writers, eſpecially Virgil and Theocritus. There is no Queſtion to be made, but that the Chriſtians had this way of ſinging from the Jews. For 'tis plain, that ſeveral of the Pſalms, which were compoſed for the Publick Uſe of the Temple, were written in Amebæick Verſe, as the 24. 118. And I make no doubt, but that it is to this way of ſinging uſed in the Temple, that that Viſion in Iſaiah 6. alluded, when he ſaw the two Cherubims, and heard them ſinging, Holy, Holy, &c. for theſe words cannot be otherwiſe explained, than of their ſinging Anthemwiſe; for קָרָא זֶה אֶל-זֶה they called out This to That Cherubin, does properly relate to the ſinging in a Choire, one Voice on one ſide of the Choire, and a ſecond on the other.

But Church-Muſick, eſpecially the Organ, being uſed to go along with ſinging, it will not be improper, in this place, to ſpeak ſomething thereof. Wind-Muſick, as it is the moſt ſimple, ſo it ſeems to be the moſt ancient. What the Poets write ſeems to be reaſonable enough, in making it a Paſtoral Invention; and that the Shepherds firſt made Pipes of Reeds, by the variety of the Notes whereof harmoniouſly ſuited together, they ſolaced themſelves in their Solitude. Afterwards they made larger and more durable Pipes, of the Shanks of Cranes; whence came the Latin word Tibia. In proceſs of Time, they joined ſeveral Pipes in a row together with Wax, ſome larger and others ſmaller, under one another, as our Organ-Pipes ſtand; leaving a Communication for the Wind to paſs out of one into the other; this was called by the Greeks Syrinx. After this the Syrinx was improved by one Cteſibius, who lived in the Time of Ptolemy Euergetes, called otherwiſe Phyſcon; who invented (as Pliny writes, Lib. VII. c. 37.) two large Inſtruments of Muſick, called by the Ancients Organs; the one to make a ſound by Wind, and the other by Water: Laudatus Cteſibius, Pneumaticâ ratione & hydraulicis Organis repertis. The Wind-Organ received no further Improvement till about the Time of the Council of Nice; about which time the Bellows were added to it; and then Julian the Apoſtate, who was afterwards Emperor, made a Poem or Epigram upon it, which begins, Αλλόμν ὀργάω, &c. When they were brought into uſe in Churches, in the Eaſtern part of the World, is not eaſily known. It is certain they were not known in the Weſt till about the Year of Chriſt 660, when Conſtantinus Copronymus, Emperor of Conſtantinople, ſent a Preſent of an Organ to Pepin, King of France, Avent. de An. Boi. Platina in Vit. Pont. But I conceive they were not of ordinary uſe in the Churches, till ſome hundred of Years after that. It is certain, the uſe of them was common enough near five hundred Years ago; for Durandus, who wrote in the Year 1286, mentions them ſeveral times in his Book, and gives no intimation of their Novelty in Divine Service.

PARAPHRASE on the SENTENCES.

I. At whatſoever time the Sinner, by his unfeigned Repentance, ſhall turn to God, he will be acceptable unto Him, altho' his former courſe of Life has been very vicious. For (as that whole Chapter of Ezekiel, from whence this Verſe is taken, ſhews) as thoſe who have formerly led an habitual good Life, if they fall into a ſinful Courſe, ſhall forfeit God's Favour, and ruin their Souls, notwithſtanding their former Goodneſs: So ſhall an Evil Man, if he amends his Life and turns to God, be reſtored to his Kindneſs, and ſhall deliver his Soul from thoſe Miſeries which attend a final Impenitence.

II. I do not extenuate my Guilt, or deny it; but do with Grief acknowledge it: letting it make that deep Impreſſion upon me, as to be always preſent to my Mind, and, as it were, continually ſet before my Eyes.

III. O Lord, out of thy proneneſs to pardon Sin, do thou, as it were, overlook my Offences: And upon my true Repentance, which I beſeech thee to grant me, blot out my Iniquities, and expunge them out of thy Book, where they ſtand recorded againſt me.

IV. God is better pleaſed with a Penitent Soul, which is truly ſorry for, and is willing to forſake its former Sins, than with the moſt pompous Sacrifices which could be offered according to the Legal Inſtitutions. For a broken Heart (i. e. a Heart caſt down by extreme Grief, Iſa. 61. 1. and which does continually accompany true Repentance) is a Sacrifice which will be always accepted by God, and which he will not deſpiſe, as he does the formal Sacrifices of wicked Men.

V. Ye muſt take care to be heartily and unfeignedly ſorry for your Sins, rather than to acquieſce in the theatrical Expreſſion of Sorrow, by outward Signs and Geſtures, ſuch as the renting the Garments were; of which Cuſtom we have many Inſtances in Scripture, Gen. xxxvii. 34. Joſ. vii. 6. For the Graciouſneſs, the Mercy, the Longſuffering, and Benignity of God, are the greateſt Encouragement to Sinners, upon their Return to God, to expect his Pardon: And moreover he does, as it were, repent him of the Evil, or Puniſhment, he inflicts on Men; when, upon their Repentance, he is reſolved to withdraw it.

VI. God

VI. To the Lord our God belong mercies, and forgiveneſſes, though we have rebelled againſt him: neither have we obeyed the voice of the Lord our God, to walk in his laws, which he ſet before us. Dan. 9. 9, 10.

VII. O Lord correct me, but with judgment; not in thine anger, leſt thou bring me to nothing. Jer. 10. 24. Pſal. 6. 1.

VIII. Repent ye; for the kingdom of heaven is at hand. S. Mat. 3. 2.

IX. I will ariſe and go to my Father, and will ſay unto him; Father, I have ſinned againſt Heaven, and before thee, and am no more worthy to be called thy ſon. S. Luke 15. 18, 19.

X. Enter not into judgment with thy ſervant, O Lord; for in thy ſight ſhall no man living be juſtified. Pſal. 143. 2.

XI. If we ſay that we have no ſin, we deceive our ſelves, and the truth is not in us. But, if we confeſs our ſins, he is faithful and juſt to forgive us our ſins, and to cleanſe us from all unrighteouſneſs. 1 S. John 1. 8, 9.

I. DEarly beloved brethren, the Scripture moveth us in ſundry places, to acknowledge and confeſs our manifold ſins and wickedneſs, and that we ſhould not diſſemble nor cloak them before the face of Almighty God our heavenly Father, but confeſs them with an humble, lowly, penitent, and obedient heart, to the end, that we may obtain Forgiveneſs of the ſame by his infinite Goodneſs and Mercy. II. And although we ought at all times humbly to acknowledge our Sins before God, yet ought we moſt chiefly ſo to do, when we aſſemble and meet together, to render Thanks for the great Benefits that we have received at his Hands, to ſet forth his moſt worthy Praiſe, to hear his moſt holy Word, and to ask thoſe things which are requiſite and neceſſary, as well for the Body as the Soul. III. Wherefore I pray and beſeech you, as many as are here

VI. God is a God of that merciful and forgiving Nature, that He is inclined to pardon us, tho' we have never ſo highly offended him: and, tho' we have, as it were, been up in Arms, and in open Rebellion againſt him, by a notorious Violation of his Laws, which we ought to have obeyed; yet he ſtill is ready to forgive us.

VII. O Lord, I beſeech thee, do not chaſtiſe me with the Anger of an Enemy, but with the Moderation of a Merciful Judge; for I ſhould be totally conſumed, if thou ſhould'ſt proceed with me according to Rigour, and as my Sins have deſerved.

VIII. Repent of your Sins, and make your Peace with God, before Chriſt's Kingdom of Glory begins, which the univerſal Judgment is to precede; whither, if ye are ſummoned, with your Sins about you, unrepented of, you are undone for ever.

IX. I will (like the Prodigal Son) preſſed down with the Guilt and Miſery which my Sins have brought upon me return to my heavenly Father, and acknowledge the Grievouſneſs of my Offences, whereby I have deſervedly forfeited that Relation which he bore to me.

X. O Lord, do not call me to an Accounnt for my Actions, with a too rigid Severity, or (as it is in the Original Hebrew) do not go to Law with me, or carry me before the Judgment-ſeat; for if thou vieweſt all things through the rigour of thy Juſtice, the moſt Innocent Man's Life cannot ſtand the Tryal; nay, every Man living muſt be beholding to thy Mercy to be acquitted.

XI. This Life being a State of ſo many Imperfections, that we are all liable to great Failures; To ſay, we are in a State of Perfection, and that we live without Sin, is a moſt notorious Falſity, and is a thing unbecoming the Truth and Simplicity of our Religion: But if we acknowledge our Sins before God, and truly repent us of them, God, out of his Faithfulneſs and Juſtice, will, upon our performing thoſe Conditions, make good his Promiſe to us on that behalf, in pardoning them: And will keep us clean, for the future, from any groſs Sin, by granting us the Aſſiſtance of his Holy Spirit, which will confirm and eſtabliſh us in every good work, Rom. xvi. 20. 1 Theſſ. iii. 13. 1 Pet. v. 10.

PARAPHRASE on the EXHORTATION.

I. My Dear Fellow-Chriſtians, the Holy Scriptures, (whoſe Authority you and all Faithful People profeſs the greateſt Reverence for) not only in thoſe ſeveral Paſſages which I have now read unto you, but in many other places, do exhort us, to confeſs unto God our innumerable Tranſgreſſions which we have committed againſt his Sacred Laws. Beſides, it is the greateſt Folly for us to hope to diſſemble them, or to extenuate them, ſo as to deceive the All-ſearching Eye of God, who ſees every thing nakedly as it is. Nor muſt we be guilty of ſuch a vile Act of Hypocriſy, as, notwithſtanding our many Sins, publickly in the Church, in the Preſence of God and his Holy Angels, to ſtand upon our Juſtification. But if we would do as ſincere Chriſtians ought, we muſt perform theſe three Parts of true Repentance. Firſt, With an humble and lowly Heart confeſs our Sins to God, with a Dejectedneſs and Confuſion like that of the Publican, who ſtood afar off and would not lift up his Eyes to Heaven. Secondly, We muſt add to this, a true Penitent Sorrow of Mind, for having offended ſo good a God, and for having brought ourſelves into ſo great danger. And Laſtly, We muſt, from theſe Conſiderations, take ſuch a Diſguſt againſt our Sins, as to reſolve to be obedient to God's Laws for the future. Now if we purſue this Method in our Repenting of our Sins, we need not deſpair of God's Forgiveneſs of them. But ſtill we muſt not think that a Repentance ſo circumſtantiated, will be any meritorious Cauſe, whereby we may claim from God an Impunity of our Sins; for that is owing only to the infinite Goodneſs and Mercy of God, reached out to us in the Myſtery of our Redemption, and by the Suffering of our bleſſed Lord for us.

II. And though we ought at all times, or in thoſe more frequent Courſes of private Devotion (which we are by our Religion oblig'd to, Eph. vi. 18. 1 Tim. vi. 8.) to exerciſe this Duty of Confeſſion, which is ſo eminent a part of Prayer: There is certainly a greater reaſon to make uſe thereof in the ſolemn Aſſembly of Chriſtians in the Church, where they meet together to perform the four great parts of Religious Worſhip. 1. Thankſgiving for Mercies received, 2. Praiſe and Adoration of the Excellencies and Goodneſs of God, 3. Hearing God's Word read and preach'd, 4. Petition, or Asking of God Spiritual and Temporal Bleſſings. But without a Confeſſion of our Sins, and the other neceſſary parts of true Repentance, we cannot rightly perform any of theſe publick Duties. We cannot thank God as we ought, when we ſtill continue to abuſe his Mercies: We cannot praiſe and admire his Perfections, which, in an unregenerate State we have little ſenſe of: We cannot be devout Hearers of God's Word, with all our carnal Affections about us: Nor can we hope for a Succeſs of our Prayers, which by the Wickedneſs of our Lives are become an Abomination unto God.

III. Wherefore I earneſtly deſire of every one of you (as well Laity as Clergy) to addreſs yourſelves, with me, to God in devout Prayer; which I, as God's Miniſter, for myſelf and you, offer up to the Throne of God's Grace: which I do not ſo ſolitarily, by myſelf, as the Prieſt was to do under the Jewiſh Diſpenſation, (Exod. xxx. 7. Luke i. 10.) and as the Papiſts ſince have imitated; but I deſire you, who have higher Privileges, by virtue of Chriſt's here preſent, to accompany me with a pure Heart and humble Voice unto the Throne of the Heavenly Grace, ſaying after me.

¶ A general Confeſſion to be ſaid of the whole Congregation, after the Miniſter, all kneeling.

I. ALmighty, and moſt merciful Father; We have erred, and ſtrayed from thy ways like loſt ſheep. We have followed too much the devices, and deſires of our own hearts. We have offended againſt thy holy Laws. We have left undone thoſe things, which we ought to have done; And we have done thoſe things, which we ought not to have done; And there is no health in us. II. But thou, O Lord, have mercy upon us, miſerable Offenders. Spare thou them, O God, which confeſs their faults. Reſtore thou them that are penitent; According to thy Promiſes declared unto mankind in Chriſt Jeſu our Lord. III. And grant, O moſt merciful Father, for his ſake; That we may hereafter live a godly, righteous, and ſober Life, To the Glory of thy Holy Name. Amen.

I. Almighty

Covenant (Eph. ii. 14. 1 Pet. ii. 5.) to accompany me thither; repeating after me thoſe Words which the Church has preſcribed upon this occaſion: Intreating you, that you would manifeſt in your Devotion, thoſe Effects of a pure Heart, Sincerity, Attention, Gravity, and whatever elſe becomes the devout Worſhip of God; taking care that in all your Reſponſes you avoid, as on the one ſide, a loud clamorous Voice, ſo, on the other ſide, an inarticulate Motion of the Lips; and that you make uſe of only ſuch a low and humble Voice, as may be ſuitable in this Solemnity.

PARAPHRASE on the General Confeſſion.

I. O Lord, we addreſs our ſelves to thee, in conſideration of thoſe Attributes of thine, which moſt diſpoſe thee to pardon Sinners: Thy Omnipotence, by which thou art endowed with a ſufficient Power to help us; and thy Mercifulneſs, by which thou haſt always a Will to do it: Having likewiſe a comfortable Expectation of Forgiveneſs from that Relation of Fatherhood, which thou art pleaſed to own, that thou doſt bear towards us. We muſt to our ſhame, confeſs, that we have, by our Sins of Surpriſe and Infirmity, erred, and made ſmaller Steps out of the Path of our Duty; and, at other times, ſtrayed, and made larger Excurſions from thoſe Ways which the Holy Religion thou haſt revealed, has chalked out to us, to walk in; and this (to uſe our Saviour's Similitude) not unlike loſt Sheep, that ſtraggle from their Shepherd, and are thereby expoſed to innumerable Dangers. We acknowledge that we have, too often, conſented to thoſe unlawful Deſires, which we have been prompted to by our corrupt Nature, and original Depravation. We have added to theſe, many actual Offences againſt thy Holy Laws, which we are ſo ſtrictly obliged to obſerve. Beſides, we acknowledge ourſelves to have been guilty of many ſeveral kinds of Actual Sins, being anſwerable for many Sins of Omiſſion, by neglecting the ſeveral Duties commanded us: And many Sins of Commiſſion, by a wilful doing what was forbidden us. So that there is no part of our Souls healthy, or free from Sin, but they being, as it were, under an univerſal Sickneſs, Iſai. 1. 6. [Or, we can hope for no Health or Salvation from ourſelves.] II. We fly therefore to thy Goodneſs, O God, for a Deliverance from this Burden of our Sins, and (like the Penitent Publican, Luk. 18. 1.) Beſeech thee to be merciful to us miſerable Sinners. Remit therefore, we pray thee, the Puniſhment which is due to our Sins, upon our Confeſſion of them, and hearty Repentance for them. And upon our being truly Penitent, reſtore us to thy Favour, which we have forfeited by our Diſobedience; and Gal. 6. 1. let us enjoy the Benefits of thine Eleſt Saints, whoſe Privileges wicked impenitent Sinners are excluded from: As thou haſt promiſed to us in the Charter of the Goſpel delivered to us by Jeſus Chriſt. III. Therefore we beſeech thee, O Gracious God, not for the ſake of any Saint or Angel, but for the ſake of thy dear Son, in whoſe Name, when we ask any thing, thou haſt promiſed to give it, John 16. 23. to afford us ſuch a powerful Aſſiſtance of the Grace of thy Holy Spirit, that, for the future, we may faithfully diſcharge all the parts of our Chriſtian Duty: That we may live Godlily, in paying a devout Worſhip to Almighty God; That we may live Righteouſly, in doing all Acts of Juſtice and Charity to our Neighbour: And Soberly, in performing all the Duties of Temperance, Chaſtity, and other Vertues which relate to ourſelves. Nor do we deſire this, to reflect any Honour upon ourſelves, or to acquire any Merit by ſuch a Religious Life; but only that the greater Glory may be aſcrib'd to thy Goodneſs, by whoſe Grace we expect to have thoſe Diſpoſitions and Habits to be wrought in us.

NOTES.

(a) Prieſt alone.] It may be a doubt, Why in the place of the word Prieſt, which ſtands now in the preſent Common-Prayer-Book, the Compilers of King Edward's Second Common-Prayer-Book, and of Queen Elizabeth's, put the word Miniſter? And whether by virtue of that word, a Perſon, not in Prieſt's Orders, might have read the Abſolution, whilſt that Rubrick ſtood? for it muſt be obſerved, That when the Abſolution was introduced in the Second Book of Edward VI. it had this Rubrick before it; The Abſolution to be pronounced by the Miniſter alone: And ſo in Queen Elizabeth's Book. Now whereas by the Firſt Book of Edward VI. Mattens was to be read by a Prieſt, (for in the firſt Rubrick thereof it is ſaid, The Prieſt being in the Quire ſhall begin with a loud Voice the Lord's Prayer, which was then the beginning of the Service:) In the Second Book of King Edward, when the Sentences, Exhortation, Confeſſion, and Abſolution were added, we hear no more of Prieſt, but all is turned into Miniſter: The Miniſter ſhall read with a loud Voice the Sentences. A General Confeſſion to be ſaid by the whole Congregation, after the Miniſter, kneeling. And ſo before the Abſolution, An Abſolution to be pronounced by the Miniſter alone. This has occaſioned ſome Perſons to think, that not only the Service, but the Abſolution too might formerly have been read by one, that is only a Miniſter in the general ſenſe of the Word, tho' he were not a Prieſt. But this will appear to be a Miſtake, when we have conſidered, that in the Language of that Time, when the Common Prayer-Book was compiled, Prieſt and Miniſter were ſynonimous Terms, and ſignified the ſame thing. And this is evident from that very Second Book of Edward VI. for tho' we have two or three times Miniſter in the Rubricks, at the beginning of Morning Prayer; yet the Evening Prayer begins with, The Prieſt ſhall ſay, (2 B. Edw. VI. Ev. Pr.) But what? Our Father which, &c. indeed follows after; but if we turn back to the Rubrick before Morning Prayer, it is thus directed, At the beginning both of Morning and Evening Prayer, the Miniſter ſhall read with a loud Voice, ſome one of theſe Sentences of the Scriptures that follow. And then he ſhall ſay that which is written after the ſaid Sentences, i. e. The Exhortation, Confeſſion, and Abſolution. So that ſince the Evening Prayer is to be read by the Prieſt, according to this Book, the Confeſſion, Abſolution, and other parts of the Morning Service is to be read by a Prieſt, tho' Miniſter be only mentioned.

But this Matter will be yet clearer, if we conſider the identical uſe of the word Prieſt and Miniſter, even in the Firſt Book of Edward VI. for the Prieſt, who by the firſt Rubrick of that Book is placed in the Quire, is obliged to turn towards the People when he reads the Leſſons, and in that Rubrick he is called Miniſter; The Miniſter that readeth the Leſſon ſtanding, and turning him ſo as he may beſt be heard of ſuch as be preſent. Preſently after he is called Miniſter again, Then the Miniſter ſhall ſay the Credo, and the Lord's # EVENING PRAYER.

I. ALmighty God, the Father of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, who deſireth not the death of a Sinner, but rather that he may turn from his Wickedneſs and live; and hath given Power and Commandment to† his Miniſters, to declare and pronounce to his People, being Penitent, the Abſolution and Remiſſion of their Sins: He * pardoneth and abſolveth all them that truly repent, and unfeignedly believe his holy Goſpel. II. Wherefore let us beſeech him, to grant us true Repentance, and his Holy Spirit, ‡ that thoſe things may pleaſe him which we do at this preſent, and that the reſt of our Life hereafter may be pure and holy, ſo that at the laſt we may come to his eternal Joy, through Jeſus Chriſt our Lord.

¶ Then

Lord's-Prayer. But when he comes to the Verſicles he is called Prieſt ſeven times together.

In the Rubricks before the Communion-Service in that Book, he is called three times Curate, and once Miniſter. In moſt places of this Office he is called Prieſt, but when he is to read the Epiſtle he is called Miniſter. In the diſpoſal of the Elements before Conſecration he is called the like; Then ſhall the Miniſter take ſo much Bread and Wine as ſhall ſuffice for the Perſons appointed to receive. In the Rubrick for the Order of Reception, he is called both Prieſt and Miniſter, Then ſhall the Prieſt firſt receive the Communion in both kinds himſelf, and next deliver it to other Miniſters, if any be there preſent (that they may be ready to help the chief Miniſter) and after to the People. And the Miniſter delivering the Sacrament of the Bloud, &c.

In the Office of Baptiſm he is called about fourteen times Prieſt, and twenty times Miniſter.

In the Office of Matrimony the Words are uſed likewiſe promiſcuouſly; The Prieſt ſhall ſay the Exhortation. The Prieſt ſhall ſay unto the Woman. The Miniſter ſhall ſay, Who giveth this Woman? The Miniſter receiving the Woman at her Father' hands. Then twice Prieſt, viz. The Prieſt taking the Ring. Then ſhall the Prieſt join their right hands. Then again twice Miniſter, viz. Then ſhall the Miniſter ſpeak unto the People; And the Miniſter ſhall add this Bleſſing. And ſo ſometimes Miniſter, and ſometimes Prieſt to theend of this Office, and the other which follow. I ſhall only make one Remark more, and that is on the laſt of the common Offices, viz. that of the Commination; and there 'tis ſaid, The Prieſt ſhall go into the Pulpit and ſay thus, Brethren, In the Primitive Church, &c. but the ſame Prieſt who is to ſay this in the Pulpit, is called Miniſter at leaſt fourteen times afterwards. I think this makes it inconteſtably evident, That the words Prieſt and Miniſter are uſed promiſcuouſly in the Firſt Book of King Edward VI. And if we look into our other Common-Prayer-Books, we ſhall find very little Correction herein, and that the ſame Rule will hold in them likewiſe.

But that Miniſter did ſignify a Prieſt, when the Common-Prayer was compiled, we may learn from our Statutes, which were made about that time: In the Reign of Henry VIII, when Chanteries and Free-Chapels were diſſolved, the Incumbents of them were called Miniſters. Prieſts, Wardens, Maſters, Miniſters, Governours, Rulers, or other Incumbents of them, 37 Hen. VIII. cap. 4. And ſo in the firſt of Edward VI. Miniſter of Free-Chappels is ſeveral times mentioned. In the Act of Uniformity of Edward VI. All and ſingular Miniſters, in any Cathedral Church, &c. ſhall be bound to ſay Mattens, Evenſong, &c. Anno 2 Edw. VI. That if any Parſon, Vicar, or other whatſoever Miniſter ——— to ſing or ſay Common-Prayer. Any Parſon, Vicar, or other Miniſter ——— to ſing or ſay common or open Prayer, ib. All and ſingular Miniſters, in any Cathedral, &c. 1 Eliz. cap. Any manner of Parſon, Vicar, or whatſoever Miniſter, that ſhould ſay or ſing Common-Prayer, &c. ib. And ſo in a Statute of the 13th of that Queen, Every Perſon——which doth or ſhall pretend to be a Prieſt, or a Miniſter of God's Holy Word and Sacraments, by reaſon of any other Form, Inſtitution, Conſecration, ſhall ſubſcribe to all the Articles of Religion. None ſhall be made a Miniſter, or admitted to preach and adminiſter the Sacraments, being under the Age of four and twenty Years. This Clauſe has been the Rule of our Age for going into Prieſt's Orders, ever ſince the making of this Act. In the ſame Act, the Office of Deacon is contradiſtinguiſh'd to the Office of Miniſtry; None ſhall be admitted to the Office of Deacon or Miniſtry, unleſs he firſt ſubſcribe the ſaid Articles, ib. Innumerable are the Inſtances of the ſame ſignification of the word Miniſter, in the Writers who lived about thoſe Times; as particularly in Fox and Whitgift. I find one very appoſite place quoted ready to my hands, in Mr. Strype's Hiſtory, out of the Anſwer to the Admonition, For as we give to the Miniſter place above the Deacon, to the Biſhop above the Miniſter, &c.

If it be asked, How it happens that the word Miniſter came to be uſed at this time for one in Prieſt's Orders, or for the chief Paſtor, or what we call now the Miniſter of the Pariſh, whereas formerly it was not generally ſo? I anſwer, That the Proteſtants brought this into the more common uſe, it being a Name of Humility, and more proper, they thought, for the Reformed Clergy, than the word Prieſt; which word had been abuſed by the Papiſts, who underſtood by it, not ſo much a Presbyter of the Church, as one who was a Sacerdos, or Sacrificer, and whoſe Office it was to offer up the Sacrifice of the Maſs. For this reaſon they choſe to call their Clergy by the Name of Miniſters; as may be ſeen not only in the Writings of Luther, Melanchon, Calvin, Bucer, the Confeſſions of the ſeveral Churches; but alſo by the Drawers up of the Interim, who were not Proteſtants. Vid. Interim cap. de Miniſtris Eccleſiæ.

Indeed the Papiſts are wont to ſcoff at our Proteſtant Clergy for calling ourſelves by this Name, which they tell us is of no Antiquity in the Church, nor has any Authority but what the Parliament has given it. But I anſwer, There is no ground for this Calumny; for this Word was uſed in England before the Reformation, in the ſame ſenſe it has been ſince; for ſo it is uſed by the Council at Lambeth, Ne quis à prædictis per ignorantiam ſe excuſet, quæ tamen omnes Miniſtri Eccleſiæ ſcire tenentur, &c. Conc. Lamb. By which is meant Miniſters of Pariſhes; for the Title of this Chapter is, De Informatione Parochianorum. And Lyndwood, in his Gloſs upon theſe words, ſays, Miniſtri, Hoc intelligas de iis quibus regimen plebis eſt commiſſum. And afterwards, Vox Miniſter propriè refertur ad eos qui Officia Eccleſiaſtica adminiſtrant, Art. 81. di. oportet. cum ſimilibus. ut ſc. Miniſter ſumatur pro Rectore vel Gubernatore Eccleſiæ, Lynd. Prov. Lib. I. Tit. I. And elſewhere he ſays, Miniſter ponitur pro Rectore vel Gubernatore; for which he quotes the Canon-Law, De offic. Ordinarii c. præſenti v. Miniſtris. Li. 6. Nor is this Title of Miniſter uſed only in the Canon and Statute-Law, but the Fathers alſo frequently give it to the Clergy; for ſo the Word is uſed by St. Auſtin, Si ſuperbus fuerit Miniſter cum Diabolo comparatur, ſed non contaminatur donum Chriſti: quod per illum fluit purum eſt. If a Miniſter be proud he is compared to the Devil; but however the Gift of Chriſt is not defiled: that which paſſes through his hands is pure, &c. viz. the Sacrament, Aug. Tract. 5. in Joh. So, before him, Tertullian, ſpeaking of a Prieſt that had been twice married, Quomodo audebit orationem ducere ad Altare (as Rigaltius reads it) de qua erubeſcente, & ipſe ſuffunditur ſanctus Miniſter. How ſhall he dare to put up a ſhameful Prayer to the Altar, which he, the Holy Miniſter, himſelf bluſhes at? So St. Cyprian, Non in Miniſtris fides integra. The Faith of ſome of the Clergy has not been entire, Cypr. de Lapſis. Indeed this ſignification of the Word is not uſual among the Greek Fathers, becauſe Διάκονος, which anſwers to it, ſignifies the peculiar Order of a Deacon, in Church-Language. But however, St. Paul calls himſelf ſeveral times, Διάκονος, or Miniſter. Διὰ τὸ Εὐαγγέλιον, ὃ ἐγενόμην Διάκονος, By the Goſpel, of which I was made, or am become, a Miniſter, 1 Cor. iii. 7. And ſo, Coloſſ. i. 23. Whereof I Paul am made a Miniſter. And 2 Cor. vi. 4. But in all things approving our ſelves, ὡς Θεοῦ Διάκονοι, as the Miniſters of God. And in this ſenſe ſome of the Greek Fathers will have that place of St. Paul to the Philippians, Phil. i. 1. to the Saints in Chriſt Jeſus, which are at Philippi, with the Biſhops, καὶ Διάκονοις, and Miniſters. Upon which Paſſage, St. Chryſoſtom ſays, Τότε καὶ ἴσως ἐκοινώνουν τοῖς ὀνόμασι, καὶ διάκονος ὁ ἐπίσκοπος ἐλέγετο. Then the Clergy were called by one common Name, and even the Biſhop was called Διάκονος, or Miniſter, Chryſ. Hom. I. in 1 cap. Ep. ad Phil. So Theophylact, who generally copies after St. Chryſoſtom, Ὅπου καὶ ὅπου διαχωρίζει τὰ ὀνόματα, ἀλλὰ καὶ οἱ ἐπίσκοποι, διάκονοι καὶ πρεσβύτεροι ἐκαλοῦντο. Then Titles were not diſtinguiſhed, and Biſhops were called both Presbyters, and Διάκονοι, or Miniſters, Theophyl. in locum. And this carries the uſe of the word Miniſter as high as can be deſired, and does clearly ſhew the identical ſignification of the words Prieſt and Miniſter.

Therefore that we may receive the Benefit of this Holy Ordinance, let us pray to God, of whom cometh every good and perfect gift, Jam. i. 17. to afford us the Grace of true Repentance, and withal the Aſſiſtance of his Holy Spirit; for without the Illumination of this bleſſed Spirit, which helps our Infirmities, Rom. viii. 26. our Devotion will not be well-pleaſing to him, Gal. iv. 6. which Holy Spirit is likewiſe neceſſary, that we may not return to our Sins again; but that our Souls, which have formerly been polluted with many Vices, may ſhine with that Purity and Holineſs which the Goſpel requires. So that when we come to die, we may enter into the Joy of the Father, through the Merits of Jeſus Chriſt our bleſſed Redeemer.

I. My Soul doth praiſe the Lord; and thankfully rejoice in God, who has protected me under my helpleſs Condition, and beſtowed ſo great Benefits upon me.

III. For behold, from henceforth: all generations ſhall call me bleſſed.
IV. For he that is mighty hath magnified me: and holy is his Name.
V. And his mercy is on them that fear him: throughout all generations.
VI. He hath ſhewed ſtrength with his arm: he hath ſcattered the proud in the imagination of their hearts.
VII. He hath put down the mighty from their ſeat: and hath exalted the humble and meek.
VIII. He hath filled the hungry with good things: and the rich he hath ſent empty away.
IX. He remembring his mercy hath holpen his ſervant Iſrael: as he promiſed to our forefathers, Abraham and his ſeed for ever.
Glory be to the Father, and to the Son: and to the Holy Ghoſt.
As it was in the beginning, is now, and ever ſhall be: world without end. Amen.

Cantate Domino. Pſal. 98.

I. O † Sing unto the Lord a new ſong: for he hath done marvellous things.
II. With his own right hand, and with his holy arm: hath he gotten himſelf the victory.
III. The Lord declared his ſalvation: his righteouſneſs hath he openly ſhewed in the ſight of the heathen.
IV. He hath remembred his mercy and truth toward the houſe of Iſrael: and all the ends of the world have ſeen the ſalvation of our God.
V. Shew your ſelves joyful unto the Lord, all ye lands: ſing, rejoice and give thanks.
VI. Praiſe the Lord upon the harp: ſing to the harp with a pſalm of thankſgiving.
VII. With trumpets alſo and ſhawms: O ſhew your ſelves joyful before the Lord the King.
VIII. Let the ſea make a noiſe, and all that therein is: the round world, and they that dwell therein.

IX. Let

III. For after this gracious Indulgence of his, no one can upbraid me for the meanneſs of my Circumſtances; but all future Generations ſhall look upon me to be the moſt happy of Mortals.
IV. For I am exalted to the greateſt of Honours by the Almighty God himſelf; for which unaccountable Favour, I ſhall for ever glorifie his holy Name.
V. Not only for this Honour conferred upon my ſelf, but for his Mercy continued to his Faithful Servants, Abraham, Iſaac, &c. many Generations after their death.
VI. He, by chooſing a poor Maid to bring forth the Meſſias into the World, has ſhewed what his omnipotent Arm or Power could do; and has quell'd the proud Imaginations of their Hearts, who expected him to make his entrance upon Earth, in a more ſplendid manner.
VII. He has pulled down thoſe great Perſons in the World, who had aſſumed to themſelves a place of Dignity above others, and fruſtrated the Expectations of all the illuſtrious Ladies of the Univerſe, who might have expected this Honour to be done to them; and has exalted to this unparallel'd Dignity, a poor and humble Virgin.
VIII. He having no reſpect of Perſons, has conſidered Charity more than Magnificence; as one that chooſes rather to Feaſt the Poor, than to Feed the Rich.
IX. And in this he has remembred his Mercy, i. e. ſent Relief to his diſtreſſed People (vid. 2 Chron. vi. 42.) of the Jewiſh Nation; herein making good his everlaſting Promiſe, which he made to Abraham and his Seed.

† This Pſalm not in the 1 but in the 2 of Edw. VI.

PARAPHRASE on Cantate Domino.

This Pſalm is thought to be a Prophetical Exultation, for the ſpreading of the Goſpel.
I. O ſing unto the Lord a new and extraordinary Song, for he hath done for the ſake of his Church, things full of Amazement and Aſtoniſhment.
II. He, not by any mortal Hand, but by his own omnipotent Arm, has gain'd a Victory; and that not only over our Temporal, but over our Spiritual Enemies.
III. He hath manifeſted his Salvation, univerſally extended, by the coming of the Meſſias: He has manifeſted his Righteouſneſs, in deſtroying the Kingdom of Darkneſs, to all the Heathen World.
IV. He hath remembred the Promiſe of the Meſſias, made to the ancient Patriarchs of the Jews; and all the Heathen Nations have ſeen (that is, in the Prophetick Phraſe, ſhall ſee) that Salvation or Bleſſing which they ſhall receive from Abraham's Seed, Gen. xii. 3.
V. Therefore, O all ye Heathen Countries, ſince you are to partake of this ineſtimable Bleſſing, do you, as a Mark of your Thankfulneſs to ſo gracious a God, joyn with us Jews in our Praiſes to the Lord.
VI. Do you Praiſe the Lord together with us, upon the moſt tuneful Inſtrument; the Harp, and join to this a vocal Muſick, ſinging ſacred Songs, in Thankfulneſs to God, for ſo great a Bleſſing.
VII. Let there be added to the ſacred Conſort, the moſt melodious Wind-Muſick in uſe among us, Trumpets and Pipes; to raiſe our Joy to the greateſt height, when we appear in the Preſence of the great Jehovah, who is King of Heaven and Earth.
VIII. Let the Waves of the Sea join their Murmurs, to make up the Harmony: Let all the whole Orb of the Earth, and all the Inhabitants of it, come in for their parts in the univerſal Chorus.

IX. Let the flouds clap their hands, and let the hills be joyful together before the Lord: for he cometh to judge the earth.

X. With righteouſneſs ſhall he judge the world: and the people with equity.

Glory be to the Father, and to the Son: and to the Holy Ghoſt;
As it was in the beginning, is now, and ever ſhall be: world without end. Amen.

I. LOrd, now letteſt thou thy ſervant depart in peace: according to thy word.

II. For mine eyes have ſeen: thy ſalvation,

III. Which thou haſt prepared: before the face of all people;

IV. To be a light to lighten the Gentiles: and to be the glory of thy people Iſrael.

Glory be to the Father, and to the Son: and to the Holy Ghoſt;
As it was in the beginning, is now, and ever ſhall be: world without end. Amen.

II. That thy way may be known upon earth: thy ſaving health among all nations.

III. Let the people praiſe thee, O God: yea, let all the people praiſe thee.

IV. O let the nations rejoice and be glad: for thou ſhalt judge the folk righteouſly, and govern the nations upon earth.

IX. Let the daſhing of the Waters in the Rivers imitate the clapping of Hands, in this general Dance and rejoicing of Nature: Let the Hills, by a pleaſant Verdure, ſeem to ſmile and ſing; ſince the Great God himſelf makes his appearance upon Earth, to govern Men by his Laws.

X. He ſhall then govern Mankind, not by the imperfect Dictates of Nature's dim Light, nor by Ceremonial Precepts; but by New and Divine Laws, full of Equity and Gooodneſs.

NOTES.

(b) Nnnc dimittis.] Simeon, the Author of this Hymn, is by Scultetus, Lightfoot, and Altingius, thought to be the famous Rabbi Simeon Ben Hillel, who oppoſed the Temporal Kingdom of the Meſſias, and chief Governour of the Sanhedrim. His Age agrees to the time of Chriſt, by the words of a Jewiſh Writer: Jeſus of Nazareth, born in Bethlehem Juda, a mile and a half diſtant from Jeruſalem, the Year of the Creation 3761, which is the 42*d of* Auguſtus; and according to this Computation it falls on the days of Rab. Simeon, the Son of Hillel. Ganſius in Gemach. David. Part II. ad an. 3761. But it is probable our Simeon was not ſo great a Man; for ſuch a ſtrange Propheſy of ſo noted a Man, muſt needs have made a mighty noiſe in the Herodian Court; and beſides, when the Scriptures mention a conſiderable Man, a Proſelyte to Chriſtianity, or a favourer of it, they give him a great Elogium, as of Nicodemus, John iii. 1. a Ruler of the Jews. And Luke viii. 41. Jairus, a Ruler of the Synagogue. Luke xxi. 50. Joſeph, a Counſellor, a good man and juſt. Acts xiii. 7. Sergius Paulus, the Propretorian, an underſtanding man. Beſides, this Simeon Ben Hillel was Father to Gamaliel, a ſtrict Phariſee and Enemy to the Chriſtians; whoſe Father, if he had thus embraced Chriſt in his Arms, had by him been inſtructed with ſuch Principles, as would have made him, if not a Diſciple, yet more favourable to Chriſt and his Followers.

PARAPHRASE on Nunc dimittis.

I. Lord, thou mayſt now, if it be thy heavenly Pleaſure, ſuffer me thy Servant to go down to the Grave in Peace, thou having now diſcharged thy ſelf of thy Promiſe made to me, That I ſhould not ſee Death before I had ſeen the Lord's Chriſt, Luke ii. 26.

II. For now to my greateſt Comfort, I have been ſo happy as to ſee, not with the Eye of Faith only, as the Patriarchs and other good People before did, but with theſe, my very own fleſhly Eyes, I have ſeen the Saviour of the World.

III. Whom thou haſt ordained, to purchaſe Salvation, not only for the Jews, but for all People and Nations in the World, and whom all of them, with joint-expectations wait for.

IV. That he ſhould be, as it were, a Light hung out to the Gentiles, who were ſurrounded by darkneſs of Idolatry and Superſtition, to direct them into the way of true Religion; and likewiſe, That he ſhould procure great Glory and Honour to the Jews; That he, whom all Nations expected, ſhould be born among them; That the Goſpel ſhould be firſt preached in their Country; and, That their Countrymen ſhould be the chief Inſtruments of conveying Salvation to ſo many diſtant Countries of the Univerſe.

I. We pray that God with his Mercy and Kindneſs would continually bleſs and protect our Nation; that he would not look upon us, as formerly in his Anger, as it were out of a Cloud; but that he would view us with a ſerene and pleaſant Countenance, and as it were with the Sun-ſhine of his Favour.

II. That thy true Religion may be propagated all over the World, and that every Nation may receive the glad Tidings of their Salvation:

III. Let not the Praiſe and Worſhip of thee, the true God, be confined only to Judea? but let the Inhabitants of every Nation come in with us to adore thee.

IV. Nay the Heathen Nations have for their part the greateſt reaſon to exult and triumph, and to praiſe the Goodneſs of God; for he is coming to govern them by righteous and good Laws, who were before under the Government of Satan, and had nothing to guide them, but ſome few Laws or Tendencies of Nature, or ſome Precepts of an old Tradition, which are now almoſt obliterated.

PARAPHRASE on the Apoſtles Creed.

I make this Confeſſion of my Faith, relating to thoſe Truths, which upon the Teſtimony of God himſelf are revealed unto me. I. (I believe) that there is one only (God) Deut. iv. 35. 1 Cor. viii. 6. That he is (Father) to all Men by Creation, Mal. ii. 10. Redemption, Deut. xxxii. 6. Adoption, 1 John iii. 1. but in a peculiar manner the Father of our bleſſed Lord by eternal Generation, Heb. i. 1, 2. John vi. 57. I believe farther, that this one God is (Almighty,) and is veſted with an infinite Power of doing all things, Iſa. xlv. 12. Rev. xix. 6. and governing all things at his pleaſure, 1 Chron. xxix. 11. Jer. xvi. 6. That he was the (Maker of Heaven and Earth,) i. e. the whole World, and every thing contained therein, Exod. xx. 11. John i. 1. Col. i. 16.

II. I believe likewiſe in Jeſus Chriſt, being verily perſwaded, that he is what his Name (Jeſus) ſignifies, the Saviour of the World, Luke i. 31. Mat. i. 21. Acts xiii. 23. That he is (Chriſt) or the Meſſias, which was ſo long before his coming promiſed under the Old Teſtament, Gen. xxi. 12. Gen. xlix. 10. Mal. iii. 1. That he is the (only Son) of God, begotten from all Eternity, partly as being ſaid to come down from Heaven, John vi. 38. partly, becauſe he is recorded in Scripture to have made the World, Heb. i. 2. Col. i. 15. partly by reaſon he is frequently called God, John i. 1. Phil. ii. 6, 7. 1 Tim. iii. 16. Rom. ix. 5. but chiefly, becauſe of the Divine Eſſence being communicated to him, John xvi. 15. John v. 26. 2 Cor. iv. 4. and that in a manner different from all created Beings, Heb. i. 13. Who is likewiſe (our Lord) by being the true Jehovah or Lord, Hoſ. i. 7. Matt. iii. 3. by having all things put under his Dominion, Pſal. cx. 5. by redeeming us from the Power of the Devil, who before had got the Maſtery over us, Heb. ii. 14. Col. ii. 15. by purchaſing us by his Blood, Acts xx. 28. Eph. i. 7. by our voluntary becoming his Servants and Scholars by Baptiſm, Rom. vi. 6, 13. We believe further, That tho' Chriſt was true Man, Heb. iv. 15. yet he was not produced after the ordinary manner of Human Conception, but, by the overſhadowing of the (Holy Ghoſt,) Luke i. 35. was born of Mary a poor Maid of the Lineage of David, who continued a (Virgin,) notwithſtanding that miraculous Birth, Luke i. 27. That he ſuffered an ignominious Death, as was foretold, Iſa. liii. 9. Mark ix. 12. and this at the time when (Pontius Pilate) was Governour under the Romans in Judea, Mat. xxvii. 2. was nailed to a Croſs; a terrible and ſcandalous Puniſhment, which the Romans uſed to put their wicked Slaves to death by: That under this grievous Torture he became really dead, Luke xxiii. 46. Mark 15. 37. and after that by a kind Diſciple was (buried), John xix. 38. And (deſcended into Hell) or Hades, the Repoſitory or Place of ſeparate Souls, Iſa. v. 14. Pſal. xvi. 10. On the (third day) after his Crucifixion he roſe again, Matt. xvi. 21. Mark ix. 31. as he had before foretold, Matt. xxvii. 63. After that, in the ſight of a great many credible Witneſſes, he in a moſt glorious manner aſcended up into Heaven, Luke xxiv. 50, 51. Acts i. 9, 10. as the Prophets had long before predicted, Pſal. lxviii. 18. Micah ii. 13. And was ſhortly after advanced to a moſt eſpecial Honour, which was never vouchſafed to any Perſon before, Heb. i. 13. to (ſit on the right Hand of God,) Luke xxii. 69. 1 Pet. iii. 22. which is a Place of the greateſt Dignity in Heaven, 1 Kings ii. 19. Heb. viii. 1. where he has begun his Spiritual Kingdom, and treads upon the Necks of the great Enemies of his Juriſdiction; Sin, Rom. v. 14. Satan, Heb. ii. 14. and Death, 1 Cor. xv. 26. Who, at the end of the World, ſhall come in a triumphant and glorious Proceſſion, attended with the Angels, 2 Theſſ. i. 7. Matt. xxv. 31. and ſhall have all Power committed to him, John v. 22, 27. Acts xvii. 31. to (judge) thoſe who ſhall then be alive, 1 Theſſ. iv. 15. 1 Cor. xv. 51. and thoſe who ſhall be raiſed up from their Graves, Matt. xxv. 32.

III. I believe the Holy Ghoſt to be very God, and the third Perſon of the bleſſed Trinity; That he is not a Virtue or Grace, as ſome fondly imagine, but a Perſon, Eph. iv. 30. Rom. viii. 26. Acts x. 19. who is called frequently the Comforter, John xiv. 26. --- xv. 26. --- xvi. 7. and is expreſly named God, Acts v. 4. I further believe, That there is a number of Men, ſequeſtred from the reſt of the World by Faith in Chriſt, and govern'd by his Laws, that have continu'd throughout all Ages from the Apoſtles time, and ſhall do ſo to the coming of Chriſt; which I call the (Catholick Church,) which is Holy, 2 Tim. ii. 19. by reaſon of the holy Profeſſion which they are called to; tho' all the particular Members are not ſo, Matt. xiii. 24. It is likewiſe Catholick or Univerſal, becauſe of its Diffuſiveneſs throughout the World, Matt. xxviii. 19. Luke xxiv. 47. I believe, That there is a (Communion) of the Saints and Elect People of God, 1 Cor. vi. 11. Eph. i. 13. with God the Father, 1 John iii. with God the Son, John xvii. 20. 1 Cor. i. 9. with the Holy Ghoſt, Phil. ii. 1. Rom. viii. 9. and with all the Saints in all the Churches now upon Earth, 1 John i. 7. as alſo with all the Saints departed, Heb. xii. 22, 23. I believe further, That whereas by our Sins we are become Debters to God's Juſtice, 1 John iii. 4. Matt. v. 22. ſo through the Blood of Chriſt, who has made Satisfaction for them, Matt. xx. 28. 2 Cor. v. 18. Rom. v. 10. Col. i. 10. we may obtain (Forgiveneſs) of them, not only in Baptiſm, Acts ii. 38. Acts xxii. 16. Eph. v. 26. but afterwards, if we truly repent of them, 1 Joh. ii. 4. 1 John 2. 1. I believe likewiſe the (Reſurrection of the Body,) not only as a thing poſſible to be done by an Almighty Agent, Luke i. 37. Acts xxvi. 8. Matt. x. 29. but as a thing gene-

(c) This Prayer being taken out of the Sacramentary of Gregory the Great, is thus worded therein:

Deus, a quo ſancta deſideria, recta conſilia, & juſta ſunt opera, da ſervis tuis illam, quam mundus dare non poteſt, pacem, ut & corda noſtra mandatis tuis dedita, & hoſtium ſublatâ formidine, tempora ſint tuâ protectione tranquilla. Per dominum noſtrum Jeſum Chriſtum. Amen. Greg. Lib. Sacr. Miſſa pro Pace.

(d) Φώτισον τοὺ ὀφθαλμοὺς τῆς διανοίας ἡμῶν, μήποτε ὑπνώσωμεν εἰς ἁμαρτίας εἰς θάνατον· ἀπέλασον πᾶσαν ζόφον ἀπὸ τῆς καρδίας ἡμῶν. Χάρισαι ἡμῖν τὸν τῆς δικαιοσύνης σοῦ ἥλιον. Lighten the eyes of our underſtandings, that we ſleep not in our ſins unto death: drive away all darkneſs from our hearts, and grant us the Sun of thy righteouſneſs. Euchol. Græc. in Offic. Laud. Or. 3.

PARAPHRASE on the ſecond Collect.

O God, from whoſe Grace doth proceed all that is good and vertuous, for without thee, we cannot have a holy deſire, being not ſufficient to think any thing as of our ſelves, 1 Cor. 3. 5. We are beholding to thee to prepare our Hearts, Prov. xvi. 1. when we are determined by any prudent Counſel, and come to any holy purpoſe or Reſolution; and if we do any good Action, we muſt depend upon thy Aſſiſtance, who workeſt in us both to will and to do, Phil. 2. 13. We beſeech thee to give unto us that Bleſſing, which our gracious Lord hath bequeathed unto his faithful Servants, in theſe words, My Peace I leave unto you; not ſuch as the World giveth, give I unto you, John xiv. 27. Oh! grant us this bleſſed Peace of Conſcience, here promiſed, which only can be obtained in doing our Duty, and obeying thy Commandments, There being no Peace to the Wicked, Iſa. xlviii. 12. Beſeeching thee, if it be thy good Pleaſure, to afford us likewiſe outward Peace, and to place us in a State of Safety and Freedom from any fear of our Enemies; that we may paſs over this ſhort Life in a State of Tranquillity, and be more at leiſure to prepare ourſelves for a better. And this we beg for the ſake of Chriſt's Merits and Satisfaction. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the third Collect.

We implore thy Goodneſs, O Lord, in the words of the holy Pſalmiſt, To enlighten our Darkneſs, Pſal. xviii. 28. and whereas the black Shades of the Night are now coming towards us, let the Light of thy Countenance ſhine upon us, which will be more comfortable to us, than that of the Sun: And we beſeech thee, out of thy tender Mercy to all thy Creatures, and eſpecially to thy faithful Servants, that thou wouldeſt be pleaſed to defend us from all the Dangers which the Night brings along with it; from Fire and Thieves; from Diſeaſes and ſudden Death; from all unchaſt Thoughts and frightful Dreams; and that thou wouldeſt preſerve us, in Health and Safety, to the next Morning. And this we beg of thee, for the Love which thou beareſt to thy only Son, who intercedes for us. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the Prayer for the Queens Majeſty.

O Lord, who doſt vouchſafe to ſuffer us to call thee Father, tho' thou dwelleſt ſo much above us in the higheſt Heaven; thou who art King of kings and Lord of lords, 1 Tim. vi. 15. whoſe Providence doth take care of the meaneſt Inhabitants of the Earth, Luke xii. 7. but does look with a more watchful Eye upon thoſe, whom thou haſt raiſed to that great and weighty Office of the Regal Dignity, Eccl. x. 20. Iſa. xliv. 48. we earneſtly beg of thee, that thou wouldeſt, in a more particular manner, extend thy watchful holy Spirit, that ſhe may alway incline to thy will, and walk in thy way: Endue her plenteouſly with heavenly gifts, grant her in health and wealth long to live, ſtrengthen her that ſhe may vanquiſh and overcome all her enemies; and finally after this life, ſhe may attain everlaſting joy and felicity, through Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

¶ ‖ A Prayer for * [the Princeſs Sophia and all the Royal Family.]

ALmighty God, ∴ the fountain of all goodneſs, we humbly beſeech thee to bleſs the Princeſs Sophia, and all the Royal Family: Endue them with thy holy Spirit; enrich them with thy heavenly grace; proſper them with all happineſs; and bring them to thine everlaſting kingdom, through Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

¶ A Prayer for the Clergy and People.

ALmighty and everlaſting God, who alone workeſt great marvels; ſend down upon our Biſhops, and Curates, and all Congregations committed to their charge, the healthful Spirit of thy grace; and that they may truly pleaſe thee, pour upon them the continual dew of thy bleſſing. Grant this, O Lord, for the honour of our Advocate and Mediator, Jeſus Chriſt. Amen.

¶ A Prayer of Saint Chryſoſtom.

ALmighty God, who haſt given us grace at this time with one accord to make our common ſupplications unto thee, and doſt promiſe, that when two or three are gathered together in thy Name, thou wilt grant their requeſts; Fulfill now, O Lord, the deſires and petitions of thy ſervants, as may be moſt expedient for them; granting us in this world knowledge of thy truth, and in the world to come life everlaſting. Amen.

2 Cor. xiii.

THe grace of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, and the love of God, and the fellowſhip of the Holy Ghoſt be with us all evermore. Amen.

Here endeth the Order of Evening Prayer throughout the year.

Care over the Perſon of ANNE our Queen; which Bleſſing we are obliged to pray for, even upon a ſevere and perſecuting Princeſs, but ought with more readineſs and earneſtneſs to call upon thee, to ſhower down thy Bleſſing upon ſo good and gracious a Sovereign. We beſeech thee to fill her with thy holy Spirit, Eph. v. 18. that her Heart being in thy hand, Prov. xxi. 1. thou mayeſt diſpoſe her to tranſact every thing in her high Station, as may be agreeable to thy heavenly Will, and conſonant to that holy Law which thou haſt preſcribed. Endue her with the Spirit of Wiſdom and Underſtanding, Counſel and Might, and all other Gifts and Graces which thou ſhalt judge requiſite for her, either as a Prince or a Chriſtian. Grant her length of days, Pſal. xci. 16. with Health of Body, and Proſperity of Fortune. Be thou a ſaving ſtrength to thine anointed, Pſal. xxviii. 8. that by this ſhe may be enabled to ſubdue her Enemies abroad by victorious Arms, and to defeat the wicked Attempts of her Adverſaries at home. And laſtly, That after a Life ſpent with Holineſs and Happineſs in this World, ſhe may be tranſlated to the everlaſting Joys of the other. And this we beg for the ſake of Chriſt Jeſus our Lord. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the Prayer for the Royal Family.

O all-powerful God, who art the Well of Life, Pſal. xxxvi. 9. and the inexhauſtible Fountain of Goodneſs, from which all the Comforts of Human Life do proceed; we beſeech thee to bleſs the Princeſs Sophia, and all the other Branches of the Royal Family, who by the Laws of the Land are entituled to a right of Succeſſion, in their turns, when thou ſhalt think fit, to the Government of this Nation. Sanctifie them by thy holy Spirit, 2 Theſſ. ii. 3. granting them the Riches of thy Grace, Eph. i. 7. and be pleaſed to confer upon them the choiceſt of thy Bleſſings; to make up for them as great a Share of Happineſs as this World can afford; and when thou art pleaſed to remove them to the next, let them receive a Crown of Glory, 1 Pet. v. 4. in the everlaſting Kingdom of our God, 2 Pet. i. 11. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the Prayer for the Clergy.

O all-powerful and eternal God, who alone art able to produce thoſe wonderful effects in the Souls of Men, which are frequently viſible in the Miniſtry of the Preachers of thy Word, through the Operation of thy Grace acompanying their Endeavours; we beſeech thee to confer thy Grace which bringeth Salvation, Tit. ii. 11. upon all the Biſhops and inferior Paſtors of the Church, and likewiſe upon all the reſpective Congregations whoſe Souls they have the Charge of. And, that there may ſuch a Fruit of their Labours ariſe, as may be pleaſing unto thee, we beg of thee, that thy Bleſſing, like the continual dropping of a kindly Dew upon the Graſs, Prov. xix. 12. may give an Increaſe to what they plant and water, 1 Cor. iii. 5, 6. in the Preaching of the Word, and other Exerciſes of the Miniſterial Offices. And this we deſire of thee to grant, for the Honour of Chriſt Jeſus, whoſe Honour is highly advanced by the Increaſe of his Church, and the Salvation of Souls. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the Prayer of St. Chryſoſtom.

All-powerful God, to whoſe Grace and Favour we owe it, that we have had this opportunity of addreſſing ourſelves unto thee, in the publick Service of the Church; and who haſt promiſed, in thy holy Word, that when two or three are gathered together in thy Name, thou art in the midſt of them, Matt. xviii. 19. and that what they agree on, ſhall be done for them in Heaven, ib. v. 18. Relying therefore upon thy gracious Promiſe, which thou haſt been pleaſed to make to thy Church, we humbly put in our Plea at the Throne of Grace, to grant all that we have prayed for, ſo far forth (eſpecially as to Temporal Bleſſings) as thou in thy heavenly Wiſdom ſhalt judge expedient: Deſiring thee however, of thy goodneſs, to grant us all neceſſary Knowledge in the Truths of Religion, whilſt we live in this World, and when we ſhall paſs to the other, that thou wouldeſt beſtow upon us everlaſting Life. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the Bleſſing.

I now cloſe, my Chriſtian Brethren, this part of the Service with the Benediction uſed by St. Paul, 2 Cor. xiii. 14. committing both you and myſelf to the Care and Protection of the ever-bleſſed Trinity; beſeeching the Great God who is three Perſons in one Nature, That the Grace obtained for us by our bleſſed Lord Jeſus in our Redemption, may abſolve us: That the Love of the Father, who is now reconciled to us through his Blood, may juſtify us: And laſtly, That by partaking of the Communication of the Holy Ghoſt, we may be ſanctified. Amen.

NOTES.

(d) This Confeſſion.] This Creed has, by many, been attributed to St. Athanaſius, becauſe Marcellus and he are ſaid to have left Confeſſions of their Faith with Julius Biſhop of Rome; and that Athanaſius gave in this Creed as his Confeſſion. But 'tis plain, That Athanaſius was not the Author of it; becauſe it does not appear to have been known to any till the Sixth Century. Beſides, this Creed oppoſes the Neſtorians, Eutychians, and Monothelites, all which Hereticks ſprang up after Athanaſius's Time. But however 'tis very ancient; for ſome Paſſages out of it, are quoted in the Council of Toledo, held A. D. 633. And 'tis cited by Radulphus and other Authors who wrote about the ſame time. It is an excellent Epitome of the Doctrine eſtabliſhed by the Four firſt General Councils concerning the Holy Trinity.

PARAPHRASE on Quicunque vult.

I. Since the Goſpel is to be preached to every Creature, Mar xvi. 15. who are to be baptized in the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghoſt, Luke xxviii. 19. it is neceſſary, in order to every Man's Salvation, that he believe in theſe Three Perſons of the Holy Trinity, into the Names of which he is baptized.

II. And ſince the Apoſtle commands to hold faſt the form of ſound words, 2 Tim. i. 7. and we are exhorted to contend earneſtly for the faith once delivered to the Saints, Jude iii. Since the Hereſies which oppoſe this Doctrine are called damnable Hereſies, 2 Pet. ii. 1. and thoſe who do not believe theſe Fundamentals of Chriſtianity, which are the neceſſary Qualifications for Baptiſm, ſhall be damned, Mark xvi. 16. we conceive it not any Breach of Chriſtianity to ſay, That they who deſtroy this Faith by Heretical Innovations, without doubt ſhall everlaſtingly periſh.

III. Now this Catholick Faith, which was once delivered to the Saints, is this: That we worſhip the Three Perſons, Father, Son, and Holy Ghoſt, in an Unity of Eſſence.

IV. Neither muſt we, by confounding the Perſons, make them only one Perſon under a different Conſideration; nor, by dividing the Eſſence, make them Three Gods.

V. For, Father, Son, and Holy Ghoſt, have each of them their peculiar Perſonality.

VI. But there is but one Godhead belonging to theſe Three Perſons, having all the ſame equal Glory, and eternal Majeſty.

VII. And all the eſſential Attributes of the Deity, as Uncreatedneſs, Incomprehenſibility, Eternity, and Omnipotence, do belong to every Perſon:

VIII. Yet not in ſuch a diſtant manner, as to imply three different Uncreated, Incomprehenſible and Eternal Beings.

* The like is to be ſaid of the Godſhip, and Lordſhip over the Creatures.

IX. The

So likewiſe the Father is Lord, the Son Lord: and the Holy Ghoſt Lord;

And yet not three Lords: but one Lord.

For like as we are compelled by the Chriſtian verity: to acknowledge every perſon by himſelf to be God and Lord;

So are we forbidden by the Catholick Religion: to ſay, There be three Gods, or three Lords.

IX. The Father is made of none: neither created, nor begotten.

X. The Son is of the Father alone: not made, nor created, but begotten.

XI. The Holy Ghoſt is of the Father: and of the Son: neither made, nor created, nor begotten, but proceeding.

XII. So there is one Father, not three Fathers; one Son, not three Sons: one Holy Ghoſt, not three Holy Ghoſts.

XIII And in this Trinity none is afore, or after other: none is greater or leſs than another;

XIV. But the whole three perſons are co-eternal together: and co-equal.

XV. So that in all things, as is aforeſaid: the Unity in Trinity, and the Trinity in Unity is to be worſhipped.

XVI. He therefore, that will be ſaved: muſt thus think of the Trinity.

XVII. Furthermore, it is neceſſary to everlaſting ſalvation: that he alſo believe rightly the Incarnation of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt.

XVIII. For the right Faith is, that we believe and confeſs: that our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, the Son of God, is God, and Man;

XIX. God of the ſubſtance of the Father, begotten before the worlds: and Man of the ſubſtance of his Mother, born in the world;

XX. Perfect God, and perfect Man: of a reaſonable ſoul, and humane fleſh ſubſiſting;

XXI. Equal to the Father, as touching his Godhead: and inferiour to the Father, as touching his Manhood.

XXII. Who although he be God, and Man: yet he is not two, but one Chriſt;

XXIII. One; not by converſion of the Godhead into fleſh: but by taking of the Manhood into God;

XXIV. One altogether; not by confuſion of ſubſtance: but by unity of perſon.

XXV. For as the reaſonable ſoul and fleſh is one man: ſo God and Man is one Chriſt.

XXVI. Who ſuffered for our ſalvation: deſcended into hell, roſe again the third day from the dead.

XXVII. He

IX. The Father is Self-exiſtent, having his Being communicated by none; not created, as Men and Angels; nor begotten, like the Son.

X. The Son receives his Being from the Father, not made as a Creature, but from all Eternity in an ineffable manner, derived from the Father who is the Fountain of the Deity; which Origination in Scripture-Language, is called Begetting.

XI. The Holy Ghoſt derives his Eſſence, both from the Father and the Son; which in Holy Scripture is called going out or Proceeding.

XII. So that one of theſe Perſons only is Father, one only is Son, and another only is Holy Ghoſt; none of the perſonal Attributes being communicable to the other two.

XIII. Neither is there Priority of Dignity, or Superiority of Power, in theſe three Perſons.

XIV. All of them have the like Eternity and Equality.

XV. So that in all our Addreſſes to them, when we pay our Adoration to one Perſon, we worſhip all Three.

XVI. And to think thus of the Trinity, is the true Chriſtian ſaving Faith.

XVII. Moreover, to attain the ſame True Faith, it is neceſſary to believe rightly concerning Chriſt's Incarnation.

XVIII. For we ought to believe, that our bleſſed Lord is both God and Man.

XIX. As he is God, he derived his Divine Nature from the Father, by a Generation before all time: As he is Man, he was made of the Bodily Subſtance of his Mother; and born in time.

XX. Not being only, as the Arians pretend, a very highly exalted Creature, but true and perfect God: Nor, as the Apollinarians imagine, having his Humanity ſwallowed up by his Divinity, but perfect Man likewiſe; which Manhood of Chriſt does conſiſt in the Union of a Rational Soul with an Humane Body.

XXI. Enjoying an Equality with the Father in reſpect of his being God; but far inferior to him as he is Man.

XXII. But however, tho' our bleſſed Saviour be both God and Man; yet he is not, according to the Fancy of the Neſtorians, two Perſons; but, by Union of the Deity with the Humanity, he becomes that one ſingle Perſon which we call Chriſt.

XXIII. One, not by turning the Divine Nature into Humane Body; but by aſſuming the Humane Nature into a ſtrict Union with the Divine.

XXIV. And this by a very cloſe and entire Union, yet not ſuch as to confound the two Natures of the Divinity and Humanity, and to make Chriſt have but one Will, (which was the Hereſie of the Eutychians and Monothelites,) but only by ſuch a perſonal Unity, as we perceive in our own Nature.

XXV. For as the Rational Soul and Humane Body conſtitute one Man, by a Parity of Reaſon God and Man is one Chriſt.

XXVI. This bleſſed Perſon of our Lord, we believe to have ſuffered for our ſakes, to obtain Salvation for us; to have deſcended into Hades; and to have riſen again the third day from the Dead.

XXVII. That

XXVII. He aſcended into heaven, he ſitteth on the right hand of the Father, God Almighty: from whence he ſhall come to judge the quick and the dead.

XXVIII. At whoſe coming all men ſhall riſe again with their bodies: and ſhall give account for their own works.

XXIX. And they that have done good, ſhall go into life everlaſting: and they that have done evil into everlaſting fire.

XXX. This is the Catholick Faith: which except a man believe faithfully, he cannot be ſaved.

Glory be to the Father, and to the Son: and to the Holy Ghoſt;
As it was in the beginning, is now, and ever ſhall be: world without end. Amen.

---

¶ Here followeth the (e) Litany, or General * Supplication, to be ſung or ſaid after Morning Prayer, upon Sundays, Wedneſdays, and Fridays, and at other times, when it ſhall be commanded by the Ordinary.

O God

XXVII. That he hath aſcended up into Heaven, and ſitteth in glorious manner at God's right Hand, and ſhall hereafter come from thence to judge the World.

XXVIII. Before whoſe Judgment-ſeat, when he ſhall come, all Men muſt appear; that every one may receive the things done in his Body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad, 2 Cor. v. 10.

XXIX. And bad Men ſhall go away into everlaſting Puniſhment; but the Righteous into Life eternal, Matt. xxv. 46.

XXX. This is the Catholick Faith which our Saviour and his Apoſtles have taught, the Heretical Oppoſers whereof, cannot, by God's ordinary Mercy, expect Salvation, till they recant their wicked Errors, and Heretical Pravity.

NOTES.

(e) The Litany, or general Supplication.] Our Church here explains what a Litany is, by the ſame Definition, or one very like to that, which is given of it by the Greek Church, who were beſt qualified to underſtand the import of words in their own Language. Λιτανεία δὲ ἔστι παράκλησις πρὸς τὸν Θεὸν, ἐν ἱκεσίᾳ χοινῇ δι' ὀργὴν διαφερομένην. A Litany is an Addreſs to God in common Supplication to deprecate his Wrath, Sim. Theſſ. Opuſc. de Hær. And it is to be obſerved, that the moſt ancient Greek Authors uſe this word, and others of the ſame Root, for the moſt earneſt degree of Supplication, and moſt abſolute Submiſſion. So Homer, of Chryſes, ſuing for his Daughter,

The meaning of Litany, and ancient uſe of the word in the Greek Tongue.

——— ἐλίσσετο πάντας Ἀχαιούς. Hom. Il. Lib. I.
——— He all the Greeks moſt humbly did beſeech.

And when Ulyſſes declares how he appeaſed the Infernal Deities and Manes, he ſays,

Τὰς δ' ἐπὶ εὐχωλῇσι λισσόμην ἠδὲ θύεσσι νεκρῶν Ἐλλισσόμην ——— Hom. Odyſ. Lib. II.

With Prayers and Vows, to th' Nations of Dead
When I had ſupplicated ———

Thus, when the Trojans thronged about Priam, to hinder him from going out of the City Gates, to beg his Son Hector's Body of Ulyſſes, Homer ſays of him,

Πάντας δὲ λιτέσθαι κελεύει κυλινδόμενον κατὰ κόπρον
Ἑξονομακλήδην ——— Hom. Il. Lib. XXII.

Throwing himſelf i'th' Dirt, moſt humbly did intreat
Them all, by Name, to let him go ———

And in the ſame place, ſays how well he begs his Son's Body,

Λίσσομαι ἄνερα τύπτον ἀπάλαλον ———
I humbly will addreſs the cruel Man ———

Thus, when Achilles ſupplicated to the Winds, to blow to burn Patroclus's Body, λιτέσθην ἐλθέμεν, Il. 23. In ſhort, the moſt earneſt Supplications which were made to the Heathen Deities, were called by the Name of Λιτανίαι. So, in a time of Danger, Dionyſius Halicarnaſſeus ſays, Λιτανείας ποιεῖσθαι πρὸς ἅπαντα θεῶν καὶ βωμοῖς. Supplications were made at the Temples and Altars of the Gods. Therefore, after Chriſtianity had prevailed in the Grecian Countries, they could not find a properer word to expreſs their moſt intenſe and earneſt Devotions, which they put up to God to deprecate his Judgments, than Λιτανεία.

Thus we find ſeveral of theſe Deprecatory Forms in very ancient Writers of the Church. It is to theſe that Tertullian refers, when he ſays, Quando Geniculationibus & jejunationibus noſtris depulſæ non ſunt ſiccitates? When are not the Droughts abated by our Prayers and Faſtings? Tertul. ad Scap. They are the ancient Church Litanies, which St. Cyprian means, when he ſays, Pro arcendis hoſtibus, & imbribus impetrandis, & vel auferendis, vel temperandis adverſis, rogamus ſemper & preces fundimus. We put up our Prayers and Rogations, for repelling the common Enemies, for Rain or for fair Weather, or [for moderating Perſecutions, or] making our Calamities ſupportable, Cypr. ad Dem. Nor do very early Writers fail to give us an account of the Interceſſionary part of the ancient Litanies, as well as the Deprecatory; and that almoſt in the very words of our preſent Litany: Ὑπὲρ τῆς ἁγίας καὶ τῆς καθολικῆς ἐκκλησίας, ΔΕΗΘΩΜΕΝ. For the Holy Catholick Church, Let us ſupplicate. Ὑπὲρ πασῶν Ἐπισκόπων καὶ Πρεσβυτέρων ὑμῶν, καὶ πασῆς Διακονίας, ΔΕΗΘΩΜΕΝ. For all Biſhops, Prieſts, and Deacons, Let us Supplicate. Ὑπὲρ βασιλέων καὶ πάντων ἐν ὑπεροχῇ, ΔΕΗΘΩΜΕΝ. For Kings, and all in Authority, Let us, &c. Ὑπὲρ πλεόντων καὶ ὁδοιπορούντων ΔΕΗΘΩΜΕΝ. For all that Travel by Land or by Water, Let us, &c. Ὑπὲρ πάντων ἐν μετάλλοις, καὶ ἐξορίαις καὶ φυλακαῖς καὶ δεσμοῖς, διὰ τὸ ὄνομα τοῦ κυρίου, ΔΕΗΘΩΜΕΝ. For all that are in the Mines, and Baniſhment, and Bonds, for the Lord's ſake, Let us, &c. Ὑπὲρ πάντων διωκόντων ἡμᾶς, ὑπὲρ πάντων ἔξω ὄντων καὶ πεπλανημένων, ὑπὲρ χηρῶν καὶ ὀρφανῶν, ΔΕΗΘΩΜΕΝ. For thoſe that perſecute us, for thoſe that have erred and are deceived, for Widows and Orphans, Let us, &c. Ὑπὲρ τῆς εὐκρατίας τῶν ἀέρων καὶ τελεσφορίας τῶν καρπῶν, ΔΕΗΘΩΜΕΝ. For a kindly Temperament of the Air, ſo that we may receive the Fruits of the Earth in due ſeaſon, Let us, &c. Conſt. Apoſt. Lib. VIII. cap. 10.

Such like Litanies were uſed in the Church till about the Year 570, when there happening great Troubles in the Empire, by the Inroad of the Goths, and other barbarous Nations, together with ſeveral great Peſtilences and Famine, a Cuſtom began of ſaying the Litanies by way of Proceſſion, and going round about the Cities, accompanied with ſevere Faſtings; which was firſt taken up by Mamercus, Biſhop of Vienna; ſeconded by Sidonius, Biſhop of Clermont in France; and at laſt grew into faſhion in moſt parts of the Weſt. The Litanies, ſaid after this faſhion, obtained the Name of Rogations in the Weſtern Church; and were, at laſt, ordered to be annually obſerved by a Canon of the Council of Orleans. Rogationes ante Aſcenſionem, &c. It has pleaſed us, that the Rogations be obſerved before the Aſcenſion of our Lord, ſo that there be a three days Faſt kept before the Aſcenſion, Conc. Aurel. cap. 29. In the next Century Gregory the Great, gathering together all the ancient Litanies, made a new one, by collecting the choiceſt Supplications out of each; the Form of which is not much unlike our preſent Litany. This was called the Litania Major, and brought into uſe by him in the time of a great Plague, which happened in his Time; and, by ſome Alterations for the worſe, as the Popiſh Superſtition increaſed, continued till the time of the Reformation, when it was firſt amended (the ſuperſtitious Additions being thrown out) by Hermannus Archbiſhop of Colen, and afterwards improved by the Reformers of our Church. It is to be noted, That Hermannus's Conſultation, wherein the reformed Litany is extant, was tranſlated into Engliſh by a Judicious Hand, and publiſhed a Year before the Common-Prayer came out: Herein moſt of the Prayers relating to a ſtate of Perſecution are left out; and the Prayer, O God, from whom all holy Deſires, &c. being inſerted, thoſe words, all good Counſels, &c. (which our Adverſaries have unjuſtly excepted againſt as Popiſh) are, however, otherwiſe tranſlated, viz. all good Purpoſes and righteous Works do proceed.

PARAPHRASE on the Litany.

I. The Invocation.

I. O heavenly Father, the original Source of the Deity, and of all created Beings, the firſt Perſon of the ever-bleſſed Trinity; ſhew thy Pity upon us, in pardoning our Sins, and removing the Puniſhment entailed upon them, which already has made us miſerable, and unleſs prevented by our Repentance, will hereafter make us more wretched.

II. O God the Son, who didſt before thy coming among us, by a Stipulation with the Father, tranſact the Redemption of the World, as well as by thy being born into it, and dying for it; Shew thy Pity upon us, &c.

III. O God the Holy Ghoſt, the third Perſon of the Trinity, who by an eternal Emanation of Eſſence, proceedeſt or goeſt out from the Father and the Son, John xiv. 16.---xv. 26.---xvi. 7. Shew thy Pity upon us, &c.

IV. O thou trin-une Deity, thou Trinity of Perſons in one Godhead, infinitely holy and happy and glorious; Shew thy Pity upon us, &c.

II. PARAPHRASE on the Deprecation.

V. Remember not Lord (to ſpeak in the Pſalmiſt's words, Pſalm lxxix. 8.) our Iniquities, nor the Iniquities of our Forefathers, whoſe Offences thou doſt often puniſh in the Children, Exod. xx. 5. Spare us therefore, merciful God, [and excuſe from Puniſhment thy faithful People,] whom thou haſt redeemed by the precious Blood of Chriſt, 1 Pet. i. 19. and be not (as holy David ſpeaks) angry with us for ever, Pſal. lxix. 5. Do not let thy Puniſhment lye too long upon us in this World; or however we beſeech thee, to deliver us from thy Eternal Wrath in the next.

VI. We beſeech thee to deliver us from all Evil and Miſchief, i. e. From all Moral and Natural Evil, [the ſeveral particulars whereof we ſhall preſently ſpecifie:] From all the ſeveral kinds of Sin which we may fall into: From all the Crafts of the Devil, whereby he enſnares us into Sin: From all his Aſſaults, whereby he overpowers us by Temptations: From thy Wrath, which by our Tranſgreſſions we provoke; and from everlaſting Damnation, which by our Sins we deſerve. From all theſe, O gracious God, we beſeech thee to deliver us.

VII. From blindneſs of Heart, which may render us inſenſible under Sin, and unapprehenſive of our Duty: From Pride, whereby we reflect too great a Glory upon our ſelves, and contemn others: From Vain Glory, whereby we oſtentatiouſly vaunt our ſelves of any Perfections we may be poſſeſſed of: And from Hypocriſie, whereby we pretend to thoſe we have not: From Envy of any Man's Happineſs; From Hatred of their Perſons: From any Malicious Deſigns upon them, and any Uncharitableneſs towards them: O gracious God, we beſeech thee to deliver us.

VIII. From

VIII. From fornication, and all other deadly ſin; and from all the deceits of the world, the fleſh, and the devil,

Good Lord, deliver us.

IX. From lightning, and tempeſt; from plague, peſtilence, and famine; from battel, and murder, and from ſudden death,

Good Lord, deliver us.

X. From all ſedition, privy conſpiracy, and rebellion; from all falſe doctrine, hereſie, and ſchiſm; from hardneſs of heart, and contempt of thy Word and Commandment,

Good Lord, deliver us.

III.

The Obſecration.

XI. BY the myſtery of thy holy Incarnation; by thy holy Nativity and Circumciſion; by thy Baptiſm, Faſting, and Temptation,

Good Lord, deliver us.

XII. By thine Agony and bloudy Sweat; by thy Croſs and Paſſion; by thy precious Death and Burial; by thy glorious Reſurrection and Aſcenſion; and by the coming of the Holy Ghoſt.

Good Lord, deliver us.

XIII. In all time of our tribulation; in all time of our wealth; in the hour of death, and in the day of judgment,

Good Lord, deliver us.

IV.

The Interceſſion.

XIV. WE ſinners do beſeech thee to hear us, O Lord God, and that it may pleaſe thee to rule and govern thy (a) holy Church univerſal in the right way;

We beſeech thee to hear us good Lord.

XV. That

VIII. From Fornication, which is a grievous and deadly Sin, and does exclude Men from the Kingdom of God, 1 Cor. vi. 10. From every other deadly Sin of the like unclean Nature: From all the Baits and Snares, which may be laid in our way by the Vanity of the World, by the Luſts of our Fleſh, or by the Subtilty of the Devil: O gracious God, we beſeech thee to deliver us.

IX. Nor do we only pray againſt Spiritual Evil, which may injure our Souls, but we likewiſe beſeech thee to defend us againſt Temporal ones, which may hurt our Bodies: Therefore, from the terrible Deſtructions which are made by Lightning and Tempeſt, both by Land and at Sea: From the dreadful Devaſtations which are occaſioned by ſweeping Peſtilences and Famines: From the Miſeries and Deſolations of War, and from the Grief of private Maſſacres: And laſtly, From the unexpected Strokes of ſudden Death: O gracious God, we beſeech thee to deliver us.

X. From the Unquietneſs and Diſtractions of Faction and Sedition: From the Dangers of Secret Plots and Conſpiracies, and from the Miſeries of Civil War and Rebellion: From all Eccleſiaſtical Troubles which may ariſe by the maintaining Falſe Doctrine, by the propagating Heretical Opinions, or by Schiſm and unreaſonable Separation: From Hardneſs of Heart, which when we are under, God's Chaſtiſements do not amend us, nor the Force of his Revelations reach us, nor the Motives of Reward and Puniſhment which he affords us, do at all affect us: From all Contempt of thy Sacred Word, occaſioned by prophane Jeſts on Scripture, and the undervaluing the Miniſterial Functions, and the publick Service in the Church: From deſpiſing the Sacred Laws of God, by trampling upon his holy Precepts, and by making a Mock of Sin: O gracious God, we beſeech thee to deliver us.

III. PARAPHRASE on the Obſecration.

XI. And theſe things we earneſtly beg of thee, for the ſake of every one of our bleſſed Saviour's Merits; For the ſake of that great Myſtery of Godlineſs, whereby God is manifeſt to us in the Fleſh, 1 Tim. 3.16. and the ſecond Perſon of the ever-bleſſed Trinity has veiled his Godhead, by taking upon him a Body of our Fleſh; By his extreme Humility in being born of a poor Virgin, in ſuch a mean and deſpicable Place; By his Circumciſion, whereby he fulfilled himſelf, and for our ſakes hath cancelled the troubleſome Rites of the ancient Ceremonial Law: By his Sacred Baptiſm, whereby he did tranſcribe that holy Rite into his Religion; For the ſake of his unparalell'd Example, in long and devout Faſting; And his ſuffering himſelf to be tempted, to teach us how to overcome the Aſſaults of the Devil: O gracious God, we beſeech thee to deliver us.

XII. O bleſſed Saviour, for the ſake of thy Agony in the Garden, and thy ſweating drops of Bloud, Luke xxii. 44. when thou hadſt the weight of all our Sins upon thee; By thy ſuffering for our ſakes the ignominious Puniſhment of the Croſs, and the intolerable Pains of it; By thy yielding up to Death thy precious unſpotted Life; By thy ſuffering thy Body to lie, for our ſakes, in a cold and darkſome Grave; By thy ariſing again from thy Sepulchre, to give us Demonſtration of our Reſurrection after Death; And by thy Aſcending up into Heaven, to intercede for us at the Right-hand of God, and to prepare a Place for us in thoſe glorious Manſions: And laſtly, By the favour of ſending the Holy Ghoſt to comfort us, and to inſpire us with Chriſtian Graces and all Spiritual Aſſiſtances: O gracious God, we beſeech thee to deliver us.

XIII. Now we pray thee, upon the account of all theſe parts of thy Mediatorſhip, and for the ſake of all theſe meritorious Actions of thine; That thou wouldſt ſuccour us whenever we are diſconſolate under our Affliction, or elated or grown negligent under our Proſperity; That thou wouldſt ſupport us under the Terrors of Death, and acquit us in the Day of Judgment: O gracious God, we beſeech thee to deliver us.

XIV. And ſince thou doſt vouchſafe to hear the Prayers of Repenting Sinners, we, who by reaſon of our manifold Tranſgreſſions, dare not aſſume to ourſelves a greater Title, beſeech thee to protect thy Holy Church, and enable it to maintain, in exact Purity, all the Parts of the Chriſtian Faith; and that it be not overrun by Infidelity, or poiſoned by Hereſie. Which Petition, O gracious God, we beg of thee to grant us.

XV. That

XV. That it may pleaſe thee to keep and ſtrengthen in the true worſhipping of thee, in righteouſneſs and holineſs of life, thy (b) ſervant ANNE, our moſt gracious Queen and Governour;

We beſeech thee to hear us, good Lord.

XVI. That it may pleaſe thee to rule her heart in thy faith, fear, and love, and that ſhe may evermore have affiance in thee, and ever ſeek thy honour and glory;

We beſeech thee to hear us, good Lord.

XVII. That it may pleaſe thee to be her defender and keeper, giving her the victory over all her enemies;

We beſeech thee to hear us, good Lord.

XVIII. That * it may pleaſe thee to bleſs and preſerve [the Princeſs Sophia, and all the Royal Family;]

We beſeech thee to hear us, good Lord.

XIX. That it may pleaſe thee to illuminate (c) all Biſhops, Prieſts and Deacons, with true knowledge and underſtanding of thy Word, and that both by their preaching and living they may ſet it forth, and ſhew it accordingly;

We beſeech thee to hear us, good Lord.

XX. That it may pleaſe thee to endue the Lords of the Council, and all the Nobility, with grace, wiſdom and underſtanding;

We beſeech thee to hear us, good Lord.

XXI. That it may pleaſe thee to bleſs and keep the Magiſtrates, giving them grace to execute juſtice, and to maintain truth;

We beſeech thee to hear us, good Lord.

XXII. That it may pleaſe thee to bleſs and keep all thy people;

We beſeech thee to hear us, good Lord.

XXIII. That it may pleaſe thee to give to (d) all nations unity, peace, and concord;

We beſeech thee to hear us, good Lord.

XXIV. That it may pleaſe thee to give us an heart to love and dread thee, and diligently to live after thy commandments;

XXV. That

XV That out of thy Goodneſs, thou would'ſt be pleas'd to preſerve and confirm, in the Exerciſe of the true Religion, thy Servant ANNE, our gracious Queen, whom thy eſpecial Providence has ſet over us; That ſhe may act with Righteouſneſs in all the publick Adminiſtrations of her High Office; and with Holineſs in all the particular Obligations of Chriſtian Life. Which Petition, O gracious God, we beg of thee to grant us.

XVI. That thou, in whoſe Hand the Hearts of Princes are, Pro.xxi. would'ſt vouchſafe ſo to direct her's, that ſhe may always continue in a ſteady Faith of all thy Revelations and Promiſes; in a juſt Fear of thy ſupreme Authority; and in a Love of thy Commands; that her Truſt and Affiance may be more grounded upon thy Protection and good Providence, than upon the Secular Arm: And that, in all her Actions, ſhe may ſtudy, not ſo much to aggrandize her own Glory, as to promote thine. Which Petition, O gracious God, we beg of thee to grant us.

XVII. That it would pleaſe thy Goodneſs to defend her Perſon from all the Dangers ſhe is expoſed to; And whenever ſhe is engaged in War for the ſake of her Country's Liberties or Religion, make her Victorious over all her Enemies who oppoſe her. Which Petition, O gracious God, we beg of thee to grant us.

XVIII. That thou would'ſt be pleas'd to afford thy Bleſſing and Protection to the Princeſs Sophia, and all other Branches of the Royal Family, which, by our Laws, are capable of ſucceeding in the Throne of this Nation. Which Petition, O gracious God, we beg of thee to grant us.

XIX. That thou would'ſt be pleas'd to illuminate, with the Gifts of thy Grace, thoſe whom thou haſt ordered to be Lights to the World, Matt. v. 14. The three Orders of the Clergy, Biſhops, Prieſts, and Deacons; That, by thy Bleſſing upon their Studies, they may have a ſufficient Underſtanding of thy Word, the Holy Scriptures; And that they may recommmend the Doctrine of thy Holy Religion, as well by the good Examples of their Lives, as by the Excellence of their Preaching. Which Petition, O gracious God, we beg of thee to grant us.

XX. That thou would'ſt be pleaſed to confer upon the Lords of the Privy-Council, (on whoſe wiſe Determinations the Welfare of the Nation does in great meaſure depend) and upon the reſt of the Nobility (to whoſe Judgments the laſt Recourſe of Juſtice is made, the Spirit of Wiſdom, to underſtand what is juſt and fitting, and Grace to adviſe, or adjudge it. Which Petition, O gracious God, we beg of thee to grant us.

XXI. That thou wouldeſt be pleaſed to afford thy Bleſſing and Protection, to all the other Magiſtrates of the Nation, Judges, Juſtices, &c. giving them ſuch a Portion of thy Grace, as may ſecure them from Prejudice or Corruption, and enable them to execute Juſtice indifferently to all Men, and to maintain the Truth and Honour of Religion and the Laws. Which Petition, O gracious God, we beg of thee to grant us.

XXII. That thou wouldeſt be pleaſed to extend thy Favour and Protection, to all the Subjects of this Kingdom, who are become thy People, by embracing the true Reformed Religion. Which Petition, O gracious God, we beg of thee to grant us.

XXIII. Deſiring thee to reach out thy Goodneſs further, even to all Foreign Nations, by making them to live in Peace and Unity with their Neighbouring Princes and States, and in Concord among their own People. Which Petition, O gracious God, we beg of thee to grant us.

XXIV. That thou would'ſt be pleaſed to incline the Hearts of thy Servants, the Church and People of this Nation, to a ſincere Love and juſt Fear of thee, and a diligent Obedience of thy Commands. Which Petition, O gracious God, we beg of thee to grant us.

of the Earth from all Blights, Mildews, and other Accidents which may hinder their growth; and ſo kindly to ripen them, that when in their proper Seaſon they are come to Perfection, we may, through thy Favour, enjoy them. Which Petition, O gracious God, we beg of thee to grant us.

XXXIV. But above all things we beg of thee, that thou wouldeſt be pleaſed to grant the Grace of true Repentance for all that we have done amiſs; To forgive us all our deliberate Acts of Sin; All our Sins of Negligence or Infirmity; And all our Sins of Ignorance; And, that thou wouldeſt aſſiſt us with ſufficient Grace, to ſubdue all ill Habits which we have indulged our ſelves in; To rectifie every evil Tendency and Affection in us, and to amend our Lives according to that moſt exact Pattern, which the Goſpel has ſet us. Which Petition, O gracious God, we beg of thee to grant us.

XXXV. O thou eternal Son of God, our Mediator and Interceſſor, hear theſe our Prayers, and preſent them to the Father.

XXXVI. O thou Lamb of God, who tho' thou wert veiled with our Fleſh, yet thou kneweſt no Sin, but wert the Pattern of perfect Innocency, thou who wenteſt as a Lamb to the Slaughter to expiate our Guilt:

XXXVII. Afford us that Peace which was purchaſed by thy precious Blood.

XXXVIII. O Chriſt, thou true Meſſias and Saviour of the World, hearken unto our Prayers.

XXXIX. O thou who art our Lord by Purchaſe and Redemption, have Mercy upon us, and pardon our Sins.

XL. O Lord, we beſeech thee, (in the Pſalmiſts words, Pſal. ciii. 10.) Deal not with us, &c. i. e. Do not puniſh us as our Sins have deſerved.

XLI. Let us unite our Devotions now in one common Prayer.

O God, whoſe fatherly Mercy is ready to ſuccour all thy poor Creatures in diſtreſs, thou who deſpiſeſt not a broken and contrite Heart, Pſal. li. 17. and from whom our Groanings are not hid, Pſ. xxxviii. 9. we beſeech thee to aſſiſt and quicken by the help of thy holy Spirit, our Prayers which we pour out before thee in the time of our Afflictions: And be pleaſed ſo far graciouſly to hear our Prayers, that all the ill Deſigns, which are contrived againſt thy Church by Devils and wicked Men, may by thy good Providence be ſo defeated and brought to nothing, that, all Perſecution being baniſhed out of the World, the Church may be ſettled in a perfect State of Tranquillity, for evermore to praiſe thee. Which we beg for Jeſus Chriſt's ſake. Amen.

XLII. O Lord, lie no longer a patient beholder of our Sufferings, but riſe up with haſte to aſſiſt us, and deliver us, for the ſake XLIII. O God, we have heard with our ears, and our fathers have declared unto us the noble works that thou didſt in their days, and in the old time before them.

XLIV. O Lord, ariſe, help us, and deliver us for thine honour.

XLV. Glory be to the Father, and to the Son: and to the holy Ghoſt;

Prieſt.

L. O Lord, let thy mercy be ſhewed upon us.

Anſwer.

As we do put our truſt in thee.

LI. Let us pray.

WE humbly beſeech thee, O Father, mercifully to look upon our infirmities; and for the glory of thy Name, turn from us all thoſe evils that we moſt righteouſly have deſerved; and grant, that in all our troubles we may put our whole truſt and confidence in thy mercy, and evermore ſerve thee in holineſs and pureneſs of living, to thy honour and glory, through our only Mediator and Advocate, Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

ſake of thy Name by which we are called, and for the ſake of the true Religion which we profeſs.

XLIII. The Sacred Annals record what mighty things thou haſt done for the ſake of thy Church in former times.

XLIV. O Lord, ariſe up and ſhew the ſame Deliverance in our time, and thereby vindicate thy own Honour, in ſuccouring thy Servants.

XLV. All Glory be aſcribed to God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Ghoſt, the three Perſons of the everbleſſed Trinity.

As they have exiſted in glorious Felicity from all Eternity, and are glorious ſtill, and will be ſo for ever.

XLVI. From all our Enemies both Spiritual and Temporal defend us, O our dear Saviour; and graciouſly regard us in our diſconſolate Condition, preſſed down under the weight of ſo much Sin, and the fear of ſo much Puniſhment.

XLVII. We beſeech thee to look down with Compaſſion upon the Sorrows we ſuſtain, for having offended ſo good and powerful a God; and forgive the Sins of us, who indeed, by outward Profeſſion, have intituled our ſelves to be thy People, tho' by our heinous Offences we have moſt grievouſly provoked thee.

XLVIII. XLIX. But we fly for Relief to thee, O Chriſt, who art our bleſſed Lord and Redeemer; O do thou hear our Prayers; do thou intercede for us to thy eternal Father, and preſent our Petitions before him.

L. O Lord, extend thy Mercy to us, not in ſuch meaſure as we deſerve, for then we ſhould totally deſpair of it; but according to the earneſtneſs of our deſires, and our Sincerity, that we do not truſt, for our Deliverance or Pardon for our Sins, in any other beſides Thee.

LI. After this Reſponſory Devotion, let us addreſs ourſelves to God in joint and continued Prayers.

We do with the moſt humble Proſtration of Mind and Body, beſeech thee, kind and indulgent Father, out of thy great Mercy which thou beareſt to all thy Creatures, to look down with a compaſſionate Senſe upon our Infirmities and Frailties, by which we have been led to thoſe Sins we have provoked thee by, and to divert that Puniſhment from us, which we have ſo juſtly merited; beſeeching thee to grant, that in all the Troubles, which befal us by reaſon of our Sins; (if thou in thy unſearchable Wiſdom ſhalt think fit to continue them upon us,) that we may not truſt in our own Arm, nor in the Aſſiſtance (as ſome do) of Saints and Angels, but that we may put our whole Confidence in thy Mercy; and notwithſtanding thy Hand may lie ſevere upon us, yet give us Grace and Perſeverance to ſerve thee by an holy and unblamable Life, which may tend to thy Honour and Glory. And this we beg for the ſake of Jeſus Chriſt, who is the only Mediator and Advocate whom God has accepted for us, 1 Tim. ii. 5. Amen.

¶ A Prayer of Saint Chryſoſtom.

ALmighty God, who haſt given us grace at this time with one accord to make our common ſupplications unto thee, and doſt promiſe, that when two or three are gathered together in thy Name, thou wilt grant their requeſts; Fulfill now, O Lord, the deſires and petitions of thy ſervants, as may be moſt expedient for them; granting us in this world knowledge of thy truth, and in the world to come life everlaſting. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the Prayer of St. Chryſoſtom.

All-powerful God, to whoſe Grace and Favour we owe it, that we have had this opportunity of addreſſing ourſelves unto thee, in the publick Service of the Church; and who haſt promiſed, in thy holy Word, that when two or three are gathered together in thy Name, thou art in the midſt of them, Matt. xviii. 19. and that what they agree on, ſhall be done for them in Heaven, ib. v. 18. Relying therefore upon thy gracious Promiſe, which thou haſt been pleaſed to make to thy Church, we humbly put in our Plea at the Throne of Grace, to grant all that we have prayed for, ſo far forth (eſpecially as to Temporal Bleſſings) as thou in thy heavenly Wiſdom ſhalt judge expedient: Deſiring thee however, of thy goodneſs, to grant us all neceſſary Knowledge in the Truths of Religion, whilſt we live in this World, and when we ſhall paſs to the other, that thou wouldeſt beſtow upon us everlaſting Life. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the Bleſſing.

I now cloſe, my Chriſtian Brethren, this part of the Service with the Benediction uſed by St. Paul, 2 Cor. xiii. 14. committing both you and myſelf to the Care and Protection of the ever-bleſſed Trinity; beſeeching the Great God who is three Perſons in one Nature, That the Grace obtained for us by our bleſſed Lord Jeſus in our Redemption, may abſolve us: That the Love of the Father, who is now reconciled to us through his Blood, may juſtify us: And laſtly, That by partaking of the Communication of the Holy Ghoſt, we may be ſanctified. Amen.

NOTES.

(a) For Rain.] We have before ſhewn, That the ancient Church was wont to pray their Litanies in a moſt ſolemn and earneſt manner, whilſt they were under any ſevere Judgment of God; and therefore our Church has adapted theſe Prayers to be annexed to the Litany, whenever the Nation is afflicted with any of thoſe particular Calamities which theſe Collects are ſuited for. Now we learn, that the Primitive Chriſtians, in the moſt early Times, put up their ſolemn Prayers to God in their Publick Devotions, when the Droughts were ſo exceſſive, as that they were like to hinder the ordinary produce of the Earth. For this we read in Tertullian, who addreſſes himſelf to the Heathen in this manner: Denique cum ab imbribus æſtivo & hyberno ſuſpendunt, & annus in cura eſt, vos quidem quotidie paſti, ſtatimque pranſuri balneis, & cauponis & lupanaribus operati, Aquilicia Jovi immolatis, nudipedalia populo denunciatis, cælum apud Capitolium quæritis, nubila de laquearibus expectatis, averſi ab ipſo Deo & ſolo. Nos vero jejunio aridi, & omni continentiâ expreſſi, ab omni vitæ fruge delati, in ſacco & cinere volutantes, invidiâ cælum tundimus, Deum tangimus: & cum miſericordiam obtinuerimus, Jupiter honoratur. Laſtly, When no rain falls either in the Summer or the Winter-time, and Men are in great concern for the Year, you every day eat your Bellies full, and before your Meals go to the Taverns or the Stews, you offer the Aquilicia, or Sacrifices to ſupplicate for Rain, you proclaim that the Nudipedalia (or the Solemnities wherein the Votaries go in Proceſſion with naked Feet) be celebrated; you addreſs to Heaven at the Capitol, you look up to the Roof of the Temple for Rain to deſcend, but never turn yourſelves to the true and only God. But we dry with Faſting and Abſtinence, and forbearing all ſort of Nouriſhment, rolling in Sackcloth and Aſhes, are ſpoken ill of for knocking at Heaven's Gate, and when we have obtained Mercy, your Jupiter has Honours paid him, Tertul. Apol. cap. 40. Tertullian here alludes to the Names which were given to Jupiter upon theſe occaſions, Ζεὺς ὀμβρίος, ὑέτιος, Jupiter Pluvius. He is called in Athenæus, ἀρχηγὸς ὄμβρων, The Diſpenſer or Ruler of the Showers. Lib. 15. It is to theſe publick Prayers of the Church that he elſewhere refers, when he ſays: Quando non geniculationibus & jejunationibus noſtris etiam ſiccitates ſunt depulſæ? When is it that by our Kneelings and Faſtings the Droughts are not driven away? Tertul. ad Scap. cap. 4. St. Baſil, in his Oration upon the Drought, bewails the fruitleſneſs of the Publick Prayers; φωνὴ λιτανευόντων εἰκῆ βοᾷ, καὶ πρὸς τὸν ἀέρα διασκεδάννυται The Voice of them that ſay the Litanies does in vain cry out, and is diſperſed into the Air. In the Greek Liturgies there are ſeveral very excellent Prayers upon this occaſion, whereof this is one; Κύριε ὁ Θεὸς ὁ παντοκράτωρ, &c. O Lord God, the Governour of all things, who bringeſt the Clouds from the uttermoſt parts of the Earth, who haſt made the Lightning and the Rain, and bringeſt Winds out of thy Treaſures, who calleſt the Water of the Seas, and poureſt it out upon the face of all the Earth, we confeſſing our Sins, and beſeeching thy abundant Mercy, beg of thee to command the Clouds to flow with Showers, have mercy upon all thy Creatures upon the Earth; ſhew thy Bowels of Compaſſion to the Aged and to the Young, and to Children that ſuck at the Breaſt, all thy Servants and thy Handmaidens, and to all the Beaſts of the Field, raiſe up Bread for our Food, and the green Herb for the Cattle. Receive the Supplications of all thy People, do not reject the Supplications of all thy People, nor ſlight the Sighs of the Poor: Do not rebuke us in thine Anger, nor chaſten us in thy heavy diſpeaſure: Do not ſuffer thy People to periſh with hunger and thirſt. The Eyes of all wait upon thee, and thou giveſt them their Meat in due Seaſon. We put our truſt in thee, we acknowledge no other Deliverer but thee, and we expect abundant Mercies from thee; for thou art a gracious God, and a lover of Mankind: ſo ſhall we praiſe thee, the Father, Son, and Holy Ghoſt, now and ever. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the Prayer for Rain.

O Lord our Father, who dwelleſt in Heaven, and who by thy Son Jeſus Chriſt our Lord, haſt promiſed to thoſe that ſeek the Kingdom of Heaven, and the Righteouſneſs thereof, that all outward things ſhall be added unto them, Mat. vi. 33. We beſeech thee to ſend us, in this our great Neceſſity, now the Ground is parched up for lack of Moiſture, ſuch a moderate Rain as may refreſh the dry Earth by its fatning Moiſture; ſo that it may yield forth its accuſtomed Fruits, to the Comfort of us thy poor Creatures, who muſt expect our Suſtenance therefrom; That thereby we may be enabled to uſe them to thy Honour and Glory. Which we beg for the ſake of Jeſus Chriſt our Saviour. Amen.

¶ For fair Weather.

O Almighty Lord God, who for the Sin of Man didſt once drown all the World, except eight Perſons, and afterward of thy great Mercy didſt promiſe never to deſtroy it ſo again: We humbly beſeech thee, that although we for our Iniquities have worthily deſerved a Plague of Rain and Waters, yet upon our true Repentance thou wilt ſend us ſuch Weather, as that we may receive the Fruits of the Earth in due ſeaſon, and learn both by thy Puniſhment to amend our Lives, and for thy Clemency to give thee Praiſe and Glory, through Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

¶ *In * the time of dearth and famine.*

O God heavenly Father, whoſe gift it is, that the rain doth fall, the earth is fruitful, beaſts increaſe, and fiſhes do multiply; Behold, we beſeech thee, the afflictions of thy people, and grant that the ſcarcity and dearth (which we now moſt juſtly ſuffer for our iniquity) may through thy goodneſs be mercifully turned into cheapneſs and plenty, for the love of Jeſus Chriſt our Lord; to whom with thee, and the holy Ghoſt be all honour and glory, now and for ever. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the Prayer for fair Weather.

O Almighty God, who upon ſeeing that all Fleſh had corrupted his way upon the Earth, Gen. vi. 12. didſt deſtroy all the World, excepting eight Perſons of the Family of Noah; and afterwards didſt plant thy Rainbow in the Heavens, in token that the Waters ſhould no more become a Flood to deſtroy all Fleſh, Gen. ix. 15. We humbly beg of thee, that, altho' we, for our Sins, have very well deſerved as great a Plague of Waters, as thou in thy Juſtice couldeſt inflict upon us, Thou wouldeſt vouchſafe to befriend us with ſuch ſeaſonable Weather, that upon our Repentance, the kindly heat of the Sun ripening the Fruits of the Earth, we may gather them for our uſe in the proper time: And that hereby we reflecting upon thy Chaſtiſement, may learn to live more holily for the future, and conſidering thy Mercy which has ſpared us after ſo many Provocations, we may have a new occaſion of praiſing and adoring thy Goodneſs, which is thy moſt glorious Attribute. And this we beg for the ſake of Jeſus Chriſt our Saviour. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the firſt Prayer in time of Dearth and Famine.

O God, our gracious Parent, whoſe Seat is in the higheſt Heaven, who, at thy good pleaſure, does ſend gracious Rains upon the Earth, and doſt refreſh it when it is weary, Pſal. lxviii. 4. who doſt bountifully provide Fodder for the Cattle, and green Herbs for the ſervice of men, Pſal. civ. 14. who, when thou didſt give Man dominion over the Fiſh of the Sea, and over the Fowls of the Air, and over the Cattle, didſt give theſe a Bleſſing to be fruitful and to multiply, Gen. i. 28. We beſeech thee to look down with a merciful Eye upon this heavy Judgment, which the People of this Nation now lies under; and, if it be thy heavenly pleaſure, let us no longer ſuffer under the preſent Scarcity of Proviſions (which, however, we cannot but own, is a juſt Puniſhment for our Sins) and that thou wouldſt be graciouſly pleaſed to let us enjoy again a plenty of thy good things, which thou waſt formerly wont to afford us. Which we beg for the Love which thou beareſt to thy dear Son Chriſt Jeſus, to whom, with Thee and the Holy Ghoſt, eternal Honour be aſcribed. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the ſecond Prayer in time of Dearth and Famine.

O God, whoſe infinite Mercy and Fatherly Kindneſs to thy poor Creatures, diſpoſes Thee to relieve them in all their Wants, Luke xi. 2. and who in that great Famine in Samaria, recorded 2 Kings vi. which one day was ſo ſevere, that a Woman ate her own Child, but thou didſt ſo bring it about, that the next Day a large Meaſure of fine Flower was ſold for a ſmall Price: We beſeech thee, O Lord, to manifeſt the ſame Mercy to us, who now ſuffer under a Judgment of the ſame kind; and to be pleas'd to afford ſuch a Bleſſing to the Fruits that are now growing upon the Earth, that they may multiply and ripen into a joyful Plenty; which when we receive from thy bountiful Hand, we promiſe not to laviſh away to gratify our wanton Luſts, but only to uſe for our comfortable Support, and for the Relief of the Poor. And this we beg, for our Lord and Saviour Chriſt Jeſus his ſake. Amen.

¶ In the time of any common plague or ſickneſs.

O Almighty God, who in thy wrath didſt ſend a plague upon thine own people in the wilderneſs, for their obſtinate rebellion againſt Moſes and Aaron, and alſo in the time of King David didſt ſlay with the plague of peſtilence threeſcore and ten thouſand, and yet remembring thy mercy didſt ſave the reſt; Have pity upon us miſerable ſinners, who now are viſited with great ſickneſs and mortality, that like as thou didſt then accept of an atonement, and didſt command the deſtroying Angel to ceaſe from puniſhing; ſo it may now pleaſe thee to withdraw from us this plague and grievous ſickneſs, through Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

¶ A Collect or Prayer for all conditions of men, to be uſed at ſuch times when the Litany is not appointed to be ſaid.

I. O God the Creator and Preſerver of all mankind, we humbly beſeech thee for all ſorts and conditions of men, that thou wouldeſt be pleaſed to make thy ways known unto them; thy ſaving health unto all nations. II. More eſpecially we pray for the good eſtate of the Catholick Church; that it may be ſo guided and governed by thy good Spirit, that all who profeſs and call themſelves Chriſtians, may be led into the way of truth, and hold the faith in unity of ſpirit, in the bond of peace, and in righteouſneſs of life. III. Finally we commend to thy fatherly goodneſs all thoſe who are any ways afflicted, or diſtreſſed in mind, body, or eſtate, [* eſpecially thoſe for whom our prayers are deſired] that it may pleaſe thee to comfort and relieve them according to their ſeveral neceſſities, giving them patience under their ſufferings, and a happy iſſue out of all their afflictions. PARAPHRASE on the Prayer for all Conditions, &c.

I. O God, who by thy Omnipotence didſt create Mankind, and by thy Providence doſt preſerve them; we beſeech thee to extend thy Bleſſing to all our fellow-Creatures, of whatſoever Rank or Condition or Country; and to grant that the Light of the Goſpel may be ſpread, through the remoteſt Corners of the Earth, as was predicted by the Pſalmiſt, Pſal. lxvii. 2. II. But more particularly, we put up our Petitions for the Welfare of the Catholick Church, beſeeching thee, That the whole Body of Chriſtians, whereſoever diſperſed, may profeſs the true Orthodox and Catholick Faith; That they may hold this Faith (as the Apoſtle ſpeaks) In Unity of Spirit, and in the Bond of Peace, Eph. iv. 3. not broke in pieces by uncharitable Schiſms and Separations, but united together by the Spiritual Bonds of Chriſtian Grace and Charity; but chiefly we pray, That all who profeſs the Name of Chriſt, may credit their holy Profeſſion, by a vertuous and pious Life. III. Laſtly, We commend to thee, who lookeſt upon all thy Creatures with a fatherly Compaſſion, all Perſons who labour under any Affliction, or are diſtreſſed by any Calamity: All thoſe whoſe Minds are depreſſed by melancholy Thoughts, that are tormented by too fearful Apprehenſions of their Spiritual Condition, or are groaning under the diſmal Agonies of Deſpair: All thoſe, whoſe Bodies labour under any ſick or painful Diſeaſe; Or whoſe Eſtates are impaired by Loſs, or by the Oppreſſion of powerful Adverſaries; That thou wouldeſt be pleaſed to afford Comfort and Relief to them, as ſhall be agreeable to their reſpective Wants, and a happy Iſſue out of all their Troubles, either by making their Condition more deſirable in this World, or by removing them to a better. All which we beg in the Name of Jeſus Chriſt. Amen.

O God our heavenly Father, who by thy gracious providence doſt cauſe the former and the latter rain to deſcend upon the earth, that it may bring forth fruit for the uſe of man; we give thee humble thanks that it hath pleaſed thee in our great neceſſity to ſend us at the laſt a joyful rain upon thine inheritance, and to

PARAPHRASE on the general Thankſgiving.

I. O all-powerful God, who art the Father of all Mercies, and the God of all Comfort, 2 Cor. i. 3. And who art the Author and Giver of all the good things, which thy Creatures enjoy; we thy ſinful Servants, who are not worthy of the leaſt of thy Mercies, Gen. xxii. 10. ſince thou haſt been graciouſly pleaſed to beſtow many of them ſo liberally upon us, we do with the moſt humble Adoration of Thee, and with the moſt hearty Senſe of thy Benefits, pay [our publick] Thanks [in the Congregation of thy People, for the many and long-continued Inſtances of thy Goodneſs reached out unto us; thanking thee not only for Favours conferred upon ourſelves, but (as by thy holy Word we are obliged to do) giving Thanks for all Men, 1 Tim. ii. 1.

II. We thank thee for the Benefits of our Creation, That thou didſt not let us lie in a State of Non-exiſtence, for ever ſleeping in the dark Womb of Eternity; but haſt raiſed us into glorious Beings capable of Reaſon and Immortality: We bleſs thee for our Preſervation, whereby thou haſt defended us, all our Lives long, from the innumerable Dangers we have been ſubject to; from Pain, Sickneſs, Want, and all the vaſt Troop of outward Accidents, to which we have been expoſed: Praiſing thee likewiſe for all the Bleſſings of this Life, for Health, Food, Maintenance, Friends and Benefactors, and a thouſand other Satisfactions which we richly enjoy. But above all, we magnifie thy holy Name, for that unvaluable and unſpeakable Love to us, without which all Temporal Enjoyments had ſignified nothing, in redeeming the whole World, which was loſt and undone, and for ever ſubject to the Divine Wrath, by the precious Blood of our Saviour Jeſus Chriſt. We bleſs thee likewiſe for the Means of Grace, which thou haſt afforded us; for our Admiſſion into the Church by Baptiſm; for the ſtrengthening of our Faith, and our Reſtitution to thy Favour after our Fall, by the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper; for the Advantages we receive by publick Prayer, and the Preaching of God's Word. And laſtly, we Praiſe thee for the Hope which thou haſt given us of a bleſſed Immortality in another Life, which enables us to overcome the Terrors of Death; which buoys up our Spirits, under the moſt preſſing Afflictions in this World, and aſſures to us an everlaſting Happineſs in the next.

III. And now we beg of thee, to enlarge, in one particular, thy Mercies yet farther to us, and that is, to afford us thy Grace, that we may have a juſt Senſe of all theſe Mercies, that we may be unfeignedly thankful for them; and that we may let the remembrance of them ſink into the very bottom of our Hearts; not ſuffering our Gratitude to terminate only in a verbal Thankſgiving; but purpoſing to make the beſt Returns we are able, by dedicating ourſelves entirely to thy Service; and reſolving never wilfully to offend ſo gracious a God, but to ſpend our whole Lives in that Holineſs and Righteouſneſs, which the Rules, which thou haſt given us in thy Goſpel, oblige us to. Which we pray thee to grant, for the ſake of Jeſus Chriſt our Lord, to whom with thee and the Holy Ghoſt, the three Perſons of the everbleſſed Trinity, to whom we owe all theſe Divine Favours, be aſcribed eternal Honour and Glory. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the Thankſgiving for Rain.

O God, who though dwelling in thy Immortal Glory in Heaven, doſt never the leſs bear a Fatherly Care to us thy poor Creatures, and contriveſt all things for their Good and Benefit; who doſt for their ſakes ſend the former and the latter Rain, (that is, the Rain which in the Eaſtern Countries uſually falls at the two Seaſons of the Year Spring and Autumn) on the Earth, that Men may gather their Corn, and Wine, and Oil, Deut. xi. 14. We in deep and humble Senſe of thy Goodneſs, do return thee our bounden Thanks, for relieving us in our late great Neceſſity, by ſending to refreſh it when it was dry, to the great comfort of us thy unworthy ſervants, and to the glory of thy holy Name, through thy mercies in Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

¶ For fair weather.

O Lord God, who haſt juſtly humbled us by thy late plague of immoderate rain and waters, and in thy mercy haſt relieved and comforted our ſouls by this ſeaſonable and bleſſed change of weather: We praiſe and glorifie thy holy Name for this thy mercy, and will always declare thy loving kindneſs from generation to generation, through Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

¶ For Plenty.

O Moſt merciful Father, who of thy gracious goodneſs haſt heard the devout prayers of thy Church, and turned our dearth and ſcarcity into cheapneſs and plenty; we give thee humble thanks for this thy ſpecial bounty, beſeeching thee to continue thy loving kindneſs unto us, that our land may yield us her fruits of increaſe, to thy glory and our comfort, through Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

¶ For peace and deliverance from our enemies.

O Almighty God, who art a ſtrong tower of defence unto thy ſervants againſt the face of their enemies; We yield thee praiſe and thankſgiving for our deliverance from thoſe great and apparent dangers wherewith we were compaſſed. We acknowledge it thy goodneſs that we were not delivered over as a prey unto them; beſeeching thee ſtill to continue ſuch thy mercies towards us, that all the world may know that thou art our Saviour and mighty deliverer, through Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

¶ For

ſending a gracious Rain upon thine Inheritance, and refreſhing it when it was weary, Pſal. 68. 9. which Bleſſing, as we acknowledge to be a great Comfort to us, ſo we hope, by our good and thankful uſe thereof, to make it tend to thy Honour and Glory; which we beg for thy Mercies ſake, vouchſafed us in Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the Thankſgiving for fair Weather.

O righteous Lord God, who, for our Diſobedience, and our manifold Tranſgreſſions of thy holy Laws, didſt puniſh us by the late great Rains and Floods, but didſt afterwards in thy great Mercy ſpare us, and comfort us, by ſending us this happy and ſeaſonable Alteration of Weather; For this Mercy we return thee our moſt hearty Thanks in the Congregation of thy People here aſſembled; and do promiſe continually hereafter to bear in mind this ſo great Love and Kindneſs exhibited to us; and to be always ſhewing forth thy Praiſe from Generation to Generation, Pſal. 79. 13. Amen.

O R,

O God, who art the Lord and Governour of the World, and doſt diſpoſe all things in the management and government thereof, with the exacteſt Juſtice and Wiſdom, we cannot but acknowledge that the late Floods were a juſt Puniſhment for our Sins, and that this happy change of Weather, (which has given ſo much Satisfaction to our Minds, both as being delivered from a grievous Puniſhment, and as having hopes, that thou art no longer angry with us) is entirely owing to thy Goodneſs and Mercy; for which Favour we return thee our humble Thanks, from the bottom of our Hearts; and will always be ſhewing forth thy praiſe, from generation to generation, Pſal. lxxix. laſt ver. And this Addreſs we beſeech thee to accept, for the ſake of our Saviour Jeſus Chriſt. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the Thankſgiving for Plenty.

O God, who doſt bear towards us more kind and merciful Diſpoſitions, than the moſt indulgent Father, a late Inſtance whereof we have had, in thy hearing our Prayers which we put up to thee in the Congregation; thou having graciouſly brought it about, that thoſe mourning Souls, who lately pined for want of Bread to ſuſtain themſelves and their poor Families, or were forced to part with the beſt part of their Subſtance to procure it, and now enjoy a plenty of all good things, and purchaſe the Neceſſaries of Life at a cheap Rate. This we gratefully acknowledge to be owing to thy peculiar Bounty; begging of thee to continue this thy Favour to us, that the Earth of our Country may bring forth her increaſe, to the Glory of our gracious God, and the Comfort of us thy poor Servants. Which we ask, for the ſake of our Saviour Chriſt Jeſus. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the Thankſgiving for Peace and Deliverance from our Enemies.

O God, who art endowed with infinite Power to aſſiſt thy afflicted Servants, who art our Rock and Fortreſs, 2 Sam. xxii. 2. and art a ſtrong Tower for us againſt the Enemy, Pſal. lxxi. 3. We yield thee moſt humble and hearty Thanks, for delivering us from the Force and Stratagems which our Enemies were lately employing againſt us, and which had taken Effect, to our Ruine, or great Diſadvantage, unleſs thou hadſt timely diſappointed them. We do freely own, that it was for thy Favour to us, and not for any Merit, Power, or Sagacity of our own, that we were not given over as a prey unto their Teeth, Pſ. cxxiv. 6. begging of thee, that thou would'ſt be pleaſed to employ thy watchful Providence in defending our Church and Nation, that all fleſh may know, that thou art our Saviour and Redeemer, the mighty one of Jacob, Iſai. xlix. 25. And this, for the ſake of Jeſus Chriſt our Saviour. Amen.

¶ For * reſtoring Publick Peace at home.

O Eternal God our heavenly Father, who alone makeſt men to be of one mind in a houſe, and ſtilleſt the outrage of a violent and unruly people; We bleſs thy holy Name, that it hath pleaſed thee to appeaſe the ſeditious tumults which have been lately raiſed up amongſt us; moſt humbly beſeeching thee to grant to all of us grace, that we may henceforth obediently walk in thy holy commandments, and leading a quiet and peaceable life in all godlineſs and honeſty, may continually offer unto thee our ſacrifice of praiſe and thankſgiving for theſe thy mercies towards us, through Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

¶ For deliverance from the Plague, or other common Sickneſs.

O Lord God, who haſt wounded us for our ſins, and conſumed us for our tranſgreſſions by thy late heavy and dreadful viſitation, and now in the midſt of judgment remembring mercy, haſt redeemed our ſouls from the jaws of death; We offer unto thy fatherly goodneſs our ſelves, our ſouls and bodies, which thou haſt delivered to be a living ſacrifice unto thee, always praiſing and magnifying thy mercies in the midſt of thy ‡ Church, through Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

¶ Or this.

WE humbly acknowledge before thee, O moſt merciful Father, that all the puniſhments which are threatned in thy law, might juſtly have fallen upon us by reaſon of our manifold tranſgreſſions and hardneſs of heart. Yet ſeeing it hath pleaſed thee of thy tender mercy, upon our weak and unworthy humiliation, to aſſwage the † contagious ſickneſs, wherewith we lately have been ſore afflicted, and to reſtore the voice of joy and health into our dwellings; we offer unto thy divine Majeſty the ſacrifice of praiſe and thankſgiving, lauding and magnifying thy glorious Name for ſuch thy preſervation and providence over us, through Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

O thou our moſt kind and compaſſionate Father, we cannot but acknowledge, that we have committed ſuch innumerable Offences againſt Thee, and thoſe with ſo high a hand, and with ſo hard and unrelenting a Heart, that thou mighteſt juſtly have inflicted upon us thoſe dreadful Puniſhments threaten'd againſt obſtinate Offenders in the Moſaical Law; whom thou didſt threaten to ſmite with the Conſumption, with a Fever, and with an Inflammation, and with an extreme Burning, Deut. xxviii. 22. and to bring upon them all the Diſeaſes of Egypt, every Sickneſs and every Diſeaſe which is not written in the Book of this Law, until we were deſtroyed, ver. 60, 61. but thou haſt been pleaſed to accept of our Repentance, tho', we muſt confeſs, attended with many Imperfections, and to remove the Peſtilent Diſeaſe, which lately raged among us, and to make us to hear the voice of Joy and Health in our dwellings, Pſal. cxviii. 15. ## To be Uſed throughout the Year.

† THE Introits, Epiſtles, and Goſpels, to be uſed at the Celebration of the Lord's Supper and Holy Communion, throughout the Year; with proper Pſalms and Leſſons for divers Feaſts and Days. 1 B. Edw. 6.

* When the Presbyter or Miniſter readeth the Goſpel, the People ſhall ſtand up; and the Presbyter, before he beginneth to read the Goſpel, ſhall ſay thus, The Goſpel of our Lord and Saviour Jeſus-Chriſt, written in ſuch a Chapter of ſuch an Evangeliſt, beginning at ſuch a Verſe. And the People ſhall anſwer, Glory be to God. S. L.

When the Goſpel is ended, the Presbyter or Miniſter ſhall ſay, Here endeth the Goſpel: And the People ſhall anſwer, Thanks be to thee, O Lord.

And thus at the beginning and ending of the Goſpel every Sunday and every Holiday in the Year, or when-elſeſoever the Goſpel is read. S. L.

Introit.] The Introit, in Latin Introitus, was a Pſalm or Anthem, which was ſung at the beginning of the Communion-Service. Some have thought that it had its Name, becauſe it was ſung whilſt the People were entring into the Church, the Communion-Service being a diſtinct Office from that of Mattens, and performed at different times Beat. Rhenan. Not. in Tertull. de Corona Militis. But that is Miſtake; for there is better Reaſon to think, it was called the Introit, becauſe, whilſt that was ſinging, the Prieſt was to make his Entrance into the Septum of the Altar. The Uſe of it being ſo unexceptionable, and of ſo great Antiquity in the Church, it is not eaſy to aſſign the Reaſon, why the Reviewers of King Edward's Book did lay it aſide, in the ſecond Edition thereof. They were too wiſe and learned Men to imagine, that the French-way of ſinging the Pſalms tranſlated into Metre, was more proper for a Church-Service than the Proſe Tranſlation. I think, at the time of this Alteration, Mr. Sternhold, Groom of the King's Privy Chamber, had tranſlated 37 of the Pſalms; but that they were taken-up by the People to be ſung in publick, I cannot find; or whether the Protector, having been motion'd to from abroad, influenc'd the Biſhops to leave out the Introits to pave a way for Pſalms tranſlated in Metre; or whether the Biſhops themſelves deſigned to have the Introits tranſlated into Engliſh Verſe afterwards, that the People might join in the ſinging them. Certain it is, upon whatever account they were laid aſide, a very antient and laudable Cuſtom was parted with. Indeed, in the Roman Service, the old Uſe of the Introit is perverted: for, whereas the antient Church had ſo adapted the Pſalms to the Sunday or Feſtival, that on moſt Days there was a Pſalm ſung, which contained ſomething prophetical of the Evangelical Hiſtory then commemorated, or that it was ſome way or other proper to the Day; in the Miſſal, only the firſt Verſe of the Pſalm is repeated, which oftentimes contains nothing to the purpoſe. This Fault was amended in the firſt Book of King Edward, where the whole Pſalm is ordered to be read or ſung, as it antiently was. For the Author of the Gemma Animæ, who lived about the Year 1120, mentions the Introit only as a Verſe of a Pſalm, as 'twas commonly uſed in his time; but allows that the whole Pſalm formerly was wont to be repeated. Primus verſus Pſalmi ad Introitum cantatur, qui olim totus ad Introitum cantabatur. De Antiq. Rit. Miſſ. cap. 87. Amalarius Fortunatus de Eccl. Off. lib. 3. cap. 5. takes notice of the Introit as a ſpecial part of the Service, at which no one was to ſit down: and this was about the Year 800. The old Ordo Romanus, which was probably written a Century or two before, mentions it in theſe Words, Mox Antiphonam ad Introitum incipit prior Scholæ. Then the Precentor begins the Anthem for the Introit. Ord. Rom. de Off. Miſſ. This ſhews the Uſe of the Introit to be of a thouſand Years ſtanding. But probably it is yet much older. In St. Ambroſe's Office it is called by the Name of Ingreſſus: And in the Greek Liturgies (which, if not written by the Names of thoſe Perſons which they bear, are yet certainly very antient) we find the Introit Hymn. For when the Prieſt comes up to the Propheſis, the Quire, having waſhed their hands, are to ſing, Νίψομαι ἐν ἀθῴοις, &c. I will waſh my hands in Innocency: and ſo will I go to thy Altar. That I may ſhew the voice of Thankſgiving, and tell of all thy wondrous Works. Lord, I have loved the Habitation of thy Houſe: and the place where thy Honour dwelleth. O ſhut not up my Soul with the Sinners: nor my Life with the bloodthirſty. In whoſe hands is Wickedneſs: and their right-hand is full of Gifts. But as for me, I will walk innocently. O deliver me, and be merciful unto me. My foot ſtandeth right: I will praiſe the Lord in the Congregations. S. Chryſ. Lit. Though this was the common Introit uſed at every Communion, yet in more early times of the Greek Church than this Liturgy was written in, other Pſalms were ſung in that Office. For the Pſeudo-Dionyſius, who lived in the fourth or fifth Century, deſcribing the Celebration of the Communion, makes the ſinging of the Pſalm to be a conſiderable part thereof. Ἡ τῶν ψαλμῶν ἱερολογία συνεσταλμένη πᾶσιν ἀεὶδον τοῖς ἱεραρχικοῖς μυσηρίοις, ὧν ἔμελλεν ἀπαρτὶς τῶν πάντων ἱεραρχικωτάτων. The ſinging of Pſalms, which is an eſſential part of every divine Office, muſt not be diſjoined from this Office by the Biſhop. And preſently afterwards he ſays, Ὅταν δὲ ἡ ἱερατικὴ τῶν παντέρων ὑμνολογία τὰς ψυχὰς ἡμῶν ἕξεις ἐναρμονίως διαθῇ πρὸς τὰ μετὰ ταῦτα ἱερῶς ἐπιτελεσθησόμενα, καὶ τῇ τῶν θείων ὡδῶν ὁμοφωνίᾳ τὸν πρὸς τὰ θεῖα καὶ ἑνωτικὸν καὶ ἀλλήλοις ὁμοφρονοῦντα ὡς μάλιστα καὶ ὁμολογῶν τῶν ἱερῶν χορεία νομοθετήσῃ, &c. Since Pſalmody, which comprehends all ſacred Duties, and puts the Soul in good Tune to receive the bleſſed Myſteries which are ſoon after to be celebrated, and tends by its muſical Conſort to inſpire them with mutual concord, &c. Dion. Areop. Eccl. Hier. c. 3. Indeed the antient Ritualiſts, Alcuinus de divinis Off. cap. Amalanius Fort. Eccl. Off. l. 3. c. 5. Rabanus Maurus l. 2. c. 32. Walafridus Strabo de rebus Eccl. c. 22. Micrologus de Eccl. Obſ. c. 1. do attribute the Inſtitution of the Introit to Cæleſtinus Biſhop of Rome, who ſat in that See A. D. 423. But it is common with them to attribute many antient Uſages to one Pope or other, for the Honour of that See, without ſufficient ground for it. And there is good reaſon to think, that the Introit is older than his time. For S. Ambroſe, who was Biſhop of Milan A. D. 375, in his Book of Myſteries mentions the Words of the 43d Pſalm, I will go unto the Altar of God, even unto the God of my Joy and Gladneſs, &c. Add to this a very remarkable Obſervation of Durantus, that ſeveral of the Introits in the Roman Service are not taken out of St. Jerom's Verſion, but out of the old Latin Tranſlation, which was in uſe before his time. Durant. de Rit. Eccl. lib. 7. cap. 11. From whence it is clear, that before the Introits were contracted in that Church, the Pſalms were recited at length out of the old Verſion; which carries the uſe of them higher than the Age of Cæleſtine.

NOTES.

(a) Collects.] They are commonly ſuppoſed to be called Collects, becauſe they are collected out of the Epiſtles and Goſpels of the Day which they ſerve for; or however out of ſome other parts of Scripture. But in the early times of Chriſtianity, the Meeting of the Chriſtians was uſually called by the Name of Collecta; and when they met, they were ſaid Colligere: Sed quomodo colligemus (ſays Tertullian lib. de fuga in Perſ.) quomodo Dominica ſolennia celebrabimus? How ſhall we collect, and how ſhall we celebrate the Solemnity of the Lord's-day? And again, Si interdiu colligere non potes, habes noctem: If you can't COLLECT in the Day, you have the Night. From hence ſays Alcuinus de Div. Off. Precationes à populi collectione collectæ appellari cæperunt; The Collects began to be called ſo, from the Collection of the People. There were a great number of theſe Collects, or ſhort-Prayers, in ordinary uſe in the Primitive-Church; ſome of which being compoſed by Arians, gave offence to the Orthodox: therefore it was ordered by the Council of Milevis, A. D. 402. that no Collects ſhould be uſed in the Church, but which had the Approbation of a Synod. After this, as Walafrid Strabo de reb. Eccl. c. 22. writes, there was made a Compilation out of the Maſs of theſe Collects for the uſe of the Church, A. D. 492. And Gregory the Great made a ſecond Review thereof: Microl. de Eccl. Obſer. c. 24, 31. Thoſe of them which are retained now, ſeem to be moſtly written after the Pelagian Controverſy aroſe; from the frequent Petitions for Divine-Grace, and from the Aſſertions of the Imbecillity of Human-Will and Power.

(b) Epiſtles.] They are called Epiſtles, becauſe, for the moſt part, they are ſome ſhort Portions of the Epiſtolary Books in the New-Teſtament; or, though ſome few of them are taken from the Acts, or other of the Canonical Books, they receive their Denomination from the greater part.

(c) Vigils.] They were called Vigils, becauſe the Chriſtians, in the Primitive Times, uſed to be up all Night before the great Feſtivals of the Year, Chriſtmas, Eaſter, &c. exerciſing themſelves in Faſting and Prayer, as we read in Tertullian, lib. 2. ad uxorem. And in Euſebius, lib. 2. cap. 17. id. Vit. Conſt. lib. 4. Afterwards they began to be celebrated, in the Nights before the Nativities of the Martyrs, Tripart. hiſt. lib. 5. cap. 38. Hence ſome Scandals ariſing, the Council of Eliberis, in the 35th Canon, forbids Women to be preſent in the Cemiteries thoſe Nights the Vigils were celebrated. At laſt, about the Year 420, a little after St. Jerom's Time, the nocturnal Vigils were totally aboliſhed, and were turned into Preparation-Faſts, to precede ſome of the principal Feſtivals of the Church. Vid. Polyd. Virg. de rer. Invent. lib. 6. cap. 4.

(d) Advent.] The Church has ſet-aſide theſe Sundays of Advent, and the Week-days which follow after them, as a ſolemn-time of Preparation for the great Feaſt of the Nativity, as Lent is before the Feaſt of the Reſurrection; and therefore this Time is called by ſome old Writers, Altera Quadrageſima: For as the Preaching of the Baptiſt did prepare the Way of Chriſt's coming to his Kingdom of Grace; ſo is the Devotion which the Church requires in this Solemnity, deſigned to prepare us for his Second-coming, which is to Judgment, and to enter upon his Kingdom of Glory. The Roman Ritualiſts would have the Celebration of this holy Seaſon to be Apoſtolical, and that it was inſtituted by St. Peter, Durand. l. 6. c. 2. The preciſe time of its Inſtitution is not ſo eaſily determinable. It certainly had its Beginning before the Year 450, becauſe Maximus Taurinenſis, who lived about that time, wrote an Homily upon it.

Almighty-God, we beſeech thee to give us thy Grace, that we may caſt-off the works of Darkneſs, thoſe Sins, and other Failures, which Men were ſubject to, whilſt they lay under the Blindneſs of a Gentile Ignorance; and that we may put on the armour of Light, Rom. 13. 12. that Chriſtian Defence againſt Sin, which the clear Manifeſtations and ſpiritual Aſſiſtances of the Goſpel have afforded us, as long as God-Almighty ſhall think fit to continue us in this mortal life of ours, which the eternal Son of God, in the greateſt Humility and Condeſcenſion, was once pleaſed to enter into, and to take upon him our Nature: So that being prepared with theſe Qualifications, when he ſhall come again with all the majeſtick Glory of his divine and human Nature, and attended with his holy Angels, Matt. 25. 31. to judge the World, we may riſe to everlaſting-life. PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE.

I. Having before laid-down ſome Duties, which you owe to your Superiors; I proceed to inform you of ſome particular Obligations, incumbent upon you, towards your Neighbours. And firſt, I adviſe you, as a very conſiderable point of Juſtice, to the Payment of your Debts, and not to owe any man any thing, unleſs it be that Debt which can never be ſufficiently diſcharged; viz. Chriſtian Charity. And here I have an Opportunity given me, of ſaying ſomething of this admirable Vertue; which he that diſcharges aright, does not only obſerve every Precept of the Moſaical Law, but adds ſome farther hights unto it, to which that Sanction did not reach. For the Prohibition of Adultery, Murder, Theft, Falſe-Teſtimony, Concupiſcence, and all other negative and poſitive Duties contained in the Decalogue, are drawn-up into a ſhort Epitome or Recapitulation, in this ſingle Precept firſt delivered by Moſes, Levit. 19. 18. but adopted into the Evangelical-Law by our Bleſſed-Saviour, Matt. 19. 19. Thou ſhalt love thy Neighbour as thyſelf. But then, if we further conſider Charity, as improved by all that Goodneſs and Tenderneſs which Chriſtianity has adorned it with, Men being by this Inſtitution obliged, to account Fraternity and Neighbourhood not to be confined only to People of their own Stock and Religion, as the Jews did, Luke 10. 33. but to lie open to all Mankind; not only to do Men no Miſchief, but to do them all the Good they can poſſibly in their Station; not to hate, and to do Diskindneſſes to their Enemies, (as was permitted under the Jewiſh-Law) but to love them, and do good to them, Matt. 25. I ſay, If we conſider Charity, under that exalted Improvement given to it by the Goſpel, we may very juſtly conclude it to be, not only a Summary of all the Legal Duties, but a Completion and to his Neighbour, therefore Love is the fulfilling of the Law. II. And that, knowing the time, that now it is high-time to awake out of ſleep: for now is our Salvation nearer than when we believed. The Night is far ſpent, the Day is at hand; let us therefore caſt off the works of Darkneſs, and let us put on the armour of Light. Let us walk honeſtly as in the day, not in Rioting and Drunkenneſs, not in Chambering and Wantonneſs, not in Strife and Envying; but, put ye on the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, and make not Proviſion for the fleſh, to fulfil the luſts thereof.

The GOSPEL. St. MATTH. XXI. 1.

I. WHEN they drew nigh unto Jeruſalem, and were come to Bethphage, unto the Mount of Olives, then ſent Jeſus two Diſciples, ſaying unto them, Go into the Village over againſt you, and ſtraightway ye ſhall find an Aſs tied, and a Colt with her: looſe them, and bring them unto me. And if any Man ſay ought unto you, ye ſhall ſay, The Lord hath need of them; and ſtraitway he will ſend them. All this was done, that it might be fulfilled which was ſpoken by the Prophet, ſaying, Tell ye the Daughter of Sion, Behold, thy King cometh unto thee, meek, and ſitting upon an Aſs, and a Colt the Fole of an Aſs. II. And the Diſciples went, and did as Jeſus commanded them, and brought the Aſs, and the Colt, and put on them their Cloaths, and they ſet him thereon. And a very great Multitude ſpread their Garments in the way, others cut down Branches from the Trees, and ſtrewed them in the way. And the Multitudes that went before, and that followed, cried, ſaying, Hoſanna to the Son of David; bleſſed is he that cometh in the Name of the Lord, Hoſanna in the higheſt. III. And when he was come into Jeruſalem, all the City was moved, ſaying, Who is this? And the Multitude ſaid, This is Jeſus, the Prophet of Nazareth of Galilee. And Jeſus went into the Temple of God, and caſt out all them and filling-up of all the Deficiencies of the old Moſaical-Sanction.

II. And this Conſideration will afford you an occaſion of taking notice, that, under this time of the Goſpel-Diſpenſation, you ſhould not live in that ſupine degree of Careleſneſs, as you did before your Converſion, but awake out of your former ſleep of Senſuality, and ſquare your Lives according to the Exactneſs of the Goſpel-Precepts. God knows how nigh the time is, in which God will call you to an Account for all your Actions; moſt certainly it grows every-day nearer and nearer. And the terrible Judgment which God deſigns to execute upon the Inhabitants of Jeruſalem, is conſiderably nigher than at your firſt Converſion. The Night, wherein God's Juſtice lies ſleeping, is almoſt paſſed-away; and the Day of his Vengeance is dawning. Therefore, to prepare yourſelves to appear upon the Day of the Lord's-coming, whenſoever it be, ſooner or later, do not array yourſelves with your former works of Darkneſs and ſtate of Sinfulneſs; but adorn yourſelves with the ſhining Armour of all Chriſtian Graces, not being afraid, as the Wicked are, of that Terrible Day, but going out to meet it, with as much Briſkneſs and Alacrity as a Great-Officer marches along in his ſplendid Armour, upon a Day of Battle. Let all of us avoid thoſe ſinful Actions of Senſuality and Malice, which we might hope ſhould be hid in the Darkneſs of the Night, and might be partly excuſed under a Carnal Inſtitution or a Pagan Ignorance; but will never be tolerated in the clear Light of the Goſpel-Knowledge. Therefore I would adviſe you, as the beſt Preparation for this time, to put on the Lord Jeſus, that is, to practiſe his Precepts, and to follow his Example, Gal. 3. 27. and to be ſollicitous for the things of this World no farther than Neceſſity requires; but not to pamper your Luſts, or to have ſuch an eye upon this World's Enjoyments, as if ye were to look no further.

I. When our Saviour and his Diſciples were come to a Town called Bethphage, within two Miles of Jeruſalem, and ſituated at the Foot of the Mount of Olives; he pointing to a certain Village, which was then in view, bids two of his Diſciples go to that place, and they ſhould find a She-Aſs, and her Colt tied-up with her, at a Houſe there, which he commanded them to bring away with them. But, if the Owner thereof ſhould make any Scruple, he ordered them to return no other Anſwer, but that the Lord hath occaſion to make uſe of them; and this will ſo ſufficiently ſatisfy him, that he will forthwith deliver them to you. [Our Bleſſed-Lord, by this Action of his, deſigned to begin his Regal Office, he having diſcharged his Prophetical, in preaching before this throughout the whole Country of Judæa: He being now willing to take upon him the Honours of a Prince, though in the moſt humble manner. And beſides, it was forecontrived by the Divine-Wiſdom, that by this Action he ſhould ſo irritate the Jews, as to bring-on his Death, which made way for the Completion of his Sacerdotal Office.] Which was not only by this means brought about, but was long-ago predicted by the Prophet, Zach. 9. 9. Rejoyce greatly, O Daughter of Sion; ſhout, O Daughter of Jeruſalem: Behold, thy King cometh unto thee; he is juſt and having Salvation, lowly, and riding upon an Aſs, and upon a Colt the Fole of an Aſs. Which Prophecy is appropriated to Chriſt, not only by the Chriſtians, but by moſt of the Jewiſh Rabbins, by [*R. Vaſt numbers of People ran before him, and vaſt numbers crowded after, crying out, Hoſanna, All hail to the Meſſias the Son of David, all Bleſſings attend the Shilo, the ὁ ἐρχόμενος, the He that was to come: Let us all cry-out Hoſannah with the loudeſt pitch our Voices can reach-to.

III. Being advanced now in this Proceſſion within the Gates of the City Jeruſalem, the Inhabitants of the Town were in great Commotion upon the Strangeneſs of the Occurrence, and were eager to know who the Perſon was, who was attended into the City in this triumphal manner; the People who came with him returning Anſwer, That this was Jeſus the Galilean Prophet, noted for ſo many great Miracles done among them. Our Bleſſed Lord now being willing to ſhew, that his was only a ſpiritual Kingdom that he was entring upon, did not go up to the Caſtle of Mount Sion, the Seat of the temporal Governour, but only goes into the Courts of the Temple, to which his Office more immediately related, where he finds ſeveral grievous Diſorders, notwithſtanding the Sacredneſs of the Place. Hence ſome Scandals ariſing, the Council of Eliberis, in the 35th Canon, forbids Women to be preſent in the Cemiteries thoſe Nights the Vigils were celebrated. At laſt, about the Year 420, a little after St. Jerom's Time, the nocturnal Vigils were totally aboliſhed, and were turned into Preparation-Faſts, to precede ſome of the principal Feſtivals of the Church. *Vid. (d) Advent.] The Church has ſet-aſide theſe Sundays of Advent, and the Week-days which follow after them, as a ſolemn-time of Preparation for the great Feaſt of the Nativity, as Lent is before the Feaſt of the Reſurrection; and therefore this Time is called by ſome old Writers, Altera Quadrageſima: For as the Preaching of the Baptiſt did prepare the Way of Chriſt's coming to his Kingdom of Grace; ſo is the Devotion which the Church requires in this Solemnity, deſigned to prepare us for his Second-coming, which is to Judgment, and to enter upon his Kingdom of Glory. The Roman Ritualiſts would have the Celebration of this holy Seaſon to be Apoſtolical, and that it was inſtituted by St. Peter, Durand. l. 6. c. 2. The preciſe time of its Inſtitution is not ſo eaſily determinable. Wherefore receive ye one another, as Chriſt alſo received us, to the Glory of God. II. Now I ſay, that Jeſus Chriſt was a Miniſter of the Circumciſion, for the Truth of God, to confirm the Promiſes made unto the Fathers: And that the Gentiles might glorify God for his Mercy, as it is written, For this Cauſe I will confeſs to thee among the Gentiles, and ſing unto thy Name. And again he ſaith, Rejoyce, ye Gentiles, with his People. And again, Praiſe the Lord, all ye Gentiles; and laud him, all ye People. And again Eſaias ſaith, There ſhall be a Root of Jeſſe; and he that ſhall riſe to reign over the Gentiles, in him ſhall the Gentiles truſt. Now the God of Hope fill you with all Joy and Peace in believing, that ye may abound in Hope, through the Power of the Holy Ghoſt.

O ever-bleſſed God, who haſt informed us by thy Apoſtle St. Paul, that all things which were written aforetime in the Holy Scriptures, were written for our Learning, Rom. 15. 4. grant that we may with ſuch diligent Attention and pious Diſpoſitions, read and obſerve what is written therein, and lay them up in our Hearts, that we may receive thereby ſuch Patience and Comfort, as may afford us the hope of everlaſting-Life, Rom. 15. 4. which thou haſt given, through the Merits of Jeſus Chriſt our Saviour. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE.

I. All the Parts of Holy-Scripture, which were written by inſpired Men many Ages ago, were indited by the Holy-Ghoſt, to the end that we might be inſtructed thereby in ſpiritual Knowledge. By a careful reading of theſe holy Books, we may expect, through God's Bleſſing, not only to have our Faith firmly ſettled, but alſo to learn therefrom the moſt excellent Lectures of Patience under our Afflictions, and to receive the moſt ſolid Comfort. Now I pray, That the gracious God, who beſtows upon us theſe excellent Gifts, would add one farther Favour on your Behalf, which is, to bleſs you with Union and Concord; that all Diviſions and Animoſities being baniſhed from among you, which have ariſen concerning the Queſtion about the Jewiſh Ceremonies, you may ſerve God with an Uniformity of Opinion and Worſhip. Wherefore you muſt not refuſe Communion with one another, upon account of theſe Controverſies, but join with the Gentile-Converts in the Publick-Worſhip, and receive them into your Boſom with a like Kindneſs as Chriſt has received you into the Privileges and Advantages of the Goſpel.

II. It is true, our Bleſſed Lord himſelf was pleaſed to undergo the Rite of Circumciſion, and to comply with other legal Ordinances; but it was with no other View, than to fulfil the ancient Predictions, which were delivered to the Patriarchs and Prophets, concerning him; and by a perfect Obedience to the difficult Precepts of the Old Law, maintain thereby the Authority of the Legiſlator, and then diſanul it for the future; making an eaſier way for the Reception of the Gentiles into the Covenant. Which was ſignified by that Paſſage of the Pſalmiſt, For this cauſe will I give thanks unto thee, among the Gentiles, Pſal. 18. 50. And again he ſaith, O let the Nations rejoyce and be glad, Pſal. 67. 4. And again, O praiſe the Lord, O ye Heathen; praiſe him all ye Nations, Pſal. 117. 1. To the ſame purpoſe the Prophet Iſaiah ſpeaks; And in that day there ſhall be a root of Jeſſe, which ſhall ſtand for an enſign of the people; to it ſhall the Gentiles ſeek, and his Reſt ſhall be glorious, Iſai. 11. 10. Now may the gracious God, who has been pleaſed to afford us theſe good grounds of our Hope, afford you Peace and Concord in the Exerciſe of your Holy Religion; and by the Inſpiration of his Holy-Spirit increaſe your Faith, and improve you in all other Chriſtian Graces.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Luke XI. 25.

I. Having informed you before (my dear Diſciples) of the Signs which ſhall precede the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem; I go on to acquaint you, what Marks ſhall go before the final Deſtruction of the whole World. Before that time, the Men who ſhall then be alive, ſhall obſerve great Diſorders in the Heavenly Bodies, the Light of them growing faint, and the Motions of the Planets irregular. All Nations of the World ſhall be under the moſt terrible Calamities, which Famine, or Sword, or other terrible Judgments of God, ſhall bring upon them. Great and unheard-of Storms ſhall ariſe at Sea, and Men ſhall be under mighty degrees of Agony and Surprize, for the Apprehenſion of what ſhall befal them in that great Convulſion of Nature; when all the ſtrong Arches of Heaven ſhall ſhake and totter, and the Stars be ready to tumble from their Orbs. Then ſhall you ſee me coming down from Heaven to judge the World, encircled by a reſplendent Cloud; and then you my Followers, who ſhall then be alive, or you who ſhall be aſleep in your Graves, having your Souls reunited to your Bodies, ſhall look up, and behold your Redeemer coming towards you, to give you Admittance into the State of Happineſs he has purchaſed for you.

II. After this he illuſtrated ſome Parts of his foregoing Diſcourſe by a Similitude. That, as certainly as we know the Approach of the Summer, by the Trees putting out their Leaves; ſo are theſe Signs as certain Prognoſtications of the Day of Judgment, when Chriſt ſhall enter upon his Glorious Kingdom: And ſo are thoſe other Signs, before-mentioned, Forerunners of the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, which ſhall fall out before the preſent Generation of Men are dead. And, tho' it may be long before the End of the World comes, yet it will at laſt happen in the manner I have predicted: The Heaven and Earth ſhall be diſſolved by the Conflagration, but the Truth of what I have ſaid ſhall remain entire for ever.

PARAPHRASE on the COLLECT of the third Sunday in Advent.

O Lord Jeſus Chriſt, who at thy firſt Advent, when thou didſt vouchſafe to converſe with us Men in the Fleſh, didſt ſend thy Meſſenger John the Baptiſt, to be thy Harbinger to prepare thy way before thee, Matth. 11. 10. as was predicted Mal. 3. 1. we beſeech thee to afford ſuch a Bleſſing to the pious Labours of the Paſtors of the Church, who are the Miniſters of Chriſt, and Stewards of the Myſteries of God, 1 Cor. 4. 1. that they (like John the Baptiſt) may prepare thy way before thee, by turning the Hearts of the Diſobedient to the Wiſdom of the Juſt, Luke 1. 17. that at thy ſecond Advent, when thou ſhalt come to judge the World, 2 Tim. 4. 1. we may be acceptable in the ſight of God our Saviour, 1 Tim. 2. 3. who liveſt and reigneſt in equal Glory with God the Father and the Holy-Ghoſt to all Eternity. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. 1 Cor. IV. 1.

I. I obſerve a Fault too frequent among you, that you do not afford the Miniſters of the Goſpel, that due Reſpect which their Office requires: And therefore, for the future, I adviſe you that you eſteem Us of the Sacred Function, as Miniſters of our Bleſſed Lord; by whoſe Authority we act, and by whoſe Order, as Eccleſiaſtical Stewards, we deliver out to the World the divine Myſteries revealed in the Goſpel. Now the moſt valuable Qualification, which may recommend a Man to the Office of a Steward, is Faithfulneſs: And herein I hope I have ſufficiently diſcharged my Duty among you, though found faithful. But with me it is a very ſmall thing, that I ſhould be judged of you, or of man's judgment: yea, I judge not mine ownſelf. For I know nothing by myſelf, yet am I not hereby juſtified; but he that judgeth me, is the Lord. II. Therefore judge nothing before the time, until the Lord come, who both will bring to light the hidden things of darkneſs, and will make manifeſt the counſels of the hearts; and then ſhall every man have praiſe of God.

The GOSPEL. S. MATTH. XI. 2.

I. NOW when John had heard in the priſon the works of Chriſt, he ſent two of his diſciples, and ſaid unto him, Art thou he that ſhould come, or do we look for another? Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto them, Go and ſhew John again thoſe things which ye do hear and ſee: The blind receive their ſight, and the lame walk, the lepers are cleanſed, and the deaf hear, the dead are raiſed up, and the poor have the goſpel preached to them. And bleſſed is he whoſoever ſhall not be offended in me. II. And as they departed, Jeſus began to ſay unto the multitudes concerning John, What went ye out into the wilderneſs to ſee? A reed ſhaken with the wind? But what went ye out for to ſee? A man cloathed in ſoft rayment? Behold, they that wear ſoft cloathing are in kings houſes. But what went ye out for to ſee? A prophet? Yea, I ſay unto you, and more than a prophet. For this is he of whom it is written, Behold, I ſend my meſſenger before thy face, which ſhall prepare thy way before thee.

others may be qualified with higher Talents of Eloquence. For my part, I am not concern'd that you prefer any Perſon's Abilities before mine, and find fault with my Miniſtry; for no human Judgment is infallible, and therefore all things ought to be referred to the Judgment of God. Now though, I think, I know myſelf better than any other Perſon does, and though I have diligently look'd into the State of my Soul, and do not find myſelf guilty of any remarkable Sin; yet I will not therefore preſume to pronounce myſelf Innocent: There may be, for ought I know, ſomething amiſs in me that I ſee not, and which God knows. II. Therefore I would not have you too precipitate in paſſing your Judgments, upon mine or any other Mens Actions; have but the Patience to ſtay till the General Judgment, and then every thing ſhall be ſet in ſuch clear Lights, as we can make no Miſtake in our Judgments thereupon. The Integrity of Mens Hearts ſhall then appear in the ſeveral Actions they have done in this Life, which might not have had the beſt colour; and yet God ſhall be ſo far from puniſhing the Doers thereof, that he ſhall commend and reward them for what we condemn.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Matth. XI. 2.

I. John the Baptiſt now impriſoned by Herod, and being in great peril of his Life, thought it proper, before he went out of the World, to ſatisfy his Diſciples upon ſome Scruples they had entertained, concerning our Saviour's Right to the Meſſiahſhip; which, out of Zeal to their Maſter, they thought did rather belong to him. He therefore, the better to ſatisfy them upon this point, diſpatches two of them upon this Meſſage to Chriſt, deſiring of him, that he would be pleaſed to inform him of the Certainty, Whether he was that great Perſon, whom all the Jews expected to come among them about that time, or whether they were to wait longer for another Perſon, who was to ſuſtain that extraordinary Character. To this Meſſage our Saviour gave this Anſwer: Pray return to your Maſter John, and make Report of the ſtupendous Miracles which you have been Eye-witneſſes of, and others which you have heard that I have done. I have reſtored Sight to the Blind, and Legs to the Lame; I have cleared the Skin of the fouleſt Lepers; and, what is a greater Charity, and not leſs miraculous, according to the Principles of a prevailing Party among us, I have preached the glad Tidings of Salvation to poor People, whom the Generality of the Teachers of our time are wont to undervalue. This inherent Power of doing ſuch extraordinary Miracles, is a ſufficient Proof of my Miſſion from God, and of the Character of the Meſſias, which all unprejudic'd Perſons will think I lay a juſt claim to. I know the Meanneſs of my Condition is a great Stumbling-block to all Perſons, who look for the Splendor of a temporal Meſſias; and therefore an extraordinary Bleſſing attends thoſe pious Perſons, who believe me to be Chriſt, under this great degree of Abaſement. II. After the Diſciples of John were retired, our Saviour began a Diſcourſe in commendation of the Baptiſt, which he deferred till then, that he might not be ſuſpected of Flattery to their Maſter. You know (ſays he) that this holy Perſon, the Baptiſt, has retired moſt part of his time to live in the Wilderneſs, and vaſt numbers of People did daily addreſs themſelves to him there. And what did they go out to ſee in this Place? Not to ſee Reeds and Ruſhes, which are almoſt the only things to be ſeen in ſuch a Deſert. Did they go out to ſee a Man gallantly arrayed in fine Cloaths? No, they would rather have gone to Herod's Court, to have ſeen ſuch a Figure. But really, what did they ſee, after ſuch a Journey into the Wilderneſs? Why, they ſaw, and heard the Preaching of, a very great Prophet, nay a Perſon above the Rank of Prophets. For he is deſcribed by the Prophet Malachy, under the Title of an Angel: Behold I will prepare my Malach, my Angel or Meſſenger, to prepare my way before me, Mal. 3. 1.

(t) This Sunday of Advent being one of the Ember-weeks, it will be requiſite to ſay ſomething here concerning them. They are called Ember from the Greek Word Ἡμεραι, which ſignifies the Days, or Set-times; and the Latins call them the Quatuor Tempora, becauſe there are four of them, one in every Seaſon of the Year. They are of very great Antiquity in the Church: moſt certainly they were of univerſal uſe in Leo the Great's time, who lived *A. PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Phil. IV. 4.

I. Rejoice, Rejoice, O Philippians, in the Happineſs which you partake of, by that admirable Religion you are called to, notwithſtanding the preſent worldly Misfortunes which you are under. Shew your admirable Temper and Moderation, in bearing with the Injuries which are offered to you, thereby recommending your Religion the more to all the World. For it will not be any long time, before your bleſſed Saviour will reward you for all your Sufferings. And be not anxious about the Concerns of this World, but put up your Prayers to God for what you want, with an entire Submiſſion to his good Providence, and he will provide for you whatever his unerring Wiſdom ſhall think fit and proper for you. II. And if you do this, you ſhall enjoy the ineſtimable Comforts of the divine Grace, which ſhall not only refreſh you under all the Troubles and Afflictions, you may meet with in this World, but directing and aſſiſting you in the courſe of Vertue and Piety, ſhall bring you ſafe to the Joys of the next.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Joh. I. 19.

I. This is the Teſtimony which John the Baptiſt gave concerning our Saviour Chriſt. The Jewiſh Sanedrim (which was the great Eccleſiaſtical Council held at Jeruſalem) delegated ſeveral Prieſts and Levites out of their Body, to interrogate John concerning his divine Miſſion which he pretended to; for the Court of the Sanedrim had the cognizance of all falſe Pretences of Prophecy and Revelation, to puniſh them according as the Moſaical Law did preſcribe. Theſe Perſons being come to John, they artificially ſifting him by Queſtions, to which he would probably return negative Anſwers, thought at laſt to draw him in, to diſcover to them affirmatively what he was. They ask'd, If he was the Meſſias? To which he frankly anſwers, No. They asked, Whether he was the Prophet Elijah, of whom the Jews had a Notion, that he ſhould ariſe from the Grave, to uſher in the Meſſias into the World. To this he anſwered, He was not Elijah neither. They interrogated him further, Whether he was that other Prophet, namely Jeremiah, who, they had a fancy, was to ariſe likewiſe? And this he denied too. Who then are you (ſay they) and what is the Nature of your Miſſion, that we may be able, upon our Return, to give a ſatisfactory Anſwer to thoſe who have employed us in this Meſſage? What ſufficient Authority can you vouch, for your Preaching and Baptizing? To which he made no other Anſwer than in the words of the Prophet Iſaiah, Iſa. 40. 3. I am the Voice of him that crieth in the Wilderneſs. Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make ſtraight in the deſert an Highway for our God. II. They then inſiſted further to interrogate him, If you be neither the Meſſias, nor the Prophet Elijah, nor the zeſt thou then, if thou be not that Chriſt, nor Elias, neither that prophet? John anſwered them ſaying, I baptize with water: but there ſtandeth one among you whom ye know not. He it is who coming after me, is preferred before me, whoſe ſhoes lachet I am not worthy to unlooſe. Theſe things were done in Bethabara beyond Jordan, where John was baptizing.

To this John replied, That 'tis true I do Baptize with Water, being thereto authorized by God, to be the Forerunner of a much greater Perſon than myſelf, who lives among you at preſent in your Nation, but you have not yet taken notice of him, nor know his divine Extraction. He, though he begins his Preaching after me, yet does infinitely exceed me in all reſpects; being a Perſon of that tranſcendent Dignity, that I ſhould think it a great Honour to be in ſuch a mean Service under him, as to pull-off his Shooes. Theſe Matters were tranſacted in Bethabara, a place in that part of Judea, which lies beyond Jordan.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Heb. I. 1.

I. God Almighty, who has diſcovered his Will to Mankind in great variety of Revelations, by Types and Figures, by Dreams and Viſions, by angelical Appearances, Voices from Heaven, and the like; who hath done this for the ſake of the ancient Jews by a continued Succeſſion of Prophetical Men, not only in the time of Abraham and Iſaac, but alſo in the time of Moſes and the Judges of Iſrael, and during the Reigns of the ſeveral Kings thereof; affording them Prophets, ſuch as Jeremy and Daniel under the Captivity, and others, as Haggai and Malachi, after the Return from it: This our gracious God has been pleaſed, out of his unſpeakable Goodneſs, in this late Age of the World we live in, to notify his Will to us by no leſs a Perſon than his own eternal Son, who, by Stipulation with the Father, is conſtituted Lord and Governour of the whole Creation; and by whom, not as an inſtrumental, but as an efficient Cauſe, both the material and the intellectual World was made. II. Who being a Splendor from all Eternity, emaning from the Father the original Source of the glorious Deity; who being as exact an Image and Repreſentation of the Father, the firſt Perſon of the Trinity, as the Impreſſion is of the Seal which ſtamps it; who likewiſe exerciſing the conſervative Power of the Deity, in upholding thoſe things in their Beings which he had formerly created: Being a Perſon of this ineſtimable Dignity, he was pleaſed to take upon him the Mediatorial Office, and to purge us from our Sins, not by offering up Sheep and Goats, as the Levitical Prieſts were wont, but by a Sacrifice of himſelf, making an infinite Atonement to the Divine Juſtice for our Tranſgreſſions; which having tranſacted, he aſcended into Heaven, where he reigns in everlaſting Glory and Majeſty with the Father, as a Cæſar ſits on a Throne, on the right-hand of the Prince who has made him Partner in his Kingdom. By which it is plain, that our Saviour is of much greater Dignity than any Rank of Angelical Beings, becauſe, by right of Inheritance, he partakes of the eternal Glory, and does ſhare

in ter than the angels, as he hath by inheritance obtained a more excellent name than they. III. For unto which of the angels ſaid he at any time, Thou art my Son, this day have I begotten thee? And again, I will be to him a Father, and he ſhall be to me a Son? And again, when he bringeth in the firſt-begotten into the world, he ſaith, And let all the angels of God worſhip him. And of the angels he ſaith, Who maketh his angels ſpirits, and his miniſters a flame of fire. But unto the Son he ſaith, Thy throne, O God, is for ever and ever, a ſceptre of righteouſneſs is the ſceptre of thy kingdom. Thou haſt loved righteouſneſs, and hated Iniquity; therefore God, even thy God, hath anointed thee with the oyl of gladneſs above thy fellows. And, Thou Lord, in the beginning, haſt laid the foundation of the earth; and the heavens are the works of thine hands. They ſhall periſh, but thou remaineſt; and they all ſhall wax old, as doth a garment; and as a veſture ſhalt thou fold them up, and they ſhall be changed; but thou art the ſame, and thy years ſhall not fail.

The GOSPEL. S. Joh. I. 1.

I. IN the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. The ſame was in the beginning with God. All things were made by him, and without him was not any thing made that was made. In him was life, and the life was the light of men. And the light ſhineth in darkneſs, and the darkneſs comprehended it not. II. There was a man ſent from God, whoſe name was John. The ſame came for a witneſs to bear witneſs of the light, that all men through him might believe. He was not that light, but was ſent to bear witneſs of that light. III. That was the true light, which lighteth every man that cometh into the world. He was in the world, and the world was made by him, and the world knew him not. He came unto his own, and his own received him not. But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the ſons of God, even to them that believe on his name: which were born, not of blood, nor of the will of the fleſh, nor of the will of Man, but of God. IV. And the Word was in Heaven degrees of Honour infinitely beyond what the moſt exalted Claſſes of ſpiritual Beings are admitted to. III. For, upon which of the Angels did God at any time beſtow ſuch an honorable Elogium, as he did upon our Saviour in that Prediction of the Meſſias, Thou art my Son, this day have I begotten thee, Pſal. 2. 7.? And in another place this honorable Mention is made of him by God; I will be his Father, and he ſhall be my Son, 2 Sam. 7. 14. Which is ſpoken of Solomon, as a Type of Chriſt. Beſides this, the holy Pſalmiſt, in a Pſalm which was writen upon the coming of the Meſſias, the firſt-begotten of God, into the World, he ſaith, Worſhip him all ye Gods, i. e. Angels. Nay, the Holy Scripture, when it has occaſion to make mention of Angels, it ſpeaks of them as his Miniſters in performing ſome of the mean and ordinary Offices of Nature; viz. in raiſing Winds and Storms: as Pſalm 104. 4. Who maketh his Angels Spirits, or Winds, and his Miniſters a flame of fire (i. e.) flaſhes of Lightning. But when the Scripture ſpeaks of the Meſſias the Son of God, as Pſalm 45, which all the Jews do unanimouſly allow to be a Prophecy of the Meſſias, we ſee what exalted Expreſſions are made uſe of concerning him: Thy Throne, O God, is for ever and ever; the Sceptre of thy Kingdom is a right Sceptre. Thou loveſt Righteouſneſs, and hateſt Wickedneſs: therefore God, thy God, hath anointed thee with Oyl of Gladneſs above thy Fellows, Pſal. 45. 6, 7. So likewiſe the Pſalmiſt, in the 102d Pſalm, which is likewiſe a Prophecy of the Meſſias, ſpeaking of God the Son as the Demiurgus, or Maker of the World, has theſe words: Of old thou haſt laid the foundation of the Earth; and the Heavens are the Works of thy hands. They ſhall periſh, but thou ſhalt endure: yea all of them ſhall wax old like a Garment, and as a Veſture thou ſhalt change them, and they ſhall be changed. But thou art the ſame, and thy Years ſhall have no end. Pſal. 102. 25, 26, 27.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Joh. 1. 1.

I. Before the Beginning of Time, nay from all Eternity, the Logos or Word had an Exiſtence; and this Word was not only preſent with God the Father, the Fountain of the Deity, throughout all thoſe infinite Ages, but was himſelf likewiſe very God. This Word is the Perſon, who not only was always intimately united to the Father, but who likewiſe had a principal ſhare in the Creation of the World; all things being ſpoken into their Being by the Word, and there not being any the ſmalleſt Creature, but what owed its Origination to the Word. All the vivifick Power, both of Natural and Spiritual Life, was veſted in him; from him Men have received both the Breath of their Noſtrils, and all the Light of heavenly Grace. Now, when this Light was manifeſted to the carnal World, which lay immerſed in the darkneſs of Sin and Ignorance, ſuch was the groſſneſs thereof, that they were not able to diſcern the Light which was held out to them: and though a Saviour of the World was ſent to them, they took little notice of him. II. As to the Time when our Saviour manifeſted himſelf to the World, there lived a remarkable Perſon, who was endowed with extraordinary gifts of the Spirit, whoſe Name was John. He, by ſpecial Deſignation of God, was ordered to be the Forerunner of the Meſſias, the great Light of the World; and that, through his Teſtimony concerning him, both Jews and Gentiles might be prepared to receive his Doctrine. John himſelf, though a very conſiderable Perſon, was not this Light, or the Meſſias; his only Office was, to be a Voucher of his heavenly Miſſion, and a Herald to make way for his coming. III. John's Miſſion was deſigned only to extend to a few Perſons; but Jeſus Chriſt, who may in the trueſt and propereſt ſenſe be called the Light, gave Light not to a few ſelect Perſons, but to all the World, who will not ſhut their eyes againſt it. He came from Heaven, and converſed for many Years with Men in this lower World, although he himſelf had been the Creator of all the parts of it; and yet the generality of Men were not ſenſible that their Maker dwelt among them. He, out of ſpecial favour to the Nation of the Jews, who were God's own peculiar People, made it his Choice to undergo his Incarnation in their Country; but they ungratefully refuſed to receive their Lord and Redeemer, and put him to an ignominious Death. Indeed ſome few well-diſpoſed Perſons of that Nation did acknowledge him for the Meſſias, and did believe on him; and to theſe he gave the extraordinary Privilege of becoming the Children of God, and the Heirs of everlaſting Life. Which Children of God are to be born again by a new ſpiritual Birth, not by the ordinary way and means of human Generation, or carnal Luſt, but by the Energy of God's holy Spirit. IV. Thus the divine Logos, or Word, was incarnate and made perfect Man, converſing, for was made flesh, and dwelt among us (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father) full of grace and truth.

Then they cried out with a loud voice, and stopped their ears, and ran upon him with one accord, and cast him out of the city, and stoned him; and the witnesses laid down their cloaths at a young man's feet, whose name was Saul. III. And they stoned Stephen calling a considerable time, among us Men, discovering to several of us, with whom he conforted, the Marks of his heavenly Glory, as in his Transfiguration and Ascension; and delivered to us a new Religion much fuller of Kindness and Mercy than the old rough and difficult Injunctions of the Mosaical Law.

NOTE.

(g) St. Stephen, whose Festival is this Day celebrated, was an early Proselyte to Christianity, and a Man of singular Holiness, being described to be a Man full of the Holy Ghost, Act. 6. 5. He was the first Person chosen by the Apostles, into the then new-erected Office of Deacons, ibid. He was brought before the Sanedrim or Jewish Council, for preaching that the Jewish Oeconomy should be abrogated, and the Temple destroyed, Acts 6. 14. But Stephen vindicating his Doctrine, by several Passages of the Old-Testament, and making therefrom some Reflexions upon the cruel and persecuting Temper of the Jews, they outrageously carried him out of the City, and stoned him, Acts 7. 58. I do not find exactly, how ancient the Celebration of the Festival of St. Stephen is; it was probably observed in St. Chrysostom's time, who has several Homilies upon his Memory, which may be thought to be preached upon this Festival; in one of which he calls him the Top of the Martyrs, the Στέφανος, or Crown of the Church, Hom. I. In the second Homily he calls him, The Glory of the Church, the Champion of Religion, the Leader-up of the Martyrs. Gregory Nazianzen, in another Oration upon him, calls him the Great Stephen, whose Temples were bound (alluding to his Name) with the first Crown of Martyrdom. Naz. Orat. de Steph.

O Lord, we beseech thee to grant, that in all our Sufferings in this present World, Rom. 8. 18. for the Testimony of the Gospel, we may, like St. Stephen, stedfastly look up to Heaven, Acts 7. 55. and by the Firmness of our Faith, may have an ante-view of the Glory which shall be revealed hereafter in us, Rom. 8. 18. and being filled with the Holy Ghost, Acts 7. 55. as the blessed Saint, the first who wore the Martyrial Crown, was, may learn to bless them who persecute us, Rom. 12. 14. PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Acts 7. 55.

I. St. Stephen having ended his Oration which he made to the Jews, fell into a divine Trance or Vision; and fixing his eyes in a very earnest manner towards Heaven, he saw a splendid Apparition in the Air, representing the Celestial Glory; as it were God the Father in a Regal manner sitting on a Throne, as is represented in the ancient Prophets, Ezek. 1. 26. and our Saviour Christ likewise, in a visible manner, standing by him on his right-hand, as the principal place of Honour. Upon which he cries out, Behold I see the Arch of Heaven parting asunder, and discovering the Glory of the Regions of Bliss, where methinks I have a clear View of our blessed Lord's standing on the right-hand of God the Father. II. Upon which the Jews made a wonderful Exclamation, stopping their Ears with their Hands, as it were out of Horror of the supposed Blasphemy which they imputed to him, and running upon him in most furious manner, they hurried him out of the City into some neighbouring Field, as the Law of Moses directed in the Case of Blasphemers, Levit. 24. 14. and there they stoned him to death: And, that they might with the better Expedition, cast those great Stones which were usual in such cases, they stripped themselves of their upper-Garments, ordering one Saul, a Young-man, a Scholar of Gamaliel, whose Zeal had led him to take a part in that furious Action, to look after their Cloaths whilst they were engaged in this bloody Act. III. But whilst they were discharging showers of Stones upon this holy Martyr, he entertained himself in devout Prayer to God, begging of the Lord Jesus to receive his Soul, as soon as it should be departed, into his Glory. And afterwards proceeding to a more intense degree of Devotion, to demonstrate his excellent Charity, in imitation of our blessed Lord upon calling upon God, and ſaying, Lord Jeſus receive my ſpirit. And he kneeled down, and cried with a loud voice, Lord, lay not this ſin to their charge. And when he had ſaid this, he fell aſleep.

I. BEhold, I ſend unto you prophets, and wiſemen, and ſcribes; and ſome of them ye ſhall kill and crucify; and ſome of them ſhall ye ſcourge in your Synagogues, and perſecute them from city to city; that upon you may come all the righteous blood ſhed upon the earth, from the blood of righteous Abel, unto the blood of Zacharias, ſon of Barachias, whom ye ſlew between the temple and the Altar. II. Verily I ſay unto you, all theſe things ſhall come upon this generation. O Jeruſalem, Jeruſalem, thou that killeſt the prophets, and ſtoneſt them which are ſent unto thee; how often would I have gathered thy children together, even as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, and ye would not. Behold, your houſe is left unto you deſolate. For I ſay unto you, ye ſhall not ſee me henceforth, till ye ſhall ſay, Bleſſed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord.

I. THat which was from the beginning, which we have heard, which we have ſeen with our eyes, which we have looked upon, and our hands have handled of the word of life; (For the life was manifeſted, and we have ſeen it, and bear witneſs, and ſhew unto you that eternal life, which was with the Father, and was manifeſted unto us) That which we have ſeen and heard, declare we unto you, that ye alſo may have fellowſhip with us; and truly our fellowſhip is with the Father, and with his Son Jeſus Chriſt. II. And theſe things write we unto you, that your joy may be full. This then is the meſſage which we have heard of him, and declare unto you, that God is light, and in him is no darkneſs at all. III. If we ſay that we have fellowſhip with him, and walk in darkneſs, we lie, and do not the truth: But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowſhip one with another, and the blood of Jeſus Chriſt his Son cleanſeth us from all ſin. IV. If we ſay that we have no ſin, we deceive our ſelves, and the truth is not in us. If we confeſs our ſins, he is faithful and juſt to forgive us our ſins, and to cleanſe us from all unrighteouſneſs. If we ſay that we have not ſinned, we make him a liar, and the Word is not in us.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. 1 S. John I. 1.

I. We declare unto you the Goſpel of Jeſus Chriſt, who was not a Being of Yeſterday, but one that was from all Eternity exiſting; the preaching of which Goſpel by our Saviour Jeſus Chriſt, we are eye-witneſſes of, having been intimately acquainted with his Perſon, we having nicely viewed, and even handled his Body after his Reſurrection. For he, who was the eternal Life, and Partaker of the divine Nature, having aſſumed a fleſhly Body, and thereby become viſible to us not many Years ago, though before that from all Eternity he had a Being, ſtrictly united to the Father in the ſame Eſſence; and we having ſo frequently converſed with this bleſſed Perſon, and being ſufficiently informed of his heavenly Doctrine, are unexceptionable Witneſſes as to what we declare concerning him. For we do not preach to you matters delivered to us at ſecond-hand, but only what we ourſelves have ſeen with our own eyes, and heard from our bleſſed Saviour's own mouth. And the end of our preaching is, to bring you into the Communion of Chriſt's Church; which is not a contemptible Society, (as ſome of you may be apt to fancy) or Fellowſhip with ſuch ordinary Men as you imagine us to be, but a Fellowſhip with the Almighty God, the Maker of Heaven and Earth, and Jeſus Chriſt his eternal Son. II. And you ought to receive the Doctrine, which we preach and write unto you, with all due Thankfulneſs, as bringing to you the moſt unſpeakable Comfort, viz. the Salvation of your Souls, and the hopes of a bleſſed Immortality. Joh. 16. 24. Rom. 14. 17. But you muſt not think, that this Doctrine, which we preach, is made up only of bare Promiſes, to which there are no Conditions annexed; but the Goſpel, which we have learned of Chriſt, and which we declare to you, is a Diſpenſation that repreſents the Nature of God to be of ſuch unſpeakable Purity, as not to allow of any habits of Sin or fleſhly Luſts, which are all to be abandoned by the Members of this ſpiritual Community. III. For if we pretend to this divine Fellowſhip, and to be the Children of Light, but withal indulge ourſelves in the Works of Darkneſs, violating the Goſpel Precepts by an ungodly courſe of Life; we give the lie to our holy Religion, and do not anſwer by our Actions, what in our Words we profeſs. But, if we take care ſincerely to diſcharge the Goſpel Precepts, with the utmoſt Diligence and Power we are capable of, we ſhall then be Partakers of all the Privileges of this ſpiritual Community; and the Blood of Chriſt ſhall obtain a Pardon for our Sins, upon our due Repentance, ſo that they ſhall not be any longer imputed to us; he overlooking our Sins of Infirmity, upon the gracious Terms of the Goſpel-Diſpenſation. IV. But, ſince this is a Life of ſo many Imperfections; to ſay, we are in a ſtate of Perfection, is a moſt notorious Falſity, and a thing not becoming the Truth and Simplicity of the Chriſtian Religion: But if we acknowledge our Sins before God, and truly repent us of them, God, out of his Faithfulneſs and Juſtice, will, upon our performing thoſe Conditions, make good his Promiſe to us on that behalf in pardoning them; and will keep us clean for the future from any groſs Sin, by granting us the Aſſiſtance of his Holy Spirit, which will confirm and eſtabliſh us in every good work, Rom. 16. 20. 1 Theſſ. 3. 13. 1 Pet. 15. 10. But to pretend to a ſtate of Impeccability, is to give the Lie to God, who has declared all Men to be Sinners, Eccl. 7. 10. Rom. 3. and to Jeſus Chriſt his Word, who will not dwell by his Grace in ſuch vile Hypocrites.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Joh. XXI. 19.

I. Our bleſſed Lord now another time appearing to ſeveral of his Diſciples, near the Sea of Tiberias, and having predicted the Martyrdom of St. Peter, Joh. 21. 18, 19. he bids him however not be diſmayed, at the Pre-apprehenſions of his Sufferings, but to remember the Leſſon he had formerly taught him, Mat. 10. 28. He that doth not take up his Croſs and follow after me, is not worthy of me. Peter, being informed by our bleſſed Lord concerning his own Deſtiny, was willing, in gratification of his Curioſity, to learn, what Fortune in the Evangelical Miniſtry was like to befal the beloved Diſciple John, (who was then juſt by them) and to whom our Saviour was wont to ſhew ſuch a particular reſpect, as to lie next to his ſacred Perſon upon the Couch, at that laſt Supper with his Diſciples, and by whoſe means they addreſſed themſelves to our Lord, to know which of the Diſciples was to be the Traitor. He thought, the future condition of ſuch a beloved Diſciple muſt be very remarkably happy. Therefore he addreſſing himſelf to our Saviour, asked him in this manner: But I pray, Sir, if my End muſt be ſo tragical, what Exit out of the World muſt this beloved Diſciple make? Our Saviour knowing this Queſtion to proceed partly from Curioſity, and partly from ſome little degree of Envy and Diſcontent, at the Preſumption of different Fortunes, to be allotted to thoſe who were equal Attendants on his Perſon; gave an ambiguous Anſwer to what was propoſed to him, and in a way, as carried with it a gentle Rebuke. Suppoſing I do reſerve ſome particular temporal Favour in ſtore for this ſingle Diſciple, as, that he ſhall not what is that to thee? Follow thou me. II. Then went this saying abroad among the brethren, that that disciple should not die: yet Jesus said not unto him, He shall not die; but, if I will that he tarry till I come, what is that to thee? III. This is the disciple which testifieth of these things, and wrote these things, and we know that his testimony is true. And there are also many other things which Jesus did, the which if they should be written every one, I suppose, that even the World it self could not contain the books that should be written.

As this is a matter which does not concern you, so you ought not to be extraordinary sollicitous about it. II. This was the occasion of a Rumour which went about among the first Christians, That this Disciple was not to undergo the common fate of Mortality; but, surviving till our Saviour's coming in Glory, he was to be then translated alive to Heaven: tho' our Saviour's words did not necessarily imply so much; but only being expressed in a dubious manner, gave some Umbrage for such an Opinion. III. Now I John being this Disciple, am the Person who have written this Evangelical History, which every one which reads may esteem it to be of unexceptionable Authority, for it was not taken up from any hear-say Report, at second-hand, but given by myself, who was a Disciple of Christ, and all along an eye-witness of his Life and Actions. Indeed, I have forborn to set down many miraculous Actions, and remarkable Instructions, that occurred during our Saviour's being upon Earth; which truly were so many, as, if recorded at large, would swell my Gospel to so great a bulk, as would render it useless to the generality of the World.

And being now advanced to a ſinleſs ſtate, they continue for ever, as it were an Offering, before the Throne of God, without ſpot or blemiſh.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Matth. II. 13.

I. God Almighty, being willing to defeat the Malice of Herod, admoniſhed Joſeph in a divine Dream, that he, with the bleſſed Virgin his Wife, and the young Child Jeſus, ſhould for a time retire into Egypt, and ſojourn there, where there were many Jewiſh Families, till ſuch time as he had further Orders to come back again into Paleſtine; informing him of the great Rage of Herod, with the occaſion thereof, and that he endeavoured to take-away the Life of the holy Infant. The good Man, in obedience to the divine Commands, left his Lodging in the night, taking advantage thereof to avoid Diſcovery, and purſued his Journey by bye-Roads till he arrived at Egypt, in which Country he lived till Herod died, which was three or four Months afterwards. And then he came back: whereby was a very literal Verification of thoſe words of the Prophet Hoſea 11. 1. Out of Egypt have I called my Son. For Jeſus Chriſt is more properly God's Son than the Jewiſh People, who in that place are called ſo. II. Now King Herod highly reſenting that the Wiſe-men did not return to his Court, was reſolved to revenge the Indignity by an eſpecial Act of Cruelty, and to ſtifle the Glory of the Meſſias (if he was then born) in his Cradle. And therefore gave Order to ſome of his Guards, to go down immediately to Bethlehem, and to cut the Throats of all the Children that did not ſeem to be above two Years old, within that Town and its Suburbs; that they might be ſure not to miſs that famous Infant, of whom the Magi, or Wiſemen, had lately informed him. Which, as it was a diſmal Spectacle to behold, to ſee poor Babes ſnatch'd from their Mothers Breaſts, and murder'd in their ſight; ſo thereby were very truly verified thoſe words of the Prophet, Jer. 31. 15. A voice was heard in Ramah, Lamentation and bitter weeping; Rachel weeping for her children, refuſed to be comforted for her children, becauſe they were not.

The Sunday after CHRISTMAS.

The EPISTLE. GAL. IV. 1.

I. NOW I ſay, that the heir, as long as he is a child, differeth nothing from a ſervant, though he be Lord of all; but is under tutours and governours, until the time appointed of the Father. Even ſo we, when we were children, were in Bondage under the elements of the world: But when the fulneſs of the time was come, God ſent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of ſons. II. And becauſe ye are ſons, God hath ſent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father. Wherefore thou art no more a ſervant, but a ſon; and if a ſon, then an heir of God through Chriſt.

The GOSPEL. S. MAT. I. 18.

I. THE birth of Jeſus Chriſt was on this wiſe: When as his mother Mary was eſpouſed to Joſeph, (before they came together) ſhe was found with child of the Holy Ghoſt. Then Joſeph her husband, being a juſt man, and not willing to make her a publick example, was minded to put her away privily. II. But while he thought on theſe things, behold, the angel of the Lord appeared unto him in a dream, ſaying, Joſeph thou ſon of David, fear not to take unto thee Mary thy Wife; for that which is conceived in her, is of the Holy Ghoſt. And ſhe ſhall bring forth a Son, and thou ſhalt call his name Jeſus; for he ſhall ſave his people from their ſins. (III. Now all this was done, that it might be fulfilled which was ſpoken of the Lord by the prophet, ſaying, Behold, a Virgin ſhall be with child, and ſhall bring forth a Son, and they ſhall call his name Emmanuel, which being interpreted, is, God with us.) Then Joſeph being raiſed from ſleep, did as the angel of the Lord had bidden him, and took unto him his wife: And knew her not till ſhe had brought forth her firſt-born Son, and he called his name Jeſus.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Gal. IV. 1.

I. Now I will convince you of the tranſcendent Excellency of the Chriſtian Diſpenſation, beyond that of the Judaical, by this Similitude. You know, that the eldeſt Son of a Perſon of Eſtate and Family, as long as he is in his Minority, is almoſt in the condition of a Servant; and though, after his Father's Death, he be Lord of the Inheritance, he is as much liable to the Reproof and Correction of his Governours, as the Slaves are to the Command of their Overſeer; till he arrives at ſuch an Age, as that his Father thinks fit to intruſt the Eſtate to his Management. Juſt in the ſame Condition were we, when under the Judaical Law; being in a ſlaviſh Subjection to thoſe carnal, ſenſual Elements, the Moſaical Rites, which we were forced to perform with as much Reluctancy, and with as little underſtanding the drift and meaning thereof, as Children do their Letters. But afterwards, when we grew up, and were capable of more profitable Inſtruction, God Almighty ſent his Son into the World to take upon him our human Nature, and was born a Jew, that he might once for all fulfil the Moſaical Ordinances, and that for the future all his Followers might enjoy a filial Liberty, being freed from the ſlaviſh Subjection to thoſe cumberſom Rites and Ceremonies. II. Now as for you, Galatians, God has adopted you into all the Privileges of Sons, whereby ye are indulged the favour of calling God Father, without undergoing that troubleſom Pupillage, which the Jews are under. Therefore you may very well conclude, that you are not now Slaves to perform the uneaſy Rites of the Law; but, being adopted the Sons of God by your Profeſſion of the Chriſtian Religion, you are Heirs of the Promiſes which are reached out to you in that Diſpenſation, without the fatigue of complying with thoſe Ordinances.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Mat. I. 18.

I. The Particulars, relating to the Birth of our Saviour Chriſt, were in this manner. Mary, his bleſſed Mother, ſolemnly contracted to Joſeph, continued ſtill with her Relations, till the Nuptials were ſolemnized; but in the mean time ſhe was found to be with Child, viz. with a bleſſed Infant which was conceived by the Holy Ghoſt. Joſeph, not being yet acquainted with the myſterious Workings of God's Providence, for the Redemption of Mankind, thought that he had not fair Uſage offered him in the Propoſal of ſuch a Match; but, however, being a merciful Man, and not willing to ſhew his Reſentments of the Indignity, in taking all the Advantages which the rigor of the Moſaical Law allowed in ſuch a caſe; which was, to have the defloured Bride to be made a publick Example, by ſtoning her to death, Deut. 22. 21. therefore he reſolved rather with himſelf, to purſue a more well-natur'd courſe, which was, to put-off the Match, and to paſs-over in ſilence, what had occaſion'd the Alteration of his mind. II. But, whilſt his Thoughts were buſy under this Perplexity, he fell into a divine Trance, when the Angel of God appeared to him, comforting him under his preſent Vexation, bidding him not to entertain any ill Thoughts of the Integrity of the Virgin he was contracted to, nor to obtain a Nullity of the Contract, as he ſeemed moſt inclined to, not fearing to take her home to him as a Wife; for though ſhe was with Child, yet it did not proceed from any unlawful Commixture, but from the Overſhadowing of the Holy Spirit of God, by whom ſhe was impregnated after a very miraculous manner; and that ſhe, though a Virgin, ſhould in a ſhort time be delivered of a Son, whoſe Name muſt be called Jeſus, or Saviour, becauſe he was to ſave the World by obtaining Pardon for their Sins, and by purchaſing eternal Happineſs, for all that believe on him, and obey his Commands. III. Now herein was moſt eminently fulfilled that ancient Prediction of the Prophet Iſaiah, Chap. 7. 18. Behold, a Virgin ſhall conceive and bear a Son, and ſhall call his name Immanuel; which Name ſignifies God with us. So Joſeph, when he roſe from Sleep, took care to perform the Injunction, which God, by his Angel, had laid upon him, taking home to his Houſe his contracted Spouſe: and though he cohabited with her all along, till ſhe was delivered of her firſt Child, who was called Jeſus, he had no carnal cognizance of her.

(k) The * Circumciſion of Chriſt.

The COLLECT.

ALmighty God, who madeſt thy bleſſed Son to be circumciſed, and obedient to the law for Man; Grant us the true circumciſion of the Spirit, that our hearts and all our Members being mortified from all worldly and carnal luſts, we may in all things obey thy bleſſed will, through the ſame thy Son Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

The EPISTLE. ROM. IV. 8.

I. BLeſſed is the man to whom the Lord will not impute ſin. Cometh this Bleſſedneſs then upon the circumciſion only, or upon the uncircumciſion alſo? For we ſay, that faith was reckoned to Abraham for righteouſneſs. II. How was it then reckoned? when he was in circumciſion, or in uncircumciſion? not in circumciſion, but in uncircumciſion. And he received the ſign of circumciſion, a ſeal of the righteouſneſs of the faith, which he had yet being uncircumciſed; that he might be the father of all them that believe, though they be not circumciſed; that righteouſneſs might be imputed unto them alſo: And the Father of circumciſion, to them who are not of the circumciſion only, but alſo walk in the ſteps of that faith of our father Abraham, which he had being yet uncircumciſed. III. For the promiſe, that he ſhould be the heir of the world, was not to Abraham or to his ſeed, through the law, but through the righteouſneſs of faith. For if they which are of the law be heirs, faith is made void, and the promiſe made of none effect.

(k) This Feaſt is celebrated by the Church, to commemorate the active Obedience of Jeſus Chriſt in fulfilling all Righteouſneſs, which is one Branch of the meritorious Cauſe of our Redemption; and by that means abrogating the ſevere Injunctions of the Moſaical Eſtabliſhment, and putting us under the eaſier Terms of the Goſpel. This Feaſt is older than St. Bernard's time, who has ſome Homilies upon it.

O Almighty God, who didſt cauſe thy bleſſed Son to undergo the troubleſom Rite of Circumciſion, that he might fulfil the Law of Moſes, and all Righteouſneſs, Matt. 5. 17. Grant us the true Circumciſion of the heart, in the Spirit, and not in the Letter, Rom. 2. 29. that our hearts and all our members may be mortified, Col. 3. 5. and weaned from the fleſhly luſts which war againſt our ſouls, 1 Pet. 2. 11. and that in ſtead of obeying our Luſts, we may perform a perfect and compleat Obedience to all the will of God, 1 Theſſ. 3. 12. And this we pray for, for the ſake of Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Rom. IV. 8.

I. It is a very juſt Obſervation that of the holy Pſalmiſt, Bleſſed is the man unto whom the Lord imputeth not iniquity, Pſalm 32. 6. i. e. whom God, by pardoning his Offences, does not reckon as a Sinner. Now, from this Paſſage we may draw ſome Conſequences, worthy our Conſideration. And let me ask you a Queſtion: Do you think this Happineſs which Men enjoy, by having their Sins forgiven, and by being in favour with God, to be entailed only upon the Jews, as I know many of you do; or may not the believing Gentiles put in, likewiſe, for their Claim therein? If the Example of Abraham be of any weight in this Queſtion, as you all think it is; that does entirely make againſt your Opinion: For, God not only pardon'd Abraham's Sins, but held him for a righteous Man, and in great favour with himſelf, when he had nothing but a ſincere Belief in God, and moral Vertue, to recommend him. For 'tis ſaid expreſly, Gen. 15. 6. And he believed in the Lord, and it was counted to him for righteouſneſs. II. Now I pray let us conſider, at what time God was pleaſed to make this honourable account of Abraham; Was it before or after his Circumciſion? Why, this was many Years before he underwent that Rite, and which indeed was not ſo much as enjoined him till the hundredth Year of his Age: And then, 'tis true, he did receive the Mark of Circumciſion in his Body, which however did not entitle him to any new Favour with God; but only was a Seal or Earneſt of God's Favour to him, to which he was recommended by his Faith and Piety before he did partake of Circumciſion: So that this Example of Abraham is equally of great Uſe and Comfort both to Jews and Gentiles, he being the common Father to both. His Faith before his Circumciſion has made him the ſpiritual Father to the Gentiles, who have Righteouſneſs imputed to them, and are in favour with God (as Abraham was) without Circumciſion. Nay, he is not only the carnal, but the ſpiritual Father of the Jews likewiſe, if ſo be they be Imitators of his Faith by believing in Chriſt Jeſus. III. For when God made that great Promiſe to Abraham, that in him ſhould all the Families of the earth be bleſſed, Gen. 12. 3. this was not fulfilled by the Judaical Law, which is confined only to that ſingle Nation, but by the Faith of Chriſtians, who are to overſpread all the World by their Doctrine, and of whom Abraham, by his unſhaken Belief in God, was the ſpiritual Father. But if you will confine this Promiſe only to the Jewiſh Religion, you undervalue that noble Faith of the Patriarch, which was much more conſiderable than his undergoing the Rite of Circumciſion; and beſides, you leſſen the Extent of the Promiſe, which reaches to all Mankind, confining it only to one People.

I. AND it came to paſs, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the ſhepherds ſaid one to another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and ſee this thing which is come to paſs, which the Lord hath made known unto us. And they came with haſte, and found Mary and Joſeph, and the babe lying in a Manger. II. And when they had ſeen it, they made known abroad the ſaying which was told them concerning this child. And all they that heard it, wonder'd at thoſe things which were told them by the ſhepherds. But Mary kept all theſe things, and pondered them in her heart. And the ſhepherds returned, glorifying and praiſing God for all the things that they had heard and ſeen, as it was told unto them. III. I. In the Night wherein our Saviour was born, ſeveral Shepherds, who in the neighbouring Fields of Bethlehem were watching over their Flocks to keep them from wild Beaſts or Robbers, had a Viſion of Angels appeared to them, which informed them of the Birth of the Meſſias that Night, and ſung an heavenly Hymn in their hearing: which when they had finiſhed, and viſibly before them aſcended up into Heaven, the Shepherds, (after ſome ſhort Debate had among themſelves, and being fully ſatisfied of the Truth of the Revelation) came to a Reſolution of going into the Town of Bethlehem, to be themſelves Eye-witneſſes of what God had, in ſo wonderful a manner, revealed to them: Whither they came with all ſpeed, the Wonderfulneſs of the Occurrence haſtening them forwards; and in the Stable of a certain Inn of the Town, they found Mary, and Joſeph, and the new-born Child laid in a Manger, or Stone-Trough in which Cattle uſed to feed, in ſtead of a Bed. II. And when they found that all things were agreeable to the Information they had received of the Angels, they told the Particulars of this moſt extraordinary Occurrence, in all places they came into: which occaſioned a great degree of Admiration in all that heard it, the honeſt Simplicity of the Shepherds affording the greater credit to the Relation. But though many which heard it ſoon forgot it, when the Novelty of the Story was over; yet Mary frequently revolved in her mind all the Particulars of theſe miraculous Adventures, and bent her Thoughts cloſely to conſider, what great Deſign they were all driving at. The Shepherds likewiſe returned from Bethlehem, praiſing God for theſe Manifeſtations to them; and not only for what they themſelves had ſeen, but alſo for what they had heard from Mary and Joſeph. III. And when the Child was eight days old, according to the Precept which God had given to their Predeceſſor Abraham, Geneſis 17. 10. he was circumciſed, and had the Name of Jeſus given him, (Circumciſion being the time when Names were impoſed among the Jews,) according to the Command which was delivered by the Angel to the bleſſed Virgin, before her Conception, Luke 1. 31.

(l) Epiphany.] The Church celebrates this Feaſt, to ſhew our Gratitude to God in manifeſting the Goſpel to the Gentile World, and vouchſafing to them equal Privileges with the Jews, who had been all along his peculiar People. The firſt Inſtance of this divine Favour was, in declaring the Birth of Chriſt to the Wiſe-men of the Eaſt, Matt. 2. 9. The ancient Church called this Feaſt Ἐπιφάνεια, or, The Appearance or Manifeſtation; and was the common Name for this and for Chriſtmas-day. And as that was the greater, this was the leſſer Epiphany. This Feſtival was obſerved in the time of Nazianzen, whoſe Sermon upon the holy Lights, is upon this Day. Epiphanius and Chryſoſtom have likewiſe Sermons upon it. Saint Auſtin, in his time, ſpeaks of it as univerſally celebrated by the Catholick Church, and neglected by none but the Schiſmatical Donatiſts. Aug. de Temp. Serm. 32.

I. FOR this cauſe, I Paul, the priſoner of Jeſus Chriſt for you Gentiles; if ye have heard of the diſpenſation of the grace of God, which is given me to you-ward: How that by revelation he made known unto me the myſtery (as I wrote afore in few words, whereby when ye read ye may underſtand my knowledge in the myſtery of Chriſt) which in other ages was not made known unto the ſons of men, as it is now revealed unto his holy Apoſtles and Prophets by the Spirit; That the Gentiles ſhould be fellow-heirs, and of the ſame body, and partakers of his promiſe in Chriſt, by the Goſpel: II. Whereof I was made a miniſter, according to the gift of the grace of God given unto me by the effectual working of his power. Unto me, who am leſs than the leaſt of all ſaints, is this grace given, that I ſhould preach among the Gentiles the unſearchable riches of Chriſt; and to make all men ſee, what is the fellowſhip of the myſtery, which from the beginning of the world hath been hid in God, who created all things by Jeſus Chriſt: III. To the intent that now unto the principalities and powers in heavenly places, might be known by the Church the manifold wiſdom of God, according to the eternal purpoſe which he purpoſed in Chriſt Jeſus our Lord. In whom we have boldneſs, and acceſs with confidence by the faith of him.

The GOSPEL. S. MATTH. II. 1.

I. WHen Jeſus was born in Bethlehem of Judea, in the days of Herod the king, behold, there came wiſe-men from the Eaſt to Jeruſalem, ſaying, Where is he that is born king of the Jews? for we have ſeen his ſtar in the eaſt, and are come to worſhip him. When Herod the King had heard theſe things, he was troubled, and all Jeruſalem with him. II. And when he had gathered all the chief prieſts and ſcribes of the people together; he demanded of them, where Chriſt ſhould be born.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Eph. III. 1.

I. It is upon account of the Goſpel preached to you Gentiles, that I Paul am a Chriſtian Confeſſor, and a Bondſman, for my dear Maſter Jeſus Chriſt's ſake. For I ſuppoſe, you muſt needs have heard of the divine Commiſſion which was in a peculiar manner granted to me, to be the chief Apoſtle of the Uncircumciſion, as Peter was of the Circumciſion, Gal. 2. 8. and that the great Myſtery, which was concealed from ſo many Generations of our Jewiſh Predeceſſors, concerning God's Manifeſtation of himſelf to the Gentiles, was made known to me by a particular Revelation, (as I hinted to you before in this Epiſtle, Chap. I. and II.) which when you read, you cannot but be convinced, that this is a very ſurprizing Diſpenſation of God's Providence, which former Ages could never have thought of; or, if it were predicted by ancient Prophecies, they were not rightly underſtood, it being a thing ſo contrary to the Expectation of the Jews, and the common Notions which they had imbibed. But, as incredible as formerly it might ſeem, it is now very clear, through the late Revelations made to the Apoſtles, which, compared with the Predictions of the ancient Prophets, have ſo plainly illuſtrated them, that it is a matter out of diſpute, That the Gentiles are to be admitted Members of Chriſt's Church, as well as the Jews; and, That they have an equal Title with them, to inherit thoſe glorious Rewards which are promiſed by the Goſpel. II. 'Tis this Goſpel that I am a Miniſter of; and, thanks to the divine Aſſiſtance which enables me to go through my Work, and bleſſes my Endeavours with great Succeſſes; I am able to give a good account of my Stewardſhip: For, as mean an Apoſtle as I am, (and indeed I muſt confeſs my ſelf inferior to the reſt, my Character being much blemiſhed by my Perſecution of the Chriſtians before my Converſion,) yet I cannot but value myſelf in this, that God has been pleaſed to afford me this honourable Diſpenſation, of diſcovering to the Gentile World the ineſtimable Treaſures of the Chriſtian Religion; I being made the happy Inſtrument, of unfolding a Myſtery to a great part of the World, where I have preached the Goſpel, which in many of its Circumſtances had always been a Secret known only to God himſelf, who is the Creator of all things, not by the Aſſiſtance of Angels, but by the operative Power of his eternal Word, which is Jeſus Chriſt. III. So that now all the Orders of the Angelick Beings are come to underſtand the wonderful Contrivances of God, in his Diſpenſations towards his Church on earth, in relation to which they were in the dark before, notwithſtanding their extraordinary natural Sagacity; which Diſpenſations, as they were manifeſted in their due time, ſo they were from all Eternity decreed by the divine Wiſdom, in order to bring-about the Redemption of the World by Jeſus Chriſt.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Matth. II. 1.

I. Some conſiderable time after our bleſſed Lord was born in Bethlehem, a Town in Judea, Herod the Great being King of the Jews; who though raiſed to that Government, was of foreign Extraction, and for that reaſon much hated of the People, and he again as jealous of them; ſeveral Magi, or Philoſophers, of ſome of the Eaſtern parts which lay nigheſt to Judea, probably of Arabia, (which Country had its Magi, as well as the Perſians,) came to Jeruſalem. The Reaſon of their coming there was, that That being the Metropolis of the Country, they might better enquire where to find the Meſſias, who, from ancient Tradition, which obtained all over the Eaſt, were ſatisfied was to be King of the Jews, and to have all the World put under his Dominion; being likewiſe perſuaded that he was at that time actually born, ſomewhere or other, in that Country. Therefore they prayed the Inhabitants of the Town to diſcover to them the Place which this illuſtrious Infant had graced by his Birth; ſignifying to them, that they had not made a frivolous Journey thither without any ground, but that having diſcovered a new Star's appearance in ſuch a Quarter of the Heavens, as by the Rules of their Art they thought had relation to Judea, they could not but be of opinion, that this Star did accompany the Birth of this Great Prince: And that having learned the place of his Birth, they ſhould forthwith apply themſelves to pay their Reſpects, which were due to ſo Auguſt an Infant in his Cradle. This Report quickly reach'd Herod's Palace, and put him into a new Fit of Jealouſy, he fearing thereby ſome Diſturbance to his Government; the People themſelves too being in no little pain, as dreading ſome new Effects of their Prince's Cruelty, to ariſe from this Accident. II. Upon this, King Herod ſummons an Aſſembly of the moſt conſiderable of the Sacerdotal Race, and ſome of the principal Doctors of the Laws, who by their Profeſſion and Learning, he judged to be moſt expert in the Points of the Jewiſh Religion, whereof he took the Doctrine of the Coming of the Meſſias to be one. This Convention being met, he puts to them this Queſtion; What was born. And they ſaid unto him, In Bethlehem of Judea: For thus it is written by the Prophet, And thou Bethlehem in the land of Juda, art not the leaſt among the princes of Juda: For out of thee ſhall come a Governour that ſhall rule my people Iſrael. Then Herod when he had privily called the wiſe-men, enquired of them diligently what time the ſtar appeared. And he ſent them to Bethlehem, and ſaid, Go, and ſearch diligently for the young child, and when ye have found him, bring me word again, that I may come and worſhip him alſo. When they had heard the king, they departed, and lo, the ſtar which they ſaw in the eaſt went before them, till it came and ſtood over where the young child was. When they ſaw the ſtar, they rejoyced with exceeding great joy. III. And when they were come into the houſe, they ſaw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down and worſhipped him: And when they had opened their treaſures, they preſented unto him gifts, gold, and frankincenſe, and myrrhe. And being warned of God in a dream, that they ſhould not return to Herod, they departed into their own country another way.

I. I Beſeech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye preſent your bodies a living ſacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reaſonable ſervice. II. And be not conformed to this world; but be ye transformed by the renewing was the Place, that, according to their Prophecies or Traditions, they expected Chriſt ſhould be born at? To this they returned an unanimous Anſwer; At Bethlehem: Grounding their Opinion on that famous Prophecy, Mich. 5. 2. And thou Bethlehem in the land of Judah, &c. This moved Herod to the Deſire of having himſelf a perſonal Conference with the Magi: Thus ſending for them to his Court, he made a nice Enquiry, How long ago it was ſince this portentous Star, which had made ſuch a noiſe, appeared? They ſatisfying him in this and other Circumſtances, which his Curioſity or Jealouſy might prompt him to ſearch into; he bid them purſue their Journey to Bethlehem, which was the likelieſt place to find this new Prince: and when they had gotten notice of him, to ſend him word thereof; and then he would be as officious in paying his Worſhip to him, as they had been. To Bethlehem they ſet forwards: and it growing duskiſh before they had finiſhed their Journey, they had a ſight again of the Star, or at leaſt of one which appeared in the ſame Quarter of the Heavens as that which they had ſeen in their own Country; which now ſeemed to move before them, and to guide them to the particular Houſe where the Infant Jeſus lay: Which was no inconſiderable Satisfaction to theſe Religious Heathens, who had come ſo far to pay a pious Reſpect to the Meſſias. III. Being admitted into the Houſe, (which probably was not the Inn wherein he was born, but ſome other Houſe in the Town, which Joſeph had taken after the Cenſus was over,) they had their Curioſities gratified in beholding this famous Infant, paying him the Honour of Proſtration, which is the Aſiatick way of addreſſing to Princes; making him a Preſent of the Produce of their Country, Gold, Frankincenſe, and Myrrh. But God perſuaded them, in a Dream which he ſent to them, not to go back to Herod's Court, but to purſue their Journey to their own Country; not by way of Jeruſalem, but by a different Road which leads directly from Bethlehem. And by this means the crafty Cruelty of Herod was, for this time, diſappointed.

O Lord, We beſeech thee, of thy infinite mercy, to hear the Prayers of thy People, which call upon thee in the publick Prayers of the Church, and grant us ſuch a meaſure of Faith and Chriſtian Knowledge, Rom. 12. 3. that we may both know our Duty, and diligently practiſe the ſame. PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Rom. XII. 1.

I. Since therefore Salvation is not to be attained but by the Goſpel, as I have proved to you before; I now come to exhort you to a diſcharge of the Precepts of it. And I beſeech you, by all the Regards which you owe to the unſpeakable Mercies of God, in procuring you theſe Benefits, that, ſince you are under ſo much better an Eccleſiaſtical OEconomy than before, you do not content yourſelves with offering up to God the groſs Sacrifices of Bulls and Goats, as under the Law; but to offer up yourſelves, not a ſlain but a living Sacrifice to God, by a conſcientious Diſcharge of your Duties in all Particulars, which will be more acceptable to God than thoſe external Rites are; becauſe ſuch a Service as this is more agreeable to Reaſon, and more becoming rational Creatures. II. Do not you adapt your Converſation to the wicked Cuſtoms of this World, which your natural Affections may be hankering after; but rather, give a new Turn to thoſe Affections, by mortifying and ſubduing them, according to the Rules of your Holy Religion; that you may experience, and have newing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect will of God. III. For I say, through the grace given unto me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think, but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith. For as we have many members in one body, and all members have not the same office; so we being many are one body in Christ, and every one members one of another.

The GOSPEL. S. LUK. II. 41.

I. NOW his parents went to Jerusalem every year at the feast of the passover. And when he was twelve years old, they went up to Jerusalem, after the custom of the feast. And when they had fulfilled the days, as they returned, the child Jesus tarried behind in Jerusalem, and Joseph and his mother knew not of it. II. But they supposing him to have been in the company, went a days journey, and they sought him among their kinsfolk and acquaintance. And when they found him not, they turned back again to Jerusalem, seeking him. And it came to pass, that after three days they found him in the temple, sitting in the midst of the Doctors, both hearing them, and asking them questions. And all that heard him were astonished at his understanding and answers. III. And when they saw him, they were amazed: and his mother said unto him, Son, why hast thou thus dealt with us? behold thy father and I have sought thee sorrowing. And he said unto them, How is it, that ye sought me? wist ye not that I must be about my fathers business? And they understood not the saying which he spake unto them. IV. And he went down with them, and came to Nazareth, and was subject unto them: but his mother kept all these sayings in her heart. And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature, and in favour with God and man.

have a just Taste of Christian Goodness, and may come to know the true Excellence of the Gospel; how much more acceptable to God it is, and to how much greater a degree of Perfection it is raised, than those ancient Dispensations of the Mosaical Law were. III. But one thing I must particularly enjoin you, by virtue of the Apostolical Authority which by the Grace of God I am vested with; and that is, not to have an over-weening Opinion of your peculiar Endowments: But let every Man, though of the greatest Qualifications in spiritual matters, be modest and humble under them; for God, according to his exact Wisdom, has afforded every one a proper measure of spiritual Gifts. All which he has designed for the Good of his Church, whereof there are divers Members, which, (as in the Body-natural,) have their distinct Offices. For the Church, which is Christ's mystical Body, being made up of particular Christians as its integral parts; every Member, though of lesser dignity, does impart its Assistance to all the rest; neither can they tolerably subsist, without the concurrence of the most inconsiderable part.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Luk. II. 41.

I. It must be observed, that Joseph and Mary, being devout Persons, and ready to observe all the Injunctions of the Mosaical Laws, particularly that great one of the Passover, went up every Year to Jerusalem to keep that solemn Feast. And Jesus himself, being then twelve Years old, of a competent Age to perform the legal Injunctions, went along with them; to comply with the Customs of his Country-Religion, which were used in the Celebration of that Solemnity. Now, when they had in due manner performed the Rites and Devotion they were obliged to, staying there so many days as were ordinarily usual, (viz. 7. that they might have the Benefit of one Sabbath-day's Devotion) they were returning home to their own Country; but Jesus tarried behind in Jerusalem, which Joseph and Mary knew nothing of. II. For, though they did not see him, yet they presumed that he was upon the Way in some other Company, which were in great numbers at that time going home. And thinking it probable, he was joined in Company with some of their Relations, or Towns-people, whom he was acquainted with, they enquired for him of all these, as they saw them upon the Road; but not receiving any Tidings of him from any of them, they were resolved to turn back to Jerusalem, in further search of him. Three days they were in quest of him, though in vain; but at last they found him in one of the Portico's of the Temple, where the Doctors of the Law held a Meeting for Resolving Doubts which had arisen in the Observation of the Laws, and where Lectures were read for the explaining of difficult Passages therein. And here he not only heard what was dictated by these learned Rabbies to their Scholars; but proposed to them himself such great and difficult Questions, as put all their Learning and Subtilty to the plunge to answer: Insomuch that all who were present were under no little a degree of Surprize, to find so young a Child urge Objections with so great a force, and to answer others proposed to him, with so much Solidity. III. Joseph and Mary seeing him in a place where they could never have suspected to find him, were as full of Wonder as those who had heard him speak; and Mary, making use of her Motherly Authority over him, gave him this gentle Rebuke: Why have you, Son, dealt so unkindly by us, in withdrawing yourself from us, without our Consent and Knowledge? You could not be unsensible, what great care and pain we have been in, all this time, since we have missed you. But Jesus gave them this Reply: I am sorry indeed for your Trouble, my dear Parents; but you must consider, that it is in some measure owing to yourselves, in seeking after me in places where you could not reasonably expect to find me: If you had come to the Temple at first, you might have found me there; for you ought to have considered, that I must do the Business of my Father, a Father whose Authority is greater over me than that of yours. But this Expression was not fully understood by them, till afterwards. IV. So he went down with them to Nazareth, where Joseph and Mary dwelt, and remained in all dutiful Subjection to them, as is required in a natural Child to its Parents. But Mary took particular notice of this, and many other of his Expressions, frequently ruminating upon them; though she did not perfectly understand the great Points to which they were directed. And as the Body of Jesus was encreased by Growth, so the Powers of his rational Soul were improved and enlarged by Experience; his moral Vertues, and great Piety, rendring him every day more and more dear, both to God and Man.

I. Since it has pleaſed God to endow us Chriſtians with variety of ſpiritual Gifts, which he has ſeverally imparted to all or moſt of us, let us take care to exerciſe them with the moſt exact degree of Prudence. If he has honoured us with the Gift of Prophecy, whether it be in the more extraordinary way of predicting future Events, or, what is more common, in the explaining Scripture; let it not run out into the maintaining any falſe or humourſome Doctrines, but take care to advance nothing but what is agreeable to the Analogy of the Faith, and the indubitable Maxims of the Chriſtian Religion, which we have received from our bleſſed Lord. If we be called to any of the Miniſterial Offices, whether it be of Biſhop, Prieſt, or Deacon, let us diligently do our Duty in thoſe ſeveral Functions. If we be Teachers or Catechiſts, let us uſe our utmoſt Endeavours, in informing the Novices of Chriſtianity in the Fundamentals of our Holy Religion. If we have a Talent in powerful exhorting and perſuading to moral Duties and a holy Life, let us painfully attend to this likewiſe. If any of us be bleſſed with more plentiful Circumſtances, whereby they are enabled to be liberal to the Poor, let them beſtow their Charity with entire and direct Intentions, not out of Pride or Vanity, or grudgingly. Whoever is of any ſuperior Order in the Clergy, let him lay out his pains in well-governing thoſe he has Inſpection over. And whoſoever's Province it is to viſit the Sick, and to adminiſter to their Wants, let him be very tender-hearted in that Adminiſtration, and let him not be provoked by any Peeviſhneſs or Diſcontent, which their Indiſpoſitions may make them ſubject to. II. Let your Love to your Brethren be, not in a feigned complemental Strain, in the way of the World; but hearty and undiſſembled. Endeavour to beget in yourſelves a perfect Abhorrence and Antipathy to all Vice and Wickedneſs; and to bring your Souls to ſuch a cloſe Union with Vertue, as if it were glued and cemented to them, and that your vertuous Habits may by no means be ſeparated therefrom. Let your Brotherly-love be ſuch as does ariſe not only from a political Union, but as it were from natural Affection, like that vehement Tendency and Yearning which Parents find in themſelves towards their Children. Not exalting your own Abilities, nor depreciating thoſe of others; but rather, giving the Deference to other Mens Qualifications. When ye have any Buſineſs to tranſact for your Neighbour, do it with Diſpatch and Readineſs; nor yet be ſluggiſh or negligent in managing your own Affairs. Let us be actuated in all laudable Enterprizes by a noble Zeal, which may as it were boil up in our Souls, and carry us on with an Impetus and Force, towards a good Deſign. Not ſerving ourſelves and our own Ends, but the Honour of our Lord and Maſter Chriſt. Pleaſing ourſelves not with any Satisfactions which we may find in this World, but only with the glorious Expectations of a better. Being patient under thoſe Afflictions which it ſhall pleaſe God to lay upon us; perſevering in a conſtant begging of God's Bleſſing upon us; cheerfully entertaining Strangers according to the beſt of our Abilities. III. Endeavour to follow our Lord's Precept in praying for your Perſecutors; for, to curſe your Enemies, as the Jews and the Heathens do, is a Diſgrace to your Chriſtian Profeſſion. Be glad for any Advantage which accrues to your Brethren, and condole with them when they are under any Misfortune. Endeavour, as much as may be, to agree in the ſame Sentiments, or however, be ſure not to quarrel upon difference of Opinion. Do not regard and value the Honours and Riches of this World; but eſteem and honour good Men, though never ſo mean in their Circumſtances.

His mother ſaith unto the ſervants, Whatſoever he ſaith unto you, do it. II. And there were ſet there ſix water-pots of ſtone, after the manner of the purifying of the Jews, containing two or three firkins apiece. Jeſus ſaith unto them, Fill the water-pots with water. And they filled them up to the brim. And he ſaith unto them, Draw out now and bear unto the governour of the feaſt. And they bare it. When the ruler of the feaſt had taſted the water that was made wine, and knew not whence it was, (but the ſervants which drew the water knew) the Governour of the Feaſt called the Bridegroom, and ſaith unto him, Every man at the beginning doth ſet forth good wine, and when men have well drunk, then that which is worſe: but thou haſt kept the good wine until now. III. This beginning of miracles did Jeſus in Cana of Galilee, and manifeſted forth his glory, and his diſciples believed on him.

I. It came to paſs, that three days after Jeſus had come out of Judea into Galilee, there was a Marriage-Feaſt kept in the Houſe of one of his Relations, probably of Cleopas, the Huſband of the Virgin Mary's Siſter, who lived at Cana of Galilee, John 19. 25. called ſo in oppoſition to another Cana, which was called Cana of the Sidonians. Now there was in the Houſe at the ſame time, the Virgin Mary, who after her Husband Joſeph's Deceaſe, 'tis thought, lived in the Houſe with her Siſter. Jeſus being not far off in the ſame Country, was invited to the Entertainment, together with thoſe five Diſciples, Peter, Andrew, &c. who had lately profeſſed themſelves to be his Followers. The Company now being more than was at firſt expected when the Proviſion was made, there began to be a Scarcity of Wine before the Entertainment was over. This being obſerved by the Virgin Mary, who living in the Family took off ſome Care from her Siſter in the Management of it, ſhe applies herſelf to our bleſſed Lord her Son, telling him of the Strait they were in, and that too in ſuch a manner, as if ſhe deſired he ſhould ſupply their preſent Wants by a Miracle. Our Saviour deſires her not to importune him in a matter of that nature, which he was to work for nobler Ends than thoſe, which ſhe at that time ſeemed to be moſt concern'd for; giving her however ſome hopes, that ſomething might be done, when there was a proper time for it. The bleſſed Virgin gueſſing by this, that he would, ſome way or other, before the Entertainment was over, in an extraordinary manner, provide them a Supply; bids the Waiters punctually to diſcharge whatever Commands, he ſhould be pleaſed to lay upon them. II. Now there were at that time placed in the Room of Entertainment ſix great Jars of Water, containing many Gallons apiece, which the Jews made uſe of in their legal Purifications, for waſhing their Hands and their Cups: Part of this being drawn-off for the forementioned uſes, Jeſus bids them to fill them up again; which they did, till they were ready to run-over. Now, ſays he, draw out from one of the Jars into a Cup, and preſent it to the Governour, or the Perſon who has the care of keeping Rules of Decency in the Entertainment: Which when they had done, and the Governour had taſted what excellent Wine it was, not knowing that it was miraculouſly changed from Water, (the Servants only as yet being conſcious of this Miracle) deſired to ſpeak with the Bridegroom, to complement him for this Reſerve of curious Wine, which he at laſt entertained them with: telling him, that he had very handſomly broken through a common though a bad Cuſtom, of beginning an Entertainment with good Wine, and afterwards ſerving in bad, when they began to grow cheerful. But you (ſays he) have very nobly provided for us, not only good Wine all the time, but have at laſt entertained us with ſuch a rich and delicious Wine, as we never drank of the like before. III. This firſt Miracle which Jeſus did in Cana of Galilee, was a wonderful Proof of his being the Meſſias who was expected; and gain'd him the Reputation of a Prophet, even greater than Moſes, who by his Miracle in cleaving the Rock at Rephidim, made his Followers drink of Water only; but our Saviour miraculouſly entertained his Followers with Wine. And this likewiſe was a great ſtrengthening of the Faith of his five Diſciples, Andrew, Peter, &c. who before (as is related Chap. I.) believed on him as the Meſſias.

And Jeſus ſaith unto him, See thou tell no man, but go thy way, ſhew thy ſelf to the prieſt, and offer the gift that Moſes commanded for a teſtimony unto them. II. And when Jeſus was entred into Capernaum, there came unto him a centurion beſeeching him, and ſaying, Lord my ſervant lieth at home ſick of the palſie, grievouſly tormented. And Jeſus ſaith unto him, I will come and heal him. The centurion anſwered and ſaid, Lord I am not worthy that thou ſhouldeſt come under my roof; but ſpeak the word only and my ſervant ſhall be healed. For I am a man under authority, having ſoldiers under me: and I ſay unto this man, Go, and he goeth; and to another, Come, and he cometh; and to my ſervant, Do this, and he doth it. III. I. Be not elated with an over-weening opinion of your own Underſtandings; which is the worſt degree of Folly. Do not take the Advantage which the Jewiſh Law allows, to retaliate one Injury ſuſtained by doing another; but let your Converſation be ſo innocent and inoffenſive, as all Men may praiſe and extol your Religion for it. Endeavour to live in good Correſpondence and Friendſhip with all Perſons; but if, thro' the Perverſeneſs of ſome Perſons Tempers, that cannot be, but that Men will be, without any juſt cauſe, your Enemies; be ye, however, Friends to them. II. But eſpecially, my dear Chriſtian Brethren, I beſeech you, not to let your Reſentments conceived for any Injury received, proceed ſo far as for you yourſelves to take Revenge upon your Adverſaries for it. For this is invading the Prerogative of God, who has declared, That to him belongeth Vengeance and Recompence, Deut. 32. 35. he by virtue of his ſovereign Authority over us, reſerving that Power to himſelf, which he does not allow our Fellow-Servants to exerciſe over one another, unleſs deriving their Authority from him: But, on the contrary, give way to the impetuous Anger of your Adverſaries, and break the force of their Fury by yeilding to it. Nay, you muſt go farther than this: for, whenever your Enemy is under any extreme Want, you muſt relieve his Neceſſities, and do him any Act of Kindneſs which it is in your Power to do: And by this Method you will at laſt melt him down into Goodneſs, as Refiners make their Metals run by laying heaps of burning Charcoal upon them. Don't let your Patience be tired-out by the repeated Injuries, which ſhall be offered you; but, by doing Good-turns for ill Offices, make your Enemies both wearied and aſhamed of injuring you any more.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Mat. VIII. 1.

I. Our bleſſed Lord being deſcended from the Mount of Olives, where he preached his longeſt and moſt excellent Sermon, great numbers of the People, who had followed him unto the Mountain to hear his Doctrine, did ſtill continue to accompany him. And as he was paſſing along, a leprous Perſon, who happened to meet him upon the Road, threw himſelf down at his feet; declaring, that it was his ſtedfaſt Belief, that he was ſo great a Prophet, and endowed with ſuch a ſhare of the Divine Power, that if he pleaſed, he had Ability ſufficient to free him from that loathſom Diſtemper. But our bleſſed Lord, not ſuffering any illegal Uncleanneſs to hinder him from exerciſing ſo great an Act of Charity, touched his Fleſh with his Hand, uſing the Imperative Stile, proper to the Omnipotence which he was veſted with, and ſaid, Be thou clean, and he was clean; the Leproſy immediately leaving him thereupon. With that he bid him keep the miraculous way of his Curing as private as he could, and preſent himſelf before the Prieſt, offering up that Sacrifice, and undergoing thoſe Rites which Moſes in his Law, Levit. xiv. has commanded, as a Teſtimony to be obſerved by the Jews. II. After that, our Saviour went to Capernaum, a Maritime Town upon the Sea of Tiberias; where he was no ſooner arrived, but a religious Centurion, a Proſelyte to the Jewiſh Religion, and who had built them a Synagogue at his own Expence, came to him, deſiring his Aſſiſtance in curing his Servant, who lay ſick at his Houſe under a Paralytick Diſtemper, accompanied with very acute Pains and Convulſions. Our Saviour, in Compliance with his Deſires, or rather going beyond them, tells him, That he would immediately go to his Houſe, and heal his Servant. But the good Man, in great humility, declares, That he, being a Perſon of Heathen Extraction, was not worthy of having ſo great an Honour done him, as that a Perſon of ſuch extraordinary Sanctity as our Lord was, ſhould come to his Houſe, which even the Phariſees, and ordinary Jews, avoided, for fear of being defiled: But that if he was pleas'd only to give Order, though at a diſtance, that his Servant ſhould be cured of the Diſeaſe which he laboured under; he doubted not but that he ſhould forthwith be freed from it. For, continues he, if ſuch a Perſon as myſelf, who am endowed with but an ordinary and ſecular Authority over my Soldiers and Servants, can bid one go to that place, and he goes as I command; and bid another come to me, and he comes as I order him; who can command my Servant, and he immediately doth any Action which I enjoin him; moſt certainly a Perſon endowed with that Plenitude of Power which my Lord Jeſus is, can have his Command fulfilled in whatſoever he will. III. Our bleſſed Lord hearing this, ſhewed ſome Signs of Admiration at it, as an Inſtance of a ſingular degree of Faith; declaring, that he had not only not found a Parallel to it among Heathens and Proſelytes, but not ſo much as among the Jews themſelves. And indeed (ſays he) ſuch good Perſons, though they are not born within the ordinary that many ſhall come from the eaſt and weſt, and ſhall ſit down with Abraham and Iſaac, and Jacob in the kingdom of heaven. But the children of the kingdom ſhall be caſt out into outer darkneſs: there ſhall be weeping and gnaſhing of teeth. And Jeſus ſaid unto the centurion, Go thy way, and as thou haſt believed, ſo be it done unto thee. And his ſervant was healed in the ſelf ſame hour.

PARAPHRASE on the COLLECT for the fourth Sunday after Epiphany.

O Lord, who knoweſt us to be placed in the midſt of many and great Dangers, both of Enemies and our Sins, who knoweſt how frail we are, Pſal. 39. that we cannot, notwithſtanding the utmoſt of our Endeavours, always continue in our Duty, but have always ſome Neglects thereof to anſwer for; we beſeech thee to afford us ſuch Strength and Protection from thy Grace and heavenly Providence, as may ſupport us in all Dangers we may be in from our Enemies, or any untoward Accidents which may befal us, and enable us to overcome all Temptations which may aſſault us. And this we pray for the ſake of Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Rom. XIII. 1.

I. As to Political Duties, which you owe to your Superiors; by virtue of my Apoſtolical Authority, I adviſe and command you this. Let every Perſon, though of never ſo great diſtinction in Church or State, be ſubject to the Supreme Authority in every Nation, whether it be veſted in one Perſon, or more: and that for theſe two Reaſons. Firſt, Becauſe this Supreme Power is not a bare human Authority, but a divine one. For all the Authority, which Supreme Magiſtrates are endowed with, does proceed originally from God, and they act under him as his Deputies or Delegates. Therefore whatever Perſons take up Arms to oppoſe any, tho' the moſt ſevere, Commands of the Supreme Power in a Nation; whether it be againſt the Legiſlative Power in enacting Penal Laws, or againſt the Executive Power, whilſt it is legally inflicting them; ſuch Perſons are in Rebellion, not only againſt the Laws of Men, but alſo againſt the Laws of God; and for ſuch Reſiſtance, ſhall in this World receive the ordinary Puniſhment of Traytors, whoſe Deſigns, when diſcovered, do generally end in their Ruin; and if they die unrepenting of ſuch a damnable Sin, they will be eternally puniſhed in the next. Secondly, You muſt be ſubject to the Supreme Magiſtrate, in conſideration that, through the Vigilance and Care even of the worſt Governours, People enjoy Peace and Tranquillity by their repreſſing the Inſolence and Injuſtice of wicked Men, which is a very great Benefit to Mankind, and without which human Society would be to the laſt degree miſerable; and upon account of this Benefit are not forcibly to be oppoſed; or not till ſuch time as their Tyranny is more inſupportable than a State of Anarchy. II. But ſome of you will ſay, that 'tis an uneaſy Subjection to ſubmit to this formidable Power of the Legiſlature; and if, by Reſiſtance, you can make a ſtand againſt it, you may rid yourſelves of this Fear. How? Will you not ſtand in awe of an Authority which is ſupported, not only by a temporal, but by an omnipotent Power? The beſt way to be out of Danger from ſuch a Power, is, to do your Duty incumbent upon you in all reſpects; and then you will be ſo far from incurring the Diſpleaſure of the Magiſtrate, that you will receive Commendation, or probably a Reward from him. For Supreme Magiſtrates, though ſome of them are not ſo good as might be expected, yet they are not ſuch common Grievances as ſome Perſons pretend; for they are all deputed to their high Offices by God, whoſe Providence, by their Adminiſtration of Affairs, brings about a great deal of Good to Mankind. But if you neglect your Duty, and contemn the Authority of the Magiſtrate, by violating his Laws, or by unlawful Reſiſtance to his Government, you have then good reaſon to be afraid of him; for he is not armed with the Sword of Juſtice only to lie uſeleſs by him, but he is veſted with Authority from God to puniſh ſuch Offenders. III. Therefore you muſt obediently ſubmit yourſelves to ſake. For, for this cauſe pay you tribute alſo; for they are Gods Miniſters, attending continually upon this very thing. Render therefore to all their dues; tribute to whom tribute is due, cuſtom to whom cuſtom, fear to whom fear, honour to whom honour.

The GOSPEL. S. MAT. VIII. 23.

I. AND when he was entred into a ſhip, his diſciples followed him. And behold, there aroſe a great tempeſt in the ſea, inſomuch that the ſhip was covered with the waves: but he was aſleep. And his diſciples came to him, and awoke him, ſaying, Lord, ſave us, we periſh. And he ſaith unto them, Why are ye fearful, O ye of little faith? Then he aroſe, and rebuked the winds and the ſea, and there was a great calm. But the men marvelled, ſaying, What manner of man is this, that even the winds and the ſea obey him? II. And when he was come to the other ſide into the countrey of the Gergeſens, there met him two poſſeſſed with devils, coming out of the tombs, exceeding fierce, ſo that no man might paſs by that way. And behold, they cried out, ſaying, What have we to do with thee, Jeſus thou Son of God? art thou come hither to torment us before the time? III. And there was a good way off from them an herd of many ſwine, feeding. So the devils beſought him, ſaying, If thou caſt us out, ſuffer us to go away into the herd of ſwine. And he ſaid unto them, Go. And when they were come out, they went into the herd of ſwine: and behold, the whole herd of ſwine ran violently down a ſteep place into the ſea, and periſhed in the waters. IV. And they that kept them fled, and went their ways into the city, and told every thing, and what was befaln to the poſſeſſed of the devils. And behold, the whole city came out to meet Jeſus: and when they ſaw him, they beſought him, that he would depart out of their coaſts.

to the Rules of the Government you live under, not barely becauſe you will be ſeverely puniſhed if you you do not, by the coercive Power of the Magiſtrate; but becauſe 'tis your Chriſtian Duty ſo to do, and that you tranſgreſs the Rules of your holy Religion if you neglect it, Mat. 22. 21. For the ſame Reaſon you muſt pay your Taxes to your Governours, for the Support of the publick Adminiſtration; becauſe they, by virtue of their divine Commiſſion, lay out their Studies and Labours for the publick Benefit, and therefore ought to be ſupported in the carrying on their great Deſigns, by the joint Contribution of their Subjects. Therefore you muſt be ready to pay all the Adminiſtrators of publick Affairs, as well the ſubordinate as the ſupreme, their juſt Dues: Pay Tribute to your Emperour, Cuſtom to the Preſidents of your Provinces; pay a ſubmiſſive Reverence to thoſe high Magiſtrates who are veſted with a ſuperiour degree of Power; and a reſpectful Honour and Regard to thoſe who move in a lower ſphere of Authority.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Mat. VIII. 23.

I. Our Bleſſed Lord, with his Diſciples, having embarked in a Ship to paſs over the Sea of Tiberias, there aroſe ſuch a vehement Storm, as drove the Waves over the Veſſel; which as it brought the Ship into no little Danger, ſo it filled the Paſſengers with Fears of being loſt; Jeſus all the time continuing ſleeping. But his Diſciples, terrified with ſo ſad a Calamity, awaken'd him from his Sleep, crying out to him, and imploring him, that he would preſerve them from the impending Death which they ſaw to threaten them. But our Lord awaking, tells them, That he was ſorry to find they had as yet attained to ſo ſmall a degree of Faith, after all his miraculous Performances done among them; and that they could not perſuade themſelves to think, he could keep them from Danger as well ſleeping as waking. With that he, in an authoritative way, bids the Winds and the Sea to be ſtill: and he had no ſooner ſpoke the Words, but all the roaring Winds were huſh'd, the face of the Heavens was ſerene, and the Sea was ſmoothed over with a gentle Calm. This put, not only the Diſciples, but all the Paſſengers, and the Ships Crew likewiſe, into a great degree of Admiration; who began thereupon to diſcourſe one with another, what divine Perſon this ſhould be, who was veſted with ſuch an uncontroulable Authority, over the Winds and the Seas. II. And when he was landed on the other ſide of that Sea, where is the Country of the Gergeſenes, and the Metropolis thereof the City Gadara, Mark 5. 2. there run towards him two Demoniacks, who had deſerted human Converſe, and lived in the little Pyramidical Cells which were built over the Graves in the Burial-places; they now, actuated by the Devils within them, putting on an unuſual Fierceneſs, furiouſly fall on all Paſſengers upon that Road, which made moſt People to take another way. But when they perceived Jeſus to paſs by, they vehemently cry out, What Concern have you with us, O Jeſus the Meſſias! We know that we ſhall be ſeverely tormented at the Laſt-day, 2 Pet. 2. 4. and that you ſhall be our Judge, Dan. 7. 13. but we do not know what reaſon you have, to antedate your Juriſdiction, and to plague us before your Powers commence. III. Now there was at ſome diſtance from the Scene of this Action, an Herd of Swine, which were kept by ſome of the Gergeſenes, ſeveral of which did not obſerve the Jewiſh Law, but were the Reliques of ſome of the old Canaanites: The Devils within the Demoniacks obſerving theſe, and being convinced that Jeſus would drive them out from the human Bodies which they had poſſeſſed, begged leave of our Saviour that they might make a Lodgment in the Bodies of ſome of the Swine; which, for ſome juſt Reaſons, he permitted them to do. And being now turned out, they were quickly ready to do more Miſchief, though in a leſſer degree; and therefore forthwith getting in among the Swine, who were feeding near the ſide of a Hill which joined to the Sea, they maliciouſly drive the poor Creatures down the Precipice into the Water, where they were drowned. IV. The Swinherds ſufficiently ſcared at the Extraordinarineſs of the Occurrence, and the Loſs of the Cattle, made what haſte they could into the Town, to inform their Maſters of the Misfortunes which had befallen their Swine; relating unto them the Particulars, how the Demoniacks were diſpoſſeſſed by Chriſt, and how the Devils turned their Fury againſt the Swine. With this the chief Inhabitants of the Town came out in a formal Proceſſion, to make an Addreſs to our Saviour, who ſtaid at ſome Village in their Neighbourhood; beſeeching him that he would be ſo kind, to bend his Courſe ſome other way, out of their Juriſdiction: For, ſince a great part of their Maintenance aroſe from their Breeding of Hogs, and ſuch an unlucky Diſaſter having lately happen'd to ſome of them by one of his Miracles, they deſired, for the future, that he would make uſe of his great Power in ſome Country, where there was leſs danger of Miſchief to them accruing from it.

I. I adviſe you, ſince God has been pleaſed to call you to the Profeſſion of Chriſtianity, and to be a holy People dear to God, that you would put on, as Ornaments to your excellent Religion, ſeveral Chriſtian Graces which I ſhall mention unto you; A Tenderneſs of Affection to all who labour under any Calamity, and a Readineſs to aſſiſt them; an Humility, in not being puffed up with Riches and Honours: a Sweetneſs of Diſpoſition, in courteouſly treating all that ye converſe with; a bearing with repeated Offences againſt you; and, a not only taking no Revenge upon your Adverſaries, but a perfect Amneſty and Acquitting them of all the Injuries they have done you; and this with as much Readineſs, as Chriſt purchaſed our Redemption: And you being Members of his Body, ought herein to imitate your Head. II. But eſpecially take care to array yourſelves with Charity, which will make all Vertues to ſit cloſe and tight to your Souls. And let a peaceable Diſpoſition, which the Goſpel teaches, be not only now and then taken up by you upon occaſion, but let it be a governing Principle in your Minds; for this is a particular Grace, which you are to be diſtinguiſhed by, and a principal End of your entring into this ſacred Community. But be ye ſure to be thankful to God for the many excellent Diſpenſations, which he has afforded you. III. Let the Chriſtian Doctrine be throughly planted in your Hearts, and bring forth therein a plentiful increaſe of ſpiritual Wiſdom, improving one another in religious Diſcourſe, and ſpiritual Exerciſes of ſinging Hymns and Pſalms; which when you do, take care to have your Hearts devout, though your Words ſhould be leſs muſical. PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Mat. XIII. 24.

Our Saviour ſpoke this Parable to his Diſciples, to denote, that, in the militant State of his Church, there are always Bad-men mixed with the Good. I. The State of Religion, under the Goſpel, is not unfitly compared to the Story of a certain Husbandman, who in Seed-time took care to ſow good Grain in his Field. But ſome Night or other afterwards, whilſt he and his Servants were aſleep in their Beds, ſome miſchievous Perſon came and ſowed Cockle all over thoſe Lands, where the Good-man had ſown Wheat. Now when the Wheat was grown up, and was in the Ear; to the great Surprize of the Beholders, the Cockle appears as thick among the Wheat, as if they had been both ſown together. II. This was quickly made known to the Husbandman, by his Servants; who moreover ſaid, that they believed he had ſown extraordinary good and pure Wheat in his Ground; but, that they were not a little confounded, to think how ſuch a fertile Crop of Cockle ſhould ſpring up. The Good-man made Anſwer, that he could give no other Reaſon thereof, but that he had Reaſon to ſuſpect, that ſome ſpightful Perſon had done him this Miſchief, to wreck his Malice upon him. III. Upon this, the Servants make tender unto him, Wilt thou then that we go and gather them up? But he ſaid, Nay; leaſt while ye gather up the tares, ye root up alſo the wheat with them. Let both grow together until the harveſt; and in the time of harveſt I will ſay to the reapers, Gather ye together firſt the tares, and bind them in bundles to burn them: but gather the wheat into my barn.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. 1 S. John III. 1.

I. We cannot be inſenſible of the extraordinary Love and Favour which it has pleaſed our heavenly Father to honour us with, in allowing us to be his adopted Sons. But, tho' we be God's Sons, yet the profane World treats us as Slaves: But this is no more than might be expected; for they gave our bleſſed Lord himſelf the ſame ill treatment, when he was upon Earth. Indeed, we are not ſufficiently informed of all the particular degrees of Happineſs, which we are intitled to by being God's Sons, in the other World; but this we are certain of, that when God ſhall diſplay himſelf in the future Judgment, we ſhall be moſt glorioufly transformed, ſo as in ſome meaſure to reſemble him, both in Holineſs and Splendor; for, though we cannot ſee what God is now, ſuch ſtrong Beams of his Eſſence and Glory being impoſſible to be taken in by us in this imperfect State, we ſhall have a clear view of his divine Nature. Now every one, that has a ſtedfaſt Hope of ſuch a bliſsful Immortality, endeavours to keep himſelf undefiled from Sin, in imitation of that tranſcendent Purity which is in the Divine Nature. But he that allows himſelf in the Commiſſion of any one known Sin, though never ſo ſmall, is ſo far from honouring God by an Imitation of him, that he openly affronts his Authority by the Violation of his holy Laws; every Sin being a Rebellion againſt God's Government. For you are ſufficiently inſtructed by the Principles of your Religion, that God was manifeſted to the World by his Son, not only to remove the Penalty, but the Slavery of Sin likewiſe, and to ſet us an Example of a holy Life; for, during all his Converſation here upon Earth, he never did any thing that was blameworthy. III. Whoſoever keeps cloſe to the Precepts of Jeſus Chriſt, and is united to him, as Members ought to be to their Head, never falls into any great Sin; or if he does, he preſently riſes again by true Repentance: But thoſe, who allow themſelves in the habitual Practice of Sin, are ſo far from being united to Chriſt, that they are perfect Strangers to him. O my dear Children in Chriſt! Let no one pervert you by Solifidian Doctrines, as if a ſtrong Faith were ſufficient for your Salvation, without good Works: for this is an undoubted Truth, that no one is a good Man, and acceptable to God, but who lives a good Life, and imitates the Divine Goodneſs. But Men who live wicked Lives, whatſo-

PARAPHRASE on the COLLECT for the ſixth Sunday after Epiphany.

O God, whoſe eternal Son left his bleſſed Immortality, and was manifeſted for this purpoſe, that he might deſtroy the Works of the Devil, 1 John 3. 8. and that he might make us Sons of God, Gal. 4. 6. and Heirs of Salvation, Heb. 1. 14. Grant us therefore, we beſeech thee, thy heavenly Grace, to purify ourſelves as he is pure, 1 John 3. 3. that when at his ſecond coming he ſhall appear in the Clouds of Heaven with Power and great Glory, Matth. 24. 30. that our vile Bodies may be faſhioned like unto his glorious Body, Phil. 3. 21. and inherit his eternal Kingdom; where, with thee O Father, and with thee O Holy Ghoſt, he liveth and reigneth one God in Trinity of Perſons, to all Eternity. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. 1 S. John III. 1.

I. We cannot be inſenſible of the extraordinary Love and Favour which it has pleaſed our heavenly Father to honour us with, in allowing us to be his adopted Sons. But, tho' we be God's Sons, yet the profane World treats us as Slaves: But this is no more than might be expected; for they gave our bleſſed Lord himſelf the ſame ill treatment, when he was upon Earth. Indeed, we are not ſufficiently informed of all the particular degrees of Happineſs, which we are intitled to by being God's Sons, in the other World; but this we are certain of, that when God ſhall diſplay himſelf in the future Judgment, we ſhall be moſt glorioufly transformed, ſo as in ſome meaſure to reſemble him, both in Holineſs and Splendor; for, though we cannot ſee what God is now, ſuch ſtrong Beams of his Eſſence and Glory being impoſſible to be taken in by us in this imperfect State, we ſhall have a clear view of his divine Nature. Now every one, that has a ſtedfaſt Hope of ſuch a bliſsful Immortality, endeavours to keep himſelf undefiled from Sin, in imitation of that tranſcendent Purity which is in the Divine Nature. But he that allows himſelf in the Commiſſion of any one known Sin, though never ſo ſmall, is ſo far from honouring God by an Imitation of him, that he openly affronts his Authority by the Violation of his holy Laws; every Sin being a Rebellion againſt God's Government. For you are ſufficiently inſtructed by the Principles of your Religion, that God was manifeſted to the World by his Son, not only to remove the Penalty, but the Slavery of Sin likewiſe, and to ſet us an Example of a holy Life; for, during all his Converſation here upon Earth, he never did any thing that was blameworthy. III. Whoſoever keeps cloſe to the Precepts of Jeſus Chriſt, and is united to him, as Members ought to be to their Head, never falls into any great Sin; or if he does, he preſently riſes again by true Repentance: But thoſe, who allow themſelves in the habitual Practice of Sin, are ſo far from being united to Chriſt, that they are perfect Strangers to him. O my dear Children in Chriſt! Let no one pervert you by Solifidian Doctrines, as if a ſtrong Faith were ſufficient for your Salvation, without good Works: for this is an undoubted Truth, that no one is a good Man, and acceptable to God, but who lives a good Life, and imitates the Divine Goodneſs. But Men who live wicked Lives, whatſo-

He that committeth ſin is of the devil: for the devil ſinneth from the beginning. For this purpoſe the Son of God was manifeſted, that he might deſtroy the works of the devil.

The GOSPEL. S. MAT. XXIV. 23.

I. THen if any man ſhall ſay unto you, Lo here is Chriſt or there: believe it not. For there ſhall ariſe falſe Chriſts and falſe prophets, and ſhall ſhew great ſigns and wonders; inſomuch that (if it were poſſible) they ſhall deceive the very elect. II. Behold, I have told you before. Wherefore, if they ſhall ſay unto you, Behold, he is in the deſert, go not forth: behold, he is in the ſecret chambers, believe it not. For, as the lightning cometh out of the eaſt and ſhineth even unto the weſt: ſo ſhall alſo the coming of the Son of man be. For whereſoever the carcaſe is, there will the eagles be gathered together. III. Immediately after the tribulation of thoſe days, ſhall the ſun be darkned, and the moon ſhall not give her light, and the ſtars ſhall fall from heaven, and the powers of the heavens ſhall be ſhaken. And then ſhall appear the ſign of the Son of man in heaven: and then ſhall all the tribes of the earth mourn, and they ſhall ſee the Son of man coming in the clouds of heaven with power and great glory. And he ſhall ſend his angels with a great ſound of a trumpet, and they ſhall gather together his elect from the four winds, from one end of heaven to the other.

The COLLECT.

O Lord, we beſeech thee favourably to hear the prayers of thy people, that we who are juſtly puniſhed for our offences, may be mercifully delivered by thy goodneſs, for the glory of thy Name, through Jeſus Chriſt our Saviour, who || liveth and reigneth with thee and the holy Ghoſt ever one God, world without end. Amen.

ever their Faith be, do not belong to God, but to the Devil, whoſe Works they imitate; for the Devil has been an old notorious Offender and Enemy to God from the beginning of the World, nay he was, immediately after his own Creation, in Rebellion againſt God. Now it was one of the principal Ends of our Saviour's Incarnation, to deſtroy the Devil's Empire, and to defeat his Projects and malicious Attempts upon Mankind.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Mat. XXIV. 23.

I. But there is one thing which I muſt forewarn you of, leſt you be deceived therein. For I having predicted my ſecond coming, if any Impoſtor ſhall pretend that he is the Chriſt, or Meſſias, or if any of ſuch a Perſon's Followers ſhall give out, that Chriſt is in this or that Place; you muſt not credit that Report. For ſeveral Perſons pretending to that Character, ſhall ſtart up, (as Barchochebas in Adrian's time) and ſhall pretend to do great Miracles (as the forementioned Impoſtor to vomit Fire) which ſhall ſeem to carry ſo much force with them, that they will almoſt ſhake the Faith of the beſt-grounded Chriſtians, but that it is too firmly rooted in them, to be prevail'd upon by ſuch Stratagems of the Devil. II. Therefore I give you warning before-hand, that when it ſhall be given out, that there is a Meſſias in the Wilderneſs, ſupporting himſelf by a conſiderable Force, which he ſhall draw after him; or, that there is one pretending to that Character, whoſe Followers, yet being but few, contain themſelves within a private Room; credit not that Report. For my ſecond coming ſhall be in a far different manner. My Power ſhall inſtantaneouſly be diſplayed throughout the whole Earth, like a Flaſh of Lightning, which immediately ſhoots from the Eaſtern to the Weſtern Sky. However, all theſe Pretenders to the Meſſiaſhip, will have their ſeveral Followers and Abettors: For whereſoever there is Carrion, there will be Hawks and Crows. III. But I think fit to acquaint you, that ſeveral Signs ſhall precede my Coming. There ſhall be great Perſecutions of my Chriſtians, the Sun and the Moon ſhall fail in their Light, and the other Planets ſhall fall into irregular Courſes, and the very Foundations of the Heavens ſhall totter. Then ſhall be viſible, in ſome remarkable Place of the Heaven, my Enſign the Croſs: then ſhall all wicked Men mourn and lament for their approaching Miſery, when they ſhall diſcover me approaching, in a triumphant manner, through the Sky, to Judgment. And moreover, God ſhall then ſend his Angels, as Trumpeters, before him, to call in all his good and faithful Followers; thoſe which ſhall then believe, and thoſe which are in their Graves, from all the Quarters of the World.

The EPISTLE. 1 Cor. IX. 24.

I. KNow ye not that they which run in a race, run all, but one receiveth the prize? So run that ye may obtain. And every man that ſtriveth for the maſtery, is temperate in all things: Now they do it to obtain a corruptible crown, but we an incorruptible. II. I therefore ſo run, not as uncertainly; ſo fight I, not as one that beateth the air: But I keep under my body, and bring it into ſubjection, leſt that by any means when I have preached to others, I my ſelf ſhould be a caſt-away.

The GOSPEL. S. Matth. XX. 1.

I. THE kingdom of heaven is like unto a man that is an houſholder, which went out early in the morning to hire labourers into his vineyard. And when he had agreed with the labourers for a peny a day, he ſent them into his vineyard. And he went out about the third hour, and ſaw others ſtanding idle in the market-place, and ſaid unto them, Go ye alſo into the vineyard, and whatſoever is right I will give you. And they went their way. II. Again he went out about the ſixth and ninth hour, and did likewiſe. And about the eleventh hour he went out and found others ſtanding idle, and ſaith unto them, Why ſtand ye here all the day idle? They ſay unto him, Becauſe no man hath hired us. He ſaith unto them, Go ye alſo into the vineyard, and whatſoever is right, that ſhall ye receive. III. So when even was come, the Lord of the vineyard ſaith unto his ſteward, Call the labourers and give them their hire, beginning from the laſt unto the firſt. And when they came that were hired about the eleventh hour, they received every man a peny. But when the firſt came, they ſuppoſed that they ſhould have received more, and they likewiſe received every man a peny. And when they had received it, they murmured againſt the good-man of the houſe, ſaying, Theſe laſt have wrought but one hour, and thou haſt made them equal unto us, which have born the burden and heat of the day. IV. But he anſwered one of them and ſaid, Friend, I do thee no wrong: didſt not thou agree with me for a peny? Take that thine is, and go thy way: I will give unto

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. 1 Cor. IX. 24.

I. Do not you Corinthians, who are accuſtomed to the Agoniſtick Games of the Greeks, know, That tho' there be a great many which run for the Prize, yet there is but one who gets it? Now, ſince you are all putting in for a heavenly Prize in another World, I would not have you to be like a lazy Runner that is diſtanced in his Courſe, and is in no manner of likelihood of coming in for the Prize; but I adviſe you to run with all the Might and Vigour you can, that you may be Victors. It is further obſervable, that the Contenders in thoſe Games, before they do their Parts therein, diet themſelves, and uſe a great deal of Abſtinence: now if they do this to gain a Crown of Flowers, which fades in a few hours time; we ought not to refuſe to undergo any Exerciſes and Preparations, though never ſo ſevere, when we have a Proſpect before us of a heavenly Crown, which will never fade away. II. But, for my part, I am reſolved to run, not in and out of the right Courſe, but in a direct Line to the Mark, and with all my Might and Main. When I am to play the Pugil, and contend at Fiſty-cuffs (as is frequent in your Agoniſtick Games) I will endeavour to ſtrike home againſt my Adverſary, doing execution by my Blows, and not only brandiſhing my Arms in the Air. But my Combat is with the carnal Affections in my Body, which I am continually fighting with, and beating, till I can get it under me, and can maſter it at my Pleaſure: for I am reſolved not to loſe my Prize, if I can help it; for it would be unpardonable in me, after having by my Preaching ſtirred up other Chriſtians to Diligence and Induſtry in their ſpiritual Courſe, that I my ſelf ſhould loſe my Reward.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Matth. XX. 1.

The Diſpenſations of God to Mankind, particularly that of the Goſpel, are not unfitly illuſtrated by this Parabolical Relation. I. A certain Maſter of a Family, who had a large Vineyard, and a great deal of Work to be done therein, got up early in the Morning, as ſoon as it was day, and went out to hire Labourers to dreſs it. And agreeing with them for a Denary or Roman-Penny (i. e. about 8 pence) a-piece for their Pay, ſent them into the Vineyard to work, at Six in the Morning. Towards Nine-a-clock, the ſame Morning, he went into the Market-place, where he found ſeveral other Perſons ſtanding to be hired, not having any Work to do: He bids thoſe Perſons to go and work the remaining part of that day, and he would pay them as much as their Work ſhould come to. And they went and wrought in the Vineyard, as they were ordered. II. At Twelve-a-clock at Noon, and at Three-a-clock in the Afternoon, he goes out again, and hires more. At Five-a-clock he goes again into the Market-place; and ſeeing ſome other Perſons there who wanted Work, he ask'd them, Why they loitered away their Time, almoſt a whole Day? But they replied, That it was their Misfortune not to be hired, being willing to work if any one would but employ them. Well (ſays he) go you and work in my Vineyard, and what your Labour ſhall come to, I will pay you for. III. Now at Six-a-clock, when they left off work, the Maſter bid his Steward call the Labourers, to pay them, paying them that came in laſt the firſt. And thoſe who came to work but at Five-a-clock, to their great Surprize, had a Denary a-piece, the full Wages of the whole Day. But when he came to pay thoſe who were hired at Six-a-clock in the Morning, they thought they ſhould have received more than a Denary, as working under ſo bountiful a Maſter: but however, they received no more than a Denary, the Price they were hired for. This ſet them a-murmuring againſt their Maſter; one of them having the Confidence to tell him, that he was guilty of great Injuſtice and Partiality, in giving them who had worked but one ſingle Hour, as much Pay as thoſe who had endured the Labour and the ſcorching Heat of the Sun for twelve Hours together. IV. But the Maſter took him up with this Reply; Friend, You have no Injury done you: You know very well, that this Morning you agreed to work for a Denary for your Day's Wages: Here is what we contracted for, and pray trouble me no more upon this account; for though theſe laſt Labourers have no more Demand upon me, but for the time to this laſt even as unto thee. Is it not lawful for me to do what I will with mine own? Is thine eye evil, becauſe I am good? So the laſt ſhall be firſt, and the firſt laſt: for many be called, but few choſen.

The EPISTLE. 2 COR. XI. 19.

I. YE ſuffer fools gladly, ſeeing ye your ſelves are wiſe. For ye ſuffer if a man bring you into bondage, if a man devour you, if a man take of you, if a man exalt himſelf, if a man ſmite you on the face. II. I ſpeak as concerning reproach, as though we had been weak: howbeit, whereinſoever any is bold (I ſpeak fooliſhly) I am bold alſo. Are they Hebrews? ſo am I: are they Iſraelites? ſo am I: are they the ſeed of Abraham? ſo am I: are they miniſters of Chriſt? (I ſpeak as a fool) I am more: in labours more abundant; in ſtripes above meaſure; in priſons more frequent; in deaths oft. III. Of the Jews five times received I forty ſtripes ſave one. Thrice was I beaten with rods. Once was I ſtoned. Thrice I ſuffered ſhipwrack. A night and a day I have been in the deep: in journeying often; in perils of waters; in perils of robbers; in perils by mine own countrey-men; in perils by the heathen; in perils in the city; in perils in the wilderneſs; in perils in the ſea; in perils among falſe brethren; in wearineſs and painfulneſs; in watchings often; in hunger and thirſt; in faſtings often; in cold and nakedneſs; beſides thoſe things they have worked, yet 'tis my Pleaſure to pay them as much as I do you. Am not I a Maſter of my own Goods, to diſpoſe of them as I think fit? Becauſe I am bountiful, muſt you be envious? From this Parable you may learn, that the Gentiles, who are laſt called into God's Church, ſhall be preferred before the Jews, to whom God was more early made known: for, of the many Gueſts who are invited to a Feaſt, few are elected into the honourable Offices therein.

O Lord, who knoweſt the Secrets of all Mens Hearts, and ſeeſt that we do not confide in any thing that we are able to do of, or for our ſelves, conſidering the Frailty of our Nature, and the Weakneſs of our Abilities; Mercifully grant, that by thy omnipotent Power, we may be defended from all Adverſities, ſpiritual or temporal, which may befal us. PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. 2 Cor. XI. 19.

I. I hope you will bear with me in a little fooliſh Boaſting concerning myſelf; ſince you, being Perſons of great Wiſdom, can bear with others more unwiſe, than I think I may without Vanity ſay, I am. For you patiently permit others to make Slaves and Properties of you, to rifle you of your Goods, to talk great things of themſelves before you, nay, to ſtrike you over the Face. II. I mean, you tamely ſuffer them to uſe you with the greateſt Contumely and Reproach, and yet you will not bear with that Weakneſs which you are pleaſed to impute to me: But ſince your unjuſt Accuſation of me, lays me under a neceſſity of talking fooliſhly in my own Praiſe; for all that Meanneſs and Weakneſs which you aſcribe to me, Is there any one, even of all the Apoſtolical Order, who is bold in Preaching the Goſpel, and am not I equally courageous? Are they Hebrews, and do not I ſpeak the ſame Language? Are they Iſraelites, and am not I of the ſame Extraction? Are they lineally deſcended from the great Abraham, and cannot I boaſt of the ſame Pedigree? Have they the Honour to be admitted Miniſters, to preach the Goſpel of Jeſus Chriſt? For once I will fooliſhly praiſe myſelf; In this Duty I have been more diligent than any of them all. I have taken more Pains, and run through more Difficulties, than they; I have received more Stripes for the Goſpel-ſake; have been oftner in Priſons, and been longer therein, and been more frequently in danger of preſent Death. III. Five times I was ſcourged by the Jews, who gave me 39 Laſhes with a Whip, but one leſs than the Extremity of the Moſaical Law allows in the moſt notorious Crimes, Deut. 25. 3. Thrice I was laſhed with Rods; Once I was ſtoned till I was thought to be dead, Acts 14. 19. Three times I had like to have been caſt-away, in a Storm at Sea: A Night and a Day I ſwam about in the wide Sea, upon a Plank: continually hurried in travelling from one place to another: Sometimes being in danger of being drowned in fording Rivers; at other times being in danger of being murdered by Banditi's and Robbers: Being often in danger of being brought before the Tribunals, ſometimes by the Jews, and ſometimes by the Heathens; in danger of malicious Informers, and zealous Bigots, when I have been in populous Towns; and in danger of wild Beaſts in ſolitary Places; in danger from thoſe, who have pretended themſelves Chriſtians, on purpoſe to betray me: Wearied almoſt to Death by my extraordinary Pains and Labours; not having my due Reſt to refreſh me; no Victuals to eat when I was hungry, and nothing to drink when I have been a-dry: To ſay nothing of the voluntary Abſtinence which at other times I have undergone; ſometimes not having Cloaths either to keep my Body warm, or to cover my Nakedneſs: To forbear the mentioning of many other external Cares and Sollicitudes, which are continually upon me, in ſettling things that are without, that which cometh upon me daily, the care of all the Churches. IV. Who is weak, and I am not weak? who is offended, and I burn not? If I muſt needs glory, I will glory of the things which concern mine infirmities. The God and Father of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, which is bleſſed for evermore, knoweth that I lie not.

The GOSPEL. S. Luke VIII. 4.

I. WHen much people were gathered together, and were come to him out of every city, he ſpake by a parable, A ſower went out to ſow his ſeed: and as he ſowed, ſome fell by the way ſide, and it was troden down, and the fowls of the air devoured it. And ſome fell upon a rock, and as ſoon as it was ſprung up, it withered away, becauſe it lacked moiſture. And ſome fell among thorns, and the thorns ſprang up with it, and choked it. And other fell on good ground and ſprang up, and bare fruit an hundredfold. And when he had ſaid theſe things, he cried, He that hath ears to hear, let him hear. II. And his diſciples asked him, ſaying, What might this parable be? And he ſaid, Unto you it is given to know the myſteries of the kingdom of God: but to others in parables; that ſeeing they might not ſee, and hearing they might not underſtand. III. Now the Parable is this; The ſeed is the word of God. Thoſe by the way-ſide are they that hear; then cometh the devil, and taketh away the word out of their hearts, leſt they ſhould believe and be ſaved. They on the rock, are they, which when they hear, receive the word with joy; and theſe have no root, which for a while believe, and in time of temptation fall away. And that which fell among thorns, are they, which when they have heard, go forth, and are choked with cares and riches, and pleaſures of this life, and bring no fruit to perfection. But that on the good ground, are they, which in an honeſt and good heart, having heard the word, keep it, and bring forth fruit with patience.

ſettling and ordering Affairs in ſo many Churches, which I have converted to Chriſtianity. IV. Are other Perſons apt to take Offence at Injuries? my Temper inclines me to be all in a Heat; and yet, by God's Grace, I have gotten the Maſtery over my natural Diſpoſition. And ſince you force me, for my own Vindication, to boaſt of my ſelf, I will not boaſt ſo much of any Perfections I may be Maſter of, as of my Infirmities, which God has given me Strength to rectify and amend. And the all-happy God knows, that how extraordinary ſoever the forementioned Particulars may ſeem to be, that I do not lay an unjuſt Claim to any of them.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Luke VIII. 4.

I. When a great number of People were drawn together from divers Parts of the Country, excited by the Fame of our Saviour's Miracles; he ſpoke to them this Parable. A certain Husbandman going from his Houſe to a Field, which he deſigned to ſow with Corn, ſome happened to ſcatter by the way as he went along; but this came to nothing, being trodden down by the feet of Paſſengers, or picked up by the Birds. And of what he ſowed in the Field, ſome fell upon a ſtony part thereof; and, though it ſprung forth out of the Ground, and looked green a little while, yet quickly it withered, as lacking Moiſture to keep it alive and to nouriſh it. Some other of the Seed fell upon a part of the Ground, in which there were the Roots of Briars and Thorns lying under ground; and theſe afterwards ſpringing up with the Blade of the Corn ſo choak'd it, by drawing the Moiſture from, and keeping it from the Sun, that it came to nothing. But what fell upon the fertile Ground, not only ſprang up, but came to Maturity, and yielded a very great Encreaſe, one Grain producing an hundred. And when he had ended the Parable, he bid them carefully conſider of it. II. But when the promiſcuous Company was retired, Mar. 4. 10. his Diſciples and ſome other good Believers ask'd him the Meaning of the Parable. To whom our Saviour made this Reply: To you good Perſons, who are Men of Sincerity and of a docible Temper, I will indulge you a peculiar Favour, in unfolding to you the moſt abſtruſe and myſtical Parts of Religion: But as for captious People, and others who do not come to hear me out of any good Deſign, I ſpeak to them only in parabolical and figurative Expreſſions, that their Falſhood and Wickedneſs might be puniſhed with that Curſe mentioned by the Prophet Iſaiah 6. 9. That ſeeing they might not ſee, and hearing they might not underſtand. III. Now the Meaning of the Parable is this. The Seed repreſents the Word of God: That ſcatter'd by the Way-ſide, and pick'd up by the Birds, denotes the Devil's driving good Motions out of Mens Hearts: That ſow'd on the Rock, ſignifies the Religion of thoſe who are devout and good in Proſperity, but if troubleſome Times happen, they will leave their Religion rather than ſuffer for it: That ſowed among the Thorns, repreſents ſuch Practitioners in Religion, who after hearing God's Word preached, reſolve to live according to the Precepts of it, but afterwards are inveigled away to a ſinful Courſe, by the Allurements of Riches and Honours, or Pleaſures. And laſtly, The Seed ſown on the good Ground, repreſents honeſt and devout Hearers, that retain the Word of God in their Hearts, and ſquare their Lives according to the Tenour of it.

And though I beſtow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body to be burned, and have not charity, it profiteth me nothing. Charity ſuffereth long, and is kind; charity envieth not; charity vaunteth not it ſelf, is not puffed up, doth not behave it ſelf unſeemly, ſeeketh not her own, is not eaſily provoked, thinketh no evil, rejoyceth not in iniquity, but rejoyceth in the truth; beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things. Charity never faileth, but whether there be propheſies, they ſhall fail; whether there be tongues, they ſhall ceaſe; whether there be knowledge, it ſhall vaniſh away. III. For we know in part, and we propheſie in part. But when that which is perfect is come, then that which is in part ſhall be done away. I. Although I had the Gift conferred upon me, not only of ſpeaking all human Tongues (which you are wont to eſteem beyond any of the divine Endowments) nay if I could ſpeak as the Angels do, conveying my Thoughts by way of Intuition, and withal ſhould want Charity; all the fine Words I ſhould uſe would have no more Significancy or good Effects, than the tinkling on a Braſs Pan, or the ſhaking a Rattle, to pleaſe a Child. Suppoſe I could predict future Events, underſtand all the myſtical Repreſentations of the Moſaical Law; though I had a Knowledge of all Hiſtory, or an Inſight into all Arts and Sciences; though my Faith was as that mentioned by our Saviour, Mat. 17. 20. which could remove Mountains, and want the Grace of Charity, I ſhould be of no eſteem with God. II. If I give all that I have in the World for the Maintenance of poor People, or if I ſhould be burnt to Death in Teſtimony of my Religion, and ſhould not be in Charity with my Neighbour; theſe pompous Performances would not ſave my Soul. But, becauſe you ſhould not be miſtaken what true Chriſtian Charity is, I will give you a juſt Deſcription thereof. Charity bears with a great many Affronts before it ſhews any Reſentment, and is remarkable for a ſingular Sweetneſs and Goodneſs of Diſpoſition: Charity does not repine, but is heartily glad at other Mens good Succeſſes: Charity does not pretend to thoſe Perfections which it hath not, nor is proud and haughty, or contemns others upon account of thoſe which it has; does not ſpeak unſeemly Commendations upon itſelf; does not do any laudable Action out of a ſelfiſh View, to gain Advantage to itſelf thereby, but for the ſake of the Common Good, and for God's Glory; is not provoked to Anger, but upon juſt Cauſes, and to a moderate Degree; is not ſuſpicious, and thinks People deſign Harm, when they have not any unkind Thoughts; is not glad at the hearing of other Peoples Failures, but is pleaſed when they do any Action which is good and praiſe-worthy; it bears a great weight of Indignities offered, as Joices or Rafters in a Houſe ſupport what is laid upon them; hopes the beſt things even of the worſt Perſons; and ſuffers Affronts to the laſt Extremity. Charity is a Virtue which ſhall laſt even in the other World, when the Social Virtues, which are calculated only for this World, ſhall be at an end, as alſo other divine Gifts which are only temporary: for the Gift of Tongues, of interpreting Scripture, of inſtructing others in the Principles of Religion, ſhall all determine, and have an end, before the Future State commences. III. For theſe are all imperfect Diſpenſations, which are adapted only for this frail State: but when that ſtate of Perfection ſhall begin, theſe imperfect things ſhall be taken away, as Scaffolds are when the Building is finiſhed. The ſucceſſive Stages of human Life will afford us an apt Illuſtration of this Matter. When I was a Child, all my Apprehenſions of things, and my Expreſſions concerning them, were childiſh; but as I grew to Years of Diſcretion, my Judgment ripened, my Thoughts were juſter, and my Words more proper. Now we ſee things by faint and imperfect Repreſentations, as Images reflected from a Looking-glaſs; but in the other World we ſhall have as clear a View of the Nature now I know in part, but then ſhall I know even as alſo I am known. And now abideth faith, hope, charity, theſe three; but the greateſt of theſe is charity.

The GOSPEL. S. Luke XVIII. 31.

I. THen Jeſus took unto him the twelve and ſaid unto them, Behold, we go up to Jeruſalem, and all things that are written by the prophets concerning the Son of man ſhall be accompliſhed. For he ſhall be delivered unto the Gentiles, and ſhall be mocked, and ſpitefully entreated, and ſpitted on. And they ſhall ſcourge him, and put him to death; and the third day he ſhall riſe again. And they underſtood none of theſe things: and this ſaying was hid from them, neither knew they the things which were ſpoken. II. And it came to paſs, that as he was come nigh unto Jericho, a certain blind man ſat by the way-ſide begging: And hearing the multitude paſs by, he asked what it meant. And they told him, that Jeſus of Nazareth paſſeth by. And he cried, ſaying, Jeſus thou ſon of David, have mercy on me. And they which went before rebuked him, that he ſhould hold his peace: but he cried ſo much the more, Thou ſon of David, have mercy on me. III. And Jeſus ſtood and commanded him to be brought unto him: and when he was come near, he asked him, ſaying, What wilt thou that I ſhould do unto thee? And he ſaid, Lord, that I may receive my ſight. And Jeſus ſaid unto him, Receive thy ſight; thy faith hath ſaved thee. And immediately he received his ſight, and followed him, glorifying God: and all the people when they ſaw it, gave praiſe unto God.

ture and Reaſon of things, as we in this World diſtinguiſh the outward Lineaments of one anothers Faces. Indeed in this World we have need of all theſe three excellent Graces, Faith, Hope, and Charity; but Charity alone, of theſe, ſhall laſt to the other World, helping to improve the Happineſs of that immortal State, by the mutual Endearments of the glorified Saints to one another.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Luke XVIII. 31.

I. Our Saviour having taken aſide his twelve Diſciples, from the promiſcuous Multitude, which he had lately preached to; thought fit to inform them of ſeveral Particulars concerning his Death and his Reſurrection, which Points he had never ſpoke to them of before. I am now, ſays he, upon taking a Journey to Jeruſalem; and there ſhall be opened a new Scene of Action, which ſhall give occaſion to the fulfilling all the ancient Predictions of the Prophets, concerning me the Meſſias. For, notwithſtanding your great Expectations concerning me who ſuſtain that Character, that I ſhall be a Temporal Prince, and ſhall ſubdue all Heathen Nations to my ſecular Yoke; yet I muſt tell you, that I ſhall be delivered up to, and arraigned before, a Gentile Governour: I ſhall be derided, and contemptuouſly uſed by the Rabble, who ſhall, in the greateſt Diſdain of me, ſpit in my Face: I ſhall be treated like a Slave, firſt ſcourged, and then crucified; but notwithſtanding all this, I ſhall the third Day after my Death riſe again to Life. But however plain this Declaration was, the Minds of his Diſciples were ſo taken up with the Thoughts of the Temporal Kingdom of the Meſſias, that they did not underſtand our Saviour's Meaning by theſe Words; fancying, that they had ſome allegorical Senſe, which they could not penetrate to the Depth of. II. Now, when they were come on their way as far as Jericho, there was a Blind-man who ſat begging upon the Road; who hearing a great number of People paſſing by him, asked what was the Reaſon of this unuſual Concourſe: And being told, that the famous Jeſus of Nazareth was upon that Road, he cried out aloud, O Jeſus the Meſſias, deſcended from David, ſhew thy Mercy to me, in curing me of my Blindneſs. But thoſe Perſons of the Company who went before our Saviour upon the Road, chid him for his loud Cry, and bid him ſhew, by his Silence, that decent Regard which was owing to a Perſon of that great Character: But this ſerved only to inflame the Importunity of his Deſires; he crying out ſtill the louder, O Jeſus the Meſſias, &c. With that our bleſſed Lord ordered ſome of the Company to lead him up unto him; asking him what it was that he ſo earneſtly deſired he ſhould do for him? He anſwered, That he begged that he would be pleaſed, out of his great Power and Goodneſs, to afford him the Uſe of his Eyes. Our Saviour replied, Receive thy Sight, as thou doſt deſire; for this unuſual degree of Faith has inclined me to work thy Cure. And upon theſe Words he enjoyed the Uſe of his Eyes, joining himſelf among the Followers of our Saviour; greatly praiſing God for ſo extraordinary a Benefit received: and all the other Perſons who were Witneſſes thereof, in like manner praiſed God upon account of ſo great a Miracle.

NOTES.

(a) Lent.] My Lord Biſhop of Bath and Wells, in his learned Diſcourſe of Lent, has ſhewn, by very probable Arguments, that the Chriſtian Lent took its Riſe from the Jewiſh Preparation to the Expiation: who likewiſe proves out of the Jewiſh Writers, that the Jews began their ſolemn Humiliation forty Days before the Expiation. Wherefore the Primitive Chriſtians, following their Example, did ſet up this Faſt in the moſt early times of Chriſtianity. For when there was a great Contention in Pope Victor's time between the Eaſtern and the Weſtern Churches, concerning the Celebration of Eaſter; both of theſe did unanimouſly conſent, that a Faſt was to precede this Feſtival, from Apoſtolical Inſtitution. Ἐξ Ἀποστολικῆς παραδόσεως τὸ μὴ εἰς δεῦρο καταῦσαι ἔθος φυλαττόμενοι, ὡς μὴ δ' ἑτέρα παρεσήκειν, παρὰ τὴν τῆ ἀναστάσεως τὸ σωτῆρος ἡμῶν ἡμέραν, τὰς νηστείας ὁπλυέναι. All the Churches which hold the Cuſtom continued down to this time, by Apoſtolical Tradition, do not make an end of their Faſting till the Day of our Saviour's Reſurrection. Euſeb. Hiſt. Eccl. lib. 5. cap. 22. And Irenæus at the ſame time writes, that then it was the Cuſtom for ſome to faſt the whole forty Days. Οὐ μόνον πρὸ τῆς ἡμέρας ταύτης ἡ ἀμφισβήτησις, ἀλλὰ, καὶ περὶ τὸ εἶδος αὐτοῦ τῆς νηστείας. Οἱ μὲν γὰρ οἴονται μίαν ἡμέραν δεῖν αὐτὸν νηστεύειν, οἱδὲ δύο, οἱδὲ πλείονας, οἱδὲ πεντεκαίδεκα ὥρας τε ἡμερινὰς καὶ νυκτερινὰς συμμετροῦσι τῇ ἡμέρᾳ αὐτῶν. For the Controverſy is not only concerning the Day of Eaſter, but alſo concerning the Manner of Keeping the Faſt: For ſome think they ought to faſt one day, ſome think they ought to faſt two days, ſome more days, and ſome think they ought to faſt forty, reckoning a day to conſiſt of the hours of night and day. Euſeb. Eccl. Hiſt. lib. 5. cap. 44. Valeſius indeed contends for an odd Reading of the Place, laying aſide the Stop after παρεγίνοντο, and joining that word to ὥρας, reading it thus; οἱδὲ παρεγίνοντο ὥρας ἡμερινὰς καὶ νυκτερινὰς συμμετροῦσι τῇ ἡμέρᾳ αὐτῶν, and tranſlates it, Some faſting forty hours, day and night meaſure their day. But Biſhop Chriſtopherſon, and Sir H. Savil, as good Criticks as he, pointed the Place as we cited it before. And ſo did Ruffinus read it twelve hundred Years ago, who tranſlates the Place thus, —— nonnulli vero quadraginta; ita ut horas diurnas nocturnaſque computantes, diem ſtatuant. The Apoſtolical Conſtitutions, which were written in the third Century, ſpeak of the Quadrageſima, or Faſt of forty days. Μετὰ ἡμέρας τῶν ἑορτῶν φυλάξατε ἡ νηστεία τὸ πεντηκοστὸν, μνήμην ποιούμενοι τῆς ἐν Κυρίῳ πολιτείας, καὶ νομοθεσίας. After the days of the Feaſts, you muſt keep the Quadrageſimal Faſt, in memory of our Lord's Practice and Legiſlation. Conſt. Apoſt. lib. 5. cap. 12. To the like purpoſe ſpeaks Tertullian; Certè in Evangelio illos dies jejuniis determinatos putant, in quibus ablatus eſt ſponſus. They with good reaſon think, that thoſe days were ſet aſide for Faſting in which the Bridegroom was taken away: He means the time in which Chriſt, being abſent from his Diſciples, faſted in the Wilderneſs. Tert. de Jejun. cap. 1. Origen likewiſe affords his Teſtimony in behalf of this Faſt: Habemus Quadrageſimæ dies jejuniis conſecratos. Orig. Hom. 10. in Levit. Of the ſame Faſt expreſs mention is made in the great Council of Nice. Αἱ σύνοδοι γινέσθωσαν, μία πρὸ τῆς τεσσαρακοστῆς, ἵνα, πάσης μικροψυχίας ἀναιρεθείσης, τὸ δῶρον καθαρὸν προσφέρηται τῷ Θεῷ. Δευτέρα δὲ, περὶ τὸ μετόπωρον καιρὸν. Let the Synods be held, one before the Quadrageſima, that all narrow-ſoul Thoughts being laid aſide, an unſpotted Gift may be offered: the other after the Seaſon of Autumn. Dionyſius Exiguus ſeems to have read in ſtead of μικροψυχίαν, the word παροψυλίας, Sourneſs or Bitterneſs of Mind, and therefore tranſlates it, Omni diſſenſione ſublatâ, which is not a juſt Tranſlation of μικροψυχία. if that were the reading in all old Copies of the Canons. Epiphanius ſpeaks of the Quadrageſima. Ἣν δὴ παντεσχοῦν, ἀπὸ τοῦ ἁγίου ἐπὶ ἡμερῶν τὸ ἁγίου πάσχα, ὡς Σαύπως φυλάττειν εἴωθεν ἡ αὐτὴ ἐκκλησία, ἐν νηστείαις διαπλύσα· Τὰς δὲ κυριακὰς ἐξ ὅλως, ἔτε ἐν αὐτῇ τῇ τεσσαρακοστῇ. That Church was wont uniformly to obſerve the Quadrageſima more than the bare ſeven days of the Paſchal Week, continuing in Faſtings; but as for the Lords-days, they did not faſt upon them even in Lent. Epiph. in compend. doctr. de fide. From all which Paſſages laid together, it cannot be denied, but that a Faſt always of ſeveral Days, and in moſt Places of ſeveral Weeks, was obſerved from the very Apoſtolical Times; which the Ancients called by the Name of the Quadrageſima, or the Forty Days: Which was the Occaſion of that Expreſſion in Socrates, Οἱ δὲ ἐν Ἰλλυριοῖς, καὶ ὅλῃ τῇ Ἑλλάδι, καὶ οἱ ἐν Ἀλεξανδρείᾳ, πρὸ ἑβδομάδων ἓξ τοῦ πάσχα νηστείαν νηστεύουσι, τεσσαρακοστὴν αὐτὴν ὀνομάζοντες. Ἄλλοι πρὸ ἑπτὰ τῆς ἑορτῆς ἑβδομάδων τὴν νηστείας ἀρχόμενοι, καὶ τρεῖς μόνας πεντημέρους ἐν διαλείμμασιν νηστεύοντες, ὅμως καὶ αὐτοὶ τεσσαρακοστὴν τὸν καιρὸν καλοῦσι. They that live in Illyria, and over all Greece, and in Alexandria, begin the Faſt before the ſix Weeks which precede Eaſter, and call that time The Forty Days. Others, different from them, begin their Faſt ſeven Weeks before Eaſter, although in reality they only faſt fifteen days, at diſtance from each other: however, all of theſe call this the Τεσσαρακοστὴ, or Forty Days. Socr. Eccl. Hiſt. lib. 5. cap. 21. But in the fourth Century, the Obſervation of it, for the whole Forty Days, was univerſally kept up all over the Catholick Church. Euſeb. vit. Conſt. l. 3. c. 18. Greg. Naz. Orat. 4. Baſ. de Jejun. Hom. 1. Ambr. in Luc. 4. But it muſt be further noted, that the Lent obſerved in theſe Times, began the Sunday after Quinquageſima, which is our firſt Sunday of Lent, and ended at Eaſter, containing in all 42 days. From which ſubſtracting the ſix Sundays not to be faſted on, there remained 36 Faſting-days, the tenth part of 360 days, which the ancient Year was reputed to conſiſt of: And ſo was thought to be a Tithe of the Year conſecrated to God's Service. Conc. Tol. VIII. cap. 36. Iſid. Hiſp. lib. 1. c. 36. To theſe 36 Faſting-days of the old Lent, Gregory the Great, about the Year 590, adds four days more, to equal it to the time of our Saviour's Faſting, making it to begin on Aſhwedneſday, three days after Quinquageſima; and ſo it has ſtood ever ſince. Greg. Mag. apud Ivon. par. 4. cap. 34. This being one of the moſt principal Faſt-Days of the Year, it may not be improper here to ſet down ſome few Obſervations concerning the ancient Practice of Faſting in the Church. We have Inſtances of Publick Faſts in the Old Teſtament: As of King Jehoſaphat's proclaiming a Faſt, upon the Moabites, &c. threatning to invade his Kingdom, 2 Chron. 20. 3. of another proclaimed by Ezra, for God's Bleſſing upon the Jews ſafely conducting them in their Return from their Captivity: others Jer. 36. 9. Jon. 3. 5. Zech. 8. 19. Joel 1. 14. When our Saviour was pleaſed to preach the Goſpel here upon Earth, he was ſo far from condemning the Diſcipline of Faſting, that he encouraged it, and gave excellent Rules for the improving it, Matt. 6. 16. and afforded the moſt extraordinary Example thereof in his own Perſon, by Faſting 40 Days and 40 Nights, Matt. 4. 2. And the ſame Duty was recommended 1 Cor. 7. 5. and practiſed by the Apoſtles, Acts 10. 30. and 14. 23. 2 Cor. 6. 5. This the more modern Jews have, in the ſeveral ſucceſſive Ages, practiſed, as derived from their ancient Predeceſſors; they looking upon it as a conſiderable part of their Religion, to obſerve their Tangnioth Hatzibbor, the Faſts of their Congregation, or Publick Faſts, and their Tangnioth Hajachith, i. e. Faſts of ſingle Perſons, or private Faſts; as Maimonides ſhews in his Treatiſe of Faſts. Nor were their Publick Faſts only upon extraordinary Occaſions, ſuch as the Times of War, Peſtilence, and Famine, and ſome great Anniverſary-Faſts, as at the time of Expiation; but they conſtantly obſerved two Weekly Faſts, viz. upon Tueſdays and Fridays. Maim. ib. cap. 1. Hence, in all probability, ſprang the Cuſtom of the Primitive Chriſtians for their two Weekly Faſts of Wedneſdays and Fridays. The Reaſon why the Tueſdays Faſt was changed to Wedneſday, was obvious enough; viz. Becauſe the Chriſtian Sabbath, or moſt ſolemn Day of Devotion, being ſet forward from Saturday to Sunday, it was requiſite to remove the next Congregation-Day to a proportionable Diſtance, viz. from Tueſday to Wedneſday. The ancient Cuſtom of obſerving theſe and other Faſts, was, to abſtain from all Food till the publick Devotion of the Church was over, which was Three-a-clock in the Afternoon. Hier. Epiſt. 22. ad Euſt. but in the time of Lent, they were not to eat till Six-a-clock in the Evening. Baſ. Hom. 1. de Jejun. Nay, ſome of the devouter ſort did not eat, upon ordinary Faſt-days, till Sun-ſet, or Six-a-clock at Night, as is plain by that of Prudentius;

Te quoque luce ſub occidua,
Sumere cum monet hora cibum,
Noſtra, Deus, canet Harmonia.

For thee, O Lord, upon the ſetting Sun,
When the eſtabliſh'd Hour calls for Food,
My Harmony ſhall ſing—— Prud. Hymn. ante cib.

Though, ordinarily ſpeaking, Three-a-clock in the Afternoon was the Hora legitima, the lawful hour, of taking Food. Conc. Brac. II. cap. 9. And when they came to their Meals, they had nothing ſerved-in at their Tables, but only ſuch Meats as afforded but an ordinary degree of Nouriſhment; ſuch as dry Bread, parched Pulſe, &c. This they called the ξηροφαγία, the Dry Diet. This was more eſpecially enjoined in the time of Lent. Δεῖ πᾶσαν παρασκευὴν νηστεύειν. ξηροφαγεῖν, Con. Laod. Can. 50. What the ξηροφαγία was, Tertullian informs us, Xerophagiam obſervamus, ſiccantes cibum ab omni carne, ab omni jurulentiâ, & uvidioribus quibuſcunque porris, ne quid vinoſitatis vel

The COLLECT.

ALmighty and everlasting God, who hatest nothing that thou hast made, and dost forgive the sins of all them that are penitent; Create and make in us new and contrite hearts, that we worthily lamenting our sins, and acknowledging our wretchedness, may obtain of thee, the God of all mercy, perfect remission and forgiveness, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

¶ This Collect is to be read every day in Lent, after the Collect appointed for the Day.

For

edamus vel potemus. We observe the Xerophagiæ, living upon a dry Food, without any Flesh, without any Soups, without any Fruits of a rich Juice, lest we should eat or drink any thing with Wine in it. Tert. adv. Physs. So that upon the more eminent Fasts at least, they abstained from all Flesh, and from all Wine, in the Latin Church. But in the Greek Church, even Fish was forbidden. Νηστείαν ὁπτελεῖν δεῖ, καὶ ἀπὸ ψυχῶν ὥσπερ ἰχθύος πτηνοῖς, ἔτι δὲ καὶ ᾠῶν, καὶ τυροῦ. A Fast ought to be observed, by abstaining from every thing that is killed, as also from Eggs and Cheese. Con. Trul. Can. 56. Which Canon the Greek Church has all along observed even upon the Wednesday's and Friday's Fasts, as Balsamon observes, ad Can. Apost. 69. About the sixth Century, a Fancy took some of the Western Churches, to keep three Lents in the Year: one, 40 Days before Christmas, being the time of Advent; the other, the old Lent before Easter; and a third, 40 Days after Whitsuntide. That these three Lents were observed in France, is evident from the Chapters put out by Benedictus Levita, c. 164. Iterùm admoneant sacerdotes ut jejunia tria legitima in anno agantur: i. e. quadraginta dies ante Nativitatem Domini, & quadraginta ante Pascha, ubi decimas anni solvimus, & post Pentecostem quadraginta dies. And that the same were very early observed in England, seems probable, because that Bede mentions the Triplex Quadragesima in his Penitential, c. 10. But this Practice, as it was not universal in the Church, so it did not long continue, the Christmas-Lent being swallowed up in the Name of Advent, and the Whitsuntide-Lent quite lost. They lasted perhaps in England as long as any where else; for in Otho's Constitutions, we read of the Major Quadragesima, to distinguish it from the other two Lents Const. Othon. de Offic. Archiep. And Johannes Athona thus comments upon the Place: Sunt autem tres Quadragesimæ in anno, in quibus Adventus dicitur una.

Besides the constant Fastings and publick Courses of Devotion during the time of Lent, the Ancients had several standing Canonical Rules which they observed during this holy Solemnity. One was, To take the Sacrament Ex præsanctificatis, a certain Quantity of the Eucharistical Bread and Wine being consecrated before the Beginning of the Fast, which was to serve to the next Sunday; and when Sunday came, to consecrate again as much as would serve for the Communicating those who were disposed to receive that Week; and so on till Easter: But in the Eastern Church they consecrated on Saturday likewise, which they kept as a Feast. This Custom, which was ancient, was supported by a Canon of the Council of Laodicea. Ὅτι οὐ δεῖ τὴν παραφορὴν ποιεῖσθαι, εἰ μὴ ἐν σαββάτῳ καὶ κυριακῇ μόνον. It is not lawful to consecrate the Sacrament in Lent, but only upon Saturdays and Sundays. Con. Laod. Can. 49.

Another was, Not to observe the Festivals, unless those which had relation to our Saviour, during the Fast. For, thus the Canon enjoined: Ὅτι οὐ δεῖ ἐν τεσσαρακοστῇ τὰς μαρτύρων γενέθλιον ὁπτελεῖν, ἀλλὰ τὰς ἁγίων μαρτύρων μνείαν ἐν τοῖς Σαββάτοις καὶ κυριακαῖς Conc. Laod. Can. 51.

And lastly, Marriages were prohibited during that time. Οὐ δεῖ ἐν τῇ τεσσαρακοστῇ γάμους ὁπτελεῖν. Id.

(b) Ashwednesday.] This Day had formerly two Names; one was, The Head of the Fast; the other was, The Day of Ashes: The first Compellation was given because Lent began that Day; the other received its Name from a Custom in the ancient Discipline, which was exercised upon this Day; an Account whereof we have in Gratian, Part I. Decr. Dist. 50. out of the Council of Agath. which was held above a thousand Years ago. "In the first Day of Lent the Penitents must present themselves before the Bishop, cloathed with Sackcloth, with naked Feet, and with Eyes turned to the Ground; and this in the Presence of the principal of the Clergy of the Diocese, who are to inspect the Sincerity of their Repentance. These are to introduce them into the Church; and the Bishop all in Tears, with the rest of the Clergy, shall say the seven Penitential Psalms. Then rising from Prayers, shall throw Ashes upon them, and cover their Heads with Sackcloth; and then, with frequent Sighs, shall declare to them, That as Adam was thrown out of Paradise, so they must be thrown out of the Church. Then the Bishop shall command the Officers to turn them out of the Church-doors. And all the Clergy shall follow after, repeating that Curse upon Adam, In the sweat of thy brows thou shalt eat thy bread. And so must the like Penance be inflicted upon them the next Day, when the Sacrament is administred, which was the Sunday following. And this to the end, that the Penitents observing in how great a Disorder the Church was, by reason of their Crimes, they should not lightly esteem of Penance."

This is that Godly Discipline which our Church, in the Office of Commination, wishes to be restored; and she has been above an hundred and fifty Years a-wishing it: but through the Perverseness of some People in every Generation since, could never find an Opportunity to restore it. There were indeed some superstitious and unwarrantable Practices mixed with the general Penance at this time; and in some places Theatrical Representations and Mockshews of it, in stead of true Christian Discipline: A strange Instance of which, Æneas Sylvius, in his Europa, gives in the City of Halberstadt in Saxony. Every Year (says he) one of the People is chosen, whom they think to be the wickedest Fellow in all the Town; him they dress up in a Mourning-Coat, with a Hood over his Face, and upon Ashwednesday lead him to Church; and when Service is over, they turn him out. After this, for the whole forty Days, he is to go about the Town barefooted, going round to all the Churches, but not entering into any, nor presuming to speak to any one. He has Victuals provided him by the Canons of the Place. He must sleep only in the open Streets, and this only after Midnight. This Person they call Adam; and when he has performed this Penance, they esteem him free from all Sin. But such superstitious Practices as these might have been restrained, and the ancient Discipline have been kept up still. The Office in the old Ordo Romanus upon this Day, is for the most part a very rare and proper Service; and the Practice which was used when it was compassed, pious. Alcuinus speaking of the Usage of the Latin Church in his time, viz. A D. 770, says, Imprimis præmonere debent sacerdotes omnes Christianos, ex sacris Scripturarum Testimoniis, quatenus in capite jejunii, hoc est hodie ad veram confessionem, veramq; pœnitentiam festinantiùs accedant. In the first place, the Priests ought to admonish all Christians, from the Testimonies of the holy Scriptures, that upon the Head of the Fast (i. e. to day, Ashwednesday) they come more readily to true Confession and Penance. Alc. de div. Off. cap. 13. Theodulphus, Bishop of Orleans, who flourished in the time of Charles the Great, Chap. 36. to the Presbyters of Orleans; Hebdomoda una ante jejunium Quadragesimæ Confessiones sacerdotibus dandæ sunt, pœnitentia accipienda, discordantes reconciliandi, & omnia jurgia sedanda, & dimittere debent debita invicem de cordibus suis, ut liberiùs dicant, demitte nobis debita nostra, sicut & nos dimittimus debitoribus nostris. Et sic ingredientes in beatæ Quadragesimæ tempus, mundis & purificatis mentibus, ad sanctum Pascha procedant, & per Pœnitentiam se renovent, quæ est secundus baptismus. One Week before the beginning of Lent Confessions are to be made to the Priest, and those that are Penitents are to be received; all Differences are to be made up, and People ought heartily to forgive one another, that they may with a better Conscience say, Forgive us our Trespasses, &c. That so beginning Lent, they may with clear and purified Consciences go on to Easter, and renew themselves by Repentance, which is a sort of a second Baptism. The second Council of Bracara, held An. Dom. 572, enjoyns, That not only upon Ashwednesday, but for the first three Days of Lent, Christians should fast, and pray the Litanies. By the Council of Toledo, held An. Dom. 633. Penance in Lent is enjoined, not only to those who are under Censure, but in some measure to the whole Congregation. Tunc enim opus est fletibus ac jejunio insistere, corpus cilicio & cinere induere, animum mœroribus dejicere, gaudium in tristitiam vertere, quousque veniat tempus Resurrectionis Christi. For then we ought to employ ourselves in weeping and fasting, to put on Sackcloth and Ashes, to cast down our Souls with Grief, and that till the time of Christ's Resurrection. Conc. Toledo IV. cap. 76. The Council of Meldæ, which was held An. Dom. 845, under Ludovicus Pius, decrees thus, in behalf of this Solemnity. *Nemo Comitum aut quisquam ex judiciaria potestate, post quartam feriam, quæ caput jejunii nominatur, in qua omnes Pœnitentes manûs impositionem, ad vacandum solummodo Pœnitentiæ, & divinis officiis, accipiant, Placitum aut Mallum tenere præsumant. ### For the EPISTLE. Joel II. 12.

I. TUrn ye even to me, ſaith the Lord, with all your heart, and with faſting, and with weeping, and with mourning. And rent your heart, and not your garments, and turn unto the Lord your God: for he is gracious and merciful, ſlow to anger, and of great kindneſs, and repenteth him of the evil. Who knoweth if he will return, and repent, and leave a bleſſing behind him, even a meat-offering and a drink-offering unto the Lord your God? II. Blow the trumpet in Zion, ſanctifie a faſt, call a ſolemn aſſembly, gather the people, ſanctifie the congregation, aſſemble the elders, gather the children, and thoſe that ſuck the breaſts; let the bridegroom go forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her cloſet; let the prieſts, the miniſters of the Lord, weep between the porch and the altar, and let them ſay, Spare thy people, O Lord, and give not thine heritage to reproach, that the heathen ſhould rule over them: wherefore ſhould they ſay among the people, Where is their God?

The GOSPEL. S. Mat. VI. 16.

I. WHen ye faſt, be not as the hypocrites, of a ſad countenance: for they diſfigure their faces, that they may appear unto men to faſt. Verily I ſay unto you, they have their reward. II. But thou, when thou faſteſt, anoint thine head, and waſh thy face, that thou appear not unto men to faſt, but unto thy Father which is in ſecret; and thy Father which ſeeth in ſecret, ſhall reward thee openly. III. Lay not up for your ſelves treaſures upon earth, where moth and ruſt doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and ſteal. But lay up for your ſelves treaſures in heaven, where neither moth nor ruſt doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor ſteal. For where your treaſure is, there will your heart be alſo.

And this we beg for the ſake of Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Joel II. 12.

I. The almighty God has given me in Commiſſion to tell you, O Jewiſh Church and Nation, that though his Judgments are now very ſevere upon you, that poſſibly they may be averted by your ſincere Repentance of your Sins. Therefore he commands you to leave your former Sins, which have ſo highly provoked him, and to return to the Worſhip and Obedience of your God; and not to do this only in an outward Shew, by abſtaining from your Food, and going in a mournful Habit; but by a hearty Sorrow for your Sins, and a Repentance which is ſincere, and what proceeds from a deep Depreſſion of Mind for having offended God. Do not let it content you, as an Indication of your Sorrow, to rent your Garments, as the Cuſtom is; but to rent your very Hearts, tear from them all the beloved Sins which ſtick cloſeſt to them, and return to your Duty, in obſerving thoſe divine Laws which you have ſo heinouſly violated. For God is not a hard and implacable Adverſary, as for the moſt part Men are; he is very ready to withdraw his Puniſhment from repenting Sinners; it is with Regret that he inflicts his Chaſtiſements on Men: He is very ſenſibly touched by the Misfortunes which their Wickedneſs has brought them under, and ſtops the Proceſs of thoſe future Judgments which he had decreed againſt them, if they had continued impenitent. We indeed have moſt highly provoked this divine Goodneſs, and rendered the Graciouſneſs of all theſe admirable Attributes almoſt ineffectual to us; but however, let us truly repent, and we ſhall not yet find him inexorable; and then, in ſtead of theſe ſevere Judgments, which he is pleaſed at preſent to lay upon us by Dearth and Famine in our Country, and Danger from foreign Enemies, God will be like a kind Friend to us, who at parting makes a conſiderable Preſent, and will make us the Fruits of the Ground to be produced in abundance, ſo that we ſhall offer up Euchariſtical Sacrifices to him, for the mighty Encreaſe. II. Therefore reſolve upon a publick Day of Humiliation; let the Trumpet ſound from the Temple in Mount Sion, to ſummon the Congregation together, in a vaſt Aſſembly of all Orders of Men; let all of them undergo the expiatory Rites commanded them, who enter into the Temple-Courts; for this muſt be a time of general Devotion, which not only grave and elderly Perſons (of whom theſe Aſſemblies are moſtly made up) muſt partake in, but even Children and Infants, all Orders of Men, muſt come together, to beg Pardon for the National Crimes, and deprecate the heavy Puniſhment of them. And let not any, under this general Humiliation, allow themſelves in the Enjoyment even of lawful Pleaſures; let the new-married Perſons lay aſide their Mirth and Jollity, and join in the publick Sorrow. Let not the Prieſts, as at other times, go into the Temple with triumphal Songs, but let them fall down in the Temple-Courts, between the Door of the outward Court and the Altar, and there with Tears bewail their own and the Peoples Sins; praying God in his Mercy to divert the heavy Judgments which lie upon his choſen People, and that he would not ſuffer thoſe who were under his immediate Care and Conduct, to be Slaves to a Heathen People; and that thoſe profane Idolaters might not have an opportunity of blaſpheming God, and ſaying, that it was in vain that the Jews valued themſelves in worſhipping the one true God, when they could not be aſſiſted by him.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Mat. VI. 16.

I. Being now to give you ſome Inſtructions concerning the keeping a religious Faſt; I would have you to obſerve theſe Rules. Don't keep your Faſt, as the hypocritical Phariſees do, by looking with down and ſour Countenances: For, 'tis not a juſt ſenſe of God's being offended, which makes them look ſo ſorrowful; but they have gotten an artificial way of diſtorting their Faces, to make Men think that their Souls mourn for the Sins of the Nation, and that their Bodies pine by their Abſtinence from Food. Now I muſt needs tell you, that theſe Men ſhall never be rewarded by God in another World for ſuch kind of Faſting; for indeed they receive the Reward, which they ſeek for, in this Life, viz. Popular Applauſe. II. But when you keep a Faſt, dreſs and adorn your ſelf as you do at other times, that Men may not diſcover you are performing ſuch a ſpiritual Exerciſe; and for your Faſt ſo ſecretly kept, God almighty will recompenſe you in the publick Diſtribution of Rewards and Puniſhments in the next Life. III. Neither muſt you lay up for yourſelves, as Men of this World do, earthly Treaſures, Money, and rich Cloaths, one of which is canker'd by Ruſt, the other eaten by Moths, both of them liable to be ſtoln by Thieves; but lay up for yourſelves heavenly Treaſures, ſuch as holy and charitable Actions are, which are not liable to any of theſe Misfortunes, and which will ſtand you in ſtead at the laſt Day, when the other Treaſures ſhall be periſhed and loſt for ever.

O Lord Jeſus Chriſt, who, to ſhew us an Example of Abſtinence, and to conquer the Temptations of the Devil, didſt Faſt forty Days and forty Nights, Matt. 4. 2. Give us Grace to follow after thy Copy in this Vertue, as far as our Nature will allow us; that whenſoever the Fleſh luſteth againſt the Spirit, Galat. 15. 17. we may be able, by thy Aſſiſtance, to conquer its Temptations, and may obey thoſe holy Suggeſtions which thou doſt inſtil into our Minds, by leading good and religious Lives, anſwerable to thoſe Dictates of thy holy Spirit, which thou art pleaſed to afford us, as may tend to the Honour of thee, O bleſſed Saviour, who liveſt and reigneſt, &c. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. 2 Cor. VI. 1.

I. Wherefore we the Apoſtles, whom our bleſſed Lord has been pleaſed to appoint Fellow-workers with him in the Propagation of the Goſpel, beſeech you, that you ſo deport your ſelves in ſtedfaſtly adhering to your Religion, and in faithfully diſcharging the Obligations which it enjoins you, that the Grace of God, which he has beſtowed on you in bringing you into this holy Communion, may not be in vain conferred upon you. II. (For we are informed by God's Word in the Writings of the Prophet, Iſa. 49. 8. that there is an acceptable Time, in which he will hear Mens Petitions and anſwer their Prayers for his Grace, when 'tis devoutly asked for; which, if by long Obſtinacy rejected and deſpiſed, he will at laſt refuſe:) We theſe Apoſtles beſeech you to improve this Grace in you; and, in order thereunto, we endeavour to ſet before you a good Example, not admitting in ourſelves any Action which may give Offence to others, or which may reflect any Diſgrace upon our Miniſtry; but, in the whole courſe of our Converſation, regulating our Lives with that exact Piety and Circumſpection as becomes thoſe who are Preachers of ſo holy a Religion; bearing, with great Patience and Reſignation to the Divine Pleaſure, thoſe ſevere Diſpenſations of his Providence which he is pleaſed to make us undergo; being under the Preſſure of grievous Calamities, which continually befal us in want of the Neceſſaries of Life, and without any human Proſpect of being relieved: whip'd like Vagabonds and Impoſtors in one place, and impriſoned in another; forced to bear the Outrages of the Rabble, and a conſtant Toil in journeying about to preach the Goſpel: ſome times wanting our Reſt, at other times our Food: III. Recommending our Religion by the Purity of Life which it enjoins, and the ſpiritual Knowledge which it affords; by bearing all Injuries, and doing all good Offices; by all the ſweet and gentle Influences of God's holy Spirit; by the ſincereſt Love to Men, whilſt we expoſe ourſelves to many Dangers for their ſakes; by preaching the great Truths of the Goſpel; by the divine Aſſiſtance encountring with all the Power and Malice of this World, our Arms both offenſive and defenſive being only our Innocency and Holineſs; eſteemed by a few Friends, but ſlighted by the far greater part of the World; praiſed by ſome, but calumniated by many more; looked upon as Cheats and Impoſtors, though we be plain and honeſt Men, and preach the moſt inconteſtable Truths; reputed for ignorant and obſcure Perſons, yet (what is an Honour we value ourſelves upon) well-known to God and ſome few good Perſons: ſometimes juſt upon the point to ſuffer Death, and then wonderfully preſerved: being Men whom God does correct by very ſevere Diſpenſations, yet he does not deſtroy us: look'd upon for our Misfortunes as the moſt ſorrowful of all Men, but who, in expectation of our future Reward, have really the greateſt occaſion to rejoyce: thought to be the moſt indigent Wretches, though we enrich ſo many by the ineſtimable Treaſures of the Goſpel: having no Income of our own, God provides for our Subſiſtence, which we are as content with, as if we enjoyed all the World.

The GOSPEL. S. Mat. IV. 1.

I. THen was Jeſus led up of the ſpirit into the wilderneſs, to be tempted of the devil. And when he had faſted fourty days and fourty nights, he was afterward an hungred. And when the tempter came to him, he ſaid, If thou be the Son of God, command that theſe ſtones be made bread. But he anſwered and ſaid, It is written, Man ſhall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God. II. Then the devil taketh him up into the holy city, and ſetteth him on a pinacle of the Temple, and ſaith unto him, If thou be the Son of God, caſt thy ſelf down; for it is written, He ſhall give his angels charge concerning thee, and in their hands they ſhall bear thee up, leſt at any time thou daſh thy foot againſt a ſtone. Jeſus ſaid unto him, It is written again, Thou ſhalt not tempt the Lord thy God. III. Again the devil taketh him up into an exceeding high mountain, and ſheweth him all the kingdoms of the world, and the glory of them; and ſaith unto him, All theſe things will I give thee, if thou wilt fall down and worſhip me. Then ſaith Jeſus unto him, Get thee hence, Satan; for it is written, Thou ſhalt worſhip the Lord thy God, and him only ſhalt thou ſerve. Then the devil leaveth him, and behold, angels came and miniſtred unto him.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Mat. IV. 1.

I. Our Saviour, ſoon after he had been baptized by John in Jordan, was moved by the Inſtinct of the Holy Spirit, which viſibly deſcended upon him in his Baptiſm, to retire for ſome time into a Wilderneſs in the Confines of Judea, probably that where John was bred up; to the end that he might thereby have an opportunity, as of performing the ſpiritual Exerciſes of Prayer and Mortification, ſo likewiſe of being tempted by the Devil; that he might thereby defeat his Stratagems and Power, and that being tempted himſelf, he might afford us an Example and Aſſiſtance in conquering our Temptations, Heb. 2. 18. And when he had faſted forty whole Days, by a total Abſtinence from all manner of Food all the time (after the Example of Moſes, Exod. 24. 18. and Elijah, 1 King. 19. 8.) he was at laſt under a very vehement degree of Hunger, that he might thereby be the more ready Subject of the Devil's Temptation. Which Advantage the wicked Spirit eagerly taking hold of, puts himſelf into a bodily Shape; and appearing to our Saviour in the Wilderneſs, addreſſes himſelf to him after this manner: 'Tis reported of you, that you are the Meſſias, the Son of God, but there does not want good Reaſon to diſcredit it; for, did you really ſuſtain that great Character, you would not pine under that exceſſive Hunger which you now ſeem to do, but would make uſe of the miraculous Power inherent in you, to turn the Stones before you into Bread, to ſatisfy the importunate Cravings of your Appetite. But our Saviour only gave him this mild Anſwer, contained in a Text of Scripture, viz. Deut. 8. 3. Man doth not live by bread only, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of the Lord, doth man live. II. After this the Devil (our Saviour, for juſt Reaſons, permitting him ſo to do) hurries his Body through the Air, from the Wilderneſs to Jeruſalem, and there mounts him on the top of one of the high Turrets of the Temple, telling him, that now he had a fair opportunity of demonſtrating himſelf to be the Meſſias, by leaping down from thence to the Ground without hurting himſelf; ſaying moreover, that there was a Promiſe in Scripture, which probably related to the Meſſias, but was however an Aſſurance to all good Perſons, of the divine Aſſiſtance interpoſing on their behalf; He ſhall give his Angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways: they ſhall bear thee up in their hands, leſt thou daſh thy foot againſt a ſtone, Pſal. 91. 11, 12. Our Saviour returned an Anſwer to this, in theſe Words; I will anſwer to the Text of Scripture which you have perverted, by another Text more pertinently alledged, Thou ſhalt not tempt the Lord thy God, Deut. 6. 16. i. e. you ſhall not put God upon doing unneceſſary Miracles, to gratify your Curioſity; for God has not, in the Text you alledge, or in any other place of Scripture, promiſed more, than to deliver good Perſons from Dangers which they may fall into through the ordinary Accidents of Life; but has never ſaid, he would protect any Perſon from Dangers which he voluntarily threw himſelf into. III. After this, the Devil carries him to the Top of a very high Mountain, whereby he had the Proſpect afforded him of all, or the greateſt part of the Land of Canaan, and by a falſe Repreſentation had a ſeeming Proſpect of many other remoter Countries, curiouſly painted out to his Fancy, by an appearing View of their ſtately Buildings, Furniture, and Riches; telling him upon this, That all theſe glorious things ſhould be at his Service, if he would pay divine Worſhip to him; which he had no reaſon to deny him, ſince he ſaw him to be veſted with ſo great Power, and was likely to experience him ſo bountiful a Benefactor. This intolerable degree of Inſolence raiſed our Saviour to a pious Indignation; who thereupon commanded him to be gone immediately from his Preſence: For doſt thou think (ſays he) impudent Fiend, that I, that came into the World to teach Men Religion, ſhould be ignorant of the firſt fundamental Principle of it myſelf, which is laid down Deut. 6. 13. Thou ſhalt fear the Lord thy God, and ſerve him, &c.? The Devil now finding that he could not work his Ends upon him, left him; and ſeveral Angels came and brought Food to him, as formerly to Elijah, 1 King. 19. 5.

I. WE beſeech you, brethren, and exhort you by the Lord Jeſus, that as ye have received of us how you ought to walk, and to pleaſe God, ſo ye would abound more and more. For ye know what commandments we gave you by the Lord Jeſus. II. For this is the will of God, even your ſanctification, that ye ſhould abſtain from Fornication; that every one of you ſhould know how to poſſeſs his veſſel in ſanctification and honour; not in the luſt of concupiſcence, even as the Gentiles which know not God; that no man go beyond, and defraud his brother in any matter, becauſe that the Lord is the avenger of all ſuch, as we alſo have forewarned you, and teſtified. III. For God hath not called us unto uncleanneſs, but unto holineſs. He therefore that deſpiſeth, deſpiſeth not man, but God, who hath alſo given unto us his holy Spirit.

The GOSPEL. S. Matth. XV. 21.

I. JEſus went thence, and departed into the coaſts of Tyre and Sidon. And behold, a woman of Canaan came out of the ſame coaſts, and cried unto him, ſaying, Have mercy on me, O Lord, thou Son of David, my daughter is grievouſly vexed with a devil. But he anſwered her not a word. II. And his diſciples came and beſought him, ſaying, Send her away, for ſhe crieth after us. But he anſwered and ſaid, I am not ſent, but unto the loſt ſheep of the houſe of Iſrael. Then came ſhe and worſhipped him, ſaying, Lord help me. But he anſwered and ſaid, It is not meet to take the childrens bread, and to caſt it to dogs. And ſhe ſaid, Truth, Lord; yet the dogs eat of the crumbs which fall from their maſters table. III. Then Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto her, O woman, great is thy faith: be it unto thee even as thou wilt. And her daughter was made whole from that very hour.

ency is of thee, 1 Cor. 3. 5. We beſeech thee, that thou wouldſt by thy watchful Providence, defend both our Souls and our Bodies; the one from unhappy Accidents and Attempts of our Enemies, the other from all Temptations and evil Suggeſtions which may betray us into Sin. And this we beg for the ſake of Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. 1 Theſſ. IV. 1.

I. I beg of you, my dear Brother Chriſtians, and exhort you for the ſake of our bleſſed Lord Jeſus Chriſt, that, ſince you are informed by the preaching of the Goſpel to you, of the holy Rules which God requires you to ſquare your Lives by, ſo as to render them acceptable to him; that you would make a continual Progreſs in your Duty, and every day more and more improve in Goodneſs. For you cannot be ignorant of thoſe particular Injunctions, which we were authorized by our bleſſed Saviour, as his Apoſtles, to lay upon you, for the bettering your Lives. But however, I think fit to remind you of one Particular, which is, That God Almighty ſtrictly commands you to refrain from all ſorts of Uncleanneſs, and unlawful Acts of Venery; (for whilſt Men indulge themſelves in theſe, they have no pretence to the Sanctification of God's holy Spirit:) ſo that by a Habit of Chaſtity your Souls may lodge in your Bodies, not like Swine in a filthy Stye, but like the Jewels of the Temple, incloſed in rich and conſecrated Caskets: not giving way to the Impetuoſity of ſenſual Pleaſures and bruiſh Luſts, as the Heathens do, whom God has not inſtructed by his Revelations: not by artful Wiles and Intrigues defiling your Neighbour's Bed, and glorying in an Adultery carried on by Craft and Secrecy: for God Almighty will, in his due time, ſhowr down his Vengeance upon ſuch wicked Men, which we in our preaching to you formerly have warned you againſt. III. For you muſt needs think, God has not ſeparated us Chriſtians from the reſt of the World, to afford us a Liberty of continuing in a Sink of Lewdneſs and Senſuality; but, that we ſhould be eminent for Purity and Holineſs in our Lives and Converſations. He therefore that violates and contemns theſe moral Rules of our Religion, not only contemns us the Preachers of theſe Doctrines, who indeed are but Men; but he deſpiſes likewiſe God himſelf, by whoſe Authority we ſpeak, and by whoſe Virtue we are inſpired.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Matth. XV. 21.

I. Our Saviour now leaving the Country of Geneſareth, where he had for ſome time preached the Goſpel and done many Miracles, came with his Diſciples into the Confines of Tyre and Sidon, two eminent Cities of Phœnicia; where a Heathen Woman of that Country, deſcended from the old Canaanites, made a loud and grievous Complaint to him, calling out, O my Lord the Meſſias, ſhew thy pity to me, in diſpoſſeſſing an Evil Spirit from the Body of my Daughter, which grievouſly torments her. But our Saviour gave no Anſwer at all to what ſhe ſaid to him, ſhewing ſome kind of ſeeming Neglect towards her. II. This gave Encouragement to the Diſciples to ask him, Whether he would not have them to drive the Woman quite away, that ſhe might no longer diſturb the Company with her importunate Cries; eſpecially ſince, being a Heathen Woman, ſhe was not like to receive any Benefit from him. Our bleſſed Lord to this made Anſwer, That 'twas true, he was not ſent an Embaſſador by his Father to preach the Goſpel, in his own Perſon, to any but to the Jewiſh Nation. And whilſt he was thus ſpeaking to his Diſciples, the Woman was got up to our Saviour; and throwing herſelf at his feet, begged of him to lend his divine Aſſiſtance, in removing her Misfortune from her. Our Saviour gave her an Anſwer on purpoſe to try her Faith to the Quick: Doſt thou think (ſays he) Woman, that I will employ that divine Power, which I am veſted with for the Benefit of the Jewiſh Nation, who are God's peculiar People, for the ſake of Heathens? This ſeems as waſteful and cruel, as for a Father to take away his Childrens Meat, to feed his Dogs. The Woman replied, That ſhe readily aſſented to this; but however, as Dogs are ſuffered to eat of the Scraps which fall down under the Table, ſo ſhe hoped a poor Heathen Woman might partake of ſome ſmall ſhare of that divine Bounty, which was more than ſufficient to aſſiſt the Jews with all the Conveniencies they could deſire. III. Upon this our Saviour ſaid: O the wonderful degree of Faith, which is found in this Heathen Woman! Well! your Petition is granted. And by nicely examining the Time, it was found that the Evil Spirit left the Woman's Daughter juſt at that time when he ſpoke theſe Words.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Eph. 5. 1.

1. Upon conſideration therefore, that God has conferred ſo many and ſo great Benefits upon you, do you endeavour to imitate and copy after his Goodneſs, as children are wont to take after the Actions of their Parents; governing your Lives by Chriſtian Charity and Love, ſetting before you always the moſt wonderful Inſtance thereof given by our bleſſed Saviour, who ſo loved us, as to die for our ſakes, offering up his Life, the only acceptable Sacrifice to God, for the forfeited Souls of Mankind. II. But however, if you do not attain to all the principal Hights of Chriſtianity, yet you muſt certainly avoid all groſs Acts of Immorality, ſuch as Fornication, with the ſeveral other kinds of Uncleanneſs, and an inordinate Deſire of Riches: for the Lives of Chriſtians ought to be ſo holy and pure, that no one of them ſhould either be ſuſpected of, or have the leaſt tendency to any of theſe Faults. Nay, you muſt not allow yourſelves a liberty in ſpeaking obſcene and filthy Words, or in any unchaſt Diſcourſe; you muſt not uſe an idle and ridiculous way of talking to make People laugh, nor run on in a vein of impertinent jeſting; which are things not becoming the Gravity of that excellent Religion, which you profeſs: but, if you are diſpoſed to relax your Minds by an innocent Joy and Refreſhment, ſing one of your Euchariſtical Hymns. For you are too well inſtructed in your Religion, to be ignorant, that Perſons who live in Whoredom, or other Acts of Uncleanneſs, or are covetous People, (who are Idolaters by worſhipping their Money as their God,) ſhall have no ſhare in the Happineſs of the other World; either in the Kingdom of Chriſt, or the general Judgment, or the Kingdom of God afterwards, 1 Cor. 15. 24. III. I would not have you to be led away by the fallacious Diſcourſes and Harangues of your Philoſophers, who are frequently apologizing for theſe Vices, which we condemn; for, notwithſtanding all that they can ſay in Defence of them, God will, at the future Judgment, ſeverely puniſh all thoſe who ſhall have committed theſe Sins. Be not therefore Companions with them in their Crimes, for you having now received the Light of the Goſpel, are no longer under the Darkneſs of a Pagan Ignorance; therefore your Lives muſt be anſwerable to the Knowledge which Chriſtianity has afforded you, (for our ſpiritual Religion makes all the true Profeſſors of it holy and pure in their Converſations, honeſt in their Dealings, and true in all their Words and Actions,) and you muſt not do any thing but what, after juſt Examination, it does appear you may lawfully do. IV. But ſince you are Children of the Light, do not you make yourſelves Partakers of the Sins committed by the Children of Darkneſs, who are the Devil's Scholars; Sins which bring no Profit to the Committers, but only Shame and Miſery: I ſay, do not you partake of theſe Mens Sins, either by imitating them, or approving them; but rather condemn them, and reprove the Actors of them, whenever there is juſt Occaſion for it. For there is no conniving at thoſe intolerably lewd Actions which the Heathens commit in their Privacies; Actions ſo ſcandalous, that 'tis a ſhame, not only to ſpeak for them, (as ſome do) but even to ſpeak of them. Now, as 'tis the nature of Light to render things diſcernible; ſo wherever the Rays of the Goſpel are diſplayed, there thoſe Sins which lay unregarded under the Pagan Ignorance, are diſcovered. Therefore our bleſſed Saviour, who is the Light that lighteth every one that cometh into the World, doth beſpeak the Heathen World, as it were in theſe Words: O you ſtupid and careleſs Sinners, who have long lain in ſuch a Lethargy of Vice, under which you ever doth make manifeſt, is light. Wherefore he ſaith, Awake thou that ſleepeſt, and ariſe from the dead, and Chriſt ſhall give thee light.

The GOSPEL. S. Luke XI. 14.

I. JEſus was caſting out a devil, and it was dumb. And it came to paſs when the devil was gone out, the dumb ſpake; and the people wondred. But ſome of them ſaid, He caſteth out devils through Beelzebub, the chief of the devils. And other tempting him, ſought of him a ſign from heaven. II. But he knowing their thoughts, ſaid unto them, Every kingdom divided againſt it ſelf, is brought to deſolation; and a houſe divided againſt a houſe, falleth. If Satan alſo be divided againſt himſelf, how ſhall his kingdom ſtand? becauſe ye ſay that I caſt out devils through Beelzebub. And if I by Beelzebub caſt out devils, by whom do your ſons caſt them out? therefore ſhall they be your judges. But if I with the finger of God caſt out devils, no doubt the kingdom of God is come upon you. III. When a ſtrong man armed keepeth his palace, his goods are in peace; but when a ſtronger than he ſhall come upon him, and overcome him, he taketh from him all his armour wherein he truſted, and divideth his ſpoils. He that is not with me, is againſt me: and he that gathereth not with me, ſcattereth. IV. When the unclean ſpirit is gone out of a man, he walketh through dry places, ſeeking reſt; and finding none, he ſaith, I will return unto my houſe, whence I came out. And when he cometh, he findeth it ſwept and garniſhed. Then goeth he and taketh to him ſeven other ſpirits more wicked than himſelf, and they enter in, and dwell there; and the laſt ſtate of that man is worſe than the firſt. V. And it came to paſs as he ſpake theſe things, a certain woman of the company lift up her voice, and ſaid unto him, Bleſſed is the womb that bare thee, and the paps which thou haſt ſucked. But he ſaid, Yea, rather bleſſed are they that hear the word of God and keep it.

you have been perfectly inſenſible of your Condition; awake from your deadly Sleep which your Heathen State continues upon you, and embrace the Tenets of the Goſpel of Jeſus Chriſt, which will reſtore Light to your Eyes after ſo long Darkneſs, and will diſcover to you many ruinous Sins which you now paſs over unregarded.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Luke XI. 14.

I. Our bleſſed Saviour doing a very great Miracle, viz. in caſting out a wicked Spirit which had poſſeſſed the Body of a Man and made him ſpeechleſs, the poſſeſſed Perſon's Speech returning as ſoon as the Devil was ejected; all the People, who were Eye-witneſſes of ſo wonderful an Occurrence, were amazed. But ſome malicious Perſons attributed this ſupernatural Power, in ejecting evil Spirits, to the Intimacy they pretended he had with Beelzebub, Prince of the Demoniacal Orders; who (they ſuppoſed) did keep under all the inferior Demons, and allot them their Poſts at his Pleaſure. Some other ill People came to him at the ſame time, deſiring him, to gratify their Curioſity, to ſhew ſome other great Miracle, which God Almighty, by a viſible Power from Heaven, ſhould lend his Aſſiſtance to, and which could not be aſcribed to the forementioned Cauſe. II. But our Saviour, well underſtanding the Malice of ſome of them, and the Vanity of others, beſpeaks them thus: Don't you know, that every Kingdom or Government, which is divided by furious Factions and Inſurrections of one part againſt the other, is quickly overturned, and brought into a ſtate of Anarchy and Confuſion? Does any Family flouriſh, wherein the principal Branches, or Members, act in oppoſition to one another? Now do you think that the Devil, who is a cunning and an active Spirit, ſhould not govern himſelf by thoſe ordinary Rules of Policy, which the generality of Perſons, far leſs ſagacious than himſelf, do; and that he ſhould ſuffer his Kingdom to be ruined by an oppoſition of one part thereof againſt the other? This is a ſufficient Confutation of what you ſay, that I eject Evil Spirits by the Power of Beelzebub; who certainly would never oppoſe thoſe Demons, who are advancing the Intereſt of his Kingdom, by doing Miſchief to Mankind. Nay, I urge further, If I make uſe of a Demoniacal Power in ejecting wicked Spirits; why ſhould not the ſame be imputed to ſeveral of your Friends, as particularly the Phariſees, who pretend to caſt them out by Charms, and other more exceptionable Means than I make uſe of. Pray ask them therefore, if they make uſe of Beelzebub's Authority to produce the like Effect? But, ſince 'tis plain, by your own Confeſſion, that I do this by a ſupernatural Power, and that, as I have proved to you, 'tis not that of the Devil; it remains, that I do it by the Power of God: And if ſo, he cannot be ſuppoſed to lend his Authority to me, to confirm my Claim to the Spiritual Kingdom of the Meſſias, unleſs I really were that Perſon, who now appears before you. III. Nay, I urge yet farther againſt your malicious Accuſation of me. You know, that when a Governour is in Command of a Caſtle, he keeps Poſſeſſion thereof, till ſome other Commander, with a ſuperior Force, beats him from it, ſeizes upon his Ammunition, and divides the Plunder among his Soldiers; and when this is done, no one can think that this is a Mock-fight, but a War in good earneſt. Why, the ſame thing is done by me; for, the Religion which I teach is levelled againſt the Devil's Kingdom, to ſubvert it Root and Branch. Therefore every good Man ought to join with me, as a Confederate, againſt this common Enemy of Mankind; for he that pretends to play a cautious neutral part, is as much an Enemy to my Spiritual Kingdom, as he that openly declares againſt it; he that does not contribute to gather my Sheep together, is as bad as the Wolf that diſperſes them. IV. But ſince we are now upon the Subject of Demoniacks, I would have you apply this Parable. When the Devil is ejected out of any Perſon, he runs about from one lonely place to another, as wicked Spirits are wont to do, not receiving Eaſe or Comfort in any; but at laſt he reſolves to return to the Body of the Man from which he was caſt out, which he then finds as an Houſe well-fitted up and furniſhed: and therefore invites ſeven other his Fellow-Devils, worſe than himſelf, to ſojourn with him there. So that, in the iſſue, the poor Man is in a worſe condition than he was in before. The Moral is this; That 'tis very dangerous to fall into Sin after Repentance: And ſince the Devil was caſt out from the Jews by their being received into God's Covenant, yet by their deſpiſing the Grace of God, they ſhall come at laſt to be more under the Dominion of Satan than the Heathen. V. Upon this a certain Woman of the Company, greatly admiring the Wiſdom of our Saviour's Sermons, and the Power of his Miracles, cried out aloud, O happy is the Mother who bore ſo excellent a Son! But our Saviour replied, What Satisfaction my Mother receives upon my account, I need not now inſiſt on; yet moſt certainly, thoſe who embrace the Goſpel, which I preach, and practiſe the Precepts of it, ſhall partake of far greater Enjoyments in another World, than any ſuch like temporal Pleaſures which you now ſeem to ſet ſuch an extraordinary value upon.

The EPISTLE. GAL. IV. 21.

TEll me, ye that deſire to be under the law, do ye not hear the law? For it is written, that Abraham had two ſons, the one by a bond-maid, the other by a free-woman. But he who was of the bond-woman, was born after the fleſh; but he of the free-woman was by promiſe. II. Which things are an allegory: for theſe are the two Covenants; the one from the monnt Sinai, which gendreth to bondage, which is Agar. For this Agar is mount Sinai in Arabia, and anſwereth to Jeruſalem which now is, and is in bondage with her children. But Jeruſalem which is above is free; which is the mother of us all. For it is written, Rejoyce thou barren that beareſt not; break forth and cry, thou that travaileſt not: for the deſolate hath many moe children then ſhe which hath an husband. III. Now we, brethren, as Iſaac was, are the children of promiſe. But as then, he that was born after the fleſh, perſecuted him that was born after the ſpirit; even ſo it is now. Nevertheleſs, what ſaith the ſcripture? Caſt out the bond-woman and her ſon; for the ſon of the bond-woman ſhall not be heir with the ſon of the free-woman. So then, brethren, we are not children of the bond-woman, but of the free.

Grant, we beſeech thee, O all-powerful God, That we who, by our temporal Adverſities, are puniſhed leſs than our Iniquities deſerve, Ezra 9. 13. and for our Tranſgreſſions againſt thy Divine Law do dread thy eternal Vengeance falling upon us, may by thy merciful Goodneſs be delivered from our Afflictions, and by the powerful Influences of thy Grace, ſtirring us up to the Amendment of our Lives, may avoid the everlaſting Puniſhment due to our Sins. PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Gal. IV. 21.

I. And now let me ask a Queſtion of you that are ſuch mighty Sticklers for the Jewiſh Ceremonies, and deſire ſtill to be under the Obligation of the Moſaical Law; Have not you a great regard, not only to the plain expreſs Words thereof, but alſo to the myſtical Senſe of it? You find it recorded in the Book of your great Legiſlator Moſes, that Abraham having two Sons, one by his Servant-maid Agar, the other by his Wife Sarah, a Woman of liberal Birth and Education: The firſt after the ordinary Preſcript of Nature, nothing divine or extraordinary mixing with his Birth; the other's Birth being miraculouſly predicted by God, and great Bleſſings foretold to be conſequent upon it. II. But you muſt underſtand, that beſides the hiſtorical Senſe, there is a myſtical or allegorical Meaning in this; for theſe two Women, Agar and Sarah, do ſignifie the two Covenants, the one of the Law, and the other of the Goſpel: The Hiſtory of Agar doth denote the firſt Covenant, which God made when he delivered the Law to Moſes in Mount Sinai; which, by reaſon of its ſlaviſh Ceremonies, which it binds its Votaries to, is not unaptly repreſented by Agar a Slave. For the Inhabitants of Arabia, where Mount Sinai is, call this Hill by the Name of Agar; which being the ſame Name with Abraham's Maid-ſervant, does very fitly repreſent the City of Jeruſalem as it now is, or the Condition of the preſent Jews, who are under the Slavery of the Moſaical Ordinances. But our Mother, the Chriſtian Church, which is the ſpiritual Jeruſalem, and which Chriſt came from Heaven to ſettle, is free from all theſe cumberſom Rites. And this Preferableneſs of the Chriſtian State before the Jewiſh, altho' it be made up chiefly of Gentiles, cannot be better expreſſed than in the Words of the Prophet Iſaiah, Chap. 54. 1. Sing O barren, thou that didſt not bear; break forth into ſinging, and cry aloud, thou that didſt not travail with child: for more are the Children of the Deſolate than the Children of the married Wife, ſaith the Lord. III. But you ought to obſerve further from this Hiſtory before us, Brethren, That as Iſaac, and not Iſhmael, had the Promiſe entailed upon him and his Poſterity, of inhabiting the Land of Canaan; ſo we Chriſtians are made Heirs of eternal Life: Nay, we may carry on the Allegory of this Hiſtory further; viz. That as Iſhmael, Abraham's carnal Son, grieved the ſpiritual one Iſaac by deriding him, Gen. 21. 3. ſo the carnal Jews do at this day torment and perſecute the Chriſtians. But what does this Hiſtorical Relation in Holy Writ further ſay? Why, there it is recorded, that when Sarah ſaid, Caſt out this Bond-woman and her Son, for the Son of this Bond-woman ſhall not be heir with my Son Iſaac; God Almighty was pleaſed to affirm her Judgment therein, and to command Abraham to hearken unto her Voice, for in Iſaac ſhall thy ſeed be called, Gen. 21. 10, 12. Now as Iſhmael was caſt out, ſo ſhall all the Jewiſh Ceremonies be aboliſhed; and we Chriſtians be in God's peculiar Favour, as being his ſpiritual Sons, and not the Sons of that ſlaviſh Mother the Jewiſh Church, who is condemned to the Drudgery of ſo many Ceremonies.

The GOSPEL. S. JOHN VI. 1.

I. JEſus went over the ſea of Galilee, which is the ſea of Tiberias. And a great multitude followed him, becauſe they ſaw his miracles which he did on them that were diſeaſed. And Jeſus went up into a mountain, and there he ſat with his diſciples. And the paſſover, a feaſt of the Jews, was nigh. II. When Jeſus then lift up his eyes, and ſaw a great company come unto him, he ſaith unto Philip, Whence ſhall we buy bread that theſe may eat? (And this he ſaid to prove him; for he himſelf knew what he would do.) Philip anſwered him, Two hundred peny-worth of bread is not ſufficient for them, that every one of them may take a little. III. One of his diſciples, Andrew, Simon Peter's brother, ſaith unto him, There is a lad here, which hath five barley-loaves, and two ſmall fiſhes: but what are they among ſo many? And Jeſus ſaid, Make the men ſit down. Now there was much graſs in the place. So the men ſat down, in number about five thouſand. And Jeſus took the loaves, and when he had given thanks, he diſtributed to the diſciples, and the diſciples to them that were ſet down, and likewiſe of the fiſhes as much as they would. IV. When they were filled, he ſaid unto his diſciples, Gather up the fragments that remain, that nothing be loſt. Therefore they gathered them together, and filled twelve baskets with the fragments of the five barley-loaves, which remained over and above unto them that had eaten. Then thoſe men, when they had ſeen the miracle that Jeſus did, ſaid, This is of a truth that prophet that ſhould come into the world.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. John VI. 1.

I. Our Bleſſed Saviour paſſed over the Sea, or Lake of Galilee, otherwiſe called the Sea of Tiberias, from a Town ſituated upon it, to the Shore which is oppoſite to Capernaum and Jeruſalem: whither a great number of People followed him, partly excited by curioſity of ſeeing ſome great Miracle done, by a Perſon whoſe Fame had filled all the Country upon that account; and partly to receive Benefit by him, in having their Diſeaſes cured. But, whilſt the People were either paſſing over the Lake by Ship to him, or going round about by Land, our Saviour, with his Diſciples, retired for ſome time into a Mountain, partly to refreſh themſelves by a pleaſant Retirement, and partly for the better Inſtruction of the Diſciples. Now this happened a little before the Paſſover of the Jews, which was the third after our Saviour's Baptiſm. II. Some time being ſpent in the Mountain, our Saviour looking about, eſpied a vaſt ſwarm of People moving towards him; and having a mind to try the Faith of Philip, one of his Diſciples, which he had found ſometimes to be a little wavering, he ſpake to him thus: Philip (ſays he) Can you tell where we may buy Proviſions to entertain all this number of People, which you ſee here coming to us? Strange! Sir, replied he, that you ſhould talk of entertaining this Multitude. If you were to lay out Ten-pounds only in Bread, (as ſo much is not to be procured in this hilly Country) every one of them would hardly have a Mouthful. III. Another of the Diſciples, Andrew the Brother of Peter, thinking that our Lord did deſign ſomething very extraordinary by this Queſtion put to Philip, told him, That there was a Boy that had five Barley Loaves and two ſmall Fiſhes to ſell, which they had ſome thoughts of buying for their own eating; but he preſumed they would ſignifie very little for the entertaining ſo vaſt a Multitude. With that our Saviour gave Command to his Diſciples, to make the Men ſit down upon the Graſs in Companies; it being a large green Field, and fit for that purpoſe. And there were five thouſand Men only that were ſo diſpoſed, Matth. 24. 21. Then our Saviour taking the Loaves into his hand, and craving a Bleſſing, as he conſtantly did before Meals, diſtributed the Loaves among his Diſciples, and the Diſciples among the ſeveral Companies, it ſtill encreaſing in their hands as they delivered it out. The ſame was done as to the Fiſhes, till all of them had their Bellies full, and none of them were willing to eat any more. IV. After the Meal was over, and every one well ſatisfied, our Saviour, to ſet his Diſciples an Example of Parſimony, and that they ſhould not continually depend upon his Power of working Miracles for finding them with Proviſions, bids them gather up the Fragments which remained; for, he was unwilling that any good Food ſhould be loſt. And when they were gathered all together, they filled twelve Bread-baskets, juſt the number of the Apoſtles, a ſufficient Burthen for each of them to carry. This was ſo great and ſo plain a Miracle, as made all the Beholders thereof to conclude, that this was certainly the Meſſias who was expected to come into the World, who did greater Miracles than their Legiſlator Moſes.

The EPISTLE. Heb. IX. 11.

I. CHriſt being come an high prieſt of good things to come, by a greater and more perfect tabernacle, not made with hands; that is to ſay, not of this building; neither by the blood of goats and calves; but by his own bloud he entred in once into the holy place, having obtained eternal redemption for us. II. For if the blood of bulls, and of goats, and the aſhes of an heifer ſprinkling the unclean, ſanctifieth to the purifying of the fleſh; how much more ſhall the bloud of Chriſt, who through the eternal Spirit, offered himſelf without ſpot to God, purge your conſcience from dead works to ſerve the living God? III. And for this cauſe he is the Mediatour of the new teſtament, that, by means of death, for the redemption of the tranſgreſſions that were under the firſt teſtament, they which are called might receive the promiſe of eternal inheritance.

Then anſwered the Jews, and ſaid unto him, Say we not well, that thou art a Samaritan, and haſt a devil? Jeſus anſwered, I have not a devil; but I honour my Father, and ye do diſhonour me. And I ſeek not mine own glory; there is one that ſeeketh and judgeth. Verily, verily, I ſay unto you, If a man keep my ſaying, he ſhall never ſee death. Then ſaid the Jews unto him, now we know that thou haſt a devil. Abraham is dead, and the prophets; and thou ſayeſt, If a man keep my ſaying, he ſhall never taſte of death. Art thou greater than our father Abraham, which is dead: and the prophets are dead: whom makeſt thou thy ſelf? III. Jeſus anſwered, If I honour my ſelf, my honour is

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Heb. IX. 11.

I. Our bleſſed Saviour Chriſt being come into the World, and made a High Prieſt (not like the Jewiſh ones, who by their Sacrifices procure only temporary Bleſſings,) but to purchaſe for us a future ſtate of Happineſs, by virtue of a nobler and more perfect Diſpenſation than the Moſaical; which is a moſt exquiſite Building erected by God himſelf, not like that of the Jewiſh Tabernacle, in which ſo much human Manufacture, and ſo many carnal Ordinances, intermixed; not by offering a Sacrifice by the Effuſion of the Blood of Goats and Calves, as the Old Law required, Lev. xvi. but has made an Atonement by his own Blood; not entering into the holy Sanctuary once in a Year, to make an atonement for the Congregation, ver. 33. as the Jewiſh High Prieſt did, but once for all entered into Heaven, which that former Entrance of the Prieſt was a Type of, having procured an Atonement for ever for the Sins of all Mankind by his Death, not frequently repeated, as in the Jewiſh Sacrifices, but once undergone. II. For if Perſons who were under a legal Uncleanneſs, by which the Body only was defiled, might be by the Old Law purged therefrom by being ſprinkled by the Blood of Bulls, Cows, and Goats, which were only irrational Animals, Numb. xix. moſt certainly the Blood of Chriſt, who was not only an Offering without blemiſh in his Body, as the legal Sacrifices ought to be, Lev. xxii. 20. and was utterly void of all Sin and moral Impurity likewiſe, but had the eternal Deity united in his Perſon; I ſay, moſt certainly the Blood of ſo great and holy a Perſon ſhall cleanſe even your Souls from Sin, as the other Offerings did from legal Pollutions of the Body; that you may be enabled to pay an acceptable Service to the one and true God as you ought to do. III. Upon this account it pleaſed our bleſſed Saviour, to interpoſe himſelf as a Mediator between God and Man, for the eſtabliſhing a new Covenant; that thoſe Sins might be forgiven by God, which by the Tenour of the firſt Covenant were not remiſſible; that they who are called to the Profeſſion of Chriſtianity, and are under the Privileges of the Goſpel-Covenant, might receive the Reward of eternal Happineſs, which is promiſed under this Covenant, 1 Tim. 4. 8. Heb. 8. 6.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. John VIII. 46.

I. Our Saviour Chriſt being in the Temple-Courts with ſome of the Jews, who queſtioned the Truth of his Miſſion, ſpake thus: You deny that I am ſent by God, and arraign me of the fouleſt of Crimes, Impoſture; and yet I defie any of you to convince me of it: But if the Doctrine which I preach, and the Character which I lay claim to, be true; what Reaſon is there that you do not believe what I ſay? All good Men, whoſe hearts God diſpoſes to be of an unprejudiced and docible Temper, do readily hear and embrace thoſe pious Diſcourſes which tend to the Honour and Glory of God, ſuch as mine are: But the Reaſon why you deſpiſe and undervalue them, is, becauſe you are of a Nature averſe to the divine Truths. The Jews replied, Now you plainly make our Words good concerning you, that you are a Man of the wicked and Latitudinarian Principles of the Samaritans, holding not only their Heretical Tenets, but aſſerting with them, that Men may be ſaved out of the Jewiſh Church; and that beſides, you are a wild Enthuſiaſt, or perhaps actuated by ſome wicked Spirit. II. Our Saviour anſwered: As to Samaritaniſm, that is only a hard Word which you are pleaſed to make uſe of to ſully the Character of the beſt Men; and therefore I do not think it worth my while to defend my ſelf from that which you yourſelves do not really think me guilty of. As to Enthuſiaſm or Madneſs, you have no other Reaſon to impute this to me, but only becauſe I have an extraordinary Zeal for God's Honour; which indeed you diſhonour me for, but have rather much greater Reaſon to reſpect me. If I were that falſe Prophet which you would have me to be, I ſhould be ſeeking all Opportunities of advancing my own Honour; which by a view of the whole Tenour of my Life and Converſation, 'tis plain I do not: And I doubt not but God will find ways to vindicate my Honour, and revenge the Indignities which are offered to his injured Ambaſſadors, as he has formerly done, 2 Chr. 24. 22. But I tell you plainly, that as little as you value me, ſuch I am, that whoſoever ſhall obſerve the Rules of my Religion, ſhall not be under the Power of Death, but ſhall enjoy a bliſsful Immortality to all Eternity. The Jews taking his Meaning to be, that his Followers ſhould not die, returned upon him thus: Now we are certain that thou art mad, or poſſeſſed; for, ſince Abraham and the Prophets, and all the great Men of Antiquity, are dead, How ſhould you, and your Followers only, have a Privilege not to die? Do you take yourſelf to be more in favour with God, than theſe extraordinary Perſons? and yet all theſe are dead. I pray what are you, that you ſhould pretend to beſtow ſuch Benefits upon your Followers, which God did not think fit to afford to his chiefeſt Favourites and Friends? III. To this our Saviour is nothing; it is my Father that honoureth me, of whom ye ſay, that he is your God; yet ye have not known him; but I know him: and if I ſhould ſay, I know him not, I ſhall be a liar like unto you; but I know him, and keep his ſaying. Your Father Abraham rejoyced to ſee my day, and he ſaw it, and was glad. IV. Then ſaid the Jews unto him, Thou art not yet fifty years old, and haſt thou ſeen Abraham? Jeſus ſaid unto them, Verily, verily I ſay unto you, Before Abraham was, I am. Then took they up ſtones to caſt at him: but Jeſus hid himſelf, and went out of the temple.

ALmighty and everlaſting God, who of thy tender love † towards mankind, haſt ſent thy Son, our Saviour Jeſus Chriſt, to take upon him our fleſh, and to ſuffer death upon the croſs, that all mankind ſhould follow the example of his great humility; Mercifully grant that we may both follow the example of his patience, and alſo be made partakers of his reſurrection, through the ſame Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

viour replied, If I myſelf only ſhould ſpeak in my own Honour, I could not ſo readily expect you to credit what I ſay; but it is God, my Father, who gives Teſtimony to my Doctrine, by confirming it by the Miracles which you ſee me work; that God whom you appropriate to yourſelves as your particular God: But as familiar as you make with him, you are not ſo ſufficiently acquainted with him, as to underſtand his Teſtimony which he gives of me; but I am better acquainted with him, as having a cloſer Union with the Divine Nature; which is a great Truth I muſt not deny, as you do this and many others: Nay, my Knowledge of him is demonſtrated, by more readily obeying his Commands than you do. And as for Abraham, though he was a very great and holy Perſon, he was exceedingly rejoiced to ſee that I ſhould be born into the World; meaning that time when it was revealed unto him, that in his Seed, of which the Meſſias ſhould come, all the Nations of the Earth ſhould be bleſſed. IV. The Jews, who underſtood his Words only in groſs Senſe, replied, We are confident that, by your Looks, you cannot be fifty Years of Age; and not having lived out half a Century, how could you have lived in Abraham's time, who flouriſhed ſo many Ages ago? But to this our Saviour anſwered again, I will aſſure you, that I had a Being long before Abraham. The Jews who heard this, underſtood it as his laying Claim to the Divinity, or at leaſt to be an impairing the Honour of their great Progenitor Abraham; and being highly enraged, eſſayed to ſtone him, which was the Puniſhment due to Blaſphemers, as they took him to be: But our Saviour took care to hide himſelf among ſome of the Multitude, who were his Friends; and ſo he eſcaped the Fury of his Adverſaries.

NOTE.

(b) Sunday next before Eaſter.] This Sunday is the firſt Day of the Paſſion-Week, which was a time of very great Devotion and Eſteem in the ancient Church. It was called by the Greeks Ἑβδομὰς μεγάλη, the Great Week. We find this Rule in the Apoſtolical Conſtitutions; Τὴν δὲ μεγάλην ἑβδομάδα πᾶσαν, καὶ τὴν μετ' αὐτὴν, ἀργεῖτε πᾶσαν, Let the Holy Week, and the Week following, be kept for Holidays, Conſtit. Apoſtol. lib. 1. cap. 33. St. Chryſoſtom gives us the Reaſon why it was called the Great Week: Μεγάλην καλοῦμεν αὐτὴν, οὐκ ὄντας μείζονας, &c. We do not call this the Great Week, becauſe the Days of it are longer than thoſe at other times (for there are ſome Days longer than theſe;) neither becauſe they are more in number than thoſe of other Weeks (for all the Weeks of a Year are equal;) but becauſe great things were performed by our Lord in it: For in this great Week there was an end put to the long-exerciſed Tyranny of the Devil, Death was extinguiſhed, the ſtrong Man was bound, he was ſpoiled of his Arms, Sin was taken away, the Curſe was aboliſhed, Paradiſe was opened, Heaven was made acceſſible: Men were mixed with Angels, the Partition-Wall is taken away, the Rails are pulled down, the God of Peace has made Peace both in Heaven and Earth. For this Reaſon it is called the Great Week; and as this is the Head of the other Weeks, ſo the Great Sabbath is the Head of this Week. Chryſ. Hom. LXXVIII. Tom. V. St. Ambroſe's Office calls this Week by the Name of Authentica; and the Council of Laodicea, c. 46. by the Name of the Week, emphatically. This Sunday is alſo called ἑορτὴ βαιοφόρων, the Feaſt of Palms. For Theophanes has an Homily inſcribed, εἰς τὰ βαιοφόρων ἑορτὴν, upon the Feaſt of Palms. The like Compellation was given it by the Latins. It is called in Gregory's Sacramentary, Dominica de ramis Olivarum, the Sunday of the Branches of Olives. But in St. Ambroſe's Office, by Iſidorus and Alcuinus it is called Dies Palmarum, the Day of Palms. Iſidore ſays, Orig. lib. 6. that it was likewiſe called Dominica Paſcha petentium, vel Competentium, the Sunday of the Competents, or of thoſe who ſtand Candidates for Baptiſm at Eaſter. It was otherwiſe called, Dominica capita lavantium, or Capitilavium, the Sunday of waſhing Heads. For, as Alcuinus ſays, Moris erat lavandi capita infantium qui ungendi ſunt ſabbato ſancto, ne obſervatione Quadrageſimæ ſordidati, ad unctionem accederent; it was a Cuſtom to waſh the Heads of Infants, who were to be anointed on the holy Sabbath, leſt they come to Unction with Heads ſoiled by the Obſervation of Lent. It was likewiſe called Dominica Indulgentiæ, the Sunday of Pardon, becauſe the Catechumens were admitted to Baptiſm, and received Pardon for their Sins; that being an uſual Name for Baptiſm. Cod. Theod. l. 6. Capit. l. 7. c. 204.

PARAPHRASE on the COLLECT for the Sunday next before Eaſter.

O all-powerful and eternal God, who art a God of tender Mercy, James 5. 11. and haſt ſent thy Son in likeneſs of ſinful Fleſh; Rom. 8. 3. though he was before in the Form of God, &c. Phil. 2. 6. and being found in faſhion as a man, to humble himſelf, and become obedient unto Death, even the death of the Croſs, Phil. 2. 8. ſhewing by this the moſt unparallelled Example of Humility: We beſeech thee of thy Goodneſs to give us Grace, that we may take Copy from his Humility and Patience whilſt we continue here, and may ſhare with him in his bleſſed Reſurrection hereafter. And this we beg for Jeſus Chriſt his ſake. Amen.

The EPISTLE. Phil. II. 5.

I. LET this mind be in you, which was alſo in Chriſt Jeſus: who being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: but made himſelf of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a ſervant, and was made in the likeneſs of men: And being found in faſhion as a man, he humbled himſelf, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the croſs. II. Wherefore God alſo hath highly exalted him, and given him a Name, which is above every name; that at the Name of Jeſus every knee ſhould bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth; and that every tongue ſhould confeſs that Jeſus Chriſt is Lord, to the glory of God the Father.

The GOSPEL. S. Matth. XXVII. 1.

I. WHen the morning was come, all the chief prieſts and elders of the people took counſel againſt Jeſus, to put him to death. And when they had bound him, they led him away, and delivered him to Pontius Pilate the governour. II. Then Judas who had betrayed him, when he ſaw that he was condemned, repented himſelf, and brought again the thirty pieces of ſilver to the chief prieſts and elders, ſaying, I have ſinned, in that I have betrayed innocent bloud. And they ſaid, What is that to us? ſee thou to that. And he caſt down the pieces of ſilver in the temple, and departed, and went and hanged himſelf. And the chief prieſts took the ſilver pieces, and ſaid, It is not lawful for to put them into the treaſury, becauſe it is the price of bloud. And they took counſel, and bought with them the potters field to bury ſtrangers in. Wherefore that field was called, The field of bloud unto this day. (Then was fulfilled that which was ſpoken by Jeremy the prophet, ſaying, And they took the thirty pieces of ſilver, the price of him that was valued, whom they of the children of Iſrael did value, and gave them for the potters field, as the Lord appointed

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Phil. II. 5.

I. I adviſe you, my Chriſtian Brethren, that you would do your beſt to imitate that admirable Humility and Lowlineſs of Mind, which was remarkably conſpicuous in our bleſſed Lord; who enjoying the Happineſs and Glory of the Divine Nature, and being equal, in Honour and Dignity, to God the Father, as partaking of the ſame eternal God-head with him; yet he was pleaſed to evacuate himſelf of this incomprehenſible Glory, and by a low Abaſement of himſelf to take upon him not only the Nature of a mortal Man, but to become one of the meaneſt and pooreſt of that Species during his Life-time, and at laſt to die the Death of a Slave; for he was not only clothed with an human Body, and perſonally united to an human Soul, but he was pleaſed to ſubmit to Death alſo, undergoing the moſt painful and moſt diſgraceful of all Deaths, that of the Croſs. II. Which was a meritorious Cauſe that engaged God the Father, the Fountain of the Deity, to advance the human Nature of Chriſt to ſuch a moſt tranſcendent degree of Honour, as no Creature in the Univerſe beſides did enjoy; that being before perſonally united to the ſecond Perſon of the Trinity, and now with it aſcended into Heaven, he was ordered to have paid, the ſame divine Honour and Worſhip which were aſcribed to God the Father formerly; and that Angels in Heaven, and Men in Earth, ſhould adore him, and Devils in Hell ſhould tremble at his Power: Inſomuch that Jeſus Chriſt ſhould be confeſſed to be the ſupreme God, by the Tongue both of Men and Angels of all ſorts; not to the diminiſhing of the Honour of God the Father, but for the greater Diſplay of it, by his having found out ſuch a wonderful and unexpected Method for the Salvation of Mens Souls.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Matth. XXVII. 1.

I. Our bleſſed Saviour being betrayed by Judas the Night preceding his Paſſion, was before Day hurried away, by the Officers who apprehended him, to Caiaphas the High Prieſt's Houſe; who, after having examined ſeveral Witneſſes who gave in ſome falſe and malicious Depoſitions againſt him, detained him in Cuſtody till the Sanhedrim, (or the Aſſembly of the Chief Prieſts and Elders) could be convened: And they, puſhed on by the Novelty of the Proceeding, and their Malice againſt our bleſſed Saviour, met together as ſoon as it was Day; and entering into a Debate concerning the taking away his Life, upon the Depoſitions which had been given in againſt him, in a very little time reſolved it in the Affirmative. Therefore they forthwith order him to be put in Irons, and to be led away to Pontius Pilate the Roman Governour of the Province; that he, by his Sentence, might ratifie their previous Judgment upon him, as a Criminal worthy of Death, upon the Articles which they had exhibited againſt him. II. Upon this, Judas, his traiterous Diſciple, when he ſaw that his Maſter, by his means, would be ſentenced to Death, and ſuffer accordingly; who, 'tis probable, he thought before might free himſelf by a Miracle; being confounded with the greateſt degree of Shame and Deſpair upon the Reflexion of his unparalell'd Perfidiouſneſs and Villany, run back in great Agony of Mind to the Sanhedrim, and threw down the thirty ſilver Shekels, the Bribe they had given him, before them; crying out, I have committed an unpardonable Sin, in taking away the Life of an innocent Perſon. They made him no other Reply, but, that That was a matter, which as it did not concern them, ſo he was to anſwer for it if it was true; and, That he ſhould trouble them no more about it, who were buſie about other more important Affairs. So he left with them the Money, and went aſide into ſome private place, and ſtrangled himſelf; where lying till his Body was ſwollen, his Guts forced their way through his Belly, Acts I. 18. The Sanhedrim having received the Money, and conſidering that it was baſe Gain, like that of the Hire of a Whore, &c. Deut. 23. 18. which was not to be brought into the Treaſury of the Lord's Houſe; they agreed to buy therewith a ſorry Piece of Ground, which a Potter had ſpoiled by digging for Earth in it to make his Wares: This being offered to Sale at a cheap rate, the Sanhedrim bought it for a Burying-place, to inter the Heathens who ſhould happen to die at Jeruſalem. Upon this Occaſion, that Field was called in Syriack, Hakel Dama, or, The Field of Blood. (Which thing is prophetically prefigured by two Paſſages in the ancient Prophets; the one Jeremy, Chap. xxii. where there is mention made of buying a Field; but particularly Zach. II. 12. So they weighed for my Price thirty pieces of Silver, and the Lord ſaid unto me, caſt it unto the Potter, a goodly Price that I was prized at of them. And I took the thirty pieces of Silver, appointed me.) III. And Jeſus ſtood before the governour; and the governour asked him, ſaying, Art thou the king of the Jews? And Jeſus ſaid unto him, Thou ſayeſt. And when he was accuſed of the chief prieſts and elders, he anſwered nothing. Then ſaith Pilate unto him, Heareſt thou not how many things they witneſs againſt thee? And he anſwered him to never a word, inſomuch that the governour marvelled greatly. IV. Now at that feaſt the governour was wont to releaſe unto the people a priſoner, whom they would. And they had then a notable priſoner, called Barabbas. Therefore when they were gathered together, Pilate ſaid unto them, Whom will ye that I releaſe unto you? Barabbas or Jeſus, which is called Chriſt? For he knew that for envy they had delivered him. When he was ſet down on the judgment ſeat, his wife ſent unto him, ſaying, Have thou nothing to do with that juſt man: for I have ſuffered many things this day in a dream becauſe of him. V. But the chief prieſts and elders perſwaded the multitude that they ſhould ask Barabbas, and deſtroy Jeſus. The governour anſwered and ſaid unto them, Whether of the twain will ye that I releaſe unto you? They ſaid Barabbas. Pilate ſaith unto them, What ſhall I do then with Jeſus, which is called Chriſt? They all ſay unto him, Let him be crucified. And the governour ſaid, Why, what evil hath he done? But they cried out the more, ſaying, Let him be crucified. When Pilate ſaw that he could prevail nothing, but that rather a tumult was made, he took water, and waſhed his hands before the multitude, ſaying, I am innocent of the bloud of this juſt perſon: ſee ye to it. Then anſwered all the people, and ſaid, His bloud be on us, and on our children. Then releaſed he Barabbas unto them: and when he had ſcourged Jeſus, he delivered him to be crucified. VI. Then the ſouldiers of the governour took Jeſus into the common hall, and gathered unto him the whole band of ſouldiers. And they ſtripped him, and put on him a ſcarlet robe. And when they had platted a crown of thorns, they put it upon his head, and a reed in his right hand: and they bowed the knee before him, and mocked him, ſaying, Hail, king of the Jews.

Silver, and caſt them to the Potter in the houſe of the Lord.) III. Our Saviour now being brought, as a Criminal, before Pilate, the Roman Governour's Tribunal, the Governour, looking upon his vulgar Habit, asked him in a ſcornful way, partly in contempt of the Perſon brought before him, and partly to reflect upon the Jewiſh Nation, whom he knew to be eager in their Expectations of a great Prince to riſe up among them; What (ſays he) art thou the Jews King, which they are in ſuch Expectation of? Our Saviour replied, I am that Perſon you mention. Pilate thinking he had ſome allegorical Meaning which he did not underſtand, and that there was no Danger to the Roman Government to be expected from a Man's airy Notion of a Kingdom, without Arms or Soldiers, laid no weight upon this Confeſſion, but proceeded to further Evidence againſt him. And when the Articles which the Jews had drawn up againſt him were read, and the Witneſſes to make good their Charge produced; he gave no Anſwer to them, as being frivolous and inconſiſtent, and ſuch as a wiſe and ſagacious Judge would deſpiſe. At this Pilate ſaid, Have you no Concern to defend yourſelf againſt theſe Accuſations, which ſtrike at your Life? But he gave no Anſwer to this neither, as knowing that there was nothing capital objected againſt him, or which could amount to the Treaſon they charged him with: Which made Pilate not a little amazed, to find ſo great a degree of Conſtancy of Mind, and Unconcernedneſs at Death, in a young Perſon of ſo ordinary an Education. IV. Now it had been a Cuſtom of ſome conſiderable time ſtanding, for the Governour of that Province, at the Feaſt of the Paſſover, which was the great Feſtival of the Year, out of Complaiſance to the Jews, to pardon ſome Condemned Perſon whom they ſhould nominate. And there was at that time under Sentence of Death, one Barabbas, a notorious Highway-man, who had done a great deal of Miſchief to the Country both by his Murders and Robbery. Wherefore he put it to their Choice, whom they would deſire to be pardoned for their ſakes, that infamous Miſcreant, who had been ſuch a Peſt to the Publick, or Jeſus, who was called the Chriſt; thinking, that though 'twas plain they had maliciouſly accuſed him, yet they would, out of pure ſhame, diſguiſe their Reſentments, and chooſe rather that Jeſus ſhould live, than ſuch a wicked and notorious Offender ſhould eſcape. But it muſt not here be omitted, that during the time that Pilate was upon the Bench, his Wife ſent a Meſſenger to him, earneſtly deſiring of him, not to concern himſelf in the Condemnation of that holy Prophet who was brought before him; for ſhe had that Morning, ſince he roſe, been under moſt inexpreſſible Agonies, in a Dream upon his account. V. Pilate having made the Propoſal to the People, of their chooſing one to be pardoned, either Jeſus or Barabbas; the Members of the Sanhedrim, who were there very active in managing the People, perſuaded them to make their Suit for Barabbas, and leave Jeſus to ſuffer. The Governour again asking them which of theſe two Criminals they deſired ſhould be pardoned, they cry out Barabbas. Pilate enquired further, What they would have done with Jeſus? They being ſtill under the ſame Direction, cry out unanimouſly, Let him be crucified. Pilate then began to expoſtulate the Caſe with them, telling them, that they had not proved him guilty of any Capital Offence. This ſerved only the more to enrage the furious Rabble, who ſtill cried the louder, Let him be crucified. Pilate now perceiving that his Endeavours to ſave him were to no purpoſe, and fearing that the Rabble, who already began to be mutinous, might proceed to an open Defection, was forced to give way to their Cruelty; but, according to the Cuſtom of the Jews among whom he converſed, waſhed his Hands, in token that he was not to be blamed for the condemning an innocent Perſon, but they who forced him to it. The People cry out again, We will excuſe you, O Governour, from any ſhare of the Crime, if it be any; and let this Man's Blood, if he die wrongfully, be revenged upon us and our Poſterity. Upon this he gave out an Order for Barabbas's Diſcharge; and another, for Jeſus to be firſt ſcourged, and afterwards crucified. VI. Then ſome of the Governour's Guard, who were Lictors, or Perſons appointed to execute his Sentences, took Jeſus from the Bar before the Tribunal, and carried him into the Prætorium, or Court of the Governour's Palace, who invited the reſt of the Soldiers belonging to the Company, to take a ſhare in the Sport which they deſigned to make with this bleſſed, though condemned, Perſon. All this Rabble Soldiery being now gotten together, they turn all the Relation which they had heard of his Spiritual Kingdom into Mockery; taking off his uſual Cloaths, and putting on him a purple Robe, of the ſame Faſhion; as Princes uſe to wear: And for a Crown, they place on his Head a Wreath of Thorns in the Figure of a Regal Diadem; for a Sceptre, they put a Reed in his Hand, kneeling before him in a ſcornful manner, ſaying, Long live Jeſus, King of the Jews. When they were weary of deriding this bleſſed

Jews. And they ſpit upon him, and took the reed, and ſmote him on the head. And after that they had mocked him, they took the robe off from him, and put his own raiment on him, and led him away to crucifie him. VII. And as they came out, they found a man of Cyrene, Simon by name: him they compelled to bear his croſs. And when they were come unto a place called Golgotha, that is to ſay, a place of a skull, they gave him vinegar to drink, mingled with gall: and when he had taſted thereof, he would not drink. And they crucified him, and parted his garments, caſting lots: that it might be fulfilled, which was ſpoken by the prophet, They parted my garments among them, and upon my veſture did they caſt lots. VIII. And ſitting down they watched him there; and ſet up over his head his accuſation written, THIS IS JESUS THE KING OF THE JEWS. Then were there two thieves crucified with him: one on the right hand, and another on the left. And they that paſſed by, reviled him, wagging their heads, and ſaying, Thou that deſtroyeſt the temple, and buildeſt it in three days, ſave thy ſelf: if thou be the ſon of God, come down from the croſs. Likewiſe alſo the chief prieſts mocking him, with the Scribes and elders, ſaid, He ſaved others, himſelf he cannot ſave: if he be the King of Iſrael let him now come down from the croſs, and we will believe him. He truſted in God; let him deliver him now if he will have him: for he ſaid, I am the ſon of God. The thieves alſo which were crucified with him, caſt the ſame in his teeth. IX. Now from the ſixth hour there was darkneſs over all the land, unto the ninthhour. And about the ninth hour, Jeſus cried with a loud voice, ſaying, Eli, Eli, lama ſabachthani? that is to ſay, My God, my God, why haſt thou forſaken me? Some of them that ſtood there, when they heard that, ſaid, This man calleth for Elias. And ſtraightway one of them ran, and took a ſpunge and filled it with vineger, and put it on a reed, and gave him to drink. The reſt ſaid, Let be, let us ſee whether Elias will come to ſave him. Jeſus when he had cried again with a loud voice yielded up the ghoſt. X. And behold, the vail of the Temple was rent in twain from the top to the bottom, and the earth did quake, and the rocks rent, and the graves were opened, and many bodies of ſaints which ſlept, aroſe, and came out of the graves, bleſſed Perſon, they proceed to exerciſe Acts of their Cruelty upon him; ſometimes ſpitting in his Face, other times taking the Reed or Cane out of his Hand, ſtriking him over the Head with it, and by that driving the Thorns into his Temples. After this they put on his own Cloaths again, and led him away to the Place where he was to be crucified. VII. But his Croſs being too heavy to be carried by one Perſon, they lay the Tranſverſe and heavieſt part on the Shoulders of our bleſſed Lord; preſſing one Simon of Cyrene, a City in the Region of Decapolis in Syria, to lift up the long Beam of it. The place of Execution was called Golgotha, or the Skull-Field, receiving that Name from the Bones and Skulls of executed Malefactors, who were buried there: Being arrived here, he had a Cup offered him of medicated Drink, compos'd of ſour Wine and Bitters, which was uſed to be given to Perſons who were going to ſuffer that Death, to intoxicate their Heads, and ſtupify them, that they might bear their Pains with leſs Senſe; but our Saviour juſt taſting it, gave back the Cup without drinking. Then they nailed him to the Croſs: The Soldiers which had the Charge of the Execution, ſhared his Cloaths among them; and becauſe his upper Garments could not be conveniently divided, they caſt Lots for it, John 19. 23. by which that Paſſage of the Pſalmiſt was literally verified, *Pſal.*22.18. They parted my Garments among them, and caſt Lots upon my Veſture. VIII. The Captain who was ſent to attend the Execution, and the Soldiers who were there under his Command, ſat down, to watch him till he was dead; they having fixed an Inſcription over his Head upon the main Beam of the Croſs, containing the Matter of his Accuſation, which was, THIS IS JESUS THE KING OF THE JEWS. It muſt likewiſe be remembred, that there were two Malefactors who were condemned for Robbery, and were crucified at the ſame time, one on each ſide of him. The Jewiſh Rabble which flocked about the Croſs forgetting his late Miracles, and the beneficial Cures which he had wrought among them, now upbraided him with ſome of the trivial Articles which the Sanhedrim had given in againſt him; crying out, O you that could deſtroy the Temple, and build it again in three Days, exert ſome of this great Power now in your own Behalf, and preſerve yourſelf, which is eaſier to do than to rebuild the Temple in ſo ſhort a time: If you be the Meſſias, come down from the Croſs, and don't let a Perſon of that Power be held by thoſe Nails. Several of the Members of the Sanhedrim, whoſe Malice had drawn them thither to be Beholders of this ſad Spectacle, derided him alſo in ſuch like words: Here is a Man that talks of ſaving all the World; and yet he can't ſave himſelf from this painful and ignominious Death: If he be the Meſſias, let him come down from the Croſs; and we that are learned in our ſacred Laws and Traditions, will believe him to be ſo, as well as ſome of his few ignorant Followers: He made bold Claims to the divine Favours, pretending to be God's Son: therefore let God take down his Son from the Croſs, if he bear that fatherly Affection to him. One of the Thieves, who was crucified with him, upbraided him in like manner. IX. Now from before Twelve-a-clock, the time when he was faſtened to the Croſs, till Three-a-clock when he died, there was an unheard-of Darkneſs, the Sun being ſo obſcured, that it gave little Light to the World during that time: But about Three-a-Clock in the Afternoon, our Saviour cried out with a ſtrong Voice, uttering theſe words out of Pſalm 22, in the Syriack, then vulgarly ſpoken, Eli, Eli, lama ſabachthani, My God, my God, why haſt thou forſaken me? Upon the hearing theſe words, ſome of the Spectators, who being at a conſiderable Diſtance, and not hearing the diſtinct Sound of the words, fancied he called for the Aſſiſtance of Elias, whom the Jews expected at this time to return into the World. Then one of the Company, obſerving him in that vehement Agony, out of compaſſion to him, took a Sponge, tying it to a Stalk of Hyſop, and dipped it in the Veſſel of medicated Wine which ſtood by; and faſtening it to a Pole, or long Reed, put it up to his Mouth, that by ſucking he might refreſh himſelf. Others, more hard-hearted and malicious, made this Reflexion upon the words he then ſpoke; He calls for Elias, but 'tis not Elias will ſave him. He ſpoke a few words more with a ſtrong Voice, viz. It is finiſhed, and then he died. X. It is further to be obſerved, that there were ſeveral great Prodigies, which attended the Death of this divine Perſon: The great Curtain, which was drawn croſs the Temple, to skreen the Holy of Holies, was torn from the Top to the Bottom, without any viſible Hand: At the ſame time, there was a terrible Earthquake, not only in Judea, but in great part of the World beſides, graves; after his reſurrection, and went into the holy city, and appeared unto many. Now when the centurion, and they that were with him, watching Jeſus, ſaw the earth-quake, and thoſe things that were done, they feared greatly, ſaying, Truly this was the ſon of God.

For the EPISTLE. Isai. LXIII. 1.

I. WHO is this that cometh from Edom, with died Garments from Bozrah? this that is glorious in his apparel, travelling in the greatneſs of his ſtrength? II. I that ſpeak in righteouſneſs, mighty to ſave. III. Wherefore art thou red in thine apparel, and thy garments like him that treadeth in the wine-fat? I have troden the wine-preſs alone, and of the people there was none with me: for I will tread them in mine anger, and trample them in my fury, and their bloud ſhall be ſprinkled upon my garments, and I will ſtain all my raiment. For the day of vengeance is in mine heart, and the year of my redeemed is come. IV. And I looked and there was none to help; and I wondred that there was none to uphold: therefore mine own arm brought ſalvation unto me, and my fury it upheld me. And I will tread down the people in mine anger, and make them drunk in my fury, and I will bring down their ſtrength to the earth. V. I will mention the loving kindneſſes of the Lord, and the praiſes of the Lord, according to all that the Lord hath beſtowed on us, and the great goodneſs towards the houſe of Iſrael, which he hath beſtowed on them, according to his mercies, and according to the multitude of his loving kindneſſes. For he ſaid, Surely they are my people, children that will not lie: ſo he was their Saviour. In all their affliction, he was afflicted, and the angel of his preſence ſaved them: in his love, and in his pity he redeemed them, and he bare them, and carried them all the days of old. But they rebelled, and vexed his holy Spirit, therefore he was turned to be their enemy, and he fought againſt them. VI. Then he remembred the days of old, Moſes and his people, ſaying, Where is he that brought them up out of the beſides, which tore many rocky Hills in pieces, and opened the Monuments of the Dead; making way for ſome of them to come out of their Graves ſoon after, to accompany Chriſt in his Reſurrection, who at that time appeared to ſeveral in Jeruſalem. Now when the Captain, and ſome others of the Soldiers which were under his Command, took notice that this terrible Storm happened juſt at our Saviour's expiring, and that the wonderful Darkneſs preceded it, they were under the greateſt degree of Conſternation; ſaying among one another, 'Tis to be feared that the divine Vengeance will proſecute us, for being Miniſters of the Jews Cruelty towards this excellent Perſon, who was certainly of that divine Original, which he laid claim to.

(i) Munday before.] This Week, from the extraordinary Devotion of the Church in it, was called, The Great Week, and the Holy Week, and was ſo anciently obſerved, that the Obſervation thereof is attributed to the Apoſtles. Epiph. ad Audian.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Iſai. LXIII. 1.

The Prophet having in a Viſion repreſented to his Imagination, a Perſon in a remarkable Habit, coming in great haſte towards him, he addreſſes himſelf to the Perſon ſo repreſented, which is ſuppoſed to be the Meſſias, in this manner. I. Who is this extraordinary Perſon whom I ſee coming from the Country of Idumæa, and as it were from Bozra, a principal Town thereof, having his Cloaths died, as it were, with Spots of Red upon them? Who is this Perſon whom I ſee arrayed with ſuch a reſplendent Coat of Male, making up towards me with large and haſty Steps? The Perſon who appeared made Anſwer to this Queſtion, in this manner. II. He whom you view with ſo much Eagerneſs and Admiration, is the Meſſias, who will ſhortly publiſh a Religion of the moſt holy and righteous Doctrines; and being veſted with the Omnipotence of the divine Nature, have Power to confer eternal Salvation upon thoſe who diligently obſerve my Laws. III. To this the Prophet replied, What is the Reaſon of thoſe Red Spots which appear upon thy Cloaths, which make them look like thoſe of one who treads in a Wine-Fat, being diſcoloured by the Red Juice of the preſſed Grape? The Perſon, who appeared in the Viſion, made Anſwer: 'Tis true, I have been treading in a Wine-Fat, and that alone by my ſelf; for this is an apt Reſemblance of my ſingle Suffering upon the Croſs for the Sins of all Mankind; and by this Action I ſhall ſubdue the Devil with his Accomplices and all other Enemies of my ſpiritual Kingdom, as effectually as any temporal Conquerour vanquiſhes his Oppoſers, and wades through their Blood which flows over the Field of Battle. For, the time which has been long ſince determined for the Redemption of the World will ſhortly come on, when I ſhall obtain an entire Victory over all the Oppoſers thereof. IV. Now upon taking a View of thoſe who could have any Pretence to be Sharers in this Redemption, I found that it was performed by myſelf alone, without the Aſſiſtance of any other; being ſupported therein by the Power of my own eternal Nature, and my great Zeal and Concern for the Souls of Men. And to make way for this, I will ſubdue all that make Oppoſition to this great Deſign, with as much Force as a victorious Soldier beats down his Adverſary to the Ground, and tramples upon him there. V. And here I cannot forbear to lay hold of an Opportunity of praiſing the Divine Goodneſs for the many particular Favours which God has been pleaſed to confer upon the Nation of the Jews, during the Series of many Ages: For God openly declared, that they ſhould be his People who ſhould worſhip him the true God only, and not like the Gentiles, who pay a lying Worſhip to Idols: And this was the Reaſon that he ſo frequently delivered them from ſuch eminent Dangers which they were in. When they were under any great Affliction, God himſelf ſeemed to take their Trouble to Heart; and during the Succeſſion of many Ages he defended them, with as much Tenderneſs as a Nurſe does the Child which ſhe carries in her Arms. VI. Then the Perſon repreſented in the Viſion proceeded in his Diſcourſe, and gave ſome particular Inſtances of God's miraculous the ſea with the ſhepherd of his flock? Where is he that put his holy ſpirit within him? that led them by the right hand of Moſes, with his glorious arm, dividing the water before them, to make himſelf an everlaſting Name? That led them through the deep as an horſe in the wilderneſs, that they ſhould not ſtumble? as a beaſt goeth down into the valley, the ſpirit of the Lord cauſed him to reſt: ſo didſt thou lead thy people to make thy ſelf a glorious Name. VII. Look down from heaven, and behold from the habitation of thy holineſs, and of thy glory: Where is thy zeal, and thy ſtrength, the ſounding of thy bowels, and of thy mercies towards me? are they reſtrained? Doubtleſs thou art our Father, though Abraham be ignorant of us, and Iſrael acknowledge us not: thou O Lord, art our Father, our redeemer, thy Name is from everlaſting. VIII. O Lord, Why haſt thou made us to erre from thy ways? and hardned our heart from thy fear? Return for thy ſervants ſake, the tribes of thine inheritance. The people of thy holineſs have poſſeſſed it but a little while: our adverſaries have troden down thy ſanctuary. We are thine, thou never bareſt rule over them; they were not called by thy Name.

The GOSPEL. S. Mark XIV. 1.

I. After two days was the feaſt of the paſſover, and of unleavened bread: and the chief prieſts and the Scribes ſought how they might take him by craft, and put him to death. But they ſaid, Not on the feaſt-day, leſt there be an uprore of the people. II. And being in Bethany, in the houſe of Simon the leper, as he ſat at meat, there came a woman, having an alabaſter-box of ointment of ſpikenard, very precious, and ſhe brake the box, and poured it on his head. And there were ſome that had indignation within themſelves, and ſaid, Why was this waſt of the ointment made? For it might have been ſold for more than three hundred pence, and have been given to the poor: and they murmured againſt her. And Jeſus ſaid, Let her alone, why trouble you her? ſhe hath wrought a good work on me. For ye have the culous Preſervation of the Jewiſh Nation in former times, in theſe or the like words: Is not God the ſame Almighty God ſtill, as when he conducted them and their Leader Moſes through the Sea? Can't he afford another Perſon as powerful Influxes of his Spirit, and endow him with as conſtant a Power of working Mracles as he did Moſes? No one can doubt of this, who conſiders, That it was through the Efficacy of the Divine Power, (God thereby having wiſe Deſigns to diſcover that he was the only true God,) that at the waving of Moſes's Rod the Waters of the Red-Sea retired on each ſide. For God provided for the Safety of his People as they were paſſing over the Sea-Sands, and afterwards over the barren Wilderneſs, conducting them with as much Security, as a Horſe that is led in the hand of a careful Groom, and afterwards lodged them in the Country of Canaan, as much to their Satisfaction, as it is for Cattel, after hard Labour, to be depaſtured in a green Meadow; thereby acquiring to himſelf extraordinary Fame among all the Gentile Nations round about. VII. When the Perſon repreſented in the Viſion had made an end of ſpeaking, I thus addreſſed myſelf to God in Prayer. O our gracious God, I beſeech thee to look down with an eye of Compaſſion from Heaven, which is the Seat of thy Majeſty, and where thy eſſential Glory does chiefly diſplay itſelf, upon the Calamities of thy People, and work their Deliverance. And ſince we ſee ſuch a Torrent of Misfortunes breaking in upon us, our Church and Nation has reaſon to expoſtulate with thee, O great God; Where is thy wonted Love and Affection, where is thy Almighty Power which thou waſt wont formerly to exert on our behalf? What can put a Bar to theſe infinite Perfections of thine? Moſt certainly thou doſt ſtill bear the ſame paternal Affection to us: Though our great Progenitors Abraham and Jacob, being removed to another State, ſhould be diveſted of their natural Affection to their Offspring; though at ſo remote a diſtance they ſhould not have a Cognizance of our human Affairs, nor be able to relieve us under our Misfortunes; yet thou, our Father by Creation, haſt the tenderеſt Regard to us thy poor Creatures; thy Goodneſs diſpoſes thee to redreſs our Misfortunes, and thy everlaſting Power furniſhes thee with Ability to do it. VIII. Why haſt thou, by thy withdrawing thy Grace and Favour from us, ſuffered us to fall into ſuch a Degeneracy of Manners, as to pull down thoſe heavy Judgments which we foreſee muſt befal us? I beg of thee, that thou would'ſt afford us a freſh Experiment of the Kindneſs which thou beareſt to thy choſen People, the twelve Tribes of the Jewiſh Nation. We have poſſeſſed the Holy Land but a little while, in compariſon of that perpetual Inheritance which we expected to have enjoyed therein: And now we find, that our Idolatrous Enemy will profane and deſtroy the Holy Temple, where thou the only true God art worſhipped. Indeed theſe thy Judgments are unſearchable, ſince thou indulgeſt ſuch Favour and Succeſs to our wicked Adverſaries, and doſt viſit us, whom of all the People of the World thou haſt been pleaſed to enlighten with a Knowledge of thy true Worſhip, with ſuch afflicting Calamities.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Mark XIV. 1.

I. Our Saviour being with his Diſciples, on the Tueſday in the Afternoon of the Week wherein he ſuffered, and the Paſchal-Week commencing two Days after, the Members of the Sanhedrim were in a Conſultation how they might get him into Cuſtody, by ſome ſly and private way, which the People might know nothing of, and after that to procure him to be condemned and executed. However, they thought it not convenient to enterprize this during the Feaſt of the Paſſover, for fear the People, to whom he ſeemed yet very dear, might make a Riſing for his Reſcue, during that mighty Concourſe. II. Now ſome time, whilſt our Saviour continued in this Place, which was Bethany, a Village not far diſtant from Jeruſalem; he being one day at Dinner, a devout Woman, of the number of his Followers, viz. Mary Magdalen, John 12. 3. having in her Poſſeſſion a Bottle of very rich Perfume, ſuch as Perſons of the beſt Quality uſed to have their Hair anointed with at Feſtival Times, ſhe broke the Vial over his Head, ſhedding the fragrant Perfume upon it, in token of her great Reſpect to him, Upon this, one of the Diſciples, viz. Judas, Joh. 12. 4. endeavoured to perſuade ſome of the reſt that this was an Act of very great Profuſeneſs, foraſmuch as this Vial of Perfume might have been ſold for three or four Pound, which would have been a conſiderable Charity to have given to the Poor; Which Objection having ſome force with a few of the Diſciples, they joined with him in cenſuring the devout Woman, for this Reſpect ſhewed to our bleſſed Lord. Upon this our Saviour took them up, bidding them to be more moderate in their Cenſures upon her; ſeeing what ſhe had done was a good and pious Action, and by no ways blame-worthy. For, as for the Kindneſs to the Poor, which ſome of you ſeem to prefer above all others, theſe Perſons you will have longer with the poor with you always, and whenſoever ye will, ye may do them good: but me ye have not always. She hath done what ſhe could: ſhe is come aforehand to anoint my body to the burying. Verily I ſay unto you, Whereſoever this goſpel ſhall be preached throughout the whole world, this alſo that ſhe hath done ſhall be ſpoken of for a memorial to her. III. And Judas Iſcariot, one of the twelve, went unto the chief prieſts, to betray him unto them. And when they heard it, they were glad, and promiſed to give him money. And he ſought how he might conveniently betray him. IV. And the firſt day of unleavened bread, when they killed the paſſover, his diſciples ſaid unto him, Where wilt thou that we go and prepare, that thou mayeſt eat the paſſover? And he ſendeth forth two of his diſciples, and ſaith unto them, Go ye into the city, and there ſhall meet you a man bearing a pitcher of water: follow him. And whereſoever he ſhall go in, ſay ye to the good-man of the houſe, The maſter ſaith, Where is the gueſt-chamber, where I ſhall eat the paſſover with my diſciples? And he will ſhew you a large upper room furniſhed, and prepared, there make ready for us. And his diſciples went forth, and came into the city, and found as he had ſaid unto them: and they made ready the paſſover. And in the evening he cometh with the twelve. V. And as they ſat, and did eat, Jeſus ſaid, Verily I ſay unto you, one of you which eateth with me, ſhall betray me. And they began to be ſorrowful, and to ſay unto him, one by one, Is it I? And another ſaid, Is it I? And he anſwered and ſaid unto them, It is one of the twelve that dippeth with me in the diſh. The Son of man indeed goeth, as it is written of him: but wo to that man by whom the ſon of man is betrayed: good were it for that man if he had never been born. VI. And as they did eat, Jeſus took bread, and bleſſed, and brake it, and gave to them, and ſaid, Take, eat: This is my body. And he took the cup, and when he had given thanks, he gave it to them: and they all drank of it. And he ſaid unto them, This is my bloud of the new teſtament, which is ſhed for many. Verily I ſay unto you, I will drink no more of the fruit of the vine, until that day that I drink it new in the kingdom of God. And when they had ſung an with you than you will have me; and you may have many convenient Opportunities whilſt you live to befriend them, but 'tis not very long that I ſhall be with you. This good Woman has done me a very diſtinguiſhing Honour, and above what could be expected from her; nay, perhaps, there may be ſomething more ominous in this Action, than you are aware of: ſuppoſe that theſe are the Aromaticks that are to perfume my Body to the Grave; I hope in this caſe you will not think the Charge too much to be laid out upon your dying Maſter, ſince 'tis the Faſhion to be ſo profuſe in this Expence, upon every ordinary Corps. But one thing I will aſſure you of, that whereſoever, throughout the whole World, the Goſpel ſhall be preached, (as it ſhall ſome time or other be preached all over it) this very Action of this devout Woman ſhall be ſo far from being condemned, that it ſhall be celebrated as a Monument of her extraordinary Piety. III. Not long after this, Judas, who was ſurnamed Iſcariot, (either from the Syriack word Scherjut, which ſignifies a Bag, or from the Town Cariotum, where he is ſuppoſed to be born, which Name was given by way of diſtinction, to mark him out from the other Judas, the Brother of James,) he being one of the twelve Diſciples, offered his Aſſiſtance to the Sanhedrim, to betray his Maſter into their hands. This inclined them to alter their former Reſolutions, of not taking him into Cuſtody at the Paſchal Seaſon; but being glad of ſo unforeſeen an Opportunity, gave him a Sum of Money as a Reward for his Treachery. IV. The firſt Day of the Paſchal Week was now began, in which the Paſchal Lamb was killed and conſecrated at the Altar: When one of his Diſciples ask'd him at what Place they ſhould make Preparation to partake of the Paſſover, it being now high time to make the proper Diſpoſitions for that Ceremony? With that, he diſpatches two of his Diſciples, Peter and John, with Command that they ſhould go to Jeruſalem, where they ſhould be no ſooner arriv'd, but that they ſhould meet a Man carrying a Pitcher of Water; and that they ſhould follow after this Perſon to the Houſe whither he is going; and then enquiring for the Maſter of that Family, to deliver this Meſſage: Our Maſter bid us to ask you, which was the Room where he and his Diſciples ſhould eat the Paſſover in? And upon this he ſhall lead you into a Great Room above-ſtairs, with a Table ready ſet out, and Couches about it to lie down upon: do you get the Paſchal Lamb ready to be eaten by us in this Chamber. Theſe two Diſciples being arrived at Jeruſalem, found all things to occur, as our Saviour had foretold; preparing the Paſchal Lamb, and making the other neceſſary Diſpoſitions for that Solemnity. And when it grew towards night, our Saviour, with the reſt of his Diſciples, came to the forementioned place. V. Whilſt they were at Supper, our Saviour ſaid to them, I muſt now inform you of one Particular, which will not a little ſurprize you; there is one of you that is at this preſent eating with me at the Table, who ſhall betray me to the Sanhedrim. This occaſioned a very great Damp upon their Spirits; and everyone of them being willing to purge himſelf from the Suſpicion of ſuch a Crime, cried out by turns, I hope, Sir, it is not I? Our Saviour replied, I told you before, that the Traitor was one who ſat at the Table; I will now be more particular, and tell you, that he is one of thoſe that is eating out of the ſame Diſh with me. Indeed it is determined, for wiſe and great Ends, that I the Meſſias muſt die, as the Scriptures have predicted, but that ſhall not excuſe the wicked Man who betrays me; for ſuch a ſad degree of Woe and Miſery attends him, as a Puniſhment of his Crime, that a ſtate of Non-exiſtence would be far more eligible than his Being. VI. Before Supper was ended, our Saviour, deſigning to inſtitute a new Sacrament in lieu of the old Paſchal Rite, took a Piece of Bread into his hands; and, by a ſhort Prayer bleſſing it, in ſolemn manner he broke it, delivering to every one of them a Piece in this form of Words, Take, eat, this is my Body; alluding to the Words of the Inſtitution of the Paſſover, which he ſet up this Rite in lieu of, Thus ſhall ye eat it, it is the Lord's Paſſover, Exod. 12. 11. In like manner he took a Cup of Wine into his Hands, conſecrating that likewiſe by a Prayer, he delivered it into their Hands ſeverally, every one of all the Company drinking thereof: He pronouncing to them Words to this effect; This [Wine which I here deliver to you] is [a Repreſentation and Conveyance of the Benefits of] my Blood [which is the Sanction] of the New Teſtament [or Covenant which God has been pleaſed to agree to enter into with Mankind] which is [ſhortly to be] ſhed [not for the Jews only, as God's peculiar Favourites, but] for [the] many, [or more numerous Gentiles.] And now I have done this, I will aſſure you, that I ſhall not drink any more Wine till after my Reſurrection; when I ſhall have received my Kingdom from God;

an hymn, they went out into the mount of Olives. VII. And Jeſus ſaith unto them, All ye ſhall be offended becauſe of me this night: for it is written, I will ſmite the ſhepherd, and the ſheep ſhall be ſcattered. But after that I am riſen, I will go before you into Galilee. But Peter ſaid unto him, Although all ſhall be offended, yet will not I. And Jeſus ſaith unto him; Verily I ſay unto thee, that this day, even in this night, before the cock crow twice, thou ſhalt deny me thrice. But he ſpake the more vehemently, If I ſhould die with thee, I will not deny thee in any wiſe. Likewiſe alſo ſaid they all. VIII. And they came to a place which was named Gethſemani, and he ſaith to his diſciples, Sit ye here, while I ſhall pray. And he taketh with him Peter, and James, and John, and began to be ſore amazed, and to be very heavy, and ſaith unto them, My ſoul is exceeding ſorrowful unto death; tarry ye here, and watch. And he went forward a little, and fell on the ground, and prayed, that if it were poſſible the hour might paſs from him. And he ſaid, Abba, father; All things are poſſible unto thee; take away this cup from me: nevertheleſs, not what I will, but what thou wilt. IX. And he cometh and findeth them ſleeping, and ſaith unto Peter, Simon, ſleepeſt thou? couldſt not thou watch one hour? Watch ye and pray, leſt ye enter into temptation: the ſpirit truly is ready, but the fleſh is weak. And again he went away, and prayed, and ſpake the ſame words. And when he returned, he found them aſleep again, (for their eyes were heavy) neither wiſt they what to anſwer him. And he cometh the third time, and ſaith unto them, Sleep on now, and take your reſt: it is enough, the hour is come; Behold the Son of man is betrayed into the hands of ſinners. Riſe up, let us go; lo, he that betrayeth me is at hand. X. And immediately, while he yet ſpake, cometh Judas, one of the twelve, and with him a great multitude with ſwords, and ſtaves, from the chief Prieſts, and the Scribes, and the Elders. And he that betrayed him, had given them a token, ſaying, Whomſoever I ſhall kiſs, that ſame is he; take him, and lead him away ſafely. And as ſoon as he was come, he goeth ſtraightway to him, and ſaith, Maſter, maſter, God, I may drink ſome again. And after having ſung an Hymn, which was uſual at the Celebration of the Paſſover, he went over the Brook Cedron, John 18. 1. to the Foot of the Mount of Olives. VII. And then our Saviour told them, that in that very Night they ſhould all of them make a very great Defection from their Duty towards him; for, to uſe the Words of the Prophet Zachary, I will ſmite the Shepherd, and the Sheep ſhall be ſcattered, i.e. You ſhall all of you cowardly forſake me, when you ſhall ſee me in Danger. Peter diſdaining to be accuſed with the reſt of ſo much Perfidiouſneſs, declared, that if all the other Diſciples ſhould forſake their Maſter, yet he ſingly by himſelf would ſtick to him. Our Saviour obſerving he had too great a Confidence in his own Strength, replies upon him, Well! Peter, as forward as you are in aſſerting your Fidelity towards me, and your Courage to ſuffer for my ſake; before the ſecond Cock-crowing, viz. the Break of Day, you ſhall thrice perfidiouſly deny me to be your Maſter. This ſerved only to raiſe his Spirit, and the Aſſurance of his Sincerity and Courage, the more; provoking him to declare, That he would chooſe rather to die with him than to deſert him. The like Proteſtation, after Peter's Example, was made by the reſt. VIII. They then went into a publick Garden, called Gethſemani; and here our Saviour ordered his Diſciples to ſit down, whilſt he retired a while from them to perform ſome private Devotions which he was at that time willing to pay to God; taking with him only Peter, James, and John, his three moſt beloved Diſciples, to be Witneſſes of his Agony: and then he appeared to be under the moſt inexpreſſible Grief and Anguiſh of Mind, declaring to them, that his Soul was ſurrounded with Sorrow, and that he was ready to die with it: I beſeech you therefore, my dear Friends (ſays he) to tarry in the Place you are now in, for ſome time; and though I perceive you are inclinable to Sleep, yet I would have you a while keep yourſelves waking. And going from them a few Paces, he, in the humbleſt Poſture of Devotion, fell proſtrate upon the Earth, praying, among other things, in particular, That he might be excuſed from the terrible Puniſhment which he was to undergo, if there were any Poſſibility of it: For O my eternal Father (ſays he) all things are poſſible to thee which are not, for juſt Reaſons, decreed by thee to be otherwiſe; therefore I pray thee, if there can be any way found to remove this bitter Cup from me, let me not drink it; but if thy Will, which is grounded upon the juſteſt Reaſons, has reſolved it muſt go down with me, I ſubmit to thy Pleaſure. IX. After this, coming back to his three Diſciples, whom he had left at a ſmall diſtance from him, he found them aſleep notwithſtanding his late Injunction to the contrary; wherefore he addreſſing himſelf to Peter, who had lately made ſuch Proteſtations of his Fidelity and Obedience, What, Can ſuch a faithful Diſciple as Simon ſleep contrary to his Maſter's expreſs Command? Methinks one Hour's want of Sleep were but a poor Requital of all the Pains I have laid out upon you. However, I will take occaſion, upon this Neglect of yours, to leave with you theſe Obſervations, which may do you and others Service when I am gone from you: Firſt, Watchfulneſs and Prayer are the beſt Security againſt the Devil's Temptations: Secondly, Good Reſolutions are oftentimes honeſtly taken up; but, through the Frailty of human Nature, are but careleſly proſecuted. With that he retired the ſecond time, and prayed the ſame Prayer again. Upon his Return, he found them aſleep likewiſe a ſecond time, for they were very drowſy, and could not keep their Eyes open; but perceiving their Maſter by them again, they were perfectly aſhamed of themſelves, and under that Confuſion could not tell what to ſay to him. And after having prayed a third time, he returned to them as before, and ſpoke to them in theſe Words: For all the Service which you can do me now by your watching, you may ſleep on as long as you pleaſe; I ſhould not now have any more need of your watching, though you had performed it with more Exactneſs than you have done: The time of my Suffering is come; and, what you have always been loth to believe, the Meſſias is to be delivered into the Hands of unbelieving Heathens, to be put to Death by their Authority. The Wretch which betrays me, with his Confederates, is juſt upon us: Come, riſe up, let us courageouſly meet them; and let us not cowardly ſtay here till they come up to us, as if we were afraid of the Death which they deſign to inflict upon us. X. It was not very long after his having ſpoken theſe Words, but into the Garden comes Judas, with a numerous Rabble after him, ſome Soldiers of the Garriſon armed with Swords, but more of the Town-Mob. with Staves; all which had been gotten together by the Sanhedrim. Then the Soldiers, who were the more powerful part of this Company, and which the Jews moſtly depended upon, not knowing Jeſus, as having never been at his Sermons; Judas agreed upon a Sign to give them, how to diſtinguiſh Jeſus by; for (ſays he) the Perſon whom I ſalute is the Man whom you are to take into Cuſtody. Thus being come into the Garden, he goes directly up to our Saviour, and cried Maſter, Maſter, and then kiſſed him.

maſter, and kiſſed him. And they laid their hands on him, and took him. XI. And one of them that ſtood by, drew a ſword, and ſmote a ſervant of the high Prieſt, and cut off his ear. And Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid unto them, Are ye come out as againſt a thief, with ſwords and with ſtaves, to take me? I was dayly with you in the temple, teaching, and ye took me not: but the Scriptures muſt be fulfilled. And they all forſook him, and fled. And there followed him a certain young man having a linen cloth caſt about his naked body, and the young men laid hold on him. And he left the linen cloth, and fled from them naked. XII. And they led Jeſus away to the high Prieſt, and with him were aſſembled all the chief Prieſts, and the Elders, and the Scribes; and Peter followed him afar off, even into the Palace of the high Prieſt: and he ſat with the ſervants, and warmed himſelf at the fire; and the chief Prieſts, and all the councel ſought for witneſs againſt Jeſus to put him to death, and found none. For many bare falſe witneſs againſt him, but their witneſs agreed not together. And there aroſe certain, and bare falſe witneſs againſt him, ſaying, We heard him ſay, I will deſtroy this temple that is made with hands, and within three days, I will build another made without hands. But neither ſo did their witneſs agree together. XIII. And the high Prieſt ſtood up in the midſt, and asked Jeſus, ſaying, Anſwereſt thou nothing? what is it which theſe witneſs againſt thee? But he held his peace, and anſwered nothing. Again the high Prieſt asked him, and ſaid unto him, Art thou the Chriſt, the Son of the Bleſſed? And Jeſus ſaid, I am; and ye ſhall ſee the Son of man ſitting on the right hand of power, and coming in the clouds of heaven. XIV. Then the high Prieſt rent his clothes, and ſaith, What need we any further witneſſes? ye have heard the blaſphemy: what think ye? And they all condemned him to be guilty of death. And ſome began to ſpit on him, and to cover his face, and to buffet him, and to ſay unto him, Prophecy; and the ſervants did ſtrike him with the palms of their hands. XV. And as Peter was beneath in the palace, there cometh one of the maids of the high prieſt; and when ſhe ſaw Peter him. Upon that ſome of the foremoſt of the Company laid their Hands roughly upon him, and took him Priſoner. XI. But there was one Fellow, a Servant to the High Prieſt, who was more forward than the reſt, and was the firſt who laid Hands on our Saviour; which Indignity Peter, who ſtood by him, not enduring, drew a Sword, which he had then by his Side, and cut off the Man's Ear; which our Saviour afterwards miraculouſly reſtored, Luke 22. 51. Then addreſſing himſelf to the Multitude, he ſaid, Why do you come out againſt me to take me into Cuſtody like a Thief, with Swords and Staves? Why ſhould you be for apprehending me more at this time, than whilſt I preached to you in the Temple Courts, when you had as much Reaſon and as good an Opportunity to do it? But this is in order to bring on my Suffering, which was predicted by the Prophecies of Iſaiah, Daniel, and other ancient Prophets, and which muſt be accompliſhed now. When our Saviour was made Priſoner, all his Diſciples run away with Precipitation from him, fearing that the Sanhedrim would extend their Cruelty towards them likewiſe. And there being a young Man, who had left his Bed upon the Noiſe of the Tumult, out of curioſity to ſee what was done, having only a Sheet wrapped about him inſtead of his Cloaths; he being nigh the Perſon of our Saviour, the Jews taking him to be one of his Attendants, laid hold on him as one of the Diſciples: but he left the Sheet in their Hands, and fled away naked. XII. Then was our Saviour carried away before the High Prieſt, at whoſe houſe a great number of the Members of the Sanhedrim were aſſembled: But Peter, though full of Fear, had ſtill, out of Love to his Maſter, a Hankering to know what Iſſue his Trial would have, followed the Company at a diſtance to the High Prieſt's Palace, and ſat among the Servants in an Ante-room, by the Fire-ſide, warming himſelf, the Chill of the Night not being yet over. The Sanhedrim now were very active in picking up all the Witneſſes they could againſt him, which might convict him of a Capital Crime; but all that they could ſay would not amount to it. And though ſome ill Perſons offered falſly to depoſe ſomething more conſiderable againſt him, yet there were ſuch Inconſiſtencies in their Evidence, that they durſt not truſt the Merits of the Cauſe upon their Depoſitions. At laſt they got ſome naughty People, who perverted the Words of a former Sermon of his, which he uſed in an allegorical Senſe, concerning his deſtroying the Temple and rebuilding it in three Days; and gave it in Evidence, as if he had ſome ill Deſign of burning, or otherwiſe deſtroying, that noble Structure. But, even in theſe Depoſitions, there were Inconſiſtencies likewiſe. XIII. The High Prieſt being vexed, that all the Evidence given in againſt him amounted to ſo little, roſe up from his Chair in a Paſſion, and ſpoke to Jeſus in theſe Words; What! do you anſwer nothing in your own behalf? Do you make no Reply to theſe Accuſations? But our Saviour did not think fit to give any Anſwer to this likewiſe, as knowing the Objections to be frivolous, and not worthy of Refutation. The High Prieſt had now but one way left to convict him; and that was an Oath of Adjuration, by which he was obliged to anſwer, upon Oath, to what Queſtions the chief Magiſtrate ſhould think fit to propoſe to him. The High Prieſt reſolved to entrap him by this Method; and therefore asked him, Whether he were the Meſſias, and the Son of God, as it was ſaid he gave out to be? Our Saviour anſwered, That he was that Perſon: and, as contemptible as they look'd upon him now to be, they ſhould hereafter ſee him come in a triumphal manner to judge the World, and to be placed with the greateſt degree of Honour at the right-hand of God. XIV. Upon this the High Prieſt rent his Cloaths, according to the Cuſtom of the Aſiaticks, when they heard any thing which they had a great Abhorrence to. We need not now (ſays he) examine any more Witneſſes againſt him; for we our ſelves have heard him ſpeak Blaſphemy, which is a capital Crime by our Law. Wherefore I deſire You that are Members of this high Aſſembly to deliver your Opinions, Whether you think him guilty of this Crime or no? And they unanimouſly gave their Votes in the Affirmative; whereby he was adjudged worthy of Death, and was to be delivered over to the Roman Preſident, to affirm their Sentence if he thought it fit. Then the Rabble, who were gathered together upon that Occaſion, ſeeing he was condemned, began to make Sport with him, as they uſed to do with other condemned Perſons; ſometimes ſpitting upon him, at other times hoodwinking him, and then ſtriking him over the Face, bidding him exerciſe his Prophetick Gifts in telling who it was that ſtruck him: The Servants of the Members of the Sanhedrim, who attended upon their Maſters there, made Sport with him likewiſe, in giving him Boxes over his Ears. XV. Whilſt the Trial was carried on in a Chamber above Stairs, in the High Prieſt's Palace, Peter ſtaid in a Room below, where one of the Servant-Maids of the Family looking upon him, as he was warming himſelf by the Fire, ſhe ſaid, ter warming himſelf, ſhe looked upon him, and ſaid, And thou alſo waſt with Jeſus of Nazareth. But he denied, ſaying, I know not, neither underſtand I what thou ſayeſt. And he went out into the porch, and the cock crew. And a maid ſaw him again, and began to ſay to them that ſtood by, This is one of them. And he denied it again. And a little after, they that ſtood by ſaid again to Peter, Surely thou art one of them; for thou art a Galilean, and thy ſpeech agreeth thereto. But he began to curſe and to ſwear, ſaying, I know not this man of whom ye ſpeak. And the ſecond time the cock crew. And Peter called to mind the word that Jeſus ſaid unto him, Before the cock crow twice, thou ſhalt deny me thrice. And when he thought thereon, he wept.

For the Lord God will help me, therefore ſhall I not be confounded: therefore have I ſet my face like a flint, and I know that I ſhall not be aſhamed. He is near that juſtifieth me, who will contend with me? Let us ſtand together; who is mine adverſary? let him come near to me. Behold, the Lord God will help me; who is he that ſhall condemn me? Lo, they all ſhall wax old as a garment: the moth ſhall eat them up. III. Who is among you that feareth the Lord, that obeyeth the voice of his ſervant, that walketh in darkneſs, and hath no light? let him truſt in the name of the Lord, and ſtay upon his God. IV. If I am not very much miſtaken, I have ſeen you with this Jeſus of Nazareth. But you are miſtaken, (replies he,) for I never ſaw the Man in my Life; and I can't imagine what ground you have for what you ſay. And going out of the Room into the Portico, he heard the Cock crow. The Maid ſeeing him a ſecond time, told ſome of the Company, pointing to Peter, that he was one of Jeſus's Attendants; but he denied it again. Not long after, one of the Company who were about the Fire ſpoke to Peter thus; For all you deny yourſelf to belong to Jeſus, moſt certainly you do; for you are a Galilean as well as he, and the broad Language, which they ſpeak in that place, is ſo very diſcernible in you, that you cannot hide it. This home Purſuit of him, put him upon curſing the Man for making ſuch invidious Conjectures, as if every North-Country Jew muſt be a Diſciple of Jeſus, and withal ſwearing, that he did not know Jeſus ſo much as by ſight. Then the Cock crew the ſecond time. The Sound of which, together with our Saviour's looking down from the open Chamber where the Court was kept, upon him below in the Piazza, Luke 22. 61. made Peter remember what our Saviour had that Night foretold concerning him, That he ſhould deny him thrice before the Cock-crowing at Break of Day. The Reflexion upon which, and his own Perfidiouſneſs, notwithſtanding his former Reſolutions, made him go aſide and bewail his Fault, begging Pardon of God for it with a Flood of Tears.

II. But ſince God ſhall take me into his Almighty Protection, I ſhall defy the Power and Malice of Men and Devils; I ſhall diſcover no more Marks of Fear in my Countenance, than if I had a Face of Marble or Flint. For the divine Nature, which ſhall be united to me, ſhall make me ſo courageous, as to deſpiſe the little Power of all my Oppoſers; as it were challenging them to make an Experiment of my Power, if they dare. For, by the Aſſiſtance of my divine Power, I ſhall ariſe from the Grave after a ſhort ſtate of Separation, and then for ever deſpiſe the weak Malice of thoſe who thought, by condemning me, to have deſtroyed me. But, poor Wretches, as they are! what a Folly is it in them to contend with their Saviour, and to think to cope with his mighty Power? Whilſt they think to lay me under the Power of Death, I ſhall quickly riſe again to reign in a bliſsful Eternity; whilſt they ſhall rot and periſh in their Graves, deſtroyed and eaten up by Worms, and many of them tormented in another World by that Worm which never dieth. III. But, if there be a good and conſcientious People among the Jewiſh Nation at that time, as there ſhall be ſome, let them continue to put their Truſt in God when he ſhall ſhower down his Vengeance upon theſe my Enemies, and he ſhall find out proper Methods for their Deliverance. IV. And now, O you my wicked Adverſaries, that are for kindling a Fire about you whereby you think to warm your ſelves, and to annoy all others; ſince you are ſo much for Fire, your wicked Practices will bring it ſo about, that hereafter you are like to have enough of it. ### The GOSPEL. S. Mark XV. 1.

I. AND ſtraightway in the morning, the chief prieſts held a conſultation with the elders and ſcribes, and the whole council, and bound Jeſus, and carried him away, and delivered him to Pilate. And Pilate asked him, Art thou the king of the Jews? And he anſwering, ſaid unto him, Thou ſayeſt it. And the chief prieſts accuſed him of many things: but he anſwered nothing. And Pilate asked him again, ſaying, Anſwereſt thou nothing? behold how many things they witneſs againſt thee. But Jeſus yet anſwered nothing: ſo that Pilate marvelled. II. Now at that feaſt he releaſed to them one priſoner, whomſoever they deſired. And there was one named Barabbas, which lay bound with them that had made inſurrection with him, who had committed murder in the inſurrection. And the multitude crying aloud, began to deſire him to do as he had ever done unto them. But Pilate anſwered them, ſaying, Will ye that I releaſe unto you the king of the Jews? (For he knew that the chief prieſts had delivered him for envy.) But the chief prieſts moved the people, that he ſhould rather releaſe Barabbas unto them. III. And Pilate anſwered, and ſaid again unto them, What will ye then that I ſhall do unto him whom ye call the king of the Jews? and they cried out again, Crucifie him. Then Pilate ſaid unto them, Why, what evil hath he done? and they cried out the more exceedingly, Crucifie him. And ſo Pilate, willing to content the people, releaſed Barabbas unto them, and delivered Jeſus, when he had ſcourged him, to be crucified. IV. And the ſouldiers led him away into the hall, called Pretorium; and they call together the whole band. And they clothed him with purple, and platted a crown of thorns, and put it about his head. And began to ſalute him, Hail king of the Jews. And they ſmote him on the head with a reed, and did ſpit upon him, and bowing their knees, worſhipped him. And when they had mocked him, they took off the purple from

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Mark XV. 1.

I. Our Saviour being condemned by the Eccleſiaſtical Court of the Jews, or the Sanhedrim, who in a full Council gave Sentence againſt him as guilty of Blaſphemy againſt Moſes's Law, ſeveral Members of their Body were deputed to carry him away bound, and to impeach him before Pilate the Roman Governour; they, after their Subjection to the Roman Government, not having Power to put any one to death. To Pilate therefore they with great Eagerneſs drag him, giving in that Accuſation which to Pilate might ſeem moſt invidious, ſaying, that they had brought a Man before him, that had ſet up a Claim to the Kingdom of Judea. Pilate looking upon the Criminal, and ſeeing nothing in his Mien and Aſpect that could beſpeak him to be guilty of any ſuch ambitious Project, asked him with an Air of Contempt, What! art thou the King of the Jews, which they talk of? Jeſus made Anſwer, Yes, I am; meaning it of that ſpiritual Kingdom which he had ſet up. The Members of the Sanhedrim then proceeded to give in Charge againſt him many frivolous Accuſations, which they had before picked up Witneſſes to atteſt in their Court. Then Pilate asked the Priſoner, what he had to ſay in Anſwer to the Charge which they had given in againſt him? To which our Saviour gave no Anſwer, partly as deſpiſing the Frivolouſneſs of the Accuſations, and partly as not willing to ſhew any deſire of eſcaping Death. Which occaſioned no ſmall degree of Wonder in Pilate, to ſee a Perſon ſeemingly of ſo ignoble an Extraction, to ſhew ſuch a generous Contempt of Death, and of the Malice of his Enemies. II. Now it was uſual for the Governours of Judea, to gratify the Jews at the great Feaſt of their Paſſover, with the Pardon of one of their Countrymen who was in Priſon for ſome Capital Offence. Now it happened at that time, there was in Priſon one Barabbas, who had been taken up for being in a Riot, and for committing Murder in the Fray. It being now near the Paſſover, the Rabble, which crowded about Pilate's Houſe whilſt our Saviour was under Trial, cried out, that they hoped the Governour would not forget his former Uſage, of granting a Pardon to ſuch one Criminal as they ſhould pitch upon. This gave Pilate an Opportunity of reflecting, That as 'twas plain the Sanhedrim had accuſed Jeſus more out of Malice againſt his Perſon, than that they had proved him guilty of any Capital Crime, ſo probably his Favour with the People might incline them to petition for his Releaſe; and therefore propoſed to the People, whether they would not deſire a Pardon for the Perſon whom they called the King of the Jews, rather than for any other? This put the Members of the Sanhedrim into no little a degree of Perplexity, knowing the favourable Diſpoſition of the Generality of the People towards him. Therefore they caſt about to find ſome other popular Perſon to ſet up againſt him, to divert them from that choice; and the moſt proper Perſon they could find out for this purpoſe was Barabbas, whoſe Condition was generally pitied, he being to ſuffer for Rebellion, to which the Jews were at all times enough diſpoſed. Therefore they uſe all poſſible Arts by crying up the Merits of Barabbas for ſuffering in the common Cauſe of Liberty, to engage the Rabble Jews to petition for Barabbas's Releaſe, and that Jeſus ſhould undergo the Puniſhment deſigned for him; which they accordingly did. III. Pilate hearing this, asked them, What they would have him do with Jeſus, who was called the King of the Jews? They anſwered, That the Crucifixion which was deſigned upon Barabbas ſhould be inflicted upon him. Pilate ſaid, That after diligent Examination, he could not find that he had committed any Crime that was capital. The Rabble, enraged at this Oppoſition to their Requeſts, and back'd by the Members of the Sanhedrim there preſent, cried out in a tumultuous manner, Crucifie him. Pilate finding it to little purpoſe to aſſuage the Malice of our Saviour's Adverſaries; and the Tumult of the People which now began to be conſiderable, any other way than by complying with their Deſires; he ordered him to be crucified, beginning with the laſhing of his Body, which in that cruel Death was preparative to the nailing upon the Croſs. IV. And then orders him to be delivered to a certain Soldier of the Guards, to ſee Execution done upon him: and they calling in all the reſt of the Troop to take a ſhare with them in the cruel Mirth which they deſigned to make in the Sufferings of this innocent Perſon, who was now fallen into the vulgar Diſrepute, they carried him into the Common-Hall, making Sport with him there, dreſſing him up in a Royal Robe of Purple, to deride him for pretending to be a King; making him a Diadem or Crown of Thorns, and binding it cloſe to his Temples; giving a mock Salutation, Long live Jeſus, King of Judea. Sometimes they would ſnatch the Reed, which they had put into his Hand in an aukward Imitation of a Sceptre, ſtriking him with it, denoting that though he pretended to be a King, he muſt undergo the Puniſhment of a Slave; giving him Adoration, which was paid to the Eaſtern Princes, and at the ſame time ſpitting upon him, to teſtify their Contempt.

from him, and put his own clothes on him, and led him out to crucifie him. And they compel one Simon, a Cyrenian, who paſſed by, coming out of the country, the father of Alexander, and Rufus, to bear his croſs. And they bring him unto the place Golgotha, which is, being interpreted, the place of a skull. And they gave him to drink, wine mingled with myrrhe; but he received it not. And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments, caſting lots upon them, what every man ſhould take. And it was the third hour, and they crucified him. And the ſuperſcription of his accuſation was written over, THE KING OF THE JEWS. And with him they crucifie two thieves, the one on his right hand, and the other on his left. And the Scripture was fulfilled, which ſaith, And he was numbred with the tranſgreſſors. And they that paſſed by, railed on him, wagging their heads, and ſaying, Ah, thou that deſtroyeſt the temple, and buildeſt it in three days, ſave thy ſelf, and come down from the croſs. Likewiſe alſo the chief prieſts mocking, ſaid among themſelves, with the ſcribes, He ſaved others, himſelf he cannot ſave. Let Chriſt the king of Iſrael deſcend now from the croſs, that we may ſee and believe. And they that were crucified with him, reviled him. And when the ſixth hour was come, there was darkneſs over the whole land, until the ninth hour. And at the ninth hour Jeſus cried with a loud voice, ſaying, Eloi, Eloi, lama ſabachthani? which is, being interpreted, My God, my God, why haſt thou forſaken me? And ſome of them that ſtood by, when they heard it, ſaid, Behold, he calleth Elias. And one ran, and filled a ſpunge full of vinegar, and put it on a reed, and gave him to drink, ſaying, Let alone; let us ſee whether Elias will come to take him down. And Jeſus cried with a loud voice, and gave up the ghoſt. And the vail of the temple was rent in twain from the top to the bottom. And when the centurion which ſtood over-againſt him, ſaw that he ſo cried out, and gave up the ghoſt, he ſaid, Truly this man was the Son of God.

tempt. And being tired with making this barbarous Sport with him, they put his own Cloaths upon him again, and led him to the place of Crucifixion; preſſing one Simon a Cyrenian, who accidentally paſſed that way coming to Jeruſalem, at that great Solemnity, (who was the Father of Alexander and Rufus, Men of conſiderable Note,) to carry the Croſs for Chriſt, he being thought not to have Strength enough left after his Scourging to carry it himſelf. The Place whither they led him was called Golgotha, or the Skull-ground, becauſe there were to be ſeen the Bones of ſeveral executed Malefactors, ſcattered about. Then they offered him to drink a medicated Wine, uſual to be given to Perſons crucified, thereby to ſtupify them, that they might bear their Pains the better; but this he refuſed. He being nailed to the Croſs, the Cloaths which he was ſtripp'd of, belonged of courſe to the Soldiers who attended at the Execution, which they divided among them as conveniently as they could; but having a Coat which was artificially made without any Seam, they caſt a Lot for that, who ſhould have it entire, beſides his other ſhare. It is to be remark'd that it was Nine-a-clock in the Morning when he was faſtened to the Croſs. The Superſcription which was faſtened over his Head was, THE KING OF THE JEWS. It muſt be remember'd, that two Perſons condemned for Robbery were crucified with him, one on each ſide of him: which occaſioned a Completion of that Prophecy of Iſaiah, Chap. 53. And he was numbred with the Tranſgreſſors. Some Perſons who paſſed by the Croſs, made Reflexions upon him, ſhaking their Heads in a ſcornful manner, and calling out to him, O you that could rebuild the Temple in three Days, can't you free your Body from being held by two or three Nails! Some of the Members of the Sanhedrim, who came thither to gratify their Malice in ſeeing him die, made their Reflexions likewiſe upon him. Here is a Man (ſay they) that pretended to ſave all the World, and yet he can't ſave his own Life. Let this King of Iſrael (as he calls himſelf) after many pretended Miracles, do one at laſt, which is, to come down from the Croſs; and then our Body will believe in him, as well as the illiterate People, who have hitherto run after him. And one of the two Thieves who was crucified with him, entertained him with the ſame contumelious Language. From Twelve to Three-a-clock in the Afternoon, there was ſuch a dark Cloud all over the Country of Judea, that hardly any Ray of the Sun could penetrate it, which occaſioned a Darkneſs which had never been known in the Day-time. At Three-a-clock Jeſus ſpoke with a very ſtrong Voice, a Part of the 22d Pſalm in Syriack, Eloi, Eloi, lama ſabachthani? which ſome Perſons not enough attending to, thought he had called the Prophet Elias to his Aſſiſtance, whom the Jews expected about that time to come into the World. One of the By-ſtanders, out of compaſſion to him, ſeeing him in his great Agonies, dipped a Sponge in Vinegar, or the Veſſel of medicated Wine which ſtood by the Croſs, which he faſtened to a Stick, and put it up to his Mouth to ſuck, and ſaid, We ſhall now quickly ſee, whether his Addreſs to Elias be prevalent or no. Then our Saviour ſpeaking his laſt Words with a very ſtrong Voice, died. Upon which the Veil of the Temple was rent by an inviſible hand. Then the Captain who attended the Execution, obſerving how ſtrongly he ſpoke juſt before he died, being likely yet to live a great while longer, he ſeeming thereby to have a power to die when he pleaſed; and comparing this with the other Prodigies which attended his Death, ſaid, Certainly this Perſon is that Son of God which he gave out to be.

The EPISTLE. Heb. IX. 16.

I. WHere a teſtament is, there muſt alſo of neceſſity be the death of the teſtator: for a teſtament is of force after men are dead; otherwiſe it is of no ſtrength at all whilſt the teſtator liveth. II. Whereupon, neither the firſt teſtament was dedicated without bloud: For when Moſes had ſpoken every precept to all the people, according to the law, he took the bloud of calves, and of goats, with water and ſcarlet wooll, and hyſſop, and ſprinkled both the book and all the people, ſaying, This is the bloud of the teſtament, which God hath enjoined unto you. Moreover, he ſprinkled with bloud both the tabernacle, and all the veſſels of the miniſtry. And almoſt all things are by the law purged with bloud; and without ſhedding of bloud is no remiſſion. III. It was therefore neceſſary that the patterns of things in the heavens ſhould be purified with theſe; but the heavenly things themſelves with better ſacrifices than theſe. For Chriſt is not entred into the holy places made with hands, which are the figures of the true, but into heaven it ſelf, now to appear in the preſence of God for us; nor yet that he ſhould offer himſelf often, as the high prieſt entreth into the holy place every year with bloud of others: for then muſt he often have ſuffered ſince the foundation of the world; but now once in the end of the world, hath he appeared to put away ſin by the ſacrifice of himſelf. IV. And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment: ſo Chriſt was once offered to bear the ſins of many; and unto them that look for him, ſhall he appear the ſecond time without ſin unto ſalvation.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Heb. IX. 16.

I. Now ſince God's Manifeſtations of his Will to Mankind are commonly termed Covenants or Teſtaments, both which in Greek are called by the ſame Name; from the nature of a Teſtament or Will, this may be urged. The Goſpel being as it were the Will or Teſtament of our bleſſed Lord, which he bequeathed to the World, he was willing that this ſhould be like human Teſtaments; not to have any Force but only when the Teſtator is dead: ſo that, as the Heir receives the Benefit of the Inheritance bequeathed to him at the Death of him that bequeathed it, ſo do we receive the Inheritance of eternal Life through the Death of Chriſt. II. Now it has pleaſed God to obſerve a like Method in eſtabliſhing the Old Teſtament or Covenant, which he would not allow to have any Force without the Death or Blood of ſomething or other which was ſlain in Sacrifice. For we read in the Book of Exodus, Chap. xxiv, that when Moſes took the Book of the Covenant and read it in the audience of all the People, he likewiſe took the Blood and ſprinkled it on the People, and ſaid, Behold the blood of the Covenant which the Lord hath made with you concerning all theſe words; making uſe, for the inſtrument of ſprinkling, of Hyſſop and Scarlet-Wool, Lev. 14. 51. Beſides this, The Altar of the Tabernacle was ſprinkled ſeven times, and all his Veſſels, both the Laver and the Foot, to ſanctifie them, Lev. 8. 11. And ſo likewiſe, Moſes took of the Blood which was upon the Altar, and ſprinkled it upon Aaron, and his Sons, and their Garments, Lev. 8. 30. In a word, moſt Purifications under the Moſaical Law, were by Effuſion of the Blood of ſome Animal; it being the only Atonement which God would accept of to pardon Man's Sin. III. Now ſince the Moſaical Conſtitution, which was but a rude Delineation of the more divine and heavenly Diſpenſation of the Goſpel, required Expiations to be made by the Sacrifice of Animals; moſt certainly the Atonement which is made under this ſo much more excellent and heavenly a Religion, muſt be made by a Sacrifice of much greater value. For Chriſt, our High Prieſt, does not, like the Jewiſh one, make his Entry in behalf of the People into the Sanctuary of a groſs earthly Temple built by Men, as that of the Jews, which was only a typical Repreſentation of Heaven, the true and laſting Temple, where God is for ever worſhipped; but is entered into Heaven itſelf to appear as a Mediator before the Throne of God's Majeſty, as the High Prieſt before the Ark: nor yet making this Sacrifice of himſelf over and over again, as the Jewiſh High Prieſt offered the Expiatory Sacrifice once a Year; for if this was requiſite, Chriſt muſt ſeveral times have died ſince the World began, once in an Age at leaſt, to expiate for the Sins of every Generation of Men: But contrariwiſe, his ſuffering once for the Sins of the World, in the latter Ages of it, has made a full Satisfaction for the Sins of all pious Believers, both before and after his Coming. IV. Now ſeeing it is ordained by a divine Decree, ſince the Fall of Mankind, that they ſhould all be ſubject to Mortality, and after their Death be judged for what they have done in their Lives: In the ſame manner it is decreed, that Chriſt, by his offering up himſelf a Sacrifice for the Sins of the World, ſhould repair the Loſs ſuſtained by this Depravation; that at his ſecond coming to judge the World (which ſhall be as much without Sin as his former Appearance, his Juſtice then being as remarkable as his Innocence before) he ſhall render unſpeakable Rewards to all his pious Servants.

And they gladly embraced the Treaty, and ſtruck a Bargain with him, that he ſhould have thirty Shekels to deliver him up without much Noiſe, Matt. 26. 4, 15. And though this were as low and vile a Sum as could be, the Price of a Slave, Exod. 21. 32. (See Zach. 11. 13.) yet Judas thanked them heartily for the Offer, being very covetous, and ſo very glad of the Opportunity of getting Money; and from thenceforth he watched a fit Seaſon wherein to do it, without any noiſe or ſtir about it. See Matth. 26. 4. Mar. 14. 1. II. The Paſchal Day was now come, wherein they eat no Leaven in their Bread, and in which the Lamb was to be killed and eaten. And he ordered Peter and John to make Preparation for eating the Paſſover, i. e. to get ready the unleavened Bread and bitter Herbs, the Memorial of the Deliverance out of Ægypt; telling them, That when they were come to Jeruſalem, they ſhould ſee a Man bearing a Pitcher of Water, whom they ſhould follow into the Houſe whither he went, and there they asking for the Maſter of the Family, he ſhould ſhew them a Chamber fit for their Purpoſe, and in this place they ſhould get all things ready for performing the ſacred Rite. All this was done accordingly. And when the time of the Evening came which was uſual to eat the Paſſover at, he told them how earneſt a Deſire he had to celebrate this Feaſt with his Diſciples; for he muſt celebrate no more Paſſovers with them. And taking the Cup of Wine into his hand, he gave Thanks, and delivered it to the reſt to drink, ſaying, I ſhall not any more drink with you in this Feſtival manner; I ſhall celebrate no more Paſchal Commemorations before my Departure out of this World; our next Feſtivity muſt be kept in Heaven. And taking a Loaf of Bread into his hands, he brake it, giving every one of them a piece, ſaying, This is my Body which is given for you, do you to others as I have now done to you, Take, bleſs, break, and give the Bread to all that join with you in theſe holy Services; and when you do ſo, do it in Commemoration of me. In like manner, after they had done eating, he took the Cup of Charity, uſual among the Jews, and ſaid, This Cup is at this time to you the ſealing of a new Covenant in my Blood, which ſhall ſhortly be ſhed for you, as this is poured out. III. But I muſt inform you, that the Perſon who ſhall betray me, is eating with us at this Table: For I the Son of Man ſhall be put to death, as God has decreed it ſhould be, Acts 2. 23. Acts 4. 28. but wo to him that has any hand in that Execution. This put them upon Enquiry, who that Perſon ſhould be. Then came on a Diſcourſe (which had been ſtarted before his departing from Jericho, Mat. 20. 25, 29. nay before he came thither, Mark 10. 42, 46. occaſioned by the Requeſt of Zebedee's Wife for her two Sons) being a Contention among of them ſhould be accounted the greateſt. And he ſaid unto them, The kings of the Gentiles exerciſe lordſhip over them, and they that exerciſe authority upon them, are called benefactours. But ye ſhall not be ſo; but he that is greateſt among you, let him be as the younger; and he that is chief, as he that doth ſerve. For whether is greater, he that ſitteth at meat, or he that ſerveth? is not he that ſitteth at meat? But I am among you, as he that ſerveth. Ye are they which have continued with me in my temptations. And I appoint unto you a kingdom, as my father hath appointed unto me; that ye may eat and drink at my table in my kingdom, and ſit on thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Iſrael. IV. And the Lord ſaid, Simon, Simon, behold, Satan hath deſired to have you, that he may ſift you as wheat: But I have prayed for thee, that thy faith fail not; and when thou art converted, ſtrengthen thy brethren. And he ſaid unto him, Lord, I am ready to go with thee both into priſon and to death. And he ſaid, I tell thee, Peter, the cock ſhall not crow this day, before that thou ſhalt thrice deny that thou knoweſt me. V. And he ſaid unto them, When I ſent you without purſe, and ſcrip, and ſhoes, lacked ye any thing? And they ſaid, Nothing. Then ſaid he unto them, But now, he that hath a purſe, let him take it, and likewiſe his ſcrip: and he that hath no ſword, let him ſell his garment, and buy one. For I ſay unto you, that this that is written, muſt yet be accompliſhed in me, And he was reckoned among the tranſgreſſors: for the things concerning me have an end. And they ſaid, Lord, behold, here are two ſwords. And he ſaid unto them, It is enough. VI. And he came out, and went, as he was wont, to the mount of Olives, and his diſciples alſo followed him. And when he was at the place, he ſaid unto them, Pray, that ye enter not into temptation. And he was withdrawn from them about a ſtones caſt, and kneeled down, and prayed, ſaying, Father, if thou be willing, remove this cup from me: nevertheleſs, not my will, but thine be done. And there appeared an angel unto him from heaven, ſtrengthning him. And being in an agony, he prayed more earneſtly; and his ſweat was as it were great drops of bloud falling down to the ground. And when he roſe up from prayer, and was come to his diſciples, he found them ſleeping for ſorrow, and ſaid unto them, Why ſleep ye? riſe and pray, leſt ye enter into temptation. VII. And while he yet ſpake, among the Diſciples, which of them ſhould be looked on as the worthieſt, and ſo to be preferred before the reſt. But our Saviour ſilenced this Diſpute by ſaying, that they muſt not be like the Heathens, whoſe Princes, whom they ſtile their Benefactors, exerciſe Authority over them. But among you it muſt be otherwiſe: The Ruler muſt be as the private Man, or the Servant of all others, over whom he is placed. For judge you, which is the greateſt Perſon, He that ſitteth at the Table, or he that waiteth? Imitate rather my Example, who am as one that attendeth and waiteth on you, and provideth Neceſſaries for you; and not as one that receiveth ſuch Obſervances or Advantages from you, as I might expect to do. Ye have followed me as Diſciples, Mat. 19. 28. and been hitherto conſtant to me, in the Afflictions and Perſecutions that have befallen me: And, as a Reward for your Fidelity, I beſtow upon you a Kingdom, as God my Father has beſtowed upon me; that you may be next unto me, and have at my Departure the Power of governing the Church. IV. Then Chriſt addreſſed himſelf particularly to Peter, ſaying, As for you, Simon, I tell you, that either by ſome Sin committed by thee, giving Satan ſome ſuch Right of Claim, (poſſibly ſomewhat done criminouſly by him in contention of the Diſciples mentioned ver. 24. the Indignation of the ten againſt the two, Mat. 20. 24.) or elſe ſuggeſting ſomething againſt thy Sincerity as againſt Job's, Job 1. 9. Satan hath accuſed you before God, and required that he may have the ſhaking of you, and liberty to do his worſt to drive you from the Faith of Chriſt. This is granted to him, and your Danger thereupon is great; but I have prayed for thee, that thou be not conquer'd by him and his Terrors, ſo far as utterly to forſake the Faith: And for any Sins that in this Combat thou proveſt guilty of, let this Uſe be made of them, when by Repentance thou art recovered out of them; that thou be the more carefui to confirm and ſtrengthen others, that they fall not in like manner. Peter avouching his Fidelity, and his Readineſs to ſuffer the greateſt Extremities for Chriſt's ſake; our Lord told him, that before the ſecond Crowing of the Cock this Night, he ſhould thrice deny that he bore any relation to him. V. Formerly I ſent you without any Proviſion, and yet ye wanted nothing; but now ſome Diſtreſſes ye are like to meet with, in like manner as ye will firſt ſee them fall ſharply upon me: Diſtreſſes enough to make a Man ſell his Coat to buy a Sword. For now, according to the Prophecy, Iſai. 53. 12. paſt on the Meſſias, I muſt be put to death as a Malefactor; for all that is foretold of me ſhall now ſuddenly be accompliſhed. But they thinking that, according to the literal ſound of his Words, he had really called for a Sword, whereas he only expreſſed to them by that Figure the Diſtreſſes that were now approaching them, told him they had two Swords among them; but he gave them, by a ſhort Reply, to underſtand, that he did not really mean, that they ſhould go and provide themſelves Swords, but only that great Dangers were now approaching them. VI. Then, according to his wont, he went out to the Mount of Olives to pray, accompanied with his Diſciples. And being there, he bid them pray, that the Afflictions and Temptations now approaching, do not overcome them: himſelf praying, O that thou wouldeſt, O Father! or, I pray thee, O Father, remove this bitter Cup from me: yet if it be thy Pleaſure, whatſoever thou ſeeſt beſt to be done, I moſt heartily embrace it, before that for which I now pray. Thereupon an Angel was ſent from Heaven, to repreſent ſuch Conſiderations to him of the Advantages and Benefits of his Death chearfully. And afterwards being in ſuch a commotion of Mind, which ſignifies an apprehenſion of extreme Danger, without any trembling at it, or endeavour to avoid or eſcape it, he prayed more vehemently, and fell proſtrate upon his Face, Mark 14. 35, ſaying the ſame Words, and more to the ſame Purpoſe, and he ſweat (as Men in Agonies are wont) great glutinous Drops † like thoſe of Blood when it drops on the Ground. His Prayer ended, he came to his three Diſciples Peter, James, and John, Matth. 26. 37. and found them faſt aſleep, this Sleep being an Effect of great Heavineſs, and Diſpiritedneſs, which their Sorrow had produced. Then he asked them, how they could ſleep at that time of his Danger? bidding them addreſs themſelves to God in Prayer, that they might not be tempted to fall from their Duty. VII. Then appeared ſpake, behold, a multitude, and he that was called Judas, one of the twelve, went before them, and drew near unto Jeſus to kiſs him. But Jeſus ſaid unto him, Judas, betrayeſt thou the Son of man with a kiſs? When they who were about him, ſaw what would follow, they ſaid unto him, Lord, ſhall we ſmite with the ſword? And one of them ſmote the ſervant of the high Prieſt, and cut off his right ear. And Jeſus anſwered and ſaid, Suffer ye thus far. And he touched his ear, and healed him. Then Jeſus ſaid unto the chief Prieſts, and captains of the temple, and the Elders who were come to him, Be ye come out as againſt a thief, with ſwords and ſtaves? When I was daily with you in the temple, ye ſtretched forth no hands againſt me: but this is your hour, and the power of darkneſs. VIII. Then took they him, and led him, and brought him into the high Prieſts houſe, and Peter followed afar off. And when they had kindled a fire in the midſt of the hall, and were ſet down together, Peter ſat down among them. But a certain maid beheld him, as he ſat by the fire, and earneſtly looked upon him, and ſaid, This man was alſo with him. And he denied him, ſaying, Woman, I know him not. And after a little while another ſaw him, and ſaid, Thou art alſo of them. And Peter ſaid, Man, I am not. And about the ſpace of one hour after, another confidently affirmed, ſaying, Of a truth this fellow alſo was with him; for he is a Galilean. And Peter ſaid, Man, I know not what thou ſayeſt. And immediately while he yet ſpake, the cock crew. And the Lord turned, and looked upon Peter; and Peter remembred the word of the Lord, how he had ſaid unto him, Before the cock crow, thou ſhalt deny me thrice. And Peter went out and wept bitterly. IX. And the men that held Jeſus mocked him, and ſmote him. And when they had blind-folded him, they ſtruck him on the face, and asked him, ſaying, Propheſie, who is it that ſmote thee? And many other things blaſphemouſly ſpake they againſt him. And as ſoon as it was day, the elders of the people, and the chief Prieſts, and the Scribes came together, and led him into their councel, ſaying, Art thou the Chriſt? tell us. And he ſaid unto them, If I tell you, you will not believe. And if I alſo ask you, you will not anſwer me, nor let me go. Hereafter ſhall the ſon of man ſit on the right hand of the power of God. Then ſaid they all, Art thou then the Son of God? And he ſaid unto them, Ye ſay that I am. And they ſaid, What need we any further witneſs? for we our ſelves have heard of his own mouth.

appeared a great number of People, under the Direction of Judas, who made up towards him to ſalute him. But our Lord directing himſelf to Judas, ſaid, Is a Kiſs the Token, by which thou haſt promiſed to deliver me up to them? Mark 14. 44. When the Diſciples ſaw what was coming on, they offered to have fought for his Reſcue. And St. Peter, in the heat of Zeal, without Chriſt's Permiſſion, and againſt the Precepts which he had always taught them, drew a Sword, and cut off the right-ear of Malchus, a Servant of the High Prieſt. But Jeſus reproving Peter for ſo doing, Matt. 26. 52. ſpake to thoſe that came to apprehend him, to let him alone but ſo long as to reſtore the Man his Ear; and upon a touch he was cured. Then addreſſing himſelf to the Members of the Sanhedrim who were there, and the Officers that commanded the Guards who were placed about the Temple, to repreſs all Riots and Tumults in the great Aſſemblies which met in that place, as alſo to the Jewiſh Elders then preſent, Do you apprehend me as you are wont to do a Thief, with Swords and Staves? Why did not you do the ſame to me when I preached in the Temple, when there was as fair an Opportunity for it? But this is the time wherein the Devil and You are permitted to work your Wills upon me. VIII. After this they led him to the Houſe of Caiaphas the High Prieſt of that Year, where the Sanhedrim were aſſembled. It being then the Chill of the Night, a Fire was kindled in the midſt of the Hall, which ſeveral of the Company ſat round, whereof Peter was one, where a Maid looking earneſtly upon him, ſaid, that this was one of Jeſus's Accomplices: But Peter ſaid he did not know that Perſon. Not long after, another Maiden, Matt. 26. 71. Mark 14. 69. ſeeing him, ſaid, Thou art even one of them: But Peter denied, and ſaid, Woman, I am not. And ſome others that ſtood by, Matt. 26. 73. Mark 14. 17. affirmed confidently, that he was certainly one of his Company; for, ſaid they, his Speech diſcovers him to be a Galilean: But he ſaid, with addition of Oaths and Imprecations, I am not what thou affirmeſt me to be. Then our Saviour turning about looked on Peter, which occaſioned him to remember what he had ſaid concerning the Cock crowing; upon which he went away from the Company into a private Place, and bitterly lamented himſelf. IX. Whilſt Peter was in the Hall of the High Prieſt, Matt. 26. 58, & 69. (before the latter part of the precedent Story of St. Peter,) the Soldiers that were ſet to guard Jeſus, Matt. 26. 67. ſpit on his Face: And others blindfolding him, ſtruck him over the Face, ſaying, Tell us who it was that ſtruck thee, and then we ſhall know, if thou art able to know and declare Secrets. And many other the like contumelious Words and Actions they uſed towards him. As ſoon as it was day the Sanhedrim met, and called for him to be brought before them, and asked him, If he were the Meſſias? He anſwered, My ſaying ſo will not make you believe it the more: And if I ſhall demonſtrate to you, by never ſo convincing Arguments, that I am that Perſon, you will neither ſatisfy nor anſwer my Proofs, nor yet yield to the Force of them, and releaſe me out of your hands. Within a * while ſhall I, the Meſſias, be exalted to the right-hand of my Father; and then you ſhall ſee me execute Judgment and Vengeance upon you. From hence they concluded, that he made himſelf the Son of God; and asked him, Whether he were ſo or no? He anſwered, That he was. This they concluded to be a blaſphemous Speech, and ſo that he was guilty of Death by his own Confeſſion, in taking upon him to be the Meſſias.

The EPISTLE. 1 Cor. XI. 17.

I. IN this that I declare unto you, I praiſe you not; that you come together not for the better, but for the worſe. For firſt of all, when ye come together in the Church, I hear that there be diviſions among you, and I partly believe it. For there muſt be alſo hereſies among you, that they who are approved, may be made manifeſt among you. II. When ye come together therefore into one place, this is not

NOTE.

(k) This Day was formerly a ſolemn time for reſtoring of Penitents, and giving them Abſolution from their Penance. This appears out of an Epiſtle of Pope Innocentius, as 'tis quoted by Ivo. part. 15. cap. 40. and by Burchardus lib. 18. cap. 18. De panitentibus autem qui, ſive ex gravioribus commiſſis, ſive levioribus panitentiam gerunt, ſi nulla intervenit ægritudo, quintâ feriâ ante Paſcha eis remittendum, Romanæ Eccleſiæ conſuetudo demonſtrat. Concerning Penitents, who are under Penance, either for greater or for leſſer Crimes, unleſs Sickneſs hinders, according to the Cuſtom of the Roman Church, they muſt receive Abſolution upon Thurſday in Paſſion-Week. S. Jerom, in his 30th Epiſtle to Oceanus, deſcribing the publick Penance of Fabiola, writes: That ſhe, in the open ſight of all the Roman City, was cloathed with Sackcloth, and the Day before the Paſſion ſtood in the Rank of the Penitents, at a Church in the Lateran, the Biſhops, Presbyters, and all the People weeping; ſhe hanging down her Head, being in a ſqualid Habit, was admitted again to the Communion before the whole Congregation. The like is affirmed by the Council of Chalon: In Cœna Domini (i. e. Maundy Thurſday) Pœnitentes ad percipienda Corporis & Sanguinis Dominici ſacramenta ſe reconciliant. The Penitents are admitted to the Euchariſt, and reconciled. Conc. Cabillon. c. 47. The Manner of which Reconciliation is deſcribed in the Capitulars, lib. 7. cap. 143. Omnes publicè pœnitentes, feriâ quintâ ante Paſcha, quæ eſt Cœna Domini, ad civitatem, in cinere & cilicio in præſentiam Epiſcopi proſtrato vultu conveniant, & ibi ab Epiſcopo Canonicè & ordinabiliter, ſicut in ſacramentario, & in Ordine Romano continetur, reconcilientur atque dijudicentur, conſolenturque, & prædicentur, quid deinceps agere, quidve vitare debeant, inſtruantur; atque inſuper, divinis preceibus, per manûs impoſitionem, ab Epiſcopo ſanentur. Upon Thurſday, the Day before the Paſſion, which is called Cœna Domini, let all that are under publick Penance come into the City cloathed in Sackcloth and Aſhes, and proſtrate themſelves before the Biſhop, and there let them canonically, and according to order, as is preſcribed in the Sacramentary and the Ordo Romanus, be reconciled, examined, and comforted, and preached to, and alſo inſtructed how they ought to behave themſelves for the future; and at laſt let them be reſtored by the Biſhop, with ſacred Prayer and Impoſition of Hands. Upon this Day the Catechumens were to give a publick Account of their Faith, which they had learn'd from the Catechiſt: For ſo ſay the Capitulars: Baptizandos oportet fidei ſymbolum diſcere, & feriâ quintâ Septimanæ Majoris Epiſcopo, vel Presbyteris reddere. Thoſe who are to be baptized, ought to learn the Creed; and upon Thurſday of the Great Week, ſhould repeat it to the Biſhop or the Presbyters. Capit. l. 7. c. 189.

In ſome Churches, particularly thoſe of France and Africa, the ſolemn Waſhing of the Catechumens before Baptiſm was performed upon this Day, and not upon Palm-Sunday, as in other Places. Of this St. Auſtin ſpeaks in his 118th Epiſtle, ad Januarium: Si quæris cur etiam Lavandi mos ortus ſit, nihil mihi de hac re cogitanti probabilius occurrit, niſi quia baptizandorum corpora per obſervationem Quadrageſimæ ſordidata, cum offenſione ſenſûs ad fontem tractarentur, niſi aliquâ die lavarentur. Iſtam autem potius ad hoc electam, quo Cœna Dominica anniverſariè celebratur. If you enquire from whence the Cuſtom of Waſhing at this time took its riſe? having conſidered this matter, there does not occur to me any more probable Reaſon, than that the Bodies of the Perſons to be baptized being grown dirty by the Obſervation of Lent, they would be offenſive to thoſe who brought them to the Font, unleſs they were waſhed ſome Days before. And we chooſe the Anniverſary-Day of our Lord's Supper to do this upon, rather than any other. This Waſhing of the Catechumen before Baptiſm, occaſioned ſome of the common People to confound it with Baptiſm itſelf; and when they had their Heads waſhed on Maundy Thurſday, they cared not to come again for Baptiſm at Eaſter; which ill Practice occaſioned the Capitilavium, or Cuſtom of Waſhing of the Head, to be laid aſide by the Council of Mentz, A. D. 813.

There was another ancient Cuſtom which was obſerved upon this Day; and that was, to receive the Sacrament after Supper, in Imitation of our Saviour's Practice. For the third Council of Carthage allows of this Practice when it enjoins, Ut ſacramenta Altaris non niſi jejunis hominibus celebrentur, excepto uno die anniverſario quo Cœna Domini celebratur. Conc. Carthag. III. Can. 29. The Greek Copy of this Canon, as we find it in the Codex Canonum Eccleſiæ Africanæ, reads it thus: Ὥστε ἅγια τὰ δυπασηεια, εἰ μὴ ἀπο νησικῶν ἀνθρώπων, μὴ ὁπτελεῖσ· ἐξηρημώνης μιᾶς ἐτησίας ἡμέρας, ἐν ᾗ τὸ κυειακὸν δεῖπνον ὁπτελεῖται. The holy things of the Altar are not to be partaken of, but only by thoſe Perſons who are faſting, unleſs upon the Anniverſary-day of the Lord's Supper. Cod. Can. Eccl. Afric. Can. 41. But the Exception made by this Canon was repealed by the 29th Canon of the Synod in Trullo. Ὁ τῶ ἐν Καρθαγώνη κανὼν, ὥστε τὰ τῆ ἁγια δυσιασηεια εἰ μὴ ἀπὸ νησικῶν ἀνθρώπων μὴ ὁπτελεῖσθαι, ἐξηρημώνης μιᾶς ἐτησίας ἡμέρας, ἐν ᾗ κυειακὸν δεῖπνον ὁπτελεῖται. ἴσως τινὲς παρὰ τὰς χρείας τοῦ τόπους παραφάσεις τῆ ἐκκλησία λυσιτελεῖς, τῶν θείων ἐκείνων πατέρων ἐν τῆ τοιαύτη χρησαμένων οἰκονομία. Μηδενὸς ἓν ἀνάγκη & καταλιπειν τὸ ἀκριβέσερον, ὁρίζομεν ἀποστολικαῖς & παλαιαῖς ἐπόσιν παραδόσεσι, μὴ δεῖν ἐν τῆ τεσσαρακοσῆ τῆ ὑσεραίᾳ ἑβδομάδι τὸ πέμπτον λύειν, & ὅλον τὸ τεσσαρακοσὸν ἀτιμάζειν. The Canon of Carthage ſets forth, that the things of the holy Altar ſhould not be partaken of, but only by thoſe who are faſting, excepting only one Anniverſary-day when the Lord's Supper is commemorated. Perhaps, by reaſon of ſome Circumſtances, ſuch a Diſpenſation might once be thought neceſſary for the Church by thoſe Fathers. But nothing perſuading us to leave the Exactneſs of the Rule, we, following the Traditions of the Apoſtles and our Fathers, do decree, That the Faſt muſt not be broken on Thurſday in the laſt Week of Lent, and ſo a Diſhonour be brought upon the whole Forty-Days. The Tradition of the Apoſtles and their Forefathers, which they refer to, is a Canon of the Council of Laodicea to the ſame purpoſe, and almoſt in the ſame words. Οὐ δεῖ ἐν τεσσαρακοσῆ τῆ ὑσέρᾳ ἑβδομάδι τὸ πέμπτον λύειν, & ὅλον τεσσαρακοσὸν ἀτιμάζειν. People ought not to diſſolve their Faſt on the fifth Day of the laſt Week of Lent, and thereby diſhonour the whole Lent. Counc. Laod. Can. 50. But notwithſtanding this, S. Auſtin defends the Practice of the African Church, though in his Opinion he prefers the common Uſage; but leaves it as a thing indifferent. Quapropter neminem cogimus ante Dominicam illam Cœnam prandere, ſed nulli etiam contradicere audemus. Hoc tamen non arbitror inſtitutum, niſi quia plures & propè omnes in pleriſque locis eo die lavare conſueverant. Et quia nonnulli etiam jejunium cuſtodiunt, mane offertur propter prandentes, quia jejunia ſimul & lavacra tolerare non poſſunt, ad veſperam verò propter jejunantes. Wherefore we compel no one to dine before the Lord's Supper, (viz. on Maundy Thurſday,) and yet we dare not oppoſe thoſe who do. I think this Cuſtom was inſtituted upon account that it was a Cuſtom in moſt places, upon this day, to waſh. And becauſe ſome keep the Faſt, there was a Sacrament appointed in the Morning, for the ſake of them that would dine; and a Sacrament in the Evening for the ſake of them who would faſt. Aug. ad Jan. Ep. 118.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. 1 Cor. XI. 17.

I. There is one thing, which I am now coming to ſpeak of, which is ſo far from deſerving Commendation in you, that it merits my ſevereſt Cenſure; viz. That you do ſo manage your Religious Aſſemblies, as to occaſion thereby, that you are not the better Men (as you ought to be) for coming to them, but much the worſe. For I am informed, that when you meet together in your ſacred Aſſemblies, there are many unhappy Conteſts and Quarrels among you: This I not only hear, but I have too juſt Grounds, I fear, to believe. Now this is no more than might be expected; God, for wiſe Reaſons, permitting not only Diviſions, but even Hereſies to prevail in his Church; that the Faith and Love of other good Perſons, which remain unſhaken under the Temptations of ſuch ill Examples, may appear the more eminent, and may receive the greater Reward. II. Now, in one particular, the Behaviour of ſome of you at Church, is to the laſt degree ſcandalous; and, though you may think you duly take the not to eat the Lords ſupper: For in eating, every one taketh before other his own ſupper: and one is hungry, and another is drunken. What, have ye not houſes to eat and to drink in? or deſpiſe ye the Church of God, and ſhame them that have not? What ſhall I ſay to you? ſhall I praiſe you in this? I praiſe you not: III. For I have received of the Lord that which alſo I delivered unto you, that the Lord Jeſus, the ſame night in which he was betrayed, took bread; and when he had given thanks, he brake it, and ſaid, Take, eat, this is my body, which is broken for you: this do in remembrance of me. After the ſame manner alſo he took the cup, when he had ſupped, ſaying, This cup is the new teſtament in my bloud: this do ye as oft as ye drink it, in remembrance of me. For as often as ye eat this bread, and drink this cup, ye do ſhew the Lords death till he come. IV. Wherefore, whoſoever ſhall eat this bread, and drink this cup of the Lord unworthily, ſhall be guilty of the body and bloud of the Lord. But let a man examine himſelf, and ſo let him eat of that bread, and drink of that cup. For he that eateth and drinketh unworthily, eateth and drinketh damnation to himſelf, not diſcerning the Lords body. For this cauſe many are weak and ſickly among you, and many ſleep. For if we would judge our ſelves, we ſhould not be judged. But when we are judged, we are chaſtned of the Lord, that we ſhould not be condemned with the world. V. Wherefore, my brethren, when ye come together to eat, tarry one for another. And if any man hunger, let him eat at home; that ye come not together unto condemnation. And the reſt will I ſet in order when I come.

The GOSPEL. S. Luke XXIII. 1.

I. THE whole multitude of them aroſe, and led him unto Pilate. And they began to accuſe him, ſaying, We found this fellow perverting the nation, and Sacrament, and gratefully commemorate our Lord's Death by a ſpiritual eating his Body, you are much miſtaken, you being very far from doing this as you ought. For your way of eating the Holy Sacrament, and the Meal commonly called the Love-Feaſt, which goes along with it, is for rich People who bring the Entertainment with them to the place of publick Aſſembly; and not to ſet it out for the Furniture of the common Table, (as they ought,) ſo that all the Society, whether rich or poor, may equally partake of it: But for theſe rich Perſons firſt to eat their Fill of the Dainties they bring with them, and to leave what remains to be ſcrambled for by poor People, who come after them; whereby it often comes to paſs, that one who cannot make his part good in ſuch a Tumult, goes away without eating any thing at all, whilſt another catches up Wine enough to be drunk with. What an impious Profanation is this of the Place dedicated to God's Service? If you have a mind to have Feaſts, wherein you would eat and drink to the Full, and have only People of Faſhion to eat with you; your own private Houſes are the propereſt Places for ſuch Entertainments. But this Practice, which obtains among you, brings a Diſreſpect upon the ſacred Place in which you perform your Religious Worſhip; it tends to the Reproach and Upbraiding of poorer Chriſtians, who cannot contribute ſo handſom a ſhare of Proviſions as yourſelves, or are ſometimes with hungry-Bellies forced to look upon you as you are feaſting. What can I ſay to this? Shall I commend you for it, as for ſome things I have formerly done? No ſurely; but rather I muſt highly blame you. III. For I have it from the Relation of the Apoſtles who were Eye-witneſſes, as alſo from the Aſſiſtance of the Holy Spirit which my bleſſed Saviour has afforded me, to go along with me, and ſuperintend my Thoughts in my Preaching and Writing, That in the Evening of that Night wherein Judas betrayed him, he took a piece of Bread into his Hands, and after having bleſſed it by a ſhort Prayer, he ſaid to all preſent, Take and eat This, for This is my Body which ſhall be broken (i. e. tormented) upon the Croſs for your ſakes; therefore I would have you frequently repeat this Action as a Commemoration of your ſuffering Lord. In like manner, when Supper was ended, he took a Cup of Wine into his hands, ſaying, This is my Blood by which the New Teſtament or Covenant of God with Man, is eſtabliſhed; this you muſt likewiſe keep up as a Rite, commemorative of my Sufferings. For by the eating a Bit of Bread, and by drinking a Cup of Wine after this manner, you ſhall keep up a grateful Memory of your Lord's Death, till his coming to Judgment. IV. Therefore, whatſoever Perſon ſhall behave himſelf unhandſomly in the Adminiſtration of this ſacred Rite, is not only guilty of an Undecency committed at an ordinary Meal, but is guilty of a higher Miſdemeanour in unreverently treating the Body and Blood of our bleſſed Lord, which he has had inſtituted theſe Elements of Bread and Wine to repreſent. Therefore, let every one come with great Sobriety and Seriouſneſs to partake of theſe ſacred Myſteries: for thoſe who irreverently approach this holy Table, or behave themſelves unhandſomly at it, are ſo far from receiving any ſpiritual Benefit thereby, that they provoke God's ſevere Judgments and Condemnation upon them, for not diſtinguiſhing this ſacred Feaſt, in Commemoration of our Lord's Sufferings, from a common Meal. And you may in ſome meaſure be convinced of the Truth of what I ſay, by your own Experience: For ſeveral Members of your Congregations, who have been notoriouſly guilty of this profane Diſreſpect to the holy Sacrament, have been viſited by very ſevere Fits of Sickneſs; and others have been cut off by unexpected Death. But, if we would all of us judge ourſelves, by amending theſe and all other Irregular Practices, we ſhould eſcape the Judgment which God paſſes upon us in ſending ſuch Calamities. But, by the way, we muſt likewiſe obſerve, that there is ſome Comfort to be had even from theſe temporal Judgments of God, though they be oftentimes very ſevere; becauſe they are to be underſtood only as Chaſtiſements which God has laid us under, with a gracious Deſign to make us better, as being his Children; and that by taking Warning by them, we may eſcape that eternal Condemnation which the wicked and profane People of the World are liable to. V. Upon theſe Conſiderations, I exhort you, my dear Chriſtian Brethren, when you celebrate the Lord's Supper, and the Feaſt of Love, which goes along with it, that the Rich do not eat before the Poor, and that there be no Catching and Scrambling either for the Meat or the Wine; but that all eat and drink together at one common Table, and that in an orderly manner. If any one's Appetite be ſo keen, that he cannot ſtay till the Diſhes of the Feaſt be regularly diſpoſed, for every one to ſit down and partake thereof; let him eat ſomething before at his own Houſe, to ſtay his Stomach. And by obſerving theſe Methods, you will avoid for the future theſe ſcandalous Practices, which have made your Communions to bring more Miſchief upon you than Good. And whatever elſe is amiſs in your Eccleſiaſtical Polity, I will rectify when I ſhall come among you.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Luke XXIII. 1.

I. Our Saviour being condemned by the Vote of the major part, though not all the Sanhedrim, ver. 51. was led away by them to Pilate the Roman Governour, to have their Judgment affirmed by him. And they framed their Accuſation in ſuch and forbidding to give tribute to Ceſar, ſaying, that he himſelf is Chriſt a king. And Pilate asked him, ſaying, Art thou the king of the Jews? And he anſwered him and ſaid, Thou ſaieſt it. Then ſaid Pilate to the chief prieſts, and to the people, I find no fault in this man. And they were the more fierce, ſaying, He ſtirreth up the people, teaching throughout all Jewry, beginning from Galilee to this place. II. When Pilate heard of Galilee, he asked whether the man were a Galilean. And as ſoon as he knew that he belonged unto Herods Juriſdiction, he ſent him to Herod, who himſelf was alſo at Jeruſalem at that time. And when Herod ſaw Jeſus, he was exceeding glad, for he was deſirous to ſee him of a long ſeaſon, becauſe he had heard many things of him, and he hoped to have ſeen ſome miracle done by him. Then he queſtioned with him in many words; but he anſwered him nothing. And the chief prieſts, and ſcribes ſtood and vehemently accuſed him. And Herod with his men of war ſet him at naught, and mocked him, and arayed him in a gorgeous robe, and ſent him again to Pilate. And the ſame day Pilate and Herod were made friends together; for before they were at enmity between themſelves. III. And Pilate when he had called together the chief prieſts, and the rulers, and the people, ſaid unto them, Ye have brought this man unto me, as one that perverteth the people, and behold, I having examined him before you, have found no fault in this man touching thoſe things whereof ye accuſe him: No, nor yet Herod: for I ſent you to him, and lo, nothing worthy of death is done unto him. I will therefore chaſtiſe him, and releaſe him. For of neceſſity he muſt releaſe one unto them at the feaſt. And they cried out all at once, ſaying, Away with this man, and releaſe unto us Barabbas: (Who for a certain ſedition made in the city, and for murder was caſt in priſon) Pilate therefore willing to releaſe Jeſus, ſpake again to them. But they cried, ſaying, Crucifie him, crucifie him. And he ſaid unto them the third time, Why, what evil hath he done? I have found no cauſe of death in him: I will therefore chaſtiſe him and let him go. And they were inſtant with loud voices, requiring that he might be crucified: And the voices of them, and of the chief prieſts prevailed. And Pilate gave ſentence, that it ſhould be as they required. And he releaſed unto them him that for ſedition and murder was caſt into priſon, whom they had deſired; but he delivered Jeſus to their will. IV. And as they led him away, they laid hold upon one Simon a Cyrenian, coming out of the country, and on him they laid the croſs, that he might bear it after Jeſus. And there followed him a great company of people, and of women, who alſo bewailed and lamented him. But Jeſus turning unto them, ſaid, ſuch like words: We have found this Man drawing away the Nation from the Religion of their Anceſtors, and alſo forbidding to pay Cæſar, the Roman Emperour, his Dues; taking upon him to be our long-expected Meſſias, and ſo conſequently our King. Pilate therefore put the Queſtion to him, Whether he were a King or no? He anſwered he was. Pilate taking him to ſpeak in a metaphorical Senſe, ſaid, he did not find ſufficient Grounds to condemn him for this. This Oppoſition made the Members of the Sanhedrim but the more furious, and to cry out, that he teacheth ſeditious Doctrine, and hath done ſo throughout all Judea, firſt beginning in Galilee. II. Mention being made of Galilee, Pilate enquired, whether the Priſoner were a Galilean. And diſcerning that his Dwelling and Abode was in Galilee, which belonged to Herod's Government; and ſuppoſing Herod, by his Knowledge in the Jewiſh Religion, to be fitter for the Cognizance of this Caſe; he remitted the hearing it to Herod, who was perſonally at Jeruſalem at that time, on occaſion of the Feaſt. He being brought before Herod, that Prince was mighty glad to ſee the Perſon he had heard ſo much of, hoping to ſee him do one of thoſe Miracles he had been ſo famous in his Country for working. He likewiſe put many Queſtions to him which he gave no Anſwer to; though the Members of the Sanhedrim continued as fierce in their Accuſation of him as they had done before. Then Herod, with the Soldiers of his Guard, made Sport with him, dreſſing him up in a Garment like a Royal Robe, to expoſe him for a Mock-King; and then ſent him back to Pilate. This piece of Reſpect ſhewed by Pilate to Herod, made them Friends, they being before at variance. III. He being brought back to Pilate, that Governour convened not only the Sanhedrim, but the People alſo, telling them, that upon a full Examination of the Priſoner, he had not found him guilty in any capital Matter of any thing laid to his Charge. Nor is this (ſays he) my Opinion only; but I ſent him, and referred the hearing of the Buſineſs to Herod, ver. 7. who being more acquainted with your Religion than I am, may be deemed a more competent Judge; and after he hath had Cognizance of him, he hath no ways expreſſed his Opinion that his Crimes are capital. His Puniſhment therefore ſhall be, only that of Scourging with Whips; and ſo he ſhall be releaſed. For the Cuſtom had laid a Neceſſity on him, to releaſe one unto them at the Feaſt of the Paſſover. This made them cry out tumultuouſly, that they would not have Jeſus releaſed, but Barabbas, who for Murder committed in a Riot lay impriſoned. Pilate again made another Eſſay to ſoften the People, being, on opinion of Chriſt's Innocence (and having received a Meſſage from his Wife, Matt. 27. 19.) deſirous to ſave his Life, and only to inflict ſome inferiour Puniſhment on him, v. 16. But they were peremptory for the putting him to death; and therefore called out that he ſhould be crucified. And ſo Pilate paſſed Sentence of Death upon him, in the Manner as they deſired; releaſing to them Barabbas. Having put on him a Scarlet Robe, a Crown of Thorns, and a Reed like a Sceptre in his Hand, and ſo made him a Mock-King of the Jews, and then taken all from him again, and uſed him contumelioufly, Mat. 27. 29, &c. IV. They led him out to Crucify him; and as they went, they preſſed one Simon to carry his Croſs, on which he ſhould be crucified, after him. Now to the place of his Crucifixion there followed a great number of People, and likewiſe Women who bewailed the miſerable Death which he was to undergo. But Jeſus turning about to them, ſaid, O you Women, Inhabitants of Jeruſalem! Spare your Tears at this time, and reſerve them to bewail the Calamities which are ready to befal this whole Nation, for this Sin of Rejecting ſaid, Daughters of Jeruſalem, weep not for me, but weep for your ſelves, and for your children. For behold, the days are coming, in which they ſhall ſay, Bleſſed are the barren, and the wombs that never bare, and the paps which never gave ſuck. Then ſhall they begin to ſay to the mountains, Fall on us; and to the hills, Cover us. For if they do theſe things in a green tree, what ſhall be done in the dry? V. And there were alſo two other malefactors led with him to be put to death. And when they were come to the place which is called Calvary, there they crucified him; and the malefactors, one on the right hand, and the other on the left. Then ſaid Jeſus, Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do. And they parted his raiment, and caſt lots. And the people ſtood beholding, and the rulers alſo with them derided him, ſaying, He ſaved others, let him ſave himſelf, if he be Chriſt the choſen of God. And the ſouldiers alſo mocked him, coming to him, and offering him vinegar, and ſaying, If thou be the king of the Jews, ſave thy ſelf. And a ſuperſcription alſo was written over him in letters of Greek, and Latin, and Hebrew, THIS IS THE KING OF THE JEWS. VI. And one of the malefactors, which were hanged, railed on him, ſaying, If thou be Chriſt, ſave thy ſelf, and us. But the other anſwering, rebuked him, ſaying, Doſt not thou fear God, ſeeing thou art in the ſame condemnation? And we indeed juſtly; for we receive the due reward of our deeds, but this man hath done nothing amiſs. And he ſaid unto Jeſus, Lord, remember me when thou comeſt into thy kingdom. And Jeſus ſaid unto him, Verily I ſay unto thee, To day ſhalt thou be with me in paradiſe. And it was about the ſixth hour. VII. And there was a darkneſs over all the earth, until the ninth hour. And the ſun was darkned, and the vail of the temple was rent in the midſt. And when Jeſus had cried with a loud voice, he ſaid, Father, into thy hands I commend my ſpirit: and having ſaid thus, he gave up the ghoſt. Now when the centurion ſaw what was done, he glorified God, ſaying, Certainly this was a righteous man. And all the people that came together to that ſight, beholding the things that were done, ſmote their breaſts, and returned. And all his Acquaintance, and the women that followed him from Galilee, ſtood afar off, beholding theſe things.

ing and Crucifying me. For heavy Days are ſhortly coming upon this People; miſerable Straits and Diſtreſſes firſt, and then even utter Deſtruction, expreſſed Jo. 2. 19. Hoſ. 10. 8. Apoc. 6. 16. by calling the Mountains to cover them, and by that other proverbial Phraſe of cutting off the green Tree with the dry, Ez. 20. 47. the Righteous and Wicked together, Ez. 21. 2, 3. or the Rich and the Poor together, i. e. making an utter Deſolation, ver. 4. And if my Portion, who am the Son of God, and innocent, be in your Opinion ſo ſad and lamentable, under this Roman Judge and Soldiers, What will become of the profeſſed Enemies of God, who, as a dry Trunk of a Tree, are, as it were, fitted and marked out for the Fire, and ſhall fall into the hands of whole Armies of the Romans? Or if, in the Diſtreſs which ſhall come upon you, the Rich and the Noble ſhall be put to ſuch Straits, then, What will the Condition of the Meaner-ſort be? V. Two other Perſons, who were Criminals, were led to Execution with him, and crucified, one on each ſide of him, upon a Hill called Golgotha in Syriack, in Greek Cranion, in Latin Calvaria. Then Jeſus prayed God to forgive them, it being ſome degree of Alleviation of their Sin, that they did not know what Perſon they injured. The Soldiers who attended at the Execution, made a Diviſion of his upper Garments into four parts, and took each of them a part; but his inner Garment, having no Seam in it, they caſt Lots for that, who ſhould have it entire, John 19. 24. Then ſeveral of the People who were Spectators, and others being Members of the Sanhedrim who were there, made Reflection upon him, ſaying, This Man undertook to be the Meſſias; and ſurely if he were the Meſſias to deliver the Nation, he would firſt deliver himſelf. The Soldiers likewiſe uſed him contumeliouſly, offering him Vinegar, ſaying, Save thyſelf, Jeſus, King of Judea. And there was put up over his Head a Title, containing the Cauſe of this Condemnation, which was written in Greek, Latin, and Hebrew, (the three moſt ordinary Languages, one or other of which there were very few but underſtood) thus, JESUS THE NAZAREN KING OF THE JEWS. VI. Likewiſe one of the crucified Malefactors contumeliouſly reflected on him, ſaying, O King Jeſus! ſave thyſelf and me. But the other reprimanded him, and ſaid, Though theſe other impious Perſons uſed him thus, yet we that are thus puniſhed with him, ought, if he were guilty, to have Compaſſion for him, and not reproach him: And beſides this, we are indeed guilty, but he a moſt innocent Perſon, who came to do Good to this People, and is uſed thus ill by them. Then he begged of our Saviour, that he would have ſome regard to him when he came to his Kingdom. To this our Saviour returned Anſwer; Immediately after thy Death, thou ſhalt go to a place of Bliſs, and there abide with me, a Member of that my Kingdom which thou askeſt for. Mark 15. 25. And there was an Eclipſe of the Sun, and a palpable Darkneſs over all the Land of Judea until Three Afternoon. The Face of the Sun appeared of a dusky Colour; and the Veil of the Temple, which divides the Body thereof from the Holy of Holies, was by an imperceptible Means rent from the Top to the Bottom. And our Saviour crying very earneſtly and loud theſe words, Father, into thy hands I commend my ſpirit; he expired. Now when the Captain who attended at the Execution ſaw theſe wondrous Occurrences, he confeſſed it an Evidence of God's interpoſing his Power, and thence concluded that he was an innocent Perſon. And all the Multitude there preſent had Remorſe at what was done. And thoſe Perſons with whom he did moſt familiarly converſe, and the good Women who came with him out of Galilee, ſtood at ſome diſtance, not daring to approach nearer for fear of being brought into Trouble, making a diligent Obſervation of theſe particular Tranſactions.

ALmighty God, we beſeech thee graciouſly to behold this thy family, for which our Lord Jeſus Chriſt was contented to be betrayed, and given up into the hands of wicked men, and to ſuffer death upon the croſs, who now liveth and reigneth with thee and the holy Ghoſt, ever one God, world without end. Amen.

ALmighty and everlaſting God, by whoſe ſpirit the whole body of the Church is governed and ſanctified; Receive our ſupplications and prayers which we offer before thee for all eſtates of men in thy holy Church, that every member of the ſame in his vocation and miniſtry, may truly and godly ſerve thee, through our Lord and Saviour Jeſus Chriſt. Amen.

O Merciful God, who haſt made all men, and hateſt nothing that thou haſt made, nor wouldeſt the death of a ſinner, but rather that he ſhould be converted and live; Have mercy upon all Jews, Turks, Infidels, and Hereticks, and take from them all ignorance, hardneſs of heart, and contempt of thy word; and ſo fetch them home, bleſſed Lord, to thy flock, that they may be ſaved among the remnant of the true Iſraelites, and be made one fold under one Shepherd, Jeſus Chriſt our Lord, who liveth and reigneth with thee and the holy Spirit, one God, world without end. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Heb. X. 1.

I. The Moſaical Law being only the firſt rude Draught of a Picture, ſhadowed, as it were, by a quick Touch of the Painter's Hand, and not the Picture itſelf, carefully delineated and finiſhed, as the Goſpel is, cannot pretend to the Perfection of this noble Inſtitution: For inſtance, The Expiation-Sacrifice, which is offered-up every Year, is far from doing all that is needful to be done for the ſake of its Votaries; for then what need would there be of its being offered again the next Year? For, if that were a ſufficient Sacrifice for the of ſins every year. II. For it is not poſſible that the blood of bulls and of goats ſhould take away ſins: Wherefore when he cometh into the world, he ſaith, Sacrifice and offering thou wouldeſt not, but a body haſt thou prepared me: In burnt-offerings, and ſacrifices for ſin thou haſt had no pleaſure: Then ſaid I, Lo, I come (in the volume of the book it is written of me) to do thy will, O God. III. Above, when he ſaid, Sacrifice and offering, and burnt-offerings, and offering for ſin thou wouldeſt not, neither hadſt pleaſure therein, which are offered by the law: Then ſaid he, Lo, I come to do thy will, O God. He taketh away the firſt, that he may eſtabliſh the ſecond. By the which will we are ſanctified, through the offering of the body of Jeſus Chriſt once for all. IV. And every prieſt ſtandeth daily miniſtring, and offering oftentimes the ſame ſacrifices which can never take away ſins. But this man after he had offered one ſacrifice for ſins, for ever ſat down on the right hand of God; from henceforth expecting till his enemies be made his foot-ſtool. For by one offering he hath perfected for ever them that are ſanctified: Whereof the holy Ghoſt alſo is a witneſs to us: For after that he had ſaid before, This is the covenant that I will make with them after thoſe days, ſaith the Lord, I will put my laws into their hearts, and in their minds will I write them; and their ſins and iniquities will I remember no more. Now where remiſſion of theſe is, there is no more offering for ſin. V. Having therefore, brethren, boldneſs to enter into the holieſt by the blood of Jeſus, by a new and living way, which he hath conſecrated for us, through the vail, that is to ſay, his fleſh: And having an high Prieſt over the houſe of God; let us draw near with a true heart, in full aſſurance of faith, having our hearts ſprinkled from an evil conſcience, and our bodies waſhed with pure water. VI. Let us hold faſt the profeſſion of our faith without wavering: (for he is faithful that promiſed) And let us conſider one another to provoke unto love, and to good works; not forſaking the aſſembling of our ſelves together, as the manner of ſome is; but exhorting one another: and ſo much the more, as ye ſee the day approaching.

The

Sins of the People, how come the People to have a new Load of Sins upon them the next Year, ſo as to want a new Expiation? Now it is not to be denied, but that, under the Moſaical Law, there is a publick Confeſſion of the Sins of the People made every Year, and a new ſolemn Atonement made for them. II. And, if we duly conſider the nature of things, we cannot think that the Blood of a ſacrific'd Bull or Goat ſhould take away the Guilt of a ſinful Soul, or ſatisfy the Juſtice of God for the Affront and Injury done to his Laws. And this our bleſſed Saviour had in view upon his Incarnation, as the Pſalmiſt ſpeaks in that Prophetical Pſalm of him, Pſal. 40. Sacrifice and offering thou wouldeſt not, but a body haſt thou prepared me: In burnt-offerings and ſacrifices thou haſt had no pleaſure: Then ſaid I, Lo, I come (in the volume of the Book it is written of me) to do thy will, O God. III. Where note, that firſt he ſays, Sacrifice and burnt-offering thou wouldeſt not, i. e. thou doeſt not take that Delight in thoſe legal Sacrifices, as in a Life of Goodneſs and Holineſs: then ſays he, Lo, I come to do thy will, O God, to eſtabliſh a more excellent Religion, more acceptable and agreeable to the divine Nature. Wherefore our Saviour repeals theſe Ceremonial Ordinances, to make way for the eſtabliſhing a Religion made up of better Precepts: A Religion, in which we have our Sins pardoned by the all-ſufficient Sacrifice of Chriſt's Blood; which being of infinite Value, need not be repeated. IV. As we have argued this Point from the Annual Sacrifice of the Expiation, ſo we may likewiſe conclude the ſame from the daily Sacrifice which is to be offered up Morning and Evening, Numb. xviii. For the Prieſt ſtands continually at the Altar doing the ſame thing over and over again, ſacrificing one Lamb in the Morning, and another at Night, and ſo the Year round, with little Benefit received thereby to the People; for if they were offered every minute, as they are thrice a day, they could never free them from the Guilt of their Sins: But our Saviour offered up ſuch a Sacrifice of himſelf, as would ſerve once for all, without Repetition, and therefore does not ſtand waiting at the Altar, like the Jewiſh High Prieſt; but having finiſhed his ſacerdotal Office at once, is gone to ſhare the heavenly Glories, and to be next in Honour to God the Father; expecting till all his Adverſaries, the Powers of this World, and the Powers of Darkneſs, and even of Death itſelf, ſhall be ſubdued unto him, 1 Cor. 15. 26. Now this great Truth, which I have been proving, is confirmed by the Teſtimony of the Holy Ghoſt, who inſpired the Writers of Holy Scripture; as is plain from Jer. xxi. who ſays, This is the Covenant that I will make with them after thoſe days, ſaith the Lord. I will put my Laws into their hearts, and in their minds will I write them, and their ſins and iniquities I will remember no more. For if here be a Sacrifice found out which is of ſufficient Value to purchaſe a Pardon for Sins from God by being once offered; there is no need of that Sacrifice being offered up again, much leſs of any other Sacrifice. V. Therefore let me exhort you, my Brethren, that ſince you have a Privilege obtained for you by our Saviour's Merits, to enter with Boldneſs into a more holy Place than the Sanctuary, where only the Prieſt muſt go, even Heaven itſelf; he himſelf having ſhewed us, and conſecrated by his Blood, a way which leads us thither, not by the old dead Ordinances of the Law, but by the lively Precepts of the Goſpel; whereby we have the Liberty to go, as it were, through the Curtain or Veil into the Sanctuary of Heaven, by virtue of our Saviour's becoming Man, and ſuffering for us, and putting on that Veil upon him of Fleſh to skreen over his Divinity: And having our bleſſed Saviour an High Prieſt, to intercede with God on our behalf in Heaven, let us addreſs our Petitions to God, with a pious Confidence of having them granted, ſince God has pardon'd our Sins through the Blood of Chriſt; which Aſſurance will be better grounded than all the Jewiſh Votaries, who are cleanſed only by legal Sprinklings and Waſhings. VI. Moreover, Let all of us profeſs the Faith of Chriſt with Conſtancy, (for if we perform our Duty, we need not doubt but our Saviour will perform his Promiſes,) and let us take Example from one another, not as ſome do, in cowardly running away from our Religion, and leaving off coming to Church, for fear of Perſecution; but, in ſtriving to out-do one another in Chriſtian Love, and all the other Evangelical and Moral Virtues; and this too with the greater Earneſtneſs, by how much the Day of the Lord draws the nigher, in which he will make the Perſecution of the Jews againſt the Chriſtians ceaſe, by deſtroying their City and Polity.

1. PIlate therefore took Jeſus, and ſcourged him. And the ſouldiers platted a crown of thorns, and put it on his head, and they put on him a purple robe, and ſaid, Hail king of the Jews: And they ſmote him with their hands. Pilate therefore went forth again, and ſaith unto them, Behold, I bring him forth to you, that ye may know that I find no fault in him. Then came Jeſus forth, wearing the crown of thorns, and the purple robe. II. And Pilate ſaith unto them, Behold the man. When the chief Prieſts therefore, and officers ſaw him, they cried out, ſaying, Crucifie him, crucifie him. Pilate ſaith unto them, Take ye him, and crucifie him: for I find no fault in him. The Jews anſwered him, We have a law, and by our law, he ought to die, becauſe he made himſelf the Son of God. When Pilate therefore heard that ſaying, he was the more afraid; and went again into the judgment-hall, and ſaith unto Jeſus, Whence art thou? But Jeſus gave him no anſwer. III. Then ſaith Pilate unto him, Speakeſt thou not unto me? knoweſt thou not, that I have power to crucifie thee, and have power to releaſe thee? Jeſus anſwered, Thou couldeſt have no power at all againſt me, except it were given thee from above: therefore he that delivered me unto thee hath the greater ſin. And from thence forth Pilate ſought to releaſe him: but the Jews cryed out, ſaying, If thou let this man go, thou art not Ceſars friend: Whoſoever maketh himſelf a king, ſpeaketh againſt Ceſar. IV. When Pilate therefore heard that ſaying, he brought Jeſus forth, and ſate down in the judgment-ſeat, in a place that is called the Pavement, but in the Hebrew Gabbatha. And it was the preparation of the paſſover, and about the ſixth hour: and he ſaith unto the Jews, Behold your king. But they cried out, Away with him, away with him, crucifie him. Pilate ſaith unto them, Shall I crucifie your king? The chief prieſts anſwered, We have no king but Ceſar. Then delivered he him there-

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. John XIX. 1.

I. Pilate finding that he could not work upon the obſtinate Temper of the Jews, in perſuading them to let fall their Reſentments againſt our Saviour, and to let him be diſmiſſed without Puniſhment, tried another way to ſave his Life; and that was, by ſcourging him with Rods, and expoſing him to the Multitude in an aukward Dreſs. Therefore he ordered him to be whipped, and gave the Soldiers Leave to make Sport with him, as a Mock-King; who thereupon made a Wreath of Thorns, in faſhion of a Diadem, which they bound cloſe upon his Head, habiting him in ſuch a Purple Gown as Princes uſed to wear, crying out, Long live King Jeſus; but, to ſhew their own Contempt of him, at the ſame time ſtriking him. But whilſt the Soldiers and Rabble were thus impudently deriding him, Pilate came out into the Palace-yard among them, and told them, that he had ſuffered them to give him this Uſage, which might ſuffice to ſatisfy their Reſentments; and that now they ought not to proceed to any capital Puniſhment, which he had not in the leaſt deſerved. Then he made Jeſus walk before all the Company, in his aukward Robes. II. Upon this, Pilate ſaid, You now ſee what a King he is; you need not be afraid of your being called to account for ſetting up ſuch a King as this Man appears to be. But the Members of the Sanhedrim, and the Officers of the Army, who were there preſent, upon this view of him were ſo far from relenting in their Malice, that they cried out to have him crucified; which made Pilate declare, That if they would have him crucified, they muſt do it themſelves, for that he could not find that he was guilty of any Crime, for which he could juſtly condemn him to that Puniſhment. But the Jews replied, that there was no need of his ſticking ſo cloſe to the Roman Laws in this caſe, for he might juſtly be condemned by the Jewiſh Laws, which he ought to have a principal Regard to in that Country; for the Law (ſay they) of our great Legiſlator Moſes, makes it Death for any one to be a falſe Prophet, Deut. 18. 20. and therefore this Man does much more deſerve it, who falſly pretends to be the Meſſias, the Son of God. This Clamour of the Jews, who now vouched the Authority of their Laws to back their Malice, put Pilate into a greater Perplexity and Concern; and taking the Bench again in the Pretorium, had a mind to interrogate Jeſus concerning ſome further Particulars; queſtioning him concerning his Extraction, having heard the Jews accuſe him for pretending to be the Son of God. But Jeſus gave him no Anſwer to any Queſtion which he put to him upon that Head.

III. How! (ſays Pilate) art thou ſo ſillily obſtinate, by refuſing to anſwer my Queſtions as to affront a Perſon in whoſe Power it lies either to crucify thee as thy Adverſaries deſire, or fully to acquit thee. Here our Saviour thought fit to return an Anſwer, which was this: 'Tis true, O noble Governour, that you have this Power, but then you ſhould always conſider, that it is the ſuperior Authority of Almighty God, who veſted you with it; and that you muſt not uſe it arbitrarily, but according to the Rules of Equity and Juſtice, for the Adminiſtration whereof he has raiſed you to this Honour; and if you, for any conſideration of Popularity, or Fear, ſhall wrongfully condemn me, an innocent Perſon, it is a great Crime in you, and for which you muſt expect to give an Account to God: but however, your Guilt in condemning me, will not be ſo great as that of my perfidious Diſciple in betraying me, becauſe he had better opportunity of knowing my Character and Innocence, than you have ever had. This made ſuch Impreſſion upon Pilate, that he from thenceforth laboured more earneſtly to acquit him; but all that he could do, ſerved only to exaſperate the Jews the more, who cried out in a very clamorous manner, That to ſave ſuch a Criminal, was to betray the high Truſt which the Emperor had repoſed in him; this being to protect a Traitor who had ſet up a Kingdom in oppoſition to Cæſar, and endeavoured, as much as in him lay, to dethrone the Emperour. IV. Pilate, upon hearing theſe Words, was in no little Concern, not knowing how a Relation of this kind might work upon the Mind of Tiberius the Emperour, a very ſuſpicious Prince, called back Jeſus again, himſelf aſcending the Tribunal, in the Paved Court which the Jews call Gabbatha. It was now the Paſchal Preparation to the Day of unleavened Bread, being about Twelve-a-clock at Noon, when Pilate expoſed Jeſus again to the View of the Jews, bidding them look upon their King, and ſee if he were a likely Perſon to be a Rival to Cæſar, as they, out of their great Reſpect to the Imperial Majeſty, were ſo mightily afraid of: But the Jews, being the more enraged at this, cried out that he ought not to let ſuch a Traitor live, but that he ought to order him to be crucified immediately. What, ſays Pilate, when the reſt of the Aſiaticks adore their Princes like Gods, will you Jews have your King to be crucified like a Slave? The Members of the Sanhedrim interpoſed here, and declared that this was too ſevere a Reflexion upon their Country, they being Cæſar's very loyal Subjects, owning no one to be their King but only the Emperour Tiberius. Pilate finding that it was to no purpoſe to drive the Jews from the point of Malice which they were purſuing, and that he therefore unto them to be crucified: and they took Jeſus and led him away. V. And he bearing his croſs, went forth into a place called the place of a ſcull, which is called in the Hebrew, Golgotha: Where they crucified him, and two other with him, on either ſide one, and Jeſus in the midſt. And Pilate wrote a title, and put it on the croſs. And the writing was, JESUS OF NAZARETH THE KING OF THE JEWS. This title then read many of the Jews: for the place where Jeſus was crucified was nigh to the city: and it was written in Hebrew, and Greek, and Latine. Then ſaid the chief prieſt of the Jews to Pilate, Write not, The king of the Jews; but that he ſaid, I am the king of the Jews. Pilate anſwered, What I have written, I have written. VI. Then the ſouldiers, when they had crucified Jeſus, took his garments, (and made four parts, to every ſouldier a part) and alſo his coat: now the coat was without ſeam, woven from the top throughout. They ſaid therefore among themſelves, Let us not rend it, but caſt lots for it, whoſe it ſhall be: that the Scripture might be fulfilled, which ſaith, They parted my raiment among them, and for my veſture they did caſt lots. Theſe things therefore the ſouldiers did. VII. Now there ſtood by the croſs of Jeſus, his mother and his mothers ſiſter, Mary, the wife of Cleophas, and Mary Magdalen. When Jeſus therefore ſaw his mother, and the diſciple ſtanding by, whom he loved, he ſaith unto his mother, Woman, behold thy ſon. Then ſaith he to the diſciple, Behold thy mother. And from that hour that diſciple took her unto his own home. After this, Jeſus knowing that all things were now accompliſhed, that the Scripture might be fulfilled, ſaith, I thirſt. VIII. Now there was ſet a veſſel full of vinegar: and they filled a ſpunge with vinegar, and put it upon hyſſop, and put it to his mouth. When Jeſus therefore had received the vineger, he ſaid, It is finiſhed: and he bowed his head, and gave up the ghoſt. The Jews therefore becauſe it was the preparation, that the bodies ſhould not remain upon the croſs on the ſabbath-day (for that ſabbath-day was an high day) beſought Pilate that their legs might be broken, and that they might be taken away. IX. Then came the ſoldiers, and brake the legs of the firſt, and of the other which was crucified with him. But when they came to Jeſus, and ſaw that he was dead already, they brake not his legs. But one of the ſoldiers with a ſpear pierced his ſide, and forthwith came there out blood and water. And he that ſaw it bare record, and his record he might bring himſelf into ſome Danger or Diſgrace with the Emperour by too ſtiffly oppoſing them therein, at laſt gave way, and paſſed Sentence upon Jeſus to be crucified, delivering him into the hands of ſome Soldiers who were to ſee that Execution done upon him, who took him into their Charge, and led him away. V. So Jeſus carrying his Croſs, as was the Cuſtom of crucified Perſons to do, went to Golgotha, a place where Criminals were executed; where he was nailed to the Croſs, two Malefactors being crucified at the ſame time, one on each ſide of him. But before he went from the Pretorium, Pilate himſelf wrote an Inſcription, which was to be placed over his Head upon the Croſs; and it was this, JESUS OF NAZARETH THE KING OF THE JEWS. This being placed upon the Croſs, when our Lord was faſtened thereunto, and read by ſeveral of the Jews who went to ſee the Execution, ſome of them preſently told it to the High Prieſt, (the place of Execution being near the Town,) and he went to Pilate, deſiring him to alter the Inſcription, by changing the Words King of the Jews into one who pretended to be King of the Jews; thinking that the former was a Reflexion upon their Nation. But Pilate would not gratify him therein, telling him that the firſt Title ſhould ſtand, and that he himſelf knew how to word an Inſcription to be placed over a condemned Perſons Head whom he himſelf had tried, better than the High Prieſt could teach him. VI. Now his Cloaths being ſeparated into four parts, they became a Booty to the Soldiers who attended at the Execution: But his upper Garment having no Seam, and conſequently not to be divided without ſpoiling it, they agreed to caſt Lots which of them ſhould have it: Which Action of the Soldiers gave occaſion to a literal fulfilling of that Pſalm which is prophetical of Chriſt, They part my garments among them, and caſt lots upon my veſture, Pſal. 22. 17. VII. It is to be obſerved, that whilſt our Saviour was upon the Croſs, his Mother, the bleſſed Virgin, came thither to take her Farewel of him, and to receive his dying Words, being attended by her Siſter the Wife of Cleofas, and his beloved Diſciple John, and Mary Magdalen. Our Saviour looking down from the Croſs, and caſting his Eye upon his bleſſed Mother and that Diſciple, who were gotten up cloſe to the Croſs, ſaid to the bleſſed Virgin; For the future, Mother, this muſt be your Son; and you muſt love him with a like Tenderneſs as you have loved me: And then addreſſing himſelf to John, ſaid, This muſt now be your Mother, and you muſt pay her the ſame Duty and Reſpect, and all other filial Duties, as I have done. In obedience to which Command, the forementioned Diſciple took the bleſſed Virgin home to his Houſe, with whom ſhe lived till her Death. Our Saviour perceiving that all the Prophecies which related to him were exactly fulfilled, excepting one particular, ſaid, I am very thirſty. VIII. Now near the Croſs there ſtood a Bottle of Vinegar, or ſour Wine, and one of the Company took a Spunge and dipped it in the Vinegar, and tying it to a Stalk of Hyſop, put it up to his mouth to ſuck it. And when he had taken in a little of it, he ſaid, All matters are now over; and bowing down his Head after the manner of dying Perſons, he gave up his Spirit to God. It being now near Three-a-clock in the Afternoon, the time when the Jews began their Preparation to the following Sabbath, which was of great Eſteem, being the firſt day of the unleavened Bread, the Jews were afraid their Devotion would be polluted by the Execution of Criminals after the Solemnities of their Sabbath began; and therefore got an Order from Pilate that they might be diſpatched before that time, by breaking of their Legs, which uſually occaſioned crucified Perſons to die preſently. IX. The Soldiers having received an Order to do this, brake the Legs of each of the Malefactors who were crucified with our Saviour, which they omitted in him, ſince they found he was already dead. But however, that they might be ſure not to leave any Life in him, one of the Soldiers thruſt his Spear into his Heart, and there guſhed out of the Wound Water and Blood, emblematical Repreſentations of the Efficacy of the two Sacraments. Of the Truth of this, I John, who wrote this Hiſtory, and was an Eye-witneſs of the ſame, do teſtify, knowing it to be an exact Relation, and have made known the ſame record is true: and he knoweth that he ſaith true, that ye might believe. For theſe things were done that the Scripture ſhould be fulfilled, A bone of him ſhall not be broken. And again, another Scripture ſaith, They ſhall look on him whom they pierced.

The †COLLECT.

GRant, O Lord, that as we are baptized into the death of thy bleſſed Son our Saviour Jeſus Chriſt; ſo by continual mortifying our corrupt affections, we may be buried with him, and that through the grave, and gate of death, we may paſs to our joyful reſurrection, for his merits, who died, and was buried, and roſe again for us, thy Son Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

The EPISTLE. 1 Pet. III. 17.

I. IT is better, if the will of God be ſo, that ye ſuffer for well-doing, than for evil-doing. For Chriſt alſo hath once ſuffered for ſins, the juſt for the unjuſt; (that he might bring us to God) being put to death in the fleſh, but quickned by the Spirit; By which alſo he went and preached unto the ſpirits in (m) priſon; which ſometime were diſobedient, when once the long-ſuffering of God waited in the days of Noah, while the ark was a preparing; wherein few, that is, eight Souls, were ſaved by water. II. The like figure whereunto, even baptiſm, doth alſo now ſave us, (not the putting away the filth of the fleſh, but the anſwer of a good conſcience towards God) by the reſurrection of Jeſus Chriſt: Who is gone into heaven, and is on the right hand of God, angels, and authorities, and powers being made ſubject unto him.

ſame to you Chriſtians, for whoſe ſake it is written, that you may have a better Ground of your Belief. NOTE.

(m) Priſon.] At the time of the compiling of the Common-Prayer, the Doctrine of Chriſt's local Deſcent into Hell was the current Doctrine of the Church, and publickly recognized by the Book of Articles ſet forth in the time of Edward VI. and that was the Occaſion that this Epiſtle was appointed for Eaſter-Eve, the Day when our Saviour was dead, and when they of this Opinion thought he was locally in Hell, and from this place of St. Peter ſuppoſed him, to be working the Deliverance of many Souls who were condemned to that place. In Queen Elizabeth's time, when they altered the Article, they had not done amiſs to have changed this Epiſtle, which ſtanding ſtill to be read upon this Day, leads People into a Belief of the former Opinion.

PARAPHRASE on the COLLECT for Eaſter-Even.

O Lord, we beſeech thee to grant, that as we are baptized into our Saviour's death, Rom. 6. 2. ſo by mortifying our inordinate Affections, Col. 3. 5. we may likewiſe be buried with him, Rom. 6. 4. ſo that we may paſs through Death, as a Gate to give us entrance to a joyful Reſurrection, through the Merits of him who died for our Sins, and roſe again for our Juſtification, Rom. 4. 25. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. 1 Pet. III. 17.

I. It is certainly a much more eligible Condition, if the Wiſdom of the divine Will does think fit to have it ſo, that we ſuffer rather for doing well than for doing ill; for in the former Suppoſition we have a well-grounded Expectation, that God's Bleſſing will plentifully reward our Sufferings; but in the latter we muſt expect that the divine Vengeance will ſecond our temporal Calamities. But to bear us up in the ſuffering for a good Cauſe, we have the moſt illuſtrious Example of our bleſſed Lord before us; who being of the moſt unſpotted Purity and Holineſs himſelf, laid down his Life for us vile Sinners, that he might reconcile us to God's Favour; who, though he died as to his human Nature, yet was raiſed to Life again by the eternal Spirit of his Deity: For by virtue of this he had an Exiſtence long before his Incarnation and his preaching the Goſpel in Judea; and by the Efficacy thereof, as he did in the ſeveral reſpective Ages inſpire the Prophets, 1 Pet. 1. 11. ſo he did particularly aſſiſt by the Influx of his Spirit the Prophet Noah, in his preaching to the Antediluvians, when God's Patience waited a hundred and twenty Years for the Repentance of thoſe ſtubborn and diſobedient People, (who for their final Impenitence are now unhappy Spirits, doomed to the Priſon of eternal Darkneſs;) which Preaching, only eight Perſons, being of the Family of that Good-man, had regard to, and were ſaved by that Water which drowned the reſt, it bearing up the Ark under them, and ſo preſerved them from the Deluge. II. Which ancient Matter of Fact doth typically repreſent our Goſpel-Times, the Chriſtian Baptiſm being the Anti-Type thereof; for we are now ſaved by the Water of that Sacrament, as the Family of Noah were by the Ark ſwimming upon the Waters, (I don't mean by the Bodies being cleanſed thereby, but by the Souls being purged and the Conſcience cleared from the Guilt of Sin by the Efficacy thereof,) which Freedom from Sin we have the moſt comfortable Aſſurance of from our Saviour's Reſurrection, which has given us Demonſtration of the Truth of his Doctrine; and who for a further Confirmation thereof, hath in a viſible manner, in the Preſence of many unexceptionable Witneſſes, aſcended into Heaven, being advanced to the higheſt degree of Honour there, which in Scripture is expreſſed by Sitting on the right-hand of God, all the ſeveral Orders of the Angelical Natures being ſubjected to his Authority.

The GOSPEL. S. Matth. XXVII. 57.

I. WHen even was come, there came a rich man of Arimathea, named Joſeph, who alſo himſelf was Jeſus diſciple. He went to Pilate, and begged the body of Jeſus. Then Pilate commanded the body to be delivered. II. And when Joſeph had taken the body, he wrapped it in a clean linen cloth, and laid it in his own new tomb, which he had hewen out in the rock; and he rolled a great ſtone to the door of the ſepulchre, and departed. And there was Mary Magdalen, and the other Mary, ſitting over againſt the ſepulchre. III. Now the next day that followed the day of the preparation, the chief prieſts and Phariſees came together unto Pilate, ſaying, Sir, we remember that that deceiver ſaid, while he was yet alive, After three days I will riſe again. IV. Command therefore that the ſepulchre be made ſure until the third day, leſt his diſciples come by night and ſteal him away, and ſay unto the people, He is riſen from the dead: ſo the laſt errour ſhall be worſe than the firſt. Pilate ſaid unto them, Ye have a watch, go your way, make it as ſure as you can. V. So they went and made the ſepulchre ſure, ſealing the ſtone, and ſetting a watch.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Matt. XXVII. 57.

I. Some time after Three-a-clock in the Afternoon, when our Saviour was dead upon the Croſs, one Joſeph, who was born at Arimathea, or Rama, the Town where Samuel formerly lived, who was a Man of plentiful Circumſtances, and who had for ſome time been an Auditor of our Saviour, applied himſelf to Pilate, and obtained the Diſpoſal of his Body for its Interment. Which Petition of his, Pilate was pleaſed to conſent to; and accordingly, gave Order that the Body ſhould be delivered to him. II. This pious Perſon having taken the Body into his Poſſeſſion, wound it about with Rolls of clean Linen Cloth, together with Spices and Perfumes, which Nicodemus brought, John 14. 39. according to the Aſiatick way of Burial, depoſiting it in a new Tomb, which he had built of Stone in a Vault under his Garden, rolling a great Stone over the Mouth of the Vault. Mary Magdalen, and the other Mary Mother of James and Joſes, ſitting in a diſconſolate manner near the Grave, paying the laſt kind Marks of their Affection to him, and Honour to his Memory. III. The next Day was the Sabbath which followed the Preparation, or the Sabbath of the Paſchal Week; and then ſeveral of the Prieſts, and other zealous Bigots of the Phariſaical Faction, tho' they could not convene as a Sanhedrim it being the Sabbath, yet they went privately to Pilate, telling him, that the late executed Deceiver (by which their Malice meant our Saviour) whilſt he was alive, made his Brags to his Diſciples, that tho' he ſhould loſe his Life, yet within three days time he ſhould riſe to Life again. IV. Therefore we humbly deſire (ſay they) that you would be pleaſed to interpoſe your Authority, that the Stone over the Vault be ſealed down by an authentick Seal, and a competent Guard be ſet over it, that his Diſciples do not come in the dead of the Night and convey away his Body, pretending to the People, whoſe Affections have been formerly diſpoſed towards him, That he is riſen from the dead, according as he predicted; for if this ſhould happen, his Doctrine will thereby grow into better Repute than if we had let him alone, and he had never been crucified. Pilate returned them this Anſwer: I will order you a ſufficient Guard, whereby it is in your Power ſo to ſecure the Sepulchre, that no ſuch Fraud as you imagine can poſſibly be committed. V. Upon this, they departed well ſatisfied; placing the Guard, which was allotted them, upon all the Avenues to the Grave, and ſealing down the Stone which was laid over it.

NOTE.

(n) Eaſter-day.] This great Feaſt was ſo anciently obſerved by the Church, that none in former times doubted, but that it was eſtabliſhed by Apoſtolical Authority. The Aſiaticks alledged the Authority of St. John, for their way of keeping it the 14th day of the firſt Moon after the Equinox. The Weſtern Church ſaid, they kept their Eaſter after the Example of S. Peter and S. Paul, not till the Sunday after the Full Moon of the firſt Month. Hence aroſe that great Quarrel about the Celebration of Eaſter in the Church, in the time of Victor, A. D. 200. which is a manifeſt Argument that this Feſtival was generally obſerved, though not in the ſame manner, long before that Age.

PARAPHRASE.

I. Chriſt our Paſchal Lamb is ſacrificed for us, let us therefore keep a Feaſt as well as the Jews; not with the Leaven of the Jewiſh Law, 1 Cor. 5. 7. nor with that Leaven of Malice and Wickedneſs which our Saviour taxes the Phariſees with, Matth. 16. 6. Mark 8. 15. but with the unleavened Bread of Sincerity and true Piety, which becomes the excellent Profeſſion of us Chriſtians.

II. Chriſt

II. CHriſt being raiſed from the dead dieth no more: death hath no more dominion over him. For in that he died, he died unto ſin once: but in that he liveth, he liveth unto God. Likewiſe reckon ye alſo your ſelves to be dead unto ſin: but alive unto God through Jeſus Chriſt our Lord.

III. CHriſt is riſen from the dead, and become the firſt-fruits of them that ſlept. For ſince by man came death: by man came alſo the reſurrection of the dead. For as in Adam all die: even ſo in Chriſt ſhall all be made alive.

* Glory be to the Father, and to the Son: and to the holy Ghoſt;

Anſwer.

As it was in the beginning, is now and ever ſhall be: world without end. Amen.

The COLLECT.

ALmighty God, who through thine only begotten Son Jeſus Chriſt, haſt overcome death, and opened unto us the gate of everlaſting life; We humbly beſeech thee, that as by thy ſpecial grace preventing us, thou doſt put into our minds good deſires; ſo by thy continual help we may bring the ſame to good effect, through Jeſus Chriſt our Lord, who liveth and reigneth with thee, and the holy Ghoſt, ever one God, world without end.

For the EPISTLE. COL. III. 1.

I. IF ye then be riſen with Chriſt, ſeek thoſe things which are above, where Chriſt ſitteth on the right hand of God. Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth: For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Chriſt in God. When Chriſt who is our life, ſhall appear, then ſhall ye alſo appear with him in glory.

II. Mortifie therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanneſs, inordinate affection, evil concupiſcence, and covetouſneſs, which is idolatry: For which things ſake the wrath of God cometh on the children of diſobedience. In the which ye alſo walked ſometime when ye lived in them.

* This Gloria Patri added in the laſt Review.

II. Chriſt being riſen from the Dead, cannot die now any more, as having conquer'd Death by his Divine Power, and as being gone to Heaven, a Place where Death hath no Dominion. For, foraſmuch as it was requiſite for him to die once to ſatisfie for the Sins of the World, ſo the once dying of ſuch a Perſon was abundantly ſufficient to make Satisfaction for the Sins of all Men. And foraſmuch as now he liveth, he liveth for ever in the eternal Glory of the Godhead. Therefore I would have you improve this Truth for your Edification. Be you likewiſe dead unto Sin, and have no manner of Perception or Reliſh of its Pleaſure: And by living a divine and ſpiritual Life, live unto God, and, as much as may be, partake of the Heavenly Pleaſures even in this World.

III. Chriſt is riſen from the Dead, and, as under the Levitical Law, the Crop was ſanctified by the Firſt-fruits offer'd to God, Lev. 23. 9. ſo is Chriſt, as it were, the Firſt-fruits of all thoſe, who, having been dead, riſe up to eternal Life. For ſince, by the Man Adam, Death came upon all Men; ſo by Chriſt-made-Man ſhall all Men riſe again with their Bodies.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Col. III. 1.

I. If therefore you Chriſtians, by entring into the Goſpel-Covenant by Baptiſm, have partaken of a Myſtical and Spiritual Reſurrection, as our Saviour Chriſt has of a real one; you ought not to let your Minds hanker after things of the Earth, as if you were ſtill under Ground, but earneſtly to deſire things not only above Ground, but things in Heaven, all the Glories and all the Means, which contribute towards the Cœleſtial State our Saviour is gone before to take Poſſeſſion of. In a word, you muſt place your Affections on theſe Heavenly Joys, and not on the Vanities of this World: For as to theſe latter, your ſpiritual Reſurrection obliges you to be firſt dead to theſe; ſince the Life which you Chriſtians are to value yourſelves upon, is a Life which is unknown to this World, but is reſerved for us by God in a State of exceeding Glory, where Chriſt already is. And when Chriſt, at his Second Coming, ſhall manifeſt this Glory to all the World, then ſhall you and all good Chriſtians be inſtated in your ſeveral Degrees of Glory likewiſe, for ever enjoying the Viſion of God, the Perfections of your enlighten'd Underſtandings, and the Beauties and Excellencies of your Spiritual Bodies. II. Therefore, ſince your Life does not belong to this World, if you have any Limbs of the Old Man alive in you, take care to kill them as ſpeedily as you can: You muſt not allow yourſelves in the Practice of any one known Sin, eſpecially ſuch groſs ones as Fornication, and all the ſeveral kinds of Uncleanneſs; nay, you muſt root out of your Minds all impure Thoughts and Deſires: Nor muſt you ſpare any degree of the Vice of Covetouſneſs, which is a very great Sin, and a kind of Idolatry; the Perſons who are guilty of it being Worſhippers of their Money as their God. For it is for the Commiſſion of theſe, and ſuch like Sins, that God has eternal Vengeance in ſtore, againſt ſuch wilful Sinners as live and die in them, without Repentance and Amendment: Many of which Sins you indulged yourſelves in whilſt you were under your Heathen State, and before your Converſion to Chriſtianity.

The GOSPEL. S. John XX. 1.

I. THE first day of the week cometh Mary Magdalen early, when it was yet dark, unto the sepulchre, and seeth the stone taken away from the sepulchre. Then she runneth and cometh to Simon Peter, and to the other disciple whom Jesus loved, and saith unto them, They have taken away the Lord out of the sepulchre, and we know not where they have laid him. II. Peter therefore went forth, and that other disciple, and came to the sepulchre. So they ran both together, and the other disciple did out-run Peter, and came first to the sepulchre; and he stooping down, and looking in, saw the linen clothes lying, yet went he not in. III. Then cometh Simon Peter following him, and went into the sepulchre, and seeth the linen clothes lie; and the napkin that was about his head, not lying with the linnen clothes, but wrapped together in a place by it self. Then went in also that other disciple which came first to the sepulchre, and he saw and believed. For as yet they knew not the Scripture, that he must rise again from the dead. Then the disciples went away again unto their own home.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. Joh. XX. 1.

I. Very early, by Break of Day, upon a Sunday-Morning, Mary Magdalen, (with other devout Women, Mar. 16. 1.) came to the Sepulchre, and having prepared some Aromatick Oils to anoint his Body, to their great Surprize, they see the Stone taken away from the Mouth of the Vault, and our Saviour's Body removed out of it. With that she makes all the haste she can to inform the Disciples thereof; and meeting with Peter and John, she makes her Complaint to them, That some or other, who were Enemies to our Lord when alive, did carry on their malicious Resentments after his Death, and had taken away his Body out of the Vault, where it was decently deposed; but what they had done with it now, she could not tell. II. Upon this News, these two Disciples make the best of their way to the Grave, running as fast as they could; but John, being the younger and the nimbler Man, got there before Peter; and stooping down, that he might look into the Vault, he saw the Slips of the Linnen-cloth, which his Body was bound about with; but, however, he did not go down into the Vault, having perhaps some natural Dread upon him to go into the Grave by himself. III. Some little time after this, Peter was come up to the Place; but he, being of a mature Age and bolder Temper, went down into the Vault without any Hesitancy, and saw the Linnen-fillets lying in one part thereof, and the Napkin handsomely folded up in another. John, now taking Courage by seeing Peter go into the Grave before him, went down into it himself; and seeing the Grave-cloaths lie, believed what the Woman had related concerning our Saviour's Body being remov'd. But neither of them were as yet satisfied of the Truth of his Resurrection, not understanding the Sense of those Places of Holy Scripture, which did either predict, or typically prefigure it, Psal. 2. and 110. Upon this these two Disciples return'd back to their own Houses.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Act. X. 24.

I. S. Peter being inform'd, by his late Vision, of the Sheet let down from Heaven, and the Clean and Unclean Animals contain'd in it, That it was now lawful to take the Gentile Believers into the Christian Communion; and he being sent for by Cornelius, a Religious Roman-Captain, who was moved thereunto by the Direction of an Angel, he addresses himself to the devout Officer in such-like Words. I am most undoubtedly assured, by comparing the late Vision, which God Almighty has been pleased to afford me, with the other Occurrences relating to yourself, that God Almighty has not that singular Regard neſs, is accepted with him. II. The word which God ſent unto the children of Iſrael, preaching peace by Jeſus Chriſt (he is Lord of all) That word (I ſay) you know, which was publiſhed throughout all Judea, and began from Galilee, after the baptiſm which John preach'd: How God anointed Jeſus of Nazareth with the holy Ghoſt, and with power, who went about doing good, and healing all that were oppreſſed of the devil: for God was with him. III. And we are witneſſes of all things which he did, both in the land of the Jews, and in Jeruſalem, whom they ſlew, and hanged on a tree: Him God raiſed up the third day, and ſhewed him openly; not to all the people, but unto witneſſes choſen before of God, even to us, who did eat and drink with him after he aroſe from the dead. IV. And he commanded us to preach unto the people, and to teſtifie that it is he who was ordained of God, to be the judge of quick and dead. To him give all the prophets witneſs, that through his Name, whoſoever believeth in him ſhall receive remiſſion of ſins.

The GOSPEL. S. Luke XXIV. 13.

I. BEhold two of his diſciples went that ſame day to a village called Emmaus, which was from Jeruſalem about threeſcore furlongs. And they talked together of all theſe things which had happened. And it came to paſs, that while they communed together, and reaſoned, Jeſus himſelf drew near, and went with them. But their eies were holden, that they ſhould not know him. II. And he ſaid unto them, What manner of communications are theſe that ye have one to another, as ye walk and are ſad? And the one of them, whoſe name was Cleophas, anſwering, ſaid unto him, Art thou only a ſtranger in Jeruſalem, and haſt not known the things which are come to paſs there in theſe daies? And he ſaid unto them, What things? And they ſaid unto him, Concerning Jeſus of Nazareth, who was a prophet mighty in deed and word, before God and all the people: And how the chief prieſts, and our rulers delivered him to be condemned to death, and have crucified him. III. But we truſted that it had been he, who ſhould have redeemed Iſrael: and beſide all this, to day is the third day ſince theſe things were done. Yea, and certain women alſo of our Regard, which I thought formerly he had to Perſons of the Jewiſh Nation, but that he is ready to take into his Favour and Bleſſing all good and pious Men, of what Country ſoever they be. II. As to the preaching the Goſpel, or Reconciliation of God to Mankind, by Jeſus Chriſt (who has ſet up a Spiritual Kingdom to endure for ever, Dan. 2. 44.) publiſhed by him throughout all Judæa, beginning at Galilee, and ſo going on through the reſt of the Provinces, this being not long after John preach'd up his Doctrine of Baptiſm. This preaching of the Goſpel by Jeſus Chriſt, I ſay, you cannot but have heard of, how God afforded him the Honour of an Unction, or ſolemn Inauguration into his Prophetick Office, by a viſible Deſcent of the Holy Ghoſt upon him, Luk. 3. 22. he having an inherent Power veſted in him of working Miracles to confirm his Doctrine, which he made the moſt excellent Uſe of beſides; not doing terrible Works, which might only affright his Beholders, or others, which might tend to their Prejudice; but kind and beneficial ones, ſuch as curing them of Diſtempers, and driving out evil Spirits, which had poſſeſs'd their Bodies; for the Divine Nature was perſonally united to him. III. Now it has pleaſed God to appoint us Witneſſes and Reporters of the Miracles done, and the Doctrines taught by this great Perſon throughout the Country of the Jews, whom they nevertheleſs ungratefully treated, procuring him to be crucified. Him God, by his omnipotent Power, raiſed up the third Day after his Death, ſhewing him to a great Number of Perſons; not indeed to the Jews, but to ſome ſelect Witneſſes, whom he was pleaſed to chuſe: I mean us the Apoſtles, and ſome other good Perſons, who familiarly converſed with him at Meals, and at other times, after his Reſurrection. IV. And he gave us ſpecial Command to preach the Goſpel to all Nations, Mat. 28. 19. Luk. 24. 27. and to be Witneſſes, That he is the true Meſſias appointed by God to be the Judge of all the World, thoſe who ſhall ariſe from their Graves, and thoſe who ſhall be then alive at the Day of Judgment, Mat. 25. 31. This is that extraordinary Perſon of whom the inſpired Penmen of the Holy Scripture predict ſo much; That Meſſiah who was to come into the World to ſave thoſe that believe on him; not from the Roman Power, (as too many boldly preſum'd) but from the Puniſhment of their Sins.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Luke XXIV. 13.

I. It was upon Sunday, the very Day when our Saviour roſe from the Dead, that two Perſons, who had been Auditors and Followers of Chriſt before his Crucifixion, (one whereof was named Cleophas, Luk. 24. 18. an ancient Man, and Father to four of the Apoſtles) were going from Jeruſalem to a Village called Emmaus, about ſeven Miles diſtant from Jeruſalem. And their diſcourſe being about the Trial and Suffering of Jeſus Chriſt, each of them making their ſeveral Conjectures about him, and about the Credibility of the Relation of the Women, and the two Apoſtles Peter and John, concerning his being alive again; our Saviour himſelf appearing to them in a Shape different from what they had ſeen him in, as it were a caſual Paſſenger, who had overtaken them upon the Road, and over-hear'd ſome of their Diſcourſe, he walk'd along with them; they not knowing who he was, he, by a miraculous Power, making himſelf to appear differently to their Sight from what he formerly did. II. Our Saviour, now interrupting their Diſcourſe, ſaid, I pray what tragical Story is this you are talking of, which makes you look ſo melancholy? Cleophas made Anſwer; Certainly you are the greateſt Stranger in all Jeruſalem to the Affairs thereof, not to have been inform'd of thoſe remarkable Matters of Fact, which have happen'd in that City within a few Days. Our Saviour replied, What Matters of Fact do you mean? One of them return'd Anſwer, As to what has happen'd to the famous Jeſus of Nazareth, who was a great Prophet, renown'd for the excellent Doctrine which he preached to the People, and the extraordinary Miracles which he did by the Aſſiſtance of the Divine Power; and how the Members of the Sanhedrim forced an unjuſt Sentence from Pilate upon him, and procured him to be crucified. III. Indeed we had raiſed ourſelves up into no ſmall Hopes, that this had been the Meſſias, who was to have redeem'd the Jews from the Yoke of the Roman Power, and to have extended their Empire over other Nations; but, alas! we find that we have but too great reaſon to fear we have been miſtaken. This is now the third Day ſince his Condemnation and Crucifixion. But this Morning we were wonderfully ſurpriz'd by a Relation which we had from ſome Women, who went early to the Grave, but our company made us astonished, who were early at the sepulchre; and when they found not his body, they came, saying, that they had also seen a vision of angels, which said that he was alive. And certain of them who were with us, went to the sepulchre, and found it even so as the women had said; but him they saw not. IV. Then he said unto them, O fools and slow of heart to believe all that the prophets have spoken: ought not Christ to have suffered these things, and to enter into his glory? And beginning at Moses, and all the prophets, he expounded unto them in all the Scriptures, the things concerning himself. V. And they drew nigh unto the village whither they went; and he made as though he would have gone further. But they constrained him, saying, Abide with us, for it is towards evening, and the day is far spent: and he went in to tarry with them. And it came to pass, as he sat at meat with them he took bread, and blessed it, and brake it, and gave to them. And their eies were opened, and they knew him, and he vanished out of their sight. And they said one to another, Did not our heart burn within us, while he talked with us by the way, and while he opened to us the Scriptures? And they rose up the same hour, and returned to Jerusalem, and found the eleven gathered together, and them that were with them, saying, The Lord is risen indeed, and hath appeared to Simon. And they told what things were done in the way, and how he was known of them in breaking of bread.

found his Body missing, and saw two Angels, who inform'd them, that he was risen from the Dead. Besides, some of our Friends, who were Followers of Jesus, went upon their Relation to the Grave, and found all things exactly to agree as the Women had reported; but they did not see him themselves. What to make of all this we know not. IV. Our Saviour then spake: But have not you been simple Scholars, all the while that you have been tutor'd under this great Prophet, and made little Improvement upon your hearing the Scriptures read to you, and your Master's Expositions upon them, which methinks should have inform'd you a little better in this Matter? For these sacred Books might have sufficiently learn'd you, that the Messias was to suffer what your Master did, and after that to make his Entry into his glorious State, which your Heads are only full of. And, beginning with the Books of Moses, he proved from several Particulars therein, viz. from the Sacrifice of Isaac, from the Erection of the Brazen-Serpent, from the several Expiatory Sacrifices in the Levitical Law; That the Messias ought to suffer Death, proving the same likewise from several Passages in the Psalms, and from others which occur in Isaiah, Daniel, and the rest of the Prophets. V. This Discourse he continu'd till they were come to the Village where they design'd to go; when our Saviour taking his Leave of them, as one that had a further Journey to pursue, the two Men whom he had convers'd with, pleas'd with his Discourse, were unwilling to part with him, and therefore desired him to refresh himself with them in the House to which they were going. But our Saviour, complying with the Custom of invited Persons, seem'd to decline the Kindness, as too great a Favour to be shewn to so new an Acquaintance, and desir'd to be excused; but they using very pressing Applications, pleading the Declension of the Sun, and that it would not be very long before Night, he at last consented. Now when they were set down at the Table to eat, our Saviour, contrary to their Expectation, took the place of the Master of the Family upon him, both in saying Grace, and carving the Meat; and then he remov'd that supernatural Veil from his Countenance, suffer'd them to view him in his proper Lineaments, so that then they plainly saw him, and knew him: But soon after this he convey'd himself away, in an unperceptible manner, from them. Then they began to discourse to themselves; Unless we had been very dull in our Apprehensions, we might have discover'd who it was that was talking with us as we came along, and explaining the Scriptures to us; for we might easily have discover'd the same wonderful Conviction which was peculiar to his Discourses; and that our Hearts were touch'd and warm'd, as they used to be, when he spoke. VI. This unexpected Sight of our Saviour being afforded them, they did not stay at Emmaus so long as they design'd, but immediately rose from Table, and return'd to Jerusalem; where finding the Apostles gather'd together, who were now but eleven after Judas's Treason and Death, out of which Number too Thomas was absent, Joh. 20. 24. But they were no sooner come into the Room, but they accosted them in a wonderful degree of Joy, O Cleophas, do you hear the good News? The Lord is risen now in good reality; we need not suspect that it was only the Fancies of the Women, who (as we guess'd) thought they saw him; for now he has really appear'd to Simon Peter. And we have as joyful a piece of News to tell you, reply'd Cleophas and his Companion; and then they made report of the pious Discourse they had upon the Road, and how our Saviour discovered himself to them as they were eating at the Table.

For the EPISTLE. Acts XIII. 26.

I. MEN, and brethren, children of the stock of Abraham, and whosoever among you feareth God, to you is the word of this salvation sent. For they that dwell at Jerusalem, and their rulers, because they knew him not, nor yet the voices of the prophets which are read every sabbath-day, they have fulfilled them in condemning him. And though they found no cause of death in him, yet desired they Pilate that he should be slain. II. And when they had fulfilled all that was written of him, they took him down from the tree, and laid him in a sepulchre. But God raised him from the dead: And he was seen many daies of them which came up with him from Galilee to Jerusalem, who are his witnesses unto the people. And we declare unto you glad tidings, how that the promise which was made unto the fathers, God hath fulfilled the same unto us their children, in that he hath raised up Jesus again, as it is also written in the second psalm, Thou art my Son, this day have I begotten thee. III. And as concerning that he raised him up from the dead, now no more to return to corruption, he said on this wise, I will give you the sure mercies of David. Wherefore he saith also in another psalm, Thou shalt not suffer thine holy one to see corruption. For David after he had served his own generation by the will of God, fell on sleep, and was laid unto his fathers, and saw corruption. But he whom God raised again, saw no corruption: IV. Be it known unto you therefore, men, and brethren, that through this man is preached unto you the forgiveness of sins: And by him all that believe are justified from all things, from which ye could not be justified by the law of Moses. Beware therefore, lest that come upon you, which is spoken of in the prophets; Behold, ye despisers, and wonder, and perish: For I work a work in your daies, a work which you shall in no ways believe, though a man declare it unto you.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Acts XIII. 26.

I. St. Paul with his Companion Barnabas being come to Antioch, a Town of Pisidia, to preach the Gospel there, and being in one of the Jewish Synagogues on a Sabbath-day, after reading the Lessons, it being the custom for some learned Person in the Congregation, to take occasion therefrom to make a pious Discourse for the Edification of the Assembly; St. Paul taking hold of this Opportunity, put them in mind of the many Indulgences and Favours God had vouchsafed to the Jewish Nation, from Moses's Time to that of John the Baptist; but principally of the Terms of Salvation offer'd to Mankind by our blessed Lord. And then he proceeded in these or the like words: O you my Brethren the Jews, who are honour'd by a Descent from the famous Abraham, and all you other pious Persons, tho' of a Gentile Extraction; you both of you have an equal Title to have this Salvation procured by Jesus Christ, which I have been speaking of, preached unto you. For the Inhabitants of Jerusalem and the Sanhedrim, not knowing him to be the Messias, nor understanding the Sense of the Prophesies which related to his Sufferings, procured him to be condemn'd to Death; though by that very Act of their's, God, by his wonderful Providence, so brought it about, that they should contribute towards the Fulfilling of those Prophesies. Nay, so eager were they for his Condemnation, That though they could not make out any Accusation against him which was capital by the Laws, yet by Importunity and Clamour, they extorted an unjust Sentence from Pilate for his Execution. II. Now when the Jews, by this and several other Acts of their Cruelty upon him, had given a Completion to many Prophesies concerning him, he was taken down from the Cross, and his Body laid in a Vault under Ground. After this he was, by the Divine Power, raised from the Dead, and conversed very frequently with several Persons in Galilee, Mat. 27. 25. who are Witnesses ready upon all Occasions to attest the Truth of this. And we declare this to you as a Relation which ought to be extraordinary welcome to you, and to all good Men; it being plain, that God has now made good his Promise to our Fore-fathers, to us their Posterity, concerning sending the Messias into the World; his Resurrection from the Dead affording a Demonstration, that he did not without just ground lay claim to that Character. This being predicted in the 2d Psalm, which is acknowledged by all to relate to the Messias, Thou art my Son, this Day have I begotten thee, i. e. I have given thee a second Life by Resurrection, as I gave thee a former by Generation. III. Nay, it was further predicted concerning him, that his Resurrection should be such, as that he should never die again: For it is written in Isaiah 55. 3. I will make an everlasting Covenant with you, even the sure mercies of David, i. e. all the gracious Promises I have made to David concerning the Messias I will make good. But one very remarkable Prediction concerning the Messias occurs in Psal. 16. 10. Thou shalt not suffer thy Holy One to see Corruption. Now 'tis plain that this cannot be understood of David: For David, after having well govern'd the People of his time according to God's Direction, slept with his Fathers, and was buried in the City of David, 1 Kings 2. 10. and therefore must needs see Corruption. So that upon the whole it remains, that this Prophecy must be fulfilled in Jesus Christ, who died, and rose again without his Body being corrupted. IV. Therefore you must take notice, my Brethren the Jews, and other pious Persons here present, that you cannot expect Forgiveness of your Sins, but only by embracing the Doctrine, and following the Precepts of this excellent Person; for by believing in him, and leading holy Lives according to his Rules for the future, you may have your former Sins, tho' never so great, pardon'd, which the Law of Moses did not allow a Purgation from. But however, if you do not embrace this our excellent Religion, have a care of contemptuously undervaluing it, lest that Curse fall upon you which was threatned by Habakkuk, one of the Prophets, according as it is translated by the Septuagint; Behold ye Despisers, and wonder, and perish; For I work a work in your days, a work which you shall in no wise believe, though a man declare it unto you.

I. Cleophas and his Companion being come from Emmaus, and having join'd the Apoſtles, who were gathered together, not long after our Saviour himſelf came likewiſe to them, and appear'd ſtanding in the midſt of them, without their ſeeing him firſt a-coming. This ſo unuſual a way of his Preſence, eſpecially after his Death, put them under no little degree of Conſternation, they thinking that they had ſeen only his Ghoſt or Apparition, and not him himſelf. II. But our Saviour, out of Tenderneſs to them, was willing to put them out of the Pain their Fright had laid them under, as ſoon as poſſible, and to that end very kindly beſpoke them in this manner: I would not have you frighten yourſelves, my dear Diſciples, by thinking that you ſee a Spectre or Apparition before you; For I appeal to my Hands and my Feet, upon which the Wounds of the Croſs are yet freſh, that it is I your late crucified Maſter. Look cloſe upon me, and view every Lineament of my Face, and Mark of my Body, that you may know it is I; handle and feel the ſolid Matter of my Body, that I am ſubſtantial Fleſh and Bones, as a true Human Body is, and not ſuch a yielding aerial Image as Spectres are. And at theſe Words he ſhew'd them his Hands and his Feet, bored thro' with the Nails which faſten'd him to the Croſs. III. This filled them with ſuch an Extaſy of Joy, to ſee their Maſter alive again, that they became almoſt Unbelievers upon another account; for ſome time not crediting their very Senſes, thinking it muſt be a Dream or a Deluſion, that they ſhould be ſo happy to enjoy their Maſter's Preſence again, after being dead. To take off this degree of Surprize and Amazement, he proceeded to enter into greater Familiarity with them, and to demonſtrate to them that he had a real Body, and not an aereal Vehicle; he asked them what they had to eat? They replied, they had no other Proviſion in that Place but ſome Fiſh and Honey, which he was pleaſed to accept of, and he eat ſome broiled Fiſh and Honey before them all. Then he went on to tell them, That now they might ſee what he had told them formerly, when he continually converſed with them, (tho' then they gave little Credit to it) was really come to paſs, Mat. 16. 21. 17. 23. Luk. 18. 33. 24. 7. concerning his Paſſion and his Reſurrection; proving That this was predicted to come to paſs in the Word of God by ſeveral Paſſages, which he alledged out of the three general Diviſions of the Old Teſtament made by the Jews, the Law or Books of Moſes; the Prophets, who either wrote inſpired Hiſtory, and predicted future Events; and the Pſalms, or Poetical Books of Scripture. IV. And he not only recited, explain'd and applied theſe ſeveral Paſſages, but by an extraordinary meaſure of Grace afforded them, he ſo illuminated their Minds, that they had clear Apprehenſions of thoſe Divine Truths which he taught them; ſeeing that from the whole Tenor of the Old-Teſtament it did appear, and that it was agreeable to the Divine Juſtice and Wiſdom, That Chriſt was to ſuffer for the Sins of Mankind; and moreover, That he ſhould riſe again from the Dead in Confirmation of his Doctrine; That Repentance, the Condition of the Goſpel, and Remiſſion of Sins, (under which is contain'd everlaſting Happineſs) the Reward of it, ſhould be preach'd, not only to the Jews, but to all the Gentile World, Iſ. 49. 1. Dan. 7. 14. Joel 2. 32. And now (continues he) I conſtitute and appoint you, to be the Witneſſes of the Miracles you have ſeen me do, in Confirmation of my Doctrine; but chiefly of that chiefeſt one of all, my Reſurrection from the Dead, which ſo many of you have ſeen, to the end that your Teſtimony may have Credit with others who have not ſeen it.

The EPISTLE. 1. S. John V. 4.

I. WHatſoever is born of God overcometh the world; and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith. Who is he that overcometh the world, but he that believeth that Jeſus is the Son of God? II. This is he that came by water and bloud, even Jeſus Chriſt; not by water only, but by water and bloud: and it is the Spirit that beareth witneſs, becauſe the Spirit is truth. For there are three that bear record in heaven, the Father, the Word, and the holy Ghoſt: and theſe three are one. And there are three that bear witneſs in earth, the ſpirit, and the water, and the bloud: and theſe three agree in one. III. If we receive the witneſs of men, the witneſs of God is greater: for this is the witneſs of God, which he hath teſtified of his Son. He that believeth on the Son of God, hath the witneſs in himſelf: he that believeth not God, hath made him a liar, becauſe he believeth not the record that God gave of his Son. And this is the record that God hath given to us eternal life; and this life is in his Son. He that hath the Son hath life, and he that hath not the Son hath not life.

The GOSPEL. S. John XX. 19.

I. THE ſame day at evening, being the firſt day of the week, when the doors were ſhut, where the diſciples were aſſembled for fear of the Jews, came Jeſus and ſtood in the midſt, and ſaith unto them, Peace be unto you. And when he had ſo ſaid, he ſhewed unto them his hands and his ſide. II. Then were the diſciples glad when they ſaw the Lord. Then ſaid Jeſus to them again, Peace be unto you: As my father hath ſent me, even ſo ſend I you. And when he had ſaid this,

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. 1 Joh. V. 4.

I. Every Perſon of every Age or Sex whatſoever, who is a true Child of God, gets the Maſtery over all the Allurements and Temptations of the World; which Victory he is enabled to obtain, by that active Principle of Chriſtian Faith which is in him. If you ask the Queſtion, Who is that happy Perſon that is able to conquer the World? I anſwer, That this is every good Chriſtian, who believes in Jeſus Chriſt as the Saviour of the World, and conſcientiouſly obeys the Precepts of his holy Religion. II. This is that bleſſed Jeſus the Meſſias, that came into the World to make Expiation for the Sins of Mankind, by the two moſt uſual Ways of Expiation; the one by Water, which way was in ſome meaſure uſed by the Jews in their Sprinklings and Waſhings; and the other by Blood, which was uſed by them in their Sacrifices. He did not content himſelf by making uſe of any one of theſe Means ſingly, as John the Baptiſt did of Water only; but made uſe both of Water and Blood; Water in the Baptiſmal Rite, which he tranſcribed into his Religion; and his own Blood, which he ſhed for our ſakes upon the Croſs, and has order'd us to commemorate in the Holy Sacrament of the Lord's Supper. Neither did our Saviour expect us to give Credit to this extraordinary Miſſion upon his own bare Word, but was pleaſed to bring with him the Credentials of the Holy Spirit, which by ſuch a number of Miracles atteſted his Doctrines; it being inconſiſtent with the Divine Veracity ſo to have done, if they had not been true. Nay, not only the Holy Spirit has given Teſtimony of the Truth of his Miſſion, and his being the promiſed Meſſias; but all the three Perſons of the Trinity, three Witneſſes from Heaven, have given in their infallible Evidence of the ſame; the Father, by his open Acknowledgment of him for his Son by a Voice from Heaven, Mat. 3. 17. the Word, by his own Aſſeveration, Joh. 5. 17. and 10. 24. and frequent Miracles in Confirmation of it; and the Holy Ghoſt by his Deſcent in his Baptiſm upon him, Mat. 3. 16. and after his Aſcenſion upon his Apoſtles, Act. 2. 8. which are three very good Teſtimonies, tho' all theſe Three Perſons are but One God. And, beſides theſe, we have three Witneſſes here upon Earth, which teſtifie the mighty Benefits which we have received by our Saviour Chriſt; the Spirit of God, which operates in our Hearts; the Water in Baptiſm, which, by the Divine Energy co-operating with it, confers a regenerating Grace; and the Sacramental Blood in the Euchariſt, which, through the Divine Goodneſs, ſeals the Pardon of our Sins: Now, all theſe three are driving on to one main Point, viz. the Salvation of our Souls, which they are in their ſeveral ways ſubſervient to. III. If we do upon good Grounds depend upon the human Teſtimony, of Men of Honeſty and right Underſtanding, moſt certainly we have more reaſon to rely upon the Teſtimony of the moſt holy and infallible God. Now he has given Teſtimony of our Saviour, that he is the Meſſias, by his owning him as his Son by a Voice from Heaven, and by endowing him with a conſtant Power of doing Miracles. And as for all faithful Believers, they have a Witneſs in their own Conſciences, a ſtrong Faith excited in them by the Grace of God, whereby they ſtedfaſtly believe in him, and depend upon him for their Saviour: But he that ſtill disbelieves our Saviour to be the Meſſias, notwithſtanding the Divine Teſtimony on his Behalf, does no leſs than give God Almighty the Lye, who has in ſo publick a manner own'd him to be ſuch. Nay, God has not only recogniz'd his Title to the Meſſiaſhip, but that he has likewiſe a Power to confer eternal Happineſs in another World upon the diſcharging the Conditions of the Goſpel; it being to be obtain'd by no other means but through him. For every faithful and obedient Diſciple of Jeſus Chriſt has a Title to this eternal Happineſs; but as for others who do not believe in him, they have no manner of Pretence to it.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Joh. XX. 19.

I. It was now Sunday-Evening, ſeven Days after the Reſurrection, the Light being cloſed, and the Doors being ſhut, the Diſciples chuſing to meet in that private manner, to avoid the Obſervation of the proſecuting Jews; when our Saviour appeared of a ſudden in the midſt of them, they not knowing which way he came, addreſſing them with that uſual way of Salutation among the Jews, Peace be unto you; and after this took an Opportunity of ſhewing them his Hands and his Side, (in which the Prints of his Wounds were plainly to be ſeen) for their Satisfaction that it was really He, giving them liberty to handle them, that they might not be under any Suſpicion that it was an Apparition. II. It is not eaſie to deſcribe the great degree of Joy the Diſciples were then under, when they ſaw their Maſter again, and were convinced that it was He. Our Saviour after that made uſe of the Salutation-Form again, Peace be unto you; and then began to acquaint them, that having finiſh'd his Embaſſage which he was ſent upon by his Father, was returning again to Heaven; but however he ſhould appoint them to be Reſidents here in his ſtead; and that he would take care to furniſh them with as ample Powers, as any he himſelf was entruſted with. And then he breathed on them, telling them, That by this means he conferr'd upon them a conſiderable Share of the Gifts of this, he breathed on them, and ſaith unto them, Receive ye the holy Ghoſt. Whoſe-ſoever ſins ye remit, they are remitted unto them; and whoſeſoever ſins ye re-tain, they are retained.

The EPISTLE. 1 S. PET. II. 19.

I. THis is thank-worthy, if a man for conſcience toward God endure grief, ſuffering wrongfully. For what glory is it, if when ye be buffeted for your faults, ye ſhall take it patiently? But if when ye do well, and ſuffer for it, ye take it patiently; this is acceptable with God. II. For even hereunto were ye called: becauſe Chriſt alſo ſuffered for us, leaving us an example, that ye ſhould follow his Steps: Who did no ſin, neither was guile found in his mouth: Who when he was reviled, reviled not again; when he ſuffered, he threatned not; but committed himſelf to him that judgeth righteouſly: III. Who his own ſelf bare our ſins in his own body on the tree, that we being dead to ſins ſhould live unto righteouſneſs, by whoſe ſtripes ye were healed. For ye were as ſheep going aſtray; but are now return'd unto the ſhepherd, and Biſhop of your ſouls.

For he delegated to them a Power of pronouncing thoſe Perſons Sins forgiven, whom they admitted into Baptiſm, or re-admitted to Gods's Favour, and to Chriſtian Communion after Excommunication, or fal-ling into wilful Sin; and that their Pardon ſo pronounced by them ſhould be ratified by God: But if any Perſons ſhould deſpiſe, or neglect to make uſe of theſe Ordinances, they ſhould remain with their Guilt upon them.

O Almighty God, who haſt ſent thy only Son into the World to be a Sacrifice and Satisfaction for Sin, by bearing our Sins in his Body on the Tree, 1 Pet. 2. 24. and by ſuffering for us, Ver. 21. as alſo to leave us an Example, that we might follow his Steps, in Meekneſs and Patience, Ver. 23. We beſeech thee to give us Grace that we may always preſerve in our Minds the profoundeſt Senſe of ſo unaccountable a Favour, as the Son of God dying for our Sins; and that we may likewiſe with the utmoſt Diligence, endeavour to tread in his Steps, and to imitate that Life of unſpotted Holineſs and Purity, which he has ſet before us. And this we beg for the ſake of Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. 1 S. Pet. II. 19.

I. Ye have no reaſon to think but that ye ſhall ſtand in God Almighty's particular Favour, if you ſuffer the Puniſhment due to Malefactors only, for faithfully diſcharging your Con-ſciences, and doing what God has commanded you to do. But though this ſuffering for Conſcience-ſake be very illuſtri-ous and glorious, eſpecially when it is undergone with Pati-ence; yet if you incur this Puniſhment for any real Crime, and take it never ſo patiently, you have little reaſon to value yourſelves upon that. But to do good and laudable Actions, and not only to receive no Reward for doing them, but moreover to be puniſhed for them, and to undergo the unjuſt Puniſhment with Patience and Cheerfulneſs likewiſe; this is ſuch an Heroick Degree of Piety, as God Almighty will highly eſteem, and in his due time reward. II. For our Chriſtian Profeſſion obliges us to the Doctrine of the Croſs, Mat. 16. 24. in which our Maſter Chriſt has ſet us the moſt excellent of Copies; and we cannot be his genuine Scholars, unleſs we go after him in the ſame Tracts which he has ſtruck out for us to follow: For, as the Prophet Iſaiah predicted of him, He had done no violence, neither was any deceit in his mouth, Iſ. 53. 9. who when he was reviled by the Jews as a Demo-niack, a Samaritan, a Blaſphemer, a Deſtroyer of the Law, and an Enemy of Cæſar, he did not reproach them with the like unjuſt Imputations; and at his Trial, when it was in his Power to have commanded ſo many Legions of Angels to his Reſcue, he did not ſo much as make uſe of one threatning Word; but left the Juſtice of his Cauſe to his Almighty Father, whom he knew to be a more righteous Judge than Pilate, or the Sanhedrim. III. 'Twas he who, as Iſaiah predicted, bore the Griefs, and carried the Sorrows, Iſ. 53. 4. which our Sins had merited, when he offer'd up his Body by ſuffering upon the Croſs for the Sins of all Mankind; deſign-ing, that we being delivered from the Guilt and Puniſhment of our former Sins, might lead Lives of more ſtrict Holineſs for the future: For, as Iſaiah likewiſe truly foretels of him, With his Stripes we are healed, Iſ. 53. 5. i. e. the Puniſhment which was laid upon him has merited your Pardon, which you then received the Benefit of when you embraced Chriſtianity. For then you were (to make uſe of the ſame Prophet's Words, Iſ. 53. 6.) like Sheep that have gone aſtray; but now you are returned to the Fold of your Spiritual Shepherd, and Over-ſeer of your Souls, Jeſus Chriſt.

As the Father knoweth me, even ſo know I the Father: and I lay down my life for the ſheep. I. DEarly beloved, I beſeech you as ſtrangers and pilgrims, abſtain from fleſhly luſts, which war againſt the ſoul; having your converſation honeſt among the Gentiles; that whereas they ſpeak againſt you as evil doers, they may by your good works which they ſhall behold, glorifie God in the day of viſitation. II. Submit your ſelves to every ordinance of man for the Lords ſake, whether it be to the King, as ſupreme; or unto governours, as unto them that are ſent by him he ſpake theſe words to tax their Negligence in promoting the Good of the People, and looking after their Souls, which they pretended to be the beſt Guides of. By making an exact Compariſon between myſelf and you, I find that I have all the Marks of a good Shepherd, and you of bad ones. A good Shepherd will venture his Life for his Sheep, by fighting with wild Beaſts which come to devour them, as David did, 1 Sam. 17. 34. But a Hireling, who has no Concern in the Sheep, and does not care what becomes of them, if he has but the Pay which his Maſter contracted with him for, when he ſees a ravenous Beaſt coming to tear them, runs away to ſecure himſelf, and thereby gives that fierce Animal a deſired Opportunity of deſtroying them. And the reaſon why he flies away with ſuch Precipitation is, becauſe he is only a hired Servant, and has not a Property in the Sheep, to make him have a juſt Concern for them. II. Another Mark to ſhew I am a good Shepherd is, That I am well acquainted with my Sheep, knowing them all by their diſtinct Marks, and can tell what Sheep are crept into the Flock which do not belong to me; and my own true Sheep know me likewiſe. And what yet recommends me further, I have not only an Acquaintance with my Sheep, but with God my Heavenly Father; and being hypoſtatically united to his Eſſence, have the ſame intimate Knowledge of his Nature and Will, as he has of mine. Add to this, that further to demonſtrate my Love to my Flock, I am ready to undergo a terrible Death for their ſakes. Nor muſt you think, that all my Flock does conſiſt only of thoſe few Perſons, who have hitherto in this Country of Judea believed in me; but hereafter, when the Partition-wall ſhall be broken down, Eph. 4. 14. vaſt Numbers of Sheep out of the Gentile World ſhall be added to my Flock, and be under my Rule; not being govern'd, as they are now, by different Shepherds, the Jews by the Doctors of their Law, and the Gentiles by their Philoſophers; but both ſhall ſubmit themſelves to my Precepts, and be under my Dominion.

O Almighty God, who didſt propagate the Light of the Goſpel, to the Intent that thou mighteſt reduce to Sobriety of Life, and Purity of Doctrine, thoſe who are miſguided by Pagan Ignorance and Immorality, and by Jewiſh Superſtition: We beſeech thee to grant, that all they who are ſo happy as to be admitted into the Communion of Chriſt's Religion, may avoid doing all thoſe things which their holy Religion condemns, and which would reproach them to their Adverſaries, 1 Pet 2. 12. and that they may alſo practiſe all thoſe admirable Duties which the Goſpel recommends. And this we pray for our bleſſed Lord Jeſus Chriſt's ſake. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. 1 S. Pet. II. 11.

I. I beg of you, my dear Fellow-Chriſtians, who being formerly Jews, have now embraced the better Religion of Jeſus Chriſt; I beg of you, as Perſons who do not only live as Strangers and Foreigners in the ſeveral Heathen Countries and Cities, but are Foreigners in this World likewiſe, your native Country, being in Heaven; That you would forbear the indulging yourſelves in ſenſual Pleaſures, which are mortal Enemies to your Souls, and hinder them from arriving at that Heavenly Country you are going to; and that your Behaviour among the Gentiles you converſe with, be altogether unblameable; ſo that, whereas ye are generally reviled as ſeditious Perſons, and ſuch who, under the Pretence of Liberty and Religion, are ready upon all Occaſions to ſhake off the Yoke of the Governments you live under; and, beſides this, have a great many other Crimes falſely laid to your Charge, theſe your Adverſaries, ſeeing how remarkable you are for the Piety of your Lives, and the Peaceableneſs of your Behaviour, may be won upon to embrace that Religion which they have hitherto defam'd, whenever God by his gracious Viſitation ſhall be pleaſed to touch their Hearts. II. I would likewiſe adviſe you to pay Obedience not only to your Eccleſiaſtical Superiors, who are Governors according to the Spirit, but even to Secular Rulers, who are Governors or Ordinances according to Man, 1 Pet. 4. 6. and this for the ſake of our bleſſed Lord, who yielded a willing Subjection to the Government he lived under, by paying Tribute himſelf him, for the puniſhment of evil doers, and for the praiſe of them that do well. For ſo is the will of God, that with well doing ye may put to ſilence the ignorance of fooliſh men: as free, and not uſing your liberty for a cloak of maliciouſneſs; but as the ſervants of God. III. Honour all men. Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honour the King.

The GOSPEL. S. JOHN XVI. 16.

I. JEſus ſaid to his diſciples, A little while and ye ſhall not ſee me; and again, a little while and ye ſhall ſee me, becauſe I go to the Father. Then ſaid ſome of his diſciples among themſelves, What is this that he ſaith unto us, A little while and ye ſhall not ſee me; and again, a little while and ye ſhall ſee me; and becauſe I go to the Father? They ſaid therefore, What is this that he ſaith, A little while, we cannot tell what he ſaith. II. Now Jeſus knew that they were deſirous to ask him, and ſaid unto them, Do ye enquire among your ſelves, of that I ſaid, A little while, and ye ſhall not ſee me; and again, a little while and ye ſhall ſee me; Verily, verily I ſay unto you, that ye ſhall weep and lament, but the world ſhall rejoyce: and ye ſhall be ſorrowful, but your ſorrow ſhall be turned into joy. III. A woman when ſhe is in travail, hath ſorrow, becauſe her hour is come; but aſſoon as ſhe is delivered of the child, ſhe remembreth no more the anguiſh, for joy that a man is born into the world. And ye now therefore have ſorrow: but I will ſee you again, and your heart ſhall rejoyce, and your joy no man taketh from you.

ſelf to it, Mat. 17. 27. and adviſing others to it, Mat. 22. 21. Now this Obedience is to be paid firſt to the Emperour, as being veſted with the Supreme Authority; and next to him, to the Governours of Provinces, who are put in by his Authority for very wiſe and good Ends, which Providence has to bring about by their means, viz. the puniſhing bad Men, and the rewarding good ones. Now, as it is the Will of God to place theſe Rulers in their ſeveral Governments, to fulfil his wiſe Purpoſes; ſo it is likewiſe his Pleaſure, that by the Piety and Circumſpection of your Behaviour, you ſhould not only take off the Reproaches which have been caſt upon our Religion by ſome vain Men, who are altogether ignorant of our Doctrines; but that you ſhould recommend this excellent Inſtitution to others; retaining ſtill your Chriſtian Freedom, but yet not ſo, as if under pretence of that you were exempted from paying Submiſſion to temporal Governments; ſhewing your Freedom chiefly, in that which the Servants of God ought to value themſelves upon, viz. a Freedom from that Slavery, which their Vices they were formerly ſubject to, had laid them under. III. Pay all Men thoſe due Regards which their Character requires: Have great Love and Charity for all your Brother-Chriſtians: But however, let not your Subjection to Magiſtrates ſwallow up your Duty to God; for whenever the temporal Power commands any thing contrary to your Duty to God, you muſt fear him rather than Man: And though our preſent Emperour Nero, by his unwarrantable Actions, has very much ſunk himſelf in the Eſteem of good Men; yet conſidering him as the Ruler whom God has ſet over you, you muſt for that reaſon honour him.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. John XVI. 16.

I. Some time before our Saviour's ſuffering, he thus expreſſed himſelf to his Diſciples. Although you have me with you at preſent, yet it will not be long before I ſhall leave you, and you will not have the opportunity of ſeeing me as you do now; and it will not be long after this before you ſhall ſee me again; for it is neceſſary that I return to my heavenly Father: In order to which, a ſhort Abſence from you of a few Days, and then a Return to you again before I take my laſt Farewel of you, will be requiſite. This dark way of Expreſſion put the Diſciples into no ſmall Perplexity, to gueſs what might be his Meaning. II. Our Saviour, by his Divine Nature, which enabled him to underſtand their Thoughts, knowing how extraordinary deſirous they were to underſtand this Expreſſion, It will not be long, &c. explained himſelf farther, in this manner: I find you are not a little ſurprized to hear me talk of going from you, as if that ſort of Happineſs which you expect from my Preſence, would be abated by my Abſence; but, as glorious Times as you expect under a temporal Kingdom of the Meſſias, which your Heads are ſo full of, I will aſſure you, you ſhall have a time, e're it be long, of ſad Mourning and Lamentation for the Loſs of your dear Maſter, whilſt the profane People of the World ſhall, contrary to your Expectations, have their time of Rejoicing, and triumphing over your Diſappointments: But this your Sorrow ſhall not laſt very long, for a new Scene of Joy and Tranſport to you ſhall ſucceed it. III. You know what terrible Pangs and Throws a Woman in labour is under; nay, what frightful Agonies the very Apprehenſion of her approaching Pains puts her into; and yet, as ſoon as it is over ſhe forgets all this, out of joy that ſhe is ſo happy as to be Mother of a Child. The caſe is the ſame with you: You ſhall be under great Concern and Sorrow, upon my Sufferings and Death; but this will not laſt long, for after this Separation from you, I ſhall be with you again; and then I ſhall lay a Foundation of your being joyful for ever: you ſhall ſee me aſcend up into Heaven to prepare a place for you of eternal Happineſs.

I. I would have you Chriſtians to underſtand, That Almighty God is ſo far from tempting Men to Sin, which ſome have wickedly aſſerted, as I juſt before took notice of, ver. 13. that he inſpires every Man with all thoſe good Graces which he ſtands poſſeſſed of; for every intellectual Perfection, whether natural or ſupernatural, is derived from God the Father and Creator of the Angels, thoſe glorious Lights in the Intellectual World, himſelf being the Fountain of Light, infinitely beyond that of the Sun; who does not, like that Planet, alter its Courſe according to the ſeveral Seaſons of the Year, turning from us and returning to us, thereby affording us a greater or leſſer proportion of Light and Darkneſs; but continues always uniformly the ſame. II. For God Almighty, by ordering the Goſpel to be preached to us, has as it were begotten us a-new: For if the Iſraelites, by being delivered by God from the Egyptian Bondage, be ſaid to be begotten by him, Deut. 32. 18. our Deliverance from Sin and Puniſhment, with the Hopes of eternal Life, may better deſerve that Title; eſpecially ſince by calling us to the Goſpel, he has made us a ſort of Firſt-fruits, which being the choiceſt of the Corn, was picked out of the reſt for Sacrifice; and ſo we Chriſtians are choſen out of the reſt of the World, to embrace the Faith of Chriſt. III. Wherefore, my beloved Brethren in the Goſpel, I exhort you to be ready to hear the Goſpel-Truths preached to you, but not to be over-forward to be Preachers of them yourſelves, before you are fitly qualified for that Office, and duly called to it; nor yet to be eaſily provok'd to Anger; for that human Paſſion does ill diſpoſe Men to perform thoſe divine Tasks which our Religion obliges us to. Therefore I adviſe to lay aſide all the Filthineſs of a ſenſual Life and Converſation, and to be humble Scholars of that heavenly Religion, the Goſpel of Chriſt grafted into your Hearts by our preaching, which alone teaches the true way to Salvation.

I. JEſus ſaid unto his diſciples, Now I go my way to him that ſent me, and none of you asketh me, Whither goeſt thou? But becauſe I have ſaid theſe things unto you, ſorrow hath filled your heart. II. Nevertheleſs, I tell you the truth, it is expedient for you that I go away: for if I go not away, the Comforter will not come unto you; but if I depart, I will ſend him unto you. And when he is come, he will reprove the world of ſin, and of righteouſneſs, and of judgment: Of ſin; becauſe they believe not on me: Of righteouſneſs; becauſe I go to my Father, and ye ſee me no more: Of judgment; becauſe the Prince of this world is judged. III. I have yet many things to ſay unto you, but ye cannot bear them now. Howbeit, when he, the Spirit of truth is come, he will guide you into all truth; for he ſhall not ſpeak of himſelf; but whatſoever he ſhall hear, that ſhall he ſpeak, and he will ſhew you things to come. He ſhall glorifie me: for he ſhall receive of mine, and ſhall ſhew it unto you. All things that the Father hath are mine: therefore ſaid I, that he ſhall take of mine, and ſhall ſhew it unto you.

The COLLECT.

O Lord, from whom all good things do come; Grant to us thy humble ſervants, that by thy holy inſpiration we may think thoſe things that be good,

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. John XVI. 5.

I. Not long before our Saviour's Paſſion, he thus ſpake to his Diſciples: I am now ſhortly to return to God, whoſe Ambaſſador I have been to Mankind; and yet methinks it is a little ſtrange, that you who are to ſucceed me in this Charge, are not more ſollicitous to enquire, when, and whither, and upon what account I am going. One would be apt to think, that the Conſideration of thoſe great things, which you may reaſonably imagine I am about to do for you, and the honorable Poſt I leave you in, ſhould very much raiſe your Spirits, and fill you with joy; but in ſtead of this, your Hearts are ſunk, and you do nothing but grieve, upon the thoughts of parting with me, though it tend ſo very much for your Advantage. II. But I tell you plainly, that it will be highly for your Intereſt, that I be removed from you; for the Holy Ghoſt, who is the Paraclet or Comforter, and who, by the eternal Decree of the Trinity, is appointed to make a perſonal Deſcent upon you, cannot, without breaking in upon the Orders of Heaven, come to you, unleſs I go from you; but when I am gone, I will immediately take care to ſend him to beſtow thoſe Benefits upon you which are deſigned. Now when he is come down upon you, he ſhall condemn the World in three Actions (or ways of Tryal uſed among the Jews) againſt it: Firſt, In an Action of Sin, or Offence againſt God and his Worſhip; and herein He ſhall prove, that I am not a falſe Prophet, as is maliciouſly ſuggeſted; but that they are guilty of a moſt grievous Offence in not believing on me, notwithſtanding all the mighty Miracles I have done: Secondly, In an Action of Righteouſneſs, or Equity, between Man and Man, when He ſhall make it appear, that I have gain'd everlaſting Happineſs as a Reward of my Merits: And laſtly, The Paraclete ſhall get the better of the World in an Action of Judgment, or Criminal Caſe, when its Prince the Devil ſhall be diſpoſſeſs'd of his Kingdom by his Power, thro' the rooting out of Idolatry and other Vices, which he was wont to maintain his Empire by. III. There are ſeveral other things which you ſhould be inform'd of, were you now diſpoſed to receive them, concerning the State and Government of my ſpiritual Kingdom; which as I find you are not very fond to think of, ſo I forbear to learn you any thing further concerning it. But when the Paraclete, who is the true Spirit of God, ſhall have made his Deſcent upon you, he ſhall be a conſtant Guide, inherent in your Breaſts, to keep you from all Error, and to inform you of all Truths, which ſhall be neceſſary for the Diſcharge of your great Truſt. And what he ſhall inform you of ſhall be not any new Matter, which my Father and myſelf have not agreed to, but only that which he is authoriz'd by both of Us to ſpeak; and ſhall moreover make you acquainted with ſeveral remarkable Matters, which ſhall happen to the Church in future times, as the Riſe of Hereſies, the Coming of Antichriſt, &c. He ſhall contribute to my Reputation and Glory, by making good to you all the Benefits that I promiſe he ſhall confer upon you; and yet theſe Benefits ſhall not be owing to him alone; for he ſhall take of mine: this Omniſcience of the Paraclete, by which he ſhall diſcover theſe things to you; (as alſo his very Eſſence) does proceed from me, he deriving this Knowledge from me, and imparting it unto you. Nay, I acquaint you farther, that whatſoever belongs to the Father, even his Divine Eſſence itſelf, belongs to me, and therefore I uſe this Expreſſion, He ſhall take of mine, becauſe his Eſſence proceedeth both from the Father and Me.

O Lord, from whoſe Grace all good Thoughts and Actions do proceed; Grant to us thy humble Servants now aſſembled in thy Preſence, that by the Inſpiration of thy holy Spirit, we may obtain ſuch a meaſure of thy Grace, as to be Doers of thy Word, and not Hearers only, James 1. 22. and that whatever good things we ſhall here think of, thou wouldeſt enable us by thy gracious Direction to perform the ſame good, and by thy merciful guiding may perform the ſame, through our Lord Jeſus Chriſt. Amen.

The EPISTLE. S. Jam. I. 22.

I. BE ye doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving your own ſelves. For if any be a hearer of the word and not a doer, he is like unto a man beholding his natural face in a glaſs. For he beholdeth himſelf, and goeth his way, and ſtraightway forgetteth what manner of man he was. II. But whoſo looketh into the perfect Law of liberty, and continueth therein; he being not a forgetful hearer, but a doer of the work, this man ſhall be bleſſed in his deed. If any man among you ſeem to be religious, and bridleth not his tongue, but deceiveth his own heart, this man's religion is vain: III. Pure religion, and undefiled before God and the Father, is this; To viſit the fatherleſs and widows in their affliction, and to keep himſelf unſpotted from the world.

The GOSPEL. S. John XVI. 23.

I. VErily, verily I ſay unto you, Whatſoever ye ſhall ask the Father in my Name, he will give it you. Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my name: Ask, and ye ſhall receive, that your joy may be full. II. Theſe things have I ſpoken unto you in proverbs: the time cometh when I ſhall no more ſpeak unto you in proverbs, but I ſhall ſhew you plainly of the Father. At that day ye ſhall ask in my Name: and I ſay not unto you, that I will pray the Father for you; for the Father himſelf loveth you, becauſe ye have loved me, and have believed that I came out from God. I came forth from the Father, and am come into the world: Again, I leave the world, and go to the Father. III. His diſciples ſaid unto him; Lo, now ſpeakeſt thou plainly, and ſpeakeſt no proverb. Now are we ſure that thou knoweſt all ſame in the future Actions of our Life. And this we earneſtly pray for the ſake of Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. S. James I. 22.

I. Endeavour to make good by your Practice what you have heard by our Preaching; for if you think that all your Religion muſt conſiſt in hearing the Word, (as too many do) you are miſerably deceived: For one that lays out ſome time in hearing the Goſpel preached, but takes no care afterwards to practiſe thoſe holy Truths he is inform'd of thereby, I may not unfitly compare to a Man who takes a tranſient View of himſelf in a Looking-glaſs, and by reaſon of the Weakneſs of the reflex Image, which does not ſtrike ſo ſtrong upon the Senſory, as when it comes directly from the Object, he cannot retain in his Memory the Idea which the Glaſs had given him of himſelf; but when he is gone from it, he forgets the Features of his Face. II. But he that takes a View of the State of his Soul by looking into the Goſpel (which, as it is a Law of Freedom, and not tied up to ſo many ſlaviſh Ceremonies as the Moſaical, will deal impartially with him) ſhall have the trueſt Repreſentation given of himſelf; and withal, if he does perſevere in the good Reſolutions which he has taken upon him therefrom, and takes care conſcientiouſly to obſerve all thoſe Duties he has learn'd from it, God Almighty, by his Grace, will bleſs and proſper his good Endeavours. But there are ſome Perſons among you who pretend to no little a Share of Religion, and yet they indulge themſelves in the Practice of a very great Fault, which is the giving themſelves too great a Looſe in their Talk, whereby they are guilty not only of Prating, but ſometimes of Lying and Slandering: Now, if ſuch Perſons do not take care to amend that Fault, and bridle their Tongue for the future, they put a Cheat upon themſelves, in thinking that they are good Chriſtians; for in this caſe, the Profeſſion of our excellent Religion will do them no Service nor will render them acceptable to God, to whoſe Diſpleaſure they expoſe themſelves by retaining this Sin. III. If we would have our Religion to be like a pure and clear Jewel, without any the leaſt Flaw in it, to ſhine in the Eyes of God; we muſt be eminent in Acts of Piety and Charity; we muſt do all the good and kind Offices to our Neighbour which lie in our Power, and diligently avoid all thoſe Sins, which worldly Men are wont to allow themſelves in.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. S. John XVI. 23.

I. You may, my dear Diſciples, be under ſome degree of Diſconſolation, to think that when I ſhall be parted from you, you may not ſo readily obtain what you requeſt, as when I was preſent with you; and yet I verily aſſure you, that tho' you have not me to make your Application to, yet if you addreſs yourſelves to the Father, in my Name, in ſuch a manner as is fitting, and for ſuch things as are proper, he will not fail to grant your Petitions. Hitherto, when you have requeſted any thing, it has either been by your immediate Addreſſes to God, or elſe you have deſired me to pray in your Behalf; but you have not yet addreſs'd yourſelves to God through my Mediation; from hence forward make uſe of this Method in your Prayers; beg every thing for the ſake of Jeſus Chriſt your Lord, and God will always be ready to grant what you pray for, eſpecially ſo far forth as relates to your compleating your eternal Happineſs. II. Hitherto I have diſcourſed to you many things concerning my Departure, my Union with the Father, and concerning the Paraclete, &c. in figurative Expreſſions, which are not ſo eaſily underſtood by you; but hereafter I ſhall diſcourſe to you in plainer Terms, and open to you more fully the Will of my Father concerning my Kingdom. Then you ſhall put up your Petitions to the Father in my Name, but you muſt not think, that I ſhall then formally make my Addreſſes to him on your Behalf, as I do now; for, as my Circumſtances and Condition will be alter'd, ſo I ſhall have obtain'd by my Merits a Reconciliation of the Father to you; and that he ſhall bear ſuch a Love to you as to hear your Prayers, being inclined thereunto by your Love which you have ſhewn to me, in believing me to be the Meſſias. I have told you frequently enough already, and that with ſufficient Clearneſs, that I came from the Father, Joh. 6. 46. Joh. 8. 16. Joh. 12. 28. and now I tell you as plainly, That I am going to him again. III. His Diſciples upon this anſwer'd, We now begin to underſtand you very well what kind of going from us you mean, which we could not have thought of before; your Words ſeem now to have a very plain Meaning, without any Parabolical Repreſentation.

all things, and needeſt not that any man ſhould ask thee; by this we believe that thou cameſt forth from God. Jeſus anſwered them, Do ye now believe? Behold the hour cometh, yea, is now come, that ye ſhall be ſcattered every man to his own, and ſhall leave me alone: and yet I am not alone, becauſe the Father is with me. Theſe things I have ſpoken unto you, that in me ye might have peace. In the world ye ſhall have tribulation; but be of good cheer, I have overcome the world.

(a) The *ASCENSION DAY.

tion. There is no need for thoſe Perſons, who do not underſtand you right at firſt, to ask you any Queſtions to be fully appriſed of your Meaning; for we are aſſured by your ſo readily perceiving what part of your Words we ſtick at, and thereupon anſwering our Scruples, without being propoſed to you, That you are acquainted with all our Thoughts before we diſcover them to you. This is a plain Demonſtration that you come from God, by having this Divine Attribute, Pſal. 139. 2. Heb. 4. 12. inherent in you. To this our Saviour made this Reply, It is very well if you do believe; but I am afraid it is owing to your preſent Proſperity that you do ſo. But there is a time of Adverſity a-coming, nay it is juſt at hand, in which you ſhall all run away from me, Mat. 26. 56. and leave me by myſelf; and yet I cannot properly ſay I ſhall be by myſelf, ſince I ſhall have the Father intimately united to me. This I thought fit to forewarn you of, that you might keep your Minds in a State of Tranquillity and Conſtancy, and not altogether deſpond upon my enſuing Sufferings, but keep ſtill in your View the Happineſs of another World. Indeed in this World, you, as well as I, ſhall undergo a great many Afflictions; but I would have you take Courage from my Example, who have perfectly overcome it, and, by my Merits, have worſted the very Prince of it, the Devil; ſo that you have nothing now to do, but to follow the Rules I have preſcribed you, and all your Contention is with an Adverſary who is vanquiſh'd already.

† Our Lord to have aſcended. O. C. P.

NOTE.

(a) Aſcenſion-day.] This Feaſt of the Aſcenſion is not ſo often mention'd in early Writers, as other Feſtivals which relate to our Lord; but the reaſon is, That this ſeemed to be ſwallow'd up in the great Feaſt of the Penteceſt, which indeed was but the one Reſurrection-Feaſt continued from Eaſter to Whitſuntide. See Tertullian de Idololatria. But if we will be govern'd by the Teſtimony of St. Auſtin, he ſays, That the Obſervation of this Feſtival was grounded upon a Tradition of the Church, derived down from the Apoſtles Times; and that upon this Ground, Good-Friday, Eaſter, and Aſcenſion-day, were celebrated with an Anniverſary Religion. Aug. Epiſt. 118.

Of the Rogation-Days.

The Rogation-Days being appointed by the Church to be obſerved in this Week, it will not be improper to ſay ſomething more particularly concerning them in this place. For in the Table of Vigils, Faſts, &c. in the Beginning of our Common-Prayer Book, The three Rogation-Days, being the Monday, Tueſday, and Wedneſday, before Holy-Thurſday, or the Aſcenſion of our Lord, are appointed to be kept for Days of Faſting or Abſtinence.

The more ſolemn Method of performing the Rogations, by ſtrict Faſting, and reciting the Litanies in way of Perambulation, was firſt uſed by Mamercus Biſhop of Vienna in France, about the Year of Chriſt 570; when, the People were in daily Fear of the Irruption of the Goths, and had ſeveral other very ſevere Judgments of God upon them. We have an exact Account given us of this Affair by Sidonius Apollinaris, in his Letter to that Biſhop, which begins, Rumor eſt Gothos in Romanum ſolum caſtra moviſſe. Huic ſemper Irruptioni nos miſeri Averni janua ſumus —— Nos non ambuſtam murorum faciem, aut putrem ſudium cratem, aut propugnacula vigilum trita pectoribus conſidimus opitulatura: ſolo tamen invectarum te authore ROGATIONUM palpamur auxilio, quibus inchoandis inſtituendiſque populus Arvernus, etſi non effectu pari, affectu ſanè non impari cœpit initiori. —— Primùm igitur indicis jejunia, interdicis flagitia, ſupplicia prædicis, remedia promittis, exponis omnibus nec pœnam longinquam eſſe, nec veniam; doces denunciata ſolitudinis minas orationum frequentiâ eſſe amoliendas; monet aſſiduitatem furentis incendis, aqua potius oculorum quam fluminum poſſe reſtingui: monet minacem terræ motuum conflictationem fidei ſtabilitate firmandum, &c. " There is a Report, that the " Goths are encamped in the Roman Territories. Now we " the unhappy Inhabitants of Auvergne, are the Door to " their Irruption. —— We do not put our Truſt in Paliſadoes, and Fences of rotting Stakes, nor Works grown " ſmooth with the Breaſts of thoſe who defend them: we " are only born in the hope by the Aſſiſtance of thoſe ROGA- " TIONS which were brought in by your Authority, and " which the People of Auvergne have begun to ſet up, tho' " not with an equal Effect, yet with a not unequal Affection. " —— You firſt enjoin Faſting, and forbid Sinning; you " foretel Judgments, and preſcribe Remedies againſt them; " you declare to all, that neither the Puniſhment is at a diſtance, nor the Pardon; you teach, that the Threats of the " miſerable Deſolation are to be removed only by frequent " Prayers; you admoniſh, that the raging Fire is to be put " out by the Water of the Eyes, not by that of the Rivers; " that the Earthquake is to be ſettled by the ſtability of " Faith, &c. Sidon. Apoll. Epiſt. Lib. 7. Ep. 1. Papæ Mamerco.

This has given occaſion to ſome to think, that the Rogations were entirely invented by Mamercus: But it is plain by another Epiſtle of Sidonius, that he was only the Reſtorer of them, or rather the Reformer, by rectifying ſome Abuſes which had mixed with them, and making them more hearty and religious. In urbem (ni fallimur) Rogationum contemplatione revocabere: quarum vobis ſolennitatem primus Mamercus Pater & Pontifex reverendiſſimo exemplo, utiliſſimo experimento, invenit, inſtituit, invexit. Erant quidem plus (quod ſalvâ pace ſit dictum) vagæ, repentes, infrequenteſque, atque (ſic dixeris) oſcitabundæ ſupplicationes: quæ ſæpè interpellantium prandiorum obicibus hebetabantur, maximè aut imbres, aut ſerenitatem deprecaturæ: ad quas (ut nihil amplius dicam) figulo pariter atque hortulano non oportuit convenire. In his autem, quas ſuprabatus ſacerdos & protulit pariter & contulit, jejunatur, oratur, pſallitur, fletur. " I ſuppoſe you will be called back to Town by the " Remembrance of the Rogations, the Solemnity of which " Biſhop Mamercus brought into the Church by his moſt " reverend Example, and a moſt profitable Experiment. For " before his time (give me leave to ſay it) the Rogations " were meer Strolings and Santerings about, having very few " Perſons in the Proceſſion, and the Supplications were performed without great Devotion; the edge of which was dull- " led by the Intervention of Meals: they only prayed againſt " exceſſive Rains or Droughts; in which (to ſay no worſe) " the Gardener and the Potter would not at the ſame time " join their Prayers. But in theſe Rogations, which the fore- " ſaid

GRant, we beſeech thee, Almighty God, that like as we do believe thy only begotten Son † our Lord Jeſus Chriſt to have aſcended into the Heavens; ſo we may alſo in heart and mind thither aſcend, and with him continually dwell, who liveth and reigneth with thee, and the holy Ghoſt, one God, world without end. Amen.

For the EPISTLE. Acts I. 1.

I. THE former treatiſe have I made, O Theophilus, of all that Jeſus began both to do and teach, until the day in which he was taken up, after that he through the holy Ghoſt had given commandments unto the Apoſtles whom he had choſen. II. To whom alſo he ſhewed himſelf alive after his Paſſion, by many infallible Proofs, being ſeen of them forty days, and ſpeaking of the things pertaining to the kingdom of God: And being aſſembled together with them, commanded

" ſaid Biſhop has brought in, they faſt, they pray, they ſing, " they weep. Sidon. Apol. Lib. 5. Ep. 14.

Alcimus Avitus reports, That the time when theſe Calamities fell out in France, was the time of the Paſchal Solemnity, and therefore an improper Seaſon for Faſting; whereupon the Rogations were deferred till ſome time after, viz. the Week wherein Aſcenſion-Day fell. Alc. Avit. 7 tom. Bibl. Patr. Greg. Tur. lib. 2. and ſo it has continued ever ſince.

In the Council of Orleans, the Rogations were eſtabliſhed by an Eccleſiaſtical Law: For by the xxix. Canon of this Council it is thus enjoined. Rogationes, i. e. Litanias ante Aſcenſionem Domini placuit celebrari, ita ut præmiſſum triduanum jejunium, in Dominicæ Aſcenſionis ſolemnitate ſolvatur. Per quod triduum Servi & Ancillæ ab opere relaxentur, quò magis plebs univerſa conveniat: quo triduo omnes abſtineant, & quadrageſimalibus cibis utantur. " It " has pleaſed us, that the Rogations, that is, the Litanies, ſhall " be celebrated before the Aſcenſion; ſo that the three Days " Faſts be finiſhed in Aſcenſion-Week: In which three Days, " all Men and Maid Servants ſhall be diſcharged from Work- " ing, ſo that all the People may have an Opportunity of co- " ming to Publick Worſhip: In all which three Days they " muſt abſtain from Fleſh, and uſe only Lenten Diet." This was in the Year of Chriſt 507.

There has never any Office been made for theſe Days in any of our Service-Books, nor ſo much as a Collect: Which is the more to be wonder'd at, ſince there have been no leſs than four Homilies provided. All that we have preſcribed to this purpoſe is in the 19th of Queen Elizabeth's Injunctions; Provided, That the Curate in their ſaid common Perambulations, uſed heretofore in the days of Rogations, at certain convenient Places, ſhall admoniſh the People to give Thanks to God in the beholding of God's Benefits, for the Increaſe and Abundance of his Fruits upon the Face of the Earth, and with the ſaying of the iij. Pſalm, Benedic, anima mea, &c. At which time alſo the ſame Miniſter ſhall inculcate thoſe or ſuch Sentences, Curſed be he which tranſlateth the Bounds and Dolls of his Neighbour; or ſuch Order of Prayers as ſhall be hereafter appointed. But it ſeems that this Order of Prayers was forgotten to be made, or appointed, not only during that Queen's Reign, but ever ſince.

However, we have four very good Homilies to be read in the Church, with the ordinary Service of the Day; the three firſt to be read on Munday, Tueſday, and Wedneſday; and a fourth to be read that Day whereon the Proceſſion is made.

The Munday-Homily, treats of the manifold Wiſdom and Goodneſs of God in the different parts of the Creation, and in his Preſervation of the World; exhorting to a devout Contemplation of them, and a hearty Thankfulneſs for them.

The Tueſday-Homily ſhews, That the Goods of the Mind, and thoſe of Fortune (as they are uſually called) do proceed likewiſe from God's gracious Favour; That we are to expect and beg theſe only of him; and, That when he is pleaſed to take them from us, we muſt with Patience ſubmit to him, who is governed by wiſe and juſt Reaſons therein.

The Wedneſday-Homily ſets forth in particular the Goodneſs of God, in beſtowing upon us ſpiritual Bleſſings, and ſhews, That we cannot truly repent and turn to God without his preventing Grace; That, if we ripen to a Proficiency in any vertuous Endowments, 'tis by his Aſſiſtance chiefly that we acquire them; That 'tis he that illuminates our Hearts to conceive juſt and worthy Thoughts of him; That Knowledge acquired by Human Learning, or Eccleſiaſtical Antiquity, is not comparable to that which God has reached out to us in his Holy Word; but however, That our own diligent Endeavours muſt not be wanting in this our ſpiritual Warfare; and, That after all, our chief Reliance muſt be upon God, who is our beſt Counſellor and Friend, and will, if we ſincerely love and obey him, do better for us than we can deſire he ſhould.

The Homily for the Perambulation, or Proceſſion-Day, exhorts, That the View of the Bounds of the ſeveral Eſtates and Pariſhes ſhould put Men in mind of their Neighbours Properties, and give them an Abhorrence againſt the Invading them; That they ſhould not vindicate their Right againſt every little and unwilful Encroachment, to the breach of Chriſtian Charity; That they ought carefully to take notice of Boundaries, that they may hinder vexatious Suits, and vindicate the Right of the Owner; That they ſhould take notice of, and hinder the Miſchiefs which ariſe from bad Ways; That when the Fruits of the Earth are gathered in, they ſhould be kind to the Poor in handſom Largeſſes, and ſuffer them to glean the ſcattered Corn.

Theſe are all excellent Inſtructions; and tho' they have been long deſpiſed, as the Productions of a ſimple Age, yet they would ſerve very much to the Improvement of this politer one, if they were more frequently (as they ought to be) made uſe of.

PARAPHRASE on the COLLECT for Aſcenſion-day.

O Almighty God, we humbly beſeech thee, that as we do verily believe, that our bleſſed Lord Jeſus Chriſt did aſcend up into Heaven, from the Atteſtation of thy holy Word, and the Teſtimony of ſo many Eye-witneſſes which beheld him, Acts 1. 10. ſo may we in this Life aſcend thither in our Hearts, by ſetting our Affections on Heavenly things, Col. 3. 2. and after the general Reſurrection, may go to live for ever there; with him who reigneth with thee and the Holy Ghoſt, one God, World without end. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Act. I. 1.

I. The former Book, that I wrote and dedicated to you Theophilus, was my Goſpel, which gave an Account of the Actions and Doctrines of Jeſus Chriſt, from his firſt Appearance to the World to his Aſcenſion into Heaven; he having before that given ſufficient ſpiritual Inſtructions to his Diſciples, whom he had choſen before any other Perſons, as the fitteſt Men for the carrying his mighty Deſign in propagating the Goſpel through the World. II. He demonſtrating to them, That he was alive after his Crucifixion by many inconteſtible Proofs, as his Eating with them, and ſhewing them his Wounds, being ſeen of them a great many times within the Compaſs of the forty Days between his Reſurrection and Aſcenſion; he then tutoring them, and giving them Advice how they ſhould advance God's ſpiritual Kingdom, the Goſpel. And one of theſe times, in which he was preſent with them, he laid his Commands upon them not to depart from Jeruſalem, though they might be willing to leave manded them that they ſhould not depart from Jeruſalem, but wait for the promiſe of the Father, which, ſaith he, ye have heard of me. III. For John truly baptized with water, but ye ſhall be baptized with the holy Ghoſt not many days hence. When they therefore were come together, they asked of him, ſaying, Lord, wilt thou at this time reſtore again the kingdom to Iſrael? and he ſaid unto them, It is not for you to know the times or the ſeaſons, which the Father hath put in his own power. But ye ſhall receive power after that the holy Ghoſt is come upon you; and ye ſhall be witneſſes unto me, both in Jeruſalem and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermoſt part of the earth. IV. And when he had ſpoken theſe things, while they beheld, he was taken up, and a cloud received him out of their ſight. And while they looked ſtedfaſtly toward heaven, as he went up, behold, two men ſtood by them in white apparel; which alſo ſaid, Ye men of Galilee, why ſtand ye gazing up into heaven? This ſame Jeſus which is taken up from you into heaven, ſhall ſo come in like manner, as ye have ſeen him go into heaven.

The GOSPEL. S. MARK XVI. 14.

I. JEſus appeared unto the eleven as they ſat at meat, and upbraided them with their unbelief and hardneſs of heart, becauſe they believed not them which had ſeen him after he was riſen. And he ſaid unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the goſpel to every creature. II. He that believeth and is baptized, ſhall be ſaved; but he that believeth not, ſhall be damned. And theſe ſigns ſhall follow them that believe: In my Name ſhall they caſt out devils, they ſhall ſpeak with new tongues, they ſhall take up ſerpents, and if they drink any deadly thing, it ſhall not hurt them; they ſhall lay hands on the ſick, and they ſhall recover. III. So then after the Lord had ſpoken unto them, he was received up that Place, as polluted with their Maſter's Blood, and breathing out new Threats againſt them; but that they ſhould ſtay there (ſays he) till ſuch time as I have made good the Promiſe, which I made to you in God the Father's Name, for the ſending the Holy Ghoſt, Joh. 14. 26. III. You have a great Regard to the Memory of the Baptiſt for the Rite of Baptiſm, which he adminiſtred, and the Graces which were conferred by it; but I will aſſure you, you ſhall ſhortly partake of a Baptiſm far ſuperior to that of John's, you being, as it were, to be baptized by a plentiful Effuſion of the Holy Spirit upon you. At that time it was, that they all joining together in making an Addreſs to him, deſired him that he would be pleaſed to anſwer them a Queſtion, which they had an earneſt deſire to be reſolved in; and that was, Whether they might expect the Great Monarchy of the Jews, which ſeemed to be promiſed Dan. 7. 27. ſhortly to ariſe? To which he made them this Anſwer, That, as this was a Queſtion which only their Curioſity led them to have reſolved, and if it were, would not make them wiſer or better; ſo it was none of their Buſineſs to enquire about it: nor would it at all avail them if they knew it; for the Time when this ſhall come to paſs can be known only to God, who diſpoſes of Empires and Governments according to his Wiſdom, and keeps the Time of their Riſes and Falls as a Secret to himſelf. But however, I will inform you of a Matter, which as it relates to yourſelves, ſo it more concerns you to know, than what you propoſed to me; That you ſhall be poſſeſſed of ſeveral miraculous Powers, after the Deſcent of the Holy Ghoſt upon you, which I ſpake to you of before; and theſe ſhall impower you to be authentick Witneſſes of what I have done and taught, not only in Jeruſalem, Judea, and the neighbouring Countries, but in Nations that lie in the remoteſt Corners of the World. IV. And whilſt he was diſcourſing of theſe and ſome other Matters of ſpiritual Concern to them, they perceived that he was raiſed from the Ground, and gradually mounted upward, till a Cloud which ſeemed to be let down to meet him, covered him round, and ſkreened him from their ſight. And whilſt they were yet looking up into the Air, (to have another View probably of their parting Maſter) there appeared to them two Angels arrayed in White Garments, one of which thus ſpake to them: Why do you ſtand, O Galileans, ſtaring up towards Heaven with ſo much Earneſtneſs, as if this Sight was ſuch an one as there never would be the like of it again? But we aſſure you, that this ſame Jeſus Chriſt ſhall, in as triumphal and glorious a manner, come again to judge the World, as you now ſee him leaving it.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Mark XVI. 14.

I. In one of the times that our Saviour diſcovered himſelf to his Diſciples after his Reſurrection, he appeared to them whilſt they were ſitting at their Meal; rebuking ſome of them who had not yet ſeen him, for their Diſbelief of the Teſtimony of thoſe who had. And then he gave them a Commiſſion and Command, to preach the Goſpel throughout every Country in the World. II. Declaring, that every Perſon who ſhould believe that he was the Saviour of the World, and ſhould practiſe the Precepts of the Goſpel, ſhould have his Sins pardoned, and enjoy eternal Happineſs in another World; and he that ſhould not embrace the Goſpel-Truths when they were fairly propoſed to him, or who ſhould not live up to the Rules thereof after his Belief, ſhould incur everlaſting Condemnation at the future Judgment. Nay, I do farther (ſays he) make known to you, that ſeveral miraculous Gifts ſhall be conferred upon many of you who ſhall believe in me, for the Confirmation of your Religion during the firſt Ages of Chriſtianity, and till the Goſpel be fully ſettled. Whilſt they ſhall pronounce my Name over thoſe who are poſſeſſed with Devils, the Evil Spirits ſhall immediately come out of them, Acts 3. 6. They ſhall inſtantaneouſly ſpeak with Tongues, which they never learn'd, Acts 2. 4. If Serpents light upon them, they ſhall not bite or envenom them, Acts 28. 3. When they are ſent for to the Sick, they ſhall only lay their Hands upon them, and their Diſtempers ſhall be removed, Acts 5. 15. and 19. 12. III. Now when our Saviour had inculcated theſe things to them, at ſeveral Meetings during the Forty-days between his Reſurrection and Aſcenſion, he was in the Preſence of his Diſciples, Acts 1. 10. Luke 24. 51. caught up into Heaven, to partake of the moſt exalted degree of Glory, which is uſually in Scripture expreſſed by the Right-hand of God. Then the Diſciples went out of Jeruſalem, from whence the Kingdom of the Meſſias was to begin, Acts 1. 4. Iſaiah 2. 3. Luke 24. 47. and preached the Miracles and Doctrine of Chriſt, not only in Judea, but in up into heaven, and ſat on the right hand of God. And they went forth and preached every where, the Lord working with them, and confirming the word with ſigns following.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. 1 S. Pet. IV. 7.

I. The final Deſtruction of the World approacheth; and that which very much ſhall reſemble it, the dreadful Overthrow of the City of Jeruſalem, is very near; therefore it obliges you to live Lives of exact Temperance and Sobriety, and to exerciſe yourſelves in continual Acts of Devotion. Neither let it ſuffice you to be devout without doing good Works; therefore let your Charity to your poor Chriſtian Brethren be hot and fervent, not conſiſting only in cold and lifeleſs Wiſhes of their Relief, but in readily ſupplying their Wants; for, as an Encouragement to this Vertue of Charity, God Almighty has been pleaſed to annex an extraordinary Reward, inſomuch that whoſoever is eminent therein, God will have ſuch a Regard to his charitable Actions, that he will be more readily diſpoſed to afford Pardon to his Sins, and will, for the ſake of theſe, as it were cover them over, and keep them from being ſeen. II. Nor let it content you, eſpecially you of the more plentiful Circumſtances, to be charitable to the very pooreſt of all, but you muſt keep hoſpitable Tables likewiſe, to entertain thoſe of ſlenderer Circumſtances at, who yet are not fallen to ſo abject a Poverty as to take Alms; and this with all Chearfulneſs and Readineſs, not being forced to it by Cuſtom or the Example of others, and afterwards grudging at the Expence when it is over. Let every one, according to the Extent of the Circumſtances which God has bleſſed him with, diſtribute to others who want; not keeping their good things only for their own Uſe, as if they were the perfect Proprietors thereof, but, like the Stewards of God, diſpenſing out the reſpective Talents which God has committed to their Charge. III. If any one ſpeak publickly in the Congregation, let him not vent any extempore Effuſions which may come into his Head, but only that which he is certain is inſpired by God, or what is agreeable to ſome former Revelation. When any one undertakes the Deacon's Office in adminiſtring to the Poor, let him do it with Readineſs and Alacrity, as God requires, and this by his Grace, when asked for, he never fails to grant; that God may be honoured in having all Parts of his Holy Religion, which he has revealed to us by Jeſus Chriſt, duly adminiſtred: To whom be all Honour aſcribed, and his Empire in the Hearts of all Men be enlarged. Amen.

I. WHen the Comforter is come, whom I will ſend unto you from the Father, even the Spirit of truth, which proceedeth from the Father, he ſhall teſtifie of me. And ye alſo ſhall bear witneſs, becauſe ye have been with me from the beginning. II. Theſe things have I ſpoken unto you, that ye ſhould not be offended. They ſhall put you out of the ſynagogues: yea the time cometh, that whoſoever killeth you will think that he doth God ſervice. And theſe things will they do unto you, becauſe they have not known the Father, nor me; but theſe things have I told you, that when the time ſhall come, ye may remember that I told you of them.

When the Holy Ghoſt, whom I before mentioned John XIV. 26. and ſtiled, as I do now, the Paraclete or Comforter, ſhall have made his ſolemn Deſcent upon you, he that is the infallible Spirit, that ſhall teach you all things and bring all things to your remembrance, that Spirit whom I ſhall ſend, and who proceedeth or goeth out from the eternal Father; He, by endowing you with miraculous Powers, as moſt certain Credentials of your Miſſion, ſhall inconteſtibly witneſs the Truth of my Religion. And you likewiſe ſhall join your Evidence to atteſt the ſame Truth, as being Men of Honeſty and Credit, and declaring Matters that you were Eye-witneſſes of. II. But I warn you before-hand, not to be diſcouraged if all things do not fall out anſwerable to your Expectations: For it will happen to you, as to many other good Men, to be very ill treated for your Piety; and the bigotted Jews ſhall not only lay you under an Excommunication, but many of them ſhall think that they pay God Almighty very acceptable Service, when they imbrue their hands in your Blood. But this ill Treatment ſhall not be owing to any Demerit of yours, but only to their blind Superſtition, and wrong Notions of the Deity, as thinking God to be pleaſed more with the pompous Rites of the Jewiſh Religion, than with that ſpiritual Religion which you ſhall be Teachers of: And becauſe they will not ſufficiently conſider the Proofs that I have given, that I am the Meſſias and Son of God; Theſe Hints I have thought fit to give you before I leave you, that afterwards, when I am gone from you, and they ſhall happen punctually as I have foretold, they may be a farther ſtrengthening of your Faith by the exact Completion of my Predictions; and that you, being beforehand warned of your Sufferings, may be prepared with the greater Conſtancy to bear them.

NOTE.

(b) Whitſunday] The Name of this Sunday, in the old Latin Church, was Dominica in albis, and from thence called in Engliſh Whitſunday. The reaſon of the Name is, becauſe this day being a remarkable time for Baptiſm, the Catechumens, who were then baptized, (as thoſe likewiſe who were baptized before at Eaſter) appeared in the Church in their white Garments, which were put on at their Baptiſm. The Greeks for the ſame reaſon call it Bright-Sunday, becauſe of the number of white ſhining Garments which were then wore, Cyril. Catech. Some contend that this Feſtival was as old as the Apoſtles time; and that it was to the Chriſtian, and not the Jewiſh Pentecoſt, which St. Paul haſtened, Acts 20 Certainly it was inſtituted in Tertullian's time, who ſays, they (the Chriſtians) kept a Feaſt from Eaſter to Pentecoſt, De coron. Mil. § IV. St. Chryſoſtom mentions it as a Feaſt in his time, when he ſays, Our firſt Feaſt is Chriſt's Nativity, our ſecond the Reſurrection, our third the Pentecoſt. Hom. 88. Tom. 5.

PARAPHRASE on the Collect for Whitſunday.

O Lord, who didſt formerly at the Feaſt of Pentecoſt, Acts 2. 1. in a miraculous manner illuminate the Minds of the Apoſtles and firſt Chriſtians, by the deſcent of the Holy Ghoſt upon them, we beſeech thee afford us ſuch Influences of the ſame Spirit, as may guide us into all Truth, John 16. 13. neceſſary for our Salvation; and to give us the Joy of the Holy Ghoſt, Rom. 14. 17. that we may always rejoice in his holy Comfort, thro' the Merits of Jeſus Chriſt our Saviour, &c. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Acts II. 1.

I. When the fifty days, to be numbered from the Paſſover, were compleated, and the Feaſt of Weeks, Deut. 16. 10. was celebrated, that Feaſt falling that year on a Sunday; the Apoſtles were gather'd together to perform their religious Worſhip, in a Room which they had provided at Jeruſalem for that purpoſe. When all of a ſudden, they heard a great Sound in the Air, ſomething like the Noiſe of a ſtrong Blaſt of Wind, which brake into the Room where they were aſſembled. II. After this, there appeared in the Room ſeveral Lights or Flames of Fire, moving thro' the Air, which being broader towards the bottom, but towards the upper part dividing themſelves into two parts, which gradually leſſening, and at laſt terminating in a Point, reſembled, as it were, ſo many cloven Tongues. Theſe, after ſome time hovering in the Air, at laſt reſted one upon every one of the Apoſtles. This no ſooner was done, but immediately they perceived the Impulſe of the Holy-Ghoſt upon them, and they began to ſpeak readily in ſuch Languages which they had never learnt, and to utter ſuch things, and in ſuch a manner, as the Holy Spirit, which they were actuated by, gave them direction. III. Now there were abiding at Jeruſalem ſeveral foreign Jews, and Proſelytes of different Nations, who came to pay their Worſhip in this City, at theſe two great Feaſts of the year; who, among others, hearing the report of this wonderful Occurrence, came to the Place where the Apoſtles were, to be fully ſatisfied of the truth thereof. And finding the Relation to be juſt, they were under the greateſt degree of Surprize, to hear theſe illiterate Men ſpeaking ſo readily in ſo many different Languages. Are not (ſay they) theſe Men Galileans, who ſpeak even their own Country Language but after an unpolite and barbarous manner? therefore, how wonderfully ſtrange is it, that they ſhould ſpeak all the different Languages of our ſeveral Countries, as fluently as we that were born in them? For ſome of us come as far North as Parthia, others from among the Medes, and from the Province of Elymais in Perſia: Some of us live in Meſopotamia, and others in Judæa, who ſpeak a different Language from the Galileans: Some come from Pontus, and the moſt Northern part of Aſia Minor; ſome from Cappadocia, Phrygia, and Pamphilia, remote Provinces of the ſame, who all ſpeak either different Dialects of the Greek, or elſe about Cyrene, and ſtrangers of Rome, Jews and Proſelytes, Cretes and Arabians, we do hear them ſpeak in our tongues the wonderful works of God.

The GOSPEL. S. JOHN XIV. 15.

I. JEſus ſaid unto his diſciples, If ye love me keep my commandments. And I will pray the Father, and he ſhall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever; even the Spirit of truth, whom the world cannot receive, becauſe it ſeeth him not, neither knoweth him; but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and ſhall be in you. II. I will not leave you comfortleſs; I will come to you. Yet a little while, and the world ſeeth me no more; but ye ſee me: becauſe I live, ye ſhall live alſo. At that day ye ſhall know, that I am in my Father, and you in me, and I in you. He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me; and he that loveth me ſhall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifeſt my ſelf to him. III. Judas ſaith unto him, (not Iſcariot) Lord, how is it that thou wilt manifeſt thy ſelf unto us, and not unto the world? Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid unto him, If a man love me, he will keep my words: and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him. He that loveth me not, keepeth not my ſayings: and the word which you hear, is not mine; but the Fathers which ſent me. IV. Theſe things have I ſpoken unto you, being yet preſent with you. But the Comforter, which is the holy Ghoſt, whom the Father will ſend in my name, he ſhall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, whatſoever I have ſaid unto you. Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid. V. Ye have ſeveral Tongues: Some of us come from Ægypt, and from Libya Cyrenaica which lies beyond it: Some come from Rome, both natural born Jews, and Proſelytes; ſome come from the Iſland Crete, and others from Arabia, being all different in Language or Dialect; and yet we find theſe Men ſpeaking with readineſs to us in our own natural Language, and declaring to us moſt wonderful Actions, perform'd by the Divine Power, viz. the Miracles and Reſurrection of Jeſus Chriſt.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Joh. XIV. 15.

I. Our Bleſſed Lord continuing his Diſcourſe to his Diſciples, not long before his Paſſion, ſpake to them in ſuch like Words: You know, my dear Friends, that I being ſhortly to part from you, the Love which you bear to me will, perhaps, involve you in a great degree of Sorrow; But you will demonſtrate a greater ſhare of Affection towards me, in diligently obſerving the Commands which I have left with you, particularly that of Charity and mutual Love. And as to the matter of your Grief, I will ſhortly ſend the Holy Ghoſt, who ſhall be your Comforter in my ſtead, and ſhall not only continue with you for a ſhort time, as I have done, but ſhall make a continual Reſidence with you, by conſtantly inſpiring your Minds, whilſt you continue upon Earth, and by conveying ſpiritual Gifts to your Succeſſors in the Miniſtry. This is the true infallible Spirit of God, whom carnal and ſenſual Men, as long as they continue in that Condition, are not capable of receiving, or having any Notion of his Workings: But God has been pleaſed to give you a Senſe and Taſte of the admirable Effects of the bleſſed Spirit, by the many Miracles I have done before you; and ye ſhall ſhortly have a more perfect knowledge of his Divine Power, when he ſhall make his perſonal Deſcent upon you, and, by endowing you with continued Inſpirations, ſhall as it were dwell with you, and make you his Temples. II. But I will not leave you in the uncomfortable Condition of Children without a Parent; I will ſhortly come to you again, and ſettle matters ſo on your behalf, as may be to your intire Satisfaction. Indeed it is but a little while before I ſhall die and leave this World, no more to be ſeen by the Prophane Children of it; only I ſhall for ſome time be ſeen by, and converſe with you: For as I ſhall riſe again from the Dead, and ſhall be ſhortly afterwards exalted to a ſtate of everlaſting Happineſs; ſo ſhall I take care to advance you likewiſe to the ſame bliſsful ſtate of Immortal Life. For when you ſhall ſee me alive again after Death, it will be a demonſtrative Proof of the Religion which I have revealed unto you; and you ſhall be fully convinced by my Reſurrection and Aſcenſion into Heaven, That God the Father is united with me, and does co-operate with me; That you and all true Believers are made Members of the Body whereof I am Head; and That I am united to you, and all the other Members, who make up my myſtical Body the Church. For I muſt tell you, that not only you my immediate Diſciples, ſhall be rewarded in my Kingdom, for your Love ſhewn to me; but I ſhall ſet a value upon all faithful Perſons whatſoever, who ſhall obſerve the Rules of my Religion; for this I ſhall eſteem the greateſt degree of Love ſhewn to me, and will reward it with an Illumination of the Goſpel-Truths in this World, and with the Viſion of God in the next. III. Upon this, Judas (not the Iſcariot who was the Traytor, but) Thaddæus, the Brother of James, being full of the Notion of a Temporal Meſſias, made anſwer, That they could not bring their Minds to underſtand, how he could ſuſtain that glorious Character of the Meſſias who was to govern the World, and yet not be known to it, contenting himſelf only to be known to ſome poor obſcure Diſciples. Our Saviour replied to this Queſtion, That it was no great wonder he ſhould not manifeſt himſelf to the whole World, ſince God the Father made his Revelations, to thoſe Perſons who honoured him with the true Worſhip, not vouchſafing the ſame Favour to prophane Idolaters; and that in the ſame manner God the Father, and he himſelf, would bleſs ſome ſingular good Perſons with the Light and Benefit of the Goſpel; and that they would, as it were, dwell in them, by affording them plentiful Effuſions of the Holy Spirit. But indeed, ſays he, there is no reaſon that I ſhould afford this Favour to thoſe who diſclaim my Religion, which truly is not ſo much my Religion as my Father's, who ſent me to propagate it. IV. Theſe Words of Conſolation I have thought proper to leave with you, before I go from you, as I ſhortly ſhall. But you ſhall receive far greater Comforts, when the Comforter himſelf, who is the Holy Ghoſt, ſhall have deſcended from Heaven upon you: This Bleſſed Spirit, which ſhall continually reſt upon you, ſhall not only raiſe your dejected Minds, and excite your Hopes; but likewiſe ſhall inſpire into your Minds the Knowledg of all Truths, which are needful to be revealed to you, and ſhall re-call to your Memory thoſe holy Doctrines which I have been inſtructing you in, all the time of my Preaching. And now I muſt take my formal leave of you, in the common valedictory Phraſe, Peace, Peace, Farewel, Farewel: But I expreſs my ſelf ſomething more emphatically herein than uſual: I wiſh you Peace, I bequeath you Peace, and I hope nothing on your part will be an Obſtacle to it. And now I am going from you, I would not have you caſt down your ſelves with too great a degree of Sorrow, for the Loſs of Me your dear Maſter; neither fear, becauſe I ſhall leave you alone by your ſelves. V. But you would do well to recollect what I have frequently inculcated to you, that my Abſence from you will not be long; for a few days after my Death, you ſhall ſee me have heard how I ſaid unto you, I go away and come again unto you. If ye loved me, ye would rejoyce, becauſe I ſaid, I go unto the Father: for my Father is greater than I. And now I have told you before it come to paſs, that when it is come to paſs ye might believe. Hereafter I will not talk much with you: for the prince of this world cometh, and hath nothing in me. But that the world may know that I love the Father; and as the Father gave me commandment, even ſo I do.

THen Peter opened his mouth, and ſaid, Of a truth I perceive that God is no reſpecter of perſons; but in every nation he that feareth him, and worketh righteouſneſs, is accepted with him. The word which God ſent unto the Children of Iſrael, preaching peace by Jeſus Chriſt (he is Lord of all): That word, I ſay, you know, which was publiſhed throughout all Judea, and began from Galilee, after the baptiſm which John preached: How God anointed Jeſus of Nazareth with the holy Ghoſt and with Power, who went about doing good, and healing all that were oppreſſed of the Devil: for God was with him. II. And we are witneſſes of all things which he did, both in the land of the Jews, and in Jeruſalem; whom they ſlew and hanged on a tree: Him God raiſed up the third day, and ſhewed him openly; not to all the people, but unto witneſſes choſen before of God; even to us who did eat and drink with him after he roſe from the dead. And he commanded us to preach unto the people, and to teſtifie that it is he which was ordained of God to be the judge of quick and dead. III. To him give all the pro-

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Acts X. 34.

I. S. Peter being inſtructed, concerning the Lawfulneſs of preaching the Goſpel to the Gentiles, by his late Viſion; he expreſs'd himſelf in theſe Words: I am now ſufficiently ſatisfied, that God almighty does not bear a particular favour to one Perſon more than another, without regard had to the good Qualifications he may be endued with. But let a Man be of what Nation he will, if he ſerves God devoutly, and lives a ſober and religious Life, he is in favour with God, and ſhall not fail to partake of his Grace and Bleſſing. You cannot be perfect Strangers to the Doctrine which was a conſiderable time preached in Judea by Jeſus Chriſt, our true Meſſias and King; a Doctrine which was propagated through all parts of this Country, not long after the time wherein John preached and baptized: How that Almighty God gave teſtimony to the Miſſion of Jeſus Chriſt, by appointing the Holy Ghoſt viſibly to deſcend upon him, and veſting him with a power of doing moſt ſtupendous Miracles, which were withal of the moſt beneficial nature, curing Diſeaſes, and freeing Men from the poſſeſſion of evil Spirits, the Divine Power being continually preſent with him. II. Now we his Diſciples are conſtituted by God, authentick Witneſſes of the miraculous Actions which he perform'd in the Country of Judea, and in Jeruſalem the capital City thereof; tho theſe ungrateful Perſons, before whom, and for whoſe good he perform'd theſe great and beneficial Actions, put him to death by the moſt painful and ignominious Puniſhment of Crucifixion. But notwithſtanding this, he was by the energy of the Divine Power raiſed up to Life again, three days after his Crucifixion, and he ſhewed himſelf alive again to many Perſons: Not indeed to all the Jewiſh Multitude, but to ſeveral ſelect Perſons, whom God had appointed before for this great Work, when we were in an extraordinary manner called to be his Diſciples; receiving the moſt evident Demonſtration of the Truth of his Reſurrection, we not only many times converſing with him, but even eating and drinking with him after his Reſurrection; receiving Commiſſion from him to preach the Goſpel which he revealed, and to declare to the World, that he is the Meſſiah, and that he at the general Reſurrection is to be the Judge of all Perſons who are dead, and of thoſe who ſhall be alive at his Coming. III. Nor does the Truth of this great Affair depend only upon our Evidence; but the ancient Prophets likewiſe teſtify, That this extraordinary Perſon is the Meſſias that was to come into the World, his Character anſwering to their Deſcriptions of him; and That thoſe Perſons who believe on him, and embrace and practiſe his prophets witneſs, that through his Name whoſoever believeth in him, ſhall receive remiſſion of Sins. While Peter yet ſpake theſe words, the holy Ghoſt fell on all them who heard the word. And they of the circumiſion who believed, were aſtoniſhed, as many as came with Peter, becauſe that on the Gentiles alſo was poured out the Gift of the holy Ghoſt. For they heard them ſpeak with tongues, and magnify God. IV. Then anſwered Peter, Can any man forbid water, that theſe ſhould not be baptized, who have received the holy Ghoſt as well as we? And he commanded them to be baptized in the Name of the Lord. Then prayed they him to tarry certain days.

The GOSPEL. S. John III. 16.

I. GOd ſo loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whoſoever believeth in him, ſhould not periſh, but have everlaſting life. For God ſent not his Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world through him might be ſaved. II. He that believeth on him, is not condemned: but he that believeth not is condemned already, becauſe he hath not believed in the Name of the only begotten Son of God. And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the World, and Men loved darkneſs rather than light, becauſe their deeds were evil. III. For every one that doth evil, hateth the light, neither cometh to the light, leſt his deeds ſhould be reproved. But he that doth truth cometh to the light, that his deeds may be made manifeſt, that they are wrought in God.

The COLLECT.

GOd who as at this time didſt teach the hearts of thy faithful people, by the ſending to them the light of thy holy Spirit; Grant us by the ſame Spirit to have a right judgement in all things, and evermore to rejoyce in his holy his Doctrine, ſhou'd have their Sins forgiven them, and be Partakers of thoſe Glories in another World which he has promiſed. Before S. Peter had made an end of this Speech, the Holy Ghoſt deſcended upon thoſe that were Hearers of him, affording them the miraculous Power of ſpeaking ſtrange Languages which they had never learnt, tho' many of them were Gentiles. This occaſion'd no ſmall degree of Surprize to the believing Jews, who were preſent with S. Peter; not in the leaſt expecting that ſo great a ſhare of the Divine Favour, ſhould be conferr'd on thoſe who were never bleſſed with any thing of the like Revelation before. But there was no denying the truth of this now, ſince they plainly ſaw, that they were veſted with the Gift of Tongues, as well as thoſe Believers who were Jews; for they heard them praiſe God for this miraculous Favour vouchſafed, in the different Languages wherewith they were inſpired. IV. Upon this, S. Peter renewed his Diſcourſe, after ſome pauſing to obſerve the miraculous Occurrence, and ſaid, What reaſon is there, that theſe Gentile Converts ſhould not be baptized, ſince God Almighty has conferred upon them the miraculous Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt, which is ſomething greater than Baptiſm, and who, as to that particular, ſtand upon a level with us, as being veſted with the ſame Powers which are the Credentials of our Miſſion. With that he gave order that they ſhould be baptized in the Name of Jeſus Chriſt, by the initiatory Rite of his Religion. After this, Cornelius, and the Company who were with him, deſired S. Peter to continue in that Houſe as a Gueſt, ſome few days; with which Requeſt the Apoſtle complied.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. John III. 16.

I. Almighty God has demonſtrated ſo great an Affection to Mankind, that he has ſent his own eternal Son to take upon him our Nature, to the end that every one who believeth that he is ſent by God, and practiſes his Commands, ſhall eſcape the Miſeries of eternal Death, and alſo partake of the Glories of a bleſſed Immortality. For God has been ſo good and gracious, not to ſend his Son into the World to take Vengeance upon Men, for their Diſobedience to, and Contempt of, his Laws, as they had but too juſt reaſon to fear; but to perſuade them to take proper Courſes to avoid their everlaſting Ruin, and to lay hold on the Terms of everlaſting Salvation, which are reached out to them by the Goſpel which he preaches. II. For he that believeth on me the Son of God, and diligently obſerveth my Precepts, ſhall avoid the everlaſting Condemnation which wicked Unbelievers muſt ſuffer: But thoſe who do not believe on me, when I have revealed my ſelf to them, are as much out of a ſtate of Salvation, as if they were already damned; becauſe they have rejected the ſole Means of their Salvation, which could be obtained only by the Manifeſtation of me the only Son of God. For indeed this will be an unpardonable Aggravation of their Guilt, that having ſuch clear Demonſtrations of the truth of my Divine Miſſion, they wou'd obſtinately ſhut their Eyes againſt the Light of ſo manifeſt a Truth; ſhewing an oppoſition and hatred to my Doctrine, for no other reaſon than becauſe it reproved their ill Actions, which they were reſolved not to amend. III. For Men's Vices naturally diſpoſe them to hate that Doctrine which is oppoſite to their beloved Sins; for if they ſhould embrace a Religion, which is contrary to the Vices that they are bent to proſecute, their Practice would give the Lie to their Profeſſion, and bring them under ſuch a Reproach as they could not endure. But on the contrary, a Perſon who is already good and pious, or one who is reſolved to forſake his Sins, and to enter upon a better courſe of Life, is of a teachable Temper, and ready to embrace the Truth when it is fairly laid before him; he is not afraid of having his Actions judged by that Rule, which he is willing to ſquare them by; and is content to let all the World ſee that both his Belief and Practice are agreeable to that Law, which God hath preſcribed him.

For the EPISTLE. Acts VIII. 14.

I. WHen the Apoſtles who were at Jeruſalem, heard that Samaria had received the word of God, they ſent unto them Peter and John; who when they were come down, prayed for them, that they might receive the holy Ghoſt. II. (For as yet he was fallen upon none of them, onely they were baptized in the name of the Lord Jeſus) Then laid they their hands on them, and they received the holy Ghoſt.

The GOSPEL. S. John X. 1.

I. VErily, verily I ſay unto you, He that entreth not by the door into the ſheepfold, but climbeth up ſome other way, the ſame is a Thief and a Robber. But he that entreth in by the door, is the ſhepherd of the ſheep. To him the porter openeth; and the ſheep hear his voice, and he calleth his ſheep by name, and leadeth them out. II. And when he putteth forth his own ſheep, he goeth before them, and the ſheep follow him; for they know his voice. And a ſtranger will they not follow; but will flee from him, for they know not the voice of ſtrangers. This Parable ſpake Jeſus unto them: but they underſtood not what things they were which he ſpake unto them. III. Then ſaid Jeſus unto them again; Verily, verily I ſay unto you, I am the door of the ſheep. All that ever came before me are thieves and Robbers; but the ſheep did not hear them. I am the door; by me if any man enter in, he ſhall be ſaved, and ſhall go in and out, and find paſture. The thief cometh not but for to ſteal, and to kill, and to deſtroy: I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly.

ſtles and firſt Chriſtians, by the deſcent of the Holy Ghoſt upon them; we beſeech thee to afford us ſuch Influences of the ſame Spirit, as may guide us into all Truth, John 16. 13. neceſſary for our Salvation, and to give us the Joy of the Holy Ghoſt, Rom. 14. 14. that we may always rejoice in his holy Comfort, thro' the Merits of Jeſus Chriſt our Saviour. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Acts VIII. 14.

I. The Apoſtles who ſtill reſided at Jeruſalem, hearing that there was a conſiderable advance of Chriſtianity made in Samaria, they diſpatched Peter and John, two of their own Order, to take a Journey into that Country, to confirm them in their new-received Faith. Who, when they were come thither, put up their earneſt Prayers to God, that they might receive the Gift of the Holy Ghoſt, as well as other Chriſtians before at Jeruſalem had done. III. For as yet they had not partaken of that extraordinary Grace, they only having been baptized in the Name of our Bleſſed Lord by Philip the Deacon, who was not veſted with a Power to confer that ſupernatural Gift. And upon their laying their Hands upon the New-Converts, they received the Graces of the Holy Spirit, all of them in ſuch a competent degree, as enabled them with Readineſs and Courage to profeſs and perform the Precepts of their Religion, and ſome of them being thereby veſted with ſuch miraculous Powers as qualify'd them to propagate the Goſpel among others.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. John X. 1.

I. Our Saviour having ſufficiently irritated the Phariſees, by having cured the Blind Man, who vouched the Reality of his Cure to their very Faces; upon this he upbraided them with their obſtinate Incredulity, whilſt they, on the other ſide, perſiſted to accuſe him of being a Seducer, and as pretending only to do Miracles by ſome Slight, or Artifice, which they were not appriſed of; therefore he directed his Diſcourſe to them after this manner: I am confident (ſays he) that you never ſee the Shepherd of a Flock go into his Fold, or Yard where he keeps his Sheep, any other Way than by the Door which leads into it; if you ſee a Man climbing over the Walls to get in, you may reaſonably ſuppoſe that that Perſon is one who comes to ſteal the Sheep, and not to feed them. The true Shepherd goes directly to the Door of the Fold, and knocks to come in; and his Servant, aſſoon as he hears him, opens the Door for him, and lets him in: The Sheep are eaſie, whilſt he is among them, looking over them, and counting them, and leading them out to Water or Paſture. II. And in the Morning, when he leads them out of the Fold which they are kept in during the Night, the Sheep very readily follow him; which is more than they will do to a Stranger, whoſe Voice they are unacquainted with; for when they hear ſuch an one's Voice calling them together, in ſtead of following, they in a great fright run away from him. Our Saviour, ſpeaking to the Phariſees in this Parabolical manner, they ſaid, That they were not ſufficiently appriſed of the Drift of his Diſcourſe; and that he muſt ſpeak plainer to them, if he would have them underſtand his Meaning. III. Our Saviour proceeded to ſay, That ſince they would have him declare himſelf more fully upon this Head, he would illuſtrate the former Parable by another; That he was not only the Shepherd of the Fold, but the Door of it likewiſe, by which every Sheep that would be in a ſafe Condition muſt enter. There have indeed been ſeveral Perſons who have laid claim, to this Character of the Meſſias which I ſuſtain, ſuch as Theudas, and Judas Gaulonites, but they were not the true Shepherds of Iſrael, nor did the generality of the People hearken to their Call, as they either have done, or ſhall do, to mine; and as to thoſe few that follow'd them, they were ſo far from feeding and ſecuring them, as good Shepherds ought to do, that by an Inſurrection which they engaged them in, expoſed them to have their Throats cut. And ſince I have reſembled myſelf to a Door, I muſt tell you further, That every one who expects Eternal Happineſs, muſt make his Entry into it through this Door, and embrace the Religion which I preach: The Sheep which paſs through this Door ſhall have Paſture to their hearts deſire, for my Religion entitles my Followers to Rewards which are unſpeakable. Thieves come only to deſtroy the Flock, and Seducers have an aim only in making an Advantage upon thoſe whom they miſlead by their falſe Doctrines; but as I receive no Advantage by the Doctrine I preach, ſo I am ſo far from deſtroying the Lives of my Followers, that my Buſineſs is, to ſecure them a Life in another World, and that an Immortal one too.

I. AFter this I looked, and behold a door was opened in heaven: and the firſt voice which I heard, was as it were of a trumpet talking with me; which ſaid, Come up hither, and I will ſhew thee things which muſt be hereafter. And immediately I was in the Spirit; and behold, a throne was ſet in heaven, and one ſat on the throne, and he that ſat, was, to look upon, like a jaſper, and a ſardine ſtone: and there was a rainbow round about the throne, in ſight like unto an emerald. And round about the throne were four and twenty ſeats; and upon the ſeats I ſaw four and twenty elders ſitting, clothed in white raiment; and they had on their heads crowns of gold. II. And out of the throne proceeded lightnings, and thundrings, and voices. And there were ſeven lamps of fire burning before the throne, which are the ſeven ſpirits of God. And before the throne there was a ſea of glaſs like unto cryſtal: and in the midſt of the throne, and round about the throne were four beaſts full of eyes before and behind. And the firſt beaſt was like a lion, and the ſecond beaſt like a calf, and the third beaſt had a face as a man, and the fourth beaſt

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Rev. IV. 1.

I. Not long after this, I had another Viſion, and methoughts I was in Heaven, where there was a Door opened into a more retired and principal part thereof, out of which I heard a very ſtrong Voice like the Sound of a Trumpet, which directing itſelf unto me, bid me come up to the Place from whence the Voice came, and there ſhould be declared unto me many very remarkable Events relating to the future Eſtate of the Church. Upon this, I was rapt up in a greater Ecſtaſy of the Spirit, and there was repreſented to me an Appearance of the Great God, ſitting as it were upon a Throne, ſhining and ſparkling all about him like a radiant Gem, darting forth various Colours like the Jaſper, and red and fiery like the Sardine-Stone. The Throne whereon he ſat was encircled by an Arch ſomething like a Rainbow, or one made of Emerald. Round about the Imperial Throne were ſeveral other leſſer Chairs of State, whereon were placed four and twenty Perſons of Senatorial Gravity, arrayed in Robes of White, and having Golden-Crowns upon their Heads. II. From this Throne proceeded Lightning and Thunder, and a mighty Noiſe, repreſenting the fearful Juſtice of God. Before the Throne, hung down ſeven burning-Lamps, repreſenting the ſeven principal Angels, who frequently appeared in a lucid Figure. There was likewiſe before the Throne a great Sea or Baſin of Glaſs, like that in the Temple, 1 King. 7. 23. 2 Chron. 4. 2. but however, not like that made of opaque Metal, as that Brazen one was, but of pellucid Cryſtal, to denote the Clearneſs of the Chriſtian Revelation. In the middle, between the Elders Seats and the Throne, ſtood in a Circle four Animals of a very ſtrange make, having Eyes in all Parts of their Body; to denote the vigilant Providence of God, and the extraordinary Carefulneſs of thoſe Angelical Miniſters, whom he is pleaſed to employ for their Benefit. One of theſe Animals had the Reſemblance of a Lion; to repreſent the Power and Terror of the Divine Juſtice: Another reſembled an Ox, or Calf, which is a Beaſt ſlow in going; to denote the Divine Mercy, or ſlowneſs to puniſh: Another was like a Man, who is a ſociable Creature; to repreſent the Goodneſs and Kindneſs of God: And the laſt was like an Eagle, a clear-ſighted Creature; to ſhew forth how perſpicacious God is to obſerve all our Actions. Theſe Animals had each of them ſix Wings, which wrapped them round, for the haſtning their flight upon the Meſſages whereon they were ſent, having Eyes all about them, to denote their Vigilancy for Mens Good; and their Employ is continually to ſing Hymns to God, crying out, "Holy, "three times repeated, (and addreſſed to each Perſon of the Ever- "bleſſed Trinity;) O thou Almighty God, who from all Eternity "were, beaſt was like a flying eagle. And the four beaſts had each of them ſix wings about him, and they were full of eyes within, and they reſt not day and night, ſaying, Holy, holy, holy, Lord God Almighty, who was, and is, and is to come. III. And when thoſe beaſts give glory, and honour, and thanks to him that ſat on the throne, who liveth for ever and ever, the four and twenty elders fall down before him that ſat on the throne, and worſhip him that liveth for ever and ever, and caſt their crowns before the throne, ſaying, Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory, and honour, and power; for thou haſt created all things, and for thy pleaſure they are and were created.

The GOSPEL. S. JOHN III. 1.

I. THere was a man of the Phariſees, named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews. The ſame came to Jeſus by night, and ſaid unto him, Rabbi, we know that thou art a teacher come from God: For no man can do theſe miracles that thou doeſt, except God be with him. II. Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto him, Verily, verily I ſay unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot ſee the kingdom of God. Nicodemus ſaith unto him, How can a man be born when he is old? can he enter the ſecond time into his mother's womb, and be born? III. Jeſus anſwered, Verily, verily I ſay unto thee, Except a man be born of water, and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God. That which is born of the fleſh, is fleſh; and that which is born of the Spirit is Spirit. Marvel not that I ſaid unto thee, Ye muſt be born again. The Wind bloweth where it liſteth, and thou heareſt the ſound thereof; but canſt not tell whence it cometh, and whither it goeth; ſo is every one that is born of the Spirit. Nicodemus anſwered and ſaid unto him; How can theſe things be? IV. Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto him, Art thou a Maſter of Iſrael, and knoweſt not theſe things? Verily, verily I ſay unto thee, We ſpeak that we do know, and teſtifie that we have ſeen, and ye receive not our witneſs. If I have told you earthly

" wer't, who now art, and ſhalt to all Eternity continue. III. And at the ſame time that theſe Animals pay their Adorations to the Deity, who was repreſented as a Perſon ſitting on this Majeſtick Throne, the Elders riſe up from their Seats, and proſtrate themſelves in the moſt ſubmiſſive degree of Adoration, before the Throne, caſting down their Crowns, and worſhiping the Eternal God, in a Doxology to this effect: " All Glory, Honour and " Power are deſervedly aſcribed to thee, O Lord; for thou art the " Origine of all Beings, which did not flow from thee, as from a " Neceſſary Cauſe; but thou, to communicate thy Goodneſs, " didſt of thy Free-will and Good-pleaſure raiſe them up out of " nothing.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. John III. 1.

I. There was a certain Perſon, called, in Syriack, Nicdimmon, which being tranſlated into a Greek Name of the like ſound, is rendred Nicodemus; a Man of the Sect of the Phariſees, an Order of Men among the Jews, who pretended to a ſtricter Piety, and to a nicer Obſervation of all the Punctilio's of the Moſaical Written Law, and Oral Traditions among them, than other Men; being alſo a Member of the Sanhedrim, or Jewiſh Eccleſiaſtical Synod. This Perſon, to avoid a Reflexion on himſelf, upon being taken notice of by his Brethren the Phariſees, for converſing with our Saviour, whom they had conceiv'd a great Diſguſt againſt, came privately to him by night to ask him ſome Queſtions, which he had a mind to be reſolv'd of by him, particularly concerning the Kingdom of God, which he had heard that in his Sermons he had preached up. And having thus gained an opportunity of privately ſeeing him, he acccoſts him in this manner: Sir, (ſays he) I am fully convinced, by the many Miracles which I have heard inconteſtably proved to be done by you, that you are a great Prophet, whoſe Miſſion, God by his Omnipotent Authority, does countenance; now I deſire to know the Methods of purchaſing a Share in this Kingdom of God, which you ſpeak of. II. Our Saviour only return'd him this ſhort Anſwer; No Man can pretend to any Title of entring into this Kingdom, unleſs he be born again. Nicodemus not underſtanding the meaning of this figurative Expreſſion, replied in a ſomewhat ſcornful manner; I, whoſe Age entitles me to be one of the Fathers of the Sanhedrim, am a little too old to think of being born as a Child is: How ſhould theſe full-grown Limbs ever be able to enter into a Mother's Belly to be born again? III. Our Saviour then told him, That he took his Words in too groſs a meaning; That he ought to underſtand this of the Spiritual Regeneration of Baptiſm, which conſiſted not only of a bare Waſhing by Water, the Outward Sign thereof, but likewiſe of an Inward Inviſible Grace of God's Holy Spirit attending it: Now this Spiritual Waſhing, or Holy Rite of Baptiſm, duly adminiſtred, is the proper Method of Entring into this Kingdom of God, which you are enquiring about: This is what I call, Being born again; but that muſt be taken in a Spiritual way. For every thing produces ſomething of its own Kind, and like itſelf: Animals, and all Corporeal and Vital Subſtances, produce Corporeal Subſtances like themſelves; therefore you may expect, that what is produced by the Holy Spirit, muſt be likewiſe of a Spiritual Nature; but you muſt not think, that that which is born of the Spirit, muſt anſwer in all Points to Carnal Births. And now I have thus explained my Meaning, you have no reaſon to think that there is ſuch Abſurdity in my Words, in ſaying, That no Man could pretend to any Title of Entring into the Kingdom of Heaven, unleſs he were born again This Spiritual Birth, that goes along with the Outward Waſhing of Baptiſm, I find you are backward to underſtand and credit, for no other reaſon, but becauſe you do not ſee it with your Eyes: But yet there are ſeveral other Exiſtences and Effects of Nature, which you do not ſee, and yet you cannot disbelieve. As for Inſtance, the Wind, that blows ſometimes from this, and ſometimes from another Quarter; this, though we cannot ſee, yet we know to be there. In like manner is the Spiritual Birth; we can feel the Effects of it, tho' we cannot ſee the Workings thereof, nor by what Methods it proceeds. Nicodemus replied, That he could not have any juſt Notion of theſe Matters. IV. How! (ſays our Saviour) Are you a famous Jewiſh Doctor, bred up in the Theological Schools, and have not learn'd yet, what is taught by the Prophets, particularly concerning the creating a New Heart for Men, in the Times of the Meſſias? Ezek. 36. 25. It is no Argument againſt this Operation of the Spirit in Mens Hearts, becauſe you do not underſtand it; but I, who underſtand God's great Deſigns which he has to bring about by this, know it to be true, and do aſſure you of the Truth thereof; notwithſtanding you, and many of your Country-men the Jews, will not credit what I ſay upon this Head: But ſince ye are ſo difficult to believe what I tell you, concerning the ordinary and external Parts of Religion, ſuch as Baptiſm is; how will your Faith be ſhock'd, to tell you of the ſublime and myſterious Parts of the Goſpel? Theſe things are to be learnt only from one who has converſed in Heaven, as I have, having now a Being earthly things, and ye believe not; how ſhall ye believe if I tell you of heavenly things? And no man hath aſcended up to heaven, but he that came down from heaven, even the Son of man, who is in heaven. And as Moſes lifted up the ſerpent in the wilderneſs: even ſo muſt the Son of man be lifted up; that whoſoever believeth in him, ſhould not periſh, but have eternal life.

For the EPISTLE. 1 S. JOHN IV.

I. BEloved, let us love one another, for love is of God, and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God. He that loveth not, knoweth not God; for God is love. In this was manifeſted the love of God towards us, becauſe that God ſent his only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through him. Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and ſent his Son to be the propitiation for our ſins. II. Beloved, if God ſo loved us, we ought alſo to love one another. No man hath ſeen God at any time. If we love one another, God dwelleth in us, and his love is perfected in us. Hereby know we that we dwell in him, and he in us, becauſe he hath given us of his Spirit. And we have ſeen and do teſtifie, that the Father ſent the Son to be the Saviour of the world.

O God, who art a Buckler to all that truſt in thee, 2 King. 18. 20. mercifully receive our Prayers which we, in this Congreation aſſembled, put up to thee: And becauſe through the Frailty of our Human Nature, we are not able to do any good without thy Divine Aſſiſtance, we beſeech thee to grant us ſuch a plentiful meaſure of thy Grace, as may enable us to pleaſe thee by an uniform Obedience to all thy Commands; not only by abſtaining from all ill Actions, and doing all the good we can, but by avoiding all unlawful Thoughts and Deſires. And this we ask, for the ſake of Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. 1 S. John iv.

I. My dear Brethren, I cannot too often recommend to you, the great Chriſtian Duty of Charity, and mutual Love; for this is a ſingular Grace which God inſpires into good Mens Hearts, which whoſoever is endowed with, it is a certain ſign that he is a true Child of God, and one that knows God as he ought to do, having then a true ſenſe of Religion upon his Mind. For let Men talk what they will, of knowing God, and being acquainted with him; if they bear not a hearty Charity to their Neighbour, they do not know him: For God Almighty's principal Attribute, which he is chiefly diſcover'd by, is Love. And of this he has given us the cleareſt Demonſtration, having ſent his own Eternal Son out of his Boſom into this World, to die for the Sins of us Men, that thereby he might procure for us a Life of endleſs Happineſs. Here is an unparallell'd Degree of Love! that God, not being moved by any previous Love of ours to him, which is wont to engage Affection, he ſhould love us of his own free Goodneſs; nay, when we had highly diſoblig'd him by our Sins, that he ſhould cauſe his own Son to die for us, that we might eſcape the Puniſhment which we had deſerved. II. Now, my dear Brethren, I will draw one very juſt Concluſion from this Conſideration, which is this, That, ſince God has ſhewed ſo great a degree of Love to us, when we were Enemies to him, we ought moſt certainly to love our Chriſtian Brethren. Love is chiefly engaged by mutual View and Converſe: Now whereas God is inviſible, our Affections cannot be wrought up to ſo high a degree of Love as his Excellence deſerves; therefore our Love which is due to him, ought to be ſhewn towards our Brethren. And if we love our Brethren, tho' God be inviſible, he then will be preſent to us; and our Charity will be rendred the moſt conſummate, becauſe thereby we imitate and copy out the Divine Love. Now in this Particular, we the Apoſtles have very good reaſon to think that we are intimately united to God, and in favour with him, when we are conſcious that we are Maſters of that moſt admirable Chriſtian Vertue of Charity, which is ſo eminent a Grace and Gift of God's Holy Spirit. We have been Eye-Witneſſes of our Lord's Converſing here upon Earth, being infallibly aſſured that he was ſent by God, to be the Saviour of the World; and do not ſtick at any Danger or Difficulty, in declaring this to all Perſons. Nay, as for any other Perſon that ſhall believe in Jeſus Chriſt, and diligently obſerve his Commands, God Almighty ſhall dwell in him likewiſe, and ſhall take him into his Grace and Favour. We who have had the honour of Converſing ſo long with our Saviour upon Earth, have had frequent Opportunities of reflecting upon, and experiencing, the great Love God bears to Mankind, in Redeeming world. Whoſoever ſhall confeſs that Jeſus is the Son of God, God dwelleth in him, and he in God. And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love, dwelleth in God, and God in him. III. Herein is our love made perfect, that we may have boldneſs in the day of judgment; becauſe as he is, ſo are we in this world. There is no fear in love, but perfect love caſteth out fear; becauſe fear hath torment: He that feareth, is not made perfect in love. We love him, becauſe he firſt loved us. If a man ſay, I love God, and hateth his brother, he is a liar: for he that loveth not his brother, whom he hath ſeen, how can he love God, whom he hath not ſeen? And this commandment have we from him, that he who loveth God, love his brother alſo.

The GOSPEL. S. LUKE XVI. 19.

I. THere was a certain rich man, who was clothed in purple, and fine linen, and fared ſumptuouſly every day. And there was a certain begger named Lazarus, who was laid at his gate full of ſores; and deſiring to be fed with the crumbs, which fell from the rich mans table: moreover the dogs came and licked his ſores. II. And it came to paſs that the begger died, and was carried by the angels into Abraham's boſom: the rich man alſo died and was buried. And in hell he lift up his eies being in torments, and ſeeth Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his boſom. And he cried, and ſaid, Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and ſend Lazarus that he may dip the tip of his finger in water, and cool my tongue, for I am tormented in this flame. III. But Abraham ſaid, Son, remember, that thou in thy life time receivedſt thy good things, and likewiſe Lazarus evil things: but now he is comforted, and thou art tormented. And beſides all this, between us and you there is a great gulf fixed: ſo that they who would paſs from hence to you, cannot; neither can they paſs to us, that would come from thence. IV. Then he ſaid, I pray thee therefore, father, that thou wouldeſt ſend him to my fathers houſe: For deeming them by his Son. Now, as I obſerved before, God Almighty's chief Attribute, nay, his very Eſſence, is Love; and he that is eminent for this divine Grace, is cloſely united to God. III. Now the moſt conſummate Degree of Chriſtian Charity, is, a fearleſs Reſolution to Preach the Goſpel, for the Good of Mens Souls, notwithſtanding the Danger of being call'd before Tribunals for it, when we imitate the Divine Goodneſs, and follow the Example of our Great Maſter Chriſt, whilſt he was upon Earth. Such a true genuine Charity as I here ſpeak of, is incompatible with Fear; for Fear vaniſhes, whenever Charity is wrought up to this height. For whereſoever there is any degree of Fear, there is Pain and Anxiety; which the heroick degree of Chriſtian Love, that emboldens Men to run through all Dangers, for the ſake of Propagating the Goſpel, knows nothing of: For if any one is afraid of Suffering for Religion, he is not arriv'd to th Perfection of Chriſtian Love. Now it is a great Inducement for us to endure any Perſecutions for God's ſake, who has diſcover'd ſo great a degree of Love to us, as to ſuffer his Son to die for us; and to chuſe us, out of the reſt of the World, to be his Inſtruments in the Propagation of the Goſpel. He that pretends to be a Lover of God, and yet is void of Chriſtian Charity, gives the Lye to himſelf, his Practice being contrary to his Profeſſion; the Love of our Neighbour, being a part of our Duty and Love to God, he having ſo ſtrictly commanded this Duty: Beſides, it is not reaſonable to think, that a Man can love an Inviſible Being, who is not ſubject to any of his Senſes, which are wont to be the greateſt Attractives of Love, and can bear a Hatred to his fellow-Creature, whom he every Day ſees, and knows him to be the Work of that God whom he pretends to love. In a word, If our Love to God be ſincere, we muſt take care not to diſobey him; becauſe Men readily fulfil the Commands of thoſe whom they love: Now God has commanded us, Not only to love Him, but our Brother likewiſe.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Luke XVI. 19.

I. Our Bleſſed Lord, willing to ſhew his Diſciples, that the Poſſeſſion of great Riches, did not contribute to Mens final Happineſs, and that the beſt Uſe which could be made of them, was Liberality to the Poor; he illuſtrated the Truth of theſe Aphoriſms, by the following Parable, or Apologue. There were two Perſons, whoſe Fortunes in this World had placed them in Conditions of Life vaſtly different from each other. One lived with all the Delicacy which a ſtudied Luxury could afford. And the other, whoſe Name was Lazarus, was depreſſed to the loweſt degree of Poverty, forced to ſuſtain himſelf by Food which he begg'd from Door to Door, carrying about him likewiſe a diſeaſed Body full of Ulcers. This Perſon was wont to lie along at the foreſaid Rich-Man's Door, begging a few Scraps which remain'd, after he and his Servants had plentifully eaten, and which ſometimes were unmercifully denied him, and ſuffered to be rather eaten by the Dogs, than by the Poor-Man; who nevertheleſs were often-times more charitable to him, than his Fellow-Creatures within that great Houſe; for tho' he was ſuffered hungry to go away without Relief, yet they, by licking his Sores, gave him ſome Eaſe. II. Now it happened, that both theſe Perſons ſhortly after died: The Poor-Man, Lazarus, was conveyed by Angels to that Region of Happineſs where good Mens Souls enjoy the more eſpecial Preſence of God, with Abraham, and all the good old Patriarchs, expecting hereafter a joyful Reſurrection of their Bodies: The Rich-Man's Body being pompouſly interred, his Soul was hurried away to a Place of Miſery and Torment. From this Place, he had a Sight afforded him of the heavenly Happineſs, where he diſcovered his Progenitor Abraham, ſurrounded with inexpreſſible Glory, and the late poor Lazarus, whom he was wont ſo to deſpiſe, next in Honour and Happineſs to him in that glorious Place. Therefore he made this Addreſs to Abraham; I beſeech you, O my great Fore-Father, to be touched with a tender Compaſſion of me your Off-ſpring, who am doomed to this intolerable State, and to ſend Lazarus, whom I obſerve to be near you, upon ſo charitable an Office, as to procure me a little Water, to afford me a ſhort Eaſe, in allaying my Thirſt, and in cooling the Heat which I feel in thoſe Flames, which I am condemned to continue in. III. Abraham returned this Anſwer: Your Requeſt, O my Son, is but in vain; for this is the time of the ballancing, and ſetting even of God's Providential Diſpenſations: You, in your Life-time, have, tho' very undeſervedly, had your Share of the Good-Things of the World, rolling in an Affluence of Delights and Pleaſures; whilſt Lazarus, though a Good-Man, was deſtitute of the Neceſſaries of Life; and now indeed the Scene is altered, he is in a State of Bliſs, and you of Miſery: Beſides, there is a vaſt Abyſs between the Seat of the Bleſſed, where we are, and the Place of the Damned, that you are in; and this cuts off all Intercourſe between us and you. IV. But however, Father, replied the Rich-Man, if you cannot come near us, I am ſatisfy'd, that you can hold, if you pleaſe, a

For I have five brethren; that he may teſtifie unto them, leſt they alſo come into this place of torment. Abraham ſaith unto him, They have Moſes and the prophets; let them hear them. And he ſaid, Nay, father Abraham; but if one went unto them from the dead, they will repent. And he ſaid unto him, If they hear not Moſes and the prophets, neither will they be perſwaded, though one roſe from the dead.

The EPISTLE. 1 S. JOHN III. 13.

I. MArvel not, my brethren, if the world hate you. We know that we have paſſed from death unto life, becauſe we love the brethren: He that loveth not his brother, abideth in death. Whoſoever hateth his brother, is a murderer; and ye know that no murderer hath eternal life abiding in him. II. Hereby perceive we the love of God, becauſe he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren. But whoſo hath this worlds good, and ſeeth his brother hath need, and ſhutteth up his bowels of compaſſion from him; how dwelleth the love of God in him? My little children, let us not love in word, neither in tongue; but in deed, and in truth. And hereby we know that we are of Communication with the Inhabitants of the Earth, and therefore I requeſt of you one charitable Favour, and that is, to ſend Lazarus to the Houſe which belongs to our Family, and to warn my five Brethren, who live in a very diſſolute Courſe, to amend their Lives, that they may avoid thoſe intolerable Torments which I ſuffer, and which otherwiſe will be their Doom. Abraham made Anſwer, That the beſt way to ſecure their Salvation, was, to obey the Rules and Precepts laid down in the Writings of Moſes and the Prophets. Yes, (replies the Rich-man,) I confeſs they have theſe Rules of Life before them, but they are not ſo thoroughly-affected by them as they ought, the Ordinarineſs of the Means wearing off the Regard which is due to them; but if they had ſuch an extraordinary Monitor ſent them, as a dead Man riſing from his Grave, this would ſcare them into Repentance, whether they would or no. But to make an end of all, (ſays Abraham,) I muſt tell you plainly, That thoſe Men who have brought their Minds to ſuch a Hardneſs, as to ſtand Proof againſt the Admonitions and Warnings of the Holy Scriptures, would lend as deaf an Ear to all that ſhould be ſaid by a Meſſenger diſpatch'd from the Dead, who could ſay no other things than what they have done.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. S. John III. 13.

I. It ought not to be any great matter of Surprize to you, that you are hated and ill-uſed by the Men of this World. It ought to be rather a great Comfort to us, that we have better Expectations in another World; having good hopes that we ſhall eſcape Eternal Death, which is the Doom of wicked Perſons, and that we ſhall enjoy Eternal Happineſs in Heaven; it being a very good Token, that we are God's Children, upon whom theſe Bleſſings are entailed, becauſe we have Hearts full of Charity to our Brother. For he who has not this Grace, and does not do all the good Offices, which it lies in his power to do, for his Brother, has no Right to Eternal Life, but is ſtill under the Power of Eternal Death. But what ſhall we ſay of that Man, who is ſo far from loving his Brother, and doing him good-Offices, that he hates him, and does him all the Miſchief which he can? Why, I ſay, ſuch an one is a Murderer, and, tho' he does not commit the Crime in Act, yet he does it in Will; wiſhing his Neighbour's Death, tho' he does not care himſelf to compaſs it. Now 'tis certain, that Murderers ſhall not be admitted into Eternal Life, by the Law of Jeſus Chriſt, when they are not to be ſuffered to continue in this Life, even by the Law of Moſes. II. We are ſufficiently ſatisfied of the great Love of God the Son, our Bleſſed Saviour, to us, in his laying down his Life for our ſakes. Therefore the only ſuitable Return that we can make to him, for ſo unparallell'd a degree of Love, is, to ſhew our Love to our Brethren, and to venture our Lives, whenever Occaſion requires, for their Good. But however, if any Perſon be bleſſed with a plentiful Income, and ſhall obſerve his Brother to want the neceſſary Conveniencies of Life, and nevertheleſs refuſe to aſſiſt him in thoſe Extremities, how can ſuch an one be ſaid to have that Love and Charity which God requires? I beſeech you, my dear Children in Chriſt, do not let it content you, to talk only of Charity, without exerting any thing thereof in your Actions; but to the utmoſt of your power, let your Deeds teſtifie, what with your Mouths you profeſs. For the doing ſuch charitable Actions, is a very good ſign that we belong of the truth, and ſhall aſſure our hearts before him. For if our heart condemn us, God is greater than our heart, and knoweth all things. III. Beloved, if our heart condemn us not, then have we confidence towards God. And whatſoever we ask, we receive of him, becauſe we keep his commandments, and do thoſe things that are pleaſing in his ſight. And this is his commandment, that we ſhould believe on the Name of his Son Jeſus Chriſt, and love one another as he gave us commandment. And he that keepeth his commandments dwelleth in him, and he in him: and hereby we know that he abideth in us, by the Spirit which he hath given us.

The GOSPEL. S. LUKE XIV. 16.

I. A Certain man made a great ſupper, and bade many, and ſent his ſervant at ſupper time to ſay to them that were bidden, Come, for all things are now ready. And they all with one conſent began to make excuſe: II. The firſt ſaid unto him, I have bought a piece of ground, and I muſt needs go and ſee it; I pray thee have me excuſed. And another ſaid, I have bought five yoke of oxen, and I go to prove them; I pray thee have me excuſed. And another ſaid, I have married a wife, and therefore I cannot come. So that ſervant came, and ſhewed his Lord theſe things. III. Then the maſter of the houſe being angry, ſaid to his ſervant, Go out quickly into the ſtreets and lanes of the city, and bring in hither the poor, and the maimed, and the halt, and the blind. And the ſervant ſaid, Lord it is done as thou haſt commanded, and yet there is room. III. And the Lord ſaid unto the ſervant, Go out into the high-ways, and hedges, and compel them to come in, that my houſe may be filled. For I ſay unto you, that none of thoſe men which were bidden, ſhall taſte of my Supper.

long to God, and are his Children, and will be the moſt aſſured Means to make our Conſciences eaſie to us. Now if our Conſciences flie in our Faces, for having neglected our Duty, and for ſeeing our Brother in Diſtreſs, without relieving him; moſt certainly ſuch Uncharitableneſs will not eſcape the Notice of God, who, to be ſure, is as clear-ſighted as ever our Conſciences can be. III. But if our Conſciences acquit us, and, upon diligent Obſervation, we do not find that we are guilty of any known Sin, we have good reaſon to think that we are in God's Favour. And when we put up our Prayers to God, we may reaſonably expect that he will have regard to them, Mat. 7. 7. Luke 11. 9. John 14. 14. if they be offered up in that manner he has directed, Jam. 1. 7. and with thoſe Conditions that he has promiſed, Jam. 4. 3. For 'tis but reaſonable to think, that if we keep God's Commandments, do whatſoever is acceptable to him, he will provide us of whatſoever is beſt and fitteſt for us. Now God has given us moſt eſpecially in Command, To believe in our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, one of whoſe principal and laſt Precepts was, To love one another, John 13. 34, 35. & 15. 12. Therefore a diligent obſerving of the Divine Precepts, eſpecially that Injunction of our Bleſſed Lord, To love one another, will create an Intimacy between God and us, and will invite his Grace, in an extraordinary manner, to reſide in us: And whenever we find this excellent Spirit of Charity to have taken Poſſeſſion of our Souls, we may be ſatisfied, that we have a conſiderable Share of it.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. Luke XIV. 16.

Our Saviour ſpoke this Parable, to let the Jews underſtand, that the Benefits of the Goſpel ſhould be offered to the Gentiles, which many of that Nation had ungraciouſly deſpiſed. I. A certain Perſon of Diſtinction prepared a great Entertainment for ſeveral of his Neighbours and Acquaintance, inviting many of them thereunto. And finding none of them come, when the Proviſions were ready to be ſerved in, he ſent about a Servant to the reſpective Dwellings of the deſigned Gueſts, acquainting them, that the Proviſions were ready to be ſet upon the Table, and that he deſired their Company with all poſſible ſpeed. But they all of them, in ſtead of coming, fell to making Excuſes. II. One pretended, That having lately bought a Farm, he was juſt then a-going out to ſee in what Condition it lay; and for this reaſon, he hoped his Abſence would be excuſed. Another ſaid, That he had lately bought ſeveral Yoke of Oxen, and he was now going to try how well they could draw the Plough; and this, he hoped, would be a good Excuſe for his not coming: Another, being lately married, and the Solemnity of the Nuptial Entertainments not being yet over, he hoped he might be allowed to attend thoſe, rather than one which he was invited to abroad. And they all ſent back the like Anſwers. III. This great Indignity offered to the Maſter of the Family, which he took with no little Reſentment, occaſion'd him to ſend out into the Streets of the Town, and to deſire all Poor People, that could be met with, to come to partake of the Entertainment. IV. But when theſe were come, and there were not enough of them to fill the Tables, the Maſter of the Family order'd his Servants to go out again, and to ſee what Beggars they could find under the Hedges, and in the High-ways, and to uſe all poſſible Importunity with them to accept of his Entertainment; for I am reſolved to have Gueſts enough to fill every Room in my Houſe, that all the Proviſions which I have prepared may be ſpent. And whatever comes of it, thoſe ungrateful Perſons, who have ſo ſlighted my Kindneſs, ſhall have no ſhare in my Treat; for nothing ſhall be left for them to eat, if any of them ſhould drop in afterwards.

I. I adviſe you all, To ſubmit yourſelves readily to the Commands of your Superiors, in the ſeveral Relations you ſtand, of Sons to Parents, Servants to Maſters, Laity to Paſtors, Subjects to Princes; ſhew an humble Deportment to all thoſe of an equal Rank with yourſelves; and let this be as habitual and cuſtomary to you, and let it ſit as cloſe to you, as the Cloaths upon your Bodies. For as for proud, haughty People, who diſobey their Governors, and behave themſelves contemptuouſly towards their Equals and Inferiors, God himſelf ſets himſelf againſt them, by diſappointing their ambitious Deſigns, and caſting them out of his Favour; but for the humble Man, he he affords him his Grace, continues him in his Favour, and works his Advantage without his ſeeking. Therefore I adviſe, with Humility, and Reſignation to God's good Pleaſure, that you put yourſelves under his Conduct, to be diſpoſed of by him, as his irreſiſtible Providence ſhall think fit, that he, when he thinks fit, may raiſe you up to an higher Condition: Entertain no anxious and inordinate Care for the Things of this World; but, after having done our Duty with Diligence in our ordinary Calling, leave the Succeſs of Affairs to God's good Providence, who will take better care of us, than we can of ourſelves. II. Next, I would adviſe, To be ſober and vertuous in your Behaviour, and to watch with carefulneſs that you do not fall into any Sin, eſpecially thoſe which by your Nature you are moſt prone to: For you muſt conſider, that you have a very ſubtil Adverſary, the Devil, to deal with, who runs about the World like a hungry Lion, ſeeking for his Prey, and endeavouring to enſnare good Men into Sin, by laying Temptations before them, and by raiſing Perſecutions againſt them, to make them fall away from Chriſtianity. Now you muſt do all you can, to oppoſe the Deſigns of this wicked and crafty Spirit, by keeping ſteady to the Chriſtian Faith, notwithſtanding the ſevere Perſecutions which are raiſed againſt it: For, tho' you may ſuffer a great deal for the ſake of your Religion, you have but the common Fate of the reſt of your Brethren the Chriſtians, as long as they continue in this World. But God, who is the Author and Giver of every good thing, and who will not fail to provide a Recompence for all his faithful Servants, whom he has been pleaſed to call to Eternal Life, by the Profeſſion of the Chriſtian Religion, after your ſhort Suffering in this World, and toplace you in an unalterable State of Happineſs and Perfection in a better. To him be aſcribed all Praiſe and everlaſting Dominion. Amen.

Therefore our Saviour, partly to vindicate himſelf, and partly to ſet them right in their Notions as to this Particular, delivered this Parable: II. Does not every one look upon it as a juſtifiable and prudent Action of a Perſon, who being poſſeſſed of a Flock of an hundred Sheep, and one of them ſhall chance to go aſtray, if he leaves the ninety nine, which remain feeding in the Paſture, and goes in queſt of that which is miſſing, omitting

I ſay unto you, that likewiſe joy ſhall be in heaven over one ſinner that repenteth, more than over ninety and nine juſt perſons, which need no repentance. III. Either what woman, having ten pieces of ſilver, if ſhe loſe one piece, doth not light a candle, and ſweep the houſe, and ſeek diligently till ſhe find it? And when ſhe hath found it, ſhe calleth her friends and her neighbours together, ſaying, Rejoyce with me, for I have found the piece which I had loſt. I. I Reckon that the ſufferings of this preſent time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which ſhall be revealed in us. For the earneſt expectation of the creature waiteth for the manifeſtation of the ſons of God. II. For the creature was made ſubject to vanity, not willingly, but (a) by reaſon of him who hath ſubjected the ſame in hope: Becauſe the creature it ſelf alſo ſhall be delivered from the bondage omitting no Diligence or Application till he has found it; carrying it home upon his Shoulders, that it may not be injured by too long travelling? Is not ſuch a Perſon, being come home, ſo pleaſed with his happy Succeſs, that he cannot forbear relating it to all his Friends, expecting that they ſhould congratulate with him in this his good Fortune? In like manner it is among the bleſſed Spirits in Heaven; for there is an unuſual Joy ſpreads itſelf over the face of that holy Community, upon the turning of a Sinner from his wicked Courſes; which is not ſo diſcernible there, upon the continuance of many good Perſons in their fixed Courſe of Piety. III. Again, Suppoſe a Poor-woman, who, out of her ſmall Income, has ſav'd half a ſcore Pieces of Silver, to be a Support to her upon an extraordinary Exigence, and that ſhe ſhould be ſo unlucky to loſe one of them, does not ſhe immediately light a Candle, and ſweep her Houſe, looking with Exactneſs into every Corner and Chink, till ſhe has found her deſired Piece, telling, with eagerneſs, all her Acquaintance, how lucky ſhe has been, to find that which ſhe almoſt deſpaired of, expecting from them, that they alſo ſhould take a ſhare in her Joy? In like manner it is in Heaven, when a Sinner returns from a wicked Courſe, into the Paths of Vertue and Piety.

(a) The want of a Stop being placed between the words διὰ τὸν ὑποτάξαντα, by reaſon of him who hath ſubjected the ſame, and the words ἐπ' ἐλπίδι, in hope, has made it a doubt, whether the Subjecter here mention'd, be God, or the Devil. A ſtrange difference this, to be occaſion'd by ſo ſmall a Matter. But ſo it is. The Vulgar Latin ſuppoſed there was a Stop to be placed after ἐπ' ἐλπίδι, and none between ὑποτάξαντα and that: And beſides, they tranſlate the Conjunction ὅτι, which follows, by quia, in ſtead of quod; rendring the whole thus, Propter eum qui ſubjecit eam in ſpe: quia & ipſa Creatura, &c. juſt as our Tranſlation does. But the Syriack, Arabick, and Æthiopick Verſions, point it otherwiſe. The Syriack places the Stop after ὑποτάξαντα, him who hath ſubjected the ſame: and joins ἐπ' ἐλπίδι to the following Clauſe, by reaſon of him who ſubjected it: under hope that ——— Which ſeems to be the trueſt Punctation and Tranſlation of this Paſſage; and this I follow in my Paraphraſe.

I. I think we may very juſtly reckon, That the Sufferings, which we undergo in this tranſitory Life, bear no Proportion to the Everlaſting Glories which we Chriſtians ſhall be inveſted with, before the Eyes of the whole World, who ſhall be Witneſſes of our being inſtated in this unſpeakable degree of Happineſs. For all Human Kind, not only the Jews, but the Gentile World, have had great Expectations of being Sharers in that Immortal State of Happineſs which is promiſed to us Chriſtians, whom God has vouchſafed, by the Covenant of the Goſpel, to adopt to be his Sons. II. For Mankind being originally made in a better Condition than they ſtand in at preſent, fell into this forlorn State; not of their own choice, every one being naturally deſirous enough of Happineſs, but by the Craft and Malice of the Devil, who circumvented their Firſt Parents, and thereby all their Off-ſpring, who would otherwiſe have been of an Immortal Nature, were brought down, into this mortal and periſhable one. All this numerous Race of Mortals, I ſay, are in great Expectation of being delivered from their corruptible Condition, and being inſtated in the glorious Liberty of the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God. III. For we know, that the whole creation groaneth, and travaileth in pain together until now. And not only they, but our ſelves alſo, which have the firſt-fruits of the ſpirit, even we our ſelves groan within our ſelves, waiting for the adoption, to wit, the redemption of our body.

For with the ſame meaſure that ye mete withall, it ſhall be meaſured to you again. II. And he ſpake a parable unto them, Can the blind lead the blind? ſhall they not both fall into the ditch? The diſciple is not above his maſter; but every one that is perfect ſhall be as his maſter. And why beholdeſt thou the mote that is in thy brothers eye, but perceiveſt not the beam that is in thine own eye? Either how canſt thou ſay to thy brother, Brother, let me pull out the mote that is in thine eye, when thou thy ſelf beholdeſt not the beam that is in thine own eye? III. For the Gentile-World have a conſiderable time groaned like a Woman under the Pangs of Child-birth, at the Unhappineſs of their Condition, wiſhing to be reſcued from it: And not only the Gentiles, but even we Chriſtians, who have the Firſt-fruits of the Spirit, are under earneſt Deſires and Expectations to be freed from the Uneaſineſs of this Mortal Life, wiſhing to receive the Rewards of our Adoption, and to be cloathed with thoſe glorious and immortal Bodies, which ſhall be given us at the Reſurrection.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Luke VI. 36.

I. I would adviſe you to propoſe to yourſelves the Divine Goodneſs to imitate, in animadverting upon, or cenſuring any Offences or Miſcarriages of your Neighbours. You muſt not condemn any one precipitately, for fear the like Condemnation hereafter be paſſed upon you. Be ready to forgive Offences committed againſt yourſelves, and this will encline the Divine Clemency to be merciful to you likewiſe. Be Charitable to the Poor, according to your Abilities; for God ſhall moſt eminently reward you for this Vertue, cauſing Men to befriend you, by aſſiſting you, whenever you have occaſion for their Help; or however, God ſhall, in another World, beſtow far greater Benefits than thoſe you have conferred upon your Poor Brethren. II. And then he proceeded to inſtruct them further, with this Parabolical Doctrine. Now, whereas you are too apt to prefer the fallible Doctrines of Men, before the Infallible Word of God, let me reaſon a little with you upon this Head. Do you think it a wiſe Project, for one Blind-man to chuſe another Blind-man to be his Guide? What will be, I pray you, the Conſequence of this? Why, both the Leader and the Follower will fall into the next Ditch which lies before them. There is the ſame faral Tendency, in blindly following the corrupt Traditions of the Phariſaical Teachers. For it is not likely, that their Scholars ſhould be better inſtructed, than their Maſters are: But thoſe, who ſhall learn the Divine Truths of the Goſpel which I preach, by copying after my Example, ſhall, in ſome meaſure, come up to the Perfection of me their Inſtructer. III. It is an inſufferable degree of Arrogance, for a Man to cenſure the light Failures of other Men, when at the ſame time he allows himſelf in the Practice of the fouleſt Vices. This is as ridiculous a Preſumption, as for one whoſe Eyes are grown over with a Cataract, to pretend to pick out a little Duſt which had flown into another's Eye. Let ſuch hypocritical Pretenders to Vertue, firſt amend the groſs Defects of their own Lives, before they pretend to find fault with the ſmaller Miſcarriages of other Men.

The GOSPEL. S. LUKE V. 1.

I. IT came to paſs, that as the people preſſed upon him to hear the word of God, he ſtood by the lake of Geneſareth, and ſaw two ſhips ſtanding by the lake: but the fiſher-men were gone out of them, and were waſhing their nets. And he entred into one of the Ships, which was Simons, and prayed him that he would thruſt out a little from the land: and he ſat down and taught the people out of the ſhip. II. Now when he had left ſpeaking, he ſaid unto Simon, Lanch out into the deep, and let down your nets for a draught. And Simon anſwering, ſaid unto him, Maſter, we have toiled all the night, and have taken nothing; nevertheleſs at thy word, I will let down the net. III. And when they had this done, they encloſed a great multitude of fiſhes, and their net brake. And they beckned unto their partners which were in the other ſhip, that they ſhould come and help them. And they came and filled both the ſhips, ſo that they began to ſink. When Simon Peter ſaw it, he fell down at Jeſus knees, ſaying, Depart from me, for I am a ſinful man, O Lord. For he was aſtoniſhed, and all that were with him, at the draught of the fiſhes which they had taken: And ſo was alſo James, and John, the ſons of Zebedee, who were partners with Simon. IV. And Jeſus ſaid unto Simon, Fear not, from henceforth thou ſhalt catch men. And when they had brought their ſhips to land, they forſook all, and followed him.

Bear a hearty Love to one another, as Brethren, and Profeſſors of the ſame Religion: Shew bowels of Pity, in a readineſs to relieve all that are in Diſtreſs, to the utmoſt of your power: Be kind and obliging in your Behaviour: Do not make return to an injurious Action done to you, by doing another, nor give ill Words to them who have given the ſame to you; but rather beſpeak them, and aſſiſt them, with all the friendly Words and Actions you can; knowing that this is a principal part of the Religion which you profeſs, by a faithful diſcharging thereof, you will have a Title to a greater Reward in another Life. II. For this is a Doctrine which is excellently laid down by the holy Pſalmiſt; What man is he that deſireth life, and loveth many days, that he may ſee good? Keep thy tongue from evil, and thy lips from ſpeaking guile. Depart from evil, and do good; ſeek peace, and purſue it. The eyes of the Lord are over the righteous, and his ears are open unto their cry. The face of the Lord is againſt them that do evil, Pſal. xxxiv. 12, 13, 14, 15. 16. From whence we may learn, that few Men will be willing, and no one will be able, to do you any ſubſtantial Miſchief, if you obſerve theſe excellent Rules of your Religion. 'Tis true indeed, that many of you may be expoſed to Perſecution, for the ſake of your Religion; but then your Perſecutors will be ſo far from doing you any harm thereby, that they will only be the Occaſion of encreaſing your future Happineſs, and furniſhing you with a brighter Crown in Heaven. III. Therefore be not afraid of all the terrible Puniſhments which they can inflict upon you; but rather with joyful Hearts give Thanks to God, for having made you Inſtruments of manifeſting his Glory, by your Sufferings.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Luke V. 1.

I. Our Saviour was near unto the Lake of Geneſareth, to which Place a great Multitude of the People had followed him, to hear his divine Sermons. Here they thronged ſo much about him, as not only gave him an Uneaſineſs, but hindered one another from hearing. Therefore he obſerving two empty Fiſher-boats at ſome diſtance from the Shore, (the Maſters of them being upon the Land, waſhing their Nets from the Soil which they had contracted in their late Uſe,) deſired Simon Peter, to whom one of the Veſſels belonged, to bring the Boat to the Shore, and to take him into it; which being done, he bade him put out a little from the Shore, that the People might not croud into the Boat, and from thence he inſtructed the People, who ſtood ſtill upon the Shore to hear him. II. Having finiſhed his Sermon, he commanded Peter to put out farther to Sea with his Veſſel, and to caſt out his Net for a Draught of Fiſh. Peter ſhewing ſome degree of reluctancy, to what was motion'd to him, anſwer'd; Sir, I muſt tell you, that we have been all this Night, toiling in our Employ, without any Succeſs, it being an ill time now for Fiſhing; however, ſince you have been pleaſed to command it, I ſhall not ſtick to make another Trial. III. The Net was no ſooner thrown, but a vaſt number of Fiſh were incompaſſed therein, the weight of which was ſo great, that it crack'd the Threads of the Net; and Peter, and his Partner with him in that Boat, had not ſtrength enough to pull it up. Wherefore they call for the Aſſiſtance of the other Partners in the neighbouring Veſſel, who preſently came up to their help. Theſe, all together, made a ſhift to draw up the Net, with ſuch a multitude of Fiſhes therein, as filled both the Veſſels ſo full, that they were in no little danger of ſinking. Peter, in a great degree of Conſternation, occaſion'd partly by the Miracle, and partly by the Danger they ſeemed to be in, fell down proſtrate at our Saviour's Feet, begging of him, that the Preſence of ſo great a Perſon, might not be injurious to ſo ſinful a Man as himſelf; and that having ſhewn ſo great a Miracle before him, he would not now deſtroy him, upon account of his former Miſcarriages. For the mighty Draught of Fiſhes, and the Danger which enſued it, had laid Peter, and all his Partners, under an equal degree of Aſtoniſhment and Fear. IV. But our Saviour heartned them up, with theſe Words: You need not, Simon, be under ſo great a degree of Wonder and Concern; for, as there will be no danger of the Veſſel's ſinking, ſo I will bring about, that as great a Miracle as this, ſhall be wrought by you; for, I deſign to make you a Fiſher of Men; and you, by being a Preacher of my Religion, ſhall bring in a greater number of Proſelytes thereunto, than that of the Fiſhes caught in this Draught, Acts ii. And when they had drawn their Ships to Shore, they left their Employs, and became his Diſciples.

This we beg, for the ſake of our Saviour Jeſus Chriſt. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Rom. VI. 3.

I. Are not all of you inſtructed, That, when in the Initiatory Rite of your Religion, you are Baptized into the Doctrine of Jeſus Chriſt, that Solemnity is ſo performed, that it bears an exact Reſemblance of Chriſt's Death? Now whereas, by being plunged into the Water, we ſeem, for a while, to be buried there, as Chriſt was in the Grave; ſo we ought to reſemble our Saviour in one Particular more, which is, That as he, after his Reſurrection, which was performed by the glorious Operation of the Father, entred upon a New Life, far more excellent than the preſent one; ſo ſhould we likewiſe, after our ſpiritual Reſurrection in Baptiſm, forſake our former Evil Courſe of Life, which we were before habituated to, and, for the future, live a Life of Purity and Holineſs. II. For if by this Baptiſmal Rite, which bears this Similitude of Chriſt's Death, we are Branches grafted into the Stock of Chriſt, we ſhall alſo become Partakers of his Nature, and ſhall, in time, grow up with him into a bleſſed Reſurrection: But ſtill this muſt be underſtood, upon Suppoſition, that we forſake our Sins; for as the Body of Chriſt, was crucified upon the Croſs, ſo are the former Habits of Sins, which Men are accuſtomed to before they become Chriſtians, to be, as it were, crucified, and perfectly forſaken by us, ſo that we muſt not be under that Tyranny of Sin, which we were formerly ſubject to. Now as dead Men are not in a Condition of ſinning; ſo ought baptized Perſons, whoſe Immerſion betokens their dying to Sin, to be, in a manner, as free from Sin as they are. Now if we, by our Baptiſm, die to Sin, as Chriſt died upon the Croſs, we ſhall alſo, with him, enjoy a happy and a heavenly Life. III. For ſince Chriſt roſe from the Dead, he is no more ſubject to that State. He died once, indeed, for the Sins of Mankind; but after that great Deſign was finiſhed, he entred upon Everlaſting Happineſs, at the Right-Hand of God. And ſo it ought to be, in the Profeſſors of Chriſtianity, when they are baptized into the Chriſtian Faith, they muſt be dead to ſin, i. e. forſake all their former vitious Courſes; and alive to God, i. e. they muſt live Lives of that Purity and Holineſs, which the Goſpel of Jeſus Chriſt requires.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Mat. V. 20.

I. Our Bleſſed Lord, among many other moſt excellent Inſtructions afforded to his Diſciples, in his unparallell'd Sermon upon the Mount, gave them this Advice: You may be apt to admire the Phariſaical Rigour, for a juſt Pattern of Sanctity of Life; but I forewarn you, That, unleſs your Holineſs do exceed theirs, you ſhall have no Title to the Rewards, which ſhall be allotted in the Kingdom of Glory. For it will not ſerve your turns, to obſerve the Moſaical Law, (which, for the moſt part, the Scribes and Phariſees do not, but diſtinguiſh it away, by ſubtil Gloſſes and Traditions,) but you muſt come up to ſome further heights of Moral Vertues, than the Moſaical Law obliged to, the Particulars whereof I ſhall declare unto you. The Old Law ſays, Thou ſhalt do no murder, Exod. xx. making it to be a Capital Crime: But I muſt further let you know, That he, that ſhall be guilty of this Crime, ſhall be everlaſtingly puniſhed for it in another State.

not kill: and whoſoever ſhall kill, ſhall be in danger of the judgment. II. But I ſay unto you, that whoſoever is angry with his brother without a cauſe, ſhall be in danger of the judgment: and whoſoever ſhall ſay to his brother, Racha, ſhall be in danger of the councel: but whoſoever ſhall ſay, Thou fool, ſhall be in danger of hell fire. III. Therefore if thou bring thy gift to the altar, and there remembreſt that thy brother hath ought againſt thee; leave there thy gift before the altar, and go thy way, firſt be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift. IV. Agree with thine adverſary quickly, whiles thou art in the way with him; leſt at any time the adverſary deliver thee to the judge, and the judge deliver thee to the officer, and thou be caſt into priſon. State. II. Nay, not only the barbarous Act, of taking away another Man's Life, ſhall have Puniſhment, in a future State, entailed upon it; but even cauſeleſs Anger ſhall have its proportionable Penalty inflicted, anſwerable to the Sentence of the leſſer Courts of Judgment among the Jews: He that ſhall uſe contumelious Words to his Neighbour, ſhall have ſtill a greater Puniſhment inflicted upon him, anſwerable to the Sentence of the Great Council: But he that ſhall proceed to ſo great a degree of Rage and Malice, as ſlanderouſly to defame his Neighbour, muſt undergo one of the ſevereſt Degrees of Puniſhment in another World, anſwerable to the Sentence paſſed upon the moſt outragious Offenders, which is to be burnt. III. When thou comeſt to make an Offering at the Altar, do not think that that will be acceptable to God, whilſt thou art in Malice with thy Neighbour. Therefore, if at that time thou do'ſt remember that thou haſt injured thy Neighbour, make Reparation for the Offence, and be reconciled to him; for without this, thy Sacrifice, however magnificent it be, will be an Abomination to God. IV. If any Controverſie ariſe between thee and another Man, make an end of the Difference, upon the firſt Opportunity: For Law-Suits are not only very diſcompoſing to pious Minds, but they are likewiſe very hazardous, even to thoſe that have Juſtice on their ſide; and a Man, whilſt he hopes to recover his Right, frequently ends his Days in a Priſon. But however, if a Man be of a vexatious and litigious Temper, tho' he may have ſome little Pretence of Juſtice, God himſelf ſhall ſit Judge upon ſuch an one, and will deal with him according to his own Method of Rigour, laying him in Priſon, till he has diſcharg'd his whole Debt that he owes to the Divine Juſtice, which he is never likely to do.

I. I will expreſs my ſelf to you in an ordinary way of Speaking, and in eaſie and common Metaphors, (for I find you are not over-apt to underſtand the ſublime Truths of Religion, nor the uſual Terms which we make uſe of in expreſſing them;) but this, which I ſay now, is plain enough. Many of you, before your Converſion to Chriſtianity, were Slaves to your Luſts and Paſſions, you uſed a great deal of Diligence, and underwent a great deal of Trouble, in the Gratification of them: Exert now the ſame Application and Aſſiduity in the Practice of Vertue and Holineſs, and you will be undoubtedly happy; for certainly you have reaſon to take as much pains to ſave your Souls, as you did formerly to damn them. If you remember when you were Slaves to Sin, and underwent all the Drudgery which the Devil put you upon, you kept true to your Maſter, and Religion had none of your Service: Be as faithful in the Service you are now in, and avoid the doing an ill Action, as diligently as you did formerly the doing a good one. I think you have no great reaſon to relapſe into your former State of Wickedneſs, conſidering, the Reflexion upon it, only creates Shame, and Remorſe of Conſcience: For the Tendency of ſuch a vitious Courſe, is everlaſting Deſtruction. II. But ſince your embracing Chriſtianity, you have quitted the Service of Sin, and are liſted in the Service of Almighty God, you will receive much better Wages than you did before; for you will have the Comfort and Satisfaction of living an holy Life here, and will be everlaſtingly rewarded with a State of Happineſs hereafter. PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Mark VIII. 1.

I. In the third Year of our Saviour's Preaching, he being in the Deſerts near Decapolis, Mark vii. 31. and a great Multitude with him, who came to hear his Doctrine, he ſpake after this manner to his Diſciples: I am touched with a very tender degree of Compaſſion toward this poor People, who are at a great diſtance from their Dwellings, and are perfectly deſtitute of all manner of Proviſions, they having been three Days with me, and muſt have needs ſpent all that little Food they had with them, or could procure from others: If I ſend them home without eating, a great many of them will undoubtedly periſh, in ſo long a Journey. His Diſciples made anſwer, That tho' this was an unhappy Circumſtance, yet it could not be well avoided; for that no one could imagine that it was a feaſible Matter, to procure Food for ſo numerous a Company, in that barren Place. II. Our Saviour then enquired of his Diſciples, How many Loaves they had by them, which they had brought with them for their own Subſiſtence? They anſwer'd, That they had barely ſeven. Upon this, he order'd the whole Multitude to ſit down upon the Ground. Then taking to him the ſeven Loaves, he craved a Bleſſing, and then breaking them into Pieces, gave them to his Diſciples, to diſtribute them among the People. III. They having likewiſe a few ſmall Fiſhes, which they had reſerv'd for their own Uſe, our Saviour alſo bleſſing theſe, order'd them in like manner to be ſet before the Multitude. Of this they made a very plentiful Meal; and when all had eaten to their full Satisfaction, there were as many Fragments gather'd up of what was left, as filled ſeven Baskets. Now the Number of them, who were ſo miraculouſly fed, was Four thouſand. This done, he diſmiſſed the Company.

I. You muſt take notice, my Chriſtian Brethren, That ſince we have embraced ſuch a pure and ſpiritual Religion as the Chriſtian is, we are under Obligations to live Lives anſwerable to ſuch a holy Profeſſion, and not to indulge ourſelves in our former Habits of Sin; for many ſenſual Gratifications, which were connived at under the Moſaical Law, will not be borne with by God, under the Chriſtian Diſpenſation. For Eternal Death is now denounced againſt thoſe who live wicked and ſenſual Lives: But if you reſtrain the Deſires of your Fleſh, and never comply with any vitious Tendencies, but live with that Purity and Holineſs which your Religion enjoins you, ye ſhall be rewarded with Eternal Happineſs in another World. And you may take this for a certain Rule, That 'tis not your being of the Line of Abraham, which entitles you to be God's Children, the deeds of the body, ye ſhall live. For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the ſons of God. II. For ye have not received the ſpirit of bondage again to fear: but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father. The Spirit it ſelf beareth witneſs with our ſpirit, that we are the children of God. And if children, then heirs: heirs of God, and joynt-heirs with Chriſt: if ſo be that we ſuffer with him, that we may be alſo glorified together.

I. BEware of falſe prophets, which come to you in ſheeps clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves. Ye ſhall know them by their fruits: Do men gather grapes of thorns, or figs of thiſtles? Even ſo every good tree bringeth forth good fruit; but a corrupt tree bringeth forth evil fruit. A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit; neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit. II. Every tree that bringeth not forth good fruit, is hewen down, and caſt into the fire. Wherefore by their fruits ye ſhall know them. Not every one that ſaith unto me, Lord, Lord, ſhall enter into the kingdom of heaven: but he that doth the will of my Father who is in heaven.

(as many of you are apt to fancy,) but a conforming yourſelves to Chriſt's Precepts, and ſeconding thoſe good Motions which the Spirit of God does put into your Hearts. II. And indeed, the Spirit and Genius of Chriſtianity, is very different from that of Judaiſm; for the latter conſiſts chiefly of a number of ſlaviſh Precepts, which thoſe, that are under it, are forced to comply with, as Slaves do with their Maſters Commands, without underſtanding the Reaſonableneſs of them: But we Chriſtians have a Duty enjoined us, which our own Reaſons cannot but in the higheſt degree approve of; God dealing with us after a kind and fatherly manner, affording us all the gracious Aſſiſtances of his Spirit to aſſiſt us in the performing our Duty in this World, and moſt amply rewarding us for it in the next. The ſame Holy Spirit of God, together with our own Conſciences, aſſuring us, by comfortable Evidences, (eſpecially during theſe Times of Danger and Perſecution, to engage us to Courage and Conſtancy,) that we are God Almighty's Children, whom he has a particular Care and Concern for. Now, if we are God's Children, we may reaſonably expect, that, agreeably to that Relation, we ſhall be his Heirs, whom he will provide an ample Inheritance for; nay, that we ſhall be Joint-Heirs with his only-begotten Son Jeſus Chriſt, enjoying a Share of that inexpreſſible Happineſs which he is veſted with: For the greater Share of Sufferings, which, after his Example, we ſhall with Patience go through in this World, will entitle us to a greater degree of Glory in the next, and to approach nigher to that conſummate degree of Happineſs, which our Bleſſed Lord is ſurrounded with there.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. Math. VII. 15.

I. I would have you take a ſpecial care, leſt you be deceived by ſome falſe-Pretenders to Revelation; for tho' theſe Men, by their outward Deportment, ſeem to have all the Innocence and Harmleſneſs of Sheep, yet they are as rapacious as Wolves, or other Beaſts of Prey. The ſureſt Note to know theſe Men by, is, the Actions of their Lives; for, by a nice Examination, you will find, that they do not live up anſwerably to the Doctrines which they teach. As we know the Goodneſs of the Tree, from the Fruit which it bears; ſo good and bad Men, are diſtinguiſhed by their different Actions. We may as well expect to ſee a Thorn to produce Grapes, or a Thiſtle, Figs, as to find an Impoſtor leading an uniformly-good and holy Life. 'Tis impoſſible he ſhould always keep on his Vizor; and Men of penetrating Thought, will in time diſcover, that the Pretence to Vertue, is only the better to carry on the Cheat. II. It muſt further be obſerved, That a Tree, which, after all due cultivating and dreſſing, will not produce good Fruit, is cut-down, as an unprofitable Stem, and judged fit for nothing, but to be burnt for Fire-wood. The like ſhall be the Portion of falſe-Pretenders to Religion; for, notwithſtanding all their great Oſtentation of Godlineſs, God Almighty ſhall puniſh them, as wicked Men, and Hypocrites. And when you ſee their Crimes clearly diſcovered, you may be ſure, that the Revelations, which they lay claim to, are but counterfeit.

The EPISTLE. 1 COR. X. 1.

I. BRethren, I would not that ye ſhould be ignorant, how that all our fathers were under the cloud, and all paſſed through the ſea; and were all baptized unto Moſes in the cloud, and in the ſea; and did all eat the ſame ſpiritual meat, and did all drink the ſame ſpiritual drink: (for they drank of that ſpiritual rock that followed them; and that rock was Chriſt.) But with many of them God was not well pleaſed; for they were overthrown in the wilderneſs. II. Now theſe things were our examples, to the intent we ſhould not luſt after evil things, as they alſo luſted. Neither be ye idolaters. as were ſome of them; as it is written, The people ſat down to eat and drink, and roſe up to play. Neither let us commit fornication, as ſome of them committed, and fell in one day three and twenty thouſand. Neither let us tempt Chriſt, as ſome of them alſo tempted, and were deſtroyed of ſerpents. Neither murmure ye, as ſome of them alſo murmured, and were deſtroyed of the deſtroyer. III. Now all theſe things happened unto them for enſamples: and they are written for our admonition, upon whom the ends of the world are come. Wherefore let him that thinketh he ſtandeth, take heed leſt he fall. There hath no temptation taken you, but ſuch as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not ſuffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation alſo make a way to eſcape, that ye may be able to bear it.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. 1 Cor. X. 1.

I. You may be apt, my Chriſtian Brethren, to over-value yourſelves, upon account of the Excellency of the Chriſtian Diſpenſation; and to think, that God Almighty will not deprive you of his Favours, howſoever you behave yourſelves under them: But you ought to take notice, that the Jews formerly had the Divine Favours very liberally beſtowed upon them likewiſe. 'Tis true, you Chriſtians enjoy very great Benefits, through the Ordinance of Baptiſm: But they were not very ſmall Bleſſings which the ancient Jews received, by being skreened from the ſcorching Heat of the Sun, in their travelling over the Sands of Arabia, by the retiring of the Waters of the Red-Sea, to give them a Paſſage through it. Now, the being under this Watery Cloud, and marching through the middle of the Sea, was a ſort of a Baptiſm in the Moſaical Times. Great are the Benefits indeed which we Chriſtians receive, by eating the Bread in the Holy Euchariſt; but it was a very great Favour of God, vouchſafed to the ancient Jews, when they were fed by Manna; which was a ſpiritual Food likewiſe, it being call'd, in Scripture, the Food of Angels. As we drink of the ſacred Cup, in the Performance of thoſe holy Myſteries; ſo the Jews formerly drank of the Water which flowed from the Rock of Horeb, in a Deſert Place, with a mighty Stream, occaſion'd by the miraculous Power of God's Holy Spirit: Which Rock, by the way, was an apt Reſemblance of Chriſt, from whoſe Body flowed that precious Blood, which not only ſaved the Lives of a few Iſraelites, but was a Sacrifice for the Souls of the whole World. But notwithſtanding that the Jews were favoured by God with all thoſe gracious Indulgences, they, by their Provocations, fell at laſt under his moſt heavy Diſpleaſure, which occaſion'd God to paſs a Sentence upon them, That all of them, except two, ſhould die in the Wilderneſs, and not enter into the Land of Promiſe. II. Now theſe things are recorded in Holy Writ, that they might be Examples to us, to give us warning, that we do not provoke God, by our Unbelief and Diſobedience, as they did; nor indulge our fleſhly Appetites, as the Iſraelites, who were ſoon weary of one ſort of Diet, and longed for another. Neither do you defile yourſelves with the foul Sin of Idolatry: (I ſpeak this to you that eat of the Meats offered to Idols,) as ſome of the ancient Jews did, as Moſes writes of them, The People ſat down to eat and drink, and roſe up to play, Exod. xxxii. 6. feaſting and dancing in honour of their Idol-Calf. Neither do you defile yourſelves with Fornication, or other unlawful Pleaſures of that kind, (which, by the Caſe of the Inceſtuous Perſon, I find ſome of you are too prone to;) for you have a fair Warning againſt this, in the Puniſhment of the Iſraelites, who committed Whoredom with the Daughters of Moab, who, upon that account, had a Plague ſent among them by God, which deſtroyed Twenty four thouſand, Numb. xxv. Neither do ye tempt Chriſt, by diſtruſting his Promiſes, and undervaluing his Gifts, and deſpiſing his Miniſters, as I find ſome of you are too apt to do, by the Diviſions and Animoſities which reign among you; not like the Iſraelites, who brought an Evil-Report upon, and undervalued the Land of Canaan, and were great Numbers of them ſwept away by a Deſtroying-Angel, who had a Commiſſion from God to bring a Plague among them, Numb. xiii. & xiv. III. Now theſe things, which were tranſacted in ſuch early Ages of the World, are recorded in Scripture, that they may be profitable Examples of Warning to us, who live in later Ages of the World; that we may not provoke the Juſtice of God, by our Sins, to inflict the like Puniſhments upon us. Therefore I require of you, that you have not too great a Confidence of your own Security; but that you ſhould conſider, that, by ſlighting the Grace of God, or preſuming too much upon it, you may provoke him to withdraw it from you; ſo that you may fall into a very deplorable degree of Sin, or, for all your preſent Pretences to Religion, you may appoſtatize from the Faith. This has been already the Fate of ſome Chriſtians, whom the Severity of the Perſecutions they have been under, has occaſion'd to make a Defection from their holy Religion. But, God be thanked, you have not lain under theſe Temptations; for you have had no Misfortunes, but ſuch as the ordinary Condition of Mortality does ſubject Men to. But whatever your future Condition may happen to be, God Almighty, who always makes his Word good, has promiſed, not to lay greater Afflictions upon you, than he will enable you with Courage to undergo, if you ſincerely rely upon him, and beg his Aſſiſtance; he will either find a Way to eaſe you of your Calamities, or will afford you ſuch ſpiritual Comfort and Conſtancy, as you may with Cheerfulneſs go through them.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Luke XVI. 1.

I. Our Saviour ſpake this Parable, to exhort Men to as great a Diligence in ſecuring their Everlaſting Welfare, as they, for the generality, uſe, in obtaining their Temporal. A certain Great Man, being poſſeſſed of a large Eſtate, which he could not manage himſelf, had entruſted it to his Steward; againſt whom Complaint was made, That he had embezled his Maſter's Goods. The Accuſation made ſuch Impreſſion upon his Lord, that he immediately account of thy ſtewardſhip; for thou mayeſt be no longer ſteward. II. Then the ſteward ſaid within himſelf, What ſhall I do? for my Lord taketh away from me the ſtewardſhip: I cannot dig, to beg I am aſhamed. III. I am reſolved what to do, that when I am put out of the ſtewardſhip, they may receive me into their houſes. So he called every one of his lords debtors unto him, and ſaid unto the firſt, How much oweſt thou unto my lord? And he ſaid, An hundred meaſures of oyl. And he ſaid unto him, Take thy bill, and ſit down quickly, and write fifty. Then ſaid he to another, And how much oweſt thou? And he ſaid an hundred meaſures of wheat. And he ſaid unto him, Take thy bill, and write fourſcore. IV. And the lord commended the unjuſt ſteward, becauſe he had done wiſely: for the children of this world are in their generation wiſer than the children of light. And I ſay unto you, Make to yourſelves friends of the Mammon of unrighteouſneſs, that when ye fail, they may receive you into everlaſting habitations.

The EPISTLE. 1 COR. XII. 1.

I. CONcerning ſpiritual gifts, brethren, I would not have you ignorant. Ye know that ye were Gentiles carried away unto theſe dumb idols, even as ye mediately ſent for the Steward, told him of what he had heard concerning him, and bid him forthwith to make up his Accounts, for he was fully reſolved to diſmiſs him. II. This ſudden Warning, put the Steward upon deep Thought, how he ſhould ſecure himſelf a Maintenance, when he ſhould leave his Lords Family. He conſidered, that, having had a liberal Education, he could not ſubmit to any mean way of getting his Living: Hard Labour was a thing, which, as he never had been accuſtomed to, ſo his Body would not bear it; and to beg for a Livelihood, after he had lived handſomly, he thought to be as hard a Condition as ſtarving. After long revolving in his mind this ſo concerning an Affair, he at laſt came to this Reſolution; That he would make himſelf ſuch Friends among his Lord's Debtors, that when he had loſt his Employ, he might have the liberty of ſtaying at any of their Houſes, till he could get into Buſineſs again. III. Well, (ſays he,) I have found out a Method to bring this about. With that, he ſummoned in all that ow'd any thing to his Lord, and paſſed their Accounts after this manner: To one he ſaid, Come, let us ſee how Reckonings ſtand between my Lord and you: Shew your laſt Acquittance, and let us ſee how much you were in Arrears on the laſt Account? Indeed, (ſays the Tenant,) I am ſomething behind-hand for the Rent of the Olive-Yard; for, of the Oil, which your Lord reſerved to be paid in kind, I am an hundred Barrels in Arrears. That agrees with my Account, (ſays the Steward:) But ſince Matters go hard with you, my Lord can better bear the Loſs of an old Arrear, than you put yourſelf to Straits to pay it: I will make out your Acquittance a-new, and, inſtead of ſetting you down Debtor an hundred Barrels of Oil, you ſhall only ſtand indebted for fifty. There came another, who held a Farm under his Lord; and the Steward, in like manner, enquired, how much he ſtood in Arrears for his Rent? The Farmer anſwer'd, That he was behind-hand an hundred Quarters of Wheat, which he ſhould have deliver'd in before that time. The Steward replied, That truly his Bargain was ſufficiently hard, and that his Maſter would be well paid for the Uſe of his Land, if a fourth part of the Arrear were abated; and therefore he would give him a full Diſcharge, for all but fourſcore Quarters. IV. When this came to the knowledge of his Lord, tho' he did not approve the Action, nor was well pleas'd, to find himſelf thus cheated; yet he could not forbear to acknowledge, that the Steward had acted with notable Sagacity, for his own Intereſt. From hence you may learn, That Carnal Men, who have only the Advantages of this World in view, do proſecute their Intereſt with greater Steadineſs and Application, than good Men do, in the Buſineſs of their Eternal Salvation. Therefore I would adviſe you to make uſe of as unwearied a Diligence, to procure an Intereſt in Heaven, as the Children of this World do, in courting the unrighteous Mammon; for leſs Aſſiduity, than is commonly made uſe of for that end, will infallibly aſſure you of a Share in Everlaſting Happineſs.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. 1 Cor. XII. 1.

I. It is convenient, my Chriſtian Brethren, that you ſhould be informed of ſome things concerning the Gifts of the Holy Spirit, about which there is wont to be ſome Strife and Emulation among you. But you muſt conſider, in the firſt place, that all of you do receive the Advantages which do accrue from the Inſpiration of the Holy Ghoſt, tho' he be not immediately actuated by his extraordinary Power; which is a Benefit you could not pretend to, before your Converſion to Chriſtianity: Many of you were then poſſeſſed by the Devil, whoſe Idols you worſhipped, or applied yourſelves to them, for the knowledge of future Events; therefore it is a greater Advantage to you now, to be guided by the good Spirit of God, by whatſoever Means his Inſpirations are made known, than to be under the Direction of Diabolical Spirits. Some of you may perhaps be deſirous to know, what Criterium you muſt make uſe of, to judge what Revelations are to be look'd upon as Divine ones, and what as Counterfeit or Diabolical. As to this Point, I muſt inform ye were led. Wherefore I give you to underſtand, that no man ſpeaking by the Spirit of God, calleth Jeſus accurſed; and that no man can ſay that Jeſus is the Lord, but by the holy Ghoſt. II. Now there are diverſities of gifts, but the ſame Spirit. And there are differences of adminiſtrations, but the ſame Lord. And there are diverſities of operations, but it is the ſame God, who worketh all in all. But the manifeſtation of the Spirit is given to every man to profit withal. III. For to one is given by the Spirit the word of wiſdom; to another the word of knowledge by the ſame Spirit; to another faith by the ſame Spirit; to another the gifts of healing by the ſame Spirit; to another the working of miracles; to another prophecy; to another diſcerning of ſpirits; to another divers kinds of tongues; to another the interpretation of tongues. But all theſe worketh that one and the ſelf ſame Spirit, dividing to every man ſeverally as he will.

The GOSPEL. S. LUKE XIX. 41.

I. AND when he was come near, he beheld the city, and wept over it, ſaying, If thou hadſt known, even thou, at leaſt in this thy day, the things which belong unto thy peace! but now they are hid from thine eyes. II. For the days ſhall come upon thee, that thine enemies ſhall caſt a trench about thee, and compaſs thee round, and keep thee in on every ſide, and ſhall lay thee even with the ground, and thy children within thee: and they ſhall not leave in thee one ſtone upon another, becauſe thou kneweſt not the time of thy viſitation. III. And he went into the temple, and began to caſt out them that ſold therein, and them that bought, ſaying unto them, It is written, My houſe is the houſe of prayer, but ye have made it a den of thieves. And he taught daily in the temple.

you, That as under Moſes's Law, any Prophet who ſhould pretend to perſwade the People to Idolatry, was ſo far from being to be credited, that he was to be ſtoned; ſo, under the Chriſtian Diſpenſation, whoever he be that denies and curſes our Saviour, as the Jews do, let him pretend to never-ſo-great Revelations, he muſt not be look'd upon as inſpired by God. And then, as to your Strife, and Envying one another, concerning the Poſſeſſion of the Spiritual Gifts, you muſt take notice, That there is no Chriſtian among you all, but who has ſome conſiderable ſhare of God's Holy Spirit; for 'tis owing to the Grace of the Holy Ghoſt, that he is called to the Profeſſion of our holy Religion, and owns our Bleſſed Lord for his Redeemer. II. Indeed, theſe Spiritual Gifts are diſtributed in very different manners; but ſtill it is the ſame Holy Ghoſt who diſtributes them. There are ſeveral Orders of the Miniſtry, but they are all grounded upon the Authority of our own Lord Jeſus, the Founder of our holy Religion. There are different Ways of working Miracles, for the Propagating the Goſpel; but theſe are all owing to the Omnipotent Power of God the Father, by which they are effected. But tho' every one be not endowed with ſuch miraculous Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt, yet he has ſuch a ſhare of his ordinary Inſpiration, ſuch a portion of his Divine Gifts and Graces, as is neceſſary and convenient for him. III. One has a Gift of Speaking with great Wiſdom and Gravity, ſo as to command Attention from the Hearers. Another, if not ſo remarkable for the former, has his Mind ſtockt with a large ſhare of Divine Truths, occaſion'd by the Operation of the ſame Holy Ghoſt. One, the Holy Ghoſt inſpires with an extraordinary degree of Faith and Conſtancy, to perſevere in the Profeſſion of Religion, againſt the fierceſt Perſecutions: To another, he affords Power to Heal the Sick: To another, to do great and terrifying Miracles: To another, to predict Future Events: To another, a Faculty of Diſtinguiſhing Genuine Revelations, from Falſe and Pretended ones: To ſome, he affords the Gift of Speaking of different Languages, without learning them: To another, a readineſs to Interpret thoſe Tongues, when ſpoken by others. Theſe are all Benefits conferr'd by the ſame Holy Spirit, who diſpenſes them out, ſome to one Chriſtian, and ſome to another, as he thinks fit; no one having a Right to claim any one of them, they being all owing to the Reſult of his good Pleaſure.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Luke XIX. 41.

I. Our Bleſſed Saviour, coming from Bethany to Jeruſalem, and being now very near the Town, caſt his Eyes upon the City, and, from the Fore-knowledge which he had of the Deſtruction thereof, to come to paſs within a few Years, burſt out into Tears, uttering theſe Words: Oh! that thou, O famous City, would'ſt conſider thy true Intereſt, and that, by reforming that Corruption of Manners, now ſo univerſally prevailing in thee, thou would'ſt ſtop the Divine Vengeance from breaking upon thee, and avert thy approaching Ruine: But thou art under ſuch a fatal Obſtinacy in Sinning, and ſuch a perverſe Blindneſs of Underſtanding, that thou wilt neither believe thy Danger, nor yet prevent it. II. But whatever thou thinkeſt of it, the diſmal Days haſten on a-pace, when thou ſhalt be inveſted by a victorious Army, which, after the unſpeakable Miſeries which thou ſhalt ſuſtain by a long Siege, ſhall not only make themſelves Maſters of thee, but ſhall put innumerable of thy Inhabitants to the Sword, and burn down and demoliſh all thy fair Buildings, turning all this ſpacious City into a confuſed Heap of Rubbiſh. And when this Miſery comes upon thee, thou can'ſt lay the blame upon nothing but thy own Obſtinacy, for not hearkning to thoſe Miniſters whom God ſent on purpoſe to preach Repentance to thee, as the only Method to avert the impendent Deſtruction. III. When our Saviour was come into the City, he went directly up to the Temple, and drove out from the Courts, the Higglers who had ſet up their Stalls therein, rebuking them with that Paſſage out of the Prophets, My houſe ſhall be called the houſe of prayer, but ye have made it a den of thieves, Iſa. lvi. 7. Jer. vii. 11. i. e. You make the Houſe of God, which he deſign'd for Religious Worſhip, to be like a Cave in the Wilderneſs, where Robbers and Banditi neſt themſelves. After this, our Saviour continued daily, for a conſiderable time, to inſtruct the People in the Temple.

O God, whoſe Almighty Power is diſcovered, not by uncontroulable Actions governed by an unaccountable Will, but by kind and merciful Diſpenſations to thy Creatures; We beſeech thee, out of thy great Mercy and Goodneſs to afford us ſuch a Portion of thy Grace, that we may ſo run in our Chriſtian Courſe, that we may obtain, 1 Cor. ix. 24. and may be made Partakers of thoſe Promiſes of another Life, which thou haſt made to us, and thoſe treaſures in heaven, Matth. vi. 20. which thou haſt laid up for us: And this we pray, for Jeſus Chriſt's ſake. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. 1 Cor. XV. 1.

I. I am not inſenſible, that there are ſome Teachers crept in among you, who teach very pernicious and peſtilential Doctrines, denying the very fundamental Points of our Religion, the Doctrine of the Reſurrection, which our Saviour Chriſt, by his Reſurrection from the Dead, has given us Demonſtration of. But to ſilence the wicked Opinion of theſe Seducers, I will lay before you the True Evangelical Doctrine, which I have formerly preached unto you, ſuch as I receiv'd it from the Apoſtles who converſed with our Saviour, and by particular Revelation made to my ſelf; a Doctrine ſo very concerning, that the whole Superſtructure of Chriſtianity is built upon it. For the Hopes of your Salvation, does depend upon this; for unleſs you heartily believe the Doctrine of the Reſurrection, which I formerly preached to you, 'tis to no purpoſe for you to make Profeſſion of the other Parts of Chriſtianity. II. For this was the Sum of the Doctrine which I formerly preached to you, after I was, by undoubted Evidence, ſatisfy'd thereof my ſelf; How that our Saviour Chriſt ſuffer'd a painful and ignominious Death, for the Sins of Mankind; as was predicted by the Prophets, particularly Iſaiah, and Daniel, Iſai. liii. 4, 5. Dan. ix. 16. That this Death was real, not feigned and imaginary, he being crucified before a vaſt Number of Spectators: That his Body lay a conſiderable time in the Grave; and that the Third Day he roſe to Life again, as the Scriptures predicted that he ſhould: That after this, he was ſeen of Peter, and by all the Apoſtles gathered together: That afterwards he was ſeen of five hundred Believers, who were gathered together, probably whilſt he was in Galilee, after his Reſurrection; many of whom are alive at this day, and do conſtantly atteſt the Truth thereof; tho' ſome of them are dead, but to their Dying-day they verified the ſame. Another time he was ſeen of James the Apoſtle; and then again by all the Apoſtles. And laſt of all, after he was aſcended up into Heaven, he was pleaſed to ſhew himſelf to me, being, as it were, a Poſthumous Birth, and made an Apoſtle after the reſt of that Order were inſtituted; for tho' I am honoured with that Title and Office, yet I own my ſelf the leaſt worthy of them all to be called to that Dignity, having been ſo unhappy as formerly to have been a Perſecutor of that Religion which I now propagate. III. But, through the Aſſiſtance of God's Grace, I have done ſomething conſiderable in this great Work: Nor have I let the Talent, which God has been pleaſed to beſtow upon me, lie uſeleſs by me; for, tho' I ſay it, I have taken more Pains in the Apoſtleſhip, than any one of the Order, and God has been pleaſed to bleſs my Labours with greater Succeſs; which, by the way, I do not attribute ſo much to my own Diligence, as to God's Grace, which has ſo wonderfully aſſiſted me. But to ſet aſide the Compariſon of my ſelf with the other of my Brethren, whether the Encreaſe of the Goſpel among you, be owing more to them, or to me, this is certain; That the Truth of Chriſt's Reſurrection, and ſo likewiſe the Real, and not Allegorical, Reſurrection of our Bodies, was the Doctrine which we formerly preached unto you, and which ye were baptized into.

The GOSPEL. S. LUKE XVIII. 9.

I. JEsus spake this parable unto certain which trusted in themselves, that they were righteous, and despised others; Two men went up into the temple to pray; the one a Pharisee, and the other a publican. The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himself, God, I thank thee, that I am not as other men are, extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even as this Publican. I fast twice in the week, I give tithes of all that I possess. II. And the Publican standing afar off, would not lift up so much as his eyes unto heaven, but smote upon his breast, saying, God be merciful to me a sinner. I tell you, this man went down to his house justified rather than the other: for every one that exalteth himself, shall be abased; and he that humbleth himself, shall be exalted.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Luke XVIII. 9.

I. Our Saviour designed the following Parable, to be a Stricture upon some spiritually proud Persons, who had an overweening Opinion of their own Perfections, and had very contemptuous Thoughts concerning those, who they fancied had not arrived to an equal degree of Goodness with themselves. There were two Persons, of very different Characters, who went at the same time into the same Court of the Temple, to pay their Devotions to God; the one, of the austere and rigid Sect of the Pharisees; the other, a Publican by Profession, who had indulged himself in great Liberties of Life. The Pharisee coming in with extraordinary Boldness and Assurance, stood up with an erect Countenance, as presuming himself to be in great Favour and Friendship with God, addressing himself in a Prayer to this Tenour: I do not apply to thee, O God, for any greater Effusion of thy Grace upon me, than what I stand already possessed of; I only take this Opportunity to acknowledge thy Favour, in distinguishing me, by my Holiness, from the common Herd of Mankind: That I am not defective in Negative Duties, as most of them are: That I oppress none of my own Countrymen, by Usury: That I defraud no Man in my Dealings: That I do not defile my Neighbour's Bed; and, in a word, That I am not such a vile Wretch (pointing with a scornful Air to the Person before-mention'd) as this Publican, whom I see there, is. And thou knowest, O Lord, that as for the Positive Duties of Religion, I am not behind-hand with any; for I keep two Fasting-Days in every Week; and no Man is more punctual in paying Tithes, than I am, even of those minute Things which the Law does not require. II The Publican, on the other side, came in, with a modest and humble Deportment; he placed himself just within the Court-Wall, at the remotest distance from the Temple, being conscious that his Sins obliged him, not to come too near to the Place which God had sanctified by his more immediate Presence; his Eyes were cast down to the Ground, as not daring to look up to Heaven, where is the Throne of that God, whom, by his Sins, he had so much provoked; striking his Hand upon his Breast, out of a pious Sorrow and Indignation against himself, for his wretched Folly and Ingratitude: And his Heart being too full to say much, he utter'd only these Words, Lord be merciful to me a Sinner. II. Now I must needs tell you, That this Penitent Publican went away more in God's Favour, than the Proud Pharisee. From this Parable you may learn, That Humility is a Vertue valuable both in the sight of God and Man; That this is the best Qualification to make Men esteemed; and lastly, That, tho' the Proud Man's chief Aim be to be respected, that very Pride is a continual Obstacle to his Desires, and, in stead of making him to be honoured, occasions him constantly to be despised.

I. That happy Success of my Labours in the Gospel, and that God has been pleased to make use of me for an Instrument in that great Work, has occasion'd me to set some little Value upon myself, and to speak with a freedom to you, which perhaps otherwise I should not have made use of. Not that I attribute this great Success of my Labours to my own Power and letter, but of the Spirit: for the letter killeth, but the Spirit giveth life. II. But if the miniſtration of death written and engraven in ſtones was glorious, ſo that the children of Iſrael could not ſtedfaſtly behold the face of Moſes for the glory of his countenance, which glory was to be done away; How ſhall not the miniſtration of the Spirit be rather glorious? For if the miniſtration of condemnation be glory much more doth the miniſtration of righteouſneſs exceed in glory.

and Diligence; for no one can ſo much as enter upon a Reſolution for carrying on ſo great a Deſign, by his own Natural Strength; and it muſt be God's Aſſiſtance which muſt qualifie us with Power and Ability for ſuch a Work. 'Tis owing to his gracious Goodneſs, that I, and the reſt of my Brethren the Apoſtles, are made Miniſters of the New Covenant of God, made with Man, and manifeſted in the Goſpel; a Covenant, not of that literal carnal Nature as the Moſaical was, but of a more refined and ſpiritual one: For that Literal Covenant of Moſes, (by binding Men down to the Obſervation of very difficult Precepts, which it was hardly poſſible to perform, without any Supernatural Aſſiſtance promiſed to aſſiſt Men in their Duty,) is a very Killing-Ordinance, and under which Salvation is with great difficulty to be obtained; whereas the more Spiritual Diſpenſation of the Goſpel, puts Men in an eaſier Way of obtaining Everlaſting Life. II. Now if this Killing-Ordinance, ſome part whereof was written upon Tables of Stone, was uſhered in with ſuch an extraordinary Glory, and ſo ſtrong and bright a Light, as caſt ſuch a Splendor on Moſes his Face, that the Eyes of the Iſraelites were not able to look upon him, when he came down from the Mount; and whereas, after all this, this Law, which was delivered with ſo much Splendor, was, after a time, to be aboliſhed: Of what a glorious Excellency muſt you ſuppoſe the Spiritual Law of the Goſpel to be, whoſe Sanctions are Eternal, and the Rewards thereof, a State of Everlaſting Life and Glory? If that Law, which involves Men in ſo much Guilt for the difficulty of obſerving its Precepts, which, for the moſt part, are but Ceremonial ones, was ſo very glorious; moſt certainly the Rules of the Goſpel, which are full of ſo much Internal Goodneſs and Holineſs, as much as they want of the External Pomp and Splendor of the other in this World, the Obſervance of them ſhall be rewarded with a more conſummate degree of Glory and Happineſs in the other.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Mark VII. 31.

I. Our Saviour, having preached the Goſpel, and done ſeveral Miracles in the Country about Tyre and Sidon, came back to the Sea of Galilee, otherwiſe call'd the Lake of Geneſareth, paſſing through the middle of the Country of Decapolis. And as he paſſed by, the Fame of his Coming, reached the Ears of ſeveral of the Country, which occaſion'd the bringing unto him of a Perſon who was Deaf and Dumb: Thoſe that came with the Party ſo affected, begg'd of our Saviour, that he would be pleaſed to lay his Hand upon him, in order to his Cure. II. Our Saviour took the affected Perſon aſide from the reſt of the Company, putting his Fingers into his Ears, and touching his Tongue with Spittle; being pleas'd to make uſe of this Outward Means, to convey the Miraculous Power of Healing by. And then he turned his Eyes up towards Heaven, fetching a deep Sigh, on Conſideration of the Misfortunes which Human Nature was ſubject to. And all of a ſudden, the Man's Ears were ſo opened, that the diſtinction of Sounds clearly entred into them; and the Muſcles of his Tongue were ſo ſtrengthned, that he was able to move it ſo readily, as to form therewith an articulate Sound. III. When the Miracle was performed, our Saviour, that he might avoid Popularity, bid the Perſons, who were Eye-witneſſes thereof, be very ſparing in divulging what they had ſeen him do: But they, partly out of a Senſe of Gratitude, and partly out of a Vanity incident to Human Nature, were, upon that Prohibition, more eagerly diſpoſed to do it, and accordingly publiſh'd it throughout all the Country. And all that heard this wonderful Relation, were under a very great degree of Admiration, and ſaid; Moſt certainly this is that Perſon, of whom Iſaiah foretold, That he ſhould perform ſuch wonderful Works: The Eyes of the Blind ſhall be opened, and the Ears of the Deaf ſhall be unſtopped, Iſa. xxxv. 5.

The EPISTLE. GAL. III. 16.

I. TO Abraham and his ſeed were the promiſes made. He ſaith not, And to ſeeds, as of many; but as of one, And to thy ſeed, which is Chriſt. And this I ſay, that the covenant that was confirmed before of God in Chriſt, the law which was four hundred and thirty years after, cannot diſanul; that it ſhould make the promiſe of none effect. For if the inheritance be of the law, it is no more of promiſe; but God gave it to Abraham by promiſe. II. Wherefore then ſerveth the law? It was added becauſe of tranſgreſſions, till the ſeed ſhould come, to whom the promiſe was made; and it was ordained by angels in the hand of a mediatour. Now a mediatour is not a mediatour of one, but God is one. III. Is the law then againſt the promiſes of God? God forbid: for if there had been a law given, which could have given life, verily righteouſneſs ſhould have been by the law. But the Scripture hath concluded all under ſin, that the promiſe by faith of Jeſus Chriſt might be given to them that believe.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Gal. III. 16.

I. When God made that famous Covenant with Abraham, Gen. xv. it is obſervable, That he does not make the Promiſe to his Seeds, in the Plural Number, but to his Seed, in the Singular; thereby not diſtinguiſhing his Spiritual Children, who were ſo by Faith, from his Carnal Children, who were to deſcend from his Body: But ſaying, to Seed, there was a particular Reſpect had to Jeſus Chriſt, and, by Virtue of him, to all Chriſtians. Now, if all the Spiritual Children of Abraham, who, by Believing in Jeſus Chriſt, are his Children by Faith, have a Right to the Promiſes of the Abrahamical Covenant, there is no reaſon to think that they ſhould loſe their Title to it, by the Moſaical Covenant; for that being made Four hundred and thirty Years after the Abrahamical, the former one ought to take Place before the latter; or however, it could not defraud them of their Right in the Promiſe of God, who claim'd it from the Firſt Covenant. For, if being in Favour with God, and having a Right to his Promiſes, does depend upon the Moſaical Covenant, then it is not owing to the Abrahamical Covenant, as the Scripture does expreſly declare it is. II. But then you will object to this, and ſay, To what Purpoſe then did God eſtabliſh the Moſaical Law, if Men might be in Favour with God, and have a Title to his Promiſes, without it? I anſwer, That this was eſtabliſhed for very good Purpoſe, viz. To reſtrain the Jewiſh Nation from Sin, and to keep them from mixing with the Idolatrous Rites, and wicked Manners, of the Heathen Nations round them; which was of excellent Uſe for a while, till the Time came in which God Almighty deſigned to raiſe up a more Spiritual Seed to Abraham, which God had chiefly in view, when he made that Promiſe to Abraham. Now 'tis obſervable, That when God Almighty deliver'd this Law of Moſes, he did it by the Miniſtry of Angels, in a very terrible manner; which ſhewed, that the Perſons for whoſe ſake he gave it, were not in the higheſt degree of Favour with him; for he would not Perſonally converſe with them himſelf, but made Moſes his Mediator between him and them. Now, Perſons who are not at Variance with each other, but who are one, as we uſe to ſay, i. e. are in intimate Friendſhip with one another, have no need of a Mediator to tranſact Matters between them. Which ſhews, that God did not bear ſuch an extraordinary Favour to the Jewiſh Nation, ſo as to exclude all the reſt of his Creatures for ever from it. For God is one and the ſame God to all the World, bearing an uniform Affection to all thoſe who faithfully ſerve him. III. Is there a Contrariety then between the Abrahamical Covenant, and the Moſaical? God forbid that I ſhould ſay ſo: But this I ſay, That if the Moſaical Law could have furniſh'd out the propereſt Methods for obtaining Everlaſting Life, there would have been no need of the Goſpel. But 'tis plain, that the Moſaical Law was ſo difficult to be obſerved, and involved the Profeſſors of it under ſo much Guilt, for want of keeping up to its Precepts, that Almighty God, in his infinite Wiſdom, found it neceſſary to eſtabliſh the Faith or Religion of Jeſus Chriſt, that Men might obtain Eternal Life thereby, upon eaſier Conditions.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Luke X. 23.

I. Our Saviour, addreſſing himſelf to his Diſciples, ſpake thus: 'Tis a very great degree of Happineſs, which you are allowed to partake of, in being inſtructed by my Doctrine, and ſeeing it confirmed to you, by ſo many Miracles done before your Eyes. This is a Happineſs, which many of the ancient Prophets, and pious Princes, who were in Expectation of the Meſſias, wiſhed to have enjoyed in their Time; but they went to their Graves, without that Satisfaction. II. Sometime after this, a Lawyer came to put a captious Queſtion to him, hoping he might give ſome unwary Anſwer to it, that thereupon he might have an Advantage againſt him, to accuſe him to the Government. The Queſtion, which he put to him, was this: Sir, (ſay he) I am very deſirous of obtaining Everlaſting Life in another World, and I deſire to be inform'd by you, what proper Methods I muſt uſe to obtain it. Our Saviour made Anſwer, That you have the Law of Moſes, to give you Directions in this Matter; and what have you learn'd from thence? I find, (replies the Lawyer,) that a Man is obliged to obſerve every Precept of both the Tables of the Decalogue, or Ten Commandments; the Sum of the Firſt Table whereof is, To love God with all our Hearts; and the Sum of the Second Table, is, To love our Neighbour as ourſelves. Our Saviour replied, That this was a very good Anſwer, and that, if he did not fail in practiſing theſe two Rules, he need not fear but he ſhould be happy in another World. The Lawyer, having a mind to inſinuate himſelf into the good Eſteem of our Saviour, and others preſent, by pretending a mighty Deſire to be particularly informed, in a Matter of ſo momentous a Concern as Everlaſting Salvation; and probably, hoping thereby to enſnare him into ſome Anſwer which he might make Advantage of, purſued him with this further Queſtion: But then, I pray Sir, whom ſhall I account for my Neighbour; all the prophane Race of Mankind, or only the Jews, God's Favourite People, as all our Doctors hold?

ſaid unto Jeſus, And who is my neighbour? III. And Jeſus anſwering, ſaid, A certain man went down from Jeruſalem to Jericho, and fell among thieves, which ſtripped him of his raiment, and wounded him, and departed leaving him half dead. And by chance there came down a certain prieſt that way, and when he ſaw him, he paſſed by on the other ſide. And likewiſe a Levite, when he was at the place, came and looked on him, and paſſed by on the other ſide. IV. But a certain Samaritan, as he journeyed, came where he was; and when he ſaw him, he had compaſſion on him, and went to him, and bound up his wounds, pouring in oyl, and wine, and ſet him on his own beaſt, and brought him to an inn, and took care of him. And on the morrow when he departed, he took out two pence, and gave them to the hoſt, and ſaid unto him, Take care of him, and whatſoever thou ſpendeſt more, when I come again I will repay thee. Which now of theſe three, thinkeſt thou, was neighbour unto him that fell among the thieves? And he ſaid, He that ſhewed mercy on him. Then ſaid Jeſus unto him, Go and do thou likewiſe.

I. I Say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye ſhall not fulfil the luſt of the fleſh. For the fleſh luſteth againſt the Spirit, and the Spirit againſt the fleſh; and theſe are hold? III. To this Queſtion, our Saviour made Anſwer, in this Parabolical Hiſtory: A certain Man, whoſe Buſineſs call'd him to go from Jeruſalem to Jericho, whilſt he was upon the Road, was ſo unfortunate as to be ſet upon by Highway-men, who robb'd him, ſtript him, wounded him, and left him almoſt dead. Not long after, there came by a Prieſt, travelling upon the ſame Road, who ſeeing the Man in this miſerable Condition, thought it would occaſion him ſome Trouble and Expence to relieve him, and therefore paſſed by on the other ſide of the Way, pretending not to ſee him; but proſecuted his Journey, notwithſtanding the Holineſs of his Function obliged him to a more compaſſionate Treatment. Not long after this, paſſed by a Levite, who only gave a glance upon the unfortunate Man, and, without ſhewing any further Pity, went forwards on his Way. IV. But a Samaritan happening to travel that Road, tho' he was of a different Communion from the diſtreſſed Jew, yet he had that Compaſſion from him, as, tho' being intent upon his Journey, to ſtay to relieve him to the utmoſt of his power. He very carefully waſhed his Wounds with Wine, and ſuppled them with Oil, which he had moſt providentially brought with him, binding them up with ſuch Ligaments as that Exigence would afford; and having ſo done, he carefully placed him upon the Beaſt which he rode upon in his Journey, himſelf travelling a-foot till he came to the Inn, taking further care of him there, and providing ſuch Neceſſaries for him as that Place would afford. Being obliged the next Morning to proceed on his Journey, he gave the Maſter of the Houſe two Denaries for what further Neceſſaries ſhould be requiſite for him, charging him that he ſhould let him want no Convenience, and promiſing, that, in caſe he ſhould expend more on the wounded Perſon's Account, he would repay him on his Return. And now, ſays our Saviour to this Lawyer, I deſire your opinion, Which of all theſe three Paſſengers you judge, in the moſt proper ſenſe, to be termed the Neighbour to the wounded Perſon; whether the two Jews, who paſſed unconcernedly by him, or the Samaritan, who relieved him in this great Diſtreſs? The Lawyer anſwer'd, Moſt undoubtedly the Samaritan, who was touched with ſo great a Senſe of Compaſſion towards him, as, to his own Detriment, ſo kindly to relieve him in his Misfortunes. Upon this, our Saviour ſubjoined this Advice; Do you imitate the Example of that Perſon, whoſe Neighbourly Kindneſs you yourſelf, by your own judgment, have approved: Do not you, like too many of your Countrymen, retain a Soureneſs and Averſion to all of a different Perſwaſion in Religion from yourſelves; for, ſince you cannot but commend the Charity of a Samaritan towards a Jew, the Charity of a Jew towards a Samaritan is not to be condemned.

I. Now I muſt preſs one thing very particularly upon you, which is, That you govern your Lives and Actions according to that Spiritual Law which our Bleſſed Saviour has given us, ſo as not to gratifie thoſe Inclinations which a corrupt Nature is apt to diſpoſe you to. For indeed, there is a great deal of Struggle between the Principles of Religion, and Mens Carnal Tendencies; one moving them to what is holy, and fitting, and reaſonable, and for their true Intereſt; the other, enclining them to what is pleaſant, and for their worldly Profit: So that good Men, oftentimes in this State of Mortality, cannot arrive to that height of Piety and Goodneſs which they are willing to do. Now, ſince we have engaged ourſelves in the Profeſſion of this Spiritual Religion, which affords Rules of ſuch admirable Excellency, you muſt not think of diſcharging your Duty therein, by performing the Old Legal Obſervances and Rites of the Moſaical Law; for theſe were proper enough to govern the Servants of God, when they were in their Pupillage; but now they are at Age, they muſt be under the Direction of the Spirit, and be govern'd by are contrary the one to the other; ſo that ye cannot do the things that ye would. But if ye be led by the Spirit, ye are not under the law. II. Now the works of the fleſh are manifeſt, which are theſe, Adultery, fornication, uncleanneſs, laſciviouſneſs, idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, variance, emulations, wrath, ſtrife, ſeditions, hereſies, envyings, murders, drunkenneſs, revellings, and ſuch like: of the which I tell you before, as I have alſo told you in time paſt, that they who do ſuch things ſhall not inherit the kingdom of God. III. But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-ſuffering, gentleneſs, goodneſs, faith, meekneſs, temperance: againſt ſuch there is no law. And they that are Chriſt's have crucified the fleſh with the affections and luſts.

I. AND it came to paſs, as Jeſus went to Jeruſalem, that he paſſed through the midſt of Samaria and Galilee. And as he entred into a certain village, there met him ten men that were lepers, who ſtood afar off. And they lifted up their voices, and ſaid, Jeſus maſter, have mercy on us. II. And when he ſaw them, he ſaid unto them, Go ſhew your ſelves unto the prieſts. And it came to paſs, that as they went, they were cleanſed. And one of them, when he ſaw that he was healed, turned back, and with a loud voice glorified God, and fell down on his face at his feet, giving him thanks; and he was a Samaritan. III. And Jeſus anſwering, ſaid, Were there not ten cleanſed? but where are the nine? There are not found that returned to give glory to God, ſave this ſtranger. And he ſaid unto him, Ariſe, go thy way, thy faith hath made thee whole.

by the Principles of Chriſtianity, which will better inſtruct them. II. But becauſe you may the better know when you are under the Direction of the Spirit, and have the Religion of Jeſus Chriſt a Governing Principle in you, I will ſum up ſome Particulars, which thoſe that indulge themſelves in the Practice of, are not true Profeſſors of Chriſtianity; their Carnal Life being inconſiſtent with the Spiritual Nature of that Holy Religion: And they are theſe: Adultery, which is, a Violating the Ties of Conjugal Fidelity and Chaſtity, or Defiling the Bed of another. Fornication, under which are contained all Commixtures of Unmarried Perſons with each other. Uncleanneſs, which denotes the perpetrating of all Luſtful Actions contrary to Nature; and Laſciviouſneſs, which comprehends all Incitations and Allurements to Luſt, by Wanton Words or Actions. Idolatry, which is the Worſhip of Falſe-Gods, or Images. Witchcraft, which is, the making uſe of Magical Arts, or the doing or expecting Supernatural Effects from the Power of Evil Spirits. Hatred, or inveterate Malice againſt thoſe that have offended us. Variance, or keeping a Shineſs, or Diſtance from our Brethren. Emulations, or ambitious deſiring of Honours or Preferments ourſelves, or grudging at thoſe that have them. Wrath, or immoderate Anger. Strife, or a contentious Quarrelling with thoſe that oppoſe us by their Actions or Opinions. Seditions, or mutinous Behaviour in Church or State. Hereſies, or the broaching falſe Opinions in the Fundamentals of Religion. Envyings, or a Repining at other Perſons Welfare, or good Succeſs. Murder, or the deſtroying any one's Life, or good Name. Drunkenneſs, or an Exceſs in Drinking. Revellings, the ſquandring away Time and Proviſion, and diſordering one's ſelf in Feaſtings, and Merry-makings. And ſeveral other Actions of the like Nature with theſe. Now I muſt tell you plainly, That thoſe who indulge themſelves in theſe Actions, ſhall not be Partakers of thoſe Heavenly Rewards which Chriſtianity propoſes. III. But, on the other ſide, the Actions which a good Chriſtian is known by, as a Tree by its Fruits, are theſe following: Love, or a friendly Diſpoſition to all Men; which is contrary to the Hatred before-mention'd. A Joy and Satisfaction at the Welfare of our Brethren, in oppoſition to Envy and Emulation. Peace, or a quiet Behaviour with thoſe we converſe with, in oppoſition to Strife. Long-ſuffering, or a bearing with the Affronts and Injuries offered, in oppoſition to Revenge before ſpoken of. Gentleneſs, or Calmneſs or Sweetneſs of Behaviour, which is contrary to Wrath. Goodneſs, or a taking every thing kindly, and in good part, and in putting the beſt Conſtruction upon Actions; in oppoſition to Sedition, and going into Parties, upon every thing that does not pleaſe. Faith, or a ready Aſſent to the Principles of Religion; in oppoſition to Hereſy, which believes nothing, but according to natural Reaſon, or prepoſſeſſed Opinion. Meekneſs, or a gentle Deportment in Words and Actions; in oppoſition to Wrath and Hatred. Temperance, or an avoiding all unlawful Pleaſures, and a moderate uſe of all lawful ones; in oppoſition to Fornication, Drunkenneſs, &c. Now, the Law of God is ſo far from condemning ſuch Actions, that when Men conſcientiouſly diſcharge them, God ſhall reward them with Everlaſting Happineſs. And it is an eaſie Matter to know that Men belong to Chriſt, and are faithful Profeſſors of his Religion, when they ſquare their Lives according to the Rules which he has given them, and have gotten ſuch a Maſtery over their evil Inclinations, that they are no longer under the Power of them.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Luke XVII. 11.

I. Our Bleſſed Lord, going from Galilee to Jeruſalem, as he was entring into a Village that he was to paſs through, in his Way thither, the Fame of his Coming reaching the Ears of thoſe that were in the Place before he came; ten Perſons who had a Leproſy upon them, a Diſtemper very common in that Country, came out to meet him, in hopes to be cured of their Diſtemper. The diſeaſed Perſons ſtood afar off, not offering to come nigh our Saviour, as being under a Legal Uncleanneſs, but call'd out with a loud Voice, O Rabbi Jeſus, thou famous Prophet, have Pity upon us, in Curing us of our Diſeaſe. II. Our Saviour then taking notice of them, bid them go and ſhew themſelves to the Prieſt, and they ſhould be cured of their Diſtemper. And as they were on their Way to Jeruſalem, in order to go to the Prieſt, they, to their great Surprize, found themſelves cured. Nine of them went upon their ordinary Buſineſs; but one of the number, being a Samaritan, out of a great Senſe of Gratitude for the Benefit received, returned back to our Saviour, and praiſed God, for the great Bleſſing he had ſo lately received from him; and likewiſe, in an humble manner, fell down proſtrate at his Feet, moſt heartily thanking him for the great Favour which he had vouchſafed him, in making uſe of the Divine Power he was veſted with, to work his Cure. III. Our Saviour taking notice of this Man's Thankfulneſs, and the Ingratitude of the others, asked him where the other nine were, who were lately cured, and ow'd as much Thanks to him as he did? making this further Remark upon this Occurrence; That it was ſomething extraordinary, that nine Jews, who pretended to a peculiar Sanctity, by virtue of their Religion, and their Extraction from the holy Patriarchs, ſhould receive ſo miraculous a Favour from God, and never vouchſafe to thank him for it, or the Perſon whom he was pleaſed to make uſe of as his Inſtrument in it; but that a Samaritan, who profeſſed a worſe Religion, and was deſcended from Heathen Progenitors, ſhould diſtinguiſh himſelf, in punctually obſerving both theſe Duties, which the others were defective in: Riſe up (ſays he) from the Ground, on which thou haſt in moſt humble manner proſtrated thyſelf before me, and go away in Peace and Content, for thy Cure is owing to thy Faith; God having ſo great a Regard to it, as miraculouſly to remove thy foul Diſtemper from thee, for the ſake of it.

I. YE ſee how large a letter I have written unto you with mine own hand. As many as deſire to make a fair ſhew in the fleſh, they conſtrain you to be be circumciſed, only leſt they ſhould ſuffer perſecution for the croſs of Chriſt. For neither they themſelves who are circumciſed keep the law; but deſire to have you circumciſed, that they may glory in your fleſh. II. But God forbid that I ſhould glory, ſave in the croſs of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, by whom the world is crucified unto me, and I unto the world. For in Chriſt Jeſus neither circumciſion availeth any thing, nor uncircumciſion, but a new creature. We beſeech thee, O Lord, to preſerve thy Church with the continual Watchfulneſs of thy good Providence: And becauſe the Infirmity of our Human Nature is ſuch, that we are apt frequently to fall into Sin, we beg thy Aſſiſtance to keep us from any ſtrong Temptation which may be a Snare to our Innocence, and to ſuccour us with all Helps which may further our Salvation: And this we pray, for the ſake of Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Gal. VI. 11.

I. You ſee, my beloved Galatians, that out of the great Reſpect which I bear you, contrary to my Cuſtom, I have written a Letter of conſiderable length to you, with my own Hand; the Buſineſs of my Apoſtleſhip being ſo very great, that I am forced commonly to dictate to an Amanuenſis, for Expedition. I know, thoſe that are fond of keeping up the Judaical Ceremonies, and deſirous of profeſſing a ſpecious and pompous Religion, are extraordinarily earneſt to have you Circumciſed; to the end, that the Chriſtian Religion may look more like the Jewiſh, and that thereby they may the better avoid Perſecution, in all Places where the Jewiſh Religion is eſtabliſhed, or tolerated. But, as much as they ſtand up for theſe Jewiſh Ceremonies, and contend for other Perſons obſerving them, they do not obſerve them themſelves, they neglecting many of them when they think fit: But, after all, they do not deſire to draw you in, to ſubmit to the Rite of Circumciſion, ſo much, to make you to obſerve the Moſaical Law, as to reflect an Honour upon themſelves, in making you Proſelytes to their Party, and in fixing you firmly in their Intereſt, when you have condeſcended to receive that Mark in your Fleſh. II. But God forbid that I ſhould have any ſuch-like ambitious Aim: My greateſt Glory is, to preach the Doctrine of Jeſus Chriſt, for the ſake of which, I have abandoned all Worldly Enjoyments; I deſpiſing the World, and the World again contemning and perſecuting me. But however, with relation to the Controverſy about the Jewiſh Ceremonies, this I would have you to lay down as an undoubted Maxim; That, as to the principal Concern of Salvation, which ought to be your chiefeſt Aim, 'tis not the being Circumciſed, or the not being Circumciſed, will bring a Man to Heaven; but the renewing our Nature, and forming our Lives, according to the Precepts of our Bleſſed Lord. Now they, who ſquare their Lives according to this Rule, whether they be Circumciſed or not, are God's true Iſraelites: And may God Almighty ſhowre down his Bleſſing upon all ſuch good Perſons. For the future, I deſire not to be troubled with the Reſolution of this Queſtion, you having ſufficiently known my Sentiments therein, by this Epiſtle. And, as to that Mark of Circumciſion, which ſome ſet ſo great a Value upon, I muſt tell you, I bear in my Body a more honourable Mark than this, the Scars of the Scourging and the Stoning, which I have undergone, for the Preaching the Goſpel of my Maſter, Chriſt Jeſus. And now I commend you all to the good Grace of God, and which I wiſh to dwell in, and to take Poſſeſſion of your Hearts. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. Matth. VI. 24.

I. Our Saviour, in his Sermon on the Mount, proceeded in this manner; To diſſwade Men from a too great Care for their Worldly Welfare. You are ſufficiently appriſed of this Truth, That one Servant cannot faithfully diſcharge his Duty to two Maſters; for it cannot be, but that he will have a ſtronger Biaſs of Affection to one, than to the other; and, as their Intereſt will frequently interfere, ſo ſuch a Servant cannot forbear to promote the Advantage of his beloved Maſter, before that of the other whom he has the leſs Eſteem for. In like manner, no one can be a ſincere Servant of the True God, and of Mammon the God of Riches; true Piety being inconſiſtent with a progging for Wealth, and a hankering after the Advantages of this World. Therefore I lay this Injunction upon you, that are my Diſciples, That you ſhould not entertain ſuch an anxious Care after the good Things of this World, as may hinder you from making a juſt Proviſion for a better. For you know, that all theſe things are but only to ſuſtain Life, and to defend our Bodies from the Injuries of the Weather. Therefore, ſince it is the good God, who has given us Life, and has formed theſe Bodies of ours, we have no reaſon to ſuſpect his gracious Pro-cannot ſerve God and Mammon. Therefore I ſay unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye ſhall eat, or what ye ſhall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye ſhall put on: Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment? II. Behold the fowls of the air; for they ſow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly father feedeth them: Are ye not much better than they? Which of you by taking thought can add one cubit unto his Stature? And why take ye thought for raiment? III. Conſider the lilies of the field how they grow: they toil not, neither do they ſpin: and yet I ſay unto you, that even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of theſe. Wherefore if God ſo clothe the graſs of the field, which to day is, and to morrow is caſt into the oven; ſhall he not much more clothe you, O ye of little faith? IV. Therefore take no thought ſaying, What ſhall we eat? or what ſhall we drink? or wherewithal ſhall we be clothed? (for after all theſe things do the Gentiles ſeek) for your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all theſe things. But ſeek ye firſt the kingdom of God, and his righteouſneſs, and all theſe things ſhall be added unto you. Take therefore no thought for the morrow; for the morrow ſhall take thought for the things of it ſelf: ſufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.

The EPISTLE. EPHES. III. 13.

I. I Deſire that ye faint not at my tribulations for you, which is your glory. For this cauſe I bow my knees unto the Father of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, of whom the vidence, in ſecuring to us a Competency of theſe Outward Conveniencies, which are far inferior to Life, and are only Means which tend to preſerve it. II. Allow but yourſelves Time to conſider, how the Providence of God diſplays itſelf, in the Preſervation of the Inferior Parts of the Creation. Think, how plentifully God Almighty provides for the Birds; and yet they do not ſo much as make uſe of the ordinary Diligence which Men exerciſe for their Livelihood; they neither plough, nor ſow, nor build Barns, or Granaries, for their Maintenance. Now can we think, that the Providence of that ſame gracious God will be ſcanty to us, who are a far ſuperior part of his Workmanſhip, when he is ſo liberal to theſe mean Creatures? But, ſuppoſing that you are never ſo anxious and ſollicitous about the Means of Life, and could obtain never-ſo-great a Share of them, ye muſt not think that theſe will prolong your Lives longer than God Almighty pleaſes; any more than you can imagine, that they will enlarge your Stature, or make you a foot or two higher. III. And when you are in fear of wanting Raiment yourſelves, or are enclined to envy the rich Attire of others, take into your Conſideration the Providence of God, with relation to Plants and Flowers, and think with how gorgeous Apparel he cloaths, for Inſtance, the Lilies, or * Tulips, which grow wild in the Field, without any human Labour laid out upon them, and without any Induſtry of their own to ſpin or weave their beautiful Robes; and yet I dare ſay, that Solomon, who, in his Magnificence, excell'd all the Eaſtern Monarchs, when he ſate on his Throne, arrayed in his Majeſtick Attire, was not ſo glorioufly clad, nor did his Purple ſhine ſo bright, as the lively Colours of theſe common Flowers. Now, if God takes ſuch ſpecial care to cloath and adorn the ordinary Field-Flowers, which he deſigns only for a Day or two's Duration, which this day flouriſh, and the next day are withered, and burnt for Fuel; Do not you think that he is as ready to afford convenient Raiment for his faithful Servants, whom he propoſes to make eternally happy? To think otherwiſe, will beſpeak you to have very wrong Notions of God's Goodneſs, and a very ſmall Truſt in his Providence. IV. It is enough for the Heathen Nations, who have no Hopes beyond this World, to be ſollicitous about theſe Matters: But you, who have the Happineſs of a Celeſtial Kingdom, and the Joys of the other World, in view, have no reaſon to trouble your Thoughts about theſe mean Concerns. Uſe your utmoſt Diligence in obtaining this State of Glory, and leave theſe Outward Things to the ordinary Providence of God, who will not fail to provide you a Sufficiency of them. Therefore, I pray you, be not over-ſollicitous in the procuring the Conveniencies of this Life, nor torment yourſelves with diſtracting Thoughts, for fear you ſhould want them. For, if you have them not, the Diſappointment is not very great; but to diſcompoſe yourſelves before you want them, by a fear, that ſome time or other you may, is but to encreaſe the Uneaſineſs of your Condition. Every Day of this Life, is attended with ſufficient Inconvenience; but to add a further Sorrow, by frightful Apprehenſions of future Misfortunes which may poſſibly happen, is but to double our Unhappineſs, and make the Uneaſineſs of it come upon us, before God ſends it.

you ſee me undergo for it; eſpecially ſince they happen to me upon your Account, which ought to be Matter of Glorying to you, and ſhould animate you to ſuffer likewiſe with Courage, after my Example. For this reaſon, I pray to God, for the ſake of his Son Jeſus Chriſt, (who is acknowledged to be the Saviour of the World, both by Jews and Gentiles,) that he would afford you not only the Vertues of Conſtancy and Patience, but all other Vertues and Graces which are requiſite for you, in your Chriſtian Warfare; eſpecially, that your Belief in Jeſus Chriſt may be ſo firmly ſettled and rooted in your Hearts, as not to be ſhaken by any Perſecutions which may befal you: That you may have a juſt Senſe (as all good Chriſtians ought to have) of God's unparallell'd and ſtupendous Love to Mankind, manifeſted in the Redemption of the World by our Saviour Chriſt; and that our Love to him, upon the Reflexion on this ineſtimable Benefit, may work you up to ſuch a Love, and Gratitude, and Ardency of Affection towards him, that you may be content to undergo any Sufferings for his ſake. #### PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Luke VII. 11.

I. The Day after our Saviour had cured the Centurion's Servant, he went to Naim, a City of Galilee, being attended, not only by Diſciples, but by many other People. And being come near the Town, there was a dead Perſon carried to be buried in the Burial-place, which was out of the City-Gates, he being the only Son of a Widow who liv'd in the Town, and many of her Neighbours were together with her, attending the Corps. II. When our Lord obſerved under what an exceſſive degree of Grief the poor Woman was, this being excited in her, by the Natural Tenderneſs of her Sex, and a freſh Reflexion upon ſo ſad a Misfortune; he pitying her Condition, bid her ſtay her Tears, and raiſe her dejected Spirits, he having ſomething to offer, which would aſſwage her Grief: And with that, he laid his Hand on the Bier; upon which the Bearers of it ſtood ſtill: And then he called out aloud, Young man, Ariſe. Theſe Words were no ſooner ſpoken, but the dead Perſon raiſed himſelf, and ſate up, and after that, ſoon recover'd the uſe of his Speech: Then coming off from the Bier, and being reſtored to perfect Health, our Saviour preſented him to his Mother, who received him with no little Joy. III. This Miracle, ſo inconteſtably evident, and done in the Preſence of ſo great a number of People, ſtruck all the Spectators with a religious Awe of the Divine Power by which it was effected; and they univerſally owned, that a mighty Prophet was riſen up in Judæa; and that God Almighty had ſhewn an extraordinary Favour to his Choſen People the Jews, in ſending a Perſon of that ſacred Character, and veſted with ſo eminent a degree of the Divine Power, among them.

The GOSPEL. S. LUKE XIV. 1.

I. IT came to paſs, as Jeſus went into the houſe of one of the chief Phariſees to eat bread on the ſabbath-day, that they watched him. And behold, there was a certain man before him who had the dropſie. II. And Jeſus anſwering, ſpake unto the lawyers and Phariſees, ſaying, Is it lawful to heal on the ſabbath-day? And they held their peace. And he took him, and healed him, and let him go; and anſwer'd them, ſaying, Which of you ſhall have an aſs, or an ox fallen into a pit, and will not ſtraight-way pull him out on the ſabbath-day? And they could not anſwer him again to theſe things. III. And he put forth a parable to thoſe who were bidden, when he marked how they choſe out the chief rooms, ſaying unto them, When thou art bidden of any man to a wedding, ſit not down in the higheſt room, leſt a more honourable man than thou be bidden of him: And he that bade thee and him, come and ſay to thee, Give this man place; and thou begin with ſhame to take the loweſt room. IV. But when thou art bidden, go and ſit down in the loweſt room, that when he that bade thee, cometh, he may ſay unto thee, Friend, go up higher: then ſhalt thou have worſhip in the preſence of them that ſit at meat with thee. For whoſoever exalteth himſelf, ſhall be abaſed; and he that humbleth himſelf, ſhall be exalted.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Eph. IV. 1.

I. I Paul, who am a Priſoner, for Preaching the Goſpel of Jeſus Chriſt, beſeech you, by the Bonds which I ſuffer for your ſakes, that you would lead Lives anſwerable to that excellent Religion which you make profeſſion of: That you would not barely profeſs Chriſtianity, but exerciſe the Chriſtian Vertues; that you would be meek and lowly in your own Opinions; that you bear with Patience the Injuries which are offered you, and the Perſecutions which may befal you; and do not deſpiſe or ſeverely cenſure the Imprudence or Ignorance of others. Make it your Study to preſerve Unity in the Church, by avoiding all Diſſenſions and Schiſms; for Concord is the moſt effectual Way to bind and knit you cloſe together, to preſerve you from the Aſſaults of your Adverſaries: There being no Ground for Diviſions and Separations among you; ſince you are all one Spiritual Body, and are all in Expectation of the ſame Everlaſting State of Happineſs. Ye have but one Lord and Maſter, Jeſus Chriſt, the great Founder of your Religion; ye have but one Confeſſion of Faith to which you all aſſent; you have but one Baptiſmal Vow which you all take upon yourſelves: You have but one God the Father, who created all things, and, by his good Providence, does continually keep and preſerve you.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Luke XIV. 1.

I. Our Saviour being invited to Dinner on a Sabbath-Day, to the Houſe of a Phariſee of conſiderable Note; ſeveral of that Sect being in Company, who had an eye upon him, to find out whether he did or ſaid any thing contrary to the Law, or their Traditions; it happened, in the Way thither, that a certain Perſon, who was affected with a Dropſy, preſented himſelf before him, in order to be cured by him. II. Our Saviour, being reſolved to work his Cure, asked this previous Queſtion of thoſe Lawyers and Phariſees that were in his Company, Whether it was contrary to the Moſaical Law, to cure a Sick-man of his Diſtemper upon the Sabbath? But they gave no Anſwer to his Queſtion, fearing that our Saviour might draw ſome Conſequences from their Determination of it, as might be prejudicial to their Opinions. Therefore our Saviour, without any more ado, healed the Man of his Diſtemper, and ſent him away: But, knowing that they had a Diſlike of this Action; to convince them of their Unreaſonableneſs therein, directed this further Diſcourſe to them: Do not you all own, that, by the Moſaical Law, a Man is permitted, on the Sabbath-Day, to help a Beaſt out of a Ditch, which he ſhall fall into? And will you deny that Aſſiſtance to a Man, which you ſo readily afford to a Beaſt? This was ſo unanſwerable an Argument againſt their fooliſh Opinion, as would admit of no Reply, and therefore they were perfectly ſilent. III. The Company being now come into the Phariſee's Houſe, and our Saviour obſerving what a great Buſtle there was among the Gueſts, who ſhould get the uppermoſt Places at the Table, he gave them a gentle Rebuke, in this following Admonition. When you are invited to a Publick Entertainment, as ſuppoſing a Wedding-Dinner, whereunto Perſons of ſeveral Ranks and Qualities are likewiſe invited, many of which are unknown to each other, you ought not, in Prudence, to take the chief Seat in the Room; for it may happen, that there may be one in Company of eminent Diſtinction, to whom that Place does of Right belong. And the Conſequence of this will be, that, when the Maſter of the Family obſerves it, he will come and tell you, That you have forgotten yourſelf, in taking Place of ſuch a Perſon of Quality there preſent; and that you muſt not take it amiſs, if he deſires you to remove lower, to make room for him. And then conſider what Confuſion you will be in, after having placed yourſelf in one of the higheſt Seats in the Room, to be forced, with the Laughter of the whole Company, to take the loweſt Place that you can find empty. IV. You ought, in Prudence, rather to take any Seat in the lower part of the Room; and when the Maſter of the Family obſerves you there, below ſome Perſons of inferior Quality, he may deſire you to remove to a higher Place; which will gain you an Eſteem among the Company, who will judge you not only to be a Perſon of Figure, but of Modeſty and Humility likewiſe. For, take theſe for undoubted Maxims; That to ſet a Value upon one's ſelf, is the readieſt way to be contemned; and, That a Man will always be ſooner honoured and preferred, by being Modeſt and Humble.

I. I Thank my God always on your behalf, for the grace of God which is given you by Jeſus Chriſt; that in every thing ye are enriched by him, in all utterance, and in all knowledge, even as the teſtimony of Chriſt was confirmed in you: So that ye come behind in no gift; waiting for the coming of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, who ſhall alſo confirm you unto the end, that ye may be blameleſs in the day of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt.

I. WHen the Phariſees had heard that Jeſus had put the Sadduces to ſilence, they were gathered together. Then one of them, who was a lawyer, asked him a queſtion, tempting him, and ſaying, Maſter, which is the great commandment in the Law? II. Jeſus ſaid unto him, Thou ſhalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy ſoul, and with all thy mind. This is the firſt and great commandment. And the ſecond is like unto it, Thou ſhalt love thy neighbour as thy ſelf. On theſe two commandments hang all the law and the prophets. III. While the Phariſees were gathered together, Jeſus asked them, ſaying, What think ye of Chriſt? whoſe ſon is he? They ſay unto him, The ſon of David. He ſaith unto them, How then doth David in Spirit call him Lord, ſaying,

O Lord, we beſeech thee to afford the powerful Influences of thy Divine Grace, to us thy Servants here aſſembled, and all other Chriſtian People throughout the whole Catholick Church; that we may be able to conquer all Temptations wherewith we may be aſſaulted, by the World, the Fleſh, or the Devil; and grant that we may, in Holineſs and Purity of Life, obey the Precepts of thy Holy Religion: Which we deſire, for the ſake of Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. 1 Cor. I. 4.

I. I return my moſt humble Thanks to my gracious God, that he has been pleaſed to crown my Labours with that happy Succeſs, that the Goſpel of Jeſus Chriſt, which I have preached to you, has had ſuch an extraordinary Effect upon you, as I find it has; and that you are not only eminent for the Poſſeſſion of the ordinary Chriſtian Graces, but that you abound in every other Gift of the Holy Ghoſt, both in the Gift of Speaking Tongues, and the Gift of Knowledge, or the underſtanding the more ſublime Parts of the Chriſtian Doctrine; the Chriſtian Religion having received a conſiderable Teſtimony of its Truth, from the extraordinary Effects which it has had upon you. And I muſt needs ſay, That of all the Proſelytes, which have been hitherto made to Chriſtianity, there is none of them that have exceeded you, in the Gifts of the Holy Spirit. Which Divine Favours have not ſo elevated you, ſo as to think that you are arrived to the utmoſt degree of Chriſtian Perfection, but that you ſtill proceed to grow better and better, hoping for a further Completion of your Goodneſs and Excellency, at the Coming of our Lord at the General Reſurrection.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Matth. XXII. 34.

I. Some of the Phariſees, hearing that our Saviour had baffled the Sadduces, in a Diſpute which he lately had with them, Matth. xxii. 23. they envied the Fame that he had thereby gained among the People; and therefore they thought to leſſen it, by publickly propoſing to him a knotty Queſtion, which they ſuppoſed he was not able clearly to ſolve; or elſe, that he would anſwer it in ſuch a manner, as might give them an opportunity of accuſing him, for falſe-Doctrine. Now, one of them being a Lawyer, of greater forwardneſs than the reſt, put this Queſtion to him; Which of all the Precepts in the Law, is deſervedly to be eſteemed the Greateſt? II. Our Saviour anſwered, That that was the principal Precept, which obliged them to worſhip the only True God, with all the Powers of their Soul, Deut. vi. 4. This is a Commandment of the chiefeſt weight, and of very great extent; for it is the Sum of all the Duty we owe to God, and contains all the Precepts in the firſt Table of the Ten Commandments. The ſecond great Precept, (which contains all the Commandments of the ſecond Table, being the Sum of our Duty towards our Neighbour,) is the Command, Of loving our Neighbour as ourſelves, Lev xix. 18. And indeed, all the Precepts, contained not only in the Moſaical Writings, but alſo in the Prophetical likewiſe, are reducible to theſe two ſhort Commands. III. Our Saviour, after having anſwer'd their Queſtion, put another to them, which was this; What is your opinion concerning the Meſſiah, and from what Family do you ſuppoſe he is to deſcend? They all unanimouſly anſwer, That he muſt come of the Davidical Line. Our Saviour then replied; How can that be? ſince David, being inſpired by the Holy Ghoſt, does, in one of his Pſalms, call him his Lord? The Words you have in the CXth Pſalm, and which all your Interpreters explain of the Meſſias; The Lord ſaid unto my Lord, Sit thou on my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footſtool, Pſal. cx. 13. Now, ſince David does expreſly here call him Lord, it can hardly be ſuppoſed he ſhould expect him to be his Son; for it is not uſual ing, The Lord ſaid unto my Lord, Sit thou on my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footſtool? If David then call him Lord, how is he his Son? And no man was able to anſwer him a word, neither durſt any man (from that day forth) ask him any moe queſtions.

The EPISTLE. EPHES. IV. 17.

I. THis I ſay therefore, and teſtifie in the Lord, that ye henceforth walk not as other Gentiles walk in the vanity of their mind; having the underſtanding darkned, being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, becauſe of the blindneſs of their heart: who being paſt feeling, have given themſelves over unto laſciviouſneſs, to work all uncleanneſs with greedineſs. II. But ye have not ſo learned Chriſt: If ſo be that ye have heard him, and have been taught by him, as the truth is in Jeſus: That ye put off concerning the former converſation, the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful luſts; and be renewed in the ſpirit of your mind; and that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteouſneſs and true holineſs. III. Wherefore putting away lying, ſpeak every man truth with his neighbour; for we are members one of another. Be ye angry and ſin not. Let not the ſun go down upon your wrath: Neither give place to the devil. Let him that ſtole, ſteal no more; but rather let him labour, working for a Prince to allow that Compellation to any one, much leſs to one of his own Children. This did, at the ſame time, ſhew the wonderful Dignity of the Meſſias, as being ſo far ſuperiour to an Earthly Prince, as to be call'd Lord by him; and did likewiſe ſo gravel the Phariſees, as very much depretiated their Character among the People, who were Auditors of the Diſpute; inſomuch that, for the future, they were afraid to put any more Queſtions to him, for fear of being baffled in the ſame manner, as they had been in this.

O God, whereas without thy Aſſiſtance it is impoſſible to obey thy Commands, we beſeech thee, of thy great Mercy, to afford us ſuch a Portion of thy Holy Spirit, as may direct our Hearts, and all our Faculties, to perform our Duty which thou haſt required of us: And this we pray, for the ſake of Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Epheſ. IV. 17.

I. There is one thing, which I muſt over and over remind you of, (and call our Bleſſed Saviour to witneſs the Neceſſity of this Exhortation,) and that is, That you have a ſpecial care of the Regularity and Exactneſs of your Converſation, not to take Example from the Heathens you dwell among; nor in Idolatrous Worſhip, and hunting after vain and frivolous Opinions, copying from Men who would be thought to be wonderfully Wiſe and Knowing, but have really Minds perfectly dark to all divine and profitable Truths; who, tho' they deſpiſe the reſt of the World, as brute and inanimate Creatures, yet they themſelves are at the fartheſt diſtance from the divine Life which they falſly pretend to; they being not only ignorant of Divine Truths, but have a Callus or Hardneſs grown over their Hearts, as will not give them Admiſſion, when they are offered to him: Men, whoſe Conſciences are ſo hard, as not to be ſenſible of any good Impreſſions, who have loſt all Reſtraints of Goodneſs, giving themſelves a Looſe to all manner of Filthineſs and Impurity; ſome of them, even whilſt they pretend to be Teachers of Vertue, and pleaſe themſelves in the Commiſſion of the moſt flagitious Lewdneſſes. II. But I hope the Religion of Jeſus Chriſt has taught you a better Leſſon, than is to be learnt from the Doctrine of ſuch Teachers; for this informs you, That when, in your Baptiſm, you take upon you the Profeſſion of the holy Religion of Jeſus Chriſt, you muſt ſtrip yourſelf of your former corrupt and vitious Courſe of Life, as well as of your Garments: And as you put on a new and clean Garment, you muſt put on new and pure Manners likewiſe; having a perfect change of your Minds, through the Operation of the Holy Spirit in your Hearts, and entring upon a new and divine State of Life, which may imitate the Divine Goodneſs, in a true and real Holineſs. III. Since therefore you are become Member of this excellent Religion, you muſt avoid, to be ſure, all thoſe groſs Faults which the Heathens indulge themſelves in; you muſt not lye, and be falſe to one another, as many of them are, but declare the Truth in your Converſation, with all Plainneſs and Simplicity: For Fraud and Diſſimulation are the very Peſt and Bane of Society, and contrary to the Ends of it, every Member of the Community having a Right of being ſincerely dealt with by thoſe he converſes with. You muſt likewiſe avoid all unlawful Anger, taking care that the Occaſions thereof be juſt, and the Degree not exceſſive. If you ſhould conceive ſome Reſentments againſt another, you muſt not let them continue long upon you: The Injury offer'd in the Day, muſt be perfectly forgiven at Night; for you cannot perform your Evening-Devotion, as you ought to do, without this: And beſides, by keeping up ſuch Reſentments, you lay yourſelves open to the Power of the Devil, who oftentimes makes uſe of ſuch an Opportunity to very bad Purpoſes. If any of you have been guilty of Theft, or indirect Dealing, for the future be honeſt and faithful; let him make Reſtitution for what he has taken away wrongfully, and ſteal no more; for he that does not make amends for the Wrong he has done, ſteals ſtill. Let not Poverty be a Pretence for ſuch a wicked Practice; for in ſuch caſe, Men muſt work in any honeſt, tho' never ſo laborious a Calling, to get a Livelihood by; and by this they may procure, not only wherewithal to live upon themſelves, but may ing with his hands the thing which is good, that he may have to give to him that needeth. IV. Let no corrupt communication proceed out of your mouth, but that which is good to the uſe of edifying, that it may miniſter grace unto the hearers. And grieve not the holy Spirit of God, whereby you are ſealed unto the day of redemption. Let all bitterneſs, and wrath, and anger, and clamour, and evil-ſpeaking be put away from you, with all malice. And be ye kind one to another, tender-hearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Chriſt's ſake hath forgiven you.

And Jeſus ſeeing their faith, ſaid unto the ſick of the palſie, Son, be of good cheer, thy ſins be forgiven thee. And behold, certain of the Scribes ſaid within themſelves, This man blaſphemeth. II. And Jeſus knowing their thoughts, ſaid, Wherefore think ye evil in your hearts? For whether is eaſier to ſay, Thy ſins be forgiven thee? or to ſay, Ariſe, and walk? But that ye may know that the Son of man hath power on earth to forgive ſins, (then ſaith he to the ſick of the palſie) Ariſe, take up thy bed, and go unto thine houſe. Nor muſt you, like the Heathens, allow yourſelves in any impure, or indeed trivial Diſcourſe; but rather let it be ſuch, as thoſe who hear you, may reap Profit and Inſtruction by. But have a care of making the Holy Spirit of God, which reſides in you, to depart from you, by your ill Diſcourſe; that Holy Spirit, which diſtinguiſhes you by a particular Mark or Seal, (like as Maſters are wont to do to their Servants,) denoting you to belong to God, and will be owned by him as ſuch, at the General Judgment. Let all degrees of unlawful Anger be diligently avoided by you, all Peeviſhneſs, and Teachineſs of Temper; all Heat, ariſing upon a conceived Neglect or Affront, eſpecially when it riſes ſo high, as to make one loud and clamorous: But be ſure, never let it proceed ſo far, as to give ill Language, or to harbour any malicious Intents and Purpoſes. But, contariwiſe, in ſtead of being fretful and paſſionate, be kind and obliging; in ſtead of ſtorming at, and revenging an Affront, be ready to pity and forgive the Offender; taking Example from Almighty God, who has forgiven our Sins, for the ſake of our Bleſſed Lord,

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Matth IX. 1.

I. Our Bleſſed Lord, having been on the other ſide of the Sea of Galilee, repaſſed it in a Veſſel, and came back to Capernaum, Mark ii. 1. a City which he frequently abode in, and conſequently which was eſteemed his own. He was no ſooner come thither, but a Paralytick Perſon was brought before him, to be cured of his Diſtemper, and that in an extraordinary manner, (as St. Mark relates it,) being let down to him through the Tiles of the Houſe, the Multitude poſſeſſing all the Avenues of it, Mark ii. 4. Our Saviour, obſerving what an extraordinary Opinion they had of his Divine Power, and what a firm Expectation they had of the Man's being cured by him, further encouraged the Sick Perſon into a hope of being perfectly cured, telling him, That his Sins, for the Puniſhment of which, God had afflicted him with that Diſeaſe, were forgiven him. But ſome of the Scribes, who were there preſent, took this to be a kind of blaſphemous Expreſſion, and an invading of God Almighty's Prerogative, whoſe peculiar Property it was to forgive Sins. II. Our Saviour, who knew their Thoughts, asked them, Why they did entertain ſuch hard Surmiſes, concerning him? Could not I as eaſily have bidden the Man to take up his Bed, and walk, and have uſed no other Words in the Curing him, as have ſaid, Thy ſins are forgiven thee; but only that I had a particular Reaſon for uſing the latter Expreſſion, to demonſtrate to you, That I am veſted with a Power from Almighty God, to forgive Mens Sins? Then, directing himſelf to the Paralytick Man, he bade him take up the Couch that he was brought thither upon, and carry it home to his own Houſe. And this he he accordingly did, in the Preſence of all the numerous Spectators. The Multitude which were there preſent, ſeeing ſo great and unexpected a Miracle done, were under the greateſt degree of Aſtoniſhment, and could not forbear to admire and praiſe the Goodneſs of God, who had been pleaſed to endow a Perſon with ſuch a degree of the Divine Power, as to be able to perform ſo great and beneficial a Miracle.

And be not drunk with wine, wherein is exceſs; but be filled with the Spirit; ſpeaking to your ſelves in pſalms, and hymns, and ſpiritual ſongs; ſinging and making melody in your heart to the Lord; giving thanks always for all things unto God, and the Father, in the Name of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt; ſubmitting your ſelves one to another in the fear of God.

The GOSPEL. S. MATTH. XXII. 1.

I. JEſus ſaid, The kingdom of heaven is like unto a certain king, who made a marriage for his ſon; and ſent forth his ſervants to call them that were bidden to the wedding; and they would not come. II. Again, he ſent forth other ſervants, ſaying, Tell them who are bidden, Behold, I have prepared my dinner; my oxen and my fatlings are killed, and all things are ready, come unto the marriage. But they made light of it, and went their ways, one to his farm, another to his merchandiſe: And the remnant took his ſervants, and entreated them ſpitefully, and ſlew them. III. But when the king heard thereof he was wroth; and he ſent forth his armies, and deſtroyed thoſe murderers, and burnt up their city. Then ſaith he to his ſervants, The wedding is ready, but they who were bidden were not worthy. Go ye therefore into the high-ways, and as many as ye ſhall find bid to the marriage. So thoſe ſervants went out into the high-ways, and gathered together all as many as they found, both bad and good; and the wedding was furniſhed with gueſts. IV. And when the king came in to ſee the gueſts, he ſaw there a man who had not on a wedding garment. And he ſaith unto him, Friend, how cameſt thou in hither, not having a wedding garment? And he was ſpeechleſs. Then ſaid the king to the ſervants, Bind him hand and foot, and take him away, and caſt him into outer darkneſs: There ſhall be weeping and gnaſhing of teeth. V. For many are called, but few are choſen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Epheſ. V. 15.

I. I adviſe you therefore, to make uſe of the Light of the Goſpel, to direct your Courſe of Life by; not walking, as careleſs unthinking People do, at random, but treading with Prudence and Caution every ſtep you go in the Way of Religion; making the beſt Market and Advantage you can of the Time God has put into your Hands, to work out your Salvation in; for you cannot tell how long it may be continued to you, it being ſuch a Time of Danger and Perſecution, that a Chriſtian, who thinks himſelf ſafe to day, may be dragg'd to Execution to morrow. Therefore, be not ſo fooliſh to put off your Inſtruction in the Points of Chriſtianity, and being admitted to Baptiſm, from one time to another, but embrace all Opportunities of Preparing yourſelves for it. II. Indulge not yourſelves in intemperate drinking of Wine or Strong Drink, which leads Men on alſo to other Exceſſes and Irregularities: Let your Souls rather be inebriated with the Graces of the Holy Spirit, and with the Overflowings of the Divine Love; not ranting out the fooliſh Songs of intemperate Perſons, but ſinging Pſalms, and ſacred Hymns, your Hearts going along with your Voices, in devout Gratitude paid to our Bleſſed Redeemer; directing your Devotions to God the Father, for the ſake of his Son Chriſt Jeſus: Not quarrelling with one another for Superiority and Precedency, but every one carrying himſelf ſubmiſſively and courteouſly to another, honouring and reſpecting one another, according to your ſeveral Ranks and Conditions.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Matth. XXII. 1.

I. The Obſtinacy which many of the Jews ſhewed, in rejecting the Goſpel which our Saviour preached, occaſion'd him to repreſent the Treatment which they gave to him and his Doctrine, in the following Parable. The State of the Goſpel which I preach, may not (ſays he) be unfitly compared to an Entertainment which a certain King made, at the Marriage of his Son. The Day when the Nuptial Solemnities were performed, and all things were made ready for the Dinner, he ſent his Servants about to the Houſes of the Invited, telling them, That their Company was expected, and all things in a readineſs for their Reception; but nevertheleſs, they very unhandſomly refuſed to give their Attendance. II. The Prince, thinking there might be ſome Miſtake in the Meſſage, or deſigning to bind the Obligation yet ſtronger upon them, ſent about other Servants with more preſſing Inſtances, deſiring that they would by no means fail him, he having laid in great Store of Proviſions for the Entertainment. But the ungrateful Perſons took as little notice of this, as of the former Meſſages, they all going about their ordinary Employs, ſome to look after their Farms, and others about their Buying and Selling: Others proceeded to that degree of Inſolence, as to affront and abuſe the King's Servants which came on this Meſſage, and afterward' to murder them. III. The King, receiving this Indignity put upon himſelf, and the Cruelty ſhewn to his Servants, with a very high degree of Reſentment, immediately ordered his Troops to fall upon theſe Murderers, and to burn down their Houſes. After this, he bid his Servants invite other Gueſts, ſince the former had proved ſo ungrateful to him; commanding them to go into the Streets, and High-ways, and to invite all that they could meet with to the Entertainment. And, in Obedience to their Maſter's Command, they go to theſe Places, and pick up all they meet with there, Occaſional Paſſengers, Beggars, Cripples, &c. making in all a numerous Company, enough to fill all the Tables in the Palace. IV. The King, going round to all the Company to bid them Welcome, ſaw one Perſon among the reſt, who had come to the Entertainment, without putting on the peculiar Garment which was worn at Weddings, and asked him, How he came to preſume to come to a Wedding, and that in the King's Houſe, without arraying himſelf in that Robe which he uſed to put on at every ordinary Marriage? The Matter of Fact was ſo clear againſt him, and the Indignity offered to the Prince ſo obvious, that the Man had nothing to ſay in his own Excuſe. Therefore the Prince order'd his Guards to take him into Cuſtody, and to keep him in a dark and loneſome Priſon, wherein the confined Perſons bewail and bemoan their Condition. V. From this Parable, (ſays our Saviour,) you may learn, That a great many Perſons have been invited to embrace the Goſpel, but few have made that Improvement upon it, as they ought to have done.

O merciful Lord, we beſeech thee to grant to us, thy faithful Servants, Pardon for our Tranſgreſſions againſt thee, and Quiet in our Circumſtances of Life; that we may be cleanſed from our Sins, by the Remiſſion of them; and that we may pay our conſtant Devotions to thee, freed from all Troubles and Diſtractions: Which we deſire, for the ſake of Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Epheſ. VI. 10.

I. I adviſe you, my Chriſtian Brethren, to endeavour to have yourſelves ſtrengthned with all the Aid which the Religion of our Bleſſed Lord affords, and who himſelf never fails to ſuccour his faithful Servants with his mighty Power. Arm yourſelves from Head to Foot with the Spiritual Armour, that you may not ſhrink, when you ſhall be attacked, not only by the open Force, but by the Stratagems likewiſe, of the Devil. For we have frequent Conflicts and Battles, not ſo much with Human Adverſaries, as with the Powers of Hell; being to defend ourſelves againſt all the ſeveral Ranks of thoſe wicked Spirits, thoſe who preſide in the dark and cloudy Regions of the Air, and thoſe who inhabit the higher and more ſerene Parts of the Sky. II. Therefore it behoves you to provide yourſelves of a compleat Set of the Spiritual Armour; that, in the Day of Temptation, you may not give Way, upon your Adverſary's Attack; for when you have muſtered up all your Courage and Conſtancy, and call'd in the Spiritual Aſſiſtance likewiſe, it will be but juſt as much as you can do, to ſuſtain their furious Aſſaults. Stand therefore to your Ground, like good Soldiers, in this Engagement, having all your Equipage well provided about you: Let Chriſtian Truth and Simplicity be, as it were, your Belt which you are girt about with, for this will keep you tight together; whereas Falſhood and Diſſimulation renders a Man looſe and unſtable: Let a conſtant Habit of Vertue and Piety be your Breaſt-plate, for this will defend your Heart againſt any deadly Wound: Let a conſtant Profeſſion of Chriſtianity, be, like the Soldiers Buskins to you, to keep you from being annoyed by the Stones, and Thorns and Bryars, in the Way, that you be not diſcouraged by the Tribulations and Troubles which may befal you, in your Chriſtian Warfare: But let your principal Defence be, a hearty Faith in the Promiſes of our Saviour, which will be a Shield to you, to srkeen you from the Fire-balls, i. e. Temptations, which are thrown at you by the Devil, or wicked Men. III. Let the Hopes of a bleſſed Immortality, be a Helmet to your Head, to ſecure your Chief Part, the Intellectual Powers of your Souls, from being infected by bad Opinions, and being perverted to Idolatry, or Hereſy: Make uſe of the Divine Revelations of God's Holy Spirit, to be a Sword in your Hand, to ſtrike with, as it were, at the very Throat of the Devil. Nor muſt it content you, only to be provided with this Spiritual Armour; but you muſt earneſtly put up your Prayers to God, that you may be Conquerors in the Fight: You muſt always be upon the guard, and watch as carefully as the moſt vigilant Centinels; not only for a few Hours, as they do, till the Guard be relieved, but all your Life-long you muſt continue Watching, and Praying for one another. And in your Prayers, you muſt not fail to remember Me, That God Almighty would afford me Courage to preach the Goſpel, as undauntedly as I have formerly done, notwithſtanding that I am now made a Priſoner for it: That ſince I am God's Ambaſſador, I may courageouſly deliver my Meſſage; expecting, that my Great Maſter, who commiſſion'd me, will defend me, whilſt I am diſcharging the Powers which he has granted me.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. John IV. 46.

I. Our Saviour, being again returned to Cana of Galilee, in which Place he formerly performed that extraordinary Miracle, of turning Water into Wine, John ii. At this time, a great Man, belonging to Herod's Court, had a Son who lay dangerouſly ſick and beſought him, that he would come down and heal his ſon; for he was at the point of death. II. Then ſaid Jeſus unto him, Except ye ſee ſigns and wonders, ye will not believe. The noble man ſaith unto him, Sir, come down ere my child die. Jeſus ſaith unto him, Go thy way, thy ſon liveth. And the man believed the word that Jeſus had ſpoken unto him, and he went his way. III. And as he was now going down, his ſervants met him. and told him, ſaying, Thy ſon liveth. Then enquired he of them the hour when he began to amend: And they ſaid unto him, Yeſterday at the ſeventh hour the fever left him. So the father knew that it was at the ſame hour, in the which Jeſus ſaid unto him, Thy ſon liveth; and himſelf believed, and his whole houſe. This is again the ſecond miracle that Jeſus did when he was come out of Judea into Galilee.

The EPISTLE. PHIL. I. 3.

I. I Thank my God upon every remembrance of you, (always in every prayer of mine for you all, making requeſt with joy) for your fellowſhip in the goſpel from the firſt day until now; being confident of this very thing, that he who hath begun a good work in you, will perform it until the day of Jeſus Chriſt; even as it is meet for me to think this of you all, becauſe I have you in my heart, inaſmuch as both in my bonds, and in the defence and confirmation of the goſpel ye all are partakers of my grace. II. For God is my record, how greatly I long after at Capernaum. He, hearing that our Saviour was returned from Judea into Galilee, came in Perſon to wait upon him, requeſting the Favour of him to come to Capernaum, and heal his Son of the dangerous Diſtemper which he lay ſick of. II. Several of the Jews joining likewiſe in the Requeſt; our Saviour made anſwer, That he had done ſeveral Miracles in other Places, for the Confirmation of his Doctrine, which they ought to have given credit to, but he plainly ſaw, that they would not believe the Truth of his Miſſion, unleſs they themſelves were Eye-Witneſſes of his miraculous Power. Then the Noble Perſon renewed his Requeſt, with very preſſing Inſtances, begging of our Saviour, That he would take another Opportunity of reprimanding the Incredulity of theſe Men, and that he would loſe no time in coming to Capernaum to cure his Son, leſt he were dead before he came. With that, he bid him return to Capernaum, telling him, That his Son began to recover, and that, when he came home, he ſhould find him perfectly well. The great Man, believing that our Saviour would make his Word good, went home with mighty Satisfaction. III. But, as he was upon the Road, ſome of his Servants met him, who were ſent to acquaint him with his Son's Recovery. Which when he heard, he began to make particular Enquiry, what a-Clock it was when he began to mend; and they anſwered, That it was about One a-Clock in the Afternoon, when he loſt his Fever. And, by exactly computing the Time, he found that it was punctually the Time, that our Saviour ſaid his Son began to recover. Upon this, the foreſaid Noble Perſon, and all his Family, believed, That Jeſus was the Meſſias. This is the ſecond Miracle which our Saviour did, after his Return out of Judea into Galilee; the firſt being, his inviſible paſſing through the Croud, when the Jews, in the Synagogue, deſigned to caſt him down headlong, Luke iv. 30.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Phil. I. 3.

I. Whenever I think of you, my dear Philippians, (as I do every Day in my Devotions, when I pray for you with great Satisfaction, having had ſo good an Account of you,) I pay my humble Thanks to my gracious God, that you have ſo readily believed at firſt, and conſtantly embraced ſince, the Chriſtian Religion; being confident, that God Almighty will continue his good Grace to you, that have made ſo good an Uſe of it, and keep you in a conſtant Profeſſion of your Religion, to your Life's end. For 'tis but very juſt, for me to think this concerning you; not only, becauſe I have a ſincere Affection for you, for that you have undergone Perſecution for my ſake; but becauſe you have given Demonſtration of your Courage, in that you have bravely defended and given a Teſtimony of the Truth of the Goſpel, by your Conſtancy in Suffering for it, after my Example. II. I call God, who is the Searcher of all Hearts, to witneſs, how great an Affection I bear to you, not a common and an ordinary one, but a truly Chriſtian Love, with thoſe Bowels, and with that Tenderneſs, which is peculiar to the Profeſſors of our Holy Religion. And I further pray, That your Love to the Goſpel, and the Miniſters of it, may receive every day further Improvement, by having the neceſſary Knowledge of all Divine Truths added to it, and that your Judgment in Spiritual Matters may be continually improved: That you may have a true Taſte in all the genuine Doctrines of Chriſtianity, to diſtinguiſh them from the Heterodoxies of Falſe-Teachers: That you may profeſs the pure Goſpel in Sincerity, without diſguiſing it by a mixture of Judaiſm; and that you may purſue a holy and unblameable Courſe of Life, till God ſhall think fit to call you to after you all in the bowels of Jeſus Chriſt. And this I pray, that your love may abound yet more and more in knowledge, and in all judgment: That ye may approve things that are excellent, that ye may be ſincere, and without offence till the day of Chriſt: Being filled with the fruits of righteouſneſs, which are by Jeſus Chriſt, unto the glory and praiſe of God.

The GOSPEL. S. MATTH. XVIII. 21.

I. PEter ſaid unto Jeſus, Lord, how oft ſhall my brother ſin againſt me, and I forgive him? till ſeven times? Jeſus ſaith unto him, I ſay not unto thee, until ſeven times; but until ſeventy times ſeven. II. Therefore is the kingdom of heaven likened unto a certain king, who would take account of his ſervants. And when he had begun to reckon, one was brought unto him, who ought him ten thouſand talents. But foraſmuch as he had not to pay, his lord commanded him to be ſold, and his wife and children, and all that he had, and payment to be made. III. The ſervant therefore fell down and worſhipped him, ſaying, Lord, have patience with me, and I will pay thee all. Then the Lord of that ſervant was moved with compaſſion, and looſed him, and forgave him the debt. IV. But the ſame ſervant went out and found one of his fellow-ſervants, who ought him an hundred pence; and he laid hands on him, and took him by the throat, ſaying, Pay me that thou oweſt. And his fellow-ſervant fell down at his feet, and beſought him, ſaying, Have patience with me, and I will pay thee all. And he would not; but went and caſt him into priſon, till he ſhould pay the debt. V. So when his fellow-ſervants ſaw what was done, they were very ſorry, and came and told unto their Lord all that was done. Then his lord, after that he had called him, ſaid unto him, O thou wicked ſervant, I forgave thee all that debt, becauſe thou deſiredſt me: Shouldeſt not thou alſo have had compaſſion on thy fellow-ſervant, even as I had pity on thee? And his lord was wroth, and delivered him to the tormenters, till he ſhould pay all that was due unto him. VI. So likewiſe ſhall my heavenly Father do alſo unto you, if ye from your hearts forgive not every one his brother their treſpaſſes.

to a better State: That ye may abound with the Fruits of Good Works, which Chriſtianity is wont to produce, far beyond the Moſaical Law, to God's great Honour and Glory.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Matth. 18. 21.

I. S. Peter, having heard our Saviour diſcourſing concerning the Cenſure of Offences, and the Pardon of them, put a Queſtion to our Lord, What was the preciſe number of times, beyond which, a Man was not obliged to forgive Offences committed againſt him? and, Whether one was obliged to pardon an Injury, or an Affront, which had been ſeven times repeated? Our Saviour made Anſwer, What do you talk of ſeven times? you muſt pardon one that has offended againſt you even ſeventy times ſeven times: meaning, That there is no Limit to be ſet to Chriſtian Charity in this Caſe; and tho' an Enemy had given never ſo great and ſo many Provocations, yet, if he be heartily ſorry for what he has done, and be willing, for the future, to embrace a Friendſhip with the Perſon whom he has offended, a Chriſtian is obliged, by the Rules of his Religion, to forgive him. II. Our Saviour then proceeded to ſhew, what was the Nature of his Religion, which he call'd the Kingdom of Heaven, as to this Particular; which he illuſtrated by the following Parable. A certain King determined to ſtate a juſt Account of his Revenue, and accordingly ſummoned in all the Officers of his Exchequer, to make up their Accounts, and to lay them before him. But, upon the Audit, it appear'd, that one Officer was 80000 l. in Arrears; which, not having Aſſets to pay, the King commanded, not only his Effects, but himſelf, Wife, and Children, to be ſold for Slaves, to help to make up the Sum which was owing. III. The Officer had no other Way, but only to flie to his Maſter's Mercy, and accordingly he fell down proſtrate at his Feet, begging of him, That of his great Clemency, he would be pleaſed to allow him Time, and he would take care, by a prefixed Day, to procure Money to make an even Account with him. The Prince, not doubting his Sincerity, and imagining it might be ſome inevitable Misfortune, which had brought him into this Arrear, was graciouſly pleaſed to grant more than he deſired, both giving him his Liberty, and forgiving him his Debt. IV. This great Officer was not long gone out from the King's Preſence, (whilſt he could not but have the Senſe of his Maſter's great Clemency and Bounty yet freſh upon his Mind,) but he met with one of his Fellow-Servants, tho' in an inferior Poſt under the Prince, who ow'd him a ſmall Debt of about 3 l. This Man he very roughly aſſaulted, and taking him by the Throat, told him, That ſince he had ſo luckily met with him, he was reſolved to have the Money which he ow'd him. The poor Man, in moſt ſubmiſſive manner, fell down at the Feet of his Creditor, begging of him, That he would be pleaſed to allow him Time; and aſſuring him, if he would do ſo, that he would take care, by a prefixed Day, to raiſe Money to diſcharge the Debt. But he was inexorable to the poor Man's Prayers, and forthwith threw him into Jail, there to continue till every Farthing of the Debt was diſcharged. V. The Relation of this unmerciful Uſage, ſoon reached the Ears of the Prince, all the Servants of the Court pitying the poor Man's Condition, and therefore were ready to relate it, with all the invidious Circumſtances which attended it. The King immediately ſends for the great Officer, and accoſts him after this manner: Thou ungrateful Slave! Did not I forgive thee a vaſt Debt, which was owing to me, being moved by thy Entreaties; and haſt thou ſhut up all Bowels of Compaſſion to thy poor Fellow-Servant; whereas thou oughteſt to have been as merciful to him, as I was to thee? With that, the King, in great Indignation, revoked the Diſcharge he had order'd to be given him, and commanded him to be taken into the Jailor's Hands, and to continue in Cuſtody, till ſuch time as the whole Debt was paid. VI. Now you may expect, that Almighty God will, with the ſame Severity, deal with you, in making you, to the utmoſt Extremity, anſwer for your Offences committed againſt him, if you refuſe to forgive the Offences of your Brethren committed againſt you.

I. I exhort you, my dear Brethren, that you would unanimouſly take a Copy of your Life and Converſation from me, as I find ſome of you already do; and do as they do, who, after my Example, are zealous for the True Religion, exact in their Lives, and ſtudious to promote Chriſtian Peace and Concord. But I muſt needs tell you, as I have often before told you, and, whilſt I write this Letter, I tell you again with Tears, That there are ſome Profeſſors of Chriſtianity, whoſe Examples ye muſt not copy from; Men that hate the Croſs of Chriſt, which he has commanded us all to take up, becauſe it is contrary to their worldly Satisfactions, and therefore purſue any unwarrantable Methods to avoid it; Men that are in the ready Road to Damnation; Men who place their Chief Good in Eating and Drinking, and in other ſenſual Pleaſures; Men who pride themſelves in doing Actions which they ought to be aſhamed of; Men of crooked ſtooping Souls, which bend down to the Ground, in ſtead of being in that erect Poſture which Religion ſhould raiſe them up to. II. For we Chriſtians, being Citizens of Heaven, ought to keep up our chief Familiarity and Correſpondence there, expecting from thence our Reward, which our Saviour has promiſed at his Second Coming; who ſhall change this groſs Earthly Body, which we carry about us now, into a Spiritual and Splendid one, like that which he himſelf is veſted with in his State of Glory: Which he ſhall effect, by the vaſt and unbounded Power which is inherent in him, and by which he can conquer all Difficulties which may ariſe in the performing it.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. Matth. XXII. 15.

I. The Phariſees, being irritated by our Saviour's Doctrine, which was oppoſite to their Traditions, and pretended Outward Sanctity, ſought all Opportunities of drawing ſomething from him, in his Diſcourſe, which might give them an opportunity of accuſing him before the Magiſtrate: And therefore they picked up ſeveral young Fellows, ſome of whom were Scholars in the School of the Phariſees, and others of that Sect, who would have Herod to be the Meſſias. Theſe Perſons, putting on the Mien of Sober Religious Young-Men, who wanted Information in a Matter which, they pretended, was a great Scruple to their Conſciences, accoſted our Saviour after this manner: Maſter, We are fully ſatisfied, That you are the Teacher of a Religion, whereof the principal Doctrine is, To be exactly True and Sincere both in Words and Actions; and, That alſo you are not under any Biaſs, either of Flattery, or Fear of great Perſons, ſo as not to ſpeak your Mind freely, with relation to them: Therefore we are come to wait upon you, to be reſolved in a very Important Queſtion, which does not a little affect our Conſciences, and that is; Whether a Jew, who ought to have a King over him of his own Country-men, may lawfully pay Taxes to Ceſar, an Heathen Prince? II. But our Saviour, underſtanding the Tendency of their wicked Craft, anſwered them thus: Are not you aſhamed, ye Counterfeits, to come, after this inſidious manner, to take an Advantage againſt me? However, your Queſtion ſhall not want an Anſwer: Shew me the Money which you uſually pay your Taxes with. And one of them put into his Hand a Roman Denary. Upon this, our Saviour and his Diſciples ſet out upon the Way to Capernaum, with Jairus. II. Whilſt they were upon the Road, a vaſt throng of People attending, Mark V. 24. there was a Woman, who had, for twelve Years together, been troubled with a Flux of Blood, came behind him, and touched the Hem of his Garment, nothing doubting but that ſhe ſhould be cured of her Diſtemper by this Means. Our Saviour, immediately turning about, upon her touching him, put the Woman in ſome Conſternation, for fear ſhe might have done ſomething which was amiſs: But he bade her not be concerned; for her extraordinary Faith, had been the occaſion of her being cured of her Diſeaſe. And immediately ſhe found an extraordinary Change in her Body, and from that time forwards ſhe never felt any more of her Diſtemper. III. When they came to the Ruler of the Synagogue's Houſe, they found the Pipers, and Mournful Singers there, who, according to the Cuſtom of the Jews, were called in, upon thoſe ſad Occaſions. But our Saviour, bidding them ſtand aſide, made his way through the midſt of them, and told them, That they ought to leave off their mournful Ditties; for the young Maid was not dead, but aſleep; That her turn was, not to die yet; and, That they muſt ſtay a conſiderable Time longer, before they ſhould perform this Office for her in good-earneſt. The Fidlers, not liking to be diſturb'd in their Buſineſs, and having by experience found, that they were ſeldom called upon thoſe Occaſions but to purpoſe, had the Inſolence to make ſport with our Saviour, for what he ſaid. This he very wiſely deſpiſing, made no Reply, but turned out all their Crew, and every Body elſe, out of the Room, beſides her Father and Mother, Mark V. 40. and then coming to the young Maid, took her by the Hand: Upon which, ſhe aroſe up in perfect Health. I. WHen Jeſus then lift up his eyes, and ſaw a great company come unto him, he ſaith unto Philip, Whence ſhall we buy bread that theſe may eat? (And this he ſaid to prove him: for he himſelf knew what he would do) Philip anſwered him, Two hundred peny-worth of bread is not ſufficient for them, that every one of them may take a little. II. One of his diſciples, Andrew, Simon Peters brother, ſaith unto him, There is a lad here, who hath five barley loaves, and two ſmall fiſhes; but what are they among ſo many? And Jeſus ſaid, Make the men ſit down. Now there was much graſs in the place. So the men ſat down, in number about five thouſand. III. And Jeſus took the loaves, and when he had given thanks, he diſtributed to the diſciples, and the diſciples to them that were ſet down, and likewiſe of the fiſhes, as much as they would. When they were filled, he ſaid unto his diſciples, Gather up the fragments that remain, that nothing be loſt. Therefore they gathered them together, and filled twelve baskets with the fragments of the five barley-loaves, which remained over and above unto them that had eaten. IV. Then thoſe men, when they had ſeen the miracle that Jeſus did, ſaid, This is of a truth, that Prophet that ſhould come into the World.

I. Our Saviour, taking notice that the Company, who came to hear him, were very numerous, and that they were in a barren Country, a great Way from any Place of Refreſhment, asked Philip, How they ſhould buy Proviſions for ſo great a Multitude? He asked this Queſtion, to try his Faith, whether he believed that he was able miraculouſly to feed them; he having already determined to work a Miracle for this End. Philip made Anſwer; Alas, Sir, Why Should you talk of Buying? for it will coſt ſeven or eight Pounds, only to buy ſo much Bread, as to give every one of them a Mouthful. II. But Andrew, Simon Peter's Brother, another of his Diſciples, told him, That there was a Young-Man in Company, who had with him two Barley-Loaves, and two little Fiſhes; but this was ſo inconſiderable a Matter, to feed ſo vaſt a Multitude, that it was not worth the mentioning. With that, our Saviour gave Order, That the People ſhould ſit down upon the Ground, dividing themſelves into ſeveral Companies: And the Place afforded a convenient Opportunity for this Purpoſe, it being a Graſſy Field: And accordingly they all ſate down, being Five thouſand in number. III. Our Saviour took the Loaves into his Hand, and craving a Bleſſing over them, he broke them into large Pieces, which he deliver'd to his Diſciples; and they breaking them again, diſtributed them to the People, the Bread ſtill encreaſing upon them as they deliver'd it out. In the ſame manner the Fiſhes were diſtributed; the People eating as much of each of them as fully ſatisfied them. After they had done eating, our Saviour bade his Diſciples to gather up the Fragments that remained after the Meal was over; For I would not (ſays he) have any of this Food loſt, which the Divine Power has been employed in procuring. Therefore they went about to the ſeveral Companies; and they found as many broken Pieces of Bread and Fiſh, as filled twelve Baskets. IV. This clear and inconteſtable Miracle, experienc'd by the Senſes of ſo great a Number of Perſons, made them all univerſally agree, That a Perſon who was endowed with ſo Divine a Power, was undoubtedly the Meſſias, who was predicted by the Prophets to come into the World.

(a) St. Andrew ] This Feſtival is celebrated in memory of St. Andrew, who was firſt of all a Diſciple of St. John the Baptiſt: But learning from his Maſter, that he was not the Meſſias; and hearing him ſay, upon the ſight of our Saviour, Behold the Lamb of God, he left the Baptiſt, and became our Lord's Diſciple, John 1. 40. And being convinced himſelf of our Saviour's Divine Miſſion, by converſing with him ſome time at the Place of his Abode, he finds out his Brother Simon, whom afterwards our Lord ſirnamed Peter, telling him, he had found the Meſſias, ibid. ver. 41. But he did not become our Saviour's conſtant Attendant, till ſome time after, when Jeſus walking by the Sea of Galilee, ſaw two brethren, Simon called Peter, and Andrew his brother, caſting a net into the ſea, bidding them follow him, and that he would make them fiſhers of men, Matth. 4. 18. Hence forward he waited conſtantly upon our Saviour, and was inſtructed by his Doctrine, as long as he ſtay'd upon Earth. After his Aſcenſion, when the Apoſtles diſtributed themſelves, to preach the Goſpel to the different Parts of the World, the Province which came to St. Andrew's ſhare, was the Northern Part of the then known World, which was called by the Name of Scythia, as Origen and Euſebius inform us, Orig. lib. 3. *in Gen. They tell us, That the Apoſtles caſting Lots for their Miſſion, St. Andrew's Lot lighted to be to Preach in Cappadocia, Galatia, and Bithynia: After this, he penetrated the Coaſts of the Anthropophagi, going up to both ſides of the Euxine-Sea, even to the moſt ſolitary Parts of Scythia, and the very Bounds of the North: Afterwards travelling backward, he preach'd in the Country about Byzantium, [afterwards named Conſtantinople,] going through Thracia, Macedonia, and Achaia; in which Provinces he continued a long time preaching the Goſpel, and confirming it with great Miracles. I. IF thou ſhalt confeſs with thy mouth the Lord Jeſus, and ſhalt believe in thine heart, that God hath raiſed him from the dead, thou ſhalt be ſaved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteouſneſs, and with the mouth confeſſion is made unto ſalvation. For the Scripture ſaith, Whoſoever believeth on him ſhall not be aſhamed. II. For there is no difference between the Jew and the Greek: for the ſame Lord over all is rich unto all that call upon him. For whoſoever ſhall call upon the Name of the Lord ſhall be ſaved. III. How then ſhall they call on him in whom they have not believed? And how ſhall they believe in him of whom they have not heard? and how ſhall they hear without a preacher? And how ſhall they preach, except they be ſent? as it is written, how beautiful are the feet of them that preach the Goſpel of peace, and bring glad tidings of good things! IV. But they have not all obeyed the Goſpel. For Eſaias ſaith, Lord, who hath believed our report? So then, faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God. But I ſay, have they not heard? Yes verily, their ſound went into all the earth, and their words unto the ends of the world. V. But I ſay, Did not Iſrael know? Firſt Moſes ſaith, I will provoke you to jealouſie by them that are no people, and by a fooliſh nation I will anger you. But Eſaias is very bold, and ſaith, I was found of them that ſought me not; I was made manifeſt unto them that

O Almighty God, who didſt afford to St. Andrew, at his Calling to the Apoſtleſhip, ſuch a powerful Influence of the Grace of thy Holy Spirit, that he readily followed our Saviour, at his Command, and became his Diſciple, Matth. iv. 16. Give us Grace, with the ſame Alacrity, to obey that Call of thine, which thou art pleaſed to make to us, when we hear thy Word read, or preached; and that we may practiſe thy Holy Laws, which we ſhall therein have made known to us: Which we beg, for Chriſt his ſake. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Rom. X. 9.

I. Now ſince it has pleaſed Almighty God, to eſtabliſh the Goſpel of Jeſus Chriſt, to be a Rule of Life to be obſerved by all the World, as the Moſaical Law was formerly by the Jewiſh Nation, and haſt given ſuch evident Teſtimony of the Truth thereof; it is neceſſary, in order to Mens Everlaſting Happineſs, that they give their Aſſent thereunto, not only making alone Profeſſion of it, but giving an undoubted Aſſent to the Truth of its Doctrines, eſpecially that principal and fundamental Point of Faith, the Doctrine of our Saviour's Reſurrection. For, tho' it be a ſign of great Piety and Ingenuity, to give an Aſſent to a Doctrine ſo undeniably atteſted; yet, it being a Truth of that important nature, and upon which our Everlaſting Happineſs ſo much depends, Men muſt not cowardly diſſemble their Belief, for fear of Perſecution, but muſt make open Profeſſion and Declaration of it: For he that denies his Faith, and does not make a fair Confeſſion of it, when he is called to it, cannot be ſaved. For to this ſenſe we may very well apply that Paſſage of the Prophet Iſaiah; He that believeth, ſhall not make haſte; i. e. be in a State of Trepidity or Confuſion, or be aſhamed, Iſa. xxviii. 16. II. Now as to the Matter of Eternal Salvation, under the gracious Indulgence of the Goſpel, there is no Diſtinction between the Jews and the Gentiles; God bearing a Fatherly Love to them all, if they be good and pious Perſons, and believe in his Revelations and Promiſes. And to this is applicable that of the Prophet Joel; Whoſoever ſhall call on the Name of the Lord, ſhall be delivered, or ſaved, Joel ii. 32. But there may an Objection lie againſt this, which is; "How ſhall "thoſe Perſons take upon them the Profeſſion of the Religion "of Jeſus Chriſt, and believe in him, of whom they have not "ſo much as heard? For ſure, the Preachers of your New Religion, have not diſſeminated their Doctrine very far: Or if "they had, how ſhall it be known they have their Miſſion "from God? Nor indeed does their Character ſeem to anſwer "that of God's Miſſionaries, who are to have more Beauty, "and Outward Splendour, than any of the Apoſtles of Chriſtianity can pretend to; as is plain by that of Iſaiah; How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings, that publiſheth peace! Iſa. lii. 7. IV. But, in Anſwer to this Objection, give me leave to Reply; That your want is, not ſo much that of Hearing of, as that of Obeying, the Goſpel; your Obſtinacy being more like to be blamed, than your Ignorance. And it is of ſuch Perſons that the Prophet Iſaiah ſpeaks in a like Caſe; Who hath believed our report? Iſa. liii. 1. From whence, indeed, 'tis plain enough, what you contend ſo for, That Men have not ſufficient Ground for believing what they have never heard of; and that Information which is given them, ought to be grounded upon Divine Authority. But what then? Neither Jews nor Gentiles can ſay, This is their Caſe, with relation to Chriſtianity. The Jews have had our Saviour perſonally Converſing among them; and the Gentiles have heard the Preaching of his Apoſtles; their words, (to uſe the Pſalmiſt's Phraſe) being gone out to the ends of the world, Pſal. xix. 4. V. But I further inſiſt upon this Point, and ſay; Had not the Jews ſufficient Information, concerning the Preaching of the Goſpel? Yes, they had; and might have learned this, from the ancient Prediction of the Old Teſtament, even by that of their great Legiſlator Moſes, when he ſays, I will move them to jealouſie with thoſe that are not a people; I will provoke them to anger with a fooliſh nation, Deut. xxxii 21. Which ſhews, That God does not reſerve his Favours only to the Iſraelites; and that, as he formerly beſtowed Conqueſt and Succeſs upon other Nations beſides them, which they had great contempt of, ſo will he likewiſe afford the Graces of the Holy Spirit, by Preaching of the Goſpel. But the Prophet Iſaiah ſpeaks yet with greater plainneſs and freedom; I am ſought of them that aſked not for me; I am found of them that ſought me not, Iſa. lxv. 1. This the Prophet ſpeaks concerning the Gentiles having a particular that asked not after me. But to Iſrael he ſaith, All day long I have ſtretched forth my hands unto a diſobedient and gain-ſaying people.

I. Our Saviour, walking near the great Lake of Geneſareth, ſaw two Brethren, who were Fiſhermen by Profeſſion, and their Names Simon and Andrew, caſting their Net into that Lake, for a Draught of Fiſh. And he bade them follow him; telling them, That if they would be his Diſciples, he would make them Fiſhers of Men; and that they ſhould then make more numerous Converts to his New Religion, than they had ever taken Fiſhes. And immediately they left their Nets, and went away with him. II. Our Saviour then going on farther upon the Shore of that Lake, he ſaw two other Brethren of the ſame Profeſſion, the Names of whom were James and John, they being in a Boat, together with their Father Zebedee, mending their Nets: And he called to them, to come a-ſhore unto him, and to go along with him. The Men, having an extraordinary Inſtinct upon their Minds, could not but obey the Summons; and they left, not only their Veſſels, but their Father alſo, and went along with our Saviour.

(b) St. Thomas.] This Feſtival is kept, in Honour of the Memory of St. Thomas, one of our Saviour's twelve Diſciples. His Lineage and Extraction is no where recorded in Scripture: Though, 'tis very probable, he was by Nation a Galilean; and 'tis certain, that he was by Profeſſion a Fiſherman, and for ſome time Partner with Peter, John xxi. 2. He appeared very zealous in attending on the Perſon of his Maſter; for, when the reſt of the Diſciples diſſwaded Chriſt from going again into Judea, leſt the Jews ſhould ſtone him, John xi. 8. St. Thomas declares his willingneſs to go and die there, ver. 16. Indeed, his Faith was but ſlow in returning after our Saviour's Crucifixion, ſo that he could not very ſoon credit the Report of his Reſurrection, John xx. 26. But when our Saviour indulged him the liberty of ſeeing and handling his yet freſh Wounds, which he received upon the Croſs, he made amends for all, by his noble Confeſſion, not only of the Truth of Chriſt's Reſurrection, but of his Divinity likewiſe, John xx. 28. After Chriſt's Aſcenſion, Thomas's Apoſtleſhip was exerciſed in Preaching the Goſpel to the Parthians, Orig. in Gen. lib. 3. Euſeb. lib. 3. cap. 1. Nazianzen ſays, That he travell'd, in his Preaching, as far as India, Greg. Naz. Hom. ad. Arian. St. Chryſoſtom intimates his Preaching in Æthiopia, when, ſpeaking of St. Thomas, he ſays, And Thomas has whitened the Æthiopians, Chryſ. Ev. lib. 9. And indeed, Relations of Travellers into India, (ſince, in the laſt Ages, Commerce has been eſtabliſhed there,) do confirm, That there is a Tradition among the Indians, of St. Thomas's Preaching among them, Oſor. Hiſt. lib. 2. His Martyrdom is reported to have happened in India, occaſioned by the Brachmans the Indian Prieſts, who hated him for his Preaching the Goſpel, and therefore ſtirred up ſome of the Rabble of Soldiers to murder him.

O Almighty and Eternal God, who didſt ſuffer the holy Apoſtle St. Thomas to be doubtful ſome time of the Truth of our Saviour's Reſurrection; that by the recording of that Paſſage in the Holy Scriptures, and the full Satisfaction which he received therein, thou haſt afforded us a greater Confirmation of our Faith; Grant us ſuch an undoubted Belief in thy Son our Bleſſed Lord, and in all the Points of his Holy Religion, that our Faith may in no-wiſe be blameable in thy ſight. But he ſaid unto them, Except I ſhall ſee in his hands the print of the nails, and put my finger into the print of the nails, and thruſt my hand into his ſide, I will not believe. II. And after eight days again his diſciples were within, and Thomas with them: then came Jeſus, the doors being ſhut, and ſtood in the midſt, and ſaid, Peace be unto you. Then ſaith he to Thomas, Reach hither thy finger, and behold my hands; and reach hither thy hand, and thruſt it into my ſide, and be not faithleſs, but believing. III. And Thomas anſwered and ſaid unto him, My Lord, and my God. Jeſus ſaith unto him, Thomas, becauſe thou haſt ſeen me, thou haſt believed; bleſſed are they that have not ſeen, and yet have believed. IV. And many other ſigns truly did Jeſus in the preſence of his diſciples, which are not written in this book. But theſe are written that ye might believe that Jeſus is the Chriſt, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through his Name.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. John XX. 24.

I. St. Thomas, whoſe Sirname was Didymus, or, the Twin, one of our Saviour's Apoſtles, was not in Company, the firſt time which our Saviour made his Appearance to his Diſciples, after his Reſurrection. And when the reſt of the Apoſtles averred to him the Truth of that wonderful Relation, and that they had been all Eye-Witneſſes of the Matter of Fact themſelves; he replied, That the Story was ſo ſtrange and unparallel'd, that he ſhould hardly truſt his own Sight therein: And if he ſhould ſee what they had ſeen, he ſhould rather judge it to be a Spectre, or ſome other Deluſion, than his late Maſter; That he muſt ſee and feel his Hands and Feet, which were gored by the Nails when he was upon the Croſs, and put his Fingers into that gaſtly Wound which was made in his Side by the Soldier's Spear, before he could believe that it was the ſame Jeſus his Maſter, who was crucified. II. The next Sunday after his Reſurrection, the eleven Diſciples being returned into Galilee, Matth. xxviii. 16. were all gathered together in a Room, St. Thomas then making one of the number. And the Doors being ſhut up cloſe, for fear ſome Informer might come among them, to accuſe them to the Sanhedrim, in like manner as was lately done to their Maſter; to their very great Surprize, (without any opening of the Door,) they ſaw our Saviour ſtanding among their Company, who greeted them with his uſual Compellation, Peace be unto you: And then particularly addreſſing himſelf to St. Thomas, he ſaid; Well! Thomas, I find that you are very diſtruſtful of the Truth of my Reſurrection, becauſe you have not been an Eye-Witneſs of it yourſelf, and that you require fuller Evidence thereof, than that which has ſatisfied your Fellow-Diſciples: You ſhall now have all the demonſtrative Proof, which you require: Bring cloſe your Finger to my Hands, and ſee and feel thoſe Holes which the Nails have made. And, drawing aſide his Garment, he ſhewed him the Wound in his Side, and bade him, for further Satisfaction, thruſt his Hand into the gaping Cut, which was yet unhealed. And now, I hope, (ſays he,) you do not want Faith, but that you will be a firm Believer of the Truth of my Reſurrection, for the future. III. Upon this, Thomas cried out, Thou art certainly the very Jeſus, whom I have had, for ſeveral Years, the Honour of being Diſciple to: Thou art my God, who cameſt into the World to redeem me. To which, our Saviour made this Reply: Thou, Thomas, haſt done well, in Believing, upon the Evidence of thy Senſes; but it will be a greater degree of Vertue, and a more noble Faith in them, who ſhall believe the Truth of my Goſpel, upon the credible Teſtimony of others. IV. Many other miraculous Actions were done by Jeſus Chriſt, before his Diſciples, which are omitted in this ſhort Hiſtory: But theſe are recorded here, to the end, that Men might have ſufficient reaſon to believe, that Jeſus Chriſt is the True Meſſias; and that they, obeying the Goſpel Precepts, which are ſet down here, might receive the Rewards of Eternal Life in another World.

And Saul aroſe from the earth, and when his eyes were opened, he ſaw no man; but they led him by the hand, and brought him that Age. He joined himſelf to the Sect of the Phariſees, a very rigid Order among the Jews at that time, rmarkable for their Zeal, and for their Tenaciouſneſs of every the leaſt Punctilio of the Moſaical Ceremonies. This occaſioned him to proſecute the Chriſtians, whom he thought to be Heretical Violators thereof, with a furious Severity; and to run into the mad Proceeding of thoſe cruel Zealots, who took away St. Stephen's Life. Being converted to Chriſtianity, after a very miraculous manner, he made amends for his former Errors, by the wonderful Diligence of his Labours in Preaching the Goſpel: For he propagated the Goſpel of Chriſt throughout all Greece, and the Leſſer-Aſia, in Italy, Spain, and Illyricum, eſtabliſhing Chriſtian Churches in the principal Towns thereof. Ancient Writers affirm, That he ſuffered Martyrdom at Rome, under Nero, at the ſame time with St. Peter, Euſeb. Chron. Epiph. Hæreſ. 27. Hieron. de Script. Eccl. The moſt probable Reaſon aſſign'd for his Condemnation, was, his infecting ſeveral Roman Ladies with a foreign Religion, as the Romans uſed to call Chriſtianity, and particularly ſome Ladies, with whom Nero had had formerly an unlawful Familiarity, but, after their Converſion to Chriſtianity, refuſed his Embraces, Ambroſ. in Auxen. Which Story is not improbable, ſince Suetonius, Tacitus, and Dio, and indeed all that write of Nero, ſpeak of his debauching numbers of Ladies, as well of chief Quality, as others. Our Apoſtle, for this pretended Crime, being condemned to Death, he being a Roman Citizen, could not be crucified by the Roman Laws, as his Collegue St. Peter was, and was therefore beheaded by a great Sword, which gave the occaſion for his being pictur'd with ſuch a Sword in his Hand. The Ancients ſpeak of a miraculous Occurrence happening at his Death, which was, That the Blood which flow'd from his Veins, was of milky colour, Amb. Serm. 68. Chryſ. Orat. in prin. Ap. Other Writers give an Account of his Perſonage, from the Pictures, I ſuppoſe, they had ſeen of him. For Euſebius writes, That the Pictures of St. Peter and St. Paul were kept by ſome of the Chriſtians in his time, Euſeb. Hiſt. lib. 7. cap. 14. St. Chryſoſtom ſays, That he was of a low Stature, but three Cubits high, Chryſ. Hom. de princ. Ap. And Nicephorus deſcribes him to be of a little Body, and ſomewhat crooked, of a pale Face, and ſhewing more Years than he was really of; his Head was but of a moderate ſize, he ſhew'd a ſparkling Vigour in his Eyes; the Hair of his Eye-brows turn'd a little downwards; he had a handſom bending of his Noſe, which was ſomewhat longer than ordinary; his Beard was thick and long, and a little ſprinkled with grey Hairs, as were thoſe of his Head likewiſe.

O God, who, by the Preaching of St. Paul, didſt make the Light of the glorious Goſpel of Chriſt to ſhine through the world, 2 Cor. 4. 4. Grant that we bearing in mind his wonderful Converſion, may ſhew our Thankfulneſs to thee, for the great Benefits received from his Labours, by following the Doctrine which he has taught us in his Writings: Which we pray, for the ſake of Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Acts IX 1.

I. Saul having imbrued his Hands in the Blood of the holy Martyr St. Stephen, being ſtill actuated by the ſame furious Zeal, continued to perſecute the Chriſtians, by Profecutions and Informations againſt them; and to give himſelf the greater Advantage againſt them, applied himſelf to the High-Prieſt, who was Preſident of the Sanhedrim of Jeruſalem, and obtained Letters Miſſive from them, to the ſeveral Conſiſtories of the Synagogues of Damaſcus, who were under a ſort of Metropolitical Juriſdiction to the Sanhedrim of Jeruſalem; empowering him, as their Commiſſary, to receive an Account from them, of all Perſons of both Sexes, whom they found profeſſing the Chriſtian Doctrine, and he ſhould immediately ſeize them, putting them in Irons, and bringing them up to Jeruſalem, to their Trial before the Sanhedrim. II. But whilſt he was upon his Journey, with this bloody Intent in view, and not far from the City of Damaſcus, to which he was going, of a ſudden a bright Cloud deſcending from the Sky, encompaſſed him round, which ſo dazled his Eyes, that he fell to the Ground; and he heard a ſtrong Voice, which roared out, like as it were a Clap of Thunder, theſe words; Saul, Saul, why perſecuteſt thou me? Saul, under a great degree of Conſternation and Amazement, replied; O Great Perſon, whether you be an Angel, or Departed Spirit, let me know who you are, whom you ſay I have ſo offended, or perſecuted. Our Bleſſed Lord, who then appeared to him in a bodily Figure, told him, That he was that Jeſus Chriſt whom he perſecuted; for that he looked upon a Perſecution of his Members, to be a Perſecution of himſelf. It is in vain for thee, Saul, (continues our Saviour,) with a refractory Stubbornneſs to oppoſe my Commands; for that will avail thee as little, as to kick againſt Spikes of Iron, which will only wound that Foot which deſigns to break them. This put him yet ſtill in a greater Fright and Amazement, and made him reply; O Lord Jeſus, I humbly requeſt, you would be pleaſed to let me know what Commands you have to lay upon me, and I ſhall with all readineſs, to the utmoſt of my power, diſcharge them. With that, our Saviour bade him riſe from the Ground on which he yet lay, and when he ſhould come to the City Damaſcus, whither he was travelling, he ſhould receive full Inſtruction of the ſeveral Particulars which ſhould be enjoined him. In the mean time, his Fellow-Travellers ſtood gazing upon this unexpected Occurrence, not being able to ſpeak a word, by reaſon of the great Surprize they were under, hearing the Sound of the Voice, tho' inarticulately, but not ſeeing the Appearance of our Saviour, as Saul did. III. Saul, now riſing from the Ground, and opening his Eyes, which he had for ſome time kept ſhut, as not enduring the ſtrong him into Damaſcus. And he was three days without ſight, and neither did eat nor drink. IV. And there was a certain diſciple at Damaſcus, named Ananias, and to him ſaid the Lord in a viſion, Ananias. And he ſaid, Behold, I am here, Lord. And the Lord ſaid unto him, Ariſe, and go into the ſtreet which is called Straight, and enquire in the houſe of Judas for one called Saul of Tarſus: for behold, he prayeth, and hath ſeen in a Viſion a man named Ananias, coming in, and putting his hand on him, that he might receive his ſight. V. Then Ananias anſwered, Lord, I have heard by many of this man, how much evil he hath done to thy ſaints at Jeruſalem? and here he hath authority from the chief prieſts to bind all that call on thy Name. But the Lord ſaid unto him, Go thy way; for he is a choſen veſſel unto me, to bear my Name before the Gentiles, and kings, and the children of Iſrael. For I will ſhew him how great things he muſt ſuffer for my Names ſake. VI. And Ananias went his way, and entred into the houſe; and putting his hands on him, ſaid, Brother Saul, the Lord (even Jeſus that appeared unto thee in the way as thou cameſt) hath ſent me, that thou mighteſt receive thy ſight, and be filled with the holy Ghoſt. And immediately there fell from his eyes as it had been ſcales; and he received ſight forthwith, and aroſe, and was baptized. And when he had received meat, he was ſtrengthned. Then was Saul certain days with the diſciples which were at Damaſcus. VII. And ſtraitway he preached Chriſt in the ſynagogues, that he is the Son of God. But all that heard him were amazed, and ſaid, Is not this he that deſtroyed them which called on this Name in Jeruſalem, and came hither for that intent, that he might bring them bound unto the chief prieſts? But Saul encreaſed the more in ſtrength, and confounded the Jews which dwelt at Damaſcus, proving that this is very Chriſt.

The GOSPEL. S. MATTH XIX. 27.

I. PEter anſwered and ſaid unto Jeſus, Behold, we have forſaken all and followed thee, what ſhall we have therefore? And Jeſus ſaid unto them, Verily I ſay unto you, that ye which have followed me in the regeneration, when the Son of man ſhall ſit in the throne of his glory, ye alſo ſhall ſit upon twelve thrones, judging ſtrong Light which had ſhone about him, he found he could not ſee any of his Companions, being perfectly blind, ſo that his Friends were forced to take him by the Hand, and lead him into the City; and there he continued three Days in that Condition, being in a ſort of Trance, and taking no manner of Suſtenance. Now there was one Ananias, who had embraced the Chriſtian Faith, an Inhabitant of that City, to whom our Saviour appeared in a Viſion, commanding him to enquire out for the Houſe of one Judas, who lived in the Straight, a Street of that Town, and there to ask for Saul of Tarſus, who had lately come to lodge with him; for he, having prayed to God for the Recovery of his Sight, has fallen into a Trance, and has had a divine Viſion afforded him, in which there has been repreſented to him, a Perſon ſent unto him upon a Meſſage, whoſe Name is Ananias, that is, yourſelf; and that, upon your Touching his Eyes with your Fingers, he had his Sight reſtored to him. V. Ananias replied, in this his Viſion, That this was a very ſtrange Commiſſion, to be ſent to ſuch a Perſecutor of the Chriſtians, as this Saul of Tarſus was, he having heard enough with what Cruelty he had treated the poor Chriſtians at Jeruſalem, and that he was coming down with a Commiſſion from the Sanhedrim to Damaſcus, to ſeize upon all the Chriſtians in that Place. Our Saviour replied, That the Caſe was now altered with Saul; bidding him, not to diſpute his Command, but to go immediately, as he had ordered him; aſſuring him withal, That Saul was become a choice Veſſel, or Piece of Furniture, in God's Temple, he being deſigned for eminent Service in the Church: For (ſays he,) he ſhall be a great Preacher of my Goſpel to the Gentile World, converting Perſons of the moſt eminent Dignity to Chriſtianity, as well Heathens as Jews: And however fierce he has hitherto appeared againſt the Profeſſors of the Goſpel, he himſelf ſhall be a great Sufferer for it, and at laſt ſhall lay down his Life in confirmation of it, which I ſhall not forbear to foretel him of; which, nevertheleſs, will not diſcourage him in his Miſſion, being willing to bear that himſelf, which he has made others undergo. VI. Upon this, Ananias went and found out Paul; and being come into the Houſe where he was, he laid his Hands upon him, ſaying, Brother Saul, who art now become one of our Religion, that Lord Jeſus who appeared to thee upon the Road to Damaſcus, has ſent me on a gracious Meſſage to thee, viz. to be a Means of reſtoring thy Sight, and conveying to thee the Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt, to empower thee to be a Miniſter in his Church. With this, the Film which had grown over his Eyes, occaſion'd by the glaring Light, with which he had lately been ſurrounded, ſcorching the outward Coats of his Eyes, fell off from them, they being like to the Scales of Fiſhes. After this, he ſaw perfectly well; and making Profeſſion of his Belief of Chriſtianity, was immediately baptized into it. And then he received ſome Food, having been faſting all the time from his Viſion upon the Road; by which he received Strength, he being much diſpirited by the Fatigue of his Journey, his Fright, and his Faſting; and continuing ſome ſhort time, till his Health was perfectly recovered, with the Chriſtians at Damaſcus. VII. And there he preached in the Synagogues, That Jeſus was the Meſſias, or Son of God, who was predicted by the Prophets. Which was no little degree of Surprize to all who heard him, they underſtanding that he was the ſame Perſon, who had been a violent Perſecutor of that Chriſtianity which he now taught, and had come down to Damaſcus in Proſecution of the ſame Deſign. But however, Saul every day encreaſed both in Natural and Spiritual Strength, confounding the Jews, who oppoſed him, by the Force of his Arguments, proving undeniably to them, That Jeſus was the True Meſſias.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. Matth. XIX. 27.

I. St. Peter, having heard from our Saviour, the extraordinary Advantages that all his faithful Followers ſhould receive in another World, asked him, What diſtinguiſhing Degrees of Happineſs ſhould be awarded to his Diſciples, who had left all that was near and dear to them in this World, to attend upon him, and to ſhare his Fortunes. Our Saviour made anſwer; That as for you, who have ſacrificed all your Secular Advantages, to take a part in the Labour and Hazard of Propagating my Religion; when, at the General Reſurrection, I ſhall come in Glory to judge the World, you ſhall be Co-aſſeſſors with me in judging the twelve tribes of Iſrael. II. And every one that hath forſaken houſes, or brethren, or ſiſters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands for my Names ſake ſhall receive an hundred fold, and ſhall inherit everlaſting life. III. But many that are firſt ſhall be laſt, and the laſt ſhall be firſt.

The COLLECT.

ALmighty and everliving God, we humbly beſeech thy Majeſty, that as thy only begotten Son was this day preſented in the temple in ſubſtance of our fleſh; ſo we may be preſented unto thee with pure and clean hearts, by the ſame thy Son Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

For the EPISTLE. MAL. III. 1.

I. BEhold, I will ſend my meſſenger, and he ſhall prepare the way before me: and the Lord whom ye ſeek, ſhall ſuddenly come to his temple; even the meſſenger of the covenant, whom ye delight in; behold, he ſhall come, ſaith the Lord of hoſts. But who may abide the day of his coming? and who ſhall ſtand when he appeareth? for he is like a refiners fire, and like fullers ſope. II. And he ſhall ſit as a refiner and purifier of ſilver; and he ſhall purifie the ſons of Levi, and purge them as gold and ſilver, that they may offer unto the Lord an offering in righteouſneſs. Then ſhall the offerings of Judah and Jeruſalem be pleaſant unto the Lord, as in the days of old, and as in former years. III. And I will come near to you to judgment, and I will be a ſwift witneſs againſt the ſorcerers, and in my Tribunal; and ſhall not only ſit Judges over the whole Heathen World, but ſhall have all the Twelve Tribes of Iſrael appear in Judgment before you. II. And as for my other Followers, who have neglected their Worldly Advantages, they ſhall receive an hundred times greater Happineſs than this World does afford, by the Inward Peace and Satisfaction of their Conſciences, during their Stay in this Life; but, in the World to come, they ſhall be inſtated in ſuch a Degree of Bliſs, as is above Eſtimation. III. But many, who you think muſt have a principal Share in this Glory, ſhall either be deprived of it, or be advanced only to a leſſer Degree thereof, as particularly many of the Jewiſh Nation: And thoſe who, you may think, have no Title to it, as for Inſtance, the Gentiles, many of theſe ſhall be inſtated in ſome of the chiefeſt Ranks of Glory.

(d) The Preſentation of Chriſt.] This Holiday is kept in Memory of the Preſentation of Chriſt in the Temple. For it was a Precept, That every Male that openeth the Womb, (i. e. every Firſt-born Son,) ſhould be holy unto the Lord, Exod. xiii. 2, 15. The firſt-born of the Cattle were to be reſerved for Sacrifices for God: And the Firſt-born Children were to attend in the Service of the Temple, or Tabernacle; or were to be redeemed by an Offering of Money, or Sacrifice, Numb. xviii. 16. And beſides, the Mother was obliged to ſeparate herſelf Forty Days from the Congregation, after the Birth of a Male, and Eighty after the Birth of a Female; and then was to preſent a Lamb, if in good Circumſtances, or a couple of Pigeons, if ſhe was poor: Levit. chap. xii. This was exactly performed after the Birth of our Saviour, who came to fulfil all righteouſneſs, and was willing, in all Particulars of his Life, that a juſt Obedience ſhould be paid to the Publick Ordinances of his Religion and Country.

This Feaſt is of conſiderable Antiquity in the Church: Thoſe that place the Beginning of it the lateſt, ſay it commenced in Juſtinian's Time, about the Year 540, upon occaſion of ſome Publick Calamities, as a great Earthquake, Showres of Blood, and ſome malignant Diſtempers following thereupon. The Greeks call'd this Feaſt by the Name of Hypante, which ſignifies, the Meeting, becauſe Simeon and Anna met our Lord in the Temple this Day. But I take this Feaſt to be much older than Juſtinian's Time; for St. Chryſoſtom mentions it as a Feaſt celebrated in the Church in his Days; for his CXXXVIIth Hom. Tom. 5. is entituled, A Sermon upon the Hypante, or, the Meeting, &c.

PARAPHRASE on the COLLECT for the Preſentation of Chriſt, &c.

O Almighty and Eternal God, we thy poor Servants do humbly beſeech thy Infinite Majeſty, that as thy Eternal Son, having taken upon him our Human Nature, was preſented, according to the Moſaical Inſtitution, in the Temple; ſo the ſame our Bleſſed Mediator and Interceſſor being now in Heaven, may preſent us with pure and clean Hearts to God the Father: And this we beg, for the ſake of the ſame Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Mal. III. 1.

I. Behold, (ſays God,) I deſigning to make an Appearance in the World, by my Son the Meſſias, as Princes are wont to ſend an Ambaſſador before them, to make Way for their Reception, ſo will I ſend an Extraordinary Miniſter, viz. the Baptiſt, to make Way for the Coming of Chriſt: And the Meſſias, whom you have been in long Expectation of, ſhall come, during the Adminiſtration of this Second Temple, the Meſſenger of the Second Covenant, much more excellent than the Moſaical, whom all of you ſo much deſire; it will not be long before this Great Perſon ſhall come into the World; and the Great God of Hoſts has given his Word, for the making this good. But then, how will Wicked Men be able to abide ſo great a Judge? and what Man's Righteouſneſs, according as Religion is exerciſed now, can ſtand the Teſt of his moſt righteous Laws? For he ſhall regulate all the Abuſes which are crept into God's Worſhip, and purifie Religion by his excellent Rules, as a Refiner does his Metal by the Fire, or a Fuller his Cloth by Soap. II. No Refiner does with greater Exactneſs ſeparate his Meral from his Droſs, than he ſhall rectifie the Abuſes in Eccleſiaſtical Affairs, and purge Religion from thoſe Abuſes which the Scribes and Phariſees, and others of the Jewiſh Clergy, by their corrupt Traditions, ſhall have introduced into it; and ſhall inſtitute a Miniſtry, who ſhall offer up a Sacrifice to God, which ſhall be more righteous and holy than what is offered now: Which will make the Oblations be as acceptable to God, as they were in the Times of the Patriarchs, before the Moſaical Rites had a beginning. III. Then (ſays God) I will expect a greater Purity and againſt the adulterers, and againſt falſe ſwearers, and againſt thoſe that oppreſs the hireling in his wages, the widow and the fatherleſs, and that turn aſide the ſtranger from his right, and fear not me, ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

The GOSPEL. S. LUKE II. 22.

I. AND when the days of her purification, according to the law of Moſes, were accompliſhed, they brought him to Jeruſalem to preſent him to the Lord (as it is written in the law of the Lord, Every male that openeth the womb, ſhall be called holy to the Lord) And to offer a ſacrifice according to that which is ſaid in the law of the Lord, A pair of turtle-doves, or two young pigeons. II. And behold, there was a man in Jeruſalem, whoſe name was Symeon; and the ſame man was juſt and devout, waiting for the conſolation of Iſrael: and the holy Ghoſt was upon him. And it was revealed unto him by the holy Ghoſt, that he ſhould not ſee death, before he had ſeen the Lords Chriſt. And he came by the Spirit into the temple, and when the parents brought in the child Jeſus, to do for him after the cuſtom of the law, then took he him up in his arms, and bleſſed God, and ſaid, III. Lord, now letteſt thou thy ſervant depart in peace, according to thy word. For mine eyes have ſeen thy ſalvation; which thou haſt prepared before the face of all people, a light to lighten the Gentiles, and the glory of thy people Iſrael. And Joſeph and his mother marvelled at thoſe things which were ſpoken of him. IV. And Symeon bleſſed them, and ſaid unto Mary his mother, Behold, this child is ſet for the fall and riſing again of many in Iſrael; and for a ſign which ſhall be ſpoken againſt, (Yea a ſword ſhall pierce through thy own ſoul alſo) that the thoughts of many hearts may be revealed. V. And there was one Anna a propheteſs, the daughter of Phanuel, of the tribe of Aſer; ſhe was of a great age, and had lived with an husband ſeven years from her virginity. And ſhe was a widow of about fourſcore and four years; which departed not from the temple, but ſerved God with faſtings and prayers night and day. And ſhe coming in that inſtant gave thanks likewiſe unto the Lord, and ſpake of him to all them that looked for redemption in Jeruſalem. And when they had performed all things according to the law of the Lord, they returned into Galilee to their own city Nazareth. And the child grew, and waxed ſtrong in ſpirit, filled with wiſdom; and the grace of God was upon him.

of Life, and Reformation of Manners, than I have done under the preſent Diſpenſation: And all thoſe who allow themſelves in the Practice of all Magical and Superſtitious Practices, in Adultery, Falſe-ſwearing, Fraud, or Oppreſſion, ſhall have my Vengeance ſhowred down more ſeverely upon them.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Luke II. 22.

I. Forty Days being expired from the Time of the Delivery of the bleſſed Virgin, as the Moſaical Law directed, they brought the young Child to Jeruſalem, to preſent him ſolemnly in the Temple: For every Firſt-born that openeth the Womb, was to be holy unto the Lord, Exod. xiii. 2. And every Poor Woman, that was not able to ſacrifice a Lamb, was to bring for a Sacrifice two Turtles, or two young Pigeons, Lev. xii. 8. which was accordingly done by the Bleſſed Virgin. II. There lived at that time in Jeruſalem a very holy Man, whoſe Name was Simeon, who was in earneſt Expectation of the Coming of the Meſſias, and to whom the Holy Ghoſt did ſometimes impart Divine Revelations; among which, this was one, That he ſhould not die, before he had ſeen the Meſſias. Now, by the Impulſe of the Holy Spirit, he came into the Temple, exactly at the ſame time when the Parents of our Saviour brought him thither, to perform what the Law preſcribed in thoſe Caſes. Then Simeon took the Holy Infant into his Arms, embracing him with great Love and Tenderneſs, and returning Thanks to Almighty God, for the many extraordinary Benefits which he was through him to confer upon the World; expreſſing himſelf after this manner: III. "Lord, thou mayeſt now, if it be thy heavenly Pleaſure, "ſuffer me thy Servant to go down to the Grave in Peace; thou "having now diſcharged thyſelf of thy Promiſe made to me, "That I ſhould not ſee death, before I had ſeen the Lords Chriſt, "Luke ii. 26. For now, to my greateſt Comfort, I have been "ſo happy as to ſee, not with the Eye of Faith only, as the "Patriarchs, and other good People before did; but with theſe, "my very own fleſhly Eyes, I have ſeen the Saviour of the "World: Whom thou haſt ordained, to purchaſe Salvation, "not only for the Jews, but for all People and Nations in the "World, and whom all of them, with joint-Expectations, wait "for: That he ſhould be, as it were, a Light hung out to the "Gentiles, who were ſurrounded by the Darkneſs of Idolatry and "Superſtition, to direct them into the Way of True Religion; "and likewiſe, That he ſhould procure great Glory and Honour "to the Jews; That he, whom all Nations expected, ſhould be "born among them; That the Goſpel ſhould be firſt preached "in their Country; and, That their Country-men ſhould be "the chief Inſtruments of conveying Salvation to ſo many diſtant "Countries of the Univerſe. IV. Simeon alſo bleſſed Joſeph and Mary; and particularly directing himſelf to the bleſſed Virgin, he ſaid, This Child, which thou haſt here brought to the Temple, ſhall be the Occaſion of great Happineſs to many of the Jewiſh Nation, who ſhall readily obey his Doctrine, and ſhall alſo cauſe great Misfortunes to happen to thoſe, who ſhall obſtinately ſtand out againſt the Evidence and Force of it: And he himſelf ſhall ſuffer ſuch Things, as will pierce thy Soul to behold them, with as much Grief, as if a Sword was run into thy Bowels: And this great Trial ſhall diſcover, who are Faithful Believers and Lovers of him, and who are only Pretenders to it. V. There was alſo one Anna a Propheteſs, Daughter to one Phanuel of the Tribe of Aſer, being a Widow of the Age of Eighty four Years, having been marry'd but to one Husband, with whom ſhe lived but only ſeven Years, ſpending the reſt of her Time in her Widowhood, and conſtant Faſting, and Devotion in the Temple: This good Woman, coming to the Temple, at the ſame time with the Perſons before-mention'd, paid her hearty Thanks to God, for the Benefits ſhe expected from the Meſſias; it being revealed to her, That the Child Jeſus, then in the Temple, was He: And ſhe afterwards made Report to all the pious Perſons in Jeruſalem, whom ſhe was acquainted with, of what ſhe had there ſeen.

Some Day between the Aſcenſion and the Feaſt of Pentecoſt, when the Chriſtians were gathered together in an Aſſembly conſiſting of about an Hundred and twenty Perſons, the Eleven Apoſtles being there, as the Principal and more Honourable Part of the Congregation; St. Peter, as being the Elder Perſon among them, beſpoke the Company after this manner: My Brethren in the Apoſtleſhip, and Faith of Chriſt; There are ſome eminent Paſſages in the Pſalms of David, written by the Inſpiration of the Holy Ghoſt, which relate to Judas, who betrayed our Lord to the Roman Soldiers, who were ſent to take him; which perfidious Action he baſely committed, tho' he ſtood in the ſame nigh Relation which we did to him, being one of his Twelve Diſciples, whom he had prepared and inſtructed for the Preaching of the Goſpel. II. The Event of his Perfidiouſneſs is ſufficiently known to you all, how having received Money for his Treachery, by which a Piece of Land was bought, which he gained no Benefit by; he, out of Deſpair, hanged himſelf; and, not being found till his Body was ſwoln, when he was cut down, his Guts burſt out by the Fall. A remarkable Judgment upon ſo execrable a Wretch! This was a Matter of Fact known all over Jeruſalem, and much talked of; and was one occaſion, why the Field, which was purchaſed with Judas's Money, got the Name of Hachel Dama, or, The Field of Blood. Now, I ſay, there is a Prediction in the Pſalms, of this wicked Judas, as in the 69th Pſalm, ver. 25. Let his habitation be deſolate, and no one to dwell in his tent. And again, Pſalm 109. Let his days be few, and let another take his Office; or, according to the Septuagint Tranſlation, Biſhoprick. III. Now, in Purſuance to the Tenour of this Prediction, and the Intent of our Saviour's Inſtitution, who himſelf choſe Twelve Apoſtles, in Imitation of the Twelve Patriarchs, who were to be the Fathers of the Spiritual Seed, as they were of the Corporeal; let us appoint a New Apoſtle, who may be another Witneſs of our Saviour's Reſurrection, out of the number of thoſe have converſed with us all along from his Baptiſm till his Aſcenſion. IV. To this Propoſal they unanimouſly aſſented, and agreed upon two, Joſeph Barſabas, otherwiſe call'd Juſtus, and Matthias; leaving it to be decided by Lots, which of theſe two ſhould be the Apoſtle. Then they all joined in a ſhort Prayer, to this Effect; We have done as much as in us lies to chuſe two very worthy Perſons for this great Charge, either of which, as far as we can ſee, has ſufficient Abilities for it; but thou, O Lord, knoweſt the intimate Receſſes of every Man's Heart, and the force of every Man's Talent, infinitely beyond what we can penetrate; do thou be pleaſed to direct the Lot now to be drawn, that it may fall on the Perſon who is qualified to do thee the greateſt Service, and that he may fill the Apoſtleſhip, which Judas has forfeited by his Treaſon, for which God has call'd him to Account. After this, they put the Lots (as the Cuſtom was) into the Urn, apoſtleſhip, from which Judas by tranſgreſſion fell, that he might go to his own place. And they gave forth their lots; and the lot fell upon Matthias, and he was numbred with the eleven Apoſtles.

The GOSPEL. S. MATTH. XI. 25.

I. AT that time Jeſus anſwered and ſaid, I thank thee, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, becauſe thou haſt hid theſe things from the wiſe and prudent, and haſt revealed them unto babes. Even ſo, Father, for ſo it ſeemed good in thy ſight. II. All things are delivered unto me of my Father: and no man knoweth the Son but the Father; neither knoweth any man the Father ſave the Son, and he to whomſoever the Son will reveal him. III. Come unto me all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you reſt. Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me, for I am meek and lowly in heart, and ye ſhall find reſt unto your ſouls. For my yoke is eaſie, and my burden is light.

I. Our Saviour having denounced many very ſevere Judgments againſt ſome Cities of Judea, for their Incredulity, after his doing ſo many Miracles among them, addreſſed himſelf to God, in this manner: O my Heavenly Father, the Great Creator and Governor of Heaven and Earth, I return thee hearty Thanks for this great Demonſtration of the Wiſdom of thy Providence, in that thou haſt not revealed the Principles of the Religion which I preach to the Learned and Sagacious of the World, whoſe great Character might be apt to have recommended it to others, but haſt firſt diſcover'd it to Mean and Illiterate Perſons, whom thou haſt ordained to propagate it to the World, notwithſtanding all the Diſadvantages they labour under: This thy good Pleaſure, which is governed by the juſteſt Reaſons, has appointed. II. All that vaſt Plenitude of Power which is originally in the Father, is derived to me his Son; and the Natures both of the Father and the Son, are known to themſelves alone; excepting only ſome to whom they are pleaſed to reveal ſomething concerning it. III. If any one of you be grievouſly oppreſſed by the Burden of his Sins, and pained with the Stings of a wounded Conſcience, let him have recourſe to my Merits for Succour; I will intercede for his Pardon with God, and make his Conſcience eaſie to him. You of the Jewiſh Nation, that have been long accuſtomed to the Slavery of the Ceremonial Law, take my more agreeable Religion upon you; become Diſciples to me, who will not be ſuch a haughty ſupercilious Maſter to you, as the Phariſees are, but will inform you, in all the Precepts of True Religion, with Gentleneſs and Humility: And this, I muſt tell you, will afford you the Comforts of a good Conſcience in this World, and Eternal Happineſs in the next: You need not be afraid of any inſuperable Difficulties, and rigid Severities, in my Inſtitution; for, tho' this may be, in ſome ſenſe, call'd a Yoke, it is but a gentle one, and which may with much more Eaſineſs be born, than the Load of the Judaical Ceremonies.

NOTE.

(f) Annuciation.] This Day is appointed by the Church, in Memory of the Bleſſed Virgin, and particularly of the Meſſage of the Angel to her, concerning her being to bring forth the Meſſias our Bleſſed Lord. This Holy Perſon was a Young-Woman of the Tribe of Judah, who derived her Pedigree from King David, the Branches of that Royal Family, after many Deſcents, being reduced to a low Degree of Fortune. Some ancient Writers of the Church do write, That her Father's Name was Joachim, and her Mother's Anna: Epiph. Hæreſ. 9. There was a Tradition, which pretty much obtained about 500 Years after Chriſt, That the Bleſſed Virgin, at Three Years old, was brought to the Temple, and educated under the Direction of the High-Prieſt, till the Time of her Eſpouſals: Greg. Nyſſ. de Chriſt. Nat. Joh Damaſc. Orthod. Fid. cap. 13. Evod. apud Niceph. lib. 2. cap. 3. But the firſt Relater of this odd Piece of Hiſtory is Gregory Nyſſene, who wrote about the Year 370: For the latter Greek and Latin Authors have taken it upon Truſt, without any Examination, from him; as being very fond of ſupporting the Truth of this Story, to give the better Countenance to Vows of Virginity, and the Inſtitution of Nuns, which have been ſo frequent in the late Ages. But Gregory ſpeaks of this Story, as if he himſelf did not believe it; he ſays, he had it out of an Hiſtory of an uncertain Author, of whom no-body could tell who he was; and ſays no more in its favour, than that it is not altogether abſurd, as the Stories in ſuch Apocryphal Authors uſed to be.

Some have thought, the Bleſſed Virgin was of the Tribe of Levi, becauſe of her being Kin to Eliſabeth who was Wife to Zacharias a Prieſt, who they thought was to marry into his own Tribe: But that is a Miſtake, and the Prieſts might marry into whatever Tribe they pleaſed, Ezra ii. 16. And if Zacharias marry'd a Wife out of the Tribe of Judah, the Virgin Mary being of that Tribe, and her nigh Relation, might be Kinſwoman to Eliſabeth, without being of the Tribe of Levi. Beſides, there is an ancient Tradition, That Mary was an only Child, and Heir to her Father's and Mother's Goods, Epiph. contr. Antidic. and therefore was eſpouſed to Joſeph, as the next of Kin, according to the Moſaical Law, Numb. xxxvi. 6. which will neceſſarily infer her to be of the ſame Tribe with Joſeph her Husband. That Joſeph was a Widower, when he was eſpouſed to the Bleſſed Virgin, and had ſeveral Children by his firſt Wife, is the unanimous Opinion of all the Greek Fathers for the firſt Ages: Orig. in Mzt. 13. Euſeb. Hiſt. lib. 2. cap. 1. Epiph. Hæreſ. 28. 78. Greg. Nyſſ. de Reſur. Chriſt. Or. 2. Theoph. in Mat. 27. and of many of the Latins, Hil. in Mat. 1. Ambroſ. in Gal. for theſe generally ſuppoſed, that thoſe called our Lord's Brethren, in the Goſpel, were Joſeph's Children by his firſt Wife. But, after all, St. Jerom ſays, This Story they learn'd from Apocryphal Books of no Authority, and that our Lord's Brethren were his Couſin-Germans, Hieron. in Mat. 12. To the ſame Opinion Theodoret aſſents, Theod. in cap. 1. Gal. Which of theſe Opinions is the moſt probable, I will not pretend to determin. But, that ſhe was Fifteen Years of Age at the Time of her Eſpouſals with Joſeph: As ſome of the Ancients, from Tradition, do affirm it, Greg. Nyſſ. Orat. de Chriſt. Nat. ſo it may not be unreaſonable to ſuppoſe it to be true; that being the uſual Time of Marrying Young-Women, among the Jews. The Antients aſſigned ſeveral Reaſons, to evince the Neceſſity of the Marriage of the Holy Virgin, before her bringing forth our Bleſſed Lord; which may have their Weight. One Reaſon is given by Ignatius; That the Devil might not know, but that her Child was born from Wedlock, and not of a Virgin. Another Cauſe is alledged by St. Ambroſe; That ſhe might avoid the Reproach of thoſe, who did not know ſhe was Impregnated by the Holy Ghoſt. Some time after her Diſponſation to Joſeph, it was declared to her by an Angel, That ſhe ſhould bring forth One, who ſhould be the Son of God, and who ſhould have an Everlaſting Kingdom, Luke i. 32. and that this Extraordinary Off-ſpring, which ſhould be born of her Body, ſhould not be produced, after the uſual Way of Human Conceptions, but, by the Overſhadowing of the Holy Ghoſt, Luke i. 35. The Holy Scriptures record of her, That ſhe was a Perſon eminent for Devotion, and holy Contemplation; for the obſerving and remarking the extraordinary Occurrences concerning

I. MOreover the Lord ſpake again unto Ahaz, ſaying, Ask thee a ſign of the Lord thy God; ask it either in the depth, or in the height above. But Ahaz ſaid, I will not ask, neither will I tempt the Lord. II. And he ſaid, Hear ye now, O houſe of David, Is it a ſmall thing for you to weary men, but will ye weary my God alſo? Therefore the Lord himſelf ſhall give you a ſign, Behold, a virgin ſhall conceive and bear a Son, and ſhall call his name Immanuel. Butter and honey ſhall he eat, that he may know to refuſe the evil, and chooſe the good.

The GOSPEL. S. LUKE I. 26.

I. AND in the ſixth month the angel Gabriel was ſent from God unto a city of Galilee, named Nazareth, to a virgin eſpouſed to a man, whoſe name was Joſeph, of the houſe of David; and the virgins name was Mary. And the angel came in unto her, and ſaid, Hail, thou that art highly favoured, the Lord is with thee; bleſſed art thou among women. II. And when ſhe ſaw him, ſhe was troubled at his ſaying, and caſt in her mind what manner of ſalutation this ſhould be. And the angel ſaid unto her, Fear not, Mary; for thou haſt found favour with God. And cerning her Son, and pondering them in her heart, Luke ii. 19. for keeping his wiſe Sayings in her heart, ver 51. By her frequently following after him to hear his divine Sermons, Matth. xii. 26. Mark iii. 32. Luke viii. 20. And laſtly, by conſtantly joining herſelf, in the Publick Devotion with the Apoſtles, Acts i. 14. There was a Tradition in the Church, That ſhe travelled with St. John to Epheſus: For the Fathers of that Council, in an Epiſtle of theirs to the Clergy of Conſtantinople, mentioning Epheſus, ſay, In which John the Divine, and the Deiparous Virgin Mary, ſome time dwelt, Act. Eph. Conc. c. 26. There are various Opinions about the Time of her Death, ſome placing it in the 58th Year of her Age, ſome in the 72d, but moſt in the 62d or 63d Year of her Age, and in the Year of Chriſt 48. Some Writers, both in the Greek and Latin Church, tell a ſtrange Story about her Aſſumption into Heaven, and that with great variety in their Relation; ſome affirming her, To be conveyed thither alive, like Enoch, and Elias: Others, That after her Death, ſhe aroſe again, and was carried triumphantly into Heaven: Mel. de Tranſ. Vir. Niceph. Hiſt. lib. 2. cap. 21. But as all the Legendary Hiſtory of this Tranſlation is taken out of Apocryphal Books, it deſerves not much Credit; and, tho' the Church of Rome has adopted this Story, of the Aſſumption of the Bleſſed Virgin, into her Belief and Worſhip; yet the Authors which ſupport this Hiſtory, are condemned by all the learned Authors of that Church. I muſt needs ſay, this whimſical Notion is of conſiderable Antiquity, for 'tis undoubtedly as old as Epiphanius's Time; but that Author, in his Relation of this Matter, ſays, "He will do nothing to depretiate the Honour of the Virgin, "and therefore will not give his Aſſent to that Opinion, nor yet "contradict it, but rather acquieſce in the Scriptures, which ſay "nothing of it: Epiph. Hareſ. 78. § 11. And I wiſh the Church of Rome had been as modeſt as this Writer, who is the beſt Author which they can quote, for any thing relating to this Matter.

PARAPHRASE on the COLLECT for the Annunciation, &c.

O Lord, we humbly pray, that thou wouldſt be pleaſed to infuſe ſuch a meaſure of Grace into our Hearts, that whereas thou haſt vouchſafed to make known thy Son Jeſus Chriſt's Incarnation, by a Meſſage of an Holy Angel ſent to the Bleſſed Virgin, ſo we may behave ourſelves with that Obedience to thy Commands, that we may, through the Merits of his Croſs and Paſſion, obtain that Everlaſting Glory, which his Reſurrection has given us the moſt comfortable Hopes that we ſhall enter into: Which we earneſtly deſire, for the ſake of the ſame Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Iſa. VII. 10.

I. The Kingdom of Ahaz being infeſted by Invaſion of a Foreign Power, the Prophet Iſaiah had afforded him ſome Comfort, in predicting the Removal of the ſad Calamity: Which Ahaz diſtruſting, God promiſed him to confirm the Prediction, by any Miracle he ſhould deſire: Ask (ſays he) for any Miracle to be done, in Confirmation of what is foretold, and it ſhall be done, in any Part of the World, from the Sky to the Abyſs. Ahaz ſurlily replied, That his Caſe was ſo deſperate, that no Deliverance could be wrought for him, and therefore he would not put God to the Expence of doing a Miracle to no Purpoſe. II. The Irreligious Temper which was diſcovered in this Prince, by this Expreſſion, raiſed ſome Commotion in the Mind of the Prophet, which made him expreſs himſelf to Ahaz after this manner; O Prince, who doſt partake of the Blood of David in your Extraction, but not of his Piety, you ſhall be forced to hear one thing more which I have to ſay to you: Have you as contemptuous Thoughts of your Maker, as of your Subjects? And have you no more Regard to the Predictions of God himſelf, than to the ordinary Warnings of his Prophets? Since you will not ask for a Miracle to be done, in Confirmation of my preſent Prediction, I will tell one, and that the greateſt of Miracles, which ſhall be done in your Kingdom; A Virgin ſhal Conceive without any Carnal Knowledge of a Man; and the Son which ſhall be born of her, ſhall be Immanuel, or, God with us: He ſhall be fed, for ſome time, with Milk and Honey, the Food of Children, till he arrive to riper Years.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Luke I. 26.

I. It was now ſix Months, after Eliſabeth was with Child of John the Baptiſt, when the Angel Gabriel, a bleſſed Spirit of chief Rank among the Celeſtial Orders, was ſent by God unto Nazareth, a City of Galilee, upon a ſpecial Meſſage to a young Virgin, whoſe Name was Mary, ſhe being lately betrothed to one Joſeph, who, tho' but of mean Circumſtances, was of direct Deſcent in the Royal Davidical Line. The Angel appearing before her in the Room where ſhe was, addreſſed to her with this Salutation; All Happineſs attend you, O Bleſſed Virgin! who ſtand in ſuch great Graces with Almighty God; he reſerving peculiar Degrees of Honour for you, O the Happieſt of all Women that ever were, or ever ſhall be! II. The Virgin was not a little ſurprized at ſo ſtrange an Appearance; and was in a like Confuſion, to think, what ſhould be the meaning of this ſo unuſual Salutation. But the Angel encouraging her,

And behold, thou ſhalt conceive in thy womb, and bring forth a Son, and ſhalt call his Name Jeſus. He ſhall be great, and ſhall be called the Son of the Higheſt; and the Lord God ſhall give unto him the throne of his father David. And he ſhall reign over the houſe of Jacob for ever, and of his kingdom there ſhall be no end. III. Then ſaid Mary unto the angel, How ſhall this be, ſeeing I know not a man? And the angel anſwered and ſaid unto her, The holy Ghoſt ſhall come upon thee, and the power of the Higheſt ſhall overſhadow thee: therefore alſo that holy thing which ſhall be born of thee, ſhall be called the Son of God. And behold, thy coſin Elizabeth, ſhe hath alſo conceived a ſon in her old age; and this is the ſixth month with her who was called barren. For with God nothing ſhall be unpoſſible. IV. And Mary ſaid, Behold the hand-maid of the Lord; be it unto me according to thy word. And the angel departed from her.

bade her not be in ſo great a Concern, for nothing ſhould turn to her Prejudice, but, contrariwiſe, to her very great Honour and Satisfaction, which God deſigned for her by this Meſſage: For thou ſhalt Conceive (ſays he) at this Inſtant, and bring forth a Son, whoſe Name ſhall be Jeſus: He ſhall be the Greateſt Perſonage that ever appeared in the World, being the Son of the Moſt High God; and, being derived from David's Family, he ſhall be placed upon the Davidical Throne, to reign over the Iſraelites; and however, ſhall not only enjoy a Temporary Empire, as the other Kings of Iſrael and Judah have done, but ſhall reign for ever. III. The Virgin Mary replied, That ſhe could not yet underſtand to what Purpoſe theſe Words tended; or how it was poſſible, that ſhe ſhould have a Child, ſhe never having Conſorted with a Man. The Angel proceeded to tell her, That this was to be brought about, not by the ordinary Courſe of Nature, but in a very miraculous manner, ſhe being to be impregnated by the Energy of God's Holy Spirit, and upon that Account her Child ſhould be ſtiled, The Son of God. And I have this further to add, for your Information, That your Couſin Eliſabeth, notwithſtanding her great advance in Years, and having all her Life-time before been barren, is Six Months gone with Child. Now as, according to the uſual Courſe of Nature, this ſeemed an impoſſible thing; yet when God Almighty is pleaſed to interpoſe, he can make it as poſſible for you to Conceive without Converſation with a Man, as it was for her to be with Child in her Old Age. IV. The Bleſſed Virgin, with great Modeſty and Humility, replied, That God Almighty might diſpoſe of her, according to his Alwiſe Pleaſure; and that ſhe ſhould be willing to ſubmit to this, or any other of his Providential Diſpenſations, which he ſhould think fit to lay her under. And with this the Angel diſappeared, having performed his Commiſſion,

NOTE.

(g) Saint Mark's Day.] There being ſeveral Marks mention'd in Scripture, it is not ſo eaſie to determin, which of them was the Evangeliſt, who is this Day commemorated by the Church. We read of one John Mark, mention'd Acts xii. 12. Peter came to the Houſe of Mary the Mother of John, whoſe Sirname was Mark. We read of another Mark, Siſter's Son to Barnabas, Col. iv. 10. We find likewiſe a Mark ſpoken of by St. Peter; The Church which is at Babylon ſaluteth you, and ſo doth Marcus my Son, 1 Pet. i. 13. Now that John ſirnamed Mark, and Mark the Kinſman of Barnabas, was the ſame Perſon, is evident from Acts xv. 37. where 'tis expreſly ſaid, That Barnabas determined to take with him (and his Collegue St. Paul) John whoſe Sirname was Mark: For why ſhould we think he ſhould take another Mark, ſooner than Mark his Siſter's Son? So that 'tis plain, John Mark was the Aſſociate of Paul and Barnabas, and the ſame who is ſo often mention'd in St. Paul's Epiſtles, 2 Tim. iv. 11. Col. iv. 10. Phil. 24.

It remains therefore the Queſtion, Which of theſe two Marks was the Evangeliſt, John Mark the Companion of St. Paul; or the other Mark the Convert, or Son, as he is called, of St. Peter, and who was likewiſe the Attendant upon his Perſon? But Antiquity, if we have regard to that, will determin for the latter. For the moſt ancient Writers of the Church affirm, That Mark, in his Attendance upon St. Peter, wrote his Goſpel at the Command of St. Peter; That that great Apoſtle ſupervis'd it after it was done, and recommended it to the Church under the Authority of his Name: Clem. Alex. Stro. lib. 6. Euſeb. Hiſt. lib. 2. cap. 15. Athan. in Synopſ. Epiph. Hær. 51. Hieron. Script. Eccleſ. Upon which reaſon, Tertullian does not ſcruple to call his Goſpel, The Goſpel according to St. Peter: Tertul. contr. Mar. He wrote his Goſpel in the Year of Chriſt 45, as Euſebius relates, Euſeb. Chron. A. D. 45. He is ſuppoſed to be a Jew by Extraction, and that his Name was Mordecai; and he took Marcus as a Roman Name ſomething like in ſound; it being the Cuſtom of the Jews ſo to do, when they travelled from Home; as Jeſus the Son of Onias was call'd Jaſo, Saul was call'd Paulus.

He planted a Chriſtian Church at Alexandria, and was the firſt Biſhop of that Place: Hier. Script. Eccl. Euſeb. Eccl. Hiſt. lib. 2. cap. 15. The Particulars of his Martyrdom are not mention'd by any very early Writers: Beda, Ado, Nicephorus, and Metaphraſtes, ſay, That his Death was occaſioned by an Inſurrection of the Heathen Rabble upon him, as he was officiating in his Church at Alexandria, who tied a Rope about his Neck, and dragg'd him up and down the craggy Rocks by the Sea-ſide, till they had kill'd him.

I. God Almighty has been pleaſed to afford every one of us Chriſtians very conſiderable Portions of his Holy Spirit, to ſome greater, and others leſs, according as is fitteſt for them; dealing them out to us in ſuch Proportion, as our Spiritual Neceſſities, and the Good of Religion, does require. Therefore he does declare to us, in the Holy Scripture, Thou haſt aſcended on high, thou haſt led captivity captive, thou haſt received gifts for men, Pſal. lxviii. 18. Now ſince this Pſalm is allowed to be Prophetical of the Meſſias, it being poſitively ſaid here, That Chriſt has aſcended on high; it ſuppoſes, that this Great Perſon had deſcended low, and converſed ſome time in theſe inferior Regions of the World, in a State of Abaſement, and far beneath that glorious State of Ætherial Happineſs which he dwelt in before. Neither muſt we think that there are two Meſſias's; one who dwelt ignobly here upon Earth, without any Outward Splendour; and another, who is to deſcend glorioufly from Heaven; there being but one Meſſias, our Bleſſed Lord, who deſcended from Heaven into this abject State, and afterwards glorioufly aſcended beyond the Confines of this viſible World, that he might prepare us an Immortal State of Glory, for the Completion of our Happineſs. II. And upon his going, he promiſed us the Aſſiſtances of the Holy Spirit, and has ſince made good his Word, by affording us many Supernatural Powers; beſtowing upon ſome the Gifts of the Apoſtleſhip, and enabling them with an Inherent Power of performing Miracles, for the Confirmation of the Goſpel, qualifying ſome, by the ſame Endowments, to be Evangeliſts, or Coadjutors to the Apoſtles, in their Miniſtry; enabling ſome to be Teachers and Inſtructers of thoſe who are willing to receive the Goſpel, in the Fundamental Points of Religion, to the End that the Holy Believers may may be rendred more and more perfect, in the Knowledge of Goſpel Truths; that thoſe who labour in the Goſpel, may thereby find a better Succeſs and Fruit of their Labours, and that the whole Body of Chriſtians may receive Improvement, in all Spiritual Concerns: So that Chriſtianity may daily make more and more Advances, and overcome all the Difficulties which it ſtruggles with at preſent, by the Diſputes about the Jewiſh Ceremonies, and that all Chriſtians may come to an Uniformity of Opinion and Practice, in all the Points of Doctrine which our Bleſſed Lord has delivered to us, and may grow up to a Perfect and Manly Stature; and not be, as too many of us have been, like Children, of a wavering and uncertain Judgment; ſometimes mighty fond of a thing, and then growing weary of it, and ſlighting it: Which Fault is ſufficiently evident in thoſe, who have been perverted by the Doctrine of ſeveral Falſe-Teachers, who have drawn them in to very erroneous Opinions, by their cunning Sophiſtry, with the like Slight as cheating Gameſters manage the Dice, to win Money from thoſe Novices who are ignorant of their Fraud: But, on the contrary, you ought to profeſs the True and Genuine Doctrines of Chriſtianity, which ſhews forth itſelf, not in Wrangling and Diſputing, but in Charity and Good Works; that you may make a continual Improvement in Holineſs, till you arrive to the Perfection of that Copy which Chriſt has ſet you, and be entirely united with him your Head. III. For all you Chriſtians are Members of his Body, and Vitally united to him; for, as in the Natural Body, all the Limbs are ſo joined together, as that Nouriſhment is conveyed to every Part; and the Thriving of each Part, contributes to the Health and Strength of the Whole: So it is in the Myſtical Body of the Church; the particular Graces, and divine Aſſiſtances, which are afforded to every particular Chriſtian, tends to the Good of the whole Community, one Perſon edifying another, ſhewing him a good Example, and putting him in mind of ſomething defective in himſelf, and which he may imitate, by ſeeing ſomething more perfect in another.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. John XV. 1.

I. Our Saviour, having adminiſtred his Laſt Supper to his Diſciples, before he roſe from the Table, taking occaſion, from the Cup which he then delivered, he illuſtrated the Unity, which he required among his Followers, by the Similitude of a Vine. The Prophet Jeremy (ſays he) mentions a noble Vine, Jer. ii. 21. and I am ſuch an one, whom God the Father, the Great Vinitor, has planted in this World, that all the genuine Branches which ſhoot from me, might bring forth an excellent Fruit. Indeed, there will be ſome Branches which will be unprofitable ones, not bringing forth Grapes; I mean, formal Profeſſors of my Religion, without any juſt Effect thereof ſhewn in their Lives; but ſuch ſhall be cut off from me the Root, and ſhall not partake of the Beneficial Influences which the genuine Branches are Sharers in: But, as for all fruitful Branches, I mean, ſincere and good Chriſtians, thoſe God prunes, and, by Exhortations, Counſels and Chaſtiſements, renders them more profitable and fruitful. Indeed, as for your parts, you are ſo well grounded, by the Doctrine which I have preached to you, that you need not fear being cut off as unprofitable Branches, but you muſt expect to be pruned, and to undergo many ſevere Diſpenſations, in order to your being rendred berter. Do you take a ſpecial care to be conſtant and ſtedfaſt in the Religion which I have been Preaching to you, and do not fall off from it by any Perſecution, and I ſhall not be wanting to afford you ſufficient Aſſiſtances of my Grace, to enable you to diſcharge your Duty, and to bear all the Hardſhips, which you ſhall undergo for the ſake of it: For, as a Branch cut cannot bear fruit of it ſelf, except it abide in the vine; no more can ye, except ye abide in me. II. I am the vine, ye are the branches. He that abideth in me, and I in him, the ſame bringeth forth much fruit; for without me ye can do nothing. If a man abide not in me, he is caſt forth as a branch, and is withered; and men gather them, and caſt them into the fire, and they are burned. III. If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye ſhall ask what ye will, and it ſhall be done unto you. Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; ſo ſhall ye be my diſciples. As the Father hath loved me, ſo have I loved you; continue ye in my love. If ye keep my commandments, ye ſhall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Fathers commandments, and abide in his love. Theſe things have I ſpoken unto you, that my joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full.

(b) Saint * Philip and Saint James day.

cut off from the Vine loſes all the quickning Sap which keeps it in Life and Vigour; ſo likewiſe ſhall you (if you fall off from the Profeſſion of your Religion, by reaſon of any Terrors or Dangers,) receive no Benefit by my Grace, nor Reward from my Promiſes. II. Now, ſince I am the Vine, and you are the Branches, you muſt underſtand, that there is a Vital Union between us both; and that Perſon, who adheres and keeps ſtedfaſt to me, ſhall have that Original Grace, which is inherent in me, communicated to him, ſo that he ſhall be abundantly prolifick of Good Works, as a Vine-Branch is the more fruitful after good Pruning: For you muſt not be ſo vain, to think that you are able of your own ſelves to perform theſe, without the Aſſiſtance of the Supernatural Strength which I ſhall afford you: But if any of you fall off from me, you ſhall be like a withered dead Branch, fit for nothing but to be burnt. III. As long as you continue ſtedfaſt to my Religion, and inviolably obſerve the Doctrine and Precepts, which I have delivered to you, you ſhall receive ſo great an Encouragement of your Obedience, that whatſoever Petitions you put up to God, for the furtherance of his Glory, and the Salvation of your Souls, he ſhall vouchſafe to grant them. But indeed, the Honour which you can do God, is not ſo much the miraculous Effects which ſhall be conſequent upon your Prayers, as the Fruits which you ſhall produce by a holy and exemplary Life; for this does beſpeak you to be my Diſciples, more than the Preternatural Powers which attend your Miſſion. As to my Love to you, you need not be anxious concerning that; for my ſingling out you for my Followers, above the reſt of Mankind, is a ſufficient Teſtimony of it; having ſhewed the like Degree of Love to you, as God the Father has to me, in ſending me to preach the Goſpel to the World. Now do you take a ſpecial care to merit this Love, and the Favour I have conferred upon you, by Obedience to my Commands. Be you as diligent in diſcharging the Commands which I have enjoined you, as I have done thoſe which my Father has enjoined me; and this will entitle you to my Love, as my Obedience to God the Father, has recommended me to his Love. I have been the more large in ſpeaking to you upon this Head, that, when I ſhall leave you, you may have a good Ground of Comfort to ſupport you under thoſe Dangers and Perſecutions, which you may be expoſed to.

NOTE.

(b) Saint Philip and James.] Two Saints are commemorated by the Church this Day, the firſt whereof is St. Philip.

1. Of St. Philip.

St. Philip was born at Bethſaida a Town of Galilee, a barren Country of Judæa, near the Sea of Tiberias, Joh. i. 44. Our Saviour, living in this obſcure remote Place, was pleaſed to chuſe his Diſciples out of the plain ordinary Men of this Neighbourhood, who were moſtly Fiſher-men, by reaſon of the nighneſs of the Sea of Tiberias, which was a great Lake well ſtored with Fiſh, and which therefore invited many of the neighbouring Inhabitants to take upon them that Profeſſion. He was the next, after St. Andrew and St. Peter, call'd to the Apoſtleſhip, and, as ſome think, before them; the other, after their firſt Call, returning to their Employs. He was the Perſon to whom the Greeks applied themſelves, that they might have ſome knowledge of the Meſſias, John xii. 20. 'Twas he, whoſe Curioſity led him to know more of the Divine Nature, than our Saviour was willing to reveal unto him, in his Addreſs to him, Lord, ſhew us the Father, and it ſufficeth us, John xiv. 8. To whom our Saviour returns this gentle Rebuke; Have I been ſo long with you, and yet haſt thou not known me, Philip? He that hath ſeen me, hath ſeen the Father. After our Saviour's Aſcenſion, he is recorded to have preach'd the Goſpel in the Higher Aſia: Niceph. lib. 2. cap. 29. Others will have him to have joined with St. Bartholomew, in Preaching to the Scythians: Metaphr. in Vit. Iſidorus ſays, he converted the Galls; but 'tis probable he means the Gallogræci, or Inhabitants of Galatia: Iſod. de Vit. Sanct. His laſt Preaching, before his Death, was in Hierapolis, a City of Aſia Minor, now call'd Aleppo, where he underwent his Martyrdom, as St. Chryſoſtom writes, Chryſ. Hom. in Sanct. And Euſebius expreſly ſays, That Philip the Apoſtle having preached the Goſpel at Hierapolis, was crucified; and whilſt he was faſtned to the Croſs, was kill'd by Stones thrown at him: Euſeb. in Chron. The latter Writers ſay, That the People of the Place were worked up to this Rage againſt him, for killing, by his Prayers, a great Serpent which they worſhipped. But this Story ſeems to be fabulous, partly, becauſe this Matter of Fact is not recorded in any good Author, and was never heard of till many Centuries after Chriſt; and partly, becauſe it does not appear that the Phrygians were addicted to any ſuch monſtrous Worſhip, they being infected by an Idolatry of another kind. Euſeb. Præp. lib. 2.

2. Of St. James.

The Saint which is this Day commemorated, is commonly call'd by the Name of James the Leſs. The reaſon of this Compellation was, either becauſe he was leſs in Perſonage, as ſome have imagined; or, moſt probably, becauſe he was younger than the other, and not ſo much advanced in Years when he came to the Apoſtleſhip. He was the Son of Alphæus, otherwiſe call'd Cleopas, Luke xxiv 18. Joh. xix. 21. and is, for Diſtinction-ſake, call'd the Brother of the Lord, Gal. i. 19. He was, after our Saviour's Reſurrection, conſtituted Biſhop of Jeruſalem, and ſeems to have preſided in the firſt Council held there, Acts xv. and to have directed the Debates of the Apoſtles, concerning the Jewiſh Ceremonies. There is mention made of him, and that too as of the Brother of Jeſus Chriſt, by Joſephus, who ſays, He was deliver'd up to be ſtoned, by the Cruelty of Ananus the High-Prieſt, whoſe Death gave great Diſſatisfaction to the good People of the City: Joſeph. Ant. lib. 20. cap. 8. There was an extraordinary Opinion of his Sanctity, throughout all the City of Jeruſalem, where he liv'd; from whence he got the Sirname of the Juſt. His Martyrdom is recorded by the Eccleſiaſtical Hiſtorians, after this manner: The Scribes and Phariſees, being impatient at the great Growth of Chriſtianity in Judæa, were reſolved to ſet upon St. James, and by Menaces force him to renounce that Religion, publickly before the People. And the better to do this, they hurry'd him up into a Gallery of the Temple, and would oblige him to make a Recantation before a Multitude of People, who were gather'd together, upon the Rumour which was ſpread abroad concerning this Matter. But, inſtead of Denying Chriſt, he made a Publick Confeſſion of him before that great Aſſembly; who thereupon almoſt unanimouſly cried out, Hoſanna to the Son of David. Which ſo enraged the unbelieviug Jews, that they threw him down headlong from the high Place, which they had ſet him on. But being not quite kill'd by his Fall, he prayed to God, for Forgiveneſs to his Murderers. However, this did but enrage his ſpiteful Perſecutors the more; and one of them, being a Fuller, and having in his Hand a Staff, which he made uſe of in his Trade to beat his Cloth in the Scouring, he ſtruck him over the Head therewith, and kill'd him outright. Euſeb. Hiſt lib. 2. cap. 2.

The EPISTLE. S. JAM. I. 1.

I. JAmes a ſervant of God, and of the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, to the twelve tribes which are ſcattered abroad, greeting. My brethren, count it all joy when ye fall into divers temptations; knowing this, that the trying of your faith worketh patience. But let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing. II. If any of you lack wiſdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not, and it ſhall be given him. But let him ask in faith, nothing wavering; for he that wavereth is like a wave of the ſea, driven with the wind, and toſſed. For let not that man think that he ſhall receive any thing of the Lord. A double-minded man is unſtable in all his ways. III. Let the brother of low degree rejoyce in that he is exalted; but the rich in that he is made low; becauſe as the flower of the graſs he ſhall paſs away. For the ſun is no ſooner riſen with a burning heat, but it withereth the graſs, and the flower thereof falleth, and the grace of the faſhion of it periſheth: ſo alſo ſhall the rich man fade away in his ways. Bleſſed is the man that endureth temptation; for when he is tryed, he ſhall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promiſed to them that love him.

PARAPHRASE on the COLLECT for St. Philip and St. James.

O All-powerful Creator, who being the only true God, it is eternal life to know thee, John xvii. 3. Give us Grace to have a perfect Knowledge of the admirable Pattern which our Bleſſed Lord has left us in this World, and that we may always acknowledge him to be the Way, the Truth, and the Life, John xiv. 6. and that following the Steps of thy holy Apoſtles, St. Philip and St. James, in all Holineſs of Living, we may not walk in the broad way which leadeth to deſtruction, but the narrow Way which leadeth unto Life Eternal, Matth. vii. 13, 14. And this we pray, for the ſake of Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. James I. 1.

I. James, whom Almighty God has been pleaſed to make uſe of, as his Servant in the Miniſtry of the Goſpel, being one of the Apoſtles of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, to all true Iſraelites, in whatſoever Country they live, wiſhes Health and Happineſs.

My Chriſtian Brethren,

I would not have you to be caſt down, by the ſevere Perſecutions which ſome of you are forced to undergo, but rather to be cheerful and well-pleaſed whilſt you are under them; as conſidering, that God is pleaſed to lay you under theſe Sufferings, to afford you an Experiment of the Truth of your Faith, when you ſtick cloſe to the Profeſſion of it, under ſuch ſharp Afflictions; and to ſtrengthen your Souls, and to work you up to ſuch a Firmneſs of Mind, is not to be attained, but by a long Exerciſe of Patience: Therefore I adviſe you, To bear up courageouſly under your Sufferings; that you may arrive, not to an ordinary degree of Patience, which many of the Heathens have been eminent for, but to the moſt conſummate degree thereof, the true Chriſtian Patience; ſo that there may be no Chriſtian Vertue, but what you may be eminent in; there being many good Perſons, who never had the Opportunity of exerciſing this Vertue. II. If any of you want ſuch a juſt Prudence as is requiſite for conducting yourſelves in theſe Times of great Danger, ſo as not either cowardly to deny your Religion, or raſhly to run into Danger; let him pray to God for it, and he will not be wanting to afford him ſuch a meaſure of it, as will be ſufficient to guide him in ſuch Difficulties: For God is a very liberal Benefactor, and not only does great Kindneſſes, but (what is not uſually found elſewhere) he never upbraids Men with their receiving them; and when he has done a great many, he invites Men ſtill to ask for more. But then it muſt be conſider'd, that he that asks this, or any other Favour of God, muſt ask it with a hearty Faith in his Promiſes and Revelations, and not be fluctuating in different Opinions, ſometimes pretending to be a Believer, and at other times an Infidel, as ſome Perſons are: For ſuch Halting Chriſtians, are like the Sea-Waves, never fix'd or ſtable, but are blown about as every Puff of Wind happens to drive them. For a Man that is of two Minds, will ſtand to neither. III. As to the Poorer ſort of Profeſſors of our Religion, let them not repine at the Lowneſs of their Circumſtances; but rather let them rejoyce, that God has been pleaſed to honour them ſo highly, as to make them Profeſſors of ſo Noble a Religion. And as for the Rich, let them not pride themſelves in their Abundance, nor let them value themſelves upon it; but pleaſe themſelves, that they have mortified their former Pride, and put on that Meekneſs and Humility which Chriſtianity has taught them; they being now thoroughly affected with the Shortneſs of Human Life, and the Vanity of all Human Enjoyments; for this is the Leſſon which Chriſtianity teaches us. As in a hot Summer's Day, a Flower, or tender Plant, which flouriſhes in the Morning, is withered by Night; ſo Riches, and all the Enjoyments of this World, paſs off with a like Velocity, and Men can enjoy them but a very little Time, in Proportion to that Eternity which is to come after. Therefore, he ought not to be call'd the Happy Man, who has a great Eſtate, and an Abundance of all Worldly Enjoyments; but he is the Happy Man, who having Afflictions, bears them with Patience: For God ſends theſe only for his Trial; and when his Probation is over, he ſhall be amply rewarded for his preſent Sufferings, by a Crown of Everlaſting Happineſs; nay, with one of the brighteſt Crowns of Heaven, which are allotted for thoſe who have demonſtrated their Love to God, by Suffering for his ſake.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. John XIV. 1.

I. Our Saviour, the Night before his Paſſion, thus ſpake to his Diſciples: I would not have you, my dear Followers, be ſions; if it were not ſo, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you: And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto my ſelf, that where I am, there ye may be alſo. And whither I go, ye know, and the way ye know. II. Thomas ſaith unto him, Lord, we know not whither thou goeſt, and how can we know the way? Jeſus ſaith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life; no man cometh unto the Father but by me. If ye had known me, ye ſhould have known my Father alſo; and from henceforth ye know him, and have ſeen him. III. Philip ſaith unto him, Lord, ſhew us the Father, and it ſufficeth us. Jeſus ſaith unto him, Have I been ſo long time with you, and yet haſt thou not known me, Philip? He that hath ſeen me, hath ſeen the Father; and how ſayeſt thou then, Shew us the Father? Believeſt thou not that I am in the Father, and the Father in me? the words that I ſpeak unto you, I ſpeak not of my ſelf; but the Father that dwelleth in me, he doth the works. IV. Believe in me, that I am in the Father, and the Father in me; or elſe believe me for the very works ſake. Verily, verily I ſay unto you, He that believeth on me, the works that I do, ſhall he do alſo, and greater works than theſe ſhall he do; becauſe I go unto my Father. And whatſoever ye ſhall ask in my Name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son. If ye ſhall ask any thing in my Name, I will do it.

The

over-concern'd for my Sufferings, which will ſhortly come upon me, and for my going from you; but one thing I muſt leave with you, to bear you up in your Troubles, and that is, firmly to believe and truſt in me, as you do in God the Father; for you may reſt yourſelves aſſured, that I will do all things that are proper and convenient for your Good and Happineſs. Do not you doubt, but that you ſhall be inveſted with a very great Degree of Glory in Heaven, where God my Father dwells; for in that his Houſe, there are a great many very glorious Apartments; and if there were not, I would have diſcover'd it to you, in my long Converſe with you: Now, to take up one of theſe glorious Seats for you, I, as your Harbinger, am going to Heaven; deſigning to return to you again, to conduct you to your State of Happineſs, which I have prepared for you. You know that Heaven is the Place to which I am a-going, and I have ſufficiently informed you of the Way which leads you thither. II. St. Thomas, who, by his Natural Temper, was difficult to credit any thing that was ſtrange and unuſual, interpoſed and ſaid, Maſter, we cannot ſo eaſily underſtand your Meaning; not knowing any thing of the Place you talk of going to, much leſs do we know the Way that leads to it. Then Jeſus ſaid, I am the Way that leads to Heaven, or the State of Happineſs which I am ſpeaking of. Truth, and Eternal Happineſs, are to be attained only by the Methods which my Religion propoſes; and the Fruition of God the Father, is only to be come at by my means. Then St. Philip put in, deſiring him, That, ſince ſo great Happineſs was to be obtained by the Viſion of God, he would be pleaſed to exhibit to them a Sight of that Glorious Being, which will (ſays he) be a mighty Satisfaction to us. Our Saviour replied to him, That, if they had been ſufficiently acquainted with him, (as they have had Opportunity enough) they had not been ignorant of the Father, whoſe Image he bears, and whoſe Nature he does partake of. Do not you verily believe, that there is a very intimate Degree of Union between the Father and My Self, by his being continually preſent with me, in confirming the Doctrine which I teach, by veſting me with a continual Power of doing Miracles. IV. If you will not give credit to my Words, credit the mighty Works which I do, which can proceed only from God. Indeed, this muſt occaſion a great Degree of Wonder and Surprize in you, that I ſhould, upon all Occaſions, when I pleaſe, have the Divine Power to aſſiſt me in performing ſo great Miracles: But I muſt let you know, That if you continue Faithful Believers of the Religion I teach, and ſhall not fall off through Terror at my Sufferings, ye ſhall be able to do greater Miracles, after the Deſcent of the Holy Ghoſt upon you, than any you have ſeen me do; for you ſhall readily ſpeak with all manner of Tongues, which you have not learn'd. And if you ſhall beg of the Father in my Name, to be enabled to do any Miracle, or great Work, however difficult or ſtrange it be, you ſhall have Power granted you to effect it; and herein God the Father will be highly honoured by the Glory which ſhall redound to me his Son, by the Succeſs of my Religion, and the Greatneſs of the Miraculous Power which I ſhall confer upon you, in order to the promoting it. But when ye ſhall ask this of the Father, you muſt remember always, to requeſt it of him for my ſake, and then you ſhall not fail of obtaining whatſoever is neceſſary for the carrying on that great Work of the Preaching the Goſpel which you are engaged in.

For the EPISTLE. ACTS XI. 22.

I. TIdings of theſe things came unto the ears of the Church which was in Jeruſalem; and they ſent forth Barnabas, that he ſhould go as far as Antioch. Who when he came, and had ſeen the grace of God, was glad, and exhorted them all that with purpoſe of heart they would cleave unto the Lord. For he was a good man, and full of the holy Ghoſt, and of faith, and much people was added unto the Lord. II. Then departed Barnabas to Tarſus for to ſeek Saul. And when he had found him, he brought him unto Antioch. And it came to paſs, that a whole year they aſſembled themſelves with the Church, and taught much people; and the diſciples were called Chriſtians firſt in Antioch. And in theſe days came prophets from Jeruſalem unto Antioch. III. And there ſtood up one of them named Agabus, and ſignified by the Spirit, that there ſhould be great dearth throughout all the world; which came to paſs in the days of Claudius Ceſar. Then the diſciples, every man according to his ability, determined to ſend relief unto the brethren which dwelt in Judea. Which alſo they did, and ſent it to the elders by the hands of Barnabas and Saul.

I. THis is my commandment, that ye love one another, as I have loved you. Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends. Ye are my friends, if ye do whatſoever I command you. II. Henceforth I call you not ſervants; for the ſervant knoweth not what his lord doth: but a Contention between them, which occaſioned them to part aſunder, and preach ſeparately; which God ordered for the Good of the Church, the Goſpel being farther propagated by their ſingle Preaching, than it would have been by the conjunct Labours of two ſuch eminent Apoſtles. After this, he is ſaid to have ſettled the Goſpel in his Native Country of Cyprus; and ſailing from thence into Italy, to have planted Chriſtianity in Milan, not being ſuffered to come to Rome, by reaſon of the Edict of Claudius, which had prohibited all Jews to come into that City. #### PARAPHRASE on the COLLECT for St. Barnabas.

O Lord the Almighty God, whoſe Holy Spirit did endow the Apoſtle Barnabas with ſuch extraordinary and ſupernatural Gifts, as made the Heathens confeſs, that there was a Divine Power inherent in him; We beſeech thee to afford us a Share of the diverſity of Gifts of thy holy Spirit, ſo far forth as thou ſhalt judge neceſſary for our Salvation; and give us Grace likewiſe to make uſe of thoſe Talents which thou haſt imparted to us. All which we ask, for the ſake of Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Acts XI. 22.

I. The joyful News of the Heathens receiving the Goſpel in ſeveral Places, having reached the Ears of the Believers at Jeruſalem; they deſiring as much as they could to forward this great Work, ſent Barnabas to ſeveral Cities, to confirm the Faith of the Believers, in a large Circuit as far as Antioch. Who, when he was come to that great City, and had ſeen what a great Number of Converts were made in that Place, he was extraordinarily rejoyced; and he made an Exhortation to them, That they would continue with Conſtancy in that Faith of Jeſus Chriſt, which they had ſo readily received. For Barnabas was a very pious Perſon, who was endowed with many eminent Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt, and of great Zeal for Propagating the Goſpel; and, by his means, many more Converts were made after his coming thither. II After this, Barnabas took a Journey to Tarſus, to have ſome Conference with St. Paul. Where having met him, he perſuaded him to come to Antioch, to carry on the Converſion in that City. At which Place they continued a Twelve-month, preaching in the Publick Aſſemblies, converting many Perſons to the Faith, and confirmed others; ſo that making ſo conſiderable a Body of Men, as to be remarkably diſtinguiſhed, they were firſt in that Place called Chriſtians. III. Now one of the Perſons who came from Jeruſalem, of the Aſſembly there, being endowed with the Spirit of Prophecy, did predict, That That there ſhould be a great Famine over moſt part of the then known World; which accordingly came to paſs, as he had foretold, under the Reign of the Emperor Claudius. Wherefore the Chriſtians, judging that their Brethren in Paleſtine would be more particularly affected by it, they reſolved to buy up Corn in Egypt, and ſent it by Barnabas and Saul; that they might deliver it to the Paſtors of the ſeveral Congregations, to be diſtributed among thoſe that wanted it, according to their Diſcretion.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. John XV. 12.

I. Whereas it is cuſtomary with all celebrated Doctors, to have one particular Precept, to be a Symbol to their Followers, to diſtinguiſh them from the Scholars of other Maſters; tho' I have made it my buſineſs to furniſh your Minds with a great number of very excellent Precepts, yet there is one above all the reſt, which I muſt particularly enjoin you, which I call my peculiar Command, and which you muſt evidently diſtinguiſh yourſelves by, from all other Sects of Religion, and that is, To love one another; and this, not with the common Degrees of Friendſhip, but with ſuch a Sincerity and Heartineſs, and Ardour of Affection, as I have diſcovered in my Love to you. For certainly, if any Love in the World was hearty and real, mine to you is ſuch, which I deſign to ſeal with my Blood; and 'tis impoſſible to afford a greater Aſſurance of the Sincerity of one's Affection to his Friend. But then you muſt not think to partake of the Benefits of this high Degree of my Friendſhip which I have ſhewn you, unleſs you continue obedient to thoſe Commands which I have enjoined you. II. Indeed, when you firſt became my Followers, you put yourſelf under me, as my Servants and Scholars; but I have rather entertain'd you as Friends but I have called you friends; for all things that I have heard of my Father, I have made known unto you. Ye have not choſen me, but I have choſen you, and ordained you, that ye ſhould go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit ſhould remain; that whatſoever ye ſhall ask of the Father in my Name, he may give it you.

ALmighty God, by whoſe providence thy ſervant John Baptiſt was wonderfully born, and ſent to prepare the way of thy Son our Saviour by preaching of repentance; Make us ſo to follow his doctrine and holy life, that we may truly repent according to his preaching, and after his example conſtantly ſpeak the truth, boldly rebuke vice, and patiently ſuffer for the truths ſake, through Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

I. COmfort ye, comfort ye my people, ſaith your God. Speak ye comfortably to Jeruſalem, and cry unto her, that her warfare is accompliſhed, that her iniquity is pardoned; for ſhe hath received of the Lords hand double for all her ſins. The voice of him that crieth in the wilderneſs, Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make ſtrait in the deſert a high way for our God. II. Every valley ſhall be exalted,

Friends and Intimates: I did not make you keep a diſtance from me, but admitted you into the cloſeſt Familiarities and Confidences, entruſting you with the Secrets of Heaven, which were communicated to me by God the Father. And this I have done for your ſake; not by Conſtraint, and by importunate Application from you, but out of my meer Good-will I have prevented your Deſires therein, and put you into the Way to Happineſs, ſo that, by God's ordinary Grace, you cannot miſcarry; whereby you are enabled to bring forth very great Fruits in the Goſpel, which ſhall be beneficial to yourſelves, and many others, in future Ages: And beſides, you ſhall have ſuch an Intereſt, on my Account, in God the Father, that he ſhall anſwer your Prayers in whatſoever you ſhall deſire, that may be ſerviceable to thoſe great Ends which you ſhall purſue.

NOTE.

(k) Saint John Baptiſt.] The Church has celebrated the Nativity of this Saint, as ſhe has done the Martyrdom or Day of Death of other Saints. For St. John the Baptiſt, tho' he laid down his Life for the Truth of his Preaching; yet he was not a Chriſtian Martyr, as our Saviour's Apoſtles were, who ſuffered in Teſtimony of the Goſpel of Jeſus Chriſt. However, his Memory is celebrated by the Chriſtian Church, becauſe he was the Fore-runner of our Bleſſed Lord, and, by Preaching the Doctrine of Repentance, paved the Way for the Publiſhing the Goſpel. His Birth was foretold by an Angel, and brought to paſs after an uncommon manner, his Mother being paſt the uſual Time of Child-bearing when ſhe conceived him, Luke i. 13. His Office, of being the Harbinger or Fore-runner of Chriſt, was predicted by the Prophets: Malachy calls him, The Meſſenger to prepare the way of the Lord, Mal. iii. 1. And Iſaiah calls him, The voice of one crying in the wilderneſs, Prepare ye the way of the Lord, Isa. iv. 3. He lived an auſtere and aſcetical Life; and till the Time of his Preaching, took to a Retirement in the Wilderneſs, feeding upon Locuſts, a ſort of Graſhoppers in that Country, and Wild Honey which the Bees had made within the Hollows of Trees. His Apparel was ſuitable to this Hermetical Life, being only a rough Garment of Camels Hair, tied to him with a Leathern-Girdle, Matth. iii. 4. He ſeemed to be an Imitator of the Prophet Elijah, who lived a Life of a not much unlike Nature; whereupon the Prophetical Predictions of him give him the ſame Name, Mal. iv. 5. He had a Divine Commiſſion, by the Holy Spirit of God, to adminiſter the Right of Baptiſm to thoſe who repented them of their Sins, Luke iii. 2. and our Saviour was pleaſed to confirm the Truth of his Miſſion, by partaking of that holy Ceremony at his Hands, Matth. iii. 13. the Baptiſt at the ſame time acknowledging him to be the Meſſias, Luke iii. 16. He was impriſoned by Herod, for preaching againſt his Inceſtuous Marriage with Herodias his Brother's Wife; and afterwards, by the Arts of that diſobliged Woman, was beheaded, Matth. xiv. 6.

This Feſtival was anciently obſerved in the Church; for Maximus Taurinenſis, who lived about the Year of Chriſt 400, mentions it.

PARAPHRASE on the COLLECT for St. John Baptiſt.

O All-powerful God, by whoſe All-wiſe Providence John Baptiſt was miraculouſly born of an aged Father and Mother, the Miniſtry of an holy Angel, and other wonderful Accidents attending it, Luke i. 13. and who was likewiſe ſent to prepare the Way to the Goſpel of our Bleſſed Saviour, by Preaching the Doctrine of Repentance; Give us Grace that we may copy after thoſe excellent Rules, which his holy Doctrine and ſtrict Life has reached out to us, that we may heartily repent of all our Sins, as he, by the conſtant Subject of his Preaching, exhorted us; that we, like him, may not be afraid to declare the Truth for the ſake of any Terrors, but boldly rebuke Sin even in the moſt honourable Perſonages; and if thou art pleaſed to call us to it, may boldly lay down our Lives for Righteouſneſs-ſake. And this we pray, for the ſake of Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Isai. XL. 1.

I. There is a particular Command given out by Almighty God, to thoſe who are endowed with a Prophetical Spirit, That they ſhould declare a very comfortable Meſſage to the Children of Iſrael my peculiar People, after all the former Denunciation of Sufferings; and make known unto the Inhabitants of Jeruſalem ſome very kind Intentions of God, That after very great Sufferings for the Sins of her People, God ſhall no longer puniſh her, ſhe having ſuffered as much as God ſhall think fit to lay upon her, for the Puniſhment of her Offences. There ſhall, in God's good time, be heard the Preaching of a certain Perſon, who is to be the Fore-runner of the Meſſias, who ſhall make his Abode in the Wilderneſs; and the Subſtance of his Meſſage ſhall be, To exhort Men to prepare themſelves for the Reception of the Meſſias, by repenting of their Sins, which they have for a long time indulged themſelves in, and to quell and ſmooth thoſe exorbitant and crooked Habits which they had contracted, the better to practiſe thoſe gentle and peaceable Rules, which God, under that New Diſpenſation, ſhall give them. II. For then, as Pioneers are wont to level the Paſſages through which a Trium-exalted, and every mountain and hill ſhall be made low, and the crooked ſhall be made ſtrait, and the rough places plain. And the glory of the Lord ſhall be revealed, and all fleſh ſhall ſee it together; for the mouth of the Lord hath ſpoken it. The voice ſaid, Cry. And he ſaid, What ſhall I cry? All fleſh is graſs, and all the goodlineſs thereof is as the flower of the field. The graſs withereth, the flower fadeth, becauſe the Spirit of the Lord bloweth upon it: ſurely the people is graſs. The graſs withereth, the flower fadeth, but the word of our God ſhall ſtand for ever. III. O Zion, that bringeſt good tidings, get thee up into the high mountain: O Jeruſalem, that bringeſt good tidings, lift up thy voice with ſtrength; lift it up, be not afraid: ſay unto the cities of Judah, Behold your God. Behold, the Lord God will come with ſtrong hand, and his arm ſhall rule for him; behold, his reward is with him, and his work before him. He ſhall feed his flock like a ſhepherd, he ſhall gather the lambs with his arm, and carry them in his boſom, and ſhall gently lead thoſe that are with young.

The GOSPEL. S. LUKE I. 57.

I. ELizabeths full time came that ſhe ſhould be delivered; and ſhe brought forth a ſon. And her neighbours and her coſins heard how the Lord had ſhewed great mercy upon her, and they rejoyced with her. II. And it came to paſs, that on the eighth day they came to circumciſe the child, and they called him Zacharias, after the name of his father. And his mother anſwered and ſaid, Not ſo; but he ſhall be called John. And they ſaid unto her, There is none of thy kindred that is called by this name. And they made ſigns to his father, how he would have him called. And he asked for a writing-table, and wrote, ſaying, His name is John. And they marvelled all. And his mouth was opened immediately, and his tongue looſed, and he ſpake and praiſed God. III. And fear came on all that dwelt round about them; and all theſe ſayings were noiſed abroad throughout all the hill-country of Judea. And all they that had heard them, laid them up in their hearts, ſaying, What manner of child ſhall this be? And the hand of the Lord was with him. IV. And his a Triumphal Prince is to make his Entry; ſo this Fore-runner of the Meſſias ſhall diſpoſe the Minds of Men, by the Doctrine of Repentance, and leaving off their more flagitious Sins, which have made their whole Courſe of Life irregular, for their receiving the more excellent and ſtrict Precepts of Life which the Meſſias ſhall lay down. And then Almighty God ſhall reveal himſelf more clearly by his Logos, and in a more glorious manner than ever he was wont to do by his Schechinah; and this not only to the Jewiſh Nation, but to all the Heathen World likewiſe. And tho' this may ſeem a very ſtrange Truth to thoſe, who think God has no Mercies in ſtore, but only to the Jews; yet God Almighty has declared it to be ſo, and he will make his Words good. This Voice bid it be proclaimed aloud. And it was asked, what it was which was thus to be proclaimed aloud? Anſwer was made; That Human Nature was, in itſelf, a frail and mortal thing, and as periſhable as the very Graſs of the Field, which is withered by the Sun, and the Winds: But the Divine Logos which ſhould be revealed, would be of Everlaſting Continuance, and would improve theſe our frail Natures into an Immortal State of Happineſs. III. O you Inhabitants of Sion, to whom this glorious Meſſage ſhall be firſt delivered, do you get yourſelves up to the higheſt part of the Hill you dwell upon, (as Proclamations are uſually made upon an Eminence,) and make known to all the World this wonderful Revelation which they have ſuch a Share in: And do you, who are Inhabitants of the Lower-part of Jeruſalem, ſpeak out the ſame, with the ſtrong Voice of a Cryer: Don't ſpeak faintly, as Men who are not well pleaſed with what is revealed, but with a hearty Courage and Satisfaction in what you proclaim, and make known to all the Inhabitants of the Land of Judæa, That God is revealed to all the World. He ſhall diſcover his Omnipotent Power, by planting a New Religion, in oppoſition to all the Force and Malice of Men, bringing about his great Purpoſes, with as much Aſſiduity and Diligence, as a Labourer works, when his Pay is ready as ſoon as he has done. And he ſhall protect and govern his New Church, with the like Care and Tenderneſs, as a Shepherd doth his Flock.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Luke I. 57.

I. Nine Months being elapſed, from the Time that the Angel had promiſed that a Son ſhould be born to Elizabeth, ſhe fell in Labour, and was Delivered of a Son, ſhe being then returned to her own Houſe. This being very joyful News to the whole Family, ſoon reached the Ears of her Relations at a diſtance, who preſently came to congratulate her upon this Occaſion, and to be preſent at the Solemnization of the Circumciſion. II. Which being performed, according to the Jewiſh Law, upon the Eighth Day, the Relations concluded, That his Name ſhould be Zacharias, that being his Father's Name, he having as yet no Son who bore it. This was oppoſed by his Mother Elizabeth, who had learn'd from her Husband, who had communicated his Viſion to her, That the Child's Name was to be John. But the Relations inſiſted, That it was by no means proper, to give the Child this Name; becauſe they could not find that any of that Family had been called ſo. They concluded, to put an end to this Diſpute, that Signs ſhould be made to his Father Zacharias, who ſtill continued under his Indiſpoſition of Deafneſs and Dumbneſs, to declare what Name he ſhould think fit to be given to the Child. Zacharias, upon this Motion made to him, preſently made ſigns, that a Pencil and Pocket-Book ſhould be brought to him: Which being done as he deſired, he wrote therein the Name of John. Which was a very great Degree of Surprize to all the Company, to find both Father and Mother agreeing upon a ſtrange Name, unknown to that Family. Zacharias had no ſooner written the Name, but preſently his Voice and Hearing were reſtored to him, breaking forth in Praiſes to God; not only for the Recovery of his Voice, and the Birth of a Son, in his Old Age, but for the very great Services which it was revealed to him, that God had deſigned him to. III. This filled the Hearts, of all the Perſons there preſent, with a religious Reverence; the Wonderfulneſs of which Occurrence they reported all over the Hill-Country of Judæa. And indeed, ſo ſtrong was the Impreſſion which it made upon them, that, for a conſiderable time after, they could not but make various Conjectures in their Minds, concerning the future Fortune of this Infant, whoſe Birth was attended by ſuch wonderful Accidents. IV. But his Father Zacharias, being under the Impulſe of the Holy Ghoſt, uttered this Prophetical Hymn, upon this Occaſion;

" Bleſſed and praiſed be the Great God of all the World,
" but who is particularly the God of the People of Iſrael,
" by reaſon of the reſt of the World lapſing into Idolatry, his father Zacharias was filled with the holy Ghoſt, and propheſied, ſaying, Bleſſed be the Lord God of Iſrael, for he hath viſited and redeemed his people, and hath raiſed up an horn of ſalvation for us in the houſe of his ſervant David; as he ſpake by the mouth of his holy prophets, which have been ſince the world began; that we ſhould be ſaved from our enemies, and from the hand of all that hate us; to perform the mercy promiſed to our fathers, and to remember his holy covenant; the oath which he ſware to our father Abraham, that he would grant unto us, that we, being delivered out of the hands of our enemies, might ſerve him without fear, in holineſs and righteouſneſs before him all the days of our life. V. And thou, child, ſhalt be called the prophet of the Higheſt; for thou ſhalt go before the face of the Lord to prepare his ways; to give knowledge of ſalvation unto his people by the remiſſion of their ſins, through the tender mercy of our God, whereby the Day-ſpring from on high hath viſited us; to give light to them that ſit in darkneſs, and in the ſhadow of death, to guide our feet into the way of peace. VI. And the child grew, and waxed ſtrong in ſpirit; and was in the deſerts till the day of his ſhewing unto Iſrael.

NOTE.

(l) Saint Peter.] This eminent Apoſtle was born at Bethſaida a Town of Galilee, Joh. i. 44. being by Profeſſion a Fiſherman, Matth. iv. 18. He was Brother to St. Andrew, and his elder Brother moſt probably; becauſe, in the Catalogue of the Apoſtles, he is mention'd before him, Matth. x. 2. The Papiſts indeed are very loth to allow this, becauſe they would have him to be entituled to this Precedence, by his pretended Supremacy; and therefore they rely moſt upon the Authority of Epiphanius, who ſays, he was younger than St. Andrew: Epiph. Hæreſ. 51. But the Proteſtants bring the better Authorities of St. Jerom and St. Chryſoſtom, and many others, who aſſert, that he was the elder Brother. He had in his Character ſome eminent Qualifications, which gave him a Diſtinction above the generality of the Apoſtles, tho' not what the Papiſts pretend, a Supremacy over them. He was the firſt of the Apoſtles who publickly profeſſed his Belief of the Divinity of our Bleſſed Lord, Matth. xvi. 16. Which frank Declaration of his made our Saviour promiſe him, That his Preaching, and Confeſſion, ſhould be a principal Foundation of the Church which he deſigned to build. He, together with James and John, had a particular Intimacy with our Bleſſed Lord, as appears by his being with them ſo frequently in private, Matth. xvii. 1. Mark ix. 2. Matth. xxvi. 37. He had a mighty Zeal for his Maſter, which prompted him to draw his Sword in his Defence, and to cut off Malchus's Ear, John xviii. 26. But withal, it muſt be ſaid, That theſe good Qualities were eclipſed, by the Cowardiſe which he ſhewed, in Denying his Maſter, Matth. xxvi. 70. and by his Diſſimulation which he uſed, in complying with the Jews, in the Obſervation of their Ceremonies, Gal. ii. 4.

After our Saviour's Aſcenſion, he did ſingular Service in the Propagation of the Goſpel: He, by one Sermon, converted Three thouſand Souls, Acts ii. 41. He was ſent by the Apoſtolical College, together with John, to confirm the New Converts that Philip had gained to the Faith in Samaria; which Office they diſcharged with great Faithfulneſs, Acts xviii 17. Though, by the way, this Miſſion is not very conſiſtent with the Supremacy of this Apoſtle, which, in latter Ages, has been pretended: For ſuch a Papal Authority, as ſome Perſons would veſt St. Peter with, could hardly have brooked to have been ſent on an Errand, and that too with a Collegue entruſted with equal Powers with himſelf. He was impriſoned by Herod, about the Year of Chriſt 44; and was, in a miraculous manner, delivered from thence, by the Miniſtry of an Angel, Acts xii. 7.

For the EPISTLE. ACTS XII. 1.

I. ABout that time Herod the king ſtretched forth his hands to vex certain of the Church. And he killed James the brother of John with the ſword. And becauſe he ſaw it pleaſed the Jews, he proceeded further to take Peter alſo. (Then were the days of unleavened bread) II. And when he had apprehended him, he put him in priſon, and delivered him to four quaternions of ſouldiers to keep him, intending after Eaſter to bring him forth to the people. Peter therefore was kept in priſon; but prayer was made without ceaſing of the Church unto God for him. And when Herod would have brought him forth, the ſame night Peter was ſleeping between two ſouldiers, bound with two chains; and the keepers before the door kept the priſon. And behold, the angel of the Lord came upon him, and a light ſhined in the priſon; and he ſmote Peter on the ſide, and raiſed him up, ſaying, Ariſe up quickly. And his chains fell off from his hands. And the angel ſaid unto him, Gird thy ſelf, and bind on thy ſandals: and ſo he did. III. And

After this, when the Apoſtles divided themſelves aſunder to preach the Goſpel, (if we may credit the latter Greek Writers,) he conſtituted a Chriſtian Church at Cæſarea Paleſtinæ, otherwiſe call'd Turris Stratonis; from thence he came to Sidon, and placed another Biſhop there: He next converted many of the Inhabitants of Berytus, another Town of Phœnicia, and ſettled a Biſhop likewiſe in that Country: He then extended the Goſpel to Biblos, another City of Phœnicia; after that to Tripolis, next to Antandros a Town of Phrygia; proceeding to the Iſland Aradus, to Balanea and Panta, he carried on his Preaching to Laodicæa, where converting many, and curing the Sick, he ſettled a Biſhoprick: Metaph. Surius. But, beſides St. Peter's Preaching in theſe neighbouring Towns of Judæa, St. Jerom ſays, he converted many to the Faith in Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Bithynia, and at laſt ſettled a Biſhoprick, where he himſelf ſome time preſided, in Antioch: Hier. Script. Eccl. Some time after this, he came to Rome; as Euſebius, Irenæus, St. Cyprian, Lactantius, and other Authors, relate. But that he came hither in the ſecond Year of Claudius, A. D. 45, as Euſebius in his Chronicon ſets it, can hardly be evinced. When he and St. Paul had for a conſiderable time preached here, their Miniſtry in the Goſpel was much hindred by the Magical Arts of Simon the Magician. But this Sorcerer, having long beguiled the People by his Diabolical Tricks, he once gave out, That they ſhould ſee him fly in a Fiery Chariot: Which, by the Devil's Aſſiſtance, he eſſaying to do, and being lift up to a conſiderable height in the Air; by Virtue of the Prayers which theſe Saints put up to God, that the Devil's Power, being over-ruled by the Divine Providence, might fail him, he fell down to the Ground, and broke his Hip; becoming thereby a Scorn to all his former Admirers; and the Pain and Vexation he underwent, ſhortly afterwards occaſion'd his Death: Armb. adv. Gent. lib. 2. Cyril. Catech. 6. Euſeb. Hiſt. lib. 2. cap. 14. Epiph. Hær. 21. This was the cauſe, as ſome later Writers affirm, of St. Peter's being thrown into Priſon at Rome, and likewiſe of his Martyrdom; Nero taking to himſelf, the Affront which was done to the Magicians, which ſort of People he was particularly fond of. St. Peter being firſt ſcourged, was led out to be crucified upon the Hill call'd Janiculus, deſiring to be faſtned to the Croſs with his Head downwards; alledging, That he thought himſelf unworthy, to die exactly after the ſame manner with his Lord: Hier. Script. Eccl. Euſeb. Hiſt. lib. 3. Auguſt. de Sanct. The more modern Greek Writers deſcribe his Perſonage thus: "His Body was indifferently ſpare, upright, and ſomewhat tall; his Face pale, and in a manner white; the Hair of "his Head and Beard curled, tho' not buſhy; his Eyes were "black, and ſomething Bloodſhot; his Eye-brows were thin; "his Noſe longer than ordinary, being big at the end, and "a little bending downwards: Niceph. lib. 2. cap. 37.

That Peter was a Marry'd-Man, is mention'd in Scripture, his Wife's Mother being ſpoken of there, Mark viii. 14. And that his Wife ſuffered Martyrdom, the ancient Writers do affirm; for Clemens of Alexandria writes thus of her: "'Tis reported, That "St. Peter, when he ſaw his Wife drawn to Execution, re"joyced at her being called to ſo great an Honour, and that ſhe "was now going to her own Home: That he exhorted her "and comforted her, calling her by her proper Name, and bid"ing her remember her Saviour; and telling her, That now ſhe "was going to be marry'd in Heaven: *Clem. O All-Powerful God, who by thy Son Jeſus Chriſt didſt convey to thy Apoſtle St. Peter, many excellent and miraculous Gifts, for the Propagating the Goſpel; and didſt give a Command, perſonally directed to him, but deſigned for the uſe of all Miniſters of the Goſpel, to feed thy Sheep, John xxi. 16. We beſeech thee, that thy good Providence would ſo direct, that all Biſhops and inferior Paſtors may diligently preach thy Holy Word; and the People may, with a like care, practiſe what they ſhall deliver; and that they both, at the Reſurrection, may receive a Crown of Glory, 1 Pet. PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Acts XII. 1.

I. It was now about the 43d Year of Chriſt, when Herod, obſerving the great Encreaſe of the Chriſtians, notwithſtanding the Malice of the Jews againſt them, that Herod Agrippa, Grandſon to Herod the Great, joined his Power with that of the Jewiſh Sanhedrim, in Perſecution of the Chriſtians. And having beheaded James the Brother of John, and Son of Zebedee, which he found many of the Jews well approved of, he proceeded to gratifie their Malice with further Cruelty, and accordingly took St. Peter into Cuſtody; it being then the Azyma, or Solemnity of the Unleavened Bread, which preceded the Paſſover, or Paſchal-Sabbath. II. He placed about him, in the Jail, ſixteen Soldiers, for Centinels, to guard him in their Turns, that no Attempt might be made for his Reſcue; deſigning, after the Paſchal-Solemnity was ended, to make a Complement to the Jews, by putting him to Death at their Requeſt, which he knew they were ready enough to petition for. During this time of Saint Peter's Confinement, the Chriſtians were not wanting to put up their continual and earneſt Prayers to Almighty God, for his Deliverance. It was now the Night before the Day, that Herod deſigned to expoſe him before the People, to have his Death petition'd for by them, when an heavenly Angel appeared to him, the Reſplendency of whoſe Light ſhone into the Priſon before he made his Appearance, and, appearing in a Bodily Shape, he gently laid his Hand upon him, bidding him with ſpeed to get up. And with that, the heavy Chains, with which his Hands were loaded, fell off: The Angel further commanding him to put

III. And he ſaith unto him, Caſt thy garment about thee, and follow me. And he went and followed him, and wiſt not that it was true which was done by the angel; but thought he ſaw a viſion. When they were paſt the firſt and ſecond ward, they came unto the iron gate that leadeth unto the city, which opened to them of his own accord; and they went out, and paſſed on through one ſtreet, and forthwith the angel departed from him. IV. And when Peter was come to himſelf, he ſaid, Now I know of a ſurety, that the Lord hath ſent his angel, and hath delivered me out of the hand of Herod, and from all the expectation of the people of the Jews.

The GOSPEL. S. MATTH. XVI. 13.

I. WHen Jeſus came into the coaſts of Ceſarea Philippi, he asked his diſciples, ſaying, Whom do men ſay, that I, the Son of man, am? And they ſaid, Some ſay that thou art John the Baptiſt, ſome Elias, and others Jeremias, or one of the prophets. II. He ſaith unto them, But whom ſay ye that I am? And Simon Peter anſwered and ſaid, Thou art Chriſt, the Son of the living God. And Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto him, Bleſſed art thou, Simon Barjona: for fleſh and bloud hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven. III. And I ſay alſo unto thee, that thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my Church; and the gates of hell ſhall not prevail againſt it. And I will give unto thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven: and whatſoever thou ſhalt bind on earth, ſhall be bound in heaven; and whatſoever thou ſhalt looſe on earth, ſhall be looſed in heaven.

put on his Garments, and his Shooes; which he did, according as he was directed. III. Now, ſays the Angel, Put on thy Cloak, or Upper Garment, and come after me: which he did; Peter all the time imagining, that the Action was not real, but that he was aſleep, and dreamt of what he was doing. The Priſon being in the Suburbs of the City, he paſſed, under the Direction of the Angel, through two Watches, which were ſet to guard the City, and then came to the great Iron-Gate, which gives admittance into the Town; this, without his knocking, or any one's opening it, flew open of its own accord, to let him in; through which the Angel and he paſſing, the Angel conducted him through one Street; and when they came to a ſecond, the Angel left him. IV. Peter having now recover'd himſelf from the Conſternation which he was before in, he began to reflect, upon the extraordinary Deliverance which God had wrought on his behalf, and to conclude, that this Angel was ſent, by the ſpecial Appointment of God, to deliver him from the Cruelty of Herod, and the Jews, who deſigned his Death the next Day.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Matth. XVI. 13.

I. Our Saviour being near the City of Cæſarea, not far from the Banks of Jordan, a City which was built, or greatly enlarged, by Philip the Tetrarch, and therefore bearing his Name, to diſtinguiſh it from the other Cæſarea, Acts xxi. 8. he asked his Diſciples, What opinion the generality of Perſons, whom they converſed with, had concerning him: Do they take me to be a plain ordinary Perſon, a bare Son of Man, I having, in humility, taken to myſelf that Title; or ſome other Great Perſon, of a Superior Character? They anſwer'd him; That ſome took him to be John the Baptiſt, again riſen from the Dead; That others ſaid he was Elias, who was come upon the Earth again; And others, That he was the Prophet Jeremy revived, or ſome one or other of the ancient Prophets, they could not tell which. II. Well! (ſays our Saviour) you have told me the Opinions of other Perſons, concerning me; but, I pray, what are the Sentiments which you entertain of me? Peter took upon him to anſwer for the reſt of his Fellows, and ſaid; I, for my part, do own, and I believe I ſpeak the Opinion of the reſt of my Brethren, That thou art the Meſſias, the Son of the only True and Living God. To this our Saviour replied; That this was not only a true, but a noble and moſt pious Confeſſion, which was not ſuggeſted to him by human Reaſoning, but was owing to the Grace of God, which had illuminated his Mind with the Knowledge of ſo Divine Truth, and with the Courage to confeſs it. III. And ſince thou haſt made ſuch a generous Confeſſion concerning me, I will declare ſomething very remarkable concerning thee: Thy Name is Peter, or Rock, and it is not without ſome reaſon that thou art call'd ſo; for thou ſhalt be a Rock, or Foundation-ſtone, upon which I deſign to build my Church, thou being the Occaſion of the firſt great Converſion of Proſelytes to Chriſtianity. III. And the Church which ſhall be laid upon this Foundation, ſhall be ſo ſtrong, that all the Powers of Hell, which may aſſault it, ſhall not be able to overthrow it. And beſides this, I will give thee the Keys of Heaven; i. e. Power of Binding Men by Excommunications, and Looſing them by Abſolutions; as I ſhall do alſo hereafter to all thy Brethren, the Apoſtles and their Succeſſors, John xx. 23.

His Mother's Name was Mary, otherwiſe call'd Salome, a Kinſwoman of the Bleſſed Virgin. This was ſhe that came to our Saviour, with a Petition in behalf of her two Sons James and John, that one might ſit on his Right Hand, and the other on his Left, in the Kingdom of Heaven, Matth. xx. 21. That this Importunity did not proceed, ſo much from the Fondneſs of the Mother, as from the Ambition of her two Sons, whilſt they kept their uncorrected Nature, not yet ſufficiently cultivated by the Goſpel Doctrine, is plain; becauſe our Saviour directs himſelf to them, as well knowing it was they, that had put her upon this unreaſonable Petition: Ye know not what you ask: Are ye able to drink of the Cup that I drink of? &c. Another Inſtance of the ungoverned Paſſions of theſe two Diſciples, and which the Evangelical Goodneſs and Wiſdom, taught by our Lord, had not ſufficiently reſtrained, was, their calling for Fire from Heaven, to fall upon the Samaritans, becauſe of their inhoſpitable Treatment of our Bleſſed Lord, as Elijah had done before on the like Occaſion. I. IN thoſe days came prophets from Jeruſalem unto Antioch. And there ſtood up one of them named Agabus, and ſignified by the Spirit, that there ſhould be great dearth throughout all the world; which came to paſs in the days of Claudius Ceſar. Then the diſciples, every man according to his ability, determined to ſend relief unto the brethren which dwelt in Judea. Which alſo they did, and ſent it to the elders by the hands of Barnabas and Saul. II. Now about that time, Herod the king ſtretched forth his hands to vex certain of the Church. And he killed James the brother of John with the ſword. And becauſe he ſaw it pleaſed the Jews, he proceeded further to take Peter alſo.

The GOSPEL. S. MATTH. XX. 20.

I. THen came to him the mother of Zebedees children, with her ſons worſhipping him, and deſiring a certain thing of him. And he ſaid unto her, What wilt thou? She ſaith unto him, Grant that theſe my two ſons may ſit, the one on thy right hand, and the other on the left, in thy kingdom. II. But Jeſus anſwered and ſaid, Ye know not what ye ask. Are ye able to drink of the cup that I ſhall drink of, and to be baptized with the baptiſm that I am baptized with? They ſay unto him, We are able. And he ſaith unto them, Ye ſhall drink indeed of " that gentle Spirit which he had taught them; for he came " among them, not to teach them, by a cruel and bigotted Zeal, " to take away Mens Lives; but his chief Meſſage into the " World, was, to ſave them, Luke ix. 55. The Spaniards have a Notion, That after our Saviour's Aſcenſion, he came to preach in their Country; upon which account, he is acknowledged the Tutelar Saint of Spain. But that is a Story raiſed without any ground, no ancient Author making mention thereof; and it does not appear, that this Apoſtle ever ſtirred out of Judæa during his Life, he undergoing Martyrdom there very early; for he was kill'd by Herod, in the ſecond Year of Claudius, about eight Years after Chriſt's Aſcenſion. He was the firſt of the Apoſtles that ſuffered Martyrdom, being brought to that Tryal by the wicked Vain-glory of Herod Agrippa, who being newly advanced to his Kingdom, was willing to do ſome popular Act, to pleaſe the Generality of the Jewiſh People, who being managed by the Prieſts, had conceived a great Hatred againſt the Chriſtians; which he taking notice of, thought he could not do them a more obliging Favour, than to ſlay, before their Faces, one of the chief Teachers of this New Sect This was the occaſion of the Martyrdom of this bleſſed Saint. Euſebius relates this particular Circumſtance at his Martyrdom, out of Clemens of Alexandria. Clemens, in his foreſaid Book, aſſerts a very memorable Story of St. James, which he tells as a Tradition handed down from his Anceſtors, viz. " That the Perſon who had " given in Information againſt St. James, and had been Witneſs " againſt him at his Trial, when he ſaw him ſo readily laying down his Life for Chriſt, he likewiſe confeſſed himſelf " a Chriſtian; and ſo they both together were led to Execution. " St. James, for ſome little time revolving in his Mind the " Strangeneſs of this Accident, accoſts him with this Evange- " lical Saluration, Peace be to you; and he kiſſed him, and ſo " they were both beheaded together: *Euſeb. I. At that time, An. Ch. 43. ſeveral Chriſtians, who had the Gift of Prophecy, were ſent on an Embaſſy from the Chriſtians of Jeruſalem, to thoſe at Antioch. And one of their number, whoſe Name was Agabus, being joined with them in their Religious Aſſembly, declared to them, by the Inſtinct of the Holy Ghoſt, That there ſhould be a great Scarcity of Corn throughout all the World: Which accordingly fell out, as was predicted by him, in the Reign of the Emperor Claudius. But the Chriſtians of Antioch being forewarned of this, during the Time of Plenty, made a Common Purſe, and bought up conſiderable Quantities of Corn in Ægypt, which was the great Granary for that Part of the World, to ſend it into Judæa, for the Relief of their poor Brethren there, who were like to ſuffer moſt by the Dearth Which having done, they conveyed it thither, deſiring Barnabas and Saul to go along with it, to ſee it well diſtributed. II. Not long after, Agrippa, who was deſcended from Herod the Great, and bore his Name, raiſed a Perſecution againſt the Chriſtians, cauſing St. James, who was call'd the Great, or the Elder, to be beheaded: Which he finding to be an acceptable Action to the Jews, he caſt about how he might take up Peter, to put him likewiſe to Death.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. John XX. 20.

Whilſt our Saviour was on the Way to Jeruſalem, and diſcourſing to his Diſciples, of his Death, and Riſing again; Salome, who was in Company, taking this, moſt probably, to be his Temporal Kingdom, which moſt of the Jews Heads at that time were full of, in humble manner proſtrated herſelf before him, telling him, That ſhe had a Requeſt to make to him. Our Saviour bid her ſay what it was. She replied, That ſhe underſtood he was ſhortly to enter upon his Kingdom; and being one of his conſtant Attendants, and nighly Related to him in Blood, ſhe begg'd, That her two Sons, James and John, might be his two Great Miniſters of State, or Principal Favourites, in his New Kingdom, and have the two chief Places of Honour next his own Perſon. II. Our Saviour, knowing that the Young-Men were prompted by Ambition, to put their Mother upon making this unreaſonable Requeſt, he returned his Anſwer, directed particularly to them, in this manner: You have put your Mother upon asking ſomething for you, which, if it were of my cup, and be baptized with the baptiſm that I am baptized with: but to ſit on my right hand, and on my left is not mine to give, but it ſhall be given to them for whom it is prepared of my Father. III. And when the ten heard it, they were moved with indignation againſt the two brethren. But Jeſus called them unto him, and ſaid, Ye know that the princes of the Gentiles exerciſe dominiinion over them, and they that are great, exerciſe authority upon them. But it ſhall not be ſo among you: but whoſoever will be great among you, let him be your miniſter; and whoſoever will be chief among you, let him be your ſervant: Even as the Son of man came not to be miniſtred unto, but to miniſter, and to give his life a ranſome for many.

† O Almighty and everlaſting God, who didſt give to thine Apoſtle Bartholomew grace truly to believe and to preach thy word; Grant, we beſeech thee, unto thy Church to love that word which he believed, granted, I know not whether it will be ſo acceptable to you, or no: For the Glory of my Kingdom, conſiſts in courageous Sufferings, and bearing Afflictions patiently. Now, firſt conſider with yourſelves, whether you have Conſtancy and Courage to drink of ſuch a Bitter-Cup as I am going to drink of; or, whether you can bear the being plunged into ſuch an Ocean of Pain and Sorrow, as I am ſhortly to be. They replied, That they hoped they were. Well! (ſays our Saviour,) Be it as you deſire, ſo far: You ſhall undergo Perſecution, and Martyrdom, as I have done; but as for the Chief Places of Honour in my Kingdom, they are not to be diſpoſed of out of Favour or Inclination, as you may imagine from my Relation, or particular Friendſhip ſhewn to you; they are reſerved by Almighty God, as the Rewards of the Vertue and Piety of ſome eminently holy Perſons, whoſe Goodneſs has diſtinguiſhed them from the reſt of the World; which indeed every one ought to ſtrive for, but this only, (i. e. by qualifying themſelves with thoſe extraordinary Perfections) will entitle them to it. III. The ten other Diſciples, who obſerving James and John to be ſome time in private apart from them with our Saviour, had learn'd the Nature of Salome's Petition in behalf of her Sons; and therefore began to cenſure their Ambition, and to grudge at their Intereſt and Favour with Chriſt, every one deſiring that Precedency themſelves, which they found fault with others for affecting. Our Saviour knowing this, bid them come up to him, he having nothing to ſay of any private Concern: And then he ſpoke to them after this manner: I perceive, that you are wonderfully tranſported with the Charms of Power and Dignity; and you have very remarkable Inſtances, how well theſe look, among the Gentile Princes round about you, (or, perhaps you have experienc'd ſomething of it at Home,) how the Governor of every little Province lords it over the Lives and Liberties of his Subjects, without any Senſe of Juſtice or Mercy; and the Emperors make as great Slaves of theſe Petty Kings, as they do of thoſe under their Government. But this is a ſort of Polity, which I do not deſign ſhall be uſed in my Kingdom. Thoſe who are to be the Greateſt among you, muſt be thoſe that are the moſt Humble; for the Chriſtian Prelacy is to be a State of Servitude, an Office of Burden rather than Honour, in which the higheſt Church-Officers are obliged to give as much Attendance upon thoſe they are ſet over, as Servants do upon their Maſters.

NOTE.

(n) Saint Bartholomew] St. Bartholmew is reckon'd in the Catalogue of the Apoſtles, which is given by St. Matthew, St. Mark, and St. Luke; Matth. x. 3. Mark iii. 14. Luke vi. 14. Acts i. 13. But his Name not being mention'd by St. John, but ſeveral things being recorded by him, of another Diſciple who is call'd Nathanael, of whom there is a perfect ſilence in the other Evangeliſts, it has made ſome Perſons think, that Nathanael and Bartholomew is the ſame Perſon. This Opinion, as far as I can find, was unknown to the ancient Writers of the Church; the firſt Author that is to be met with, who eſpouſed this Notion, is Rupertus de Vita Sanct. who wrote about the Year 1130, and is followed therein by Toſtatus Com. in Mat. x. 3. and by many learned Men after them. They give ſeveral Reaſons, not altogether improbable, why the ſame Perſon is to be underſtood by theſe two Names: Becauſe the Evangeliſts, who wrote the Catalogues, join Philip and Bartholomew together, as John does Philip and Nathanael: Becauſe the Vocation of all the Apoſtles being recorded, there is no Calling of Bartholomew mention'd, unleſs that of Nathanael be it: Becauſe the other three Evangeliſts make mention of Bartholomew, and not of Nathanael; and S. John makes mention of Nathanael, and not of Bartholomew; which is hardly to be accounted for, unleſs they were the ſame Perſon: Becauſe St. John makes mention of Nathanael as one of the Apoſtles, Matth. xxi. 2. and his Character is not agreeable to any of the Apoſtles, unleſs it be Bartholomew: Becauſe Bartholomew is not a proper Name, but is as much as the Son of Tolmai, in the ſame manner as Peter, whoſe Name was Simon, is call'd Barjona. There is not much to be ſaid againſt the Cogency of theſe Reaſons, but that this Opinion is but late in the Church, the ancient Fathers being of another Opinion. Now, if Bartholomew be but a Patronymical Name, then this Saint appears to be the Son of Tolmai, or of a Family which bore that Name among the Jews; for Joſephus, in his Antiquities, mentions one Tholomæus: Antiq. lib. 20. cap. 1.

He is recorded, by the Ancients, to have preach'd the Goſpel in the Greater Armenia, and to have converted the Lycaonians to Chriſtianity: Chryſ. in 12 Apoſt. Others ſay, he preached to the Albanians, a People upon the Caſpian-Sea: Hier. de Script. Eccl. Origen and Socrates write, that he preach'd likewiſe in India: Orig. in Gen. lib. 3. Socr. lib. 1. cap. 15. But that he preach'd the Goſpel in the Indies, is a Truth which is moſt evidently confirmed by the Teſtimony of Pantænus, the famous Chriſtian Philoſopher, who was Maſter of the Chriſtian Univerſity at Alexandria, about the Year 180; but reſolving to take upon him the Office of a Miſſionary, went and preached the Goſpel in India; and, after ſome time, returning Home ſafe to Alexandria, he made this Report concerning his Miſſion; That he found, in the Hands of ſome of the Indians, St. Matthew's Goſpel in Hebrew, which was brought among them by St. Bartholomew, and that the Original Book was kept among them to that day: Euſeb. Hiſt. Eccl. lib. 5. c. 10.

Some more modern Authors relate, That he was crucified, like St. Peter, with his Head downwards; others, That he was flea'd alive; which laſt Account is the moſt probable, Crucifixion being a Roman Puniſhment: And, ſince it is not recorded, that he ever return'd from among the barbarous Indians, Excoriation is a Death, which was moſt likely to be inflicted by the rude Cruelty of thoſe Savages.

I. BY the hands of the Apoſtles were many ſigns and wonders wrought among the people, (and they were all with one accord in Solomons porch. And of the reſt durſt no man joyn himſelf to them: but the people magnified them. II. And believers were the more added to the Lord, multitudes both of men and women) Inſomuch that they brought forth the ſick into the ſtreets, and laid them on beds and couches, that at the leaſt the ſhadow of Peter paſſing by might overſhadow ſome of them. There came alſo a multitude out of the cities round about unto Jeruſalem, bringing ſick folks, and them which were vexed with unclean ſpirits, and they were healed every one.

The GOSPEL. S. LUK. XXII. 24.

I. AND there was alſo a ſtrife among them, which of them ſhould be accounted the greateſt. II. And he ſaid unto them, The kings of the Gentiles exerciſe lordſhip over them; and they that exerciſe authority upon them, are called benefactors. But ye ſhall not be ſo: but he that is greateſt among you, let him be as the younger; and he that is chief, as he that doth ſerve. For whether is greater he that ſitteth at meat, or he that ſerveth? is not he that ſitteth at meat? but I am among you as he that ſerveth. III. Ye are they which have continued with me in my temptations. And I appoint unto you a kingdom, as my Father hath appointed unto me; that ye may eat and drink at my table in my kingdom, and ſit on thrones judging the twelve tribes of Iſrael.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Acts V. 12.

I. The Apoſtles ſtill continuing at Jeruſalem, did a great number of Miracles in the Preſence of the People; the Place, where they performed theſe extraordinary Works, being that Porch of the Temple which is called Solomon's, where they every Day met all together. Nor did any of the other Chriſtians, out of regard to their high Character, preſume to mix or conſort with them: And the People having received ſo many beneficial Miracles from their Hands, could not but highly extol them. II. This being a divine Teſtimony of the Truth of their Preaching, occaſion'd a great number of People of both Sexes to take upon them the Profeſſion of Chriſtianity; and many more had ſuch a Perſwaſion of the Miracles done by the Apoſtles, that they brought out Sick Perſons, who were not able to go of themſelves, and laid them upon Beds in the Streets, that when, by reaſon of the Crowd, they could not get cloſe enough to Peter, to be touched by his Hand, they might be cured by the Shadow of his Body, as he paſſed by. The Fame of theſe miraculous Cures, reaching the Country-Towns about Jeruſalem, occaſioned them to bring their Diſtemper'd People to the City, ſome Sick, and other Demoniacks and Epilepticks, and they were all Cured, according to their Deſire.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Luk. XXII. 24.

I. At our Saviour's Laſt Supper, the Diſciples falling into Diſcourſe concerning his Kingdom; there aroſe a Contention among them, about a Precedency therein; ſome laying a Claim to it, from their Age; and others, from their Relation, or particular Intimacy with our Saviour. II. But our Saviour rebuked their Ambition, in this manner: You know that the Gentile Princes bear an unlimited Sway over their Subjects, whom they make Slaves and Vaſſals under them; and they are ſo Good-natur'd, as to ſtyle them Benefactors, for ſo doing. But I tell you plainly, I will have none of this in my Chriſtian Kingdom: For he that is a Ruler in my Polity, muſt be a Servant to thoſe whom he is ſet over. I leave it to your Judgment, to determine, which is the Perſon of the chiefeſt Honour, he that ſitteth at Table, or he that waiteth. I preſume you will readily anſwer, He that ſitteth at the Table. Now I have been all along, as one that attendeth and waiteth upon you: Imitate therefore my Example, who have not exacted thoſe Reſpects and Services from you, which I might have expected; but have been readier in my Attendance upon you, than you have been in yours upon me. III. Ye have followed me as Diſciples, and been hitherto conſtant to me, in the Afflictions and Perſecutions that have befallen me. And as a Reward for your Fidelity, I will beſtow upon you a Kingdom, as God my Father has beſtowed upon me: And at the End of the World, you ſhall be preferred, in Honour and Glory, before other of my Followers; and you ſhall enjoy the Dignity of being Coaſſeſſors with me, in Judging the World.

(o) Saint Matthew] St. Matthew was the laſt called of the Apoſtles. He had another Name, which he was likewiſe called by, and that was Levi; for St. Mark and St Luke mention him under that Name, when they relate his Calling. He was a Publican by Profeſſion, whereby he lived in very handſom Circumſtances; as appears by his making a conſiderable Entertainment at his Houſe for our Saviour, to which he invited a great many more of his own Profeſſion. Some have thought he was one of the Publicani, of which there was a ſort of Order or Brotherhood in Rome, who were the Farmers of the Publick Revenues, whom Cicero calls, The Flower of the Roman Knights, the

I. THerefore ſeeing we have this miniſtry, as we have received mercy we faint not; but have renounced the hidden things of diſhoneſty, not walking in craftineſs, nor handling the word of God deceitfully, but by manifeſtation of the truth, commending our ſelves to every mans conſcience in the ſight of God. II. But if our Goſpel be hid, it is hid to them that are loſt: In whom the God of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, leſt the light of the glorious Goſpel of Chriſt, who is the image of God, ſhould ſhine unto them. For we preach not our ſelves, but Chriſt Jeſus the Lord; and our ſelves your ſer-

Ornament of the City, and the Support of the Commonwealth: Or. pro Plan. Theſe were Places of vaſt Profit, which Gentlemen of the faireſt Fortunes in the Roman State procured to themſelves; many of them ſo great, that they would not have exchanged them for Herod's Tetrarchate; much leſs would have gone, to have pick'd up the Tolls of a few Fiſhermen, in the Sea of Tiberias. But the word Publican is extended likewiſe to ſignifie the Deputies, and Servants of the Maſter Publicanus, who was the Provincial-Redemptor, and farmed the Revenue of a whole Province, or ſome conſiderable part of it, from the Roman State. It remains therefore, that Matthew was a Cuſtom-Officer, placed by the Publicanus, or his Deputy, to take up the Duties laid upon the Fiſhing-Trade in the Lake of Tiberias; or however, to receive thoſe which were due in the Neighbourhood of Capernaum, which was the Place of his Settlement. For this Town ſeems to be a very commodious Place for this Purpoſe; not only as ſituated upon the Lake, but becauſe all Veſſels, which came up or down the Jordan, muſt paſs by it. And the Portitorium, or Duty for Waſtage of Perſons or Goods over the Lake, was probably paid here. The Telonium, or Receipt of Cuſtom, was the Cuſtom-houſe of the Place, probably a great Table and Bench under Cover, but open to the Sea-ſide, ſo that the Clerk or Cuſtomer ſitting thereat, might have a clear View of Ships and Lading: And upon this reaſon it was, that our Saviour paſſing by, could ſee St. Matthew ſitting thereat. The wonderful Efficacy of the Holy Spirit of God was viſible, in this Man's Converſion; for our Saviour ſaid no more but, Follow me; and he aroſe and followed him, Matth. ix. 10. Indeed, our Saviour, doing ſo many Miracles in the Country about Capernaum, might make ſome reſpectful Impreſſions upon him, with regard to his Character; but that he ſhould become his Diſciple, only by Beckening to him, ſhews an Omnipotent Power of a Divine Grace infuſed into the Heart of this Saint, to engage him to leave a Wealthy Employ, for the Want, and Penury, and Dangers of the Apoſtleſhip. The Feaſt, which he made to entertain our Saviour juſt after his Call, at which ſeveral Publicans, or Cuſtom-Gatherers, were preſent, gave great Diſguſt to the Phariſees; who thought, with the reſt of the Jews, that all Publicans were wicked Men, and not fit for an ordinary Jew, much leſs for a holy Prophet, to converſe with. The uſual Name, which they were wont to give to the Publicans, was Pariſim, pitiful Rogues, a Name appropriated to raſcally Fellows, who uſed to pluck up Hedges, and pull down Walls, in the Night-time. Our Saviour therefore thought fit, to chuſe one of his Followers, out of an Order of them, whom they had the worſt opinion of; to ſhew, that the Grace of the Goſpel was not extended only to good Men, but that all Men, however flagitious, might be ſaved, upon their Repentance. Not that the Employ of the Publicans was unlawful; for the Publicans did with more honeſty gather the legal Taxes, than the Jews did deny them, or revile the Collectors of them; but our Saviour choſe to make one, whom they thought of a vile Character, one of his Diſciples; to demonſtrate to them the Prevalency of his Doctrine, tho' they, by their Perverſeneſs, made the worſt uſe of it.

This Apoſtle wrote the Goſpel which bears his Name, about eight Years after Chriſt's Aſcenſion; Euſeb. in Chron. juſt before the Apoſtles diſperſed themſelves, to go to preach the Goſpel in Foreign Parts. He undertook this Work, at the Entreaty of the Converted Jews in Paleſtine; who were deſirous to have ſome Memoirs of our Saviour's Life left with them, that they might have recourſe to, in the Apoſtles abſence. St. Matthew, complying with this their Deſire, wrote this excellent Goſpel, which we now have in our hands. He wrote his Goſpel in the Vulgar Hebrew, or Syriack, as all Antiquities do agree: Euſeb. Hiſt. Eccl. lib. 6. Iren. lib. 3. cap. 1. Epiph. Har. 29. & 57. S. Gyr. Catech. 15. It ſhould ſeem, that all the Apoſtles took a Copy of it with them, when they went to travel: Euſeb. lib. 5. cap. 10. And Athanaſius ſays, That the Greek Tranſlation, we have thereof, was made by Jacobus Minor Biſhop of Jeruſalem, and our Lord's Brother: Athan. in Synopſ.

He was a Man of extraordinary Abſtinence, his only Food being Pulſe, Berries, and Coleworts, without any Fleſh: Clem. Alex. Paed. lib. 2. cap. 1. By which great Abſtemiouſneſs, when he had brought his Stomach into diſorder, he was perſwaded by St. Paul to drink a little Wine, which he had totally abſtained from before: Chryſ. upon 1 Tim. V. 23.

The Province allotted for his Preaching the Goſpel, as ancient Writers relate, was Æthiopia: Orig. in Gen. lib. 3. Socr. lib. 1. cap 15. from whence we do not read that he ever returned, but probably ſuffer'd Martyrdom there.

I. Since God Almighty has been pleaſed to employ me in the Work of the Goſpel-Miniſtry, according to the Meaſure of his Grace which he has afforded me, I go on with Courage in my Work, without ſhrinking at any Danger which I am to encounter with, in the diſcharge of it. I have no cunning underhand Deſigns in view; but preach the Goſpel, in its true native Simplicity, without any artificial Diſguiſes, and making it bend to the Jewiſh Ceremonies, to gain Popularity among the Jews by it, or to avoid Danger; I do not affect the Applauſe and Eſteem of the Multitude, (as ſome do;) my Aim is, to recommend myſelf to the Conſciences of ſome few good Men, who are acquainted with my Sincerity; but chiefly, to the All-ſeeing Eye of God, who knows my Heart. II. But ſome of you may ſay, that I do not clearly make out thoſe Goſpel-Truths which I preach. But I anſwer, They are clear enough to all, but to thoſe unhappy Men whoſe Eyes the Devil has blinded by the Vanities of this World, and by leading them into inveterate Habits of Vice; for ſuch Men are averſe to the Chriſtian Faith, for fear Chriſtianity (that glorious Diſpenſation which Chriſt, the Image of the glorious God, reveal'd) ſhould afford them Light to ſee the Depravedneſs of their Condition, and make them uneaſy under it. I do not preach up myſelf, but my Maſter Jeſus Chriſt; and I declare likewiſe, that I will be your Servant too for his ſake, and for promoting his Religion ſervants for Jeſus ſake. For God who commanded the light to ſhine out of darkneſs, hath ſhined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God, in the face of Jeſus Chriſt.

The GOSPEL. S. MATT. IX. 9.

I. AND as Jeſus paſſed forth from thence, he ſaw a man named Matthew, ſitting at the receit of cuſtom: and he ſaith unto him, Follow me. And he aroſe, and followed him. II. And it came to paſs, as Jeſus ſat at meat in the houſe, behold, many Publicans and ſinners came and ſat down with him and his diſciples. And when the Phariſees ſaw it, they ſaid unto his diſciples, Why eateth your Maſter with Publicans and ſinners? III. But when Jeſus heard that, he ſaid unto them, They that be whole need not a Phyſician, but they that are ſick. But go ye and learn what that meaneth, I will have mercy, and not ſacrifice; for I am not come to call the righteous, but ſinners to repentance.

For the EPISTLE. REV. XII. 7.

I. THere was war in heaven: Michael and his Angels fought againſt the dragon, and the dragon fought and his angels; and prevailed not, neither was their place found any more in heaven. And the great dragon was caſt out, that old ſerpent, Religion among you. For the Great God, who in the Creation of the World made the Light to ſhine, there being nothing but a dark Chaos before, has by a like Divine Power made the Light of the Goſpel to ſhine among you, and brought you to the view of that Divine Glory which Jeſus Chriſt has revealed in his Perſon, and by whoſe Authority we preach it.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Matth. IX. 9.

I. Our Saviour paſſing through a part of the City Capernaum, which lay by the Water-ſide of the Lake Gennejereth, ſaw a certain Cuſtom-Officer or Publican in the execution of his Employ, whom he only bid to leave his Buſineſs, and follow him as his Diſciple; and without any more ado, he abandoned his Employment, and followed our Saviour as his conſtant Attendant. Not long after this, he made an Entertainment for our Saviour, to which he invited ſeveral of his Acquaintance, of the ſame Profeſſion which he himſelf had been of, who ſat down without Diſtinction with our Saviour and his Diſciples at the ſame Table; Which being obſerv'd by ſome of the Phariſees, who were likewiſe there, they, in a ſort of Abhorrence of the Act, as an Affront offer'd to the Jewiſh Cuſtoms, ask'd his Diſciples, how their Maſter, who pretended to a peculiar Degree of Sanctity, could vouchſafe to ſit at Meat, with ſuch profane Perſons as the Publicans were generally reputed to be? This our Saviour obſerving, directed his Diſcourſe to the Phariſees, and told them, That it was to little purpoſe for a Phyſician to viſit Perſons in Health; but that it was very proper for him to give his Attendance on thoſe, who laboured under a dangerous Diſtemper, that he might thereby have an opportunity of working their Cure. And what, I pray, (ſays he) do you take the meaning of that Paſſage in Hoſea to be, I deſired Mercy and not Sacrifice, but only that God eſteems any good and charitable Action, eſpecially ſuch as tends to the Salvation of Men's Souls, before the Outward Ceremonial Parts of the Moſaical Law; which you, to the neglect of the more ſubſtantial Parts of the Moral Law, lay ſo great a ſtreſs upon? For it is no part of my Miſſion, whereunto I am appointed by God, to preach Repentance, (which is one of the main Branches of the Evangelical Doctrine) to righteous Perſons who do not want it, but only to ſuch careleſs Perſons who live in a conſtant Neglect of their Duty, which it is my Buſineſs to awaken them to.

O eternal God, who haſt conſtituted the ſeveral Ranks of Beings in a wonderful Subordination to each other, and which do, in their reſpective Turns, pay thee the Service which thou haſt commanded from each of them; We beſeech thee of thy Mercy to grant, that as thy holy Angels are always ready before thy Throne in Heaven to execute thy Commands, ſo thou wouldſt be pleaſed to give them a Charge to defend and protect us thy poor Servants here upon Earth. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Rev. XII. 7.

I. Then there was repreſented to me in my Viſion, as it were, a great Battle fought in the Heavens, between the Archangel Michael, who commanded all the good Angels, who fought on his ſide; and the Devil called the Dragon, who was chief of the wicked Spirits. The Diabolical Squadrons, tho' they ſeem'd to fight with all the Fury which their deſperate Condition excited them to, yet they were not able to make the leaſt Impreſſion upon the Angelick Troops; but on the contrary, were ſerpent, called the devil and Satan, which deceiveth the whole world; he was caſt out into the earth, and his angels were caſt out with him. II. And I heard a loud voice ſaying in Heaven, Now is come ſalvation, and ſtrength, and the kingdom of our God, and the power of his Chriſt: for the accuſer of our brethren is caſt down, which accuſed them before our God day and Night. And they overcame him by the bloud of the Lamb, and by the word of their teſtimony; and they loved not their lives unto the death. III. Therefore rejoyce, ye heavens, and ye that dwell in them. Wo to the inhabiters of the earth and of the ſea: for the devil is come down unto you, having great wrath, becauſe he knoweth that he hath but a ſhort time.

The GOSPEL. S. MAT. XVIII. 1.

I. AT the ſame time came the diſciples unto Jeſus, ſaying, Who is the greateſt in the kingdom of heaven? And Jeſus called a little child unto him, and ſet him in the midſt of them, and ſaid, Verily I ſay unto you, Except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye ſhall not enter into the kingdom of heaven. II. Whoſoever therefore ſhall humble himſelf as this little child, the ſame is greateſt in the kingdom of heaven. And whoſo ſhall receive one ſuch little child in my Name, receiveth me. But whoſo ſhall offend one of theſe little ones which believe in me, it were better for him that a mill-ſtone were hanged about his neck, and that he were drowned in the depth of the ſea. Wo unto the world, becauſe of offences: for it muſt needs be that offences come; but wo to that man by whom the offence cometh. III. Wherefore if thy hand or thy foot offend thee, cut them off, and caſt them from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life halt or maimed, rather than having two hands or two feet to be caſt into everlaſting fire. And if thine eye offend thee pluck it out, and caſt it from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life with one eye, rather than having two eyes to be caſt into hell fire. IV. Take heed not able to ſuſtain the Force of their Arms; and in a little time were perfectly beaten out of the Cœleſtial Field. After this I ſaw the Devil, the wicked Tempter and Enemy of all Mankind, after his Defeat, turned out of Heaven, and tumbled down upon the Earth, together with all the other wicked Spirits of his Party. II. Upon this I heard the Heavens ring with Shouts and Acclamations, and the Voice, as it were, of an Herald, proclaiming, That from this time forward, the Kingdom of God, the Divine Inſtitution of Jeſus Chriſt, is eſtabliſhed: For the Devil their malicious Enemy, who by Calumnies and Miſrepreſentations, and by exciting the worldly Powers againſt the Chriſtians, had much oppoſed the Growth thereof, and raiſed moſt terrible Perſecutions againſt it, was now become a vanquiſhed and a proſtrate Enemy, being perfectly conquered by the Power and Efficacy of the Blood of Chriſt, and by the courageous Preaching of the Apoſtles and other Propagators of this holy Religion; who have not been wanting, when they were call'd to it, to ſeal the Truth of their Doctrine by their Blood. III. Therefore, O all ye heavenly Spirits, and all ye good Men who are not yet arrived thither, but whoſe Converſation is there, Phil. 3. 20. Epheſ. 2. 6. do you rejoyce and triumph upon this happy Occaſion. But wo to thoſe earthly and ſenſual Perſons, who have not received the Goſpel of Chriſt; for the Malice of the Devil being confined to do Miſchief among them only, and that for a ſhorter time too than he expected, he will redouble his Fury.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Mat. XVIII. 1.

I. Our Saviour's Diſciples having Expectations of being promoted to great temporal Honour in his Kingdom, propoſed a Queſtion to him, Who was the Perſon that was to be his chief Favourite, and to be promoted to the principal Degree of Dignity in the Kingdom of Heaven which he preached? Our Saviour, to put a Stop to the Ambition which he diſcovered in them, and to make a firmer Impreſſion of what he ſaid to them upon their Memories, choſe to make uſe of this Emblematical way of inſtructing them. He took a little Boy belonging to ſome one in the Company, and placed him ſo as to be viewed by all his Diſciples, and then he addreſſed himſelf to them in this manner: Except there be made a total Change in your Natures, and all the evil Habits which you have formerly contracted be eradicated in you, and every evil Tendency rectify'd, of which I find by this Queſtion of yours, Ambition to be one, and your whole Temper be changed into a gentle and Innocent Frame, ſuch as that of this Child, who has no crafty, ambitious, or ſelf-intereſted Deſigns in view, you will not be qualified to partake of this Kingdom of Heaven which I am preaching up. II. Now I tell you plainly, in anſwer to your Queſtion, that That Perſon of you that has the greateſt Degree of Humility and Innocency, and in thoſe Qualifications is moſt like to this Child here before you, That Perſon, I ſay, ſhall have the principal Share of Happineſs and Honour allotted him in my Kingdom. I know very well, that ſuch an humble Frame of Mind will not only be undervalued by the wicked World for a Poorneſs of Spirit, but it will expoſe Men to frequent Inſults and Oppreſſions. But this I promiſe, and will make my Words good, That I will afford my Aſſiſtance for the Encouragement of this good Temper, and will greatly reward thoſe who ſhall be kind to the meek and humble Profeſſors of my Religion, as if their Kindneſs was ſhewn perſonally to me: And whoſoever ſhall oppreſs and injure them, or ſhall take an advantage from their mild and gentle Diſpoſition, to affront and wrong them, I will take care, that theſe wicked Men ſhall have ſuch a terrible Puniſhment inflicted upon them for their Inſolence and Cruelty, that it were a more eligible Condition for them, to have a great Stone tied about their Necks, and be thrown into the Sea. Indeed, ſuch is the great Degeneracy of Human Nature, that it cannot but be expected that Good Men ſhould ſuffer by the Bad, and ſometimes be made to apoſtatize from the true Faith, by the Subtilty or Cruelty of their Adverſaries: But then thoſe ill Men muſt expect a very terrible Reckoning, for their Beguiling and Ill-uſing ſuch Chriſtians. III. But to prevent theſe ill Effects as much as may be on your parts, if any Boſom-Sin, if any Friend or Relation, who is as dear and tender to you as a Limb of your Body, or your very Eye, prompt you to diſobey God's Laws; keep at the furtheſt diſtance from ſuch a Vice, uſe no Familiarity with ſuch a Perſon, tho' the Parting with either of them, be with as much Reluctancy as the plucking outyour Eye, or chopping off your Foot; for this is the only Remedy you can uſe to preſerve yourſelves from a Poiſon, which elſe will grow upon you like a Gangrene. For 'tis better going to Heaven with denying one-ſelf ſuch a Satisfaction, than to go to Hell after having indulged ourſelves with the Enjoyment of it. IV. Therefore I would adviſe all Perſons, as they value their eternal Happineſs or Miſery, that they heed that ye deſpiſe not one of theſe little ones; for I ſay unto you, that in heaven their angels do always behold the face of my Father which is in heaven.

(q) Saint Luke the Evangeliſt] That famous Evangeliſt, whoſe Memory we celebrate this Day, was born at Antioch, where there flouriſhed Schools of the liberal Sciences. Hier. Præf. in Matt. Evan. In theſe St. Luke had his Education, and, having paſſed through his Preliminary Studies, he applied himſelf to the Study and Practice of Phyſick. It is thought, that for ſome Years he practiſed Phyſick at Rome, being a Servant in the Houſhold of one of the Family of the Lucilii, and, upon his Liberty obtained, he took the Name of Lucas, a Diminutive of Lucilius. That this was the beloved Phyſician mentioned by St. Paul, Col. 4. 14. and the Brother whoſe praiſe is in the Goſpel, 2 Cor. 8 18. the moſt ancient Writers of Chriſtianity do allow; for this is acknowledged by Ignatius, in his Epiſtle to the Epheſians, who lived in or next to the Apoſtolical Times. Some have thought him to be one of the Seventy Diſciples, Greg. M. Præf. in Job. But this is aſſerted without ground; for all Antiquity make St. Luke the Diſciple of the Apoſtles, and not of Chriſt, Iren. lib. 3. cap. 20. Tertul. contra Marc. lib. 4. c. 2. The time when St. Luke joined himſelf to St. Paul, was ſoon after the Contention happened between him and Barnabas at Antioch, in the Year of Chriſt 51, Iren. lib. 3. cap. 14. For taking only Silas with him in his Journey to Troas, Acts 16. 8. it is very probable, that Luke was taken into company when he came to that place; for in the whole Relation, before this time, of St. Paul's Acts, the Author of the Acts of the Apoſtles (which was undoubtedly St. Luke) ſays, Paul Spoke, Paul departed, Paul went, &c. but almoſt ever after his being at Troas, to the End of the Book, he ſpeaks of St. Paul's Actions, as if he himſelf had mingled with them. We looſing from Troas; we were abiding certain days; we went out; we ſat down. He wrote his Goſpel, about ſeven Years after his Conjunction with St. Paul, whom he never left till his Death. He is recorded to have wrote this excellent Work, in Achaia and Bœotia, whilſt St. Paul ſtaid there, which was in the Year of Chriſt 58. Hier. Præf. Metaph. He is ſaid to have wrote his Goſpel, to hinder the Faithful from being poiſoned by the Heretical Relations of the Cerinthians, a very early Race of Hereticks, ſprung up in the Church, Epiph. Hær. 51. He wrote his Book of The Acts of the Apoſtles about three Years after, in the fifth Year of Nero, and of Chriſt 61. There has been a general Tradition concerning this Saint, That he was not only a Phyſician, but an eminent Painter in his time; That he painted the Virgin Mary, Niceph. lib. 4. cap. 2. St. Peter and Paul, id. lib. 2. c. 23. and (if we may credit Metaphraſtes) our Saviour himſelf, Metaph. in 18 Octob. How St. Luke diſpoſed of himſelf after St. Paul's Martyrdom at Rome, is not ſo very certain: Epiphanius ſays he preached in Dalmatia, in Gaul, Italy, and Macedonia, Epiph. Hær. 51. Others affirm, that when he left Rome, he returned into the Eaſt, and that from thence he went to preach in Africa, and that he converted the Thebans to the Faith, Oecum. in Lucam. That he at laſt ſuffer'd Martyrdom, the beſt Authors of Antiquity allow, Nazianz. 1 Orat. in Jul. Gaudent. Tract. de ded. Baſil. The later Greek Writers relate his Death with more Particularities, ſaying, That he was crucified or nailed to the Branches of an Olive-Tree, there not being upon the place dry Wood ſufficient, to make a Croſs for him to ſuffer on, Niceph. lib. 2. cap. 43.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. 2 Tim. IV. 5.

I. I adviſe you to be very watchful in keeping out all ill Opinions and Practices, from coming into the Church which you have the Care of: You muſt bear with Patience all the Misfortunes which may befal you upon account of the Goſpel: Diſcharge the Duty of an Evangeliſt, or Coadjutor of the Apoſtles, in making Converts to Chriſtianity, with that Prudence and Diligence, as becomes the Dignity of that high Office: And perform every part of the Office of the Miniſtry which you are entruſted with, circumſpectly and exactly; that you may be qualified to take up my Charge in the Church, when God ſhall think fit to call me to him. For I look upon myſelf to be a Victim ready ſprinkled, and juſt upon the point of being offered up a Sacrifice; and my Soul is juſt upon its Departure from this Body of Clay. Like a good Athletick, I have fought my Prize courageouſly, I have run my Courſe through, being now not far from the Goal; not making any Deviations from the Bounds which were ſet me, by maintaining and not to me only, but unto all them alſo that love his appearing. II. Doe thy diligence to come ſhortly unto me: For Demas hat forſaken me, having loved this preſent world, and is departed unto Theſſalonica; Creſcens to Galatia, Titus unto Dalmatia. Only Luke is with me. Take Mark and bring him with thee: for he is profitable to me for the miniſtery. And Tychicus have I ſent to Epheſus. III. The cloak that I left at Troas with Carpus when thou comeſt bring with thee, and the books, but eſpecially the parchments. Alexander the copper-ſmith did me much evil: the Lord reward him according to his Works. Of whom be thou ware alſo, for he hath greatly withſtood our words.

The GOSPEL. S. LUKE X. 1.

I. THe Lord appointed other ſeventy alſo, and ſent them two and two before his face in every city and place whither he himſelf would come. Therefore ſaid he unto them, The harveſt truly is great, but the labourers are few; pray ye therefore the Lord of the harveſt that he would ſend forth labourers into his harveſt. II. Go your wayes, behold, I ſend you forth as lambs among wolves. Carry naither purſe, nor ſcrip, nor ſhoes, and ſalute no man by the way. And into whatſoever houſe ye enter, firſt ſay, Peace be to this houſe. And if the ſon of peace be there, your peace ſhall reſt upon it: if not, it ſhall turn to you again. And in the ſame houſe remain, eating and drinking ſuch things as they give: for the labourer is worthy of his hire.

ing Heterodox Opinions, but kept myſelf within the juſt Limits which the Chriſtian Faith has preſcribed me. And now having performed my part, I may with a pious Confidence expect that immortal Crown, which God has promiſed me, to encourage me to the obſervance of his righteous Laws, and which ſhall be awarded by my bleſſed Lord, when he comes to judgment at the Great Day: A Crown which he has not promiſed to me alone, but to all other pious Chriſtians, who carefully diſcharge their Duty, and look for their Reward, when he ſhall come to Judgment. II. I deſire you would loſe no Opportunity of coming to me with all poſſible Speed: for my late Aſſiſtant Demas hath left me, preferring his own Affairs before thoſe of the Goſpel and me, and has taken a Journey to Theſſalonica: Creſcens is gone to Galatia, and Titus to Dalmatia. I have no Aſſiſtant now but Luke. Therefore, when you come to me, I deſire you would perſuade Mark the Kinſman of Barnabas, Acts 12. 25. to come along with you; for he will be a very uſeful Aſſiſtant to me in propagating the Goſpel. As for Tychicus, I have ordered him to go to Epheſus, to ſupply your place there in your Abſence. III. I in haſte left my Cloak at Troas, when I came from thence, which I deſire you, when you come hither, to bring along with you; as alſo my Books I left there; but be ſure not to forget the Writings. Alexander the Brazier was a very malicious Informer againſt me in my Accuſation; and God Almighty will puniſh him according to his Deſerts for it. Therefore when you come here, I would adviſe you to avoid him as a Man of a dangerous Converſation; for he is an inveterate Enemy to the Doctrine of the Goſpel which we preach.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Luke X. 1.

I. Our Saviour being on his Journey to Jeruſalem, in the third Year of his Preaching, but taking a large Circuit thro' ſeveral Towns by the way; finding that his twelve Diſciples were not a ſufficient Number to propagate the Goſpel to the Extent which he intended, pitched upon ſeventy other pious Perſons of his Followers, whom he ſent by Couples, to go before him into the ſeveral Towns thro' which he reſolved to paſs, to prediſpoſe them for the Doctrine which he deſigned to preach to them. But before they ſet out upon their Miſſion, he gave them Inſtructions to this purpoſe. I perceive (ſays he) that there is a very great Harveſt enſuing upon my ſowing of the Word, or preaching the Goſpel formerly in this Nation; but there are not ſufficient Labourers for the bringing ſo great a Work forward to perfection; the Perſons who are diſpoſed to be Believers, being more numerous in proportion than the Preachers: Therefore I would adviſe you to be very inſtant in your Prayers to Almighty God, who is the Owner of this Crop, and to whoſe Bleſſing the great Produce is owing, that he would be pleaſed to provide more Labourers in this his Evangelical Field, who by their Preaching may give their Aſſiſtance in this mighty Harveſt, which requires ſo many Hands. II. You are the Perſons whom I have ſingled out to be Aſſiſtants to me in this great Work; and therefore with God's Bleſſing upon you, immediately make an Entrance upon your Miſſion. You will have occaſion to make uſe of all the Courage which either Nature or Grace can afford you; for you are to ſtruggle with a crafty and cruel Generation of Men; with whom to conteſt, I foretel you, is as dangerous as it is for Lambs to converſe among Wolves: for they will be watching all Opportunities of doing you Spight and Miſchief. But I would not have you ſpend any time in making Proviſion for your Journey, of the common things which you may judge neceſſary; for God ſhall provide all theſe things for you by his ſpecial Providence: Nay, I would not have you ſo much as to pay a Complement, or reſpect to any Perſon whom you may meet in the Way, leſt it retard your Journey, which requires ſo much Expedition. When you enter into any Family, put up your Petitions to Almighty God, that he would beſtow his moſt eſpecial Bleſſing upon it; and, if there be any pious and well-diſpoſed Perſon therein, God Almighty ſhall readily hear thoſe Prayers which you ſhall make to him; or otherwiſe you ſhall receive the Benefit of your own Prayer yourſelves. But if you be friendly entertained in that Houſe, be not too delicate in ſhewing a Diſlike to any the coarſeſt Food which is ſet before you, nor make any ſign as if you were willing to be treated with a nicer Diet; for as it would be a Fault to give the Family any unneceſſary trouble, in providing for you out of their common Way of Living; ſo you, by preaching the Goſpel to them, have a juſt Claim to be entertained with their uſual Proviſion.

NOTE.

(r) Saint Simon and Saint Jude.] There are two Saints commemorated by the Church this Day: The firſt is Simon, ſirnam'd The Canaanite, Matth. 10. 4. and Zelotes, Luke 6. 15. Acts 1. 13. which two Names are the ſame; for the Hebrew word Canaan ſignifies a Zelot. There were a Sect of Men called Zelots, about the time of Chriſt, in Judæa, who out of a pretended Zeal for God's Honour, would commit the moſt grievous Outrages; they would chuſe and ordain High-Prieſts out of the baſeſt of the People, and murther Men of the principal Dignity, Joſeph. Bell. Jud. lib. 4. c. 11, 12. It is probable, that Simon, before his Converſion and Call, might be of this Sect; or however ſome Fire and Fierceneſs in his Temper, gave occaſion for his being call'd the Zelot. He was one of the twelve Apoſtles, and kin to our Bleſſed Lord; either his Half-Brother, being one of Joſeph's Sons by another Wife, as all the Greek Fathers contend; or Couſin by his Mother's ſide. Moſt certain, this is that Simon which is meant Matth. 13. 55. Are not his Brethren, James, and Joſes, and Simon, and Judas? There is a Tradition, that 'twas at his Marriage in Cana of Galilee, that our Saviour was preſent, Niceph. lib. 8. cap. 30. After our Saviour's Aſcenſion, he is recorded to have preached the Goſpel in Meſopotamia, Hier. in Ep. ad Gal. cap. 4. & cont. Helo. That he preached likewiſe in Ægypt and Africa, is related by others, Iſidor. de vit. & obit. Sanct. And (if we may credit Nicephorus, a later Writer) that he extended his Miſſion as far as Britain, Niceph. lib. 2. cap. 40. He ſuffered Martyrdom in Perſia.

Jude the other Apoſtle, whoſe Memory is this Day obſerved, was one of the twelve Apoſtles, Brother to James, Jude 1. and therefore bore the ſame Relation with him to our Saviour. He was that Judas mentioned in the Verſe before-cited, Are not his Brethren, James, and Joſes, and Simon, and Judas? He had two Surnames, one was Thaddæus, which does not ſeem to be more than a Diminutive or ſmall Alteration of Judas, and is derived from the ſame Root in Hebrew, as Judas is. Labbæus is derived from a Word in Hebrew which ſignifies Heart, and is as much as Corculum or Little Heart. He preached the Goſpel with his Brother in Meſopotamia, Arabia, and Idumæa, &c. Niceph. Hiſt. lib. 2. cap. 4. and ſuffered Martyrdom at Berythus.

PARAPHRASE on the COLLECT for St. Simon and Jude.

O Almighty God, who haſt built thy Church upon the Foundation of the Apoſtles and Prophets, Jeſus Chriſt himſelf being the chief Corner-ſtone, Eph. 2. 20. Grant that by the Efficacy of the Doctrine which they preached, we may be joyned in the Unity of the Spirt, Eph. 4. 3. and in the Profeſſion of the ſame Catholick Doctrine; that we may be made the Temple of the living God, 2 Cor. 6. 16. and that we may preſent our Bodies a living Sacrifice holy and acceptable to him, Rom. 12. 1. This we pray for the ſake of Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. St. Jude 1.

I. Jude, a Servant of Jeſus Chriſt in the Apoſtleſhip, and the Brother of James, to you the Chriſtian Brethren whom God has ſanctified, preſerved from Deſtruction, and called to the Profeſſion of the Chriſtian Faith; wiſhes, That you may abound with a large Share of the Divine Bounty, and, That Peace and Love may increaſe among you.

My Beloved Chriſtians,

Since my Office obliges me ſometimes to write to you concerning the Affairs of our common Chriſtianity, I think it neceſſary at this time to inculcate one Duty with particular Earneſtneſs; and that is, That you zealouſly defend the Orthodox Faith, which was delivered by our bleſſed Saviour, when he was upon Earth, to the Apoſtles. II. For at this time there is a particular neceſſity for your ſo doing, ſeveral falſe Teachers having inſinuated themſelves into the Church by indirect Methods, God Almighty as a Puniſhment for their Sins, ſuffering them to fall into this Wickedneſs; Men of ill Principles and as bad Manners, who turn the Doctrine of the Goſpel into a Syſtem of Laſciviouſneſs; who make Dæmons to be Governors of the World in ſtead of God Almighty, and making our Bleſſed Saviour to be only an airy Phantaſm when he was upon Earth, and to have ſuffered only in appearance. Now, becauſe you ſhould take care how you copy from the Actions of ſuch Men, I will lay before you ſome particular Inſtances of God's Vengeance on ſuch Perſons, which being in Scripture, you know before hand; but however I will repeat them to you to refreſh your Memories. You know, that the Jews were God's Favourite People, he delivering them from their Ægyptian Slavery by unheard-of Miracles: and yet when they lapſed into Diſobedience and Infidelity, he deſtroy'd many of them ſeveral knew this, how that the Lord having ſaved the People out of the land of Egypt, afterward deſtroyed them that believed not. III. And the angels which kept not their firſt eſtate, but left their own habitation, he hath reſerved in everlaſting chains under darkneſs unto the judgment of the great day. Even as Sodom and Gomorrha, and the cities about them in like manner giving themſelves over to fornication, and going after ſtrange fleſh, are ſet forth for an example, ſuffering the Vengeance of eternal fire. Likewiſe alſo theſe filthy dreamers defile the fleſh, deſpiſe dominion, and ſpeak evil of dignities.

The GOSPEL. S. JOH. XV. 17.

I. THeſe things I command you, that ye love one another. If the world hate you, ye know that it hated me, before it hated you. If ye were of the world, the world would love his own: but becauſe ye are not of the world, but I have choſen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you. II. Remember the word that I ſaid unto you, The ſervant is not greater than the Lord: if they have perſecuted me, they will alſo perſecute you; if they have kept my ſaying, they will keep yours alſo. But all theſe things will they do unto you for my Names ſake, becauſe they know not him that ſent me. III. If I had not come and ſpoken unto them, they had not had ſin: but now they have no cloke for their ſin. He that hateth me, hateth my Father alſo. If I had not done among them the works which none other man did, they had not had ſin; but now have they both ſeen, and hated both me and my Father. But this cometh to paſs that the word might be fulfilled that is written in their law, They hated me without a cauſe. IV. But when the Comforter is come, whom I will ſend unto you from the Father, even the Spirit of truth, which proceedeth from the Father, he ſhall teſtifie of me. And ye alſo ſhall bear witneſs, becauſe ye have been with me from the beginning.

ways, as by Serpents and Plagues. III. There were Angels of ſome of the higheſt Orders, to whom God vouchſafed the Honour of being Attendants about his Throne; and yet when they warped from their original Goodneſs, turning Rebels to their Creator, and making a Defection from his Government; God, as Puniſhment for their Wickedneſs, confined them to the Darker Regions of the World, by an inevitable Law, until the time of the General Judgment. In like manner Sodom and Gomorra, with the neighbouring Towns, Adama and Zeboim, were once flouriſhing Places, but by abandoning themſelves to Whoredom and unnatural Luſts, were made a dreadful Example of by God, by being burnt with Fire from Heaven, which was not to be extinguiſhed. IV. Theſe Men I ſpeak of, are ſuch impure Perſons, that their very Sleep is polluted; that Government, which all good Men revere as God's Authority, they deſpiſe; reviling thoſe Perſons in the higheſt Stations, whom they ought to ſpeak of with the greateſt Reſpect.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Joh. XV. 17.

I. You muſt always remember this peculiar Command of mine, which I take all Occaſions to inculcate, To love one Another. Nor muſt you be diſcourag'd, if the wicked People of this World calumniate and perſecute you, and do all ill Offices and Miſchief to you; for this is but juſt the ſame Treatment which I have found from them, and you muſt not think it hard to ſhare your Maſter's Fortune. Nay, the ill Treatment which the World gives you, ought rather to afford you matter of Comfort and Joy, that you are not Children of this World, who have generally a great Share of Proſperity in it, and not ſubject to thoſe Misfortunes that God's pious Servants for the moſt part are; but are Children of God, whom he has ſelected above all the reſt of the World, to crown them with an extraordinary ſhare of Happineſs in Heaven, after your Sufferings in this Life. II. You may remember what I have formerly remarked to you, That the Servant muſt not think to fare better than his Maſter, and that you muſt expect to go thro' a Courſe of Sufferings, as I have done before you; Since the wicked Men of this World have perſecuted me, and given me ſo much ill Treatment; I forewarn you, that they will do the ſame to you: And if they obſtinately held out againſt the Force of my Preaching, you muſt not expect that they will be over-forward in hearkening to you. Theſe Sufferings you muſt expect to undergo for the ſake of my Goſpel, which you are to promulgate to the World. But theſe Misfortunes the Hardneſs of Men's Hearts neceſſitates you to bear, they being under ſo incurable an Averſion, by reaſon of the Meanneſs of my Condition, to believe, that God has ſent me into the World for theſe Great Ends. III. Indeed, if I had not declared to the World upon what Errand I came, and had not confirmed the Powers by which I act, by unexceptionable Credentials, Unbelievers might have ſome Excuſe for their Incredulity; but now they have no manner of Pretence for their Unbelief. He that now holds out againſt the Evidence of the Goſpel-Truth, maliciouſly oppoſes himſelf to Almighty God my Father, who has ſo evidently declared himſelf in favour of the Doctrine which I have taught. So that That Paſſage of the Pſalmiſt, They hated me without a Cauſe, Pſal. 35. 19. is literally verified in me: Men have maliciouſly oppoſed and perſecuted me, whereas they ought in all reaſon to have reſpected and loved me. IV. But when the Holy Ghoſt, that Paraclete or Comforter whom I have formerly ſpoken to you of; that Holy Spirit whom I ſhall ſend from the Father, and by an ineffible way of Proceſſion goeth out from him; This Holy Spirit, I ſay, ſhall afford new and unexceptionable Teſtimony concerning the Truth of my Miſſion; and by the Gift of Tongues, and other miraculous Powers, which he ſhall veſt you with, you ſhall be appointed proper Witneſſes and Preachers of what you have heard me teach; I having for this end, all the time of my Preaching the Goſpel, aſſociated with you.

(1) All Saints.] The Feaſt of All Saints is not of very great Antiquity in the Church. About the Year of our Lord 610, the Heathen Pantheon, or Temple dedicated to all the Gods, at the Deſire of Boniface IV. Biſhop of Rome, was taken from the Heathen by Phocas the Emperor, and dedicated to the Honour of All Martyrs. Hence came the Original of All Saints, which was then celebrated upon the firſt of May. Afterwards by an Order of Gregory IV. it was removed to the firſt of November, A. D. 834. as it has ſtood ever ſince. Our Reformers having laid aſide the Celebration of a great many Martyrs-days, which had grown too numerous and cumberſome to the Church, thought fit to retain this Day, wherein, by a general Commemoration, our Church gives God Thanks for them all.

PARAPHRASE on the COLLECT for All Saints Day.

O Almighty God, who haſt knit together all Chriſt's Myſtical Body the Church, (who according to the Faith are God's Elect, Tit. 1. 1.) by Bands and Joints with Chriſt the Head, Col. 2. 19. Grant us thy Grace, that we, following the Examples of thy bleſſed Saints, in the Exerciſe of all Chriſtian Vertues in this World, may attain to the unſpeakable Joys of the other, which Eye hath not ſeen, nor Ear hath heard, and which God hath prepared for them that love him, 1 Cor. 2. 9. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the EPISTLE. Revel. VII. 2.

I. I then ſaw another Angel flying from the Eaſtern Part of Heaven, bearing the Seal of God as the Enſign of his high Authority; and he called out with a ſtrong Voice unto the other four Angels, who had a Commiſſion to deſtroy the Earth, that they ſhould forbear to execute their Commiſſion, till ſuch time as he had ſet God's Seal in the Foreheads of his elect Servants, that they may be known to belong to God; as Servants were wont to be mark'd by the Name of their Maſter. II. And then I learnt the Number of thoſe who were thus ſealed, they being of all the Tribes of Iſrael forty and four thouſand; twelve thouſand of Judah, twelve thouſand of Reuben, and ſo the ſame Number of all the reſt. III. After this I ſaw a prodigious number of Perſons, which no one could reckon, of all Nations and Countries who ſtood before the Throne of God and Chriſt, paying their Adoration, and ſhouting Hoſannahs to God the Father, and our bleſſed Saviour and unto the Lamb. IV. And all the angels ſtood round about the throne, and about the elders, and the four beaſts, and fell before the throne on their faces, and worſhipped God, ſaying, Amen; Bleſſing, and glory, and wiſdom, and thankſgiving, and honour, and power, and might be unto our God for ever and ever. Amen.

The GOSPEL. S. MATTH. V. 1.

I. JEſus ſeeing the multitudes, went up into a mountain; and when he was ſet, his diſciples came unto him. And he opened his mouth, and taught them, ſaying, Bleſſed are the poor in ſpirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. II. Bleſſed are they that mourn: for they ſhall be comforted. Bleſſed are the meek: for they ſhall inherit the earth. Bleſſed are they which do hunger and thirſt after righteouſneſs: for they ſhall be filled. Bleſſed are the merciful: for they ſhall obtain mercy. Bleſſed are the pure in heart: for they ſhall ſee God. III. Bleſſed are the peacemakers: for they ſhall be called the children of God. Bleſſed are they which are perſecuted for righteouſneſs ſake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Bleſſed are ye when men ſhall revile you, and perſecute you, and ſhall ſay all manner of evil againſt you falſly for my ſake. IV. Rejoyce and be exceeding glad; for great is your reward in heaven: for ſo perſecuted they the prophets which were before you.

Saviour. IV. And I ſaw likewiſe Crouds of Angels ſtanding about the Throne, and about the Elders, and the four Animals before deſcribed; who afterwards fell proſtrate before the Throne, as a Poſture of the profoundeſt Adoration, and with united Voices, aſcribed unto their gracious God the moſt exalted Degrees of Happineſs, Wiſdom, and Glory; and to be thanked, praiſed, and magnified for ever and ever. Amen.

PARAPHRASE on the GOSPEL. S. Matth. V. 1.

I Our Saviour having for ſome time preached the Goſpel, and gain'd a conſiderable number of Followers, who came after him wherever he went; he being now in the higher part of the Country about Capernaum, came to a Hill-ſide there, that he might ſpeak with more Advantage to the People, and ſitting down with his Diſciples about him, he began a moſt admirable Diſcourſe, containing the chief Points of Chriſtian Doctrine, which was to this purpoſe. Happineſs is a Thing which all Men, tho' they take different Ways to attain it, are naturally inclined to purſue; and therefore I ſhall inform you what will make you truly happy or bleſſed. Indeed many Men think, that Greatneſs of Soul, as they call it, (that is, a proud, haughty, and domineering Temper, which deſpiſes all about them, and is continually aſpiring to Honour and Preferment) is a great Ingredient of Happineſs; But I tell you, that That Poverty of Spirit which they deſpiſe, an humble and lowly Deportment, and a Contentedneſs with the Condition God has placed Men in, will make them more truly happy, than this other haughty Diſpoſition; for this Temper qualifies them for Heaven, where they ſhall have a Kingdom allotted them, more glorious than any Honour which their Ambition could court in this World.

II. Some Men think, that Happineſs conſiſts in a Life of Jollity and Pleaſure, and a freedom from all croſs Accidents and Misfortunes: But I tell you, That afflicted Piety, however it may want its Reward in this World, ſhall be amply recompenſed by the Joys of the other.

Some think to purſue Happineſs by a factious and turbulent Spirit; and to attain Honours and Riches by joining in the heady Enterprizes, and oftentimes wicked Deſigns of a Party: But I muſt let you know, that Modeſty and Meekneſs, and a quiet way of Living, under the Direction of Governors, makes a Man much more happy, even in this World, as affording them much more inward Quiet and outward Security.

Importunate Deſires, and eager Purſuits after the Good things of this World, will not lead Men to Happineſs: They will much ſooner arrive at it by an impatient Suit after God's Favour, by earneſt Addreſſes in conſtant and devout Prayer for his Grace, by an unwearied Reſolution to the utmoſt of our Power to perform his Will; and a longing to partake of the heavenly Happineſs; for ſuch good Perſons, in God's due time, ſhall have their Appetites gratified to the full; which is more than Men, who are craving for the Satisfactions of this World, can ever pretend to.

Tho' Miſers think, that Happineſs is to be attained by Grippingneſs and Hard-heartedneſs to the Poor, or any other unrighteous Methods, which will ſerve to raiſe a great Eſtate: Yet Charity and Liberality to the Poor will much more contribute to a Man's true Happineſs; for his Vertue God Almighty ſhall reward, by ſhewing Mercy to them when they want it.

Tho' many think to find Happineſs by the Gratification of their Luſts, and indulging themſelves in brutiſh Pleaſures: Yet ſome time or other they will find themſelves miſerably miſtaken in their Hopes. Whereas Temperance, and Chaſtity, in Thoughts, Words, and Actions, qualify Men for the heavenly State, where they ſhall enjoy pure and unmixed Joys for ever.

III. Many Men ſeek their Happineſs among Quarrels, and Diſputes, and Controverſies in Religion, as the Phariſees do: But it is rather to be attained in compoſing Differences, in reconciling Animoſities, and putting an end to Diſputes; For this entitles Men to be properly called the Children of God, who is ſtiled the God of Peace.

Some think Happineſs is to be attained by unlawful Compliances with the Religion of the Government, whatever it be, as the Sadducees do: But I tell you, that Happineſs is ſooner to be attained by ſuffering for the ſake of a good Conſcience and the true Religion; for God ſhall reward ſuch Pious Sufferers with a Kingdom in another World, in which the Martyrs Crown ſhall be of all others the moſt glorious. IV. And this will be the Caſe of many of you here preſent, who by embracing my Religion, ſhall be expoſed to Perſecutions and Calumnies: But you have reaſon to rejoice for your great Sufferings in this Cauſe, ſince God will amply reward you for them in another World. And you have had former Examples of this; for many of your great Predeceſſors the Prophets, who are now glorious Saints in Heaven, have been treated with the ſevereſt Perſecution and Cruelty, in diſcharge of the great Duties which God enjoined them to go through

Church of ENGLAND.

GReat Clamours have been raiſed againſt our Common-Prayer-Book, and particularly the Collects, by the Adverſaries thereof, upon account (as they give out) that it was taken out of the Maſs-Book. But if this were true, as they pretend, it were no good Objection, as to the unexceptionable Parts of the Roman Service. For certainly, Popery, bad as it is, did, in the worſt Times thereof, retain ſomething of genuine Antiquity; and which ought not entirely to be abandoned, barely for the Roman Church's uſing it, even in its moſt corrupted State. For if this Reaſon held, we muſt lay aſide the Creed, the Lord's Prayer, the Pſalms, the Goſpels, and the Apoſtolical Epiſtles; which no Man, in his ſober Senſes, will allow to be a juſt Reaſon for ſo doing. Nor is the Caſe of the Collects much different. For ſuppoſe, that moſt of the Collects are found in the Maſs-Book; the Compilers of that Book might make ſome good Prayers, tho' they made a great many bad ones. But after all, the Compilers of that Book did not make thoſe Collects, which we have received into our Liturgy. We have undoubted Authority, that they were compoſed ſeveral hundred Years before the preſent Maſs-book had a being. For, to ſet the riſe of them at the lateſt Date, they are at leaſt eleven hundred Years old; they being placed in the Office by S. Gregory the Great, when he was Biſhop of Rome, about the Year of Chriſt 590. And for this, we have the undoubted Teſtimony of Walafridus Strabo, who lived in the beginning of the Ninth Century. Gregorius ſupradictus in diſpoſitione Officiorum anni —— And again, Gregorius junior ſtatuit eam Miſſis & Orationibus eſſe ſolennem, & undequaq; colligens ejuſdem diei augmentavit Officia. Wal. Strab. de reb. Eccl. cap. 20. Where it muſt be obſerv'd, that he does not ſay he made the Offices, but collected and augmented them. And a little after in the ſame Book, he writes, Ideoq; credimus Conciliis Carthaginenſi & Milevitano ſtatutum, ut Preces & Orationes, niſi probatæ fuiſſent, niſi probatæ fuiſſent in Concilio, non dicerentur. Nam & ipſe Gelaſius Papa in Ordinatione LI, tam a ſe quam ab aliis compoſitas Preces dicitur Ordinaſſe. Et Galliarum Eccleſiæ ſuis orationibus utebantur, quæ & adhuc a multis habentur. Et quia a tam incertis authoribus, multa videbantur incerta, curavit Beatus Gregorius rationabilia quæq; coadunare, & ſecluſis his quæ nimia & inconcinua videbantur, compoſuit Librum qui dicitur Sacramentorum, ſicut ex titulo ejus manifeſtiſſimè declaratur. The ſame is confirm'd by Radulphus Tungrenſis, Alias quoq; Orationes niſi antiquas & Gregorianas difficillime admittunt, utpotè quas in antiquioribus, in emendatioribus Sacramentariis maxime inveniunt. Rad. Tungr. Prop. 23. ex Micrologo. But to render this matter more unqueſtionable, Gregory himſelf ſpeaks of this Performance, and his Alterations made in the Roman Liturgy, in his Epiſtle to John, Biſhop of Syracuſe: Wherein he tells him, That ſome Perſons of his Acquaintance had taken Offence at theſe Alterations: Quod aliqui amici ejus, vel Græci, vel Latini, neſcio, quaſi ſub zelo ſanctæ Romanæ Eccleſiæ de meis diſpoſitionibus murmurarent: That however, he had done no more than the Greeks had done in their Liturgies, altering ſome old Prayers and making ſome new ones: In quo Græcorum conſuetudinem ſecuti ſumus, qui aut veteres noſtras reparavimus, aut novas & utiles conſtituimus. S. Greg. Reg. Epiſt. Ep. LXIV. So that it does from hence clearly appear, that many of theſe Collects were much older than S. Gregory's Time; he being but the Compilator, or Gatherer of them from the older Liturgies, and not the Compoſer.

Therefore I have thought it worth my Labour, to draw out of Gregory's Sacramentary, thoſe Collects that are uſed in our Church, which are almoſt all the Collects for the ſeveral Sundays, and the principal Feſtivals of the Year: Thoſe upon the Feaſts of the Apoſtles, which are of later Inſtitution; being taken from the Office of Sarum, which was drawn up by an ancient Biſhop of our Church.

The Order for the Adminiſtration of the (a) Lord's Supper, or Holy Communion.

¶ So many as intend to be partakers of the Holy Communion (b) ſhall ſignifie their Names to the Curate, at leaſt ſome time the day before.

¶ * And if any of thoſe be an open and (c) notorious evil liver, or have done any wrong to his Neighbours by word or deed, ſo that the Congregation be thereby offended;

VARIOUS READINGS.

* This Rubrick in the Old Common-Prayer-Book was worded thus: And if any of thoſe be an open and notorious evil-liver, ſo that the Congregation by him is offended, or have done any wrong to his Neighbours by word or deed, the Curate having knowledge thereof, ſhall call him, and adverriſe him in any wiſe not to preſume to come to the Lord's Table, until he have openly declar'd himſelf to have truly repented and amended his former naughty Life, that the Congregation may thereby be ſatisfied, which afore were offended; and that he have recompenſed the Parties whom he hath done wrong unto, or, at the leaſt, declare himſelf be in full purpoſe ſo to do, aſſoon as he conveniently may.

NOTES.

(a) Lord's-Supper, or Holy-Communion.] Of the many Compellations given to this Sacrament in former Ages, our Church has very wiſely thought fit to retain theſe two in her Publick Service, as thoſe which are moſt Ancient and Scriptural. For it was called beſides, Μυστήριον, The Myſtery; Εὐχαριστία, The returning of Thanks for the Bleſſings of our Saviour's Merits; and for the ſame Reaſon likewiſe Εὐλογία; Σύναξις, The Meeting together; The Lord's Table; the Ἁγίας Τραπέζης, &c.

As for the Name Lord's-Supper (which Name the Papiſts cannot endure to have this Sacrament call'd by, becauſe it deſtroys their Notion of a Sacrifice, and their Uſe of Private Maſs,) we find this Compellation given to it, as the proper Name belonging to it in the Apoſtle's Time, by St. Paul himſelf: When ye come together into one place this is not to eat THE LORD'S SUPPER, 1 Cor. 11. 20. And beſides, this Name is frequently given it by Ancient Writers: By the Author De Cœna Domini, under St. Cyprian's Name; by St. Chryſ. Hom. XXVII. in 1 Cor. who makes the Δεῖπνον κυριακὸν the Δεσποτικὸν, which all are to partake of: And ſo does Theodoret in 1 Cor. 11. St. Auſtin calls the Acceptationem Euchariſtiæ, the Dominicam Cœnam. Vid. XVI Exer. Caſaub. in Bar.

So for the Name of the Communion, it is plain that this is another Scriptural Compellation of the ſame Holy-Sacrament; The cup of Bleſſing which we bleſs, is it not the COMMUNION of the blood of Chriſt? Which Name is given to it, partly becauſe by this we teſtify our Communion with Chriſt our Head, Damaſc. Orthodox. fid. Lib. 4. partly, becauſe it unites us together with all our Fellow-Chriſtians; and partly, becauſe all good Chriſtians have a right to partake of it, Pachym. in Areop. Cap. III. Chryſ. Hom. XXVII. in 1 Cor. Hence κοινωνεῖν is the common Word to expreſs the Participation of this Sacrament. St. Chryſoſtom ſpeaks of the ἀναξίως κοινωνήσαντων, of thoſe that receive unworthily. St. Baſil ſays, πλεῖον καθ' ἑβδομάδα κοινωνίαν, We partake of the Communion four times a Week, Ep. 239.

(b) Shall ſignify their Names.] The reaſon of this Injunction of the Rubrick is, That the Miniſter of the Pariſh may have time to inform himſelf of the Parties who deſign to Receive; ſo that if there be any among them who are not duly qualified to partake of that Sacrament, he may perſwade them to abſtain for ſome time; or, in caſe of their refuſal, repel them. Now in ſeveral Caſes Perſons may be unqualified to partake of this Sacrament, either by the Preſcript of God's Word, or by the Canons of the Church. Firſt, A Want, or a Contempt of the Rite of Confirmation unqualifies Perſons to Receive; for the Rubrick of the Common-Prayer, which is confirmed by the Act of Uniformity, ſays, No one ſhall be admitted to the Holy-Communion, until ſuch time as he be Confirmed, or be ready and deſirous to be Confirmed. And ſuch the Ancient Church reckon'd under the number of the ἀμύητοι and ἀπίλεγοντες; and to ſuch the Deacon, before the Euchariſt began, was wont to cry out, ἀπέλθετε, πορεύεσθε, Be gone, Walk out. The like is enjoined by our Provincial Conſtitutions; Nullus ad Sacramentum Corporis & Sanguinis Domini admittatur extra Articulum Mortis, niſi fuerit confirmatus, vel niſi à receptione Confirmationis rationabiliter fuerit impeditus. Let no one be admitted to the Sacrament of the Body and Blood of our Lord, unleſs in the Article of Death, unleſs he be Confirmed, or unleſs he have a reaſonable Impediment for his not receiving Confirmation, Prov. Linw. cap. de ſacr. Unc. And the Gloſs ſays, that the only reaſonable Impediment is the want of a Biſhop near the Place. Secondly, Perſons Excommunicate, or who are doing Penance by Church-Cenſure, for any notorious Fault, are unqualified to Receive; for ſuch Perſons are ſhut out from the Κοινωνία or Communion, and therefore are called by the Ancients, ἀκοινώνητοι & Excommunicati. And to venture upon Receiving the Communion under ſuch Cenſure was look'd upon, by Antiquity, as one of the greateſt Faults which any Perſon could be guilty of. Hence in the Council of Africa it is decreed, That any ἀκοινώνητος, tho' of the Clergy, if he did under his Cenſure κοινωνίαν τολμήσαι, be ſo bold to come to the Communion, Let him be adjudged to have pronounced the Sentence of Damnation upon himſelf, Con. Afr. Can. XXIX. And our own Provincial Conſtitutions enjoin, That he ſhould not partake of the Sacrament at Eaſter, which every one is obliged to, Qui ab Ingreſſu Eccleſiæ arcetur, by which is underſtood not only Excommunicates, but, as Lindwood Gloſſes, thoſe who are under Penance or Church-Cenſure, Prov. Conſt. Tit. de Pœn. cap. Confeſſ. Thirdly, Perſons under Frenzy, or thoſe who are Poſſeſſed by an Evil Spirit, are unqualified to partake of the Holy-Communion, Vid. Linw. Prov. in the place before-cited; Dionyſ. Areop. Cap. 3. Now Perſons who are under the foregoing Unqualifications, may lawfully be refuſed Admiſſion to the Communion by the Miniſter: For the Eccleſiaſtical Law impoſes great Penalties upon the Miniſter who ſhall give them the Communion in ſuch Caſes. Fourthly, A Perſon may be unqualified by notorious Wickedneſs, or Flagitiouſneſs of Life. But of this more in the next Note.

(c) If any of thoſe be a notorious evil liver.] In the Primitive Times, when Diſcipline was kept up ſtrict, all ſuch Perſons, aſſoon as known, were put under Cenſure; but if before Cenſure they offer'd themſelves at the Communion they were repelled. Τῆς ψυχῆς ἀποθήσομαι πρότερον, &c. (ſays St. Chryſoſtom) I will ſooner lay down my Life than I will deliver my Lord's Body unworthily. I will ſooner pour out my own Blood, than deliver the tremendous Blood to one who ought not to receive it, Hom. 82. in Mat. And we read in Church Hiſtory, That St. Ambroſe refuſed the Communion to no leſs a Perſon than the Emperor Theodoſius himſelf, after his Commiſſion of a great Crime; for there being a Sedition among the People of Theſſalonica, he ordered his Guards to fall upon them, who, in that Heat, cut the Throats of many Thouſands of poor People. Soon after the Emperor coming to St. Ambroſe's Church at Milan, the Biſhop met him before the Church's Door, begging of him not to come to that Holy Exerciſe with the Stain of his late bloody Sin unrepented of. Ποίοις γοῦν ὀφθαλμοῖς, &c. With what Eyes will you behold the Temple of him who is the common Lord of us all? With what Feet will you tread his Holy Place? How will you put out your Hands to receive the Bleſſed Elements, which are yet reeking with Innocent Blood? How will you take the Lord's Body into ſuch Hands? How will you move the Precious Blood to that Mouth which gave out thoſe bloody Orders? Ἄπιθι οὖν, &c. Depart therefore, and take heed that you do not encreaſe your firſt Crime by a ſecond; ſubmit yourſelf to the Bond which the Lord of the World has been pleaſed to bind you with: For this Tie is only Medicinal, and what will work your Cure. This Repulſe the Holy Emperor acquieſced in, and in Tears repented him of the ſad Effects of his haſty Anger, Vid. Theod. Hiſt. Eccl. Lib. V. And indeed ſuch ſevere Diſcipline might not be amiſs, whilſt it was grounded only upon Piety and Zeal for God's Honour, as it was in thoſe Devout Times: But afterwards other not ſo warrantable Paſſions, mixed in the Minds of ſome of thoſe who Miniſtred in Holy Things, and ſome Perſons were debarred the Communion out of Pique and Reſentment: Therefore there was an Imperial Injunction prohibiting all both Biſhops and Presbyters, from ſhutting out any one from the Communion, fended; the Curate having knowledge thereof, ſhall call him and advertiſe him, that in any wiſe he preſume not to come to the Lord's Table, until he hath openly declar'd himſelf to have truly repented and amended his former naughty Life, that the Congregation may thereby be ſatisfied, which before were offended; and that he hath recompenſed the Parties to whom he hath done wrong, or at leaſt declare himſelf to be in full purpoſe ſo to do, aſſoon as he conveniently may.

¶ The ſame Order ſhall the Curate uſe with thoſe betwixt whom he perceiveth Malice and Hatred to reign; not ſuffering them to be partakers of the Lord's Table, until he know them to be reconciled. And if one of the Parties ſo at Variance, be content to forgive from the bottom of his Heart all that the other hath treſpaſſed againſt him, and to make amends for that he himſelf hath offended; and the other Party will not be perſwaded to a godly unity, but remain ſtill in his Frowardneſs and Malice: the Miniſter in that caſe ought to admit the Penitent Perſon to the Holy-Communion, and not him that is obſtinate. † Provided that every Miniſter ſo repelling any, as is ſpecified in this, or the next precedent Paragraph of this Rubrick, ſhall be obliged to give an account of the ſame to the Ordinary within fourteen Days after at the farthest. And the Ordinary ſhall proceed againſt the offending Perſon according to the Canon.

¶ The Table at the Communion-time having a * fair (d) white Linen Cloth upon it, ſhall ſtand in the Body of the Church, or in the Chancel, where Morning and Evening Prayer are appointed to be ſaid. And the Prieſt ſtanding at the North ſide of the Table ſhall ſay the Lord's Prayer, with the Collect following, the People kneeling.

Our

VARIOUS READINGS.

† All this Clauſe added in the laſt Review.
But it muſt be obſerved that there was this Rubrick in the firſt Book of Edw. VI.

Upon the day and at the time appointed for the Adminiſtration of the Holy-Communion, the Prieſt that ſhall execute the Holy Miniſtry, ſhall put upon him the Veſture appointed for that Miniſtration, that is to ſay, a White Alb with a Veſtment or Cope. And where there be many Prieſts or Deacons, there ſo many ſhall be ready to help the Prieſt in his Miniſtration as ſhall be requiſite; and ſhall have upon them likewiſe the Veſtures appointed for their Miniſtry, that is to ſay, Albs with Tunicles. Then ſhall the Clerks ſing in Engliſh for the Office or Introite (as they call it) a Pſalm appointed for that Day.

* A Carpet and Fair Linen Cloth with other decent Furniture, meet for the high Myſteries there to be Celebrated, ſhall ſtand at the uppermoſt part of the Chancel or Church, where the Presbyter ſtanding at the North-ſide thereof ſhall ſay the Lord's-Prayer, with the Collect following for due Preparation. S. L.

Then ſhall he ſay a Pſalm appointed for the Service; which Pſalm ended, the Prieſt ſhall ſay, or elſe the Clerk ſhall ſing,

Lord, have mercy upon us.
Chriſt, have mercy upon us.
Lord, have mercy upon us.

Then the Prieſt ſtanding at God's Board ſhall begin,

Glory be to God on high.

The Clerk.

And on Earth peace, Good-will towards Men.
We praiſe thee, we bleſs thee, &c.

Then the Prieſt ſhall turn himſelf to the People and ſay,

The Lord be with you.

The Anſwer.

And with thy Spirit.

The Prieſt.

nion, before juſt Cauſe be ſhewn, that the Holy Canons do give them Power ſo to do, Nov. 123. Can. 11. And the Canon-Law did not allow a Diſcretionary Power to the Prieſt, to thruſt away every ill Perſon from the Sacrament. Etiam criminoſus ingerens ſe Communioni non eſt repellendus, ſed potius privatim inducendus, & admonendus ne Communionem recipiat. A vitious Perſon offering himſelf to receive the Communion, is not to be repelled, but is to be carried privately aſide, and to be exhorted not to receive the Communion: Extr. de Off. Ord. cap. ſi ſacerd. Indeed the later Canoniſts did interpret this only of occult Crimes, and which were not generally known; (Linw. Prov. de ſacr. Unct.) allowing only Perſons notoriouſly guilty, to be repelled: and of this Opinion were the Compilers of our Rubricks in Edward VI. his Times, by their wording the Rubrick, If any be an open and notorious evil liver, &c. But, however, they limited this Diſcretionary Power of the Miniſter, obliging him, even in notorious Crimes, to admoniſh ſuch Perſons firſt to abſtain, and only upon Obſtinacy to repel. But, nevertheleſs, this formerly gave occaſion to ſeveral Exceptions and Diſputes; and therefore in the laſt Reviſion of the Common-Prayer Repulſion was not left to the abſolute Power of the Miniſter, but he was obliged to give notice thereof to the Dioceſan, and to take his Advice therein. And ſtill it remains ſo uncertain what is Notoriety both in Preſumption, Law, and Fact, that a Miniſter is not out of danger of tranſgreſſing his Rule, if, before Judicial Conviction of a Crime, he goes farther than Admoniſhing any Perſon to abſtain.

It is a Queſtion, what the Law requires as to thoſe who are ipſo facto Excommunicate. But the Reſolution of this I leave to Superiors, who underſtand this Matter better than myſelf, to determine.

(d) White Linen Cloth.] That it was the Practice of the Primitive Church to have the Altar covered with a clean Linen-Cloth, we may learn from ſeveral Paſſages of Optatus: Quis fidelium neſcit in peragendis myſteriis ipſa ligna linteamine cooperiri? What Chriſtian is ignorant that the Wood of the Altar is covered with a Linen-Cloth? Opt. in Don. Lib. 6. Exterſiſtis cum Codicibus Pallas, niſi fallor has purificare properâſtis, Laviſtis proculdubio pallas. You cleanſed the Palls or White-Cloths upon the Altars, this I ſuppoſe was to make them more Holy; and I doubt not but that you waſhed the Palls, ib. This was the Palla Altaris, called ſo to diſtinguiſh it from the Corporis Palla, or the Cloth thrown over the Conſecrated Bread, Greg. Sacr. in Ord. Diac. St. Jerom praiſes Nepotianus for keeping clean the Linen upon the Altar, in Ep. ad Neop. Indeed in latter Times ſome Superſtition mix'd itſelf with this Matter. By the Roman Order the Altar was enjoin'd to lie uncover'd, during the latter part of the Paſſion-Week, in remembrance of our Saviour's being ſtripped of his Garment, and being forſaken of his Diſciples, Amar. Fort. Eccl. Off. Lib. 5. Durand. Rat. Lib. 1. But this has been wiſely laid aſide by our Church, which has only order'd the decent White-Covering upon it during the time of Celebration.

VARIOUS READINGS.

* The words, turning to the People, were not in the Old Common-Prayer, but were taken from the Scotch-Liturgy. This Rubrick in the Old Common-Prayer was worded thus: Then ſhall the Miniſter rehearſe diſtinctly all the Ten Commandments, and the People kneeling, ſhall, after every Commandment, ask God mercy, for their tranſgreſſion of the ſame, after this ſort.

† The Ten Commandments, with their Reſponds, were not in the firſt Book of Edward VI.

PARAPHRASE on the Ten Commandments.

I. Theſe are the Precepts which God Almighty has commanded us, ſaying, Firſt, Thou ſhalt have Me for thy God, paying Me all the Duties which are owing to me, as an eternal Creator, and an almighty Governour. Believing in me, Heb. 11. 6. Truſting in me, Prov. 3. 5. Hoping in me, 1 Tim. 1. 1. Loving me, 1 John 4. 19. Obeying me, 1 John 5. 3. Fearing me, Pſal. 111. 10. Secondly, Thou ſhalt worſhip no God together with me, or excluſively of me; avoiding Polytheiſm, Deut. 6. 14. Idolatry, Jer. 5. 19. Sorcery, Deut. 18. 10, 11. and Idolizing of Riches, Job 31. 24. Col. 3. 5.

People. O Lord, ſhew thy Mercy to us, in pardoning us for our former Tranſgreſſion of this Commandment; and give us Grace better to obſerve it for the future.

II. Thou ſhalt not worſhip me after the Pagan-way of Images, Deut. 4. 12, 15. either of Celeſtial Bodies, as Sun, Moon, or Stars, Job 31. 26. or of the Inhabitants of the Earth, as of Men and Beaſts, &c. Dan. 3. 5. or of the Fiſhes in the Water. No manner of Religious Worſhip ſhalt thou pay to them, either by bowing to them, or kneeling, or by ſhewing any other Token of Religious Regard; for I am very jealous of my Honour in this reſpect, aſſuring you, that any that ſhall be guilty of this Fault, I ſhall not only puniſh him in his own Perſon, but in his Family likewiſe for ſeveral Generations. But, ſecondly, Thou ſhalt pay me my Worſhip in the way which I ſhall direct, Deut. 12. 31. by Praying to me, Luke 21. 36. by Praiſing me, Deut. 10. 21. Acts 16. 25. by Hearing my Holy Word, Deut. 4. 10. Matt. 4. 18. by frequenting the publick Congregations aſſembled for my worſhip, Pſal. 22. 22. Heb. 10. 25.

In it thou ſhalt do no manner of Work, thou, and thy Son, and thy Daughter, thy Man-ſervant, and thy Maid-ſervant, thy Cattle, and the Stranger that is within thy Gates. For in ſix days the Lord made Heaven and Earth, the Sea, and all that in them is, and reſted the ſeventh day: wherefore the Lord bleſſed the ſeventh day, and hallowed it.

nor ſhalt thou yet make a Vow, which is an inferior kind of Oath, raſhly, Eccl. 5. 2. inſincerely, Pſal. 78. 36. nor without ſufficient Authority, Numb. 30. 5. nor upon any but a very weighty occaſion, Gen. 28. 20. Numb. 30. 14. and when made, thou ſhalt carefully and readily perform it, Numb. 30. 2. Acts 5. 4. But contrariwiſe, thou ſhalt honour me, by ſwearing truly and reverently by my Name, Deut. 6. 13. and 10. 12. eſpecially if it be for a charitable Deſign, in deciding differences, Gen. 26. 28. Heb. 6. 16. IV. Take great care to obſerve religiouſly the Sabbath-day, one Day in the Week, which I have eſpecially ſet aſide for my Worſhip, in remembrance of my Creation of the Univerſe: That Day thou ſhalt keep Holy, by thy own abſtaining, and of all that belongs to thee, from Work and ordinary Calling; not to buy or ſell, Neh. 13. 15. or carry Burthens, Jer. 17. 22. or make Journeys, Exod. 16. 29. excepting Works of Neceſſity, as Proviſion of Food, and looking after Cattle, Mark 12. 11. fighting for defence of your Country, 1 Mac. 2. 41. and Works of Charity, as healing the Sick, and aſſiſting Women in their Travel, Mat. 12. 7, 12. Hoſ. 6. 6. Labour of Miniſters in the Exerciſe of their Calling, Mat. 12. 5. and the travelling of People to the Places of Publick Worſhip, 2 Kings 4. 23. But the better part of the Sanctification of this Day, does conſiſt in performing the Spiritual Exerciſes, which all devout Perſons ought to ſpend their Time in upon that Day; joining in the Publick Devotion, and hearing the Word preached, Lev. 23. 2. 1 Cor. 16. 2. and meditating upon it afterwards at home: In private Devotions with their Families, and in a more retir'd one by themſelves in their own Cloſets; by reading the Holy Scriptures and other good Books; by viſiting the Poor, and relieving the Needy; and by making up unhappy Differences among Neighbours.

People. O Lord, ſhew thy Mercy to us, &c.

V. Take care to perform thy Duties as well to thy Political Parent, the Prince, who governs thee; to thy Domeſtick Parent, thy Maſter, who feeds and cloaths thee; to thy Eccleſiaſtical Parent, who inſtructs thee; as to thy natural Father and Mother who begat thee. (1.) If thou art a Subject, thou muſt Honour the Prince whom God has ſet over thee, 1 Pet. 2. 17. ſtand in awe of him, and obey him in all things, not forbid by God, and contrary to National Conſtitutions and the Liberties of a Free People, Rom. 13. 1. 1 Pet. 2. 13. Submit to his Correction and Puniſhment, 1 Pet. 2. 19, 20. and aſſiſt him with thy Perſon or thy Money in his juſt Wars, or Maintenance of the Royal Dignity, Matt. 22. 17. Rom. 13. 6, 7. And on the other ſide, I will require of him to govern thee, according to the Rules of Juſtice and Piety, 1 Tim. 2. 2. that he ſhall ſeek thine and all his People's good, Rom. 13. 4. (2.) If thou be'ſt a Servant, Reverence and Honour thy Maſter, 1 Tim. 6. 1. Fear to diſpleaſe him, Mal. 1. 6. Obey his Commands, Eph. 6. 5. be patient under his Corrections, 1 Pet. 2. 18. and be diligent in thy Buſineſs, Col. 3. 22, 23. ſtudying, in all things, to pleaſe him, Tit. 2. 9. As on the other ſide, I will require for thy ſake, of thy Maſter, that he ſhould not behave himſelf peeviſhly and perverſely towards thee, 1 Pet. 2. 18. Deut. 24. 14, 15. but that he be gentle and kind, as he ſhall expect to find Favour from me, Col. 4. 1. and provide for thee in thy old Age, if thou ſpendeſt thy whole time in his Service, Prov. 17. 2. (3.) If thou art a Lay-Perſon, thou muſt love thy Paſtor, who has the Care over thee, 1 Theſſ. 5. 13. thou muſt pay him juſt Reverence and Reſpect, Phil. 2. 20. 1 Tim. 5. 17. Thou muſt ſubmit thyſelf to his Direction in Spiritual Matters, Heb. 13. 17. Thou muſt contribute to make him up a handſome and liberal Maintenance, 1 Tim. 5. 17, 18. Gal. 6. 6, 7. 1 Cor. 9. 7, &c. And on the other ſide, I will require of him, that he ſhall look upon thee, and the reſt of his Flock, as his Children, Gal. 4. 19. Phil. 2. 20. that by his Holy Life and Converſation, he ſhall ſet an Example for thee to copy by, Tit. 2. 7. 1 Tim. 4. 12. That he ſhall be diligent in Preaching the Word in Seaſon, and out of Seaſon, 2 Tim. 4. 2. And laſtly, That he ſhall be Meek, Peaceable, and Courteous, 2 Tim. 2. 22, 24. (4.) As thou art Son or Daughter, reverence and reſpect thy Parents, tho' they happen to be in a Mean Condition, Mal. 1. 6. Matt. 21. 30. obey them in all lawful Things which they command thee, Eph. 6. 1. Col. 3. 20. Relieve them when in Want, Matt. 15. 4, 5. 1 Tim. 5. 4. Submit thyſelf to their Inſtruction, Prov. 1. 8. and when thou art young, to their Correction, Heb. 12. 7. And when thou art grown up, thou ſhalt take their Advice in any important Affair of Life, Gen. 24. 1. and 27. 46. Now to anſwer this, I expect on thy Parents ſide, That they ſhould nouriſh and bring thee up in thy Childhood, 1 Tim. 5. 10. provide Neceſſaries for thee in that State, Raiment, &c. Prov. 31. 15. 1 Tim. 5. 8. inſtruct thee in Religion, Deut. 6. 6, 7. 2 Tim. 3. 15. ſhew thee a good Example, Job 1. 5. Joſ. 24. 15. keep thee in Obedience by a juſt Awe, avoiding Fondneſs and Rigour, 1 Tim. 3, 4. and laying up for thee, to put thee out into the World, according to thy Birth and Quality, 2 Cor. 12. 14. Now, if thou doſt diſcharge theſe Duties, I will reward thee, not only with Temporal, but with Spiritual Bleſſings.

People. O Lord, ſhew thy Mercy to us, &c.

VI. Thou ſhalt not only avoid the barbarous Crime of Murder, upon the Body of thy Neighbour, Gen. 9. 5, 6. Numb. 35. 16. but the laying violent Hands upon thyſelf, as ſome diſcontented wicked Men have done, 1 Sam. 31. 4. Acts 1. 18. as alſo the careleſs meddling with ſuch Inſtruments of Death, as may deſtroy thoſe that are near us, eſpecially the ſtriking with them in Rage, Numb. 35. 16, 17, &c. Thou ſhalt avoid likewiſe the occaſions of Murder, Immoderate Anger, Mat. 5. 21, 22. Hatred, 1 John 3. 15. Malice and Bitterneſs of Speech, Eph. 4. 31. And, on the contrary, thou ſhalt practiſe the Vertues of Peaceableneſs, Rom. 12. 18. Meekneſs, Rom. 12. 17. and Charity, Rom. 12. 20.

Let us pray.

ALmighty God, whoſe Kingdom is everlaſting, and Power infinite, have Mercy upon the whole Church, and ſo rule the Heart of thy choſen Servant ANNE our Queen and Governour, that ſhe (knowing whoſe Miniſter ſhe is) may above all things ſeek thy Honour and Glory: And that we and all her Subjects (duly conſidering whoſe Authority ſhe hath) may faithfully ſerve, honour, and humbly obey her, in thee, and for thee, according to thy bleſſed Word and Ordinance, through Jeſus Chriſt our Lord, who with Thee and the Holy Ghoſt, liveth and reigneth ever one God, World without end. Amen.

¶ Or.

ALmighty and everlaſting God, we are taught by thy holy Word, that the hearts of Kings are in thy rule and governance, and that thou doſt diſpoſe and turn them as it ſeemeth beſt to thy godly wiſdom; We humbly beſeech thee ſo to diſpoſe and govern the heart of Anne thy ſervant, our Queen and Governour, that in all her thought, words and works, ſhe may ever ſeek thy honour and glory, and ſtudy to preſerve thy people committed to her charge, in wealth, peace and godlineſs. PARAPHRASE on the Prayer for the Queen.

O all-powerful God, whoſe Kingdom is an everlaſting Kingdom, Pſal. 145. 13. and whoſe Power and Underſtanding is infinite, Pſal. 147. 5. we beſeech thee, that thou would exert this thy Wiſdom and Power, in defending and ſhewing Mercy to thy Church; and as a means thereunto, to rule, according to thy Heavenly Direction, the Heart of ANNE our Queen, whom thou haſt, by thy eſpecial Providence and Appointment, choſen to the Royal Dignity; that ſhe, conſidering that ſhe is thy Vicegerent by whom Kings reign, Prov. 8. 15. and thy Miniſter, Rom. 13. 4. may endeavour to do all things as may tend to the Honour and Glory of her Almighty Maſter: And that we, and the reſt of her Subjects, diligently and ſeriouſly bearing in mind, that thou the Great God haſt veſted her with that Authority which ſhe enjoys, may out of a religious Principle, and not only for wrath ſake, and being afraid of the Power, Rom. 13. 3. pay her all due Service and Reſpect, and obey all her Commands with Readineſs and Humility, when they ſhall be in the Lord, Eph. 6. 1. and not contrary to any ſuperior Duty; and that we may do this for thy ſake, who, in thy Holy Word, haſt inſtructed us, Rom. 13. 2. 1 Pet. 11. 13. to this Duty. And this we beg, for the ſake of Jeſus Chriſt our Lord, who for ever reigneth in the Glory of the ever-bleſſed Trinity. Amen.

(e) The Prieſt ſhall read the Epiſtle.] That a Portion out of one of the Epiſtles, written by the Holy Apoſtles, was read conſtantly when the Communion was celebrated in the Primitive Church, may be prov'd from many Paſſages out of ancient Writers. Juſtin Martyr ſays, That before the Sermon, and the Communion, were read the ἀπομνεύματα τῶν Ἀποστόλων, the Writings of the Apoſtles, Juſt. Mart. Ap. II. The Author of the Clementine Conſtitutions, ſpeaks of the Epiſtles of St. Paul being then read by the Reader, Clem. Conſt. Lib. II. cap. 57. Optatus alludes to this Practice, when he upbraids the Donatiſts for their Separation, on pretence of greater Purity. Quid, audetis Epiſtolas ad Corinthios ſcriptas legere, qui Corinthiis communicare noluiſtis? How come you to be ſo bold to venture to read the Epiſtle to the Corinthians, who would not have communicated with the Corinthians? Optat. Lib. VI. 'Tis to this that St. Auſtin refers, Hoc de Apoſtolica Lectione percipimus; We learn this from the reading of the Epiſtle, Aug. Ser. 33. de ver. Dom. Which Cuſtom is yet more plainly evident, from that Paſſage of Sulpitius Severus, when he gives an Account of St. Ambroſe's Death, Ambroſius Mediolanenſi, &c. Ambroſe being Biſhop, and he being, as his Cuſtom was, himſelf to celebrate on the Lord's Day, the Reader came up to him with the Book, not being allow'd to read any thing but what he was order'd by the Biſhop; it came to paſs, that the Leſſon out of the Old Teſtament being read, one ſtanding before the Altar to lay before him the Lectionem Sancti Pauli, the Epiſtle which was to be read, the Holy Biſhop fell down dead upon the Altar, Sulpicius Severus, in Vit. Mar. Lib. III. Indeed theſe Readings out of the Epiſtles were larger Portions than the Epiſtles now read. But, however, theſe are about a Thouſand Years ſtanding; for Walafridus Strabo found them in the Office when he wrote, which was about the Year 840; and they were ſo ancient then, that he could not aſſign the time of their Original. It has been an ancient Cuſtom, for the Congregation to ſit to repoſe themſelves during the reading of the Epiſtle; but when the Epiſtle was read out of St. Paul, the Soldiers, in Honour of him, whom, by reaſon of his being pictured with a Sword, they adapted to be their Saint, ſtood up, Dur. de Offic. divin. Lib IV. cap. 16. The Church of Rome permits the Reading of the Epiſtle to any Eccleſiaſtical Perſon, as low as a Subdeacon: but our Church, in this Rubrick, does not allow it to be read but only by a Prieſt.

Portion of Scripture for the Epiſtle.] Theſe Words were added in the laſt Review, to ſatisfy ſome Perſons who charged the Miniſter with telling a Lye, when he ſaid the uſual Words, Here endeth the Epiſtle, when the Portion of Scripture was taken out of the Acts or the Old Teſtament; tho' this was but an eaſy Synecdoche, or Figure of Speech, which is common to all Writings or Diſcourſe, to denominate the Whole from the greater Part.

NOTES.

(f) Then ſhall be read the Goſpel.] The Reading of the Goſpel, as well as the Epiſtle, in the Communion-Service, was a practice in the Church, at the lateſt, in the ſixth Century; for in the Council of Valentia, which was a Provincial Council, held in Spain, A.D. 1520. Cenſuimus obſervandum, ut ſacroſancta Evangelia ante Munerum illationem in Miſſâ Catechumenorum in ordine Lectionum, poſt Apoſtolum legantur. We think it fit to be obſerved, that in that part of the Communion-Service which the Catechumens are to be preſent at, before the Offertory, the Goſpels be read according to the Order preſcribed, after the Epiſtle, Conc. Val. Can. I. But that this Cuſtom obtain'd long before this Council is plain, becauſe this Council, in the Preface thereof, ſays, they did only antiquos Canones relegere, gather together ancient Canons. Here we muſt note, That the former part of the Service was called Miſſa Catechumenorum; becauſe the Catechumens were obliged to go out before the Conſecration; when the Deacon made Proclamation, Μὴ τις τῶν κατηχουμένων: Let none of the Catechumens ſtay, Dion. Areop. Hier. Eccl. cap. 3. Ite, miſſa eſt, Go, Catechumens, your part of the Service is over. Hence Auſtin, Serm. 238. Ecce poſt Sermonem, fit Miſſa Catechumenis: After Sermon the Catechumens are diſmiſſed. Hence towards the latter-end of the Third Century the Communion-Service came to be called Miſſa or Maſs. That it was the ancient Cuſtom for the Clergy, as well as the reſt of the Congregation, to ſtand up when the Goſpel was reading, the Writer of the Clementine Conſtitutions does witneſs, Καὶ ὅταν ἀναγινώσκηται τὸ εὐαγγέλιον, πάντες οἱ πρεσβύτεροι, καὶ οἱ διάκονοι, καὶ πᾶς ὁ λαὸς σιγὰ πάσαν μετὰ πολλῆς ἡσυχίας. When the Goſpel is read, let all the Presbyters and Deacons, and all the People, ſtand up with much ſilence, Conſt. Ap. Lib. II. cap. 56. Vid. Philoſ. Lib. III. cap. 5. Niceph. Lib. IX. cap. 18. Iſid. Pel. Lib. I. Ep. 136. Soz. Lib. VII. cap. 19. That the Goſpel was allow'd to be read by the Deacon, is plain from that of St. Jerom, in his Epiſtle to Sabinianus: Evangelium Chriſti quaſi Diaconus lectitabas: You did read the Goſpel which does belong to you as a Deacon. And from that of Gregory, Lib. 4. Epiſt. 44. Aſtante cuncto Clero, dicernit Diaconos Lectionis Evangelicæ Officium inter Miſſarum ſolennia exſolvere. All the Clergy ſtanding about, he chooſes out the Deacons to read the Goſpel, in the Solemnity of the Communion-Service. Which ancient Cuſtom our Church has regard to, when in the Ordination of a Deacon the Biſhop ſays to the Ordained Perſon, Take thou Authority to read the Goſpel in the Church of God. Office of Ordering of Deacons.

(g) The Creed following.] This is commonly called the Nicene Creed; and, for the moſt part, it was the Creed which was drawn up in that great Council. Arius, a Prieſt of Alexandria, about the Year 320, having broached ſome Heretical Notions, concerning the Divinity of our bleſſed Lord, was called to an Account for them by Alexander, Biſhop of that Place; which Arius perſiſting in, the Biſhop Excommunicated him and his Followers. But afterwards, ſeveral of the Eaſtern Biſhops eſpouſing his Cauſe, the chief of which was Euſebius, Biſhop of Nicomedia, many others likewiſe joining themſelves with that Party, and the Emperor Conſtantine having tried ſeveral Methods Ineffectually, to allay the Heats of the Contending Parties, it was thought the beſt Expedient, to put an end to thoſe unhappy Differences, to have a General Council called, of all the Eaſtern and Weſtern Biſhops, at Nice, a City of Bithynia; who accordingly met there, in the Year of Chriſt 325. Arius being cited thither, and explaining his Opinion in ſuch a manner as the Council judged to be Heretical, he was Condemn'd by their Decree. And others of his Party, uſing ſeveral Equivocations in the Explications of their Faith, concerning the Godhead of the Son, the Council obliged all to agree, that the Son was ὁμοούσιος, i.e. of the ſame Eſſence or Subſtance with the Father. And then, to prevent Errors of the like Nature for the future, they drew up a Creed, or Confeſſion of Faith, which had ſome Alterations afterward made therein, in the Council of Conſtantinople, which was held 381, and this is the preſent Creed retained in our Communion-Service. There was one Expreſſion which was ſince added to this Creed, and that is, who proceedeth from the Father and the Son; the Conſtantinopolitan Creed having no more than, who proceedeth from the Father. The Clauſe was interſerted (as ſome pretend) by a Council of the Latin Biſhops, held under Pope Damaſus by the Authority of Theodoſius the Emperor, at the ſame time with that at Conſtantinople; and that Damaſus, Biſhop of Rome, order'd it to be ſung in the Communion-Service, Rupertus de Div. Off. Sig. ad an. 688. But Bellarmin de Chriſto cap. 21. fairly confeſſes, the Addition of the Filioque came not in till above an hundred Years after. Voſſius is of Opinion that it was introduc'd by Sergius III. about the Year 900. but that is too late; for we find the Council of Friuli which was held A.D. 791. apologizing for the Addition, and giving us a Creed with the Filioque. Con. Forajul. in Præf. 'Tis probable it came at firſt in by a private Hand, in the middle of the Fifth Century, after the Proceſſion from the Son was denied by ſome of the Greek Writers, as it was expreſly by Theodoret; for he ſays of this Opinion, ὡς βλάσφημον τοῦτο καὶ ὡς δυσσεβὲς ἀποφαίνομαι, We abhor this Opinion as blaſphemous and impious, Theod. in Repr. XII. cap. Cyr. However, this was the occaſion of a Schiſm between the Greek and Latin Churches. But notwithſtanding the Latin Church was ſo earneſt in this Controverſy, neither the Nicene Creed, nor the Conſtantinopolitan, either with or without this Addition, came to be uſed by the Church at Rome, till the Time of Charles the Great. But by the Council of Toledo it was decreed, to be repeated in the Churches of Spain, tho' it was uſed by the Eaſtern Churches, as appears by the Words of that Canon, much ſooner: Conſtituit Synodus, ut per omnes Eccleſias Hiſpaniæ & Galliciæ, ſecundùm formam Orientalium Eccleſiarum, Concilii Conſtantinopolitani h. e. centum quinquaginta Epiſcoporum Symbolum Fidei recitetur. The Synod decrees, that thro' all the Churches of Spain and Gallicia, according to the Uſage of the Eaſtern Churches, the Creed compoſed by the 150 Biſhops, aſſembled in the Council of Conſtantinople, be recited, Conc. III. Tolet. Can. 2.

PARAPHRASE on the Creed.

I. I ſincerely believe, that there is one and but one God, tho' differenced by three Perſons, the firſt whereof is the Almighty Father, the Creator of the Whole World, not only of theſe groſs Bodies, which are the Object of our ſight, but of inviſible Angels and Spirits.

II. I alſo ſtedfaſtly believe in the ſecond Perſon of the Trinity, who is not the adopted, but the true, natural and only begotten Son of God, who was begotten by his Eternal Father before all time, God the Son of God, in as true a manner as one Man is the Son of another, tho' after a Spiritual manner, and purely propagated as one Light is generated of another, without Diminution of Subſtance, generated from the eternal Eſſence, and not made as Creatures are: being of the ſame Eſſence with the eternal Father: who made the World: who, for the Deliverance of the Souls of us Men, which were forfeited, and made for ever ſubject to the eternal Wrath, left his Throne of Glory in Heaven, and came to take upon him our Nature here upon Earth. and, by the overſhadowing of the Holy Ghoſt, was born of the Body of Mary a pure Virgin, and became a True Man, and ſuffered the Death of the Croſs, under the Preſidentſhip, and by the unjuſt Sentence of Pontius Pilate, then Governour of Judea: He lay buried part of three days in the Grave, and on the third day aroſe from the Dead, as the Scriptures had foretold, and after that, in the preſence of many credible Witneſſes, aſcended up into Heaven, where he now ſits in the moſt exalted Station of that glorious place, making Interceſſion for us; who ſhall come again with Millions of Saints and Angels, to judge the then Living, and thoſe which are already Dead.

III. I firmly

us under Pontius Pilate. He ſuffered and was buried, And the third day he roſe again according to the Scriptures, And aſcended into heaven, And ſitteth on the right hand of the Father. And he ſhall come again with glory to judge both the quick and the dead: Whoſe kingdom ſhall have no end.

III. And I believe in the holy Ghoſt, The Lord and giver of life, Who proceedeth from the Father and the Son, Who with the Father and the Son together is worſhipped and glorified, Who ſpake by the prophets. IV. And I believe one Catholick and Apoſtolick Church. I acknowledge one Baptiſm for the Remiſſion of ſins. And I look for the reſurrection of the dead, And the life of the world to come. Amen.

¶* Then the Curate ſhall declare unto the people what Holy-days, or Faſting days are in the week following to be obſerved. And then alſo (if occaſion be) ſhall notice be given of the Communion; and the Banns of Matrimony publiſhed; and Briefs, Citations, and Excommunications read. And nothing ſhall be proclaimed or publiſhed in the Church, during the time of Divine Service, but by the Miniſter: Nor by him any thing, but what is preſcribed in the Rules of this Book, or enjoyned by the Queen, or by the Ordinary of the place.

PARAPHRASE on the Creed.

III. I firmly believe likewiſe in the third Perſon of the Trinity, God the Holy Ghoſt, the Spring and Conveyer of Grace and Spiritual Life to us, who is not generated, in like manner as the Son, of the Father; but, in the Scriptural Phraſe, proceedeth both from Father and Son, whom, in our Praiſes and Prayers, and all our devout Addreſſes, we joyntly honour with the Father and the Son; by whoſe Inſpirations the holy Scriptures were indited.

IV. I believe there is one, and but one, Catholick or Univerſal Church, which is built upon the Foundation of the Apoſtles, and maintains the Doctrine which they taught. I acknowledge a Baptiſm, inſtituted by Chriſt for the Remiſſion of Sin, to be adminiſtred in one Form of Words, and not to be repeated. I expect that all the Dead ſhall ariſe; and that good Men ſhall then inherit an everlaſting State of Glory. Amen.

NOTES.

(h) Then ſhall follow the Sermon.] It was the Cuſtom of the Primitive Church, that at the cloſe of the Common-Service the Biſhop or Prieſt ſhould make an Exhortatory Diſcourſe to the People. This plainly appears to be, at leaſt, as early as the time of the writing of the Apoſtolick Conſtitutions; among which we have this Paſſage: Μετὰ τὴν ἀνάγνωσιν, &c. After the reading of the Law and the Prophets, the Epiſtles of the Apoſtles, let the Ordained Biſhop ſalute the Church, ſaying, The Grace of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, the Love of God the Father, and the Fellowſhip of the Holy Ghoſt be with you all. And then let all the People anſwer, And with thy Spirit. Then προσλαλησάτω τῷ λαῷ λόγως παρακλήσεως, let him ſpeak to the People words of Exhortation, or an Exhortatory Diſcourſe, Conſt. Ap. Lib. 8. cap. 5. St. Ambroſe ſpeaks of this as the conſtant Cuſtom in his Time, Poſt prælectiones atque Tractatum. After the Leſſons and the Sermon, Amb. Epiſt. 33. ad Marcel. St. Auſtin ſays, That he heard St. Ambroſe preach every Sunday, Verbum Dei rectè tractantem omni die Dominico, Conf. Lib. 3. And the ſame St. Auſtin ſpeaks thus of his own Preaching, Ubi ventum eſt ad Sermonis mei locum dixi pauca pro tempore: When I came to the Place of the Service where I was to preach, I ſpoke a few things as the time would permit, De Civ. Dei Lib. 22. cap. 8. And indeed innumerable are the Sermons or Homilies which were ſpoken in the ancient Churches, and are preſerved to our Times in the Works of St. Chryſoſtom, Baſil, Nazianzen, Auſtin, &c. which are generally practical Diſcourſes, full of excellent Piety and Warmth; in which they very rarely intermix any thing of Controverſial Divinity, but explain a Portion of Scripture in a familiar, tho', withal, a very affecting way, and well adapted for the Inſtruction of the Common People. Indeed this Province generally was undertaken by the Biſhops, who formerly voluntarily, and afterwards by Injunction, preached every Sunday, unleſs hindred by Sickneſs, Can. 19. Trul. Mogun. cap. 25. But however, in the Abſence of the Biſhop, this Duty was performed by Presbyters, and by their Permiſſion, in their Preſence, Poſſid. in vit. Aug. Indeed there was a contrary Cuſtom in the Church of Alexandria, which would not allow a Presbyter to Preach, Soz. Lib. 7. cap. 19. But however St. Jerom calls this peſſimam conſuetudinem, a very bad Cuſtom, Ep. ad Nepot. Beſides, this Cuſtom began only after Arius his Time, who, being but a Presbyter, preached, till for his Hereſy he was ſilenced; and then, as a Brand upon his Memory, Presbyters were prohibited Preaching in that Church. Nay, the Presbyters were in Poſſeſſion of this Right in common with the Biſhops, at the time of the Compoſing the Apoſtolical Conſtitutions, which allow it to be the Office of a Prieſt, διδάσκειν, ἀναφέρειν, βαπτίζειν, εὐλογεῖν, & λαὸν & διάκονον ἐυχαριστεῖν ἐν τῷ ὑποκόπῳ & τοῖς πρεσβυτέροις, ἃ μὲν & τὰ λοιπὰ διενεργεῖν: To preach, to adminiſter the Sacrament of the Lord's-Supper, to Baptize, and to give the Bleſſing: the Office of a Deacon is to attend upon the Biſhops and the Presbyters, but not to perform any of the reſt, Conſt. Ap. Lib. 3. cap. 20. And a Canon of the Council of Vaiſon enjoins, that the Presbyter, in every Country Village, ſhould preach, Conc. Vaſ. cap. 4.
